

BILLY SUNDAY HAS FULL DAY IN GREENVILLE

Delivered Mother's Day Sermon Yesterday Afternoon And Spoke To Students At Night.

"Power," was the subject which Billy Sunday used last night in his sermon to a congregation of about four thousand people, including a thousand students of the Greenville high school, the East Carolina Teachers College and members of the Greenville Kiwanis club.

It was stirring sermon, delivered after the fashion that has made Mr. Sunday the leading evangelist of his day. It contained a great mass of information dealing with science and invention and showed conclusively that the power of God is the foundation of all things great and good.

"Man, the weakest thing, who was ambitious to become the strongest, led to the invention of the stin, the bow, the dart, the gun, the locomotive, the railroad, the battleship, the electric light, the telephone—all that we have today.

"Man saw that there was power in the current as he was swimming in the river and harnessed it. He made it turn his mill-wheel; and that put his brain to incubating and he hatched out the battleship and our great steamers.

"Man was never content to remain weaker than he had to, but in spite of his last after power, he learned very slowly. Man was slow and is slow today to appropriate the good things that God gives and make them work for him.

"Nearly everything that we could not get along without now, was foolishness when it was first proposed.

"What was foolishness yesterday is power today." He then enumerated various inventions and scientific developments that were derided by skeptics in the early life of the nation, declaring that nothing good was ever started without at first being condemned by those who didn't have enough vision to see why it would prove profitable.

The teachers and school delegations were recognized by Homer Hammond, following one of the most inspiring sermons of the campaign. Mr. Hammond said he was honorary member of a Kiwanis club in a far off state, and declared he still cherished the high ideals which the organizations represent.

He called for a song and the Kiwanians sang just as freely and happily as if they had been in the clubroom.

The students from the two educational institutions of the city did some singing and put on a couple of yells paying tribute to the evangelist.

Arrangements in connection with campaign contributions was made by Rev. W. S. Harden pastor of the Presbyterian church. He said they were desirous of raising the total amount as early as possible and called for more liberality.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Sunday delivered a sermon on the subject "Mother." It was a stirring, brilliantly worded discourse, paying tribute to that countless number of women who have done so much for moulding the destiny of civilization. He showed that the home without the influence of a mother is deprived of its constructive atmosphere although life may be developed upon a high plane. Home and mother are inseparable, he said, and when homes are deprived of this angelic spirit there is an emptiness nothing else on earth can fill.

Today Mr. Sunday will speak on the subject "Was Jesus the Son of Joseph?" Tomorrow he will speak to men. At the same time Miss Kinney will speak to women at Jarvis Memorial Methodist church.

Mr. Sunday went to Kingston this morning to address students of the high school.

The text of Mr. Sunday's sermon follows: "For the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness, but to us, which are saved it is the power of God."

WOMAN'S NAME IS MOTHER

By DR. DANIEL A. POLING
Minister, Marble Collegiate Church, New York, and President, International Society of Christian Endeavor.

Woman: (By whose name is Mother? Mother, not by the number of children you bear, but by the respect in which your nature by the master position of your soul.

Mother is the name of woman, whether she bears and nurtures her own children or nurtures the children of another, or the walls of a city or the temples of a desolation.

Call her Intuition, for she has the sense of future events.

Call her Courage, for she is braver than the bravest of the brave. The lonely path she takes into the night darkness where no man has ever gone, but whence every soul has come, is a more fearless adventure than the questing of continents and the charting of seas.

Call her Comfort, for even God could find no richer figure—"As one whom his mother comforteth, so I will comfort you."

Call her Sacrifice, for she gives of all: body, mind, and spirit; gives all gladly and weeping only that having given, all she has nothing left to give.

Call her Patience, for in her, the universe has its perfect work.

Call her Persistence, for she has the persistence, and into foreverness, abides the realm, the business, the commerce, the industry. She is "the same yesterday, today and forever." Heaven and Earth may pass away for you, but your mother will never pass. She will be waiting for you, waiting for you when history and legend, you come whithering back. All other may condemn you for your weakness, and curse you for your sin, but she will press her lips to your cheek and call it beautiful, and with her naked hands, lift your bleeding heart again to God and claim for you His blessing.

And Faith, call her Faith at all and to the last, faith when all else fails and all others flee.

Intuition, courage, comfort, sacrifice, patience, forgiveness and faith—these are the seven great virtues of mother love, mother love, which, next to the love of Christ, is the most sublime.

Two Army Planes to Help Get Bremen Off of Island

New York, May 12.—(AP)—An expedition of two United States army planes today was on its way to Greenville island to aid in bringing out the trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen.

Taking off from Washington yesterday afternoon the flyers spent the night at Miller field, Staten Island, where Fred Melchior, chief mechanic of the Junkers company, builders of the Bremen, joined them. They hope to reach Greenville island Monday, making stops for fuel along the way at Portland Me., Pictou, Nova Scotia, and St. George, Newfoundland.

The two planes are in charge of Major General James E. Peck, chief of the army air corps. One plane is piloted by Lieut. Matt Fairchild, with Major General Peck as passenger, and the other by Captain Ira Baker.

The flight was undertaken at the request of the German ambassador and Miss Hett Junkers, who pointed out that unless the Bremen was flown from her island prison within a few days the rapidly softening ground would make a take-off impossible.

If a landing by the two amphibian planes at the island is found impossible, Melchior plans to drop to the island by parachute. The army planes then will turn back to their fuel base at St. George.

The Junkers mechanic will fly the Bremen out if a take-off is possible. After dropping Melchior at Greenville island, the army planes plan to wait 24 hours and if no word is received from him in that time to fly back to the island and attempt landing in open water. If Melchior can do nothing with the Bremen he will fly back in one of the planes to make further plans.

The first plane to leave was the Oxo, piloted by Lieut. Fairchild. The hop-off was made at 9:08 a. m. The second plane, the Omb, which left soon afterwards, was piloted by Capt. Ira C. Baker and Fred Mel-

Prohibition Officers Are Warned Not To Shoot At Suspected Law Violators

Washington, May 12.—(AP)—Prohibition enforcement agents throughout the country were under fresh and strict orders today from Washington that promiscuous shooting at suspected law violators must stop at once.

The new warning went out from dry headquarters in the treasury simultaneously with the announcement that Robert Taylor, a West Virginia enforcement agent, had been dismissed for firing at an automobile that failed to stop for inspection.

Although somewhat similar to the shooting on John D. Hanson, of Niagara, New York, by coast guardsmen, which is now causing a row in Congress, Commissioner Doran said the dismissal of Taylor and the issuance of the new orders to his men had no connection with that incident. He explained that the Hanson case was purely a court-matter, even though this arm participated in the enforcement of the dry law.

"We are not going to put up with firing on vehicles on highways whether they stop when commanded or not," Doran said. "We will certainly not shield officers charged with this offense and we will act fast at any time within reasonable limits. Of course a particular case depends on the facts."

The latest outbreak over the Hanson shooting occurred in the house yesterday when Representative Wood, Democrat, New York, protested against the wounding of the Negro man and urged that "thugs and gunmen" be driven from the prohibition service. He said he had prepared a resolution calling for a congressional investigation of the incident.

SEN. SIMMONS FAVORS HULL FOR PRESIDENT

North Carolina Senator Thinks Tennessee Is Practical Man For The Job.

Raleigh, May 12.—(AP)—Aside from the announcement in Washington that Senator Simmons, ranking Democrat, North Carolina, "personally" favored Congressman Cordell Hull, Tennessee for the party's Presidential nomination, the political situation in this state more or less occupied a back seat this week.

A round of the capital offices today found departmental heads without gossip.

She senator's statement last night from Washington that Hull is the proper candidate to be endorsed by the North Carolina Democrats was expected party men in Raleigh said today.

The announcement by leaders here in the Smith-for-President movement that they are to date without a state-wide organization left the rank and file voters to surmise that precinct and county meetings would do their own "organizing" one way or the other.

The fact that Governor McLean stopped off in Washington while on his way to New York on state business, and called Attorney General Brummitt to the capital for a conference on business matters was looked upon as a session to be held among other things, with Senator Simmons relative to North Carolina's "old guard" movement. Some went so far as to say that the trip would talk of the prospects for a keynote speaker at the state convention next month. Chairman Brummitt is to name the keynote.

Organized labor at Durham this week "came out" in favor of Mitchell L. Shipman, Raleigh printer, for the office of commissioner of labor and printing. The incumbent, Frank D. Grist, continued his fence building over the state. While the other candidate, Editor O. J. Peterson of Pittsboro, also visited about.

The three-cornered race for the lieutenant-governorship continues with Col. John D. Langston, Goldsboro, Sumner Burgwyn, Woodland, and R. T. Fountain, Rocky Mount canvassing various sections for votes. Col. Langston today would open two full weeks of commencement speaking at school houses in the eastern counties, while Mr. Burgwyn has already been in the west and east conferring with party leaders.

Question Validity Of Finance Measure

Raleigh, May 12.—(AP)—Validity of the 1927 county finance act, which provides for the selling of property for taxes, is questioned in court proceedings instituted yesterday by G. E. Bobbitt, taxpayer of Wake county. Judge W. C. Harris at Clinton signed an order restraining the sheriff and commissioners of the county from advertising land for sale or selling the property, pending a hearing on May 28 before Judge E. H. Cramer at Raleigh, N. C., for re-issuance.

Major Lanpher arrived here Friday with a group of 75 planes on southern spring maneuvers. He declined to comment on the report that he is to accompany Lindbergh.

Lanpher Flying To New York

Montgomery, Ala., May 12.—(AP)—Major Thomas C. Lanpher, commander of Selfridge Field, Mich., who is reported to have been selected to accompany Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on his flight across the North Atlantic this summer, took off from Maxwell field for New York at 7:20 o'clock this morning. A stop was scheduled at Fort Bragg, N. C., for refueling.

Major Lanpher arrived here Friday with a group of 75 planes on southern spring maneuvers. He declined to comment on the report that he is to accompany Lindbergh.

Dole Prize Flier Gets Decoration

Atlanta, May 12.—(AP)—The distinguished flying cross has been awarded Lieut. William V. Davis, Jr., naval air mail man who navigated the winning plane in the Dole prize flight to Hawaii last summer. It was learned here today.

The award was recommended by a special navy board and approved by the secretary of the navy. The citation accompanying the award said it was made "for extraordinary achievement in aerial flight and in recognition of his courage, skill and resourcefulness as navigator of the Dole air race from San Francisco to Honolulu August 16, 1927."

Lieut. Davis is a native of Savannah. He was educated in the Savannah high school and in the U. S. naval academy at Annapolis. His family moved to Atlanta a few years ago and he was honored by civic organizations of Atlanta and neighboring cities shortly after the flight to Hawaii was made.

TWO HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Fresno, Cal., May 12.—(AP)—Alvin R. Cole, a constable, and special Deputy Sheriff Ira B. Chalmers were held on charges of manslaughter here today for shooting to death Frank Aiello in Pinedale, Cal., last Saturday night. Cole and Chalmers were fired on an automobile in which Aiello was riding in the belief that they were about to capture a liquor runner. No liquor was found.

Four Women Die In Explosion At Kokomo, Indiana

Kokomo, Ind., May 12.—(AP)—Four women were killed, six persons were seriously injured and 15 others were suffering from shock and bruises as a result of the explosion of a flat work steam mangle in the Fridlin Laundry here this morning.

The dead: Anna Black, age 21, Emma Black Ford, sister of Anna, Rozella Courtney, age 17.

The fourth body was unidentified.

The women were working on the mangle when the blast occurred. The one story brick laundry building was wrecked and window panes in the buildings for two blocks surrounding the laundry were blown out.

BIG AIRSHIP IS DAMAGED IN LANDING

King's Bay, Spitzbergen, May 12.—(AP)—With one of her motors damaged on her return from an exploration trip yesterday, the dirigible Italia, probably will not be able to start on her next polar expedition for about five days.

In view of this, General Umberto Nobile, commander of the expedition, has very little time left for his three scheduled polar flights, since May is the best month for flying in this section of the world.

During yesterday's flight the ship was over the north coast of Spitzbergen on her way to Franz Josef Land when forced to turn back because of bad weather and fog.

King's Bay, Spitzbergen, May 12.—(AP)—The dirigible Italia was in her hangar today with a damaged right motor caused when the airship was dragged along the ground on returning from an unsuccessful attempt to explore polar regions.

Thick fog and a blinding snowstorm caused General Nobile to turn back. The engine will require repairs before another flight can be attempted.

General Nobile said that he had reached Franz Josef Land, one of the few bits of land breaking the monotonous stretches of ice and water, when fog prevented observations.

Attempts were made to find a way through at altitudes ranging from 100 to 1,000 meters but all to no avail.

The trip to explore the little-known Lenin Land, formerly Nicholas II Land, was therefore abandoned. This land is only vaguely represented on most maps of the Arctic regions and General Nobile had hoped to learn what the Russians, who discovered it in 1913, had failed to find out. Instead of the anticipated flight of forty hours, the Italia was in her hangar again after eight hours and Lenin Land remained as vague as ever.

TWO PILOTS DIE IN PLANE CRASH TODAY

Detroit, May 12.—(AP)—Two pilots of the Ford Motor Company were killed today when a bi-motor transport plane crashed and caught fire soon after taking off from the Ford airport at 8:45 a. m.

The men killed were William Munn and E. K. Parker, both of Detroit.

The pilots were on their first regular run to Buffalo, N. Y., on a freight run.

Edward G. Hamilton, chief of operations of the Ford air line service, said the accident occurred when Munn, who was at the controls, forced the plane off the ground without sufficient flying speed.

Soon after rising the big airship stalled, slid off on one wing and spun to the ground near the Michigan central railroad tracks close to the airport. The plane was wrecked and both men are believed to have died almost instantly.

Munn formerly was a test pilot for the Press Aircraft Company of Wyandotte, a suburb. Parker formerly resided at Denver, Col. Both were married and both only recently had become pilots for the Ford Air Line Service.

The plane, an all metal airship, carried a load of freight. When it crashed a broken wing punctured the gasoline tank and the fuel was ignited. It was more than an hour after the accident before the bodies of the victims, both burned, could be recovered from the wreckage.

The fatalities were the first involving a Ford airplane and it was the third serious airplane accident in the vicinity of the Ford airport. Two other men, Gordon A. Taylor of Rochester, N. Y., and Aaron Rosenblet, New York City, were killed April 24 when their plane, a Taylor monoplane, crashed from an altitude of 1,000 feet at the airport during a demonstration following the aircraft show. Three persons were hurt in another crash at the airport April 23.

Mrs. Langston Dead

NATIONALIST FORCES DASH ON TO PEKING

Danger At Tsinan Removed; Japanese In Shantung Continue To Strengthen Position.

Tientsin, China, May 12.—(AP)—Cavalry forces of General Feng Yu-Hsiang, now allied with the Nationalists, are continuing the southern drive on Peking, occupying Tschow on the Shantung-Colohi border last night.

Reports were received today that advance guards of the southerners have reached Wukiao in the province of Chihli itself and that the northern commander of the eastern district has begun a withdrawal to Machuang, 35 miles south of Tientsin.

It is stated that Feng Yu-Hsiang after the occupation of Tschow, appointed a committee on political affairs for the war zone of Tientsin in anticipation of occupying Tientsin itself shortly.

Tokyo, May 12.—(AP)—Premier Tanaka believed that any immediate danger of Tsinan and in the vicinity has been removed and he has instructed competent authorities to use diplomatic means to settle the Tsinan affair.

The premier told newspapermen today that he believed the clash at Tsinan was instigated by Communists in the Nationalist army.

He said that Japan had no intention of interfering with the military operations of the southern forces but because of the possibility of the southern forces pressing on to Peking and Tientsin with fighting in that region, it was necessary for the powers to have a full understanding regarding the protection of foreigners.

Shanghai, May 12.—(AP)—The Japanese in Shantung continued to strengthen their position today and there were indications that order was gradually being restored.

The telegraph and telephones between Tientsin and Tsinan, which were cut when Chinese Nationalists and Japanese battled for possession of Tsinan, were in use again.

The Japanese aircraft tender Nororo arrived at Tientsin, strengthening the Japanese warcraft gathered in Chinese waters.

The Japanese railroad authorities in Tokyo were ordered to prepare for a large troop movement to the city of Shantung between Sunday and the end of the month. Twenty thousand men were in the force to be moved into the war torn province bringing the Japanese strength there to about 28,000. Also 5,000 horses will be shipped to Shantung.

Geneva, May 12.—(AP)—It was hoped today in League of Nations circles that direct negotiations between Japan and China might result from the Nanking Nationalist government's protest to the League.

The Nanking government accused Japan of ruffian and warlike violation of Chinese territory and independence and appealed to the league in league circles, however, the opinion was that it would hesitate to countenance an official investigation.

The covenant prevents the machinery from functioning in the settlement of the dispute unless some government recognized as a member brings the matter before the league.

The government of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin at Peking, and not the Nanking Nationalists, is recognized as being the official spokesman for 400,000 Chinese. Both it and Japan are members of the league council.

Bomb Fails To Do Damage At Seattle

Seattle, Wash., May 12.—(AP)—A theatre bombing which left as clues only a sheet iron stage door riddled with scrap iron slugs and the conflicting stories of half a dozen witnesses turned into a mystery today to police who were investigating.

The bomb, manufactured with a motion picture film can and dynamite and loaded with rusty scrap iron, exploded in the alley between the Colonial and Capitol theatres here last night while both show houses were filled. It was the sixth theatre bombing here since the first of the year.

MANY HOMES BUILT IN N. C.

Records Show Building Associations Financed 8,868 New Structures During Last Year.

The building and loan associations in North Carolina, numbering 225, built 8,868 new homes in the state last year, bringing an average increase of $250,000 taxable values in each of the state's 100 counties, it is reported by Dan C. Boney, state insurance commissioner, in releasing his report of the activities of the building and loan associations in 1927.

In financing the construction of 8,868 new homes the building and loan associations worked together to construct houses enough to make a new city the size of Greensboro, Durham or Raleigh. This affords a means of visualizing just what a contribution to the building industry of North Carolina and to its business prosperity was rendered by the associations in the last year.

Commissioner Boney declared himself highly pleased to find there had been no slowing up in the march of the building and loan progress.

His report revealed the 225 associations with total assets of $90,060,657.07 at the close of 1927, an increase of $9,915,236.72 over 1926. The rapid advance is shown in comparison with assets of but $18,000,000 held by 164 associations in 1927 and $45,000,000 in assets held by 215 associations in 1926.

The 1927 report reveals a gain of $900 in cash over 1926 and a gain of $8,000,000 in mortgage loans installment stock outstanding showed a gain of $2,300,000, full-paid stock a gain of $2,500,000 and other stock a gain of $1,000,000.

Total shares showed an increase of 130,000, the number of homes a gain of 2,000 and the value of homes a gain of $9,000,000. The net earning rate showed a slight increase while the ratio of expense to instalments collected was at about the same figure as in 1926. Total loans during the year increased by $1,500,000 with a figure of $30,018,014.19 being registered. There was a gain of $5,900 in shares of new stock subscribed.

Evening services at the tabernacle.
We welcome to you all the services of the church.

POPE'S ENCYCLICAL TO BE ISSUED TONIGHT

Rome, May 11.—(AP)—The Pope's encyclical, entitled "Misericordiamus Redemptor," to be issued this evening, deals solely with "the reparation that all owe to the most sacred heart of Jesus."

It is semi-officially announced that the encyclical does not deal with the relations between the church and the state.

PROPOSE INCREASE OF PENSIONS OF CIVIL VETS

Washington, May 11.—(AP)—An increase in the pension allowed widows of civil war veterans from $40 to $50 a month is provided in a House bill passed last night by the Senate. The widows would have to be 72 years old and have been married prior to June 27, 1905 to receive the benefits.

all of them will obtain the sanction of Congress, and some of those which do will probably meet with a veto. In no time of peace has Congress been so besieged with demands for legislation which calls for allotments from the Treasury. If the backers of these various projects had their way, it would now be necessary for Congress to plan an increase of taxation instead of a reduction. The political necessity of tax reduction in an election year is one of the best safeguards against riotous expenditure. — New York World.

ABOUT TOWN

Tomorrow is Mother's Day. People in all walks of life will pay tribute to that angelic spirit that has been the foundation of life since time immemorial. Greenville will observe the occasion by special church services, featured by sermons on the subject, "Mother," and surpassingly splendid musical programs by the various choirs. Don't forget the influence of mother. If she has passed on to life beyond the grave, wear a white rose in her memory; if she still lives, let the red rose speak in eloquent terms of her life's blood that is given for life. "The marching hosts of the Confederacy are no more."

This was the brief message received from the annual reunion which closed at Little Rock, Arkansas, yesterday. "The three thousand hosts attending the convention yielded to the advance of time and foregoing their annual martial tramp in the parade which brought to an end their 28th gathering, rode in automobiles," the statement concluded. But not only at the reunion of Little Rock did the waters of the gray fall to take part in the parade. In every county throughout the south there was evidence of the toll of age and gray, stooped figures could no longer respond to the thrill of blaring bands, the spirit of carnival and join the more youthful of other wars. It is strange the way years deprive the human body of its vigor and vitality, but it is one of those inexorable laws of nature over which we have no control. Eventually the remnants of these old warriors both of the north and south will go to city of the dead. They will live in memory then. May the sons of both sections forget the division, the line of demarcation established by the war, and remain as they are today—one people—inseparable and indissoluble.

"That sermon on 'Immortality,' delivered by the Rev. W. A. Sunday at the tabernacle Thursday night was a gem." This expression came from a man who has attended most of the services of the evangelistic campaign, and, in our humble opinion, is capable of judging of facts covering such a broad subject. "Immortality of the soul has been the foundation of civilization since the early life of Egypt, several thousand years before the birth of Christ. Yet, it was nothing more than a superstition. The Egyptian believed in placing his body in a state of preservation, so that in the great awakening his mythological god might appear and convey him to a place similar to the fertile valley of his own fair Nile. "The teachings of the Bible as presented by the Christ are different. "There is no superstition here. Christ is a living, vibrant being, welding influence today as He did over nineteen hundred years ago when He strolled up and down the shores of Galilee, preaching the divine doctrine, "Peace On Earth, Good Will to All Men." "This temporal life—those things we come in contact with from day to day—are transient—but the soul is immortal. "The world is guided by certain fixed laws and these are the laws of God as enunciated through His Son who gave His all that the world might be redeemed and eventually saved."

"That twelve inning ball game between Greenville and Fayetteville Thursday was one of the longest drawn out affairs of the season," declared a local fan today. "Everybody was more than gratified at the splendid showing which the locals made. They won out in the twelfth frame, and showed beyond doubt that victory comes to those who work diligently and consistently. "The Tobacconists are a good ball team. You will have to hand them that. With proper support they should be able to emerge with credit to the great locality which they represent."

William Jennings Bryan, the "Great Commoner," who before his death played such a conspicuous part in the religious and political life of the nation, one time declared: "Do those evolutionists stop to think of the crime they commit when they take faith out of the hearts of men and women and lead them out into a starless night?" This outburst of matchless phraseology was never uttered, although it was intended for delivery at a trial in Tennessee when the doctrine of Darwin was held up before the world more prominently than ever before. "Billy" Sunday is an admirer of the dead champion of the Bible and plication of science. "If you believe you are kin to a monkey, then maybe you are." That is the terse way the evangelist would sum it up. But he has produced sufficient proof to show the error of such belief. "If you know of a newcomer to Greenville, make it a point of notifying the members of some of our civic organizations so they may be extended a cordial welcome," according to sentiment expressed by one of our readers today. "People like to be taken notice of. Nobody likes to be treated like a nobody, although there are plenty in the world. We may sometime have the blues or feel a slight inclination to treat people with due cordiality but this is no reason why we should regard the interests of the town. Regardless of how you feel, remember it is the smile and word of cheer that brings about marvelous developments."

"Our Greenville, yours if you come," is a slogan local people have been rightly proud of in past years. It means more to the life of the town today than ever before, because at last our citizenship has awakened to the possibilities which the cordiality of the slogan opens up. Treat visitors with kindness and consideration and rest assured the act will not be in vain. The trouble with lots of people they are so self-centered they forget the desires and ambitions pulsating through the bodies of other people. They seem to live for self alone, and their perspective is so narrowed they are not able to discern the opportunities for service abroad of them. "Greenville people should make it a point to live up to the sentence they would have the other world recognize them by, and it is to be hoped every body will not be forgetful of the fact in daily life."

ful beast of burden in all the world.

Man Harnessed Power. "Man, the weakest thing, who was ambitious to become the strongest, led to the invention of the sling, the bow, the dart, the gun, the locomotive, the railroad, the battleship, the electric light, the telephone—all that we have today.

"Man saw that there was power in the current as he was swimming in the water, and so he bridged the river. He harnessed it. He made it turn his mill-wheel; and that put his brain to incubating and he hatched out the battleships and our great steamers.

"Man was never content to remain weaker than he had to, but in spite of his lust after power, he learned very slowly. Man was slow and is slow today to appropriate the good things that God gives and make them work for him.

"I have no doubt but that it took ages to reach the first wagon wheel. It might have been known ages before they ever put it to practical use.

"Nearly every good thing that we couldn't get along without now was foolishness when it was first proposed.

"What was foolishness yesterday is power today. There it is: What was foolishness yesterday is power today.

"Send a cablegram to Europe. What was foolishness yesterday is power today.

"Talk to your wife over the telephone, 500 miles away. What was foolishness yesterday is power today.

"Get on a railroad train here and get off in San Francisco. What was foolishness yesterday is power today.

"I said the first wagon wheel was all nonsense, but it became the pioneer that made traveling a mile a minute possible.

"Steam was foolishness, but today steam is turning our wheels, driving our machinery, shooting our railroad trains over the country and our great steamships over the sea.

"Electricity was all foolishness, but today it illuminates our homes, our public edifices, and we apply it in our mechanical pursuits.

We Were the Fools. "And these and a thousand other things were foolishness, because we were the fools, not the things we condemned, so don't think religion is wrong because you condemn it. You are the fool. Religion is all right. You are the fool.

"And all of these things became a power to us when we had sense enough to take hold of them in a way so that they could be a blessing to us. So it is with religion. All these things were waiting to do us good in the world. There is only a step between foolishness and power, and because you will not take that step in a way that can be convincing to you, you are missing that power.

"Two young men, when they first put the trolley cars over, were crossing a bridge underneath which ran an interurban line. One of them said, 'They say there is power enough in that little copper wire to kill a man if he takes hold of it.'

"The other said, 'That's nonsense.' He reached over, and grabbed hold of the wire and fell, a corpse, to the road below.

"My text comes like the word of judgment, and divides the world into just two classes. Oh, we divide rich and poor, black and white, learned and illiterate, native and foreign-born, but God divides the world into just two classes—saved and lost. That is all there is to the world, so far as God Almighty looks upon it—saved, lost.

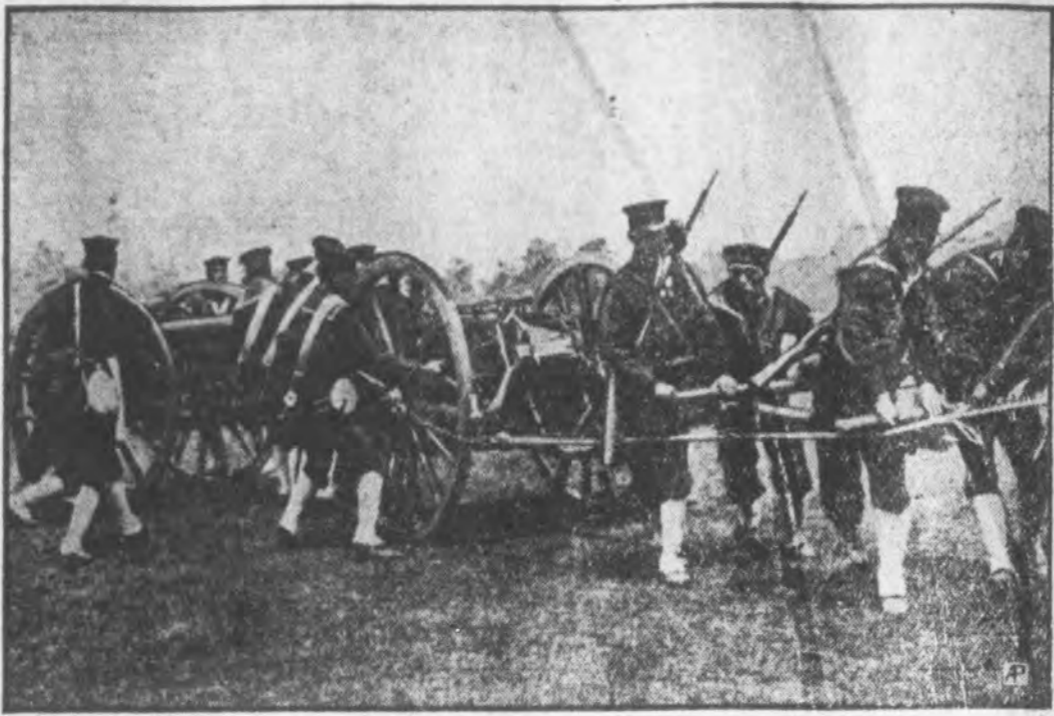

Power To Saved Man. "What is foolishness to an unsaved man is power to a saved man. It is foolishness to you because you have never put yourself in relationship to it so it can prove its power. It is power to us, because we have submitted and we know from experiences. Therefore, the one who has submitted to it knows, and I have never seen an infidel this side of hell whose opinion I will take in preference to that of a preacher or anybody else.

All Foolishness. "To the saloon keeper, it is all foolishness to pray. To you and me it is power, because we have experienced it. The preaching of the cross is to them that perish, foolishness, but to us, which are saved, it is the power of God.

"There is nothing more foolish than the Bible or religion to an unbeliever, and it will always be the case until he ceases to be a fool, and he never will cease to be a fool until he ceases to be a sinner! then he will have the sense to believe in them.

"My text is the same as saying, 'The world is one thing to a blind man and it is another thing to a man that can see.' To a blind man it is nothing but a black blotch; to a man that can see, it is mountains and hills, valleys, plains, trees, flowers, grass, homes, friends and all the panorama of nature.

JAPANESE RUSH REINFORCEMENTS TO SHANTUNG

A fresh division of Japanese troops, including artillery batteries like that shown in the picture, has been ordered to Shantung province of China, where continued fighting between Japanese and Chinese nationalist soldiers is reported since the clash at Tsinan-fu. A division contains 15,000 to 18,000 men.

"Religion is nothing to the unlearned, but to the learned it is everything. It is because you put yourself in a relationship so it can prove it. The religion of Jesus Christ shows it is the power of God to those who believe. It is shown just as convincingly to them as the power of electricity is shown by the trolley car.

"The Christian man or woman proves the power of Christianity. It need not any other argument to prove it. The corpse proves the power of disease. You don't need any argument to prove it. That is all you need. You don't have to see how it began or where or when.

Power of God.

"It is the power of God that will make a drunkard sober, tame the tiger in a man, make a cursing blaspheming man pray, send a girl weeping home with the tears of repentance on her cheeks for having sold her womanhood.

"If you or I had said one hundred years ago that there was power enough tumbling and rolling over the rocky declivity of Niagara to turn all the wheels and spindles of all the machinery, and light all the streets and drive all the cars and cook all the meals and carry everybody upstairs and downstairs, all the people that live in New York, they would have said we were fools, but that didn't do away with the fact that the power was there. The people were the fools, not the power.

"The power was waiting for them to readjust themselves so it could prove its strength. The power tumbled over there just the same before they ever harnessed it. Just as much power went over there 50 years ago as it is going over there now. The trouble was we didn't know it.

"The power was there, all right, all the time, and the power that will save a man is right by you just the same, and it will do it if you will put yourself in the right relationship to it.

"So you can't stop religion by making fun of it. All any power wants is just a chance to show you.

"Steam and electricity have proven ten thousand times more than we thought they would. They were a long time doing it, but it wasn't their fault. The delay was caused by our ignorance.

Your Own Fault. "Jesus Christ has been a long time in convincing some of you fellows that He has power. It isn't His fault; it is your fault, because you won't put yourself in a relationship so that God can show you that He can save you and keep you.

"If we were not so dull, God could make us all rich. I believe that somewhere there is growing herbs that will cure every disease to which flesh is heir. I do not believe there is a disease that cures humanity but that somewhere grows an herb that will cure it, somewhere there does.

"They found out what causes yellow fever. They thought it was by contamination with bodies. They proved that it wasn't so. They found out that it came from a mosquito bite, and when you write the history of it you will have to build big monuments to Dr. Reid and Dr. Carrol, and the other brave men who allowed themselves to be bitten by mosquitos that had bitten other who had died from it. They themselves were stricken within two days and eight hours. Today, the world will never be stricken with yellow fever any more.

"So we found that all out, demonstrated it; but somewhere there is growing an herb that will cure consumption, that will cure cancer. Somewhere there is an herb that will cure everything, and it is there now. The only trouble is we haven't got sense enough to know it, but the weed is there and the power is there.

"So it is true with everything in the world. All power can demonstrate itself, and the power from the cross can do the same thing. It will do it if you will put yourself in the right relationship to it.

One Spark of Fire.

"One spark of fire can do more to convince you of the power of powder than a whole library of books written on the subject.

"I spend my summers in the prettiest spot—that is, the prettiest natural spot I know of in the United States—in the Hood River country in Oregon. You have eaten those big apples that grow there; and of all places I have ever found I get more benefit and health there than in any other place.

"It is a little valley in the Cascade Mountains, 65 miles east of Portland on the Columbia River. The prettiest thing made by man in the country is Pasadena. Hood River is natural Pasadena is artificial, but it is the prettiest artificial spot in the country.

"They have got a little ranch there—that is, they call ten acres a ranch out there—and I go out and spend the summer; sleep in a tent under the big fir and pine trees.

"Everything has to be irrigated. The irrigating ditch runs from a hill about 200 feet high, about half a mile from my house, and I have to bring my water in a pipe from the irrigating ditch down to my place, to get water for the grass and trees.

"I laid a cedar pipe line for the water. They make a pipe line out of wood and cover it with pitch. It won't rot; it will lie in the ground indefinitely without rotting.

"I laid the pipe line and coming down there was a big fir tree about 3 feet in diameter and 100 feet high in the road, and I asked the fellow if I could get rid of that tree. He said it was all right. So I went up to Portland and got a box of dynamite.

"We dug under the roots of that tree; we drilled down under it, and we put twelve sticks of dynamite in there; cut them up and put them in. Then the last stick, you punch a hole in the end of it and then you take a fuse and put a cap on that fuse, stick that in that stick of dynamite, then load that hole up like you would load a gun.

We loaded it up, with dirt and tamped it all down good and solid and let the fuse stick out of the ground. Then we got it all ready, lit a match and lighted the fuse and beat it down the hill to the road to stop any teams that might be coming along.

"I looked at that big fir tree and I looked at the box of dynamite. I said, 'Can you bust that tree out?'

"The dynamite said, 'Give me a chance, that's all I ask.'

"I don't believe it."

"Give me a chance."

"We lighted the match and she sputtered and sputtered, and pretty soon we heard a boom. It took that old fir tree and ripped it out by the roots, shot that tree up in the air and pushed it over 20 feet away; it lifted a huge rock that weighed tons and splintered it and it rained stone for a quarter of a mile around, almost.

"And as I stood there looking at the great hole where the tree had stood and the rock lay, the dynamite seemed to say, 'There, Bill, didn't I tell you, I could? All I wanted you to do was to give me a chance.'

"All right! The power of the cross can do the same thing. All God says is just 'Give me a chance.'

"The preaching of the cross is to them that perish, foolishness, but to us which are saved, it is the power of God.

"Listen! You get the benefit of any power by obeying the law. Oh, sure! Obey the law of water and it will wash your face, slake your thirst. There is some water there. It says, 'I can slake your thirst.'

"I say, 'I don't believe it.'

"Give me a chance and I will show you."

"I would be a fool to stand there and argue with the water without giving it a chance.

"Do the same thing with religion. The most common sense thing in the world is religion. Prove it. It will do it if you will just give it a chance.

"Give water a chance and it will run your mill, irrigate your field, put out your fire, flow in your house. Obey the law of steam—run your trains, run your battleships, run your engines. Obey the law of electricity—illuminate your home. Obey the laws of gasoline—drive your automobile.

"Just give it a chance, that is all God wants you to do in the world. 'You get the benefit of any force by obeying its command. Now do the same in religion. Follow this rule and you will find that the Bible came from God and that Jesus Christ is the Son of God.

The Only Way. "The only way to find out if a seed will grow is to plant it; give it a chance to grow. Plant it. The power of religion can be tested in the same way that you can test the seed.

"The way to find out whether or not a railroad ticket is good, is to get on the train, give it to the conductor, and if he punches it instead of you, it is good.

"A man says to me, 'You have never been born.'

"I say, 'You are too late. I don't need any argument to prove that I was born. I wouldn't be here if I hadn't been born.'

"All right! I was 'no more truly born of my mother than I was born of the Spirit of God; so I had a spiritual birth. Here I am. You don't need any argument about that. If I had, me had a spiritual birth I would have been dead, a drunkard, long ago, for all I know. Something has kept me and saved me for 38 years.

"You are a fool if you argue against either physical or spiritual birth. The Bible says, 'If you have a will to know you will know.'

"That is something that any skeptic or any infidel can try. There is a promise that any scientist can try out if he is honest.

"All the science in the world would have been lost if we had not been willing to give it a chance to prove it. We would know nothing of powder, we would know nothing of electricity, we would know nothing of steam, we would know nothing of chloroform—I think one of the greatest benefits that the human race ever received is chloroform. A man said to me: 'What do you think is one of the greatest benefits that has ever come to the human race through invention or through discovery?' I think I would say that it was when James Young Simpson discovered chloroform, or Dr. Miller discovered ether.

"Oh, I think of the millions that would be in their graves if it had not been for the discovery of chloroform or ether. They couldn't stand what they can today. It just keeps people alive.

"Give it a chance, that is all it wants. God asks the same thing, no matter whom you may be. By Experiment.

"Start out like a little child does when it starts to walk. Its legs are weak, it falls down, bumps its head and has a hard time of it. It gets up, falls down, gets up—on it goes. It uses the strength it has, and pretty soon it's got more, and it seldom falls.

"That's the way with religion—start out. You may be weak, and you may stumble and fall. Old appetites will come back to you. You will stumble—get up—stumble—get up, and go on. After a while you will get so strong, you can give them the ha! ha!

"That is good Methodist doctrine. And it's good Bible doctrine. I'll tell you. I am a Presbyterian, but I yank my hat off to John Wesley. John was a wonder. He couldn't preach like George Whitfield, but George could preach to beat the band.

"So do this, will you? Do what the Bible says before you throw it away. Give it a chance, that is all. You give God a chance, and if you find out there is nothing in it, I am perfectly willing for you to say so. Just give God a chance and see."
