

HOPE TO STOP BREAK OF DAM AT GREENVILLE

Engineers Succeed In Opening Flood Pipes And Relieving Pressure on Dam.

Greenville, May 5.—(AP)—Hope of saving the Table Rock Cove dam, 31 miles north of here, grew today when engineers succeeded in opening the flood pipe, thus taking the pressure off the dam which developed under the dam late yesterday.

The gate to the drain pipe was opened by means of a long key taken to the scene from Greenville and the flow of water out of the dam immediately increased swelling the South Saluda creek below the dam to bank full.

Water still poured out of the break around the pipe where seepage started its first leak. Torrents also came out of the fissures which have been created to the left of the center of the dam by the geyser like action of water going through seepage leaks.

While engineers still believed the drain pipe was broken at some point under the huge dirt dam, they hoped that opening of the flood gate created such a current that all impediments would be washed out and the lake lowered through this hole without further breaks.

The valley below the dam was quiet and deserted. Every one in the probable path of waters should the dam break, had moved to the hills.

On hillsides and mountain sides the refugees set up temporary abodes. There was no suffering and no aid was asked.

Greenville, S. C., May 5.—(AP)—Leak in the city's water works dam at Table Rock Cove, 31 miles north of here, steadily widened today while residents of the Saluda river valley watched anxiously from nearby hills where they fled last night after warning that collapse of the dam seemed imminent.

From a tiny leak around the drain pipe late yesterday afternoon, the water this morning had eaten large fissures into the south end of the dam, more than 300 feet of earthen rock having been torn away by the force of the impounded lake.

The dam, 700 feet long, 145 feet wide and 750 feet thick at the base, with a 50 foot crown, held back 5,000,000,000 gallons of water intended for use in the waterworks system of Greenville. Today the water behind the structure had dropped nine and one half feet while the gap in the dam widened no perceptible rise was noted in the Saluda river below.

While thousands of persons are said to reside in the path of the water should the dam break, no great alarm was felt, since the majority either had moved out to the hills or were ready to do so at a moment's notice. The valley is very narrow and in most cases satisfactory could be found within a few hundred feet of the farm dwellings or hamlets. No towns are in danger since these mostly are built along the river, but stretches of lowlands would be inundated.

Fear was expressed that other power dams on the Saluda between Table Rock Cove and Columbia might be threatened if the dam gives away. Officials said ample warning had been given.

Water behind the dam, which was recently completed to give Greenville a constant supply of water, measured 115 feet deep when the leak was discovered and ten hours later had dropped only two feet, leaving 113 feet of water to sweep down the valley when the rapidly weakening dam collapsed under the pressure of the immense lake it had formed.

Four miles below the dam, the Saluda rose at the rate of a foot an hour and at that time, the effects of the break were noticeable at a point on the river seven miles west of Greenville where a slight but steady rise, was noted from midnight on.

Greenville, removed from the river's banks, was not endangered but the lower sections of the mill towns of Piedmont, with 4,000 population; Pelzer further down the valley with 6,000 inhabitants and ware shoals, were imperiled, as were many farms.

Six dams below the Table Rock Cove dike also were believed in danger with the release of the lake above them. At each of the dams which furnish power for the cotton mills in the valley precautions were taken last night to strengthen them to hold in check the torrent that the collapse of the dike up river will release.

After the warning was spread, county highway patrolmen established a patrol on the road to the dam and permitted no one to approach it but a reporter after midnight and reported two huge sloughs in the earthen dike and one or two fissures through which water was pouring. He said officials had given up hope that the dam would withstand.

William R. Wood of Indiana is in line for the chairmanship of the powerful house appropriations committee to fill the vacancy left by the death of Representative Martin B. Madden of Illinois.

MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES TO BE HELD HERE

Parade and Exercises At College to Feature Observance on May 10th.

The George B. Singletary chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will observe Memorial Day Thursday, May 10th. The program provides for the usual parade to the cemetery to decorate the graves of the men who fought in the war between the states.

The annual address will be delivered by Mayor J. C. Lanier in the administration building at the East Carolina Teachers College. J. H. Rose, superintendent of city schools, will act as master of ceremonies. This will be followed by dinner at the college by special invitation of President R. H. Wright.

All members of the Daughters of the Confederacy and citizens are invited to attend exercises. The program will actually get underway when members of the Bryan Grimes Camp assemble at the court house at ten o'clock for exercises in connection with business of the camp.

The Greenville high school band will lead the parade which will be participated by students of the high school, veterans of the Civil war, and members of the Daughters of the Confederacy. After exercises at the cemetery the parade will reform and go to the Teachers College for the final exercises.

Kiwanis Club Entertain Local Police Department

Members of the Greenville police department were entertained by the Kiwanis Club at the Rotary building last night. It was unquestionably one of the outstanding sessions of the club in months and the policemen apparently enjoyed themselves in hearty welcome which they received.

Sheriff Sam Whitehead had charge of the program. President Frank Harrington presided. It was left to Judge W. A. Darden, county court official, to extend the welcome of the evening which he did in real good style. He confined his remarks mainly to the efficiency of the police department, declaring it active and efficient. He said there are good and bad policemen, but that the Greenville department fortunately had more of the good than the bad.

"No man is infallible," he declared, "and this applies to policemen as well as to those in other fields of endeavor. Police give character to the city by their manner of approach to visitors. They should always be on the alert to leave good impressions with those whom they happen to come in contact, either socially or in performance of their duty."

It was one of those kind of talks that instantly grips the attention of an audience composed of busy men, and the policemen listened to the man with whom they come in contact day after day in enforcement of the law, and who meets out justice to that element finding its way from police court to the county tribunal. Mayor J. C. Lanier responded to the address of welcome. He compared a police department to a shepherd tending his flock.

"These officers of the law are watching your homes and business houses while you are sleeping," he told his hearers. "They are as much on the job at night as in the day

THREE ISSUES GET THOUGHT OF PRESIDENT

Flood Control and Farm Measure Not Expected to Receive Approval.

Washington, May 5.—(AP)—Three major pieces of legislation, two in the last stages of their journey to the White House and one under debate in the Senate, are claiming the attention of President Coolidge, with prospects that two will fall of his approval.

These are the Mississippi flood control and McNary-Haugen farm relief measures. A conference agreement of the former was to be taken up in the House today, and indications had pointed to speedy approval. The farm bill also has passed both Houses and has entered conference. Quick action on this also is predicted as only minor differences remain to be overcome.

Proponents of both measures have forecast presidential approval, claiming that nearly all of the executive's objections had been met. President Coolidge disagrees, however, on that point. After a careful study of the two bills he feels that neither has been revised sufficiently to meet his views.

On the other hand, he believes the Boulder Canyon Dam bill now pending in the Senate conforms to the needs of the Colorado River situation and he would like to see it passed by both Houses at this session. He feels that the proposed dam would meet the flood control requirements and that the bill would give Southern California a better water supply.

The President appreciates that many changes have been made in the McNary-Haugen bill, but he feels that only a few of the provisions that led to his veto of last year's measure have been eliminated.

The President likewise regards the flood bill as still containing many provisions of an objectionable nature, despite the strong efforts by administration leaders in Congress to conform to his views. While the specific objections have not been made known, Mr. Coolidge has been that the Mississippi valley states should share the cost of the undertaking.

Waycross, Ga., May 5.—(AP)—The Troy Cotton and Woolen Manufacturing, Inc., of Fall River, Mass., will move its mills to Waycross, after completion of negotiations for a suitable site it was announced here today by H. H. Hamilton, president of the company.

The mills will represent an investment of $5,000,000.

Begins Another Attempt To Set World Record

Chickasha, Okla., May 5.—(AP)—Joe Hart, Chickasha business man and former arm aviator, hopped off here this morning in his Ryan monoplane for another attempt to establish a new world's endurance flight record. The official time of the take off was announced as 9:35:30.

CONFESSES MURDER OF HIS FAMILY

Kansas Youth Relates Killing of Parents And Five Brothers And Sisters.

Eldorado, Kansas, May 5.—(AP)—Owen Oberst, 17 year old farm boy, has confessed that he shot and killed his parents and his five brothers and sisters at their farm home near Burns the night of April 20, county attorney Stanley Taylor announced today.

After slaying members of the family, Oberst set fire to the farm home in an effort to destroy evidence of the crime. The confession related that he had planned the deed only two hours before it was carried out. He "just got mad" at his father because he would not allow him to use the family automobile.

Oberst said, He insisted that his mother had "nothing to do with it" and that he planned and carried out the killings unaided.

Taylor obtained the confession late yesterday, but withheld announcement until today. Oberst is held in the county jail here without bail and Sheriff McKnight said a first degree murder charge will be placed against him during the day.

Officers had questioned Oberst repeatedly, but until yesterday the boy had stuck to his original story that he was in Florence, Kan., attending a picture show when the fire broke out. He finally broke under the strain of continued questioning.

The killings took place about 6 p. m. April 20, the confession states. Oberst admitted he had been having trouble with his father, William F. Oberst, for some time and finally decided to end it all by disposing of the family.

His father being away from home the boy got the family rifle, called the younger children, Herbert, 5; Hugh, 10; Ralph, 14; and Fred, 8; into the kitchen and began shooting. He shot his mother and other sister, Dorothy, as they came in the room to learn the cause of the children's screams. He then waited for his father to come home, and shot him.

The confession relates how the boy poured kerosene over the bodies, changed his clothes, threw a lighted newspaper into the kitchen to set fire to the house and left for Florence in the family automobile.

REED STILL IN RACE FOR PRESIDENCY

Impending Hoover-Watson Fight in Indiana of Secondary Interest Politically.

Washington, May 5.—(AP)—The impending Hoover-Watson battle for Indiana's delegates to the Republican convention was of secondary interest to Washington political observers today as a result of important developments forging to the front in Democratic ranks.

Withdrawal of Senator Walsh, of Montana, from the race for the Democratic Presidential nomination the decision of Senator Reed, of Missouri, to continue in the fight, and the significance of a half-hour political conversation between Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, and Mrs. Glenn Shaver, wife of the chairman of the Democratic National committee—all were subjects of lively discussion among those looking forward to the big conventions next month.

Meanwhile, the new senatorial campaign expenditures investigating committee moved forward with its preparations for starting Monday the examination of the first group of fourteen Presidential candidates as to their pre-convention money outlays. The committee also was expected today to make public the acceptance to appear it already had received from nine of the candidates.

Senator Walsh, perhaps best known as the prosecutor of the Senate oil investigation, formally withdrew from the race yesterday with the declaration that the results of the California primary "quite clearly indicated that the Democrats desired Governor Smith as their candidate."

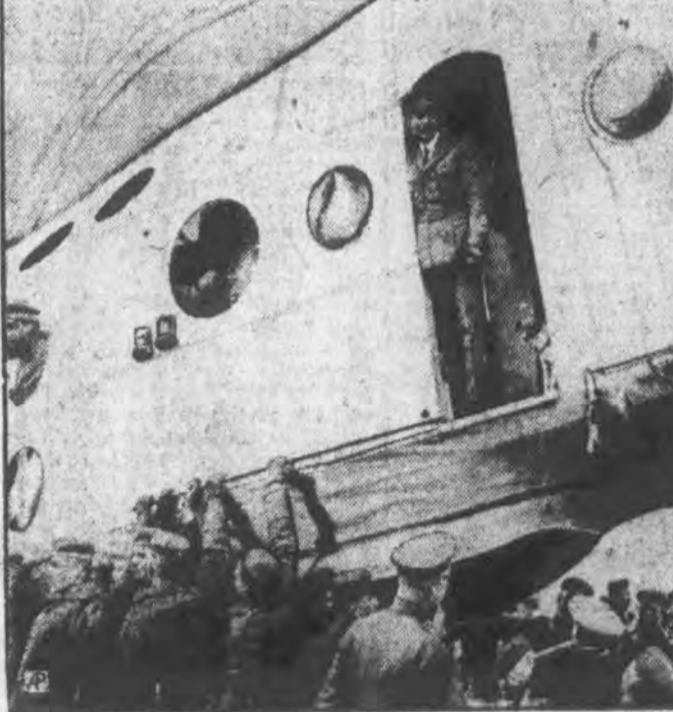

Walsh ran third in that primary and up to the time of his withdrawal had captured no delegates to the Houston conclave.

Reed, who ran second to Smith in the California scrap, was quick to follow Walsh's announcement with the statement that he would carry on his campaign to the finish. Declaring he was glad Walsh took himself out of the picture because it "clarifies the situation and emphasizes the issue," the Missouri Senator said he only wished the Montanan had arrived at his decision "before he muddied the waters by entering the California primary."

Apparently directing another verbal dart at Walsh, Reed, added: "If I were a general in a war I would not surrender my army because I had lost a skirmish."

Smith supporters now see a clearing of the way for the New York Governor to obtain Montana's eight delegates. J. Bruce Kremer, Democratic National committeeman from that state, is a firm advocate of Smith's candidacy, and while he had indicated a willingness to go along with the efforts of Montana Democrats to commit the delegation to Walsh he had expressed the hope that the Senator would retire from the field.

ON SECOND VOYAGE INTO ARCTIC

When the dirigible Italia left Stolp, Germany, for Spitzbergen, on the fringe of the Arctic wastes, there were two veterans of polar flights aboard—Captain Umberto Nobile, commander, and Titian, the fox terrier mascot. Both were aboard the Norge, which flew over the pole two years ago with Roald Amundsen.

Japanese Forces Defend Tsinan Foreign Quarters

Peking, China, May 5.—(AP)—Scant advice from Tsinan, battleground of Chinese Nationalists and Japanese troops who formed a protective cordon around foreigners concentrated there, today indicated that the situation continued extremely serious.

A word was received at Shanghai from the Tsinan consulate that all Americans were safe.

The firing which continued all day yesterday, however, ceased at 11 p. m. four hours later a message from Tsinan said there was no firing at that hour.

Advices said several Japanese women were assaulted and killed by the southerners (Nationalists). The Japanese captured from the Nationalists two mountain guns, 20,000 shells, 2,000,000 rounds of rifle ammunition and 2,000 hand grenades.

The last information put the Japanese military casualties up to 10 wounded. The northern government protested to the Japanese legation against the sending of Japanese troops into Tsinan on the ground that the Chinese authorities were able to maintain order.

Japanese and other foreigners at Tsinan were still beleaguered and semi-isolated today.

Japanese reinforcements were heading for the city from Tsingtao and Manchuria. The defeated northerners were struggling through eastern Shantung. Japanese civilians evacuated Weihen about 150 miles east of Tsinan. Japanese marines landed at Lungkow on the eastern coast of Shantung.

The American, English and Japanese consuls had naval officers at Chefoo conferred on methods to be used to maintain order there.

Perkin, May 5.—(AP)—Besieged in Tsinan by 40,000 nationalist troops, 3,000 Japanese today were fighting in defense of the foreign quarters, where persons of varied nationalities have been concentrated for safety.

Major General Toakura, Japanese commander, took every available man from the Tsingtao garrison and was leading a forced march of 2,000 troops along the line of the Shantung railway to relieve their beleaguered comrades.

There was no confirmation of the loss of any foreign lives other than Japanese, but the Japanese Military wireless stated that the troops were protecting other nations. From this it was assumed that the two American consuls, Edward F. Stanton and Earnest B. Price, and the remaining American residents, mostly missionaries, were inside the Cordon.

The American legation at Peking has had no reports from the Tsinan consulate since May 1.

The troops from Tsingtao had a difficult march of some 200 miles before them since the railway between Tsingtao and Tsinan had been cut at a dozen places. Advices from Tokyo said the Japanese military stores at Tsingtao were sufficient for only a few days.

Serious international complications were forecast. There was much conjecture as to the effect of the northward campaign of the Nationalists and the experts believed it would be checked until the snarl with Japan was straightened out.

Japan has virtually a free hand to deal with the situation and it was believed that fighting had strengthened the hand of the Japanese cabinet in any positive action deemed necessary.

The Japanese command at Tsinan said that the attack by the Nationalists was premeditated. They asserted that it began simultaneously at many points, that the railway had been cut to prevent the movement of reinforcements and the Nationalists

HYPOCRACY DENOUNCED BY SUNDAY

Evangelist Denounced Hypocrites in Stirring Sermon at Tabernacle Last Night.

Hypocrisy received the attention of Billy Sunday at the tabernacle here last night. Preaching with his usual fire and brilliance, the evangelist denounced that class who would persecute those who have fully repented of their sins and taken the road to righteousness.

Approximately four thousand people heard the message. They came from many sections of the state. Many had never heard the famous evangelist. They listened attentively and marveled at the surpassing ease and skill with which Mr. Sunday put across his argument against the supposed virtues of the hypocrite.

"There are two classes of people, Mr. Sunday declared. 'Some overcome the world and the others are overcome by the world.'

"How many sound potatoes can you pack around a rotten one and have them keep. Why, the rotten ones will make all the sound ones rotten."

"If there is any man this side of hell that I absolutely despise with every drop of my blood, with every molecule of my brain, tissue and nerve of my body, it is the dirty, low-down degenerate who throws into your face or reminds somebody else of something you used to do when you are not doing that now."

Sunday morning Mr. Sunday will preach at Rocky Mount at 10 o'clock. Tonight he will speak at the tabernacle on the subject, "Nuts for Critics to Crack."

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock he will address a congregation composed mainly of Junior Order members from many sections of the state. Special invitations were sent out by the local lodge the first of the week, and indications today were that at least five thousand members of the organization would be in attendance.

This will be one of the crowning services of the campaign. Mr. Sunday announced a few days ago that he would speak on the subject of "Bootleggers, Corkers and Crooks—They Shall Not Pass." It deals with Americanism and carries a touching plea in behalf of those endeavoring to bring about enforcement of prohibition laws.

Although the wet element has received right much attention of the evangelist during his several sermons, this will be the first time he has confined quite so much thought to them. The sermon, as suggested by the subject, is a scathing denunciation of that element lined up.

Crippled British Supply Ship Safe In Harbor Today

Portland, Eng., May 5.—(AP)—The crippled British supply ship Bacchus was safe in port here today after a collision with the Greek steamer Ignantios. Then sailors were drowned and two other Greek sailors died after being picked up. The Bacchus brought two survivors.

The supply ship was navigated toward port stern foremost since it was down by the head and in grave danger of sinking.

Once the crew abandoned the warship but the water tight compartments held and the ship, which had begun to settle, floated. The crew returned and afterwards the battle cruiser Tiger and two tugs took the Bacchus in tow.

The captain and mate of the Greek ship went down with her. The Greek vessel after being rammed by the British ship while a dense fog hung over the channel sunk in one and one-half minutes.

Receive Award For Flight to America

New York, May 5.—(AP)—Offered the first material reward for their ocean flight, the German-Irish crew of the Bremen have dedicated its use to the promotion of aviation.

Baron von Huenefeld, speaking for himself and his two companions accepted a check for $12,500 from the Electroflux Company of Sweden, offered for the first flight from Europe to America and then gave it to Miss Hueria Junker, builder of the Bremen, to be used for further experimentation and research in aviation.

The Baron's action taken at the dinner given the fliers by the donors of the prize, came as a surprise and brought the representatives of 30 nations there assembled to their feet cheering.

GREENVILLE SHUTS OUT THE PIRATES

Definitely shaking an obstinate jinx from their trial, the Greenville Tobaccoists yesterday afternoon won the second game of the series from Wilmington at Wilmington to the tune of 5 to 0. It was one of the most spectacular games which the locals have been able to capture this season. The victory was due largely to the hurling of Cherry, who won the first game of the series and proved decidedly stingy when a hit would have resulted in scoring.

Poor pitching and fielding was mainly responsible for the defeat of Wilmington, although at moments they displayed real brilliance.

Nettles for Greenville had a perfect day with the willow, securing three doubles in as many trips to the rubber. It was his first walk to center field that caused the Pirates to skid into a tie with Kingston for rights to the bottom of the standing of clubs.

Cherry, youthful left-hander, who has been with the Tobaccoists since the opening of the season, displayed himself grandly on the firing line. Pitching airtight ball in every frame. He let the Pirates down with only four bingles. Although getting into two holes that looked mighty bad, the youngster tightened up and exhibited speed and control that completely baffled the Pirate crew.

It was the second consecutive victory of the Greenville club, who the day before sent Kingston down to an inglorious defeat in the face of overwhelming scourging the day before.

Rocky Mount comes to Greenville Monday for a two game series. Considerable interest is attached to this contest by and it is expected the largest crowd of the season will be in attendance. The box score follows:

Veteran Flier Killed When Plane Crashes

New York, May 5.—(AP)—The name of Leonard W. Booney, 53, air pioneer, has been added to the list of those who have lost their lives in the promotion of aviation.

He was killed at Curtis field yesterday when his plane, modelled after a sea gull, fell 50 feet on its first real test flight throwing Booney out and breaking his neck.

The plane, which he had named the Booney Girl, was the product of months of study of gulls that Boony captured in the Long Island marshes near Mastic. He had spent $110,000 in building it.

"Either I've got something here or I'm just another nut," he said before he took off, refusing the offer of younger fliers to test his plane for him.

The plane had curved wings, similar to those of a gull, and pinions in place of airerons, which added to its bird like appearance. The fuselage of the machine was what he called "a true copy of my martyred gull."

In the fatal flight it rose quickly and attained an altitude of 50 feet to clear the trees at the edge of the field before it was seen to waver and then dive. It had traveled about 3,000 feet. The plane was wrecked.

Franklin Attorney Dead. Franklin, May 5.—(AP)—A. W. Horn, 61 years old prominent attorney and former member of the North Carolina general assembly, died at his home here Saturday morning. He less than two days, Mr. Horn's death was due to stomach poisoning.

New Dash Sensation

George Simpson of Ohio State won the 100-yard dash at both the Penn and Ohio Re-ays, tying the national intercollegiate mark of 9.6 seconds on a muddy track at the Buckeye games. He also anchored the half-mile relay team that cleaned up at both carnivals.

Spanish Flight To Cuba Delayed By Rain Today

Seville, Spain, May 5.—(AP)—Heavy rain here prevented the start at dawn of the flight of the Spanish aviators, Jimenez and Iglesias, in their plane "Jesus of the Mighty Power," presumably to Havana.

While the flight has been characterized from the start as a Seville-Havana flight, the aviators themselves have been non-committal as to their destination, and have estimated that they intended flying to India.

Ford Stockholders Win Appeal Today

Washington, May 5.—(AP)—Former stockholders of the Ford Motor Company today won their appeal from tax assessments involving approximately $35,000,000.

The board of tax appeals held for the protesting former stockholders in the suit which grew out of the dispute as to the value of the Ford stock and what these minority holders should pay the government after its sale.

EAST HOLDS BIG END OF THE MAJORS

By the Associated Press.

The first general inter-sectional conflict in the major leagues finds the east boasting of five victories against a single defeat.

Four games in the American League found the Atlantic Seaboard triumphant in every instance. The west got what consolation it could out of an even split in two east-west contests in the National League.

Bobo Ruth's big bat and Herb Pennock's effective pitching enabled the New York Yankees to crush the Chicago White Sox at New York 10 to 4. The Sultan of Swat went to bat four times, pounded out his sixth home run of the season, a double and two singles and scored two runs. It remained for aging Joe Dugan, however, to deliver the most telling blow of the game. "Jumping Joe" came to bat in the first inning with the bases full and promptly cleaned them with a four base drive into the bleachers. Pennock allowed 13 hits in chalking up his fifth straight win but 13 Sox left languishing on the bases spoke eloquently of the left hander's effectiveness in the pinches.

Ruth's cut, driven into the right center field bleachers in the sixth inning, put the Bambino even with his record smashing pace of last year. In 1927 he drove out his fifth and sixth homers in his 16th game on May 1. His first half dozen this campaign have been accumulated in exactly the same number of contests although he is a few days back of his calendar schedule.

At Philadelphia Connie Mack's Athletics resumed their interrupted winning streak by pounding out a 10 to 5 verdict over Detroit. Six runs in the third inning decided the issue. In this frame Sammy Hale hit a homer with two on and Hauser followed with his fifth rounder plout of the year, with one on. Fox got in on the fun with another drive into the bleachers with one on in the fifth.

At Washington the Senators hammered five St. Louis Browns pitchers for 13 hits and carried off a 12 to 6 decision. A five run rally in the fifth gave the Senators a safe lead.

Danny MacFayden outpitched Willis Hudlin at Boston and the Red Sox nosed out the Cleveland Indians, 3 to 2, in the only game of the day in which the winning team failed to score ten or more runs. Each club got seven hits but the Red Sox bunched their quota in the fourth and fifth frames for their three runs. The Indians scored two in the first and called it a day.

The New York Giants added another win for the east in a National league encounter at Cincinnati where they bowled over the Reds 11 to 7. Seven pitchers saw duty and 32 safe hits were made. The Giants got 19 off four Red pitchers. Lefty Faulkner stopped the Ohioans dead after Barnes and Chapin had been severely pummeled. Sid Purdy, sensational Cincinnati outfielder, suffered a sprained ankle when he slid into a base in the third.

At Forbes field the Pittsburgh Pirates recorded the west's sole triumph with the Boston Braves as the victims, 13 to 3. The Pirates unleashed a ferocious batting attack against three Braves pitchers. Kent Greenfield, nemesis of three Corsairs last season, was knocked out of the box in the first inning. Before it was over Donie Bush's rampaging crew had collected 21 safe hits. Paul Waner and Pie Traynor accounted for four each. "Big Poisons" string including two doubles and a triple. Burleigh Grimes hurled ball for the winners.

DOWN THE DERBY STRETCH

Reigh Count

Louisville, Ky. — (AP) — Reigh Count, Mrs. John D. Herzig's chestnut colt, has reigned for many months as the Kentucky Derby favorite. Not only is this due to the stellar work of the blaze-faced thoroughbred during the fall racing season of 1927 but also to the splendid way he has responded in winter and spring training.

Perfectly proportioned and of a beauty so pronounced as to attract attention on any course, Reigh Count is the son of Sunrigh and Contessina. As a two-year-old he started in 14 races. He won four of these and was second in three, finishing unplaced in seven of the starts. He gained $56,030 in purses for his owner, winning the Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes and the Walden Handicap and finishing second in the Eastern Shoe Handicap and the Belmont Futurity.

Milwaukee: Carlo Garcia, Mexico, and Pedro Amador, Panama, drew (10). Eddie Anderson, Chicago, technically knocked out Luis Ramos, Panama, (4).

ASHEVILLE STEPS OUT

Atlanta, Ga., May 5.—(AP)—A mystified Columbia team of the South Atlantic Association, spent this morning trying to recover from an attack of illusions to which they had been subjected.

Yesterday's game between Columbia and Asheville was won by the Tourists 9 to 4 when the Comers succumbed to their attack. Columbia fielders saw mits far above the height to which they had been accustomed and consequently made wild throws all over the diamond, they misjudged the ground balls and as a result fielded them before the right time and they tried to catch fly balls in their mouths or other inappropriate parts of the anatomy.

All told nine errors marked up against the Comers and these had quite a bit to do with their defeat. Cook, tourist outfielder, hit two home runs to run his team's total up.

Spartanburg continued its victorious drive, winning from Augusta by a 7 to 5 count. Semmes, Spartan catcher, obtained hits in as many trips to the plate.

Charlotte crashed out 15 hits to beat Greenville 14 to 8, piling up a big lead in the early innings. Kearns, Hornet first baseman, continued his heavy hitting with four bingles in five attempts.

Helms Groh connected for his first homer of the season while Lennox and Correll, of his Hornet hive, also hit for the circuit.

In a hitting contest, Knoxville won from Macon 14 to 10, the Smokes fathering 17 bingles and the Peaches connecting for 15.

Cussen, Smoky infielder, hit two home runs, and Davis of the same team, came through with another four base wallop, bringing his total for the season to six.

NO CAR FOR GOVERNOR HE RIDES HORSEBACK

Denver — (AP)—Gov. William H. Adams of Colorado prefers the creak of a saddle to the roar of a motor car.

He never has owned an automobile and says he never will while there is grazing room for horses.

Governor Adams is reluctant even to ride in an automobile and he invariably takes a train when he goes home to Alamosa.

When the Colorado national guard offered the governor the use of an airplane for a trip home he declined with thanks. "I don't like" he explained, "to get much more than 14 or 15 hands off the ground."

GOLD BUGS STILL HAVE RABBIT FOOT

(By The Associated Press) Goldsboro got to Alsbruck for nine hits yesterday and this, coupled with three costly errors, resulted in Fayetteville dropping the second straight game to the Gold Bugs by score of 4 to 2. Harrington pitched well for Goldsboro and was steady when men were on base. He gave up only six hits and received stellar support in the field.

Rocky Mount smothered Kingston in a listless and indeferent affair by a count of 11 to 1. The Buccaneers garnered 13 safe hits off of Elmore's delivery and might have done a little better than that had they exerted themselves. Witry and Hinchman hit homers.

Helmed by Cherry to four measly hits, the Wilmington Pirates were unable to cope with the Greenville Tobaccoists and were downed on their home lot by a score of 5 to 0. Wilmington made a miserable showing at running bases and also committed five miscues in fielding which played part in the day's defeat. At one time in the later frames, Wilmington threatened but after filling the bases Cherry tightened up and struck out the last man to face him.

TAR HEELS ENTER BIG TRACK MEET

Greensboro, May 5.—(AP)—The champions of the state for the past six years, the University of North Carolina Tar Heels entered the state-wide track exhibition in the world war stadium here today as favorites to repeat.

Carolina runners entered every event after qualifying in the preliminaries run off yesterday. Twenty-four Tar Heels; 10 each from Duke and Davidson; 7 of State; two each from Wake Forest and High Point; and one from Guilford, won the right to participate in the finals.

In the lone final event staged along with the preliminaries, Hank Young of State College, went over the high jump bar at five feet, seven and seven-eighths inches to win. Gardner, Davidson, and Roberts, Duke, tied for second honors. Jack McDowell, State, who won the high jump in 1927 did not enter, being in Virginia with the Wolfpack baseball team.

Local Boy Writes Poem From Sermon By Billy Sunday

Edward W. Hearne, local boy, who for the past few years has seen service in the theatrical field in different parts of the country, today presented Rev. Billy Sunday with a poem, splendidly illustrated and framed.

Mr. Hearne received his inspiration for the poem from a sermon delivered by the evangelist a few days ago. The text was taken from the third verse of the twentieth chapter of Revelations, "Behold I stand at the door and knock" and is the title of the composition. The illustration features a picture of Jesus holding out both hands as if preparing to receive those who knock. At His side is a large heart representing a door.

The poem in its entirety follows:
"If you were at home in a cozy room
Where the sunbeams danced to and fro;
And you saw a friend come in by the gate.
A friend that you dearly loved so;
And you hear a knock on the door
That led into the home of your pride—
Would you still sit rocking, while
Your friend kept knocking,
And leave him standing outside?"

We all have a home within—it's our soul.
And our heart is its door of gold;
And the sunbeams of love dance on its walls.
Yet some days the shadows are cold.
But a friend stands by and knocks on the door.
Is his Jesus—will we let Him abide?
Or still sit rocking, while He keeps on knocking,
And leave Him standing outside?"

NEW TYPE OF PROGRAM IS GLEE CLUB OFFERING

When the University of North Carolina Glee Club appears here Monday evening in the Campus Building of the College, in its concert on May 7 it will present a program made up largely of pure American music.

In other years the club's program consisted mostly of international folk songs, but since the successful tour of Europe last summer most of the foreign numbers have been eliminated.

Negro spirituals and work songs—that part of the program that was so popular in England and France—will be featured again on the present tour. Classical music will also find a place on the program, thus giving variety to the selections.

With the view to giving proper emphasis to American music Prof. Paul John Weaver, the club's director, has been seeking interesting tunes from all kinds of sources. Among those already on the program are Carolina mountain ballads, cowboy songs, American Indian songs, and some tunes of the early frontier days. Professor Weaver has arranged special harmonizations for these. None of them have been used by male choruses before.

In an effort to Americanize the club's program, Professor Weaver is constantly searching for compositions by American composers and is anxious to use any good choral music written by them.

This program, which is so different from the "glee" type of music rendered by college clubs less than a generation ago, was presented in Atlanta in February. And like New York, Paris, London, Kansas City, and others, Atlanta—called the capital of the South—acclaimed the club's work highly. A music critic writing in the Atlanta Constitution said: "As number after number on the varied and artistic program was completed Atlantans became aware that 'glee club' were words of a new meaning. Here was a group of college boys from a sister state presenting not the old-time entertainment but one which affords the finest examples of excellent pianissimo singing, clean attack, clear enunciation, and fine phrasing."

Save time, energy, money
—don't market every day

GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator

It's such a relief not to have to go to market every day. Two or three times a week will do the job—with energy, time and money saved—if you have a General Electric Refrigerator.

For even the smallest model is so designed that it can hold a generous store of foods—several days' supply for the average family. And its temperature, of course, is just right to keep meats wholesome, milk sweet and salads crispy.

The General Electric Refrigerator actually makes a minimum of floor space yield a maximum of food space. That's because the chilling chamber is incredibly compact. The up-on-legs models make it so easy to keep the floor under them clean.

You will notice, too, that the General Electric has no belts or fans or drain pipes. That it has no machinery under the cabinet, inside—or in the basement. You will be glad that it needs absolutely no oiling. And your bills for electricity will tell you the pleasant story that this perfect refrigeration actually is economical.

Come in today and study the various models. And send for a booklet. If you wish, time payments can be arranged.

tion. Involved laws and rules governing taxation have caused much dissatisfaction.

The individual should have some idea of how much tax he will have to pay, without having to employ an attorney to aid him in the making of calculations. Our courts today are crowded with tax questions and interpretations of tax laws. This creates an element of uncertainty which is very disconcerting, both to public officials and to taxpayers.

Our tax laws should be simple and understandable, so that all of the people know what they are paying all of the time, says
the California Taxpayers' Association.

ABOUT

"Billy Sunday certainly does away with the fallacies of the present age," remarked a reader of this column today.

"He has also set aside some of the superstitions and diebeliefs which have prevailed among men and women in this part of the country since their childhood. It is the same old story. People must be disillusioned before they can accept any truth or become converted to anything great or good.

"America will have to hand Mr.
Sunday the credit for these achievements. They may not appear to be much on the surface. But doing away with all exotic exceptions of life they convey the truth in all of its beauty. And truth is inescapable.
You simply cannot get by it.

"Those who have had implicit faith in the Greenville baseball club even when the boys stood in the cellar no doubt felt happy in the things which the future holds forth," one of the loyal supporters of the club told us today.

"We may not have the best club in the league at present, but we are going to have before the year is over.

"Nobody asks you to believe it. It is a statement made in the face of overwhelming facts to the contrary, but who cares about such things.
Greenville and Pitt county people have been accustomed to climbing over insurmountable obstacles since the dawn of history and certainly they are not going to let a thing like a losing ball club change them.

"Achievement is fulfillment of a great desire. It always has been and always will be. Greenville and its ball club stand on the threshold of success, and we are going to have it.

"Watch the boys step out."

"I might sit down here and talk prosperity the rest of our lives without convincing some of the people that this is really a great and prosperous country," one of our old readers said today.

"Everybody seems to think because they happen to be suffering from depression that the rest of the world is affected the same way. But this is poor philosophy. Because we do not provide for a rainy day is no reason the other fellow has not.

"We do not mean to argue that adversity does not come to the lives of many of the best people in the world. But usually this is the cause of lack of preparation, especially when life holds forth wonderful opportunities for success.

"One may say, 'Well, I never had a chance.' That is looking at life from a false perspective. Every man and woman in the world has had a chance. If they didn't take advantage of it, there was nobody to blame but themselves. Someone has said that 'opportunity knocks but once in a lifetime.' Mighty good psychology, but not always applicable. Providence is kind—always has been kind—will forever be kind.

But men and women should not forget the fact that they are the masters of their fate and the captains of their soul. Do as you like.
You mould your destiny. And destiny is inevitable—just as inexorable as fate itself."

The Kiwanis Club entertained members of the Greenville police department in splendid style last night, and everyone seemed to enjoy it," one of the cops remarked to the writer today.

"These organizations are doing much to improve the spirit of friendship among men and women of the present age. They have an ideal, and that ideal is conceived in the idea of rendering a distinct service in behalf of humankind.

"Greenville has been going forward by leaps and bounds the last few years. What is the cause? It is clubs, composed of prominent business and professional men who are lined up for progress and are using their influence in this direction.

"All organizations of the city are pulling together in most commendable way and the future holds forth great things.

"If you want to keep the pace with us, why not get in line and help put across all of these movements launched in behalf of human progress.

"Be careful of your sowing and you will reap bountiful harvests by and by," advised some of the prominent farmers of the county in conversation with the writer yesterday.
"We have been planting cotton in this section for years, but we have just awakened to the fact of what the market actually demands. Long staple is what the manufacturers want. They are willing to pay for it because there is a distinct shortage.

"We are going to confine our attention to the planting of this kind of cotton and see what the next season will bring forth.

"If demand counts for anything, we have faith in the possibilities of next harvest season."

NERVOUS HEADACHE
Kentuckian Tells How Taking Black-Draught Relieved His Pains and How Well He Feels Now.

Waynesburg, Ky.—How a few doses of Theodor's Black-Draught brought relief to a man who had been suffering from frequent spells of severe headache, is told below in the statement of Mr. Charles F. Todd, of Estesburg, near this place.

"I was suffering with nervous headaches. About once a week I would have these headaches, and I would have to quit work, and go to bed for about twenty-four hours. I would have pains in my neck, and right behind my right ear.

"A merchant at Estesburg saw me one day when I was suffering, and told me to try taking Black-Draught, which I did.

"I took a package home that night, and took a few doses. It relieved me. From that time on, I would take Black-Draught as soon as I felt like I was going to have one of those headaches—and they wouldn't come on.

"Every few weeks, I take three or four doses of Black-Draught, and I feel so well, and do my work, and don't lose any more time with headache.

"I haven't had a headache in six months.

Dedication ceremonies when it was planned to turn the water into the conduits connecting with the city water system, had been set for May 24. The system was to operate by gravity and no pumping station was maintained at the dam.

NEW YORK COTTON

New York, May 5.—(AP)—Indications that the showers reported in the central part of the cotton belt this morning would be followed by clearing weather prompted a renewal of liquidation in the New York market today. Prices eased off from 21.09 to 20.85 for May and from 20.85 to 20.53 for October. The close was steady at net advances of 2 to 7 points.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, May 5.—(AP)—Renewed general buying on a large scale sent the wheat market soaring afresh today. Houses with eastern and foreign connections led the purchasing movement, which lifted the July wheat delivery to more than a 1-2 advance above current prices one time yesterday. Indications pointed to decided falling off in shipments of wheat for May and the Liverpool market showed notable strength.

Curb Market.

The curb market was opened this morning, Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock it will be open again. Come and bring your friends to market.

Stock Exchange Closed.

New York, May 5.—(AP)—The New York stock exchange and the New York curb market were closed today to permit brokerage houses to catch up with the tremendous volume of work that has accumulated in the last few weeks. The New York cotton exchange, produce, rubber, and other leading commodities markets were open for business as usual.

Weekly Financial Review.

By STANLEY W. PRENOSKI, Associated Press Financial Editor.

New York, May 5.—(AP)—Speculative interest in the financial markets this week was divided between the resumption of the broad upward movement of stock prices which carried both the railroad and industrial averages to record high levels, and the rise and fall of wheat and cotton futures.

Trading in the stock market which had been held in restraint by the apprehension over money rates and the brokers' loan situation assumed gigantic proportions following the retention of the 4 per cent red-emption rate by the New York federal reserve bank. Establishments of new record high levels by the brokers' loans totals of the New York stock exchange and the New York federal reserve bank were disregarded, presumably on the theory that the advance was not disproportionate to the gain in quoted values. Stock exchange member loans ran now close to the $5,000,000 level predicted by a few market operators months ago.

Chief speculation in securities entered in the motor and public utility shares, which responded to reports of expanding sales and earnings, and the prospects of mergers, and special dividend distributions. New York traction ran up to new high records and then broke sharply on the traditional "selling on the good news" which followed the announcement that the federal statutory court had granted the Interborough Rapid Transit Company an increased fare.

General Motors regained its former position of market leader by soaring to a new high record at $205 a share on buying stimulated by expectations of an extra cash dividend of 42 or more at the meeting of directors, May 10. Chrysler crossed to a new peak following publication of an excellent first quarter report.

One of the interesting developments in the public utility division was the strong investment demand for such seasoned dividend paying issues as American Telephone, Consolidated Gas of New York, International Telephone and Philadelphia Co., all of which advanced to record high levels. Brisk bidding also developed for a wide assortment of power stocks, including Columbia Gas & Electric, Pacific Gas & Electric, North American Co., Public Service of New Jersey and Standard Gas & Electric.

Speculative attention in the railroad group shifted from the eastern carriers, which recently scored sharp gains on merger developments, to the southern and western carriers which are expected to show good traffic gains in the next few months. Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, Missouri Pacific common, Northern Pacific, Chicago & Northwestern, Chicago & Great Western, and the Chicago & Alton issues all moved into new high ground, although the last-named fell back sharply on realizing sales.

Tobacco had a temporary sinking spell on selling inspired by the report falling off in cigaret taxes in North Carolina, the trade center, but recovered briskly as the week closed.

Wheat and cotton futures advanced to new high levels for the season early in the week on reports of unfavorable crop weather, but broke sharply when weather conditions took a sudden turn for the better. Coffee, sugar and rubber prices fluctuated within narrow limits.

BIG AERIAL EVENT SET FOR MONDAY

Fort Bragg, May 5.—(AP)—With War Department heads, Congressmen and attaches of several embassies looking on, the colossal aerial maneuvers ever undertaken by U. S. Army air forces will be staged at Pope field on Monday.

The first pursuit and three attack groups and attendant transports carrying the commanding and mechanical staffs were expected to reach Pope field today, flying out of Langley field Va., across to Carolina via Raleigh and vicinity.

Seventy planes made up the group taking its first leg of a 7,000 mile journey around the continent. The air show, arranged to start Monday morning at 10 o'clock, will produce various aerobatics and maneuvers, the latest attack methods known to War Department authorities. All sorts of defensive and offensive maneuvering against air and ground forces will be staged.

The spectacle of 70 ships passing in review at 150 miles an hour at close formation about 50 feet above the ground will be one of the features.

The show will be even greater than the bombing practice staged on Poe Day River near Albermarle and Danvers, army officers say.

The air forces will assemble in fives of latest design for the battles arranged to outshine actual fighting in the late war. It was added.

Distinguished guests coming down from Washington and Langley field include several United States Senators and Congressmen, seven major-generals, two assistant secretaries of war, diplomats and air attaches from 20 embassies. They are being transported in army planes.

ADVERSE REPORT ON PROBE OF BANKS

Washington, May 5.—An adverse report was voted by the senate banking committee today on the Blaine resolution calling for a senate investigation of the administration of the affairs of the federal land and intermediate credit bank at Columbia, S. C.

Chairman Norbeck said the committee action would not likely be reported to the senate until Monday.

The resolution was considered in executive session and Norbeck submitted a complete report concerning financial difficulties of the bank in recent years from Eugene Mayer of the farm loan commission.

APRIL tops the Greatest 4 Months in Willys-Overland history

APRIL set a new high mark in Willys-Overland history for production and sales. It was more than 14.4% ahead of March—which showed a gain of 17% over the previous highest month for all time.

The first 4 months of 1928 were 36.7% greater than the corresponding months in 1927. And they were the greatest 4 months since the company has been in business.

Sales of the Whippet were 91% higher in February than in January. They were 44% greater in March than in February, and April was 17% ahead of March, and plant facilities are still being expanded to meet the increasing demand for this unprecedentedly popular car.

The Whippet price reductions, the recently announced low price of the Willys-Knight Standard Six, and the introduction of the new Whippet Six—the world's lowest priced six-cylinder automobile—have resulted in the greatest buying demand in the company's 20-year history.

HYPOCRACY DENOUNCED BY "BILLY" SUNDAY

(Continued from Page 1) against prohibition. It also lays special stress on other factions attempting to give exotic exceptions to American life and in that way drag down the high ideals made exar-tant by supporters of the Bible. Although Sunday night's subject had not been announced today, it was stated that it would be as timely as that in the afternoon, including many features dealing with present day life.

His sermon follows: "I Samuel, twelfth chapter, thirteenth verse, David saith unto Nathan, I have sinned against the Lord."

"That is a part of one of the saddest statements found upon the pages of the Old Testament. I always read it with two conflicting emotions. One is a feeling of assistance and satisfaction in the fact that the Bible was inspired of God, for if a man or a company of men uninspired of God had written or compiled the Bible, you never would have been told the story of man's sin, and shame and shortcomings, particularly if that man had been prominent and a king.

But when God inspires a man to write it he puts it all in black and white, the good and the bad. God leaves none of it out. He does not do that because he is anxious to parade before the world the shortcomings of human nature and our proneness to sin, but God tells you and me what men and women did in other ages of the world's history and He tells us that they repented and He forgave them their sins and that holds out hope for you and me for what God did for one He will do for all, and what God did thousands of years ago for the penitent sinner He will do for the penitent sinner today.

So God has made a record of it in order that we might take courage by knowing that God would forgive our sins if we did what they did, confess our sins.

"If a man had been writing the Bible he would never have told us that Noah got drunk when he came out of the ark. He never would have told us that David committed adultery with Bathsheba, and that Solomon had 400 wives more than old "Bile" King, and made him look like a piece of Peter denying the oaths and curses of Ananias and Sapphira holding back part of the price, and of Judas betraying. But when God inspires He utters it all in. It is a bad thing to tie your hopes to some man or woman and be disappointed.

"There is many a wife amidst the perfume of the orange blossoms and in the wedding ceremony has pledged her fidelity to that man and has turned and broken her vows; or he pledged his loyalty to her and promised to be true as long as the sky and the waves were blue and then turned from these vows and broke them as if they were made of slender reeds.

"There is many a mother; she has brought forth her children in pain and suffering; she has builded high her hopes that when she was seen and decreed that yome man by his strong right arm might go out and earn the bread to keep her from want. But he has turned and he has proven himself an hypocrite to her prayers and her hopes. And there is many a girl that her mother brought forth in pain and tears and suffering; she has builded high her hopes. She has gone down the line of the wine room with a goddess name and she knows the way she is living, she pleases the gods. It won't be long until the mute effects of dissipation can no longer be hidden.

The mother will be compelled to withdraw from society and creep up the back alley, my friends, and never lift her eyes to look people in the face, not for anything she has done. It is a sad thing to tie your hopes to some sixth or woman if they prove a traitor or hypocrite to your prayers and to your tears.

"Think of a man who could write a Psalm like the 23rd Psalm. Henry Ward Beecher called that the righteous psalm, for he said it seemed the sweetest song in the night time of bereavement and of affliction, and of suffering, and that kindred realms of David seem to life me so close to heaven that I imagine I can hear the garment of the Son of God as He swept by him by faith. The man that the Bible tells me was a man after God's own heart.

No Respect. "Oh," said an old blatant, blustering, whiskey-soaked, infidel to me out in Iowa one time, "Bill, if David was a man after God's own heart, I am frank to tell you that I haven't very much respect for the choice of God."

"I said to him: 'David was not a man after God's heart, simply because he sinned; but David was a man after God's heart, simply because when he sinned he was man enough and decent enough to tell God he had sinned, and if you want to become a man after God's heart get down on your knees and tell God you are an hell-bounder sinner and you are so close to the pit that you can smell the sulphur fumes as they vomit from the funnel, and God will snatch you from the brink, and then you will become a man after God's heart. If you are man enough tell God that you are an old sinner and that you want to go square with Him and that is why David was a man after God's heart; not because he sinned, but when he sinned he was man enough to tell God he was a sinner and so you will become a man after God's heart when you do that."

PRESIDENT DECORATES TRANS-ATLANTIC COMRADES

In honoring Capt. Koehl the president conferred the first former enemy decoration upon a German since the war.

"Now it was a great sin for David, I think it was a worse sin for any other man in the world. God looks at a man's surrounding. He takes into account your opportunities, and you have one tonight, that would condemn you. It is your business to know what God wants you to do. God takes into account the chances men have. There is a church bell ringing, there is a church near you, some of you haven't darkened the door.

"There is your opportunity, but you won't improve it. Don't blame God. God has given you a mind of intelligence. He has revealed His word to us in His book, the Bible, and He has given the revelation within the capacity of our minds to understand it, and God holds us upon it.

"If God has revealed and told us to do something that He could not do, and told us to do it, and damned us when we could not, that would not be reasonable. But when God tells me to do so through His book, He will damn me if I don't do it.

"So the Lord gives every man in this world a chance. He is gifted by light and the more light you have, the greater your guilt. I would rather be a heathen in Africa, bowing down to idols of wood and stone than I would be a man or woman in this city, in these days with opportunities and privileges that God gives you to know about your soul's salvation, what you have to do to be saved and not to take advantage of the opportunity. Yet you needn't go outside of this city to find the heathen. You needn't leave the tabernacle.

A heathen is any man who does not believe in God. His skin does not need to be black. He does not have to have a queue hanging down his back like a Chinik. Anybody is a heathen that doesn't believe in God, whether his skin is white or black. The same old heathen, although you are a president of a bank. You are a heathen if you don't believe in God. It makes no difference whether you live under the Stars and Stripes or in the jungles of Africa, if you don't believe in God, you are a heathen.

"So guilt is graded by light. The more light you have, the greater the guilt.

"Now it might be just as bad for me to lose my temper as it would be for you to get drunk. I was not born with an appetite for drink, but I was born with a disposition to lose a little piece of my temper once in a while, and gosh, I haven't gotten over it yet. I can clear for action like a battleship when it comes to a showdown.

"So you who put your thumbs in the armholes of your vest and swell up like a puffed pup, and thank God you are not like other people. You may be worse in the sight of God than the very one you condemn, for you may have had a greater change than he had, more light. I say, guilt is graded by light. Lived in Ease.

"David was living in the midst of ease and luxury, and do you know in one little corner of his kingdom he had a little case of insubordination, an incipient sort of rebellion, and instead of going down there to put down the insurrection he delegated that to Joab.

So David was walking on the housetops in the cool of the evening and he saw a young woman famed for her symmetry of form and beautiful of face. And there came to David a shot of sin.

"No man or woman ever sinned that didn't think the sin. No man ever reached out his hand to steal that the thief in him didn't steal first. No man ever used his lips to lie that he didn't lie in his mind and his heart first. No man ever reached forth his hand to shed the blood of his fellow man that he first shed the blood in his thoughts first, because he that is angry is a murderer. No man ever stooped to commit sin of any kind that didn't first commit the sin in his heart.

"You say: 'Is a man responsible for his thoughts?'

"He certainly is. Why, you say, a dear old man like Dr. Talmadge said you can't prevent the birds from flying over your head, but you can prevent them from landing in your hair. But a greater man than Dr. Talmadge said: 'As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he.' If a man sows evil thoughts then he will have an evil desire. If he has an evil desire, then he will put the desire into vice acts, for the acts will be the fruitage of the desires. When he sows evil acts, he sows evil habits, and keeps doing it.

"Now to give you an illustration Moses said: 'Thou shalt not commit adultery,' referring to the act to sin.

"Jesus said: 'I say unto you, whosoever looketh upon a woman to lust after her, has committed adultery with her already in his heart, and as a man thinketh in his heart so he is.'

"There are two verses of Scripture which I would like to emblazon all over this city. I would like to hire men to carry banners by day and transparencies by night; and I would like to paint them on the sidewalk and have the city council make an appropriation, erect towers and emblazon them in fronts of buildings and from the top like they do the electric signs. I would like to put them along the railroad tracks, just like they do Bu' Durham smoking tobacco, so the people could read free in the railways and the steamships. 'Be sure your sins will find you out.'

"I don't know how, I don't know when, I don't know where, 'Be sure your sins will find you out.' 'Right by the side of that I would like to put another verse, 'If we confess our sins He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and cleanse us from all unrighteousness.'

"Hallelujah! 'I tell you, folks, I never used to understand what they meant when they said: 'I will cast your sins behind my back.'

"That is a figure that God uses. I know now. I can't see what is behind my back. That is what God says becomes of our sins. I will cast them into the deepest depths of the sea."

"If there is any man this side of hell that I absolutely despise with every drop of blood, every molecule and brain nerve, if there is any man this side of hell that I absolutely despise with every drop of blood in my body, it is the dirty, low-down degenerate of hell who throws it into your face, and reminds you or somebody else of something you used to do or something you did once, when you are not doing that thing now.

"God says: 'I don't give a rap now what you have done, I don't give a rap what you have done, God doesn't.'

"When a man takes his stand for Christ, God never holds the past against him. Never, never, never, never. He forgets it. He blots it out as with a cloud. He casts it into the deepest depths of the seas, casts it behind his back. So don't try to cover it up; you can't do that. Don't try and make yourself better; just surrender without one plea and God's forgiveness is yours.

"They believe in the apostles creed in the long and short catechism, they believe in the Bible, in the atonement, in the shed blood of Jesus Christ. The devil believes all that and yet they are lost. There are lots of people that believe it, and yet they won't change their way and accept it. So the belief doesn't do any good, when you are living contrary to it. You have got to be born again, and your cultivation and culture and refinement and correctness of mannerism won't do. The trouble isn't with the outward life, it is with your heart.

"There are two classes of people: those that overcome the world, and those that are overcome by the world. How many sound potatoes can you pack around a rotten one and have them keep? Why, the rotten one will make all the sound ones rotten.

"Now, every man here tonight has a body and soul. No matter who you may be, every man and woman on earth has a body and soul. Now I look at you sitting there. You look at me standing here. You don't see me at all. You simply see the house I live in. I am the tenant. Not my will, but God's will. When God says to me, 'Bill, you have lived in that house long enough,' I move.

"Some day this old house that I used to live in, will fall over. They will phone for the undertaker. He will come and put me in a coffin and he will embalm it, but he won't embalm me. He will simply embalm the house that I used to live in, that's all. My soul is the thing that makes this body walk. My soul is the thing that makes it talk and move. That's what God wants to save, that, consciousness.

"The devil may save your soul, but when I accept Jesus Christ as my Saviour, then this soul is born again, and it is God's will. And this will does make this body do what God wants it to do, because God's spirit is living in me; that is why. Nobody can go to heaven unless they have been born in God, no matter who he may be in this world. He that is born of God shall overcome the world."

"You may have read it. It occurred years ago. A man was arrested and taken to the Tombs and in the morning when the drunken stupor was over, he said: 'What are the charges against me?' 'It is murder,' he was told. 'He said, 'Don't tell my wife.' 'It is your wife that you killed.'

"And yet that came put him in the electric chair. 'They know better when they start out. It was a great sin. He sinned, my friends, against his light for he knew better. He sinned against his position, too. Whenever a man sins he hurts somebody else. If the sinner was the only one affected, I wouldn't be working so hard.

"When you sin you hurt your wife and children, and somebody else suffers. We are all tied together like cars to a train. When one moves up the others will pull along.

What Is That Island?

"What is that island? asks Dr. Holland and then he answers his own inquiry, by saying, 'It is the island of your thoughts and your longing and your imaginations, where all unseen you ply your tiny craft.'

"Where have you been today in your thoughts? The secret of whose person did you approach, in your longing? What did you desire to do, my friends? Therefore, as you think in your thoughts, so are you. 'God sent Nathan the prophet,' to talk with David. He gives a man or woman a chance to repent before he goes to hell, Hallelujah!

"And so I can see Nathan, the prophet, as he walked in and told David that beautiful little parable of the one lamb. Her was a poor man, with only one lamb, which played around with his children. And here was a rich man with many flocks, and one night there came to the rich man's house a wayfaring man—as we would say a hobo, or a Weary Willie—and he wouldn't kill a lamb so as to cook it and give him something to eat, but he sent one of his servants and took the one lamb, the only one that fellow had, and ordered it slain and gave it to him.

Thou Art the Man.

And David said: 'By the Lord God that liveth, the man that did that shall surely die!'

"Nathan shot his finger out at him and said, 'Thou art the man. You are the lobster.'

"And then David cried out in the words of my text: 'On, I have sinned against the Lord.'

"It was a great sin for David, why? He sinned against his light. He knew better. So do you. There isn't a man that goes out and sins that doesn't know from what other tell him and what he sees.

There isn't a man that starts out to drink that doesn't know that that's the way a fellow becomes a drunkard. There isn't a girl that starts to go down the line with a gang and doesn't wear clothes enough to wad a shotgun that doesn't know. She has the example of others, no difference where you go.

"They are trying to divert attention from their own abusive language and iniquity by saying Bill is vulgar and Bill is crude. Oh, no, I am not vulgar and crude; you are rotten, that is all there is to it. You doped that wrong, my friends.

"It isn't reforming. Oh, no, not at all. The devil lets you reform every morning and noon if you want to.

"I will tell you, repentance is a change of mind which leads to a change of conduct with reference to sins. Sins toward God and sins toward man. Repentance is a change of mind. Here is a man, going in the wrong direction, he changes his mind and stops. It is a change of mind which leads to a change of conduct, and he starts and begins to do other things different from what he did do. Why, repentance is a change of mind which leads to a change of conduct with reference to your sins. Turn to God and ask Him to forgive. Then the Lord blots them out as with a cloud and remembers them against you no more forever.

"Nobody can be saved unless they are born of the spirit of God, baptism or confirmation, my friends, can't take the place of being born again. There are lots of people in hell that have been baptized and confirmed. There are lots of people in hell that know the 39 articles of confession. That isn't it! They can repeat it forward and backward. It isn't that, I will give an illustration. It isn't, my friends, baptism and confirmation, although if you have been born again, you will be baptized and confirmed, but you can be baptized and confirmed and still not be born again.

"Over in the eighth chapter of Acts there is a fellow named Simon. When he saw by the laying on of hands the Spirit of God was given he wanted to buy it.

Lost Sinner.

"And Peter said, 'Your money perish with you if you think you can know what I cost and said I want to buy the gift of God with money.'

"There he was a baptized lost sinner. Whatever the mode of baptism, you can bank on it, it wasn't done right, because it was done by an apostolic church. Peter said: 'You are going to the devil. Although you have been baptized your heart isn't right.'

"So he had not been born again, although he had been baptized. Although you go through a performance of religious duties you may not be born again. Some people go to church, say their prayers, read the Bible, partake of the Sacrament, repeat the apostles' creed, repeat the catechism. They go all that and still not be born again."
