FIRE WRECKS BIG ASYLUM AT NASHVILLE

Several Hundred Patients, Many Criminal Insane, Escape Over Countryside.

Nashville, Tenn., July 27.—(AP)—More than 350 patients, 50 of them listed as criminal inmates, escaped from the main building of the Central State Hospital for the Insane early today, when fire destroyed the two upper floors.

Nine hundred of the 1,272 patients had been rounded up and returned to the institution at dawn three hours after the blaze had been brought under control.

Sheriffs, deputies, Nashville police, and officials of the institution were organizing an intensive possible search for the missing, all of whom were considered extremely dangerous. It was expected that 250 of the patients as yet unaccounted for would return of their own accord, or brought in shortly as they were unoffensive.

The main building, a 50 year old four-story structure, caught fire around midnight. The institution is located eight miles from the city limits, and the blaze had gained great headway before two companies of the Nashville fire department and a squad of police reserve had arrived.

All of the occupants of the main building were driven from their beds scantily clad, guards and nurses taking time only to warn the inmates of their danger. Whether or not there was loss of life was not determined early today, pending an investigation.

Once in the open, hundreds of the frightened patients fled in the rain as the flames mounted higher in the misty darkness. Shriell shouts of guards, police and firemen were believed to increase the alarm of their charges, who fled down highways, railroad tracks and bypaths.

When the upper walls began to crumble, terror-stricken men and women screamed and moaned in fear as officers tried frantically to lead them into other buildings of the institution. Deputies posted on highways carried many of them to police stations and jails in the city although so far as could be determined none of the dangerous criminals had been accounted for.

At dawn the alarm was sounded throughout the countryside, and residents were put on their guard by police messengers.

Many of the hospital patients helped guards with the unmanageable inmates during the worst of the early morning disorder, and some were drafted by firemen in their effort to bring the blaze under control.

Apparently the fire originated in the roof, although no cause had been determined early today. Some 30 nurses and guards and doctors, driven out with the inmates, fled without their belongings, nor did they have time to salvage records of the institution. This constituted a serious problem, as many of the inmates mostly the missing, probably can never be identified again.

Loss was estimated at $250,000 with no insurance in compliance with state laws providing for depreciated buildings which would invalidate insurance protection for the remainder.

One fireman was slightly hurt when struck on the head by a falling brick.

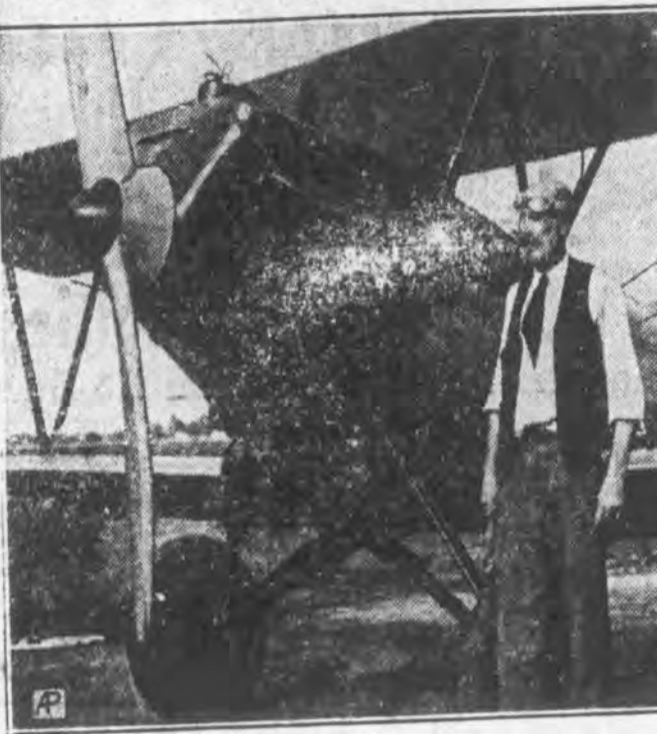

Dr. W. S. Farmer, superintendent, of the last to leave the burning structure, immediately set about making plans to house comfortably the rounded up inmates, while he directed his staff of physicians and nurses to improve hospital facilities to care for any who have suffered from exposure in the early morning rainstorm. At the same time an investigation of the fire got under way.

Bryant Children Ordered Returned To Juvenile Court

Philadelphia, July 27.—(AP)—The two children of Mrs. Margaret M. Bryant, of Philadelphia and Asheville, today were ordered returned to the custody of the Juvenile Court of Buncombe county from which the mother is charged with having kidnapped them. The order was issued in a decision by Judge Leopold C. Glass, of Philadelphia Municipal Court.

Mrs. Bryant, dressed in white, almost collapsed when she heard the verdict. Her two children, over whom the legal battle has raged since she brought them to this city last November, gazed in wide-eyed wonderment at the judge, court attendants and lawyers. They are Marjorie 6, and Frances 4.

Tunney Has Glorified Crown Of Heavyweights, Sports Critics Declare

By WILLIAM R. KING, Associated Press Sports Writer.

New York, July 27.—(AP)—Though Gene Tunney has been king of the heavyweights for the last two years, today, for the first time his right to the heavyweight throne was undisputed.

He has been considered by many of his subjects as unworthy of the crown glorified by the slugging John L. Sullivan, Jack Dempsey and other famous punchers. But his combination of science and power, which resulted in him knocking out Tom Heeney technically last night at the Yankee stadium, finally won the allegiance of the boxing world.

Heartened by the first knockout in his championship career, Tunney was happy to announce "I intend to remain in the fight business."

He admitted, however, that he was in for another long idle spell because there was no promising opponent in sight, now that the New Zealander was out of the way.

After the battered Heeney had been removed from the ring and police had fought thousands of Tunney's admirers to get him passage to his dressing room, the champion refused to make any comment on his victory until he had been assured that his late challenger would suffer no permanent effects from his defeat. Then only did Tunney say: "I am very gratified to have won."

The victory, Tunney said, was due solely to the battle plan he mapped out almost three months ago when he went to Speculator to train.

"I made Heeney fight my fight or mine," Tunney said. "I almost knocked him down in the first round but when I saw what a tough fellow he was, I decided to enter my attack on his body and let him defeat himself. He was too strong to knock out with one punch. It took a good many hard rights to his body before he weakened."

Tunney said that his greatest aid was Heeney's habit of rushing him while he had the strength to do so. Such tactics, the champion believes, added more to his blows, every one of which weakened the challenger.

The champion's only complaint was leveled against Referee Eddie Forbes.

"I thought the referee should have stopped the fight in the eighth round when I paralyzed Heeney's optic nerve with a hard right hook," Tunney said. "The blow landed just above his eye and that was what made him blink."

Tunney indignantly denied the charges, made by one of Heeney's handlers, that he had stuck his thumb in Tom's eye.

"I fought last night's contest a score of times at Speculator, against the punching bags and sparring partners," he said. "Every move I made against Heeney; I perfected in my practice bouts with Harold Mays and Billy Vidaback."

"I knew Heeney was a rugged fighter and that the only way to defeat him was to wear him down with body punches until I had sapped his strength and slowed him down."

"I was never in any danger. Heeney was nothing like Jack Dempsey. He had no punch that I was afraid of and from the first round on I was confident that he would never get the full distance, once I started chopping away at his head with my left and pounding his body with my right."

The champion, when he left the ring, bore few battle scars. There was a small bruise on his chest and several scratches on his back. These latter marks were probably made when Tunney brushed against the ropes and not by Heeney's fists. He had two of these rope marks when he entered the ring.

FOUR BISHOPS DECLARE WAR ON AL SMITH

Methodist Church Dignitaries Say They act In Accord With Pronouncement.

Richmond, Va., July 27.—(AP)—Replying to charges of carrying the church into politics, four Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church south have declared their outspoken opposition to Governor Smith's justification and asserted that they "will not be driven from the field."

In a joint statement Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Richmond, John W. Moore of Dallas, Edwin Mouson of Charlotte and Horace M. Dubose of Nashville last night declared that their activities were in accord with official pronouncements of the church.

"It would be unthinkable repudiation of our personal responsibility as Christian citizens and a base betrayal of those who have a right to look to us for moral leadership," they said, "to retire from the field at this critical juncture."

The statement referred to utterances of Bishop Warren A. Canoner of Atlanta and Bishop Collins Denny of Richmond, emphasizing the non-political mission and work of the church and asserting that the position of the church "on the subject of personal and party politics" had been proclaimed authoritatively by its leaders from the beginning of its history as a Christian body.

In response it was asserted that Bishop Candler had drawn his position from statements made by Bishops before 1894 and that prohibition had come to the front as a political issue since that time.

The four Bishops said that "in the Episcopal address of 1922 it is declared that 'it is incumbent upon every good citizen (minister and laymen) to work for the placing in power of men who are sincere friends' of prohibition. In addition, they referred to 'the last record' of action of the General Conference" in 1926, which they said called upon ministers and laymen "to exert their full influence as Christians and as patriotic citizens" to bring about the election of candidates in sympathy with the prohibition laws.

In conclusion, they served notice upon what they termed "the defenders and advocates of the liquor traffic and the moral forces of the country will not be driven from the field by the cry that they are 'bringing the church into politics' because they are opposing the election to the Presidency of a man whose personal and official record both brand him as the outstanding enemy of national prohibition for which great reform we have ourselves not only as citizens but also as Christian ministers been working for years."

OPPOSED TO INVASION OF SOLID SOUTH

Moses Sees Futility of Attempt to get Electoral Votes For Hoover in South.

Senator George H. Moses, vice-chairman of the eastern Republican advisory committee, is opposed to an invasion of the solid South for the purpose of securing electoral votes for Herbert Hoover, because he believes it would be useless.

"It is a long time before election time enough for fervid passions to cool off," he said. "I have great illusion of our ability to break up the solid South, much as I would desire to see it done."

The Senator said his advice to the Republicans was to concentrate on the congressional campaign in certain sections of the South. "Then if we find ground for optimism we may expand and go after bigger game."

Commenting on the enrollment of former Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma in the Hoover ranks, Senator Moses said that the Oklahoma man's defection to the Republican party might have been due to the persuasive powers of his wife.

The ten congressional districts in the South where Senator Moses sees hope of Republican success are in South Florida, Georgia, North Carolina and Alabama.

STATE FARMERS WANT REMEDY FOR LAND TAX

Raleigh, July 27.—(AP)—A remedy for existing farm land taxation conditions and establishment of better educational facilities in rural districts is the aim of the state farmers convention.

After concluding a four-day annual meeting at state college last night, the two thousand farmers returned home today, determined to carry on their fight for improved farming conditions.

They adopted resolutions deploring the unequal taxation of farmer and city business man; calling for an eight months school term and urging more farmers to seek seats in the general assembly.

Farm women and agents remained at the college today for the annual short course.

Tunney Drew Over $266 Each Second Of Fistic Battle

New York, July 27.—(AP)—Gene Tunney was well paid for the 32 minutes and 52 seconds he worked in retaining his heavyweight championship against the onslaught of Tom Heeney. He drew $266.22 for each second's work. The champion's purse was $525,000 and he occupied 1,972 active seconds in making the title safe for another year. He was rewarded less generously than in his bout with Jack Dempsey, when he first defended his title at Chicago, for then he fought a shorter time and got more money. He will show a profit, for he will never spend $266.22 a second.

RITCHIE AND AL SMITH TO TALK TONIGHT

New York Governor Spends Week-End Golfing and Swimming on Long Island.

Albany, N. Y., July 27.—(AP)—A chat with another governor, Ritchie of Maryland, was the only political business confronting Governor Smith as he looked forward today to a week-end of swimming and golf on the south shore of Long Island.

The Democratic nominee for the Presidency planned to take care of odds and ends of state business, then board an afternoon train for New York. He had arranged a meeting there tonight with Ritchie, with an automobile trip on to Hampton Bays, formerly good ground, on his schedule for tomorrow.

At the seashore Smith will swim and golf, his favorite sports and before he returns to Albany next week, he intends to look over Montauk State Park nearby.

The conference with Governor Ritchie was arranged by Smith who was anxious to talk over the political situation with the man who withdrew from the Democratic Presidential race before the Houston convention, throwing his support to Smith with whom he has gone along to a large extent on the prohibition issue.

The nominee is giving little attention to arrangements for his notification here August 22. He is taking it easy and last night, accompanied by members of his family, attended the wedding in First Presbyterian Church in Schenectady of Mabel Lunn, daughter of Robert Lunn, former lieutenant-governor, to Douglas A. Calkins of New York.

At a reception held later at the Mohawk Country Club, the governor kissed the bride.

STATE PAYROLL PASSES QUARTER-MILLION MARK

Raleigh, July 27.—(AP)—The State of North Carolina payroll has passed the quarter million dollar mark.

Expenditures for salaries of 1,674 state employes during June totaled $258,464.58. Secretary Edwin Bridges of the Salary and Wage Commission announced today.

A report on salaries and wages was made by the secretary to the commission which took under consideration about two hundred requests for increases in wages of as many employes. Announcement of the commission's action on the requests will be made next week.

California Turns Out To Honor Mr. Hoover

Stanford University, Calif., July 27.—(AP)—With his fellow Californians eager to pay tribute to him as the foremost citizen of the state, Herbert Hoover today assumed the role of one just returned from afar, for the occasion of his home-coming reception, postponed at the time of his arrival because of the death of Mrs. Hoover's father.

The program called for receptions in San Francisco and in the towns that crowd upon one another's heels along the thirty miles and more of the peninsula stretching southward from the Golden Gate. The Republican Presidential nominee arranged to leave the quiet of his San Juan Hill home, where he has spent a week in work and recreation since he came from Washington, and journey by train to California's great seaport to be welcomed in the city hall there by Major James Rolph, Jr., and to make in response by far the longest speech he has made since the Republican convention at Kansas City.

CURTIS HELPS PLAN CAMPAIGN

Sen. Charles Curtis, vice presidential nominee, and Chairman Hubert Work of the republican national committee, go over plans for the campaign at republican headquarters in Washington.

Simpson Woman Fatally Burned When Oil Can Explodes In Her Hands

Mrs. Essie Cannon Porter, 25 years old, wife of Murray Porter, well known farmer of the Simpson community, was so horribly burned that she died a few hours later when a five gallon oil can exploded in her hands, at her home three miles from Simpson, yesterday about the noon hour.

Hearing the frantic screams of the burning woman, members of the family working at a tobacco barn in close proximity to the house, rushed to the building in time to extinguish the flames which had begun eating their way through the building.

Mrs. Porter's body was burned to a crisp by the flames which spread over her oil-saturated clothing so rapidly that her body was perfectly nude when members of the family rushed into the house in an attempt to rescue her.

While burned almost beyond recognition, Mrs. Porter was able to converse with members of the family a short time after the accident occurred. She died about three hours later.

Ford Will Grow His Own Rubber On Brazil Farm

Detroit, July 27.—(AP)—Henry Ford has moved to insure his huge organization against the possibility of a future foreign monopoly of the world's rubber supply.

The action involved the departure from here last night of a large expedition of Ford engineers and culturists for Brazil to develop the organization's recently acquired five million acre rubber tract which Ford believes will yield annually enough rubber to make tires for a million cars.

The tract, located along the Amazon and Tapajos rivers, was purchased from the Brazilian government shortly after the British rubber monopoly made itself felt in the American market and sent prices soaring. Similar projects were inaugurated by the Firestone and United States Rubber Companies.

According to company officials, the Ford land already has a number of native rubber trees growing on it and has been found by experts admirably suited for intensive cultivation.

The expedition sailed from Detroit on the Ford motor ship Lake Ormeo will be joined by the Lake function for the next two years as an engineering and hospital base for development work. The Lake Ormeo will be joined by the Lake Farge, to take on additional supplies before continuing on a 5,700 mile journey. The Lake Farge left Detroit July 11 with a cargo of machinery and other supplies for the expedition.

EXPLOSION GIVES NORFOLK A PYROTECHNIC DISPLAY

Norfolk, Va., July 27.—(AP)—A terrific explosion shot flames hundreds of feet into the air and turned the skies into a bowl of yellow light when 4,100 pounds of smokeless powder was ignited in an ammunition magazine at St. Julien's depot at Portsmouth shortly after midnight. No one was injured and very little damage was done.

The explosion vented its fury on the flimsy roof of the magazine and the night air. Rumbblings were heard in Norfolk more than five miles away.

Within a few seconds after the blast every magazine of the forty at the depot was flooded by a special emergency system and the demolition fire department was playing streams of water on the ruins of the exploded magazine.

HISSES GREET DEPARTURE OF ITALIA'S CREW

Survivors of Fatal Flight Headed For Italy to Face Investigation.

Narvik, Norway, July 27.—(AP)—The north's farewell to the survivors of the Italia when they started for home was hisses. Today they were rushing southward in a special car to Italy where they will face an inquiry into their fatal trip to the pole.

Cheers sped the airship on its way when it departed from Vadso on May 5 for the arctic and the town was decked with bunting and flags in their honor. Hostility kept them aboard their base ship the Citta Di Milano yesterday until the train was ready to take them home.

General Umberto Nobile, commander of the dirigible looked like a man broken physically and mentally. He was pale thin and stooped and his haggard face showed plainly the strain of worry and illness.

When the Citta Di Milano arrived at the little place of Fagneres, about two miles from Narvik, the crowd waiting on the quay ignored the appeals of the Italian crew to take the mooring rope east shore. A sailor was forced to jump to the quay to tie the ship and finally a joy of eleven pitted them and helped in the mooring.

Captain Filippo Zappi, navigator of the airship appeared on deck intending to go to buy some clothes. There were hostile cries from the crowd on the quay and he decided to remain aboard the ship.

There was a military air about the vessel. Marines with bayonets fixed stood guard over the gang plank.

Nobile did not appear for some time after the ship had been moored. He was working in the cabin and it was stated he had been spending much time compiling a report of the expedition. He has now recovered sufficiently to stand without a stick, but is still much broken down.

The barking of his dog Titina was heard aboard, the dog has grown fat and waggled her tail merrily.

When the survivors landed radio operator Giuseppe Biagi came down the gang plank first. He threw himself in the arms of his brother who was awaiting them. Ceccioni followed, refusing help.

General Nobile still seemed nervous when he said farewell to the officers of the Citta Di Milano. He walked down the gangplank feebly and nearly stumbled.

A large crowd had assembled on the quay by this time. There was some hissing, but no disorder and only two policemen were present.

The passage of the Citta di Milano from Spitzbergen to Narvik was very slow. It was stated that this was because Captain Alberto Mariabo was still very ill.

Coolidge Makes Big Trout Haul

Superior, Wis., July 27.—(AP)—President Coolidge's success as an angler and Wisconsin game regulations giving a maximum trout catch per day, appeared to have become entangled when reports came today from the Summer White House that the chief executive, in a long fishing day last Wednesday, had made a haul of 36 trout and thereby had exceeded by one maximum allowed.

On that day Mr. Coolidge started out in the Brule early in the morning, and with only a brief interruption for luncheon remained fishing until past 8 o'clock in the evening. The trout were plentiful and he made the most of his opportunities, keeping John Larock, his Indian guide, busy netting his catches. He caught four black spotted, eight rainbow, three Lochleven and eleven brook trout. In addition Larock threw back into the stream eight fish which did not comply with other game regulations prohibiting the catching of trout less than seven inches in length.

Larock's presence in the canoe with Mr. Coolidge probably will prevent the latter's reported performance from being interpreted as a violation of the game regulations. Should the Chippewa guide be counted in as a member of the fishing party, then the maximum catch allowed would be 50 for the day.

Finburst Man Scores High

Toronto, July 27.—(AP)—Emmett French, Southern Pines, N. C., today turned in a score of par 72 over a rain-soaked course to give him a 36-hole count of 147 in the Canadian open golf championship. This was the low score for 36 holes in the first 20 to finish the second 18-hole stretch.

BILL TILDEN DEFEATS OLD RIVAL TODAY

American Wins Tennis Battle Over Rene La Coste, French Champion.

Roland Garros Stadium, Auteuil, France, July 27.—(AP)—"Big Bill" Tilden today defeated his old rival Rene LaCoste, of France, in the first match of the Davis Cup challenge round by scores of 1-6, 6-4, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3.

The American veteran came from behind after dropping the first set and outlasted the French master of machine-like strokes in one of the most grueling five set struggles these tennis giants have ever waged.

By winning Tilden gave his team flying start in its drive to regain the Davis cup from the French who captured it a year ago in the United States.

Tilden played one of the most magnificent matches of his tennis career in proving decisively that they do come back. His triumph at least in part atoned for the reverses suffered at the Frenchman's hands in the United States last year when La Coste lost the American championship. LaCoste earlier this season handed Big Bill a beating in a five set duel in the British championship which he won but this proved to be Tilden's day.

The Americans now faced the task of winning two of the remaining four matches if they were to lift the cup. The second match was scheduled for later in the day and pitted Henri Cochet of France, against the young American John Hennessey.

Tilden's victory was his first over LaCoste in the last five times they have met and it can be set down as an upset.

Big Bill won in a manner as dramatic as were the events of the past week in which he was dropped from the team for alleged violation of the amateur rule and then reinstated at the eleventh hour.

The sailor was shot in the hand when the northern troops recaptured Chefoo from the Nationalists and investigation showed the northerners were responsible.

The northern commander voluntarily gave the wounded sailor compensation.

PLAN TO BLOCK DODGE MERGER

Little Block Of Stockholders May Stop Proposed Merger With Chrysler.

New York, July 27.—(AP)—Possibility that a small group of stockholders in Dodge Brothers, Inc., might yet block the merger of their company with the Chrysler Corporation was seen in Wall Street.

With the time limit for deposit of stock set for Saturday noon the investment houses backing the proposed merger today still did not have the necessary 90 per cent of stock set by Walter Chrysler as the minimum to be deposited before he would proceed with the plan.

While practically all the class B stock has been deposited. About 10 per cent of the preferred and 4 per cent of the class A needed to fulfill the minimum requirements had not yet been turned in. There have already been two extensions of time and Wall Street felt there would be no further extension granted if the requirements were not reached by Saturday.

The stock is held in the main by small stockholders. It was said, many of whom it has been found difficult to reach.

The only hope for the merger to go through the street believed, was for Mr. Chrysler to reduce the minimum stock deposit he had set and this was held unlikely.

TOLAR JEWELRY COMPANY BEGINS A NEW YEAR

Today is the anniversary of the opening of the Tolar Jewelry Co. on Evans street, and in an advertisement carried in the columns of this paper today, members of the organization thanked the people of Greenville and Eastern North Carolina for the liberal patronage which they enjoyed during the year just closed.

As the firm enters into its new year of business a large electrically lighted clock in the front of the store begins operation, and in future years will keep the people along Evans street fully informed as to the time of day.

The clock is sufficiently large to be seen two or three blocks away, and is an ornament to this section of the business district. The clock has been dedicated to "Greater Greenville," through a pledge of continued good service.

Union Services Begin Sunday

The first of the series of open air services to be held on the court house lawn during the month of August will begin Sunday evening at eight o'clock, members of the committee on arrangements said today.

The series is composed of four services. The service Sunday evening will be conducted by Rev. R. J. Bamber, president of the Greenville Ministerial Association. Although his subject had not been announced today, it was said it would be quite timely and deal with problems of present day interest.

On August 5th, Rev. L. R. O'Brien, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church will conduct the service; August 12, L. B. Jones, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church; August 19th, W. S. Harden, pastor of Presbyterian Church; August 26th, H. F. Jones, pastor of Memorial Baptist Church.

The public is urged to turn out to these services in large numbers. All of the sermons will be timely and entertaining and those who attend may rest assured of something both pleasant and profitable.

MADISON SQUARE LOST HEAVILY ON BIG FIGHT

New York, July 27.—(AP)—Tex Rickard announced today that the Madison Square Garden Corporation lost $155,719.77 on last night's Tunney-Heeneey fight in the Yankee stadium. Rickard's figures showed a gross of $691,014.50 and a net of $521,422.23.

Local Gas Concern Has Fine Business

Last month was the best month the local office of the Carolina Gas & Electric Company has had since they began operation in Greenville, according to information given out today by representatives of the organization.

Bonus prizes were recently offered to branches over the whole division for the greatest gains in installations, and largest sales per meter customer.

Mr. C. B. Thompson, manager of the Greenville office, was winner of both the prizes.

The Carolina Gas & Electric Company has been making an intensive drive the last several weeks for more gas customers. In doing so, they have called attention to the great reduction in rates made possible through the use of their stoves. The campaign has attracted little attention and the number of gas customers have greatly increased.

ABOUT TOWN

"Abnormally hot weather is causing the farmers of Pitt county heavy losses in tobacco," the writer of this column was told today.

"The heat causes the tobacco to ripen faster than it can be gotten out of the field and housed. Farmers are working overtime to save their crops, but in spite of this losses have been mighty heavy in some districts.

"One of the best known planters of the Ayden section told me yesterday that he had lost at least five barns this season. A Grifton man also reported similar loss. Numbers of other growers have lost considerably, but not as heavily as the two mentioned in the Ayden and Grifton territories.

"This should cause quite a reduction in acreage for this immediate locality and will most likely stimulate the price situation. If this should be the case, the loss will not be felt quite as keenly as it would if prices were low."

"It is to be regretted that the Rockford met with misfortune in her take-off for Sweden from the Illinois airport yesterday morning," observed a local aviation follower today.

"But it is gratifying to note the trip will not be abandoned and that the big plane will attempt to take-off again in about three weeks.

"The flying world is watching this flight with more than usual enthusiasm, and success is anticipated on all sides the next time an attempt is made."

The Tunney-Heeney fight last night was witnessed by the usual crowd of Reflector readers who gathered in front of the office and heard detailed account of the battle presented through a megaphone.

"Our leased wire service is always at its best, but we do not ever remember seeing it better than it was last night, when countless numbers of men, women, and children lined up along Evans street and listened breathlessly to each turn of the fight.

"Goodness, I believe Tunney is going to win," a man standing directly under the megaphone declared.

"No such good luck," responded a bystander, elbowing furiously to open up a way out of the shoving, moving mass of humanity.

"Well, at least, it won't be long now," shouted another of the crowd," as he pulled out a pocket handkerchief and mopped his face with energy.

These leased wire accounts of important events never fail to draw crowds to the Reflector office. This is just like we would have it. We give the public the best service obtainable in these modern times, and when anything of outstanding note occurs, readers may depend on us to keep them informed even to the most minute of details.

"Get the habit of boosting your home town and rest assured you will be well rewarded in the future," mentioned one of the business men of this city, speaking of the numbers of people who fail to appreciate the hundreds of advantages afforded by the towns in which they have lived all their lives, or even part of their lives.

"People naturally fall in love with those about ready to say something good about other people and other things. Say something good about the population of a town and you naturally boost the town also, as the people always express the spirit of the place in which they live.

"Greenville is one of the best towns in this part of the state. It has resources and possibilities equal if not superior to any other place of similar size, therefore it is deserving of a good word from those who live within its boundaries."

"Vacation time will soon be over," regretfully declared a young woman who recently returned from a month's stay in the mountains of western North Carolina.

"I regretted having to leave this wonderful section of the country as soon as I did. I had no idea of the glory and beauty of our state until I reached the foothills and then began climbing to the great heights of our towering mountains.

The rugged grandeur and greatness of the hills surpasses the most vivid imagination, and people who have never had an opportunity of visiting the section should do so as soon as possible and be able to appreciate the greatness of the state.

"With mountains on one side and the seashore on the other, North Carolina is truly one of the greatest states of the union from the standpoint of geographical location.

"If we tire of the wild scenery of the hills, then we only have to hit one of our well paved highways and in the course of a few hours find ourselves on the beach, listening to the roar of the sea.

"Truly we are blessed people—and none of us should forget the debt we owe to the great locality in which we live."

BOSTON OFF ON RACE TO LADDER TOP

Associated Press Sports Writer.

Back home at the hub the Boston Braves are suffering from the same acute malady that made them so feared last year—a disease that impels them to rise from the depths of the second division and smite pennant contenders, loose from their pretensions to the national league crown.

They chose the Chicago Cubs as their first victims, smote them high, wide and handsome on Wednesday and repeated the doze yesterday. Richbourg's single in the 14th scored Farrell with the run that beat the Cubs, 7 to 6, and sent the Bruins down to third place in the standing, one notch below the Cincinnati Reds who opportunely enough beat the Phillies.

A four run rally in the ninth enabled the Reds to trim the Phils, 6 to 4.

ened their league lead to five full games by taking over the Brooklyn Robins, 6 to 1.

The Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Giants did all their scoring in the second inning. Buh's crew counting seven times to five for the clan of McGraw.

In the American League, the New York Yankees divided a twin bill with the Detroit Tigers. The champions won the first game, 2 to 1. The Tigers batted four Yankee pitchers hard in the second encounter and finished on the long end of a 20 to 10 score.

The Red Sox for the second straight day lost both ends of a double header to the Cleveland Indians, 4 to 2, and 4 to 3.

Their third straight win, 5 to 1, over the Chicago White Sox put the Philadelphia Athletics eight and a half games back of the league leading Yankees.

The Washington Senators won the nightcap, 6 to 4, but Sam Gray pitched the Browns to a 7 to 5 victory in the first game and registered his 18th victory against seven defeats.

A BAD RECORD IN CRIME PUNISHMENT

In a recent survey made in the most important section of a middle-western state it was found that a person charged with crime risks but one chance in 30 of being punished. Of 12,543 felony cases tried in a great American city in 1926 but 2,449 of the defendants were found guilty and a great many of these were released on parole or appeals or otherwise escaped prison. These are not isolated examples but more or less the general thing throughout the United States.

Inescapable difficulties beset the legislator or crime reformer who attempts to make punishment for the criminal certain. A mass of technicalities surrounds and helps to protect the defendant in criminal cases. Often a mawkish sentiment is aroused among a certain element that tries to make a martyr of the most hardened wrongdoer. And after conviction, reprieves, commutations of sentences and paroles often turn the unrelenting criminals out into society again to continue their depredations.

Crime suppression must be preceded by law enforcement rather than by more laws and red tape which invite more "technical" law-breaking.

GENE TUNNEY KNOCKS OUT TOM HEENEY

By EDWARD J. NEIL (Associated Press Sports Writer) New York, July 27.—(AP)—The Hard Rock From Down Under was well nigh gravel today, pulverized by the power in the fists of Gene Tunney, a real fighting marine.

Under a storm of gloves that ripped his seamed featured open and blinded him in one eye, Tom Heenev of New Zealand, who plodded his way past all American challengers crumbled last night in the eleventh round of the fifteen round battle he had earned with the heavyweight king.

Heenev went down—a shambling, gory figure, numbed in body by terrific right hand punches which a new brand of Gene Tunney poured into the almost defenseless challenger for nearly five consecutive rounds. Heenev sank to the canvas, saved from the ignominy of a knockout by the shielding arm of the referee, but only after one of the greatest stands and most vicious beatings a heavyweight ever endured.

Overshadowing, perhaps, the unquenchable courage of the challenger in the face of withering glove fire was the picture of the champion, revealed at last under the glaring light of the Yankee-stadium ring as a "killer"—the type of fighter Tunney in his heart always has craved.

Unfortunately Gene's awesome display of punching venom came too late to save Tex Rickard from the first great financial failure although officials receipts have yet to be announced, the promoter admitted that the crowd of 50,000 that more than half filled the huge home of the American League world champions paid but $700,000 to see the major fight show of the outdoor season.

The loss to Rickard and the Madison Square Garden Corporation, coming at the end of a series of heavyweight championship matches that set new records for receipts, probably will reach $300,000. The championship tilt, counting a guarantee of $525,000 for Tunney and $100,000 for Heenev, probably cost $800,000 to stage and of the $700,000 estimated receipts, the promoter must pay 30 per cent in taxes to the state and federal governments.

But through that dreary vista of figures that showed Rickard nothing but losses where gates of $1,800,000 and $2,600,000 once bloomed under the magic touch of Jack Dempsey the promoter today saw visions of bigger and better "gates" to come.

The impresario of Madison Square Garden believes that he now has in Tunney the makings of one of the greatest drawing cards in the history of the ring—a master boxer with the power in his granite fists to batter helpless a man who never before was punched to the canvas.

Certainly the handsome champion, bronzed the color of an Indian, trained to the minute, and savage in the perfection of his clothing accuracy, turned loose on Tom Heenev a brilliant all-around display of fighting power.

From the third round until the seventh, when a slashing right hook paralyzed the optic nerve in Tom's left eye, there was no question of Tunney's supremacy. And from the moment that blow landed until Referee Ed Flores mercifully stepped in to save the Anzac, blind and helpless, after two minutes and 52 seconds of slaughter in the eleventh, the sole issue was one of endurance—Heenev's ability to absorb punishment.

For just a moment in the tenth round, as Heenev battered senseless by a storm of punches that rattled off his flimsy chin and chugged deep in his burly body, stretched helpless at the edge of the ring, Gene seemed to have won the prize of a clean knockout. But before a count could be started, the gong clanged to end the session and Tom's despairing second dragged him to his corner. Heroic treatment restored the Anzac sufficiently to warrant sending him forth for the final round, but the end, forecast from the moment Gene paralyzed half of Heenev's sight, could not be averted three minutes more.

Having the sympathy of most of the crowd by his Spartan indifference to punishment, Heenev tore into the champion in the first round and drove Gene before him under a storm of short, looping hooks to the head. Contemptuous of punishment, the crazy-featured challenger ripped through Tunney's guard, bullied him about the ring and drummed his punches on Gene's head.

It was an amazing sight to the throng, which viewed the champion as a 3 to 1 favorite and had come to see a master boxer ridle his foe with lightning lefts, an occasional right and dazzle him with fastest footwork any heavyweight has developed since the days of Jim Corbett. It was just as amazing to Tunney and a worried, harassed look was on his face as he trotted to his corner, a red bruise above the left eye.

Gallant as was Heenev's start amid the roars of approbation of the crowd it ended as quickly as it began. Within the next three minutes, Tunney had solved the problem of the plunging Anzac enough to hold Tom even in the round. From then on Heenev failed to win another session.

RETAINS HEAVYWEIGHT CROWN

through slugging with the challenger. In the second round Gene called upon his boxing skill to fend off Tom's rushes. At every turn he tied Heenev up in clinches with arms so strong that even Tom's bulgy muscles could not break the grip. But in between times, Gene smashed everlastingly at the challenger's body, now short, thudding left hooks that boomed into the pit of the stomach, now right smashes, under the heart that pained Heenev's side a deep red and drained his stamina.

Then as Heenev weakened under body blows that threatened to crack a rib, Gene cut loose again in the third, boxing early whenever Tom threatened, punning him in a vice-like grip, but crashing always those punches to the challenger's iron sides. The punishment began to tell on the bull-chested invader. His rushes grew more desperate. Punches wavered off the line.

Switching to Heenev's head in the fourth round, Gene drew blood from Tom's nose and lips with knife-like left jabs and right hand smashes that carried every ounce of the weight and strength in the champion's body behind them. Desperately but in vain, Heenev slashed back in an effort to halt his tormentor.

Now and then, as Heenev's featured crumbled under the champion's marksmanship, Tom rushed Tunney to the ropes in brave but futile efforts to pin him down in one spot. There Gene showed his lone weakness. Whether from the memory of the September night in Chicago when Jack Dempsey caught him on the ropes and all but knocked him out or because of natural aversion to that style of fighting, Tunney seemed always at a disadvantage there. Once he bounced so fast to the center of the ring, that Tom was left standing by the hempen barriers. But the steam was gone from Heenev's attack.

Steadily the champion whittled away at his challenger, standing toe to toe with Tom to batter and slice at his body as Heenev's strength failed but fighting spirit never faltered. In the seventh round, the one blow that settled the battle left Tom blinking and rubbing his eye and for a moment it seemed as though the milling might end then and there.

Here Tunney, now the master in full command of the milling, showed a brand of sportsmanship that brought cheers from the throng already tiring of the gory spectacle. Gene clinched with the challenger as Heenev fought to gain control of the left eyelid, held him there and refused to punch until he was sure that the injury was just one of the "breaks" of the game.

Happy at the outcome of the bruising fray that definitely established him as a slugger of tremendous power, Tunney was carried from the ring by his admirers and rushed away to rest and plan his hiking tour through Germany. Off in his dressing room, Heenev bemoaned the punch that temporarily had robbed him of half his sight.

And around the ring-side, where Rickard's proverbial weather luck had kept things dry until the fight was ended, newspapermen, like a flock of drenched roosters, huddled over their typewriters pounding out copy in a drenching downpour of rain that swept the city.

LOCALS LOSE FOURTH GAME OF THE WEEK

Greenville dropped their fourth straight game of the week by losing yesterday's contest to the Wilmington Pirates, 7 to 4.

Baron, making his first appearance on the mound for the locals, was hit so opportunely that Dudley was sent in to relieve him in the third frame. The Pirates secured four hits and as many runs off Baron's delivery.

Newberry, hit more frequently than the Greenville mound artists, managed to keep the bingles so well scattered that it was impossible to convert them into runs only in the first, sixth and ninth innings.

Bailey and Walden took batting honors of the day for the Tobacconists, each connecting three times out of four trips to the rubber. Allen, who has established something of a reputation as a home-run knocker secured the only circuit drive of the game by knocking the ball over center field fence in the ninth frame.

Newberry and Manager Weafer led the visitors with the stick.

The Tobacconists left this afternoon for Rocky Mount where they will conclude the week with the Bucs.

Goldbugs Widen Lead in E. C.

By the Associated Press.

The Goldbugs widened their margin of leadership in the Eastern Carolina League yesterday by a win over Fayetteville, 3 to 2. The deciding run did not, however, come until the tenth stanza when "Rip" Harrison got a two-base drive.

The Pirates pushed forward their drive towards the head of the parade by winning over the Tobacconists, 7 to 4. Allen, who stands out in the Greenville line-up, duplicated his feat of the previous day by driving out the sphere over the old right field fence in the ninth.

Kinston defeated Rocky Mount, 6 to 5, but it took 11 innings to do it. A double and a single in the final stanza accounted for the necessary extra marker. The Buccaneers chelled Emmons from the mound with a barrage of hits in the ninth but Sprull was able to check the stick work long enough for his mates to break the tie.

Macon Peaches Trim Asheville

By the Associated Press.

The Macon situation is getting to be anything but a joke to Asheville for the Tourists have now lost nine straight games to the Peaches and have had their South Atlantic Association lead cut to 2 games.

Wilbur Good's men went after the first game of the series in wild fashion yesterday and ended up with the long end of an 18 to 6 count to their credit. Twenty-three Macon hits and seven Asheville errors, five of them by Bennie Chapman, proved too much for two Skylander hurlers.

Tremper, Good and Bader wielded the heavy maces with four bingles each.

Walter Hunter and Ray Wise each hit two homers in Charlotte's seven to three victory over Spartanburg, 6 of the winning runs being driven in by these two men. Brown pitched carefully and steadily for the Hornets.

Other association teams were rained out.

WARREN WINS BATTLE WITH GEO HOFFMAN

New York, July 27.—(AP)—Add Exum Warren, the "knowing youngster" from North Carolina has made good in his big time fistie debut.

The bronzed young Tar Heel heavyweight pounded out a six round decision over George Hoffman, former national amateur champion in the semi-final of the Tunney-Heenev championship fight last night.

It was Warren's first appearance before a New York fight crowd and marked his first major engagement outside of North Carolina. The bout was Hoffman's second professional bout although as an amateur his experience encompassed more bouts than his opponent's.

The meeting last night brought together two promising young heavyweights who have battled in amateur boxing tournaments together but who never before faced each other in the ring.

Admittedly hard punchers, both, they were apparently over zealous last night and no knockdowns were recorded. As the bout progressed with points almost even, both boys threw caution to the winds in the latter stages and swung sweeping haymakers from every angle with reckless abandon.

Warren, deadly earnest, opened hostilities in the first round when he tucked his chin in his chest and peppered away with long lefts to the head and thudding rights to the body and head. Hoffman boxed carefully and contented himself with riding Add's punches.

The North Carolinian caught the New Yorker coming in in the second round and nailed him with a solid right uppercut. Then as Hoffman attempted to back away, Add shot three rapid lefts to the head and easily ducked Hoffman's counter.

The third opened with Warren nailing short lefts and right uppercuts to the New Yorker's head and Hoffman apparently was in distress. Add sailed in, crashing two hard rights to the body but Hoffman came back with a long overhand right followed by two more that shook the Southerner. They were slugging it out at the bell.

Both were a bit wild in the fourth round and missed frequently. Frequent clinches gave them an opportunity to rest from the furious pace both had set. All effort at defense was gone and the boys slugged away.

Add caught Hoffman with a short right to the head at the opening of the fifth and George held on tightly. Add's long left peppered mercilessly on the New Yorker's chin and kept him backing off during the round. Hoffman rallied before the bell and a furious exchange saw honors evenly divided.

The sixth round saw both striving desperately for a knockout. Warren struck his left in Hoffman's face three times and then clinched him to the ropes. Hoffman fought back viciously and pounded Warren's body in the clinches. George almost wrestled the Tar Heel from his feet with a leg hold and Warren retaliated by a smashing right to the body that almost slugged Hoffman through the ropes. The bell found them sparring.

AMERICA IS ALL SET FOR THE OLYMPIC

By ALAN J. GOULD, Associated Press Sports Editor.

Amsterdam, Holland, July 27.—(AP)—In spite of training difficulties which forced the team to seek a half dozen different practice grounds in and outside Amsterdam, American approaches the Olympic track and field championships, starting Sunday, with prospect of a sweeping triumph undiminished.

Though there have been some slight casualties and minor ailments among the Yankees they have not experienced the hard luck that has beset other teams including the Germans and the Australians. Unless the injury jinx reaches out now, an unlikely occurrence in view of the fact that most of the hard work has been completed, the United States will enter the competition probably in as good if not better condition than most of their rivals although the Finns, the Britons, the French and the Germans were not handicapped by the necessity of making a long sea trip to Amsterdam.

The Germans, however, were harder hit by casualties, including Dr. Wilhelm, crack sprinter and member of the record breaking German 400-metre relay team. Niemann pulled a tendon in yesterday's workout. Dr. Otto Peltzer's condition also is uncertain. He has not fully recovered from an ankle injury but is entered in the 800 metre trials on Sunday.

The Australians lost two track stars through injuries. There had been some features in the American camp that Frank Wykoff, sensational young Californian, would suffer ill effects from a slightly pulled tendon but the form he has shown in the past few days has dissipated this anxiety at least in the coaches' minds. "Flying Frank" as a result, still rules the American 100 metres favorite.

COTTON MARKET

New York, July 27.—(AP)—The cotton market today lost part of yesterday's improvement on renewed liquidation, combined with scattered selling on the more optimistic view of crop progress and unfavorable Manchester trade advices. A further advance at the opening was soon lost as demand was comparatively light after the buying of the previous day.

Active months were selling about 15 to 18 points net lower in mid-afternoon.

Futures closed barely steady, 14 to 17 points lower, spot quiet, middling 21.05.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, July 27.—(AP)—Corn prices went up today to the highest point since last April, but as a result of profit taking, the bulge failed to hold well. Considerable talk was heard about further export business in new crop corn. Wheat prices were easier throughout the day, influenced by larger receipts here and by lack of speculative demand.

STOCK MARKET

New York, July 27.—(AP)—The recovery in stock prices made further progress today under the influence of favorable trade news and an ample supply of call money. Early gains of 1 to 7 points were distributed over a broad list with the motors, coppers, rubbers and airplanes getting the best demonstrations of group strength. Several weak spots developed during the session but they failed to stem the upward surge of prices.

Banks called $5,000,000 in loans, but there was no strain on call money which renewed at 5 1/2 per cent. The influx of out of town funds, attracted by the possibility of higher call money rates over the month-end, helped to ease the situation.

Resumption of pool operations in Radio sent that stock up 7 points. Eastman Kodak advanced nearly 6 to new high record at 190 7/8 on buying influenced by the reported development of color photography with amateur motion picture machines. Wright also soared six points and Curtiss, Coty, American Smelting, International Nickel, A. M. Byers, American Can and American Express sold 3 to 4 1/2 points higher.

Oils responded to stiffening gasoline prices. Coppers were under accumulation on reports of large current earnings. Steels apparently were discounting the expected improvement in earnings in the last half of the year. Rubbers were again in demand on the theory that the leading producers all had taken large inventory losses in the first half of the year and were now in a position to show large earnings. Chrysler and Dodge issues led the advance in the motors despite reports that insufficient stock had been deposited to make merger effective.

The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 1,800,000 shares.

BODY OF HIGH POINT MAN IN POTTERS FIELD

Washington, July 27.—(AP)—The body of a man found on a deserted beach at Sycamore Point, Va., last week and buried in an unmarked grave in the Alexandria Potters Field, has been identified as that of Roeben Henry Macklen of High Point, N. C. He disappeared from a Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company vessel on July 16 shortly after he had enlisted at the navy recruiting station here he disappeared. Identification was made by James T. Taylor, chief of the identification section of the navy department, by means of finger prints and an unusually shaped scar resulting from an appendicitis operation. The body will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery, probably tomorrow. Macklen, who was 28 years old, had previously served an enlistment in the navy, from 1922 to 1926. His next of kin, his mother, lives at High Point.
