

BILLY SUNDAY SPEAKS TO LARGEST CROWD OF SERIES OF SERVICES IN THIS CITY

Between Six and Seven Thousand People In City Yesterday to Hear Evangelist in Sermon on Americanism.

The largest gathering of men probably ever before assembled in this city at one time attended the Billy Sunday services at the tabernacle here yesterday afternoon. About half of the crowd was composed of members of the Junior Order of the United American Mechanics who cheered lustily as the evangelist delivered a stirring sermon dealing with "Americanism."

Members of the junior order assembled at the courthouse and marched to the tabernacle. They were headed by the high school band and carried banners bearing the names of lodges from many towns in the eastern section of North Carolina. The large building was packed to capacity and the crowd overflowed to the walls some time before the service actually got under way. It was a real American gathering, and hundreds of flags emblematic of the great nation, were in evidence on the laps of the coats and in the hands of the lodge members. Mr. Sunday's pulpit was draped in red, white and blue which formed a fitting setting for the inspirational service.

Paying his respect to Al Smith, the evangelist declared "the New York governor could no more be President of the United States than the Pope of Rome can be the Grand Cyclops of the Ku Klux Klan."

"I call on you, men of America, to stand shoulder to shoulder in defense of the American land we love so well, in protection of our homes, our loved ones, and our God. The brilliant and impressive climax to the sermon came when the evangelist called to the pulpit six youth who had been sitting silently on the platform. He pointed at the youngsters and yelled "This is the material which the best leaders are using in their game of undetermined American citizenship." He unfolded a large American flag and swinging it out in front of the platform, called on the men to come up and pledge themselves to the cause of the Bible and the fight to do away with violation of prohibition laws.

Song services as usual were under the direction of Homer Hammeudree. Three hundred male voices were raised in songs of praise, and in a few moments from six to seven thousand other voices joined in. Men who had not wept before in years yanked out a pocket handkerchief from the recesses of faded trousers, or ill-fitting coats, and gave away to unrestrained tears. It was a congregation made up of men from every walk of life, and those whose violations of law had gone unpunished were probably as visibly impressed as others whose lives have been above reproach.

E. G. Flanagan called for more liberal contributions to the campaign. Numbers responded with checks ranging from a hundred dollars down. Virtually all Junior Order lodges gave liberally. It was the largest offering of any service of the series.

Last night Mr. Sunday spoke on the subject of "How Shall We Escape if We Neglect So Great a Salvation?" The crowd was not as large as in the afternoon but considerably enthusiastic was in evidence, and the sermon was put over in whirlwind style.

Hon. F. C. Harding made one of the most eloquent pleas of the campaign for support of Mr. Sunday, whom he declared to be the greatest preacher of his time. He said it was not Greenville's meeting but Eastern Carolina's, and urged his hearers to contribute liberally to financial success.

While Mr. Sunday was speaking at the tabernacle Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Sunday spoke to a capacity congregation of women at Jarvis Memorial Methodist church. There will be no services this afternoon and tonight. Beginning Tuesday night the evangelist will speak to the various denominations of the city, two churches at a time.

UNITE EFFORT TO SAVE BIG DAM IN S. C.

Federal Officials Cooperate To Prevent Saluda River Valley Disaster.

Table Rock, S. C., May 7.—(AP)—Federal state and county officials united their efforts today to save Table Rock Dam, 31 miles from Greenville, which developed a leak late Friday, threatening the Saluda river valley should the 5,000,000,000 gallons of water impounded behind the dyke get loose.

J. C. Fitzsimmons, United States district engineer from Charleston, S. C., reached Greenville this morning and went into conference with the local authorities and Red Cross representatives to ascertain what, if anything, the United States government could do towards saving the dam.

Major Frank Green, Red Cross representative from Fort Benning, Ga., joined the conference. Lieut. K. E. Hertford, regular army instructor with South Carolina national guard engineer corps at Spartanburg, proffered the air of the national guard engineering unit. Major N. Y. Duhamel and J. A. Grant, from the Charleston district, reached Greenville shortly before 11 o'clock for consultation.

J. W. Burnwell, engineer with the South Carolina State Highway Commission, came to Greenville this morning to offer his assistance. Mr. Fitzsimmons arranged with local authorities for crews, trucks, sand bags and tarpaulins and prepared to go to the dam site from Greenville.

Rain has been falling steadily since the middle of yesterday afternoon. The engineers planned to start by truck and to complete the journey by horse back if necessary.

Red Cross officials were prepared to assist the settlers in Saluda valley who had taken to the hills when warned last Friday night of a leak in Table Rock Dam.

D. C. Merchant, U. S. weather bureau representative, said today that 2.17 inches of rain had fallen in the Blue Ridge watershed in the past four hours. Under normal conditions, he added, this would add 500,000,000 gallons of water to the lake formed by Table Rock Dam and normally should raise the level of the water therein forty inches. However, he said, no accurate estimate of the situation could be made.

Major Green and Miss Margaret Laing of the Redd Cross, decided to establish relief headquarters at Mountain Lake colony, four miles from the dam site, on the Greer highway.

R. Hill, 58, died at his home on Cotanch street yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Funeral services were conducted from the home this afternoon at two o'clock by Rev. James Nobles, pastor of Peneconat Holiness church, assisted by Rev. R. J. Bamber, pastor of the Eighth Street Church of Christ.

Burial will take place with honor of the Modern Woodmen of America. Mr. Hill was a member of the local camp.

Sheet metal workers of the city will act as honorary pallbearers. They are as follows: M. E. Riddle, James Tindall, Marvin Forbes, Case Weston, Exum Weston, H. C. Johnson, Daniel Williams, James Heath. Mr. Hill is survived by his widow, Mrs. Blanch Bell Hill and four children, Ora Virginia, Winfred Agatha, Lloyd Benjamin and Rossie Bell; three brothers, L. F. Hill, Norfolk; Henry Hill, Seven Springs; John W. Hill, New Bern; there sisters, Mrs. Julia Taylor, Seven Springs; Mrs. Jamie Holmes, Greenville and Mrs. J. R. Hill, Kinston.

Air Speedster

Undaunted by the death of Lieut. B. M. Kinkead, whose plane dived into the water while flying five miles a minute, Lieut. David D. A. Greig, 28-year-old Scotsman, will attempt a new airplane speed record for the English air force.

FIFTY PLANES USED IN EVENT AT FT. BRAGG

Army Airships Concentrate in Defense of Artillery in Simulated Warfare.

Fort Bragg, May 7.—(AP)—Tumbling out of the clouds with all the weird contortions known to flyers in aerial warfare fifty of the latest airplanes of the United States army today attacked and defended the artillery here in simulated warfare.

With Dwight F. Davis, secretary of war, and high staff officers as well as thousands of spectators on hand, twenty-five fast two seater planes commanded by Maj. Frank D. Lackland swooped down to attack ground targets representing a battalion of artillery. Dipping and diving they machine gunned the targets. Then they dropped bombs.

But meanwhile 25 Curtiss Hawks under the command of Major Thomas G. Lanprier were taking the air to repel the attack. Diving into the attackers the defending forces set off such an aerial melee as has seldom been seen since the World War.

The demonstration staged here today is a part of the greatest aerial maneuvers ever undertaken by the United States army. The first part of the demonstration was staged at Langley Field, Va. last week. Today's demonstration had as its primary object a better understanding between the artillery and the air forces of their relations in actual warfare, both as cooperating arms of the military and as attacking forces.

Tonight the ground forces, using illuminated shells, will give a demonstration of ground forces repelling aerial attacks with anti-aircraft guns.

DARROW MAKES FINAL SHOW AT ASHTABULA

Jefferson, Ohio, May 7.—(AP)—The century old courthouse in this little Ashtabula county seat today saw the opening of what Clarence Darrow, 71-year-old Chicago lawyer, has said will be his last appearance in a court trial before his retirement.

The trial is that of James Munser of Warren, Ohio, whom Darrow is defending against a charge of attempting to bribe Sheriff John Smith of Trumbull county. Darrow, recalling that he started out as a lawyer in Trumbull county in defending a man accused of stealing a set of harness, said he wanted to try one more Trumbull county case before he retired.

SITUATION IN CHINA GROWS MORE SERIOUS

Japanese Warships Distributed in Chinese Waters to Prevent Violence.

Peking, May 7.—(AP)—Japanese warships were distributed throughout Chinese waters and additional troops were on their way to reinforce embattled comrades in Tsinan today as the Chinese observed "Institution Day."

The thirtieth anniversary of Japan's ultimatum of 21 demands has assumed a more somber and threatening aspect than ever before. Annually the day has been the occasion of anti-Japanese demonstrations, massacre and fighting in Tsinan today was considered the gravest China-Japanese crisis since the 1915 demands. It was feared that in Nationalist territory at least race hatred might flare and be the spark to set the train of powder off.

Shanghai advised today of arrangements for an extensive boycott of Japanese goods and resignation of Chinese employed by Japanese. All Japanese women were taken on board ships at Ichang, on the Yangtze river.

To reinforce the Yangtze patrol an additional destroyer division was ordered to Shanghai. While the Japanese garrison at Tsinan has been reinforced to a total of more than 4,000, an additional 2,700 troops were steaming from Manchuria to Tsinan as their destination.

In Peking there was anxiety lest Japan seize the present occasion to resume military and economic domination of the province of Shantung. In 1914 the Mikado seized Shantung from Germany and with it the Shantung railway and occupied Kiaochow. As a sequel to the Washington conference the province was handed back to China but now China's payments on a $20,000,000 bond issue by which retrocession of the railway was purchased have been in default for nearly two years.

W. H. ELKS PASSES AWAY

Aged Ballard's Cross Roads Man Succumbs to Illness of About Six Months.

W. H. Elks, 80, died at his home at Ballard's Cross Roads last night at 7 o'clock following an illness of about six months. Funeral services were conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock at his late home by Rev. Herman Wooten, of Ayden, burial following in the family burying ground near the home.

Besides a wife, he is survived, by three daughters, Mrs. George H. Crawford, Mrs. Charlie Crawford, both of Pitt county; Mrs. David M. Willford, of Dunn; three sons, J. S. Preston, J. and Will H. Jr., of Pitt county. He was a member of St. Delight's Free Will Baptist church.

Mr. Elks was one of Pitt county's prominent farmers, having been connected with agricultural development of his community many years. He was well known throughout the section and his death has deprived the county of one of its most useful citizens.

Feeling High Against Coast Guards in N. Y.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 7.—(AP)—Feeling in western New York ran high today against two coast guardsmen held on a charge of shooting J. D. Hanson, secretary of Niagara Falls lodge, of Elks. Hanson was in Niagara Falls hospital in a serious condition. One bullet entered his head and destroyed his right eye.

Glenn Jennings and Chris Dew, accused of the shooting, were confined at Fort Niagara. They had been detailed to watch for run runners along the highway. Hanson was returning to the Falls after taking a party of friends to Lewiston. The coast guardsmen clad in overalls and sheepskin jackets, suspecting he was a run runner, commanded him to stop. Hanson apparently thought they were highwaymen. He tried to speed away. The guardsmen fired several shots, one entering the driver's right temple. The car ran into a rocky bank and stopped.

Snow, Sleet and Rain Set New Record For May

Charlotte, May 7.—(AP)—Snow, sleet and rain today gave portions of the Carolinas an unusual taste of May weather. The heavy rains marking the tenth anniversary of the Table Rock Mountain Dam of the city waterworks, has been threatening to break for nearly three days, extended over most of North Carolina and South Carolina.

Snow flurries and sleet were reported from Rock Hill, S. C., and several nearby points, an almost unprecedented occurrence. The weather bureau here today reported 2.16 inches of rain had fallen at Greenville, S. C., in the 24 hours ending at 8 a. m. Columbia had 42 inches and Charleston 28. Thirty-one one-hundredths inches of rain had fallen in Charlotte up to that hour and a light rain was reported at Hatteras.

Wilmington and Raleigh were only Carolina points reporting to the weather bureau that they had no rain. Temperatures in the two states were generally low. Greenville reported a maximum of 60 and a minimum of 44; Raleigh 60 and 48; Charlotte 61 and 41; Columbia 72 and 48 and Wilmington 70 and 51.

SEARCH HILLS FOR MEN IN MURDER CASE

Federal Posse Scour Kentucky County For Men Wanted in Killing of Woman.

Shepherdsville, Ky., May 7.—(AP)—A federal posse continued today to search the hills of Bullitt county today for two men who escaped under fire yesterday when seven others were arrested in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Kate Brown, 90, shot down as she fled with five members of her family from her burning home at midnight Friday.

The prohibition agents invaded the county after local officials had indicated that investigation of the burning and slaying would be delayed for several days. Their nine warrants charging conspiracy to intimidate a federal witness were based on reports that the family was attacked because one member had supplied information about moonshiners to the raiding squad at Louisville.

The prisoners, one a magistrate, were sent to Louisville last night pending arraignment. In the meantime, the give members of the family, wounded when they dashed barefooted and scantily clad from the blazing home, were believed hiding in the woods nearby with no prospects of shelter. Cared for at the jail in Wardstown Saturday night, they received shoes and stockings and other clothing as gifts from citizens there.

When the warrants were issued yesterday for the Brownings started for their home neighborhood with federal and local officers preceding them. With returns of the agents and their prisoners, it was learned that the refugees had been left in the forest.

The arrested men are Magistrate John Bolton, 80, Frank Kinder, Walter Crenshaw, Elmer Crenshaw, Frank Hodge, James Harris, and Clarence Crenshaw, father of Walter and Elmer. All live in the hills ten miles from where the killing occurred. They refused to talk.

Mrs. Brown's slayers are alleged to have barricaded the door of her one-room cabin, set fire to it in many places and awaited the flight of the family from ambush. Ben Browning, one of the wounded, said he was forced to break the door with an axe when flames and molten tar broke through the roof.

The other wounded refugees, Peachie and Angie Browning, Mrs. Amanda Jones and Mrs. Lau Browning, sister of the slain woman, supported Ben's story. At a mass meeting of Bullitt county citizens yesterday the slayings were condemned and federal officers were asked to do their utmost to suppress the "crime breeding traffic in moonshine."

REFUSE TO DEMAND BRATIANU RESIGNATION

Bucharest, May 7.—(AP)—The regency today refused the demand voiced by 200,000 peasants meeting at Alba Julia yesterday that the government of Vintila Bratianu resign. Julio Maniu, leader of the peasants, who brought the demand to Bucharest, was informed that the regency saw no occasion for demanding the resignation.

RESIGNS AS MEMBER OF DELAWARE CORP.

New York, May 7.—(AP)—William H. Williams today resigned as vice president and a member of the board of managers of the Delaware and Hudson Company and affiliated corporations, in order to devote his entire time to the interests of the Missouri Pacific system and the Washash Railway Company of which he is chairman of the directors.

CHINESE TURMOIL INVOLVES JAPAN

At Tsinan-Fu in Shantung province, Chinese nationalist troops warring on the northern forces of Chang Tse-Lin clashed with Japanese forces, and Japan is sending reinforcements to protect its citizens. The Shantung railway and the Hwangho river southward of Tsinan mark roughly the nationalist frontiers.

Develop Facts About Financing Presidential Campaign This Year

Washington, May 7.—(AP)—Presidential candidates rubbed shoulders with one another today as the new Senate campaign funds committee set out at the Senate office building to develop facts concerning the financing of the 1928 political battles.

One by one, the candidates showed up in the committee room, each being made the target of good natured, joking remarks by the members of the committee, especially when the candidates happened to be a member of the Senate.

Senator Curtis, of Kansas, the Republican leader, was the first to reach the committee room. He was the first Republican to announce candidacy. Senator Goff, of West Virginia, who is opposing Secretary Hoover in the Republican primary in the state, was on hand as the meeting opened, as was Gilbert H. Hitchcock, former Senator from Nebraska, who has the votes of that state in the Democratic convention.

Senator Norris, Republican, of Nebraska, came in as chairman Steiwer called the committee together. Curtis and Goff sat at the table alongside committee members. The chairman said the committees proposed to make an "impartial" investigation.

"We will conduct our inquiry in such a way as to elicit the truth, but without injuring or aiding any candidate," he said. Senator Norris asked to be heard first because of a committee meeting. He was sworn and Steiwer asked him to tell of expenditures of his campaign and the scope of it.

"Norris was smoking a pipe. 'I have not been a candidate,' the Nebraska said. 'I have not wanted to be and haven't been in any sense. Against my wish my name was put on the ballot in Wisconsin and Nebraska, although I could have stopped it.'

"I have not spent anything. After the primaries in these states I received a letter from a Nebraska editor asking me to pay $6 for an advertisement. 'He said he had not been authorized to run it, but I paid it. I hope this will not induce other to bill me. 'I have seen other advertisements in papers for me. All showed on the face who paid for them. Steiwer asked if Norris contemplated any expenditures before the national convention, and Norris said he did not. He added that when he decided not to withdraw his name in the Nebraska primary, he asked that no expenditures be made on his behalf. He said no fund had been raised for his candidacy.

Norris referred to mock conventions held by university students. He said a California school had nominated him for President over Herbert Hoover and an Ohio school had nominated him for vice-President. "So I think I have a cinch on one job," he remarked. Senator Barkley said the inquiry was to include "means and methods" and asked if Norris knew of any movement on his behalf by an organization. Norris did not.

Considerable interest has been centered about the campaign in the third and fourth wards, and candidates have been putting in overtime the last week lining up their constituents in last minute effort to gain a distinct victory.

EXTRA POLICE PRECAUTION IN STRIKE

New Bedford, Mass., May 7.—(AP)—Extra police precautions ushered in the fourth week of the textile mill strike here this morning. Picketing, however, was quiet, police guards at the mill gates and police emergency squads in automobiles found patrol work their only duty. Many children were among the assembled before the mills.

Considerable interest manifested in Voting During Afternoon Hours.

COAST GUARD NOT BLAMED IN DISASTER

Crew of Paulding Exonerated of Blame For Sinking of Submarine S-4.

Washington, May 7.—(AP)—Lieutenant Commander J. S. Baylis, the skipper, and all others on board the coast guard destroyer Paulding when she crashed May 6 and sank the submarine S-4 off Provincetown, Mass., last December 17, have been exonerated of blame in a report by coast guard board of inquiry.

The report, made public last night with the approval of Secretary Mellon, disagrees with the original decision of a naval investigating board attaching "serious blame" to the Paulding Commander for alleged failure to sight the submarine in time to prevent the collision. Secretary Wilbur, however, had reported this phase of the inquiry to the Treasury, which has supervision over the coast guard.

The coast guard board found nothing to warrant the charge that any of the Paulding's men were responsible, emphasized particularly the absence of a warning flag in the vicinity of the submarine's trial course, and recommended that no further action be taken and that Commander Baylis be notified officially that neither he nor any of his officers or men is held responsible for the disaster.

"Had a submarine warning flag been displayed as shown on the hydrographic office pilot charts and in the navy signal manual, or had the commanding officer of the Paulding knowledge of the operations of submarines in this vicinity," the report said, "no collision would have occurred."

The board held that the Paulding speed of 18 knots was the normal speed of a destroyer on the Provincetown "fairway" in daylight and that the officers of the submarine "had every opportunity by observations to see the destroyer at a considerable distance and seek immediate safety at a greater depth."

The cause of this failure, however, the report added, "must remain indeterminate since there are no survivors to testify." The report stressed the doctrine of the submarine service that "responsibility rests upon a submarine commander to keep clear of all surface craft."

When the submarine S-4 was sighted by the Paulding upon its emergence 75 yards from the destroyer's port bow, collision was inevitable. The Paulding was damaged to the extent of $19,765 in the collision, but was able to proceed unassisted to Provincetown. Before leaving the scene, however, the report said, she lowered a boat to rescue possible survivors, "dropped a buoy to mark the spot of sinking, and took cross bearings.

Wait Favorable Weather Before Flight to Pole

Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, May 7.—(AP)—The dirigible Italia was safe at her base today awaiting favorable weather as final preparations were made for a series of trips over unexplored wastes of the arctic and to the North Pole.

Despite unfavorable weather conditions, General Noble brought the airship from Vadsoe, Norway, some 700 miles across the arctic ocean to Kings Bay in sixteen and a half hours. A high wind was blowing and the dirigible was forced to stay anchored to the base ship for many hours since it was impossible to put her in the hangar used by the Norge in 1926.

A heavy snowfall and contrary winds were encountered throughout the flight here. General Noble, after making Green Harbor at noon, was forced to maneuver the craft for an hour before he could bring her to the ship's mooring mast.

Indiana to Hold Election Tuesday

Indianapolis, Ind., May 7.—(AP)—A bitter primary campaign approached the end today. Indiana will vote tomorrow for Republican and Democratic candidates for President, United States Senate, Congress, Governor, State Legislature and County officers. Precinct committees and delegates to the state convention also will be selected.

Principal interest centers in the fight between Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, and Senator James E. Watson for the preferential vote of his state for Republican nomination for President. Control of the 33 delegates to the Kansas City convention is in question. Evans Woolen, Indianapolis banker is unopposed for the Democratic preferential vote for President. He will control 30 delegates to the Houston convention.

LOCALS ANNEX TWO STRAIGHT FROM PIRATES

Greenville made it two straight from the Wilmington Pirates at Wilmington by taking Saturday afternoon's entertainment by the score of 3 to 2.

Wilson, former Wilmington youngster, hurled masterful ball for the locals enable them to grab a definite lead early in the game, and hold it despite terrific assaults by the Pirates.

Lefty McKay pitched brilliantly for Wilmington, but inability of his teammates to hit opportunistly was mainly responsible for his downfall. Baker's error at second resulted in two of Greenville's runs. Wilmington started the fireworks in the ninth frame that resulted in the only two tallies of the game.

Greenville succeeded in executing three double plays to pull Wilson out of the hole.

Rocky Mount appears on the local diamond this afternoon for the first time this season. Much interest is centered around the game and it is expected attendance will be good.

The box score of Saturday's game follows:

LOCALS WIN FAST RELAY EVENT HERE

The Northeast Athletic Conference held their first track and field meet in Greenville May 5, and for a beginning, the young conference considered it an unequal success. Roanoke Rapids entered four all around athletes who proved able to garner more points than the larger teams entered by Goldsboro, Washington and Greenville. Led by Goodman, the individual high scorer, who turned in 21 points, the Roanoke Rapids aggregation were securely in the lead before the relay was called, and were content to rest on the heavy bank of laurels they had already won. Close and spirited competition between the three Southern teams in the conference features the latter part of the meet, and only the final event decided second, third and fourth places.

The individual records made were not especially good, but the comparative lack of experience of the conference schools in track work will account for this. Some schools are already thinking of next year's meet.

The school score was: Roanoke Rapids, 28; Goldsboro, 20 1-2; Greenville, 27 1-2; Washington, 24; Farmville, 22.

Farmville brought two high jumpers good for first and second, and King added four more points in weight events, but too few men composed their team to constitute a serious threat.

Schmazy: 100-yard dash, won by Goodman, Roanoke Rapids; second, Edwards, Goldsboro; third, Dunning, Roanoke Rapids; fourth, Daniels, Washington. Time: 10 4-5.

220-yard dash, won by Edwards, Goldsboro; second, Goodman, Roanoke Rapids; third, Roberson, Greenville; fourth, Olddeas, Goldsboro. Time: 2:40.

440-yard dash, won by Metz, Goldsboro; second, Dunning, Roanoke Rapids; third, Alger Lollis, Washington; fourth, Coppedge, Greenville. Time: 5:04.

High jump, won by King, Farmville; second, Hustine, Farmville; third, Mayo, Greenville; fourth, Dunning, Roanoke Rapids. Height, 5 1/2 ft.

Bread jump, won by Crumpler, Roanoke Rapids.

TIGERS WIN OVER RED SOX

Haskell Billings, Detroit's youthful pitching star, is out for revenge on Buddy Myer, shortstop of Bill Carrigan's Boston Red Sox.

Billings, who learned his pitching at Brown University, hurled the Tigers to a 3 to 0 victory over the Red Sox at Detroit yesterday and would have had a no-hit game to his credit if Buddy did not have described the opposition for the day. Billings allowed but two hits and both went to Myer. They were singles. Scittemple started for Boston but was berated with one out in the second inning after he had given up three hits and walked four men. Bradley pitched fine ball for the Sox the rest of the way.

Six thousand persons, including the famous crew of the Bremen, watched the New York Yanks subdue the Chicago White Sox for the third day in a row, 4 to 2, at the Yankee stadium. Red Faber, Chicago veteran, was touched for only six hits but three included homers by Gehrig and Dugan. Stanley Coveleski got credit for the Yankers' victory although he had to call for assistance from Wiley Moore before the game was over. Babe Ruth went hitless in two official trips to the plate.

Sam Gray registered his sixth win of the season when the St. Louis Browns turned back the Senators at Washington, 7 to 6, in a thrilling 11 inning game. Gray's single in the 11th put Schang in a position to score the winning run on O'Rourke's sacrifice. Bucky Harris hauled 12 chances at second and got two hits, one a triple with the bases loaded.

The New York Giants, National League leaders, suffered their second straight defeat at Cincinnati, 4 to 3, in ten innings. The Reds helded sensationally, completing four double plays. John McGraw announced that Vic Aldridge, former Pirate right hander, had come to terms.

At St. Louis the Cards and the Robins divided a double header before 33,000 fans. Dizzy Vance allowed but six hits and fanned a half dozen in the first game but lost decision to Grover Alexander and the Red Birds, 4 to 2. In the closing encounter, Babe Herman's four base drive with a man on base in the eighth enabled the Robins to earn a 5 to 4 decision. Haley drove in four runs with a homer and a single.

Pat Maloney, American Association strike out artist, threw a fast ball past the Phillies for five innings as the Chicago Cubs eked out a 5 to 4 decision over the invaders in 11 innings. Maloney relieved Sheriff Blake in the seventh with the bases loaded, got out of the jam with one run scored against him and then turned back the Phils the rest of the way. He fanned eight men.

The four other major league clubs had an open date.

TIGERS WIN OVER RED SOX

Haskell Billings, Detroit's youthful pitching star, is out for revenge on Buddy Myer, shortstop of Bill Carrigan's Boston Red Sox.

Billings, who learned his pitching at Brown University, hurled the Tigers to a 3 to 0 victory over the Red Sox at Detroit yesterday and would have had a no-hit game to his credit if Buddy did not have described the opposition for the day. Billings allowed but two hits and both went to Myer. They were singles. Scittemple started for Boston but was berated with one out in the second inning after he had given up three hits and walked four men. Bradley pitched fine ball for the Sox the rest of the way.

Six thousand persons, including the famous crew of the Bremen, watched the New York Yanks subdue the Chicago White Sox for the third day in a row, 4 to 2, at the Yankee stadium. Red Faber, Chicago veteran, was touched for only six hits but three included homers by Gehrig and Dugan. Stanley Coveleski got credit for the Yankers' victory although he had to call for assistance from Wiley Moore before the game was over. Babe Ruth went hitless in two official trips to the plate.

Sam Gray registered his sixth win of the season when the St. Louis Browns turned back the Senators at Washington, 7 to 6, in a thrilling 11 inning game. Gray's single in the 11th put Schang in a position to score the winning run on O'Rourke's sacrifice. Bucky Harris hauled 12 chances at second and got two hits, one a triple with the bases loaded.

The New York Giants, National League leaders, suffered their second straight defeat at Cincinnati, 4 to 3, in ten innings. The Reds helded sensationally, completing four double plays. John McGraw announced that Vic Aldridge, former Pirate right hander, had come to terms.

At St. Louis the Cards and the Robins divided a double header before 33,000 fans. GENE TUNNEY SEES GREAT THINGS AHEAD

By EDWARD J. NEIL.
 Associated Press Sports Writer.
 New York, May 7.—(AP)—The intellectual restrictions of the boxing game are weighing down upon Gene Tunney and if need for mental exercise was squashed in the fight "racket" spills over into study of the classics and lectures before Shakespearean students, then that's the fault of the game alone.

In a contemplative mood, the big heavyweights champion who soon must lay aside study of the gentler arts to prepare for defense of his title against the rugged Tom Henney, stretched on a sofa in his hotel apartment. In between the words he spoke lay hidden a story of disillusionment and envy that other men, more fortunate than he, still have things to strive for in their professions.

"In the realm of music, art, literature," he said, "there is no top, no ultimate. A violinist of the perfection of Jascha Heifetz, for instance, finds new and greater vistas opening before him as his skill increases.

"The same is true of masters of the brush and song, even students of literature see broader avenues of fine meanings open before them as they delve deeper into the true masters. For them there is no end and even the greatest achievements of understanding are but beginnings.

"But it takes little mentality to be a boxer and no more than that to be a champion. There is but one peak, one final goal in the fight game, and that, of course, is the heavyweight championship.

"On the way up there is the incentive to struggle for physical fitness, the mental keenness, that will bring about final victory and the goal that comes with the title. And even that achievement is permitted only a heavyweight for there are none but synthetic champions in other classes, mere subdivisions to the one class that rules all fighting men, physically and financially.

"The true champion knows how to take care of himself in trouble. Ability to keep ones head when the going gets hottest, is the prime mental requisite of a champion.

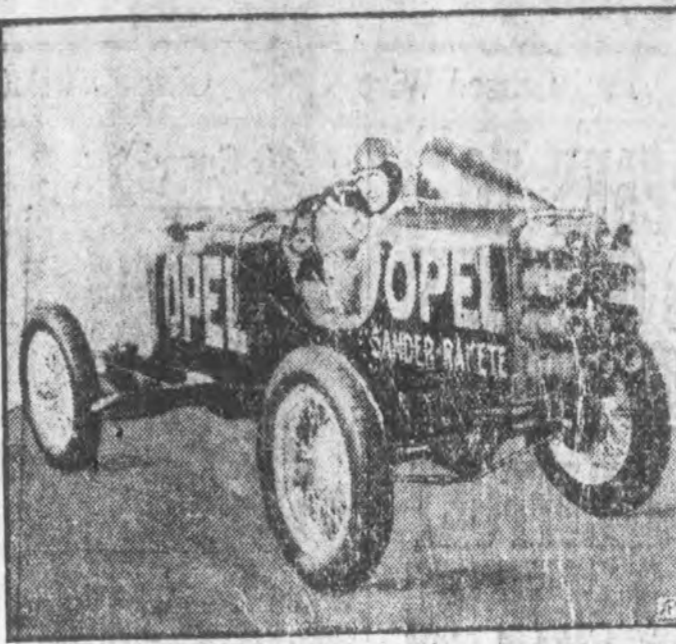

"Now that I am the title holder, however, I can find no other intellectual stimulus. True, I believe that to boxing I have drawn an element never before attracted, the higher type of citizen who once looked upon the game as nothing but a brutal contest of brawn rather than skill. Long ago I gave up the thought of attempting any cleansing the game might need.

"But there is no place for me to advance now in boxing. Beyond the heavyweight title there is nothing higher. The financial rewards of the crown have come to me and I need no more. My style of living is modest, my wants are simple, and I feel that I have enough money to care for myself forever.

"Eleven years ago I pounded a typewriter for a living at a salary of $15 a week. I lived on that then. Basically, my needs have not changed—expanded perhaps, but not changed. The habits and customs of living that I formed then still are with me.

"To some fighters, of course, there is always the incentive of adulation to keep them going after they reach the top and sometimes after their prime. It is the roar of the crowd, the thrill of acclaim, that sweeps into the blood. I have never felt that and it matters little to me what the fans who pay to see me might think of me personally.

FIVE MILES A MINUTE—MAYBE

German inventors have developed a new automobile propelled by rocket system in which they hope to attain speed of 480 miles an hour. The machine is equipped with 12 cylindrical steel chambers from which powerful rockets are discharged by an electric spark linked with control at driver's feet.

HIGHLANDERS WIN ANOTHER

By the Associated Press.
 After losing two in a row, the Fayetteville Highlanders once again struck their stride Saturday afternoon and vanquished Goldsboro by a score of 8 to 2 to remain in first place in the new circuit as the third week of play gets under way.

Battling for second place in the league leadership, Rocky Mount had her already slender lead still further reduced when the Buccaneers were humbled by the Kinston outfit Saturday by a score of 5 to 4 in a hotly contested game. Rocky Mount retains a precarious position in second place.

Greenville shoved the Wilmington Pirates still deeper into the cellar when the Tobaccoists defeated the Wearferies Saturday in a hotly contested contest 3 to 2.

Rocky Mount appears this afternoon at Greenville; Goldsboro's Gold Bugs will play host to Kinston while the Fayetteville Highlanders journey to Wilmington to combat the Pirates.

Dixie Athletes Meet in Atlanta

Atlanta, Ga., May 7.—(AP)—The pounding heels of 500 Dixie athletes will resound in three states this week in the greatest track and field carnival outburst in the history of the south.

Birmingham will be the scene of activities for some 200 representatives of southern conference institutions Friday and Saturday with Hamm, of Georgia Tech, Snider and Beard, of Auburn, Elliott, of North Carolina, Newsom, of Louisiana State and O'Dell, of Clemson, and others equally as well known trying for honors.

Louisiana State is defending team champion for the Birmingham carnival.

At Lafayette, La., the annual southern intercollegiate athletic association teams will hold the stage Saturday. Entries from approximately 15 colleges are to try for the title now held by Presbyterian college of South Carolina.

Mississippi college, Birmingham-Southern College and Southwestern Louisiana institute are "doped" by the wise ones as most likely to topple the blue stockings.

Preparatory school athletes also will have their day Saturday when the second Southern interscholastic meet at Chapel Hill, N. C. Schools from every section of the south are entered.

PIEDMONT OUT FOR HOME RUN RECORDS NOW

Terrific clouding by almost all the clubs in the Piedmont loop during the past week of play led to the prediction that the Piedmont circuit will set a new record for home runs in the minors before the season ends. Last week was a hard week on pitchers all over the circuit.

After surrendering the lead of the league for a very brief interval as a result of losing the first game of a double bill to Raleigh by a score of 13 to 0, Salisbury came back strong in the nightcap event to win 7 to 4, thereby holding the league leadership by an advantage of one-half game. Joe Cavallini held the Colonials to three bingles in the first set-to and their shut-out defeat was the first Salisbury has experienced this season by the whitewash route.

The Durham Bulls had a bad afternoon Saturday, dropping both ends of the bargain day games to Winston-Salem, the first by a score of 9 to 5 and the second by 4 to 3.

Daniel Boone's High Point club got into high in proper fashion Saturday and took two from Greensboro, defeating the patriots by a lone run in each game, the first being 6 to 5 and the nightcap going to the Pointers by 7 to 6.

Today's schedule calls for games between the Colonials and Bulls at Durham, the Colonials and Boone's Pointers at High Point and the Pirates and Twins at Winston-Salem.

Misses McLowhorn Entertain

Winterville, N. C., on Friday evening April 27th. Misses Mary Ida and Leckie McLowhorn entertained the senior class of Winterville high school at their beautiful country home at a delightful dinner party. The entire home was profusely decorated in rainbow colors and varied flowers.

As the guest entered the dining room, they were given party caps of rainbow colors by little Miss Patsy Jane McLowhorn, the class mascot and niece of the hostesses. In the center of the dining table was a silver basket of sweet peas, the class flower, above which were showered rainbow ribbons the class colors, from the chandelier a rainbow extending along the table, pink candles in silver holders, varied colored birds perched on the goblets, and place cards decorated with sweet peas completed the decorations of the table. Pink candles and sweet peas were used artistically throughout the room. The "Happy Dozen" and their class advisors, Miss Mary Ida McLowhorn and Mr. D. H. Conley were served a very delicious three course dinner by the sisters of the hostesses, Miss Myrtle McLowhorn and Mesdames Obed Castellone, Clearence Whitehurst and Coy Forbes.

After the dinner many other guests called. Various fun-provoking games and contests were enjoyed throughout the evening. The last, and perhaps the most enjoyable was the journey of the seniors and Mr. Conley to the end of the rainbow in search of the "pot of gold". Ribbons were entwined high and low over the living room, hall, stairway, and even upstairs. The participants after much unwinding and winding felt much rewarded for at the end of each ribbon was a lovely gift from the hostesses wrapped in gold paper. The hostesses assisted by their sisters and mother served ice cream and cake. The seniors and their friends declared the Misses McLowhorn delightful hostesses.

MRS. SUMRELL ENTERTAINS AT HER HOME IN AYDEN

One of the prettiest of the spring parties was given Friday afternoon when Mrs. G. H. Sumrell charmingly entertained her bridge club and a few other friends at her home in Ayden.

The home was attractively decorated with spring flowers. Mrs. Moses Phillips was given a Lydranger for high score, second highest prize; a hand painted dresser set, was won by Mrs. John Burgess. A potted plant went to Miss Virginia Bell Cooper for low score.

A tempting frozen salad course with tea was served at the conclusion of the game.

EVOLUTION

(From a sermon by Rev. Billy Sunday, May 5th, 1928.)

You can plant a bean in a fertile spot.

And a bean plant will spring up in time; But you can make naught but beans comes from beans in any place or clime.

You can take a hog from out of the sty—

Raise him in a mansion of gold; But his "younguns" will always be hogs if he uves To be ten thousand years old.

But there's one rule that differs a bit my friend,

So pack this upon your donkey; You can make a monkey out of a man

But you can't make a man out of a monkey.

—Edw. W. Hearne.

U. N. C. Glee Club At College Tonight

The concert by the Glee Club of the University of North Carolina this evening, at 8:30 o'clock, at East Carolina Teachers' College, is the last entertainment in the winter and spring series offered by the college, and is therefore the last of the season ticket.

It is fitting that the extra number in the series should be a North Carolina attraction. It is with peculiar interest and pride that the people of Greenville will welcome this organization this evening, as it is its first appearance here since its successful European tour. Greenville has watched the growth of this Glee Club since the days when it was a collection of college boys giving stunt programs, and furnished appreciative audiences for the high class programs by real musicians getting ready to go forth to compete with the best musical organizations on two continents. Greenville people feel they have had a share in making the reputation of the Carolina singers.

Above is shown the University of North Carolina Glee Club. This organization will appear in one concert at East Carolina Teachers College, in the campus building here tonight at 8:30.

These youthful singers have created for themselves an international reputation. Last summer they made a tour of Europe and came home with the praise of foreign critics.

A tour of three Southern states, just completed, proved one of the most successful ever made by the club. The special bus containing the student singers, their director, accompanist, and guest artist will arrive here at 6 o'clock this evening at the Proctor Hotel.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER ROBERSONVILLE

Robersonville, N. C., May 5.—A miscellaneous shower was given by Mrs. Walter Baker Wednesday evening April 25 in honor of the new bride, Mrs. Jack Everett of Robersonville, N. C. Mrs. Baker was in the receiving line the guests were asked to find their places to play Bridge and Rook. Five tables of Bridge and two of Rook were played. After several hands were played, three prizes were given Mrs. Marshall Kilpatrick won high score in Bridge, Mrs. Charlie Carraway in Rook and the guest of honor prize was presented to Mrs. Jack Everett. STILL ANOTHER MEMBER FOR LOCAL ASSOCIATION

"We must have a membership of 75 before our annual State Convention which meets in Elizabeth City on the 22nd of this month," said C. B. Rowlett, secretary of the Merchants Association today when he advised us that the Greenville Sand and Transfer Company, had become members. This makes the membership to date 61, and there are several others the association expects to receive as members within a few days.

DISCUSSES KENNEDY'S "SERVICE IN THE HOUSE"

Dr. C. C. Cunningham, professor of public speaking at State College at Raleigh presented to the student body at East Carolina Teachers College last night an interpretation of Charles Rand Kennedy's "Service in the House." It was well rendered and enjoyed by an appreciative audience.

Letter From Mr. Martin.

Dear Sirs:

I have received from your agency checks for the full amount of policies carried on my dwelling and furniture and I wish to thank you for the exceedingly prompt adjustment.

It is hard for me to see how you could improve on your adjustment service, for the ashes had scarcely cooled off before you were ready to make the adjustment—that's what I call SERVICE, and I want you to know I appreciate same.

With best wishes, I remain, Yours very truly, C. W. MARTIN.

Bremen Crew See First Ball Game

New York, May 7.—(AP)—The German-Irish crew of the Bremen have seen their first baseball game and Babe Ruth.

They attended Sunday's New York Yankees-White Sox game at the Yankee stadium. The only flaw in the proceedings was Babe's failure to get a home run. Lou Gehrig, left apparent to the king of swat, however, put one in the grandstand.

Captain Koehl, Major Fitzmaurice and Baron von Huenefeld were cheered by 55,000 fans as they were escorted across the field to the box of Colonel Ruppert, Yankee owner.

The fliers attended church in the morning, a reception at the German club after the ball game, and in the evening were guests of the Catholic club at dinner. They polished off the evening by listening to a program of German singing societies.

Wednesday the three men start an air tour of the country which is to carry them as far west as St. Louis and north to Quebec, visiting seven American and two Canadian cities.

They had hoped to make the tour in their own plane but difficulties attending the bringing of the Bremen from Germany Island caused a change in plans. Instead they will fly the Junkers F-13, sister ship of the trans-Atlantic plane.

Mrs. Koehl, Mrs. Fitzmaurice and Patricia, the Irish commandant's 6 year old daughter, will remain in New York during the time.

Rickard Sure Dempsey Won't Get Back In Ring.

DANIELS SPEAKS OUT

That Josephus Daniels, a Democratic war horse, would allow himself to be used as a third party candidate to defeat the Democratic nominee under any conceivable circumstances could have been the product only of one who doesn't know Mr. Daniels. Wilbur Legett, California manager for Senator James A. Reed, whose boom along with that of Senator Walsh, received a smashing blow in the Pacific Coast State Tuesday, telegraphed to Mr. Daniels declaring that the "majority vote in Southern California against Smith shows the best element of the Democratic party is not for Smith," and suggesting that if Smith is nominated Daniels run as Vice-Presidential candidate on a third party ticket headed by Senator Reed or Senator Borah.

Mr. Daniels, in his reply, rang the bell effectively, so effectively that it must have aroused enthusiasm among all who are longing eagerly for Democratic victory and the overthrow of the cliques which have held this nation in its clutches for eight long years. "The biggest issue in America today," he immediately replied to Legett, "is to wrest the government from the hands of private and political corruption. The only hope for that end is in a victory by the Democratic party. I therefore expect to support the nominees of the Houston convention. I expect the convention to declare without equivocation for the sacred enforcement of prohibition and all other laws, and do not believe any man it will nominate will be as indifferent and as inefficient in enforcement as Mellon has been under the Harding and Coolidge administrations."

Here is a double thrust—a thrust at those who would put any issue above honesty and at those who, while professing adherence to the cause of prohibition are willing to desert their party for one with a record for non-enforcement almost impossible for any to equal. Mr. Daniels, who was Secretary of the Navy under Woodrow Wilson, is a prohibitionist of the first water, a prohibitionist before many politicians now decrying Smith because he is wet had ever dreamed of advocating prohibition, a prohibitionist who has given money, time and energy for the advancement of prohibition. He is a Southern, dry Protestant; Al Smith is a Tammany, wet Catholic. According to the intolerant Smith supporters he should be so intolerant that he would not support Smith on any ticket or on any platform. And he is not for Smith for the nomination. On the contrary, he is opposed to him. But he knows that the success of prohibition, in which he is so vitally interested, is not wholly dependent upon the election or defeat of any man. He knows that prohibition is not the only issue, nor even the chief issue. He knows what is the issue and he knows it is corruption. A Republican victory in November would not be a prohibition victory, whoever the nominees; it would be a victory for the party some of whose leading and honored members have proved unfaithful to public trust; others of whose leading and honored members have been silent in the face of corruption, and none of whose leading and honored members, save Borah, has indulged in denunciation of the greatest orgy of corruption that has ever disgraced this nation.

Mr. Daniels knows this and he is going to support the nominees of his party, he is going to do all that he can to throw out of power those who have been responsible for or indifferent to political corruption. His ringing declaration to that effect is inspiring in a day when such considerations as private and political integrity seem to be overshadowed by other things. It should be read and re-read by those fellow prohibitionists of his who are preparing to bolt the party if Smith is nominated. — Lynchburg News.

ABOUT TOWN

"I hope to see the time come when America will be so dry you will have to prime a man before he can spit," declared the Rev. Billy Sunday, speaking at a gathering of about six thousand men at the tabernacle here yesterday afternoon.

"Prohibition is not a failure. It is making capitalists out of the working man.

"There is no poverty in this country compared with ten years prior to prohibition.

"During the wet years we did not have a labor union bank in America. Now there are 30. Working men are buying bonds instead of booze.

"This country is going to be run by Americans, not by foreigners and bootleggers.

"I don't fear the booze gang as much as I do the indifferent citizen. If prohibition is a failure why is it that the death rate is lower than it has been in sixty-two years?"

"Bootleggers represent humanity at the lowest ebb."

"This is one of the largest gatherings of men I ever saw in my life," declared Morris Lincke, editor of the Nashville Graphic, and former Grand Chancellor of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, standing on the platform in the Billy Sunday tabernacle yesterday afternoon gazing over the six thousand men in attendance from various parts of the state.

"Members of this organization believe in the teachings of Mr. Sunday because he is 100 per cent American. He advocates the highest causes of Americanism and the things he has told these men this afternoon will do much towards producing a more constructive atmosphere in the many sections of Eastern North Carolina.

"Greenville and Pitt county should derive great good from this spiritual campaign, and the harvest of the future ought to be more fruitful than ever before."

"Greenville was highly honored yesterday by the visit of three thousand members of the Junior Order United American Mechanics, who attended the Billy Sunday service at the tabernacle yesterday afternoon," city officials said today.

"This was the first time such a large gathering of men have ever assembled here for an occasion of this kind, and it proved to be a most happy affair. The parade of the Order from the courthouse to the mammoth warehouse building where the campaign is being held, was one of the outstanding features of the afternoon program. Armed in the cause of America, these men found Mr. Sunday's sermon an inspiration that

Colonial South Still Lives in Charleston

Charleston, S. C. (AP)—Picturesque old Charleston, stronghold of Southern aristocracy, still clings to the beauty of ancient buildings, types and traditions. In the early days wealthy rice planters and other plantation owners had their vast farms in the adjoining territory and lived in Charleston. Like New Orleans, the town was the goal of many of the Frenchmen. It became one of the leading social and cultural centers of the South. At one time it was larger than New York city. Time, of course, has brought many changes, but the city still is noted for its social and cultural advantages. Many of the old buildings are standing, and one finds quaint types of past days. The sea grass basket weavers ply their trade, and their products are shipped throughout the country. The baskets are made from marsh grass, woven with palmetto strips, for every conceivable use, to which a basket can be put. "Shine 'em up, boss?" the cry of negro bootblacks, reaches students at Charleston College, which last fall masticulated its one hundred and forty-third freshman class. The vegetable hawkers still balance their overflowing trays upon bandaged heads while they call their wares. "Carrots, green corn, turnips,okra tomatoes!" And then the sum total of all the stock-in-trade, "Soup, bunch!" The old market still has its stalls, with negroes sitting behind their produce. Northerners, who come in from the Clyde dock bribe them to talk their native gullah, which to the uninitiated is virtually a strange tongue. The powder magazine, a relic of colonial days, its disuse ordered as early as 1770, "because it was obsolete," still stands. St. Michael's church, opened in 1761, is a copy of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, London. St. Phillips represents the first establishment of the Church of England in the province of Carolina. The only French Huguenot church in America, a structure of rare architectural beauty, is here. Pringle House, a perfect type of colonial architecture, bears on one of the mantelpieces a sketch drawn by one of Cornwallis' staff when the British general occupied the town as his headquarters. Fort Sumter, where the first shot of the Civil war was fired, stands in the harbor. But the chimney sweeps—have given way to radiators, and gone are all out of the groundnut cake mawmers. No longer does the shrill "Ro-to! Ro-to! Ro-to!" in flat negro accents announce that another Charleston chimney has been swept clean by the "inside route." On only one corner is there a ground cake mawmer—other places would call her a peanut cake mawmer—and she finds business dull. The chimney sweeps familiar in other days were little negro boys, dressed in rags and tatters, who went from house to house. A city ordinance still requires residents to have their chimneys cleaned every month or be fined, but in this modern day the law is a dead letter. One lone commercial chimney sweep remains.

The Economical Way

The family head earns money and this income keeps the home fires burning brightly. But if there comes a day when the "head of the house" passes on, how will the home be kept intact and the dependents provided for? It is a momentous question, the answer to which may be found in the safe-keeping services of our trust department. It is economy for your loved ones to have this strong, sympathetic and experienced organization back of them.

SCHOOLS ARRANGS FOR PLAY AT RALEIGH Raleigh, May 7.—(AP)—Representatives of the eight eastern teams surviving first play in the annual North Carolina high school athletic association's baseball elimination series gathered here today to arrange for further play. E. Ralph Rankin, secretary of the association, will go to Salisbury tomorrow to aid in fixing schedule for western teams. East teams in the race include: Durham, Clayton, Hugh Morson of Raleigh, Gibson, Whiteville, Raeford and Hamlet. The winners of the Henderson-Oxford game, scheduled for this afternoon, will also send a representative here. Western entries are: High Point, Charlotte, Norwood, Alexander, Wilson, Leaksville, Winston-Salem, Forest City and Biltmore.

will do much to improve their condition in the years to come. "Greenville hopes to have the pleasure of entertaining the same organization again in the near future for a longer period and in more ostentatious fashion." "Improvement of school grounds in Pitt county has been quite noticeable the last few months," a citizen who travels the county extensively, remarked to the writer today. "Keen competition seems to exist in beautifying the grounds of the various institutions, especially in the consolidated districts. "This is gratifying to members of the school board who have been using their influence in this direction for a number of years. "Nothing exhibits the spirit of a community more than care of school grounds, and Pitt county ought to congratulate herself in the work so far completed."

COTTON MARKET

New York, May 7.—(AP)—The cotton market was higher today on covering or rebuying by recent sellers who appeared to be influenced by reports of cold rains in eastern and central sections of the belt. After selling 30 to 40 points net higher in early trading, prices lost part of the advance and trading became quieter, but the mid-afternoon market was steady and about 23 to 32 points above Saturday's closing quotations.

Futures closed firm, 58 to 68 points higher; spot steady, middling 21.95.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, May 7.—(AP)—Rather free selling ascribed to speculation holders turned the wheat market downward today toward the last. Earlier prices scored material upturns owing a good deal to persistent dry cold weather west and southwest. Fluctuations afterward were numerous and rapid but rallies due to buying on Rumanian and Japanese-Chinese difficulties failed to hold well.

Wheat closed nervous, 1-8 to 3-4c net lower, corn varying from 3-8c decline to 1-8c advance, oats 1-4 to 5-8c off and provisions at 7s setback to a rise of 15c.

STOCK MARKET

By STANLEY W. PRENOSIL.
Associated Press Financial Editor.

New York, May 7.—(AP)—Buying was poured into the stock market from all sections of the country today and prices leaped upward in impressive fashion. Extreme gains in the active issues ranged from 2 to nearly 15 points, with blocks of 5,000 to 20,000 shares appearing on the tape at frequent intervals. So great was the accumulation of orders that the ticker fell nearly 45 minutes behind the market by early afternoon.

There were no new developments over the week-end to explain the tremendous volume of buying. The brisk demand for such high grade issues as American Telephone, International Telephone, American Bank Note, American Can, Canadian Pacific and Jersey Central, all of which advanced 3 to 12 points to high prices, was widely commented as an indication of a large speculative pool stimulated the demand for a large block of non-dividend paying shares, the rise in which was associated with all sorts of merger and dividend rumors.

Banks called about $15,000,000 in loans by early afternoon, but there appeared to be a large surplus of funds available at the renewal rate of 5 per cent on call loans.

Short covering accelerated the rise in many specialties, particularly those in which the floating supply was small. Brokers reported that the recent efforts of federal reserve authorities to curb speculation had resulted in the building up of a large short interest but the public demand for stocks was so large that many timid "bears" ran to cover on the appearance of strong buying support for supposedly over-priced shares.

Electric Auto-Lite soared nearly 14 points to a new peak at 203 3-4. American Bank Note extended its gains to nearly 9 points by touching 137. Canadian Pacific climbed 7 1-2 points to 221, the highest price in 12 years, and Jersey Central sold at 375 for the first time since 1912. General Motors ran into heavy profit-taking after creating a new peak at 210 but held within a few points of that level. Gains of 2 to 5 points were scattered throughout the list.

Total sales crossed the 2,500,000 share mark before the end of the trading hour.

The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 4,500,000 shares.

MINNESOTA CLAIMS KIN OF VILLAGE BLACKSMITH

Chattfield, Minn. (AP)—This community claims the grandson of the "village blacksmith" made immortal by the poem of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. A faded lithograph in the public library is a reminder of the village smithy and spreading chestnut tree where Torrey Hancock grandfather of Charles E. Hancock, farmer here, toiled in Cambridge, Mass.

Hancock recalls that the tree was cut down in 1876 while a street was being widened. An arm chair was fashioned from the wood, and on the poet's seventy-second birthday in 1879 it was presented to him by the children of Cambridge.

REBUILDING FLOOD AREA NEAR LOS ANGELES

The city of Los Angeles is leading in rehabilitation of the Santa Clara river valley, made desolate by the bursting of the city's water reservoir at St. Francis dam. Above are caterpillar tractors hauling debris into piles for burning. Below rained, orchard and ranch lands are being cleared with clam-shell buckets, which have proved highly efficient in gathering debris.

Los Angeles, (AP)—Human brains, money and machinery are turning the Santa Clara river valley of death into a cauldron of energy, seething with new life.

Into this peaceful orchard valley, swept by desolating flood when the St. Francis dam burst, have poured the resources of the Associated Contractors of the city of Los Angeles to dig it out of its pall of silt, replant its orange groves, rebuild its shattered homes and restore it as nearly as possible to its former estate.

Tented towns of reconstruction workers have risen along the course of the little river where pent up waters, when they broke loose, cost approximately 400 lives. Where a torrent from 40 to 75 feet high swept through the midnight blackness in March, now a quiet ambling brook meanders to the sea, held to its course by a puny rampart of sandbags scarcely one foot high.

On both sides of it, along a stretch of 25 miles the gangs of rebuilders are feverishly at work, replacing desolation with habitation and dead silt beds with human and plant life.

Thousands of trees from orchard and highway borders were destroyed and these that still stand in the pathway over which the flood rushed are mute witnesses of its force. Instead of being erect they lean now after row towards the sea, bent and torn by the onrush of water from above.

From the silt in some sections many feet deep the steam shovels and individual workers bring up the wreckage of dozens of homes that were blotted out in the catastrophe, and now and then a body to add to the toll.

Brushing aside technicalities with the same frankness and quickness with which it admitted moral and legal responsibility, the city of Los Angeles got the work of restoration underway almost before the flood had ceased to run.

SEND FLOOD BILL BACK TO BE REVISED

House Would Revise Mississippi Measure Along Lines Agreed Upon Today.

Washington, May 7.—(AP)—The house today sent the conference report on the Mississippi river flood control bill back to the conferees for revision along lines agreed upon today at the White House.

The conferees were understood to have accepted the President's view on a number of factors entering into the acquisition of the floodway lands proposed in the bill.

It was said that the congressional members acceded to the President's wish that the federal government be absolved from any responsibility in the acquisition of floodway rights over lands which constituted a natural floodway.

The decision to recommend it to the conferees was reached without discussion and came after a meeting this morning of President Coolidge and members of the senate and house conference committees, at which objections of the President to the measure as it passed congress were discussed.

At the same time Chairman Reid of the flood control committee obtained approval of a resolution to give the conference committee authority to revise the measure to provide that the Mississippi river commission instead of the proposed supervising board be authorized to receive a report regarding the survey of tributaries authorized under the bill.

The bill as now drafted requires the report on surveys to be turned over to the board proposed in the bill. This board would be composed of the chief of army engineers, the head of the river commission and a civilian engineer to be appointed by the President.

Prevent Plot To Gain Throne Of Rumanians

London, May 7.—(AP)—The Daily Express today said the British government had prevented the carrying out of a plot, of which former Crown Prince Carol of Rumania was the central figure, to seize the Rumanian throne from Carol's six year old son, King Michael.

There were reports that at the estate of M. Jonescu, a Rumanian living in Surrey, where Carol is visiting, a fast automobile waited to speed him to Croynodon from which point he could fly to Paris. There he keeps his own plane.

Texas "Bone Dry" Forces Confident

Dallas, Tex., May 7.—(AP)—Texas "bone dry" Democrats have emerged from the opening skirmish with other factions of the party, strongly favored to win their campaign for a delegation to the national convention unopposed.

After a drive led by the youthful Governor, Dan Moody, the dry faction Saturday demonstrated its strength in precinct conventions by obtaining control of so large a majority of delegates in 71 of the 253 counties that opposing leaders made little effort to obtain complete returns.

Returns considered representative from the 3,000 odd precincts showed 1,481 delegates unopposed and 1,334 instructed for a dry plank. Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, and Jesse Jones, Houston publisher and Democratic national treasurer, led the instructed delegates.

The delegates instructed for a dry plank were asked to work for the nomination of a candidate in sympathy with prohibition, but no candidate was specified.

Hoover Runs Alone For Preference Of Maryland's Voters

Former Senator O. E. Weller (above) of Maryland and Senator William Cabell Bruce.

Baltimore, (AP)—Herbert Hoover is the only candidate for presidential nomination whose name will appear on ballots at the Maryland primaries May 7.

In each county republican voters will express themselves either for Hoover or for an untried delegation, and county delegations to the state convention will be bound by the county vote.

Interest in the Republican party turns on a factional contest in which the national committee membership is indirectly involved, with support of William P. Jackson, present national committeeman, urged by one group.

Senator William Cabell Bruce is candidate for re-nomination in the Democratic primary, opposed by Mrs. Virginia Peters Parkhurst.

LOOK FOR BIG ENTRY IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Raleigh, May 7.—(AP)—Prospects for a large entry list in the Tar Heel tennis tournament are good, according to Hugh Leffer, president of the Raleigh Tennis Club which is sponsoring the tourney this year.

The club president has mailed letters to the clubs in the state asking them to send in their entries by Saturday night, at the latest. Entries are limited to residents of North Carolina, which will include college players.

The club is now holding the Wake county tourney which is in the final stages.

CHURCH WORK VACATION FOR KANSAS JUDGE

Topeka, Kan., (AP)—Justice John Marshall of the Kansas supreme court will take his quadrennial "vacation" this year.

When the Methodist Episcopal church holds its general conference in Kansas City during May, he will be a delegate again. The court recesses for three months every summer, but he never is out of his chambers more than a day or two except when he attends the Methodist conference for a month once in four years.

Dredge Boat Is Sunk Today; The Crew Safe

New York, May 7.—(AP)—The 2,000 ton government dredge Navesink, with a crew of forty seven men, sank off Cliffing, States Island, this morning after colliding with the Lamport and Holt liner Swinburne. Four men were reported missing.

Twenty-five men were taken to the marine hospital on Staten Island where all but two remained for treatment. Eighteen others swam ashore, it was reported, including chief engineer Culbert, in charge of the dredging operation.

The dredge, in command of Capt. Anderson, was working in the double channel directly in the ocean steamship lane. She foundered in 45 feet of water.

First news of the accident was received in a radio message from the Caronia as follows:

"U. S. government dredge sinking at pier 17, middle of channel. Loaded with men. Dredge setting land men swimming around. Adriatic of White Star Line and Standard Oil tanker Standard Arrow, nearby. All lowered lifeboats."

This message was relayed to the police headquarters, which dispatched four police launches to the scene, five coast guard cutters also put out.

The Navesink was 290 feet long. She was built in 1908 and was valued at $200,000.

French Flyweight Coming

Paris.—(AP)—Emile "Spider" Pladner, the French flyweight champion, having defeated every boxer in his class in Europe with the exception of Johnny Hill of England, has decided to join the ever growing colony of French boxers in the United States.

Pladner is managed by the veteran lightweight Louis de Ponthieu and is a protege of Frank Erne.

The great prohibition sermon, "Crooks, Cockzreus and Bootleggers, They Shall Not Pass," was delivered by Billy Sunday to a capacity crowd of men only, in the tabernacle Sunday afternoon.

During the delivery of this famous sermon, Mr. Sunday encountered frequent interruption by the "amens" of encouragement and applause, and he waged a terrific battle on the liquor evil, such as was never before heard in this part of the state.

A synopsis of the sermon follows: "We are in the throes of an epidemic of Anti-Americanism. Every cause has an orator and a defender except our own country. Let us all swear never to violate a law of the country never to violate a law of the country in the least particular, and let us pledge our honor and our property to keep any one else from breaking our laws."

"I hope the time never comes when any historian can write about the downfall of American institutions. The liquor traffic is doing its best to undermine the constitution of the United States. They are tunneling under the capitol at Washington in one hand and a watch in the other. This liquor gang talks about a referendum. A referendum on what? On whether we shall enforce the law? Or who are head of a thief-daring to challenge the law against stealing? They say that more booze is being sold today than before prohibition. Well, you know if that were true that booze wouldn't be selling for $10 a quart. What hars they are.

"The quota installment system of selling today is because workmen have the confidence of business men since the 18th amendment went into effect.

"Let us dedicate ourselves to the noble task of releasing our country from the clutch of the bootleggers as our forefathers fought to release this country from the dominion of England. Prohibition is not a failure. It is making capitalists out of the working man. A sober nation consumes all that the working men produce.

"Shall we repeal laws that the crooks do not like? If that is not treason, Benedict Arnold was a patriot. Law enforcement is an issue that no one who loves his country can ignore. There seems to be a riot of crime in this country today. The majority of the criminals are young men. And the age of the prostitute has dropped to 16. If you buy booze, you are a receiver of stolen goods. And you have no right to kick when your clerk steals something from you.

"There is little or no poverty in this country today compared with the years preceding prohibition. Last year the amount of life insurance written increased by millions. And last year the new homes that were built in this country, 88 per cent of them belonged to working men. The number of savings banks deposits have increased steadily, according to the report issued by the banks, and all this comes from prohibition.

Greenland Air Route To Europe Has Possibilities Say Scientists

Meteorologists say an air route to Europe over Greenland and Iceland has possibilities, particularly in summer. It might follow the trail U. S. army world fliers blazed in 1924, shown in heavy line on map. Upper line traces projected flight to Europe of Bert Hassell, and lower line Lindbergh's Paris path in 1927. Maj. Thomas G. Langhler (left) is mentioned with Lindbergh in unconfirmed reports of contemplated flight over Greenland course.

"During wet years we did not have a labor bank in the United States. Now there are 30, working men of the United States today are buying bonds instead of booze. And yet this dirty liquor gang would rob the working men of this advantage it has gained from prohibition. They claim the government is impoverished by the lack of revenue we used to get from booze. But the increased automobile business has more than paid that to the government. The laundries of the United States have done double the business of the time before prohibition. And that is because there are not so many poor women who are manicuring their finger nails over the washboard to take care of families.

"Everything is on the improve. They have built hotels all over the country even though they said we could not run hotels without the bar. I never knew of that dirty crowd telling the truth.

"There is no peace beneath the American flag for the hearts that do not love it, or the arm that will not defend it. This country is going to be ruled by Americans and not by foreigners, who still have the smell of the steerage on them.

"Prohibition has not created a new class of criminals. The bootlegging business has simply drawn recruits from all other walks of crime.

"All the millions spent in stipends of prohibition has been in attacks on the wets, so they are confessed law breakers. America will not soon forget that during the war the breweries were still using grain to make beer, while our women folks were denying themselves bread and potatoes and sugar in order to support our boys as they went overseas to defend our homes.

"I don't fear the booze gang as much as I do indifferent citizens who ought to be standing beside us in this fight and not working at these violators of the law. My business is to stir up antagonism to this lying, filthy crowd of law breakers. They claim that prohibition is an invasion of their personal liberty. Sure it is. So is the law against murderers, a violation of the personal liberty of the man who wants to kill somebody else.

"If prohibition is a failure, why is the national death rate lower than in the past 62 years? Why has all the whiskey cure institutions gone out of business?

"Never in this universe will the saloons be returned.

"Bootleggers represent humanity at its lowest level. It is no longer a question of dry or wet. It is a question of law enforcement or not.

"I hope to live to see the time when the white winged dove of prohibition will rest undisturbed on the dome of the White House. And when America will be so dry that you will have to prime a man before he can spit.

"You say, we can't stop it. Like the boy going down the street on to the tail or a wild bull: 'I know I can't stop him, but I can slow him up.'

"Your Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, your women's clubs, your Masons, Oddfellow, and other similar organizations must do something besides eat and lunch once a week. We must combine to get rid of the fiscal politicians, who see wet out of one eye and dry out of the other. It is not the trouble with prohibition but with the failure of its enforcement by officials who are more in sympathy with violation of this amendment than with its enforcement.

"One drunk today attracts more attention than a whole flock of snakes used to do. When you see a man drunk today you know he's a crook. Because he had to be a crook to get drunk.

"Six hundred thousand men died each year from drunkenness or allied disease during the year before prohibition, but last year only 3,000 died from that cause. And yet they are putting up a sanctimonious whine that this rot-gut, third rate, booze that is being sold now is killing men off by the thousands.

sands. You dirty har! Prohibition has saved more than 500,000 each year.

"The supreme court has decided that the 18th amendment was enacted according to the constitution, and under that decision the man who violates that law is a black-hearted traitor. The greatest liberty is obedience to the law. We have prohibition only in name in many of the larger cities. Local political organizations should have no influence with the federal enforcement officers.

"The church is too silent. Many a preacher would cry out except that his mouth is closed by some god-forsaken trustees who are more in sympathy with law violators than they are the good of the community.

"The railroad are to blame when they wink at the transportation of booze. The courts are to blame when they impose light sentences. The business man who does business with the back door bootlegger has no business to kick when the robber comes in the front door and robs his home. We are all to blame if we do not cry out in protest whenever we see this law being violated.

"We'll make our rivers run blood before we let this lying, stealing booze bunch trample upon the country of Washington and Jefferson and Lincoln and Roosevelt and Bryan.

"Booze is the human blood sucker. If it could it would close every church. It hates love and it loves hate. It promises happiness and it gives misery. It promises wealth and it gives poverty. It is God's worst enemy and hell's best friend. Its dirty red rag of anarchy is dyed with the blood of men, women and children.

"No man can ever roll into the White House on a beer key and wine bottle platform.

"I call on you men of America to stand shoulder to shoulder in defense of American land that we have to stand in protection of our homes, our loved ones, our nation and our God."
