DR. B. T. COX PASSES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Funeral Services Conducted From Late Home in Win- terville at 2 O'clock

Dr. B. T. Cox, 68, former member of the Legislature from Pitt county, and one of the first leaders in the public health movement here, died at his home in Winterville Sunday morning at 1 o'clock. Death resulted from a stroke of apoplexy which he suffered several days ago and from which little hope was held for his recovery.

Funeral services were conducted from his late home the afternoon at 2 o'clock and burial was made in the Winterville cemetery. Rev. J. A. Roberts, Primitive Baptist minister, assisted by Rev. A. C. D. Nee, of Ayden, officiated.

The funeral was attended by hundreds of people from this and other parts of the state, and especially in the territory where he spent most of his life ministering to men and women in all walks of life.

The floral tribute was one of the largest that ever marked the passing of a citizen in the Winterville district, and told in a mute way of the esteem and admiration of the people among whom he labored for so many years.

Surviving the deceased are his wife and four daughters, Misses Venetia Cox, missionary in China; Mrs. A. T. St. Amant, Wilmington; Mrs. T. W. Rouse, Greenville; Mrs. J. T. Gaylord, Wilmington. He is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Fannie Carroll, of Cox Mill.

Dr. Cox was born at Coxville, Pitt county, July 30, 1863, the son of Josiah and Sally Ann Tyson Cox. He first attended the public schools of Pitt county and a private school conducted by Mrs. Mary Smith at Coxville, after which he took two years' work in the academic and medical departments of the University of North Carolina. He graduated from the University of Maryland in 1888 with the degree of Doctor of Medicine and returned to Pitt county to take up the practice of his profession. He practiced near Ayden for 11 years and in 1899 moved to Winterville where he remained during the rest of his life.

Dr. Cox was one of the pioneers in the public health movement of the county and from September 1899 to September 1892 he was superintendent of the Board of Health of the county. He maintained active interest in development of this work after his retirement and

Akron Begins Maiden Voyage Over Seaboard

Washington, Nov. 2.—(AP)—The giant U. S. S. Akron made its bow to President Hoover today on its first trip to the nation's capital.

Gliding majestically over the historic points dotting the capital streets, lined with hundreds of office workers, the navy's biggest addition to its air fleet dipped respectfully as it passed over the White House.

Hundreds of feet below, from a side porch of the executive mansion, Mr. Hoover watched the maneuvers of the airship. Mrs. Hoover looked up from the roof of the White House.

The navy's new lighter-than-air ship arrived over the city accompanied by the smaller Los Angeles. Two other airships which were supposed to be in the flight did not arrive.

Led by the Akron, the two ships glided lazily toward the capitol building and cruised over Pennsylvania avenue to the White House. Six airplanes darted about them.

Shading his eyes from the bright early morning sun and the president followed the course of the ships. Mr. Hoover was notified of the Akron's approach, first by word from the Navy Department, and then by one of his secretaries.

Others in the executive mansion stood on top of the main building, some of them with glasses.

MISSIONARY SPEAKS HERE

Rev. L. Bunn Olive, of Chinkiang, Ad- dresses Two Con- gregations Sunday

Rev. L. Bunn Olive of Chinkiang, China, missionary of the Southern Baptist Church, spoke to two congregations in this city yesterday.

He addressed capacity congregations at Memorial Baptist Church yesterday morning and at Immanuel Baptist Church last night.

He presented in a graphic and forceful way the conditions existing in China, and the lack of workers in the effort to spread the Gospel among the millions of people of that country.

Giving his hearers a vivid picture of the light which the small forces of missionaries are waging in behalf of Christianity, he declared their ranks had been depleted by disease, death and lack of funds, and that new recruits must be sent if the work is to continue as it should.

China with her teeming millions paying tribute to Buddha offers untold opportunities for service of men and women with hearts ached for Christianity, he declared, and urged that both men and money be consecrated to the great task.

Schools and missions in the crowded district of the great Chinese centers have been closed because of the death of the leaders of the work and the inability to obtain men to take their places. The cause of the church is suffering because of this condition, he asserted, and the Christian nations must send new recruits if the work already accomplished is to be made permanent.

The Chinese know not upon whom to call in their quest to satisfy hunger of the soul, the speaker said. They bow before Buddha and pour out their hearts in prayer, but fail to find solace because their prayers are not directed in the right cause.

The sermons marked observance of mission week throughout the country and gave the congregations a vivid idea of what is needed to improve conditions in China.

Move to Prevent Mrs. Judd From Taking Her Life

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 2.—(AP)—As the state speeded plans to bring Winnie Ruth Judd to trial on a murder charge within the next 60 days, Sheriff J. R. McFadden revealed today he was keeping a close watch over the prisoner to forestall any attempt she might make to take her life.

The sheriff refused permission to Herman Lewkowitz, local attorney who said he had been retained as associate counsel with Judd, to talk privately with the woman, the attorney finally was allowed to confer with Mrs. Judd in the presence of a jail matron.

CAPONE MUST GO TO PRISON

Brother of Noted Gangster Refused Review by U. S. Su- preme Court

Washington, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Ralph Capone, brother of Al Capone was today refused a review by the Supreme court of his conviction of having made false statements in an attempt to compromise his income taxes.

The action ends the gangster's hope of a legal escape from his three-year sentence and a fine of $10,000 for making false statements in an effort to compromise income taxes. (Continued on Page Six)

EYE OF NATION ON ELECTIONS

Look to Scattered Contests Tomorrow for Definite Political Trend

Washington, Nov. 2.—(AP)—With an eye to the 1932 national campaign, party leaders look to the outcome of scattered elections tomorrow for a definite political trend.

Whether the Republicans or Democrats will organize the incoming House may be decided by the results of five special congressional elections.

In New York, the strength of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith will be tested in their dispute over a forest conservancy amendment sponsored by Roosevelt and opposed by the Democratic presidential nominee in 1929.

The Smith-Roosevelt split is being watched with close interest by political observers. Roosevelt has been boomed for months as the 1932 Democratic standard bearer. Smith continues as the party's titular head, but has given no sign whether he will stand for renomination.

Prohibition is an issue in several of the elections, while there is particular interest in the results of two normally Republican congressional districts which the Democrats hope to win.

The Democrats have assaulted Republican strongholds in the first Ohio and Michigan districts, but virtually conceded the second Pennsylvania and their opponents. They expect to retain the twentieth Ohio and the seventh New York without difficulty.

The present House lineup is Democrats 214; Republicans 213; Farmer Laborites one; vacancies seven. One of the two other vacancies usually Republican, will be filled December 1. Gaining this the Republicans would hold House control by one, if there is no change tomorrow in the political status of the five seats.

Press Releases New Picture of Chandler Harris

Chapel Hill, Nov. 2.—(AP)—A new picture of Joel Chandler Harris, author of the "Uncle Remus" series, as a crusading editor is given by his daughter-in-law, Julia Collier Harris, in a book the North Carolina University Press released today.

The volume, "Joel Chandler Harris, editor and essayist," contains a number of his writings which heretofore were virtually lost in old newspaper and magazine files and obscure places. It reveals the vital part of Mr. Harris' work toward overcoming sectional animosities between the North and South.

His journalistic career from his connection with the Savannah News in 1874 through his work with the Atlanta Constitution up to 1890 is shown in editorials from these newspapers, special correspondence for the New York Sun, and a series of controversial editorials replying to a series in the New York Times on the negro ballot in southern states.

SEEKS 'WET' CANDIDATE

Mayor Cermak Says Democrats Should Go Into Campaign with Wet Leader.

New York, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Anton J. Cermak, the militant anti-prohibition mayor of Chicago, called upon the Democratic party today to go into next year's presidential campaign with a candidate who is "thoroughly wet."

Illinois Democracy, he insisted, will demand an "out-and-out wet platform, and a candidate as wet as the plank he stands on." He expressed the further opinion that "Democrats should pick a candidate of the Al Smith type."

Mayor Cermak said Illinois' 58 convention votes would be given to United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis who, he said, meets all the requirements of an "ultra-wet" candidate.

He denied that he had come to New York as a peacemaker between former Governor Alfred E. Smith and Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt. His pronouncement for a "thoroughly wet" presidential candidate was interpreted by some of his interviewers as a stroke against the candidacy of Gov. Roosevelt; but Mayor Cermak answered direct questions on this point by saying:

"Well, if Roosevelt was wet enough for Al Smith and wet enough to be elected Governor of New York, it is quite likely he would be wet enough to suit the wets of Illinois."

The Chicago mayor expressed the opinion there would be enough votes en bloc to prevent any candidate's running away with the nomination until he had met the test on prohibition.

Premier Laval Reaches France

Paris, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Premier Pierre Laval set one of the greatest receptions of his career this afternoon as he returned from his flying trip to Washington.

The crowd which filled the railway station and blocked the street outside was larger than it ordinarily might have been because this is the All Souls holiday, and as the premier stepped from his train they raised a cheer which seemed to surprise the returning statesman.

His daughter, Mademoiselle Josee, was bewildered by the magnitude of the reception and although the gentlemen kept the enthusiastic cheerers back the premier had to use his shoulders and elbows to push his way into the waiting room hauling Josee after him, his hand closed about her waist.

Bishops At Odds Over Golf Issue

Bethany, Tex., Nov. 2.—(AP)—Bishops Samuel R. Hay and H. A. Boaz of Methodist Episcopal church south apparently are at odds over golf.

Bishop Hay exhorted pastors to chop wood instead of playing golf for exercise. Bishop Boaz said he played golf and was "not ashamed of it."

"I play it to keep fit and sometimes to keep from having fits," he told his ministers.

Match, N. C.—September 20 has been announced by the Rev. R. A. McLeod as the date for next year's meeting of the Presbyterian Synod of North Carolina, to be held at Eastern Carolina Teachers College, Greenville.

JAP SOLDIERS PUSH FURTHER IN MANCHURIA

China Reported to Have Entered Into Secret Agreement With Moscow

Tokyo, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Japanese troops of occupation pushed farther to the west and north in Manchuria and Mongolia today while persistent reports that China had entered into a secret agreement with Moscow for Russian assistance were considered by the Japanese cabinet.

The American government also was reported to have interested itself in the conflicting reports of Russian mobilization along the Siberian-Manchurian borders and to have sent George Hanson, its consul general at Harbin to Northern Manchuria to investigate.

Reports of troop movements indicated the Japanese were edging farther into the Chinese territory and closer to the Russian sphere of influence in Northern Manchuria, but had not reached territory in (Continued on Page Six)

BEGIN SERIES OF SERVICES

Three Meetings Mark Opening of Evan- gelistic Campaign at St. Paul's Church

Dr. G. W. Gasque, of Atlanta, Ga., began a series of evangelistic services at St. Paul's Episcopal church yesterday. The services are being held in connection with the diocesan-wide observance of mission week and will continue each morning and evening throughout the week.

The song services are being conducted by Charlie Tillman, well-known Methodist evangelistic singer and song writer, who appeared in Greenville several years ago in a revival at Jarvis Memorial Methodist church.

Large crowds attended the three services yesterday, and especially at 11 o'clock when the building was packed to capacity. At this service Rev. W. A. Lillycrop, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, entered upon his third year's service with the congregation.

Holy communion was celebrated at 7:30 being led by Dr. Gasque. This was marked by a special service of remembrance for those who had died during the past year.

Rev. W. A. Lillycrop led in the celebration of the Holy Communion at the 11 o'clock hour when Dr. Gasque delivered the opening sermon of the evangelistic series.

The speaker was introduced by Mr. Lillycrop as a man who is playing an important part in the life of the church in Georgia, and ex- (Continued on Page Six)

Shuping Will Head Victory Drive in N. C.

Greensboro, Nov. 2.—In an interview today Mr. Shuping confirmed the report of his acceptance of the chairmanship of the Victory Fund Campaign in North Carolina. "My purpose," said Mr. Shuping, "will be to offer every Democrat in North Carolina opportunity to contribute to this worthy cause. Our party must depend upon the great body of our people for its support. We would not have it otherwise. Its function and will is to serve them, and it is of the utmost importance that its obligations shall be to them and them only. The small gift will be as much appreciated as the big one." All signs indicate that the Democratic Party will return to power in the next election. This will be assured if we raise the funds necessary to free of debt and to conduct a campaign of information. Whenever it shall come to power, we will have an end of what the president has appropriately described as "frozen confidence." There will be in the presidency a man in whom the people justly have confidence, and there will be majorities in each House of the Congress of the people's choosing in whom they may confidently rely.

"It will be my endeavor to organize thoroughly, to the end that opportunity to participate in this essential preparation for victory and restoration of our government to the people, shall be presented to every one who believes in our party, its principles and its present mission. I shall solicit without delay the active interest of my fellow Democrats."

WILL BRING FARM HEADS

Representatives of Boards of Agricul- ture of North Caro- lina, South Carolina, Georgia and Vir- ginia, Will Take Part in Delibera- tions; Tobacco and Cotton to Be Princi- pal Crops Considered

Raleigh, Nov. 2.—(AP)—The governors of North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and Georgia will discuss agricultural and economic conditions in those states, at a conference in Charlotte, Thursday.

Gov. O. Max Gardner of North Carolina announced today that Thursday, November 12, had been set as the date for the conference after telephone conversations with the governors of the other three states.

Governor Gardner, who invited the officials of the other states to meet with him. He first proposed that the conference be held Friday of this week but this date was impractical as all of the governors could not attend.

Governors Ira C. Blackwood of South Carolina; Richard B. Russell of Georgia and John Garland Pollard of Virginia have all agreed to attend the meeting November 12.

The four states involved raise the greater portion of the tobacco and also grow a considerable amount of cotton. Agriculture is the leading occupation in each.

Governor Gardner has been requested to call a special session of the North Carolina Legislature to consider legislation to curtail production of tobacco, cotton, peanuts and other agricultural products. Governor Gardner asked the growers to bring the heads of the agricultural branches of their state governments with them. He said today he expected each governor to bring three or four delegates.

Commissioner of Agriculture W. A. Graham and Dean I. O. Schryer of N. C. State college will be two of North Carolina delegates.

The Charlotte conference will start at 10 o'clock in the morning and will probably be held in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, Governor Gardner said.

Probe Mystery Death at Mt. Airy

His wife had just locked the front door of the cafe and started home about 1 A. M. yesterday when a passerby discovered a blaze inside the building and summoned firemen.

Mrs. Trainum was asked for the key to the building by firemen and told them she had lost it. A daughter was with her at the time the firemen smashed in the door and found Trainum.

He was lying on a bed which with his clothing was the only thing left. A five-gallon can of kerosene, half empty, was in the room.

Trainum was still alive when found but died about two hours later without recovering consciousness.

A coroner's jury met yesterday, but reached no verdict pending further investigation.

Two Score Claimed By Violent Death In South

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 2.—(AP)—Twenty-two persons lost their lives in week-end automobile accidents in the south. Other accidents, drownings, suicides and slayings raised the total of violent deaths to more than two score. (Continued on Page Six)

BAR NEWS MEN FROM COURT PARK TITLES

Reporters Not Ad- mitted to $50,000 Libel Suit of Miss Nan Britton

Toledo, Ohio, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Although his words were not a formal verdict, Federal Judge John M. Killits announced today that the book entitled, "The Answer to the President's Daughter" contained libelous statements against Miss Nan Britton, author of another book which claimed the late President Warren G. Harding was the father of her 12-year-old daughter.

Judge Killits expressed this opinion shortly after the trial was resumed of Miss Britton's libel suit against C. A. Klunk, Marion, Ohio, hotel keeper. Miss Britton claimed "The Answer to the President's Daughter" reflected discredit on her and named Klunk on the grounds that he helped circulate it.

The suit, on trial in Federal court here, alleges Klunk circulated a book entitled, "The Answer to the President's Daughter" (Continued on Page Six)

Islands of Japan Shaken by 'Quake; Several Killed

Tokyo, Nov. 2.—(AP)—The Japanese islands of Kyusu and Shikoku were shaken by a violent earthquake this evening. The extent of the damage was not learned immediately.

Kyusu is the most westerly of the three principal islands of Japan separated from Korea by the Strait of Korea and from Honshu Island by the Strait of Shikoku. It has a population of more than 6,000,000. Shikoku Island is south of Honshu Island, with a population of nearly 4,000,000.

Although reports were incomplete late tonight, it appeared the quake had been severe in Miyazaki where dispatches said a number of persons were killed or badly injured.

Roanoke, Va., Nov. 2.—(AP)—Six members of his squad carried the body of Raymond Rollis Perdue, 28, Statesville, high school football coach to its last resting place as funeral services were held for him here yesterday.

Hundreds of residents of Statesville attended the service. Perdue was struck by Garland Jennings, 22, of Taylorsville, headlinesman in a Statesville-Taylorsville game Friday after a brief dispute. He died en route to a hospital from concussion of the brain.

Jennings faces a hearing on a charge of manslaughter. Perdue, who was coaching at Statesville for his second year, was a graduate of High Point College.

OUT OF STATE TEAMS HOLD EYES OF N. C.

By W. T. PEACOCK
Charlotte, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Five football teams play out-of-state games next Saturday before launching into a round of games among themselves in the following two weeks in an effort to settle the state championship question.

Only two of Saturday's games are on state soil. Davidson meets the Citadel at Davidson while Wake Forest plays Presbyterian College of South Carolina at Greensboro. Here how the others line-up.

North Carolina versus Georgia Tech at Atlanta.

Duke vs. Kentucky at Lexington, Ky.

N. C. State vs. Mississippi, A. & M. at Starkville, Miss.

Duke will be accorded little more than an even chance against Kentucky's Wildcats, but the other Big Five clubs figure to enter their games as favorites.

Georgia Tech has about the weakest eleven to represent the Atlanta school in years. Neither the Citadel nor Presbyterian is up to par. The Mississippi Aggies have shown little strength.

With next Saturday's games out of the way, the big push in the state championship drive will get under way.

North Carolina will return home to prepare for its contest with Davidson the following Saturday while N. C. State and Duke will get set for their game at Durham the same day. The following week Duke and North Carolina will wind up their Big Five games at Chapel Hill. The only contest left left in the state race will be the Davidson-Wake Forest encounter Thanksgiving at Davidson.

One reason N. C. State will be favored over the Mississippi Aggies next Saturday is the offense the Wolfpack uncovered in the final minutes of its game with the Tar Heels Saturday. Trailing 10 to 2, the Wolfpack crew showed across a couple of touchdowns in the last quarter to make the final score 18 to 15.

It was the day's sensation with Davidson beating V. M. I. 7 to 0 and Duke losing to Tennessee 25 to 2 in the other games involving the Big Five teams.

Catawba played on High Point 7-6 in a North State conference game. Guilford whipped Lynchburg 25-12. Park Island downed Campbell 22 to 0 and Mrs Hill lost to Tusculum 6-29. Appalachian, after beating the Naval Apprentice school Friday, hadn't enough left to whip Langley Field and lost 6 to 2.

Two North State conference games are down for next Saturday. Elon meeting High Point at Elon and Lenoir-Rhyne playing Guilford at Guilford. Appalachian journeys to Maryville while Mars Hill is at home to Lees-McRae.

SEWANEE WINS TO BREAK BIG THREE RANKS

By FRANCIS CARPENTER
Atlanta, Nov. 2.—(AP)—A courageous Sewanee eleven outplayed the Louisiana State squad to furnish the major upset of a week-end of Southern conference football that saw the "big three" soundly thrash helpless opposition.

Undeclared before they met Sewanee, the Louisiana State eleven backed to a 12-6 score to join Kentucky and Florida, thrust into the defeated column by Alabama and Georgia, respectively.

Georgia did the expected and broke a long-standing flax in whipping Florida 33-6. The other two "big threes", Tulane and Tennessee also turned in big scores. Tulane overpowered Mississippi A. and M. 39-7, and Tennessee beat Duke 25-2.

Kentucky fell before Alabama 9-7 Maryland, undeclared but tied, boosted her conference record by beating V. P. I. 20-0. Tennessee now has five conference wins. Georgia and Tulane four each, and Maryland three.

Vanderbilt recovered remarkably well from a defeat at the hands of Georgia to pile up a tremendous margin against Georgia Tech here Saturday. The Commodores won 49-7. North Carolina State lost to North Carolina 18-15, and V. M. I. bowed to Davidson, 7-9. Auburn defeated Springfield 27-7. Oglethorpe whipped Clemson, 12-0, and the Washington and Lee and William Mary game ended in a scoreless tie.

SI southern teams fared badly in as many inter-sectional engagements. Harvard defeated Virginia, 19-0, Colgate beat Mississippi College, 27-0. Texas A. and M. took a game from Centenary, 7-0. Marquette won from Mississippi 13-6. Davis and Elkins maintained its unbeaten record at the expense of Georgia State, winning 33-0, and Detroit beat Loyola of New Orleans, 21-0.

Georgia this week goes south again, this time to tackle New York University. New York lost its first game of the season to Oregon Saturday, 1-6, but is expected to give the Bulldogs plenty of trouble.

Four other Dixie teams play northern opposition. Virginia plays Columbia in New York. Loyola and St. Louis University meet at New Orleans. Louisiana State plays the Army at West Point, and Centenary meets Purdue at Lafayette, Ind.

Tulane and Auburn play at Montgomery and Vanderbilt engages Maryland at Nashville to furnish the best conference tilt.

Other conference games put V. P. I. against W. and L. Mississippi A. and M. vs. North Carolina; Mississippi against Sewanee; Alabama vs. Florida; and Kentucky vs. Duke. Tennessee meets Carson-Newman in a game that should give the Volunteers a rest, and North Carolina and Furman play.

NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL ESTATE

Pursuant to the authority contained in a certain deed of trust made the 18th day of March, 1926, between Robt. L. Smith and wife, Bettie T. # SPORTS SLANTS

The baseball experts can retire for the hot stove league sessions; this winter in good order and considerable comfort, gained from the satisfaction of having done a lot of good guessing on the pennant races.

The Athletics justified the hopes of 41 out of 64 experts by retaining the American league pennant. The Cardinals supported 33 out of 66 pickers by coming through again.

No fewer than 23 a new "high" for the accuracy of spring predictions, "called" the winners of both pennant chances. As it turned out, they were correct by so wide a margin that it was easy. They probably will come back next spring, well-supported, to make the same predictions.

The consensus of spring opinion as a whole, tabulated by the Associated Press, didn't turn out quite so well. Including the two winners the order of finish was "called" correctly in only five places. The Pirates, Reds and Cleveland Indians also finished where they were expected to, but the others crossed up the experts.

The two New York clubs surprised the talent by taking the runner-up money in each league. The Yankees were picked to finish behind Washington, the Giants in back of the Cubs and Robins.

The Boston Red Sox bowled over even their most loyal supporters by doing so well as sixth. This is the best they have done in ten years, but only one of the Boston experts, the veteran Jim O'Leary of the Globe, named the Sox to finish that high.

The Sharks
The best job of "calling" the finish in the two major leagues were turned in by Bill Dooley of the Philadelphia Record, Ed Muzel of the Chicago Herald-Examiner and Harry Bullion of the Detroit Free Press.

Dooley predicted the correct finish for nine out of 15 clubs, Muzel and Bullion eight each.

Bullion gained the distinction of naming the first four in the American league and first three in the National correctly. Dooley, Muzel, Warren Brown of the Chicago Herald-Examiner and J. Ed Wray of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch also "called" the first four places in the American league in addition to naming the National league winner.

Return From Wedding Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Sugg have returned from their wedding trip through Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Sugg were recently married in Nashville, Tenn.

MRS. GRAHAM FLANAGAN ENTERTAINS AT BRIDGE

Mrs. Graham Flanagan was hostess Saturday afternoon at an attractively appointed party honoring her sister Mrs. John Weed of New York. Mrs. Flanagan's guests included members of her bridge club and a number of additional guests.

Yellow and pink roses and chrysanthemums were artistically placed throughout the home. Concluding a number of rubbers, novelty bridge cards were awarded Mrs. J. Knott Proctor for making high club score and Mrs. John Weikel for high visitor's score. Mrs. Weed was also remembered with cards.

Mrs. John McKeithan, Mrs. John Flanagan and Mrs. Person Nicholson assisted the hostess in serving a tempting salad course.

Miss Edwards Honored at Dinner

Miss Athlene Edwards was the honoree at a lovely dinner party given by Mrs. H. E. Austin Friday evening, the occasion being the birthday of Miss Edwards.

The dining room was attractive with Halloween decorations, the motif being carried out in the place cards and mint cups. The centerpiece was a crystal basket of bronze chrysanthemums, and the room was lighted by orange tapers. After a delicious four course dinner was served, the birthday cake was cut by Miss Edwards. Covers were laid for the following guests: Miss Athlene Edwards, Mrs. R. B. Darden, Miss Nellie Denny, Mrs. E. L. Hillman, Mrs. L. L. Rives, Mrs. R. G. Fitzgerald and Mrs. J. H. Rose.

At the conclusion of the dinner Miss Edwards was showered with a number of lovely gifts from the guests.

EASTERN STAR TO MEET TUESDAY EVENING

Chapter 149 Order of Eastern Star will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30.

U. D. C. Meeting.

Mrs. J. D. Simpson and Mrs. Percy Wells were hostesses to the George B. Singletary chapter U. D. C., Thursday afternoon at 3:30. This was decidedly one of the best meetings we have had during the year. Twenty-five members and guests were present.

The meeting was called to order by the president and the usual business hour disposed of. Mrs. R. H. Wright, chairman of the nominating committee, made the following recommendations for officers for the coming year and they were unanimously elected: Mrs. J. L. Fleming, president; Mrs. J. L. Hassell, vice-president; Mrs. Hortense Moyer, secretary; Mrs. T. A. Person, registrar; Mrs. J. B. Spilman, reporter.

At the close of the business hour the members engaged in a very spirited historical contest.

Slips were passed to all present, on each slip was a question about some southern event. The answer to these created quite a bit of merriment. At the close of the program the hostesses served a delicious salad course.

We were delighted to have with us Mrs. E. L. Willard, Mrs. J. C. Gurley and Mrs. G. S. Willard. —Reported.

BIG MUSICAL ATTRACTION AT THE COLLEGE

The Don Cossack Russian Male Chorus will sing in only a few places in the south, as they are giving only one hundred concerts on their coast to coast tour, which includes every section of the United States and Canada. The concert here will be one of the first of their southern dates. This is November 17, two weeks from tomorrow evening.

From the triumphant opening at Carnegie Hall early in October, from every place the news of their concerts, is the same story—never has such singing been heard; "crowded houses"; "clamor for return dates"; approval of the program; comments on the impression made by the 36 men in uniform, most of them giants, clicking their heels as they march out in military form as if they were still officers in the Imperial Guard of Russia; the marvelous powers of their small conductor whom they say is a half-pint Cossack in size," but not energy and power; all giving proof that these "Singing Horsemen of the Steppes" are going far beyond expectations.

LOCAL HUNTING PARTY KILLS 210-POUND DEER

A hunting party headed by Gus Forbes of Greenville, killed a deer weighing 210 pounds last Saturday. It was reported here today. This is one of the largest killed in the state this season. It was stated, although one weighing 200 pounds was said to have been downed by hunters in another section.

DR. B. T. COX PASSES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

A staunch Democrat, he always exhibited interest in the political life of the community and represented Pitt county in the General Assembly in the regular session of 1909, was re-elected to the same body and served during the regular and call sessions of 1913. In 1926 he was again his party's nominee for the same office.

He was a member of the Pitt County Medical Society, having served as president of the organization and the North Carolina State Medical Society.

He was one of the presidents and directors of the old Farmers Bank of Greenville, president of the Bank of Winterville and one of its directors. He was also president of the Pitt County Oil Mill at Winterville and vice-president of the Home Fire Insurance Company.

A loyal member of the Hancock Primitive Baptist church, Dr. Cox always manifested considerable interest in the work of the congregation and it was largely through his effort that the church grew to be one of the most influential of the district.

He was an extensive property owner, having acquired considerable land in and around Winterville as well as being connected with various business enterprises.

On July 22, 1931, Dr. Cox married Miss Mary V. Smith at Coxville, daughter of the late William H. and Polly (Nelson) Smith.

During his 43 years of practice of his profession Dr. Cox made thousands of friends in all walks of life. He was universally loved because of his genial and kindly manner, and his ministry among the sick and afflicted won the profound gratitude not only of the sufferers themselves, but of the countless mass interested in the cause of humanity.

Drowning Youth Saved By Woman

Camerton, Nov. 2.—(AP)—R. L. Deaton, 9, of McAdenville, today owed his life to a Sunday fisherman and his intense desire to live.

The lad was riding his bicycle across a railway trestle here yesterday when, believing he heard a train coming, he accidentally swerved from the four-foot walkway and plunged 82 feet into the Catawba River.

Water at this point was 45 feet deep and the boy, semi-conscious, struggled to keep afloat. As he neared the bank, a woman who had been fishing waded out and dragged him to safety.

Koehring Death Puzzles Police

Mauston, Wis., Nov. 2.—(AP)—Whether Philip A. Koehring, 55, wealthy Milwaukee manufacturer, was slain or committed suicide near here Saturday while driving home from St. Paul, was puzzling investigators today.

Evidence supporting either cause for his death has been found. Officials said, since his body, with a bullet wound in the head, was found in Koehring's large coupe which had crashed through a fence and rolled about 300 feet off the highway into a field east of here.

Subsequent investigation of Jun. neau county authorities, including Sheriff Elmer Hemmlehan, District Attorney Edward Vinopal, and Coroner Roy J. Pharo has intensified the mystery of a motive for either murder or suicide.

While relatives and business associates of Koehring told authorities he apparently had no cause for worry, the sheriff and prosecutor said a check of his movements indicated he had been restless and dejected recently.

ABOUT TOWN

In anticipation of sharp advances in the cotton market the next year so, cotton manufacturers of the south, it is said, are storing away large supplies of cotton to take care of them when prices go up.
 This information should be received with gratification throughout the country as it is an indication that those who take care of the supply of the planters are of the opinion prices will advance substantially in a short time.

That they are right goes without saying. The reduction movement under way in various cotton producing states is going to bring about gradual improvement in the depressed situation existing at this time and those who buy while the staple is cheap will be able to realize enormous profits on their investments.

Cotton at five cents a pound is a good investment for the time being about for good returns on his money, and when the market rises it is going to mean the earning of millions of dollars on the part of those who had vision enough to buy while the market was on the decline.

A grand jury in the state of Georgia has advocated repeal of the prohibition law in the interest of temperance.

Presenting a presentment to the presiding judge, the jurors declared that sworn testimony was to the effect that it was impossible to stop the flow of liquor into the Georgia district with the present system of enforcement.

This is the first time a jury of its kind has given its outright approval to repeal of the dry law, but many prominent organizations have long ago, principal among them being the American Bar Association and the American Federation of labor.

It is argued that the enormous amount of money being spent for prohibition enforcement could be employed in relieving the treasury deficit not considering the enormous sum which the government receives through legalized sale of beer and wine.

On the other side of the picture
 a great army of men and women contend that prohibition has been a success from the standpoint of elevating American life, and that conditions are much improved as result of the Eighteenth amendment.

To permit legalized sale of beer and wine, this school of thought believes, would be the first step toward renaissance of the saloon which would gradually be perfected as the nation drowned itself in mild intoxicants.

Members of the Kiwanis club celebrated Charter night last week.
 Other clubs throughout the nation held similar observances, attempting to bring to the attention of the membership the great part which the club is playing in community life.

Greenville Kiwanians did not review the record of service since at night ten years ago when the club was launched, but those fam-ilar with its activities know of what has been done in behalf of undernourished or crippled children.
 A specific sum of money has been aside each year by the club to aid this cause in addition to activities in behalf of community development.

Greenville has several clubs of its type and each is doing its best to improve community life. That their efforts will have a tremendous effect on the future of the community is not to be doubted, and the public should show its appreciation by joining these groups of men in their program for public life.

The economic situation in this community is not what it used to be by any means, but it might be a worse, in the opinion of V. P.
 Right, receiver of the old National Bank of Greenville who has been in this city the last several months adjusting the affairs of the institution.

ONE WEEK TERM OF CRIMINAL COURT OPENS

A one-week term of Pitt county Superior court, for the trial of criminal cases, convened here this morning with Judge N. A. Sinclair, of Fayetteville, presiding.

There are approximately two hundred and ten cases on the docket and one of the busiest weeks in years was promised as work got underway.

Virtually all of the cases are of a minor nature, consisting mainly of larceny, violation of the prohibition law, and charges of a similar nature.

Motion for a new trial will be asked for Elmer Whitley and Rodney Cox, young men of this city who were convicted of the highway robbery of Mrs. G. H. Ballard here during the last Christmas holidays and sentenced from 7 to 9 years each in the penitentiary. They appealed to Supreme court but action of the lower court was sustain- ed. Both have been at liberty un- der bond, but will have to begin sentence in case motion for the new trial is denied.

COMMISSIONERS HOLD MONTHLY SESSION HERE

The monthly meeting of the Board of Commissioners of Pitt county was held here today, but only matters of a routine nature were expected to come up for con- sideration. Practically the entire morning and early afternoon were consumed in the paying of bills and discussion of other matters pertaining to operation of the county government.

BEAVER DAM FARMER RAISES GIANT POTATO

William McArthur, of Beaver Dam community, doesn't claim to be a champion potato raiser, but he has succeeded in producing one of the largest potatoes seen in this community during the present season.

Mr. McArthur brought to the Reflector office Saturday afternoon a potato that tipped the scales at 51-2 pounds, and said he had lots more almost as large. The product was of the Porto Rican variety and was placed on display in the win- dow of the business office of the Reflector.

AUTO PARTS COMPANY OPENS BUSINESS HERE

The Auto Parts Company has thrown open its doors for business at 217 Fifth street. L. P. Ellis is manager of the new concern which carries a complete line of fast moving parts and accessories for Fords, Chevrolets and other popular makes of cars.

Mr. Ellis said their purpose in establishing in Greenville was to give the best service at a minimum cost to car and truck owners, for cash, and at a low margin of profit.

SEVEN MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED OVER WEEK-END

Dan Cupid bucked the line, hard in Greenville and Pitt county over the week-end and the result was the sending of seven couples to the office of the Register of Deeds to obtain licenses to marry.

Three of the couples were white and the remainder colored. They were:

John McLawhorn to Miss Lulu Mae Cannon, both of Chicod; W. H. Smith to Miss Ruby Cannon, Chicod; Bert S. Forsyth to Miss Eunice Mintra, of Bethel.

Colored—John Wilson to Minnie Moore, Chicod; Stephen Bell to Arthur Daniels, Greenville; Edward Pratt to Hortense Dawson, Green- ville; Abner Gorham to Evangeline Brown, Greenville.

NO COUNTY COURT TO BE HELD TOMORROW

The regular weekly session of County Court will be abandoned to- morrow on account of the one- week session of criminal court which convened in Greenville this morning.

ness and professional men here last week. Mr. Wright declared that compared with Georgia and other districts where crop failures had been very pronounced this section had lots to be thankful for.

With disappointing tobacco and potato crops for which the growers received prices far below cost of production, he stated that the only thing they had to look forward to was their cotton crop. With cot- ton selling at five cents a pound, the Georgians again received a set- back from which they will be long recovering.

This section has raised bountiful food crops, the speaker pointed out, and should be able to get along comfortably to another planting season when conditions probably will be better.

He advised his hearers to be grateful for the condition, remem- bering that people in other sections were suffering from actual want and were in far worse shape than in this area of peace and plenty.

Parody on Tobacco
 "Tobacco, thou art, my Sheppard and I am in want.
 Thou hast caused me to feed in a dry pasture; thou hast destroyed my credit; thou hast led me into the paths of poverty, liens, lawsuits and near nakedness.
 Thou hast destroyed my soul and my happiness.
 Thou hast caused me to go to a banker with my hat under my arm and mortgage the muscle and produce of my farm.

 Thou hast caused me to live in a rented house in full view of the moon while stars come twinkling through the cracks.
 Thou preparest a naked back and an empty stomach for me in the presence of my friends.
 Thou anointest my head with ignorance, superstition, poverty and unpaid accounts. How can I trust thee?
 Thou hast kept my children out of school, church and society, there- by robbing them of that which is good and noble, elevating and refin- ing.

 Thou hast caused me to go to the barn and bring out the old ferti- lizer sacks and ask my wife to make me a shirt.
 Now, behold, as I stand amidst my friends in my new shirt with these inscriptions in full view, "Eighteen per cent Acid Phosphate" on the breast, and "12-4-4" on the tail."

LADY with a PAST

By Harriet Henry

SYNOPSIS: Venice Muir's real past is the record of a social dud. She has given New York an impression of dullness and reserve. Now in Paris, she decides to manufacture an imaginary past, a story of conquests in Europe, with which to win popularity when she returns to New York. Her mother has died in Paris, leaving Venice free to make her own plans. Venice knows that she is attractive looking and that her trouble lies in a shy inability to express herself. With the reputation of mysterious experience to attract people's interest she hopes to gain confidence. But she knows no one in Paris. At the Cafe de la Paix she falls into conversation with a young man, an American, with whom she feels quite natural. He says he has no money. Venice has an unexpected idea, and tells him that she has something to talk over with him.

To Wed Iowan

Eva Leonard, former Follies girl, has announced her engagement to David S. Chamberlain, wealthy Iowa manufacturer. She met Chamberlain during a visit to Des Moines, her home town.

Chapter 19
FLOWERS FROM A BLACK SHEEP

He started.

"I've never failed to enjoy another," he grinned. "But what's caught hold of you all at once?"

"It's an inspiration. Listen. Are you really frightfully hard-up?" Venice asked.

"Frightfully!"

"Would you do anything for money?"

"Anything short of murder?"

"Would you be a sort of gigolo?"

"I'd be any sort of gigolo."

Venice breathed a tremendous sigh of relief. This young man was to be the egress from her blind alley. She smiled happily at him.

"I'll tell you everything," she said.

"I'm from New York," she began as a mother starts recounting a story to a small child. "My family are smart and all that and society and social success, that kind of thing, is their raison d'etre. I had a loving coming-out a few years ago and lots of invitations to all sorts of parties since, but I'm a social dud. I'm awkward at parties. I can't think of bright things to say. I have no social graces. Oh, I can't explain. I'm a complete flop." She became almost sad with this admission.

The young man patted her hand and said, "That's nothing to worry about."

"Yes, it is, when you've been taught it's the only thing to build on. Mother brought me over this summer to see if I'd do better here. She died before we got in touch with any friends." There was a pause.

"Poor kid," he murmured kindly.

"I've decided to stay over here. Do everything, go everywhere. And when I get home again be mysterious and have a past. What people don't know about you, can only guess at, intrigues them. Don't you see?"

She stopped breathlessly, frightened lest he could not appreciate the value of the situation.

He did. He became fired too with her idea.

"Of course. That's good psychology. How are you going to go about it?"

"That's where you come in. You're to take me everywhere—Montmartre, the races. Everywhere that's smart and amusing. I'll pay for everything and give you something a week besides. Will you? Oh, please."

"You bet. What a lark!"

Venice uttered another relieved sigh.

"That's settled," she said.

"Let's shake. Here's to your knocking New York for a goal!"

They wrung hands, then raised their glasses.

"And perhaps if you know people here you could get me into some sort of a set," cried Venice. Her ideas were racing over each other. She saw it now. She had never been as excited in all her life before.

"Of course. I do know some people. I'm going to arrange a party for you just as soon as I can. By the way, I'm Guy Eryson. I hail from Wilmington. The black sheep of a very excellent family. At your service, madame."

"I'm Venice Muir."

"What a gorgeous name for a lady with a past."

She suddenly went shy. Her excitement died. She felt nervous and unsure about what she had just planned. What would her mother have said? But then her mother had asked her not to miss parties and had always wanted just exactly this for her. Yes, it would probably be all right.

The next day she bought herself a bottle of expensive perfume. It was an elusive and delicate scent, vaguely reminiscent of gardenias. This was her first tangible step towards her vivid future, her desired allure. The second was to take her evening frocks to old seamstress who cut them to the waist in back. Guy had telephoned her in the morning, and they planned to dine and dance at Giro's. She dressed this evening with a new and delicate sense of expectation, something she had not known since her debut. Her debut had been the heavy door that had slammed on all her happy anticipations. Through that dreary reception she had realized that she was not a girl talking a natural flirt or an intriguing person. Her self-consciousness, her latest diffidence had branded her from then on. She sat before the dressing table in the turquoise chiffon dyed black and sprayed herself with the new perfume.

"M-m-m," she sniffed. "It's lovely. Like creamy gardenias drenched with dew." Her eyes shone. Faint color relieved the pallor of her face. She twisted to look at the deep V of her dress in back. It made her feel sophisticated and debonaire. She gave a happy little sigh.

There was a knock on the door. She went to open it. A bell boy stood outside with a florist's box. "Oh—merci."

The page showed new respect for her. It was beginning already, the recognition.

Venice shut the door and opened the box with fingers that shook with excitement. A small sheaf of green orchids. She read the card.

"A festive token of future success. Guy."

How nice, she thought. "What a graceful thing for him to do. She pinned them at her shoulder and scrutinized herself in the glass. They made her grey eyes almost green, accentuated the copper sheen of her hair. Just right for me. How clever of him. The telephone.

M'sieur Bretson eez waiting.

Downstairs in the small parlor Guy shook her hand.

"You look charming," he said.

"Thank you so much for the orchids. They're lovely. But you shouldn't have done it."

"You paid for them," he laughed. Somehow the way he said it did not spoil things at all.

"Look her," said Venice in the taxi, "if you take me places two or three times a week that'll be sufficient. Suppose I give your fifteen hundred francs a week, that's sixty dollars, and when they're spent you ask for more."

"You are trusting! No one ever trusted me with superfluous money before." His tone was earnest and strangely touched.

"Why?"

"I've always been careless and shiftless and extravagant."

"Don't be any more. Here, Guy." She thrust a roll of notes into his hand.

"Aren't you afraid I'll spend some of it for myself?"

"No. You might have before, but you won't now."

"You're quite right. Thank you, Venice."

She wished the evening were not starting out so gravely. There had been something solemn and hurtling about this exchange of words.

The taxi drew up at Giro's. Guy followed her in like a gentleman thoroughly accustomed to such extravagant places. She felt vaguely proud to be seen with him. His dinner coat was worn but well tailored, his manner and manners perfect. The head waiter put them at a table at the edge of the dancing floor.

Given a breathing space by the momentary absence of service at their elbows Guy leaned a little across the table.

"I don't want to be rude," he said, "but it has a bit to do with our ordering here, there and everywhere. Are you frightfully rich, Venice?"

"No. I mean by that I'm one of the mediums. I can have what I want without shopping for it, but I can't afford to throw money away."

"Well said. Spoken like a gentleman."

They enjoyed their evening. They did not dance exceptionally but adequately, and after all, thought Venice, he's working out so well you can't have everything exactly perfect. And he introduced her to two attractive people. One a like, dark young man, so soft and smooth he looked as though he had been dipped in oil. He had beautiful, even white teeth and a perfectly chiseled nose and his eyes were so black that you could barely distinguish the pupils from the irises. His evening clothes were faultless, his shoulders broad, his hips narrow. The like European here in a moment, then the Venetian.

"The Marquis de Thénardier, M'sieur Muir."

Look, the new Venice attracted the marquis. She learnt more about him tomorrow.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, crocote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of five to six points on foreign and domestic trade buying, coupled with higher Liverpool cables. Southern selling was in evidence here, but offerings were light with the market steady. January sold up to 6.75 and March to 6.90.

The advance encountered some southern selling and brokers who frequently act for the cooperative interests were again credited with selling March. This selling was not heavy, but it seemed sufficient to supply the initial demand and checked the advance which was followed by reactions of a few points. Prices sagged off to 6.72 for January and 6.87 for March and the general market was within a point or two of Saturday's closing quotations at the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables reported continued buying, hedging and covering in that market, influenced by easier sterling and said there was a fair demand for cotton cloths and yarns.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Successive rushes to buy wheat future deliveries swept the market almost 3 cents higher late today. An outstanding feature was expectation that Russia would not be able to export any further grain this season save rye, and was likely also to withdraw from world wheat competition for another year in addition. At the day's maximum prices, the market showed more than 20 cents a bushel advance since the season's low point Oct. 5, a rise of about 40 per cent in value.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Nov. 2.—(A)—Security markets began the new month cheerfully today. Bonds felt the reinvestment demand resulting from interest, dividend disbursements and maturities paid, amounting to more than $1,000,000,000. Bullish operations in stocks switched to the oils. Standard oils of New Jersey and California, Texas Corp., and Prairie Pipe rallied a point or so in fairly active buying. Similar advances appeared in U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and American, while American Telephone at its best was 3 points higher. National Biscuit, Corn Products, Sears Roebuck, North American, Columbian Carbon and Western Union rallied at least 2 points. Case and International Harvester were strong in sympathy with the recent buoyancy of the grain markets. Rails, however were sluggish.

The bullish activity in the oils was based on firmer crude prices in the mid-continent, and forecasts of higher prices in California. Furthermore, payment of the regular extra dividend of 25 cents by Standard of N. J. was encouraging.

(Continued from Page One) tended him a cordial welcome to the community. Dr. Gasque stressed unity in his initial sermon and brought before his hearers the necessity of all forces pulling together in behalf of the great cause of the church. He asserted that mental food is just as necessary as physical food, and told of the dangers of absorbing literature that tended to give one an exotic value of life. In this connection he urged upon the young people the importance of completing their education, saying the constant change of life created a greater demand for trained minds in every field of endeavor. The habit of feeding the mind with the wrong kind of literature, he said, gradually results in mental deterioration, and what is true of the mind is also true of the soul. Persons who absorb the wrong kind of literary works, it was pointed out, lose through lack of appreciation of the higher values of life. Referring briefly to wide-spread drinking and love-making along the highways, Dr. Gasque impressed the congregation that this was the result of lack of training at home. Fathers and mothers are responsible for this condition because they failed to set proper examples before their children. He gave several illustrations dealing with improper training of children, and showed conclusively that this usually results in blasted homes and lives. He urged his hearers to implant in the minds of their children the ideals that will help them in service to humanity. He cautioned against careless living, slight regard for the plane of living, appealing for the youth to attempt to achieve higher goals in life.

BAR NEWS MEN FROM COURT (Continued from Page One) President's daughter," which Miss Britton claims reflected discredit on her reputation. Miss Britton's own book said the late President Warren G. Harding was the father of her 12-year-old daughter, Elizabeth Ann. Klunk's defense of the libel charge has included testimony concerning Miss Britton's reputation, from some of her acquaintances, and an attempt to prove her reputation was not damaged by the answering volume which denied her claims of clandestine meetings with the late president. Judge Killits at the resumption of the trial today said the mysterious deposition of a New York hotel submitted as evidence by Miss Britton's attorney will be preserved in the records of the case for use only in the event of an appeal to a higher court. He has impounded the deposition and ordered that its nature or contents are not to be revealed to the jurors not to be public during the present trial. Miss Britton was expected to be called to the stand late today. Her attorneys indicated they want to ask her about a pamphlet titled "How and Why" Nan Britton wrote her book.

CAPONE MUST GO TO PRISON (Continued from Page One) tax dues. Other gangsters have been watching the case. Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake, former Chicago beer barons, have pleaded guilty to income tax violations with the understanding that they might change their plea if Ralph Capone won a review. Obscured somewhat by the fame of his notorious brother, Al Capone, Ralph, nevertheless found underworld operations very profitable. At his trial, the government introduced evidence to prove that in a period of five years preceding 1923, he banked more than $1,300,000. He failed to file a return or pay any tax during 1922, 1923, 1924 and 1925. After the government began investigating, Capone admitted to the internal revenue agent at Chicago that he owed the government $4,082. Asserting he received an income of approximately $20,000 yearly from gambling, he offered to compromise by paying $1,000. The government made that admission the basis of prosecution against him. They said he had an extensive income from handling liquor.

JAP SOLDIERS PUSH FURTHER IN MANCHURIA (Continued from Page One) which Moscow is primarily interested. Official circles here made it clear that the withdrawal of Japanese troops from Kirin, South Central Manchuria, was not an indication of Tokyo's willingness to abide by the League of Nations' desire for evacuation of the occupied district by November 16. Both the foreign and war offices explained that conditions at Kirin had become more or less stabilized and that, therefore, it was decided to transfer 600 soldiers, some to Sipingka and Manchuria, and others to Taonan and Chenchiatun, Mongolia—just across the Manchurian line. About 600 troops will remain at Kirin to protect Japanese interests.

It was explained that Japan's stand regarding evacuation of Chinese territory was the same as in the beginning, and would again be explained in Tokyo's reply to China's note offering to open direct negotiations for settlement of the Manchurian controversy on the basis of the League of Nations resolution. Japan's reply probably will be made public tonight. The vernacular press continued to publish reports saying the Russians were massing troops at Pogranichnaya and Manchul, respectively on the eastern and western boundaries of Manchuria, but in Russian territory. Details of an alleged Sino-Russian armament, supposedly signed at Manchul, also were published in the newspapers. The Russians allegedly agreed to provide the Chinese Helunkiang army, operating in Northern Manchuria, with substantial aid.

Washington, Nov. 2.—(AP)—George Hanson, American consul general at Harbin, in the Manchurian area was described by the State Department today as engaged in "a secret mission on behalf of Secretary Stimson." Hanson was said to have made a tour of inspection on instructions of the secretary and had reported his findings to the department. Details of the report were not discussed.

COURT-SETS NOV. 20 FOF ARGUMENTS OF DEMURRER IN BISHOP CANNON CASE (Continued from Page One) demurrer to an indictment charging him with willfully violating the corrupt practices law. The date was fixed by agreement between assistant district attorney, John Wilson and the Southern Methodist churchman's chief counsel, Robert H. McNeill, whose demurrer challenged the constitutionality of the corrupt practices act. Just before the court convened Bishop Cannon and Miss Ada L. Burrough, treasurer of his anti-Smith Democratic committee in 1928, who was charged with the clergyman of failing to report campaign contributions, made bond of $1,000 each. Miss Burroughs then left the court house, but the bishop, assisting himself with a crutch and carrying a large bundle of newspapers under his left arm, went into Justice Proctor's criminal court and took a seat in the front row opposite the bench. During the brief time consumed in setting a date for arguing the demurrer, Cannon sat between his attorneys, McNeill and Harry W. Nice, Baltimore attorney and former Maryland Republican gubernatorial candidate. The bishop rested his chin on his crutch and listened intently to what was said. In the last row of the court room a number of the clergyman's parishioners were gathered. Among them was Dr. William A. Sheldon, pastor of the Mount Vernon Methodist Episcopal church, south, one of the nine who signed Bishop Cannon's bond. Sheldon recently was exonerated by a church investigating jury of charges, brought by his secretary. The other bondsmen were: L. E. Breuninger, Jesse O. Jolliff, S. W. Cockrell, L. A. Coffman, J. C. Copenhagen, R. D. Webb, R. T. Buckingham, and E. F. Slanner. Breuninger, Cockrell and Jolliff signed Miss Burroughs' bond. The argument on the demurrer will start a week to the day from the prelate's 67th birthday anniversary which is November 13.

TWO SCORE CLAIMED BY VIOLENT DEATH IN SOUTH (Continued from Page One) Louisiana, with six, led in deaths from motor vehicle mishaps. Georgia, Tennessee and Maryland reported four each. Virginia ranked next with three and Arkansas had one. Railroad grade crossing crashes accounted for six of the lives lost. Maryland had the largest number killed in a single accident. Four persons identified as Griffith Hal-luther W. Whitehorn, Mrs. Edith Brice and Mrs. Lulu Butler, all of Baltimore, Md., died in a truck-automobile collision near that city. Robert C. Floyd, Lynchburg, Va., William Wallace Melrose, Washington, D. C., and Miss Virginia Campbell, Lynchburg, all were killed when their automobile plunged down a cliff on a turn near Lynchburg.
