SAYS HOOVER SHOULD DEAL WITH COTTON

Gov. Gardner Makes Opening Address of 4-State Governors' Confab at Charlotte.

Charlotte, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Governor O. Max Gardner of North Carolina, described the plight of Southern agriculture as a national and international problem here today, and asserted the burden of solving the problem fell primarily on the Federal Government.

Addressing a four-state meeting attended by the governors of the two Carolinas, Virginia and Georgia, he said, President Hoover should call a national conference on agriculture and an international conference to deal with the cotton situation.

A divergent view was taken by Governor Ira C. Blackwood of South Carolina who spoke after Governor Gardner. He pointed out that Texas, Louisiana, South Carolina and other cotton-producing states had taken steps to limit next year's cotton acreage by legislation.

"Having committed ourselves to this program we must carry on," he said. "We cannot afford to wait on South Africa, India and China."

The North Carolina chief executive had asserted that any cotton plan that did not take into consideration the cotton growers in foreign countries.

FARMERS FORM MARKET BODY

Pitt County Mutual Exchange Organized to Assist Marketing of Farm Products.

By E. F. ARNOLD County Aera

The different marketing groups of Pitt county decided some time ago to form a central county-wide marketing organization to be known as the Pitt County Mutual Exchange. Directors were chosen by the various groups to represent them on this board: Poultry association, J. C. Parker; swine growers, W. M. Taylor; curb market board of control, D. N. Nobles; dairy group, J. C. Galloway; and J. B. Tucker was chosen to represent the farmers at large.

This group met yesterday at the Brown Derby and perfected the above mentioned organization by electing officers and applying to the state department for a charter. J. C. Galloway was elected president; J. C. Parker, vice-president; and J. B. Tucker, secretary-treasurer.

The major purpose of this group is to assist the farmers in marketing the crops and livestock they are being asked to introduce in order to diversify the agriculture of Pitt county. All poultry and hog shipments will be handled through the organization as well as the sales of other farm products.

The next meeting will be held on receipt of the charter which is expected to arrive in the next few days.

Hogs J. H. Boyd has converted his tobacco farm on the Washington road into a Duroc-Jersey hog ranch. He now has some 90 registered Durocs and is in a position to supply any farmers with foundation stock for a good herd of Duroc Jerseys. Mr. Boyd has selected his stock from some of the most outstanding herds in the middle west and is keeping in the breeding herd 15 unusually well-bred sows and 2 fine male hogs. He now has out of the outstanding sows in this section and is in a position to supply those who would like to have breeding stock in the Duroc-Jersey line with individuals carrying some of the best blood lines in the country.

Mr. Boyd has placed with swine growers of this section of the state some 30 or 40 hogs from his herds for breeding purposes this year, the major part of which were purchased in Pitt county.

MASS MEETING HERE SUNDAY

Rev. Gipsy Smith To Speak at Celebration of the Laymen's Missionary Body.

Plans for the mass meeting for men on Sunday afternoon at the Emmanuel Baptist church are about complete, and will be given in detail in the Saturday announcement.

Rev. Gipsy Smith, evangelist, will be the speaker, and a male quartet will sing several numbers during the program.

This meeting is being held in celebration of the 25th anniversary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, started by eight prominent laymen in New York City November 15, 1906. It is composed of men from 45 denominations in the United States, and its object is to carry the gospel to the whole world in this generation and to stir up fresh interest in the Missionary Movement.

A season of prayer, in which all will participate, will close the meeting. At the same hour all over the United States, similar meetings will be in progress.

Representatives of all communions have cooperated since the Laymen's Missionary Movement has found religious expression, and the missionary leaders themselves are much encouraged. With the value of the work demonstrated in its adaptation to a new generation, the movement is being ahead in a more effective and enduring plan than ever before.

The program of the movement for 1931-32 will be launched on the anniversary date of its founding, Sunday, November 15, in a world-wide observance. It is a great opportunity to face our modern civilization with the fact that the program of Jesus can save it, and bring to realization its highest hopes for the peace and welfare of mankind. The call comes to you to help make this anniversary, which has been designated as "Men and Missions Sunday," the beginning of a more aggressive effort for the Master, and the dawning of a brighter era for all the world.

CHALLENGES LEGION TO ACT

Celebration of Anniversary of Ending of World War Marked by Colorful Parade, Exercises at College, Barbecue Dinner, Picture Show and Football Game; Thousands Attended All Day Program

Making an impassioned plea for the outlawing of war, Gipsy Smith, Jr., distinguished evangelist, delivered the principal address of the Armistice Day celebration in this city yesterday. The address was the climax to exercises at East Carolina Teachers College and was heard by a crowd that packed the spacious campus building almost to capacity.

"Christ came to this earth to preach peace—not war," the speaker declared as he challenged members of the American Legion to use every influence to prevent the heartache, misery, suffering and slaughter of war in future years.

The celebration, which opened yesterday morning and extended throughout the day, was one of the most complete since the actual signing of the armistice thirteen years ago and thousands of people came to the city from all sections of the county to participate. While there was no general closing of stores and business houses as on the first Armistice day, virtually all forms of industry came to a standstill during the exercises at the college so that everybody might have an opportunity to attend.

The celebration opened with a formal parade shortly after ten o'clock that wound its way from the front of the college to Washington street, down Third to Evans street, down Evans to Five Points, and from Five Points down Fifth street to the college.

Taking part in the spectacle were motorcycle officers of the police department and State Highway Patrol, high school band, Boy Scouts, former service men, Battery A of 113th Field Artillery, North Carolina National Guards and two trucks from the local fire department.

The large guns of the artillery unit propelled by tractors, martial stunts and treading of marching feet, formed a proper setting for the opening of the observance of the anniversary of the greatest conflict in history of the world and was reminiscent of those days when powers of the world laid down their arms and returned to paths of peace.

In addition to the exercises at the college, the ex-service men, members of the Legion, their wives and the Auxiliary enjoyed the annual barbecue dinner in the basement of the campus building.

During the afternoon and night a talking picture "Sky Raiders" was presented under auspices of the Legion at the Capitol Theatre, an 11:30 o'clock football game was played at the Third street school grounds between Ayden and Rich Square.

Promptly at 11 o'clock a speaker of the military unit appeared on the stage of the campus building and sounded taps. This was followed by a minute of silent prayer in honor of the countless thousands who sacrificed their all in the name of civilization on foreign battlefields.

Invocation was pronounced by Rev. W. H. Covett, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, after which the assemblage joined in the singing of "America."

Mrs. Herbert Waldrop, who yesterday was designated the "Sweetheart of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion," rendered two solo numbers. As her rich soprano voice concluded each number she was given a tremendous ovation. The first number was "Old Pal O' Mine," and the second, "Keep the Home Fires Burning." In the latter she was joined in the chorus by the college girls. Mrs. Guy Smith acted as accompanist.

Owing to the absence of President Robert H. Wright, the welcome on the part of the college was extended by Prof. Carl Adams, who presided over the exercises.

LOCAL MARKET STILL LEADING

Federal Crop Reporting Service Says that Prices Distressing Low in Old Belt.

Raleigh, Nov. 12.—(AP)—A total of 125,498,567 pounds of producers' tobacco changed hands on North Carolina tobacco markets in October at an average price of $9.93 per hundred pounds, which was $4.99 per hundred pounds less than the average of $14.92 paid for 142,094,065 pounds in October 1930.

The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service in its October summary announced today, lists a total of 241,701,828 pounds of tobacco sold in the state up to November 1 at an average of $9.89 compared with $9.74 to the same date last year.

Prices were reported "distressing low" in the old belt.

Monthly averages for tobacco this year have been: August, with sales confined to the South Carolina belt, $12.44 per hundred; September, with sales on in other belts, $9.56; and October $9.93.

The tobacco situation in North Carolina is rather unusual this year," the report says. "Weather conditions have been out of the ordinary, while the economic situation is resulting in a considerable proportion of the crop not being sold after reaching the market."

It is predicted that warehouse sale reports at the end of the season are probably going to show a considerable reduction from the tobacco crop forecast as much tobacco offered cannot be sold as there is no demand.

Total sales of tobacco, which includes producers' sales and dealers' re-sales, reached 20,939,772 pounds on the Greenville market in October while Wilson, world's largest tobacco market, sold 18,937,854. Kinston and Rocky Mount each had sales of 12,000,000 pounds and Winston-Salem sold 10,176,683 pounds.

Washington reported the highest average, $11.40 for 1,534,816 pounds. Greenville and Charlotte also averaged over $11.00. Lumberton had the lowest average, $5.60 for 750,942 pounds. Whiteville and Roxboro averaged less than $7.00.

Beverly Moss Dead. Aberdeen, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Beverly Moss, Washington lumberman died in a hospital here late last night from injuries received when his automobile was struck by a freight train yesterday.

LADY with a PAST

By Harriet Henry

SYNOPSIS: Venice Muir is returning to New York, where she has been a social failure, with a reputation of conquests in Paris. She has deliberately manufactured an interesting "past." She has had much publicity because of the suicide of a marquis, which has been attributed to her refusal to marry him.

Chapter 33
SCANDAL'S COINAGE
It was an exceedingly rough crossing but Venice didn't mind it. There were some attractive-looking young people aboard but she had to wait until some one spoke to her. She could never bring herself to commence a conversation with any one. Sitting huddled in her stateroom chair the second day out a mummy in black, a pleasant-faced girl stopped and smiled at her.

"Would you like to make a fourth at shuffleboard?" she asked. Venice colored at this sudden approach. "Why—yes. Thank you." She scrambled out of her chair and stumbled over a trailing end of the rug trying to think what she should say next.

"It's my brother and another man," she remarked. "I don't think I'm very good at it," murmured Venice. "No one can be with this rolling. This is my brother Mr. Bennett, and that's Mr. Cogswell, Miss—"

"Miss?" Venice supplied. She felt decidedly embarrassed at the whole situation. "I must be, the thought here I've become a person of some importance."

"You've drawn a dud," she smiled at Mr. Cogswell, passing her disk just short of the chalked board. "You can't have everything," he returned with a glance that plainly said he thought she was good to look at.

This left Venice completely deflated and she quickly shoved forward another disk to cover her lack of repartee. "It's not your turn," he protested. "Oh," said Venice. The game soon became an impossibility with the rolling of the ship and Mr. Bennett suggested that they resort to the smoking room.

Venice sat silently at the table and watched Mr. Cogswell switch his attention gradually but definitely from her to the Bennett girl. As she noticed this the old awkwardness grew and she lost herself in miserable observation of the other three, listening and talking, flinging provocative bits of petulance across an invisible net to be traced promptly back again by the one who could think the quickest.

"How long have you been over?" Venice managed to break in upon the chat to ask young Bennett. "Two months. We spent the entire time except for a week in Paris at St. Jean."

"Did you really? I was visiting for a month between Biarritz and St. Jean. I love it around that part of the country, don't you? Venice slowly came to life with a theme in which she could take part. "Young Bennett started. "Muir," he murmured. "Muir. Are you Venice Muir?"

She nodded. The others had stopped their badinage at this. "Why?" exclaimed the girl, "we read about you in the papers." "They all eyed her anxiously. "Yes," Venice looked away. Her sudden discomfort was quickly followed by a surreptitious sort of pleasure. It was working. The hint of scandal had awakened their interest in her. Their quick notice dispelled her nagging shyness. She smiled brightly.

"Summer is a demoralizing season and the newspapers misconstrued things," she said. From that moment on she had a glorious trip. This girl has had exciting things happen to her, thought the young people aboard. There was something to her that they could not fathom, could not quite know about. At least one man had loved her madly and died on her account. Venice's partners were innumerable at the dance. She had frequent invitations for bridge, shuffleboard or a turn around the dock. All the sudden cover attention went to her head like wine. She forgot to wonder what people were thinking about her, forgot temporarily to analyze her own failings. She found herself coming back with quick bright retorts to this sally or that, discovered herself laughing easily being careless and provocative. Uncertainly about how it fared, "The lid of my box is missing," she thought happily, and any one can look now and see the amusing things inside.

FINAL GRID GAME FOR CITY TOMORROW

The last football game of the home season will be played tomorrow afternoon when Greenville high meets Kingston. The game will be played at the Rose Bowl at the Third Street school at 3:30.

Neither team has had what could be called a successful season and each one will strive to add its first conference victory of the season to its list of wins. Both Kingston and Greenville have played scoreless ties with Farmville and each has beaten LaGrange by the same margin; so a hard fought game is expected.

Kingston will present two nice backfield men in Douglas and Benner. Douglas, a left handed backfield pitcher is reputed to be a smart and tricky runner and pass thrower. To match these, Greenville will have Turnage and Cabana in the backfield and Summerell and Ferring in the line. Practically the whole team with the exception of Langston is in good shape for the contest.

Auto Runs 59 Miles On Gallon of Gas

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They not only report amazing gas savings but are also surprised to find quick pick-up, instant starting, smoother running motors and more power. The Whirlwind Mfg. Co., Dept. 2133-S, Station C, Milwaukee, Wis., for a limited time is offering a free device to those who will help introduce it. They also need men everywhere to make up to $100 weekly in their own territory taking care of local business. Write them at once for free sample and big money offer—Adv.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat trouble. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

RUSSIAN CHORUS AT COLLEGE NEXT WEEK. Four times each day the Don Cossack Russian Male Chorus is being broadcast through WPTF. Listen in and see if you like the way it is being announced. This was considered not just a business arrangement, like a commercial affair, but good news matter to go out from a North Carolina station, for it is big news for North Carolina that the biggest musical attraction of the year would visit this section of the state. As a rule only large cities were able to secure one of the limited number of concerts except college and university towns. It speaks well for the enterprising spirit of the institutions of this state that the Don Cossacks will visit at three of them, but the fact that they could run in three engagements for colleges close together made it possible to get them. The concert will be in the campus building, which is now officially known as the Social-Religious building at 8:30 on next Tuesday evening, Nov. 17.

Mrs. J. E. Winslow Hostess. The Round Table Club met at the home of Mrs. J. E. Winslow Tuesday afternoon. The glow of autumn leaves and lovely autumn flowers attractively arranged, added a charm and homelike atmosphere to the spacious home.

Mrs. R. L. Smith, the president, presided over the business session. Nineteen members were present. The club participated in planting trees along the Memorial avenue on the Sallie Southall Cotten Drive.

Mrs. H. E. Austin, pronunciation referee, gave helpful suggestions and rules for Italian pronunciation. The feature of the afternoon was a well prepared paper on "Rome—the Heart of Italy," by Mrs. E. B. Higgs. Vivid scenes were described when the streets of the city echoed with the triumphant tread of the illustrious Caesars. Many events of ancient history were cited. One cannot dissociate Rome from her wonderful water supply and her great roads. Special emphasis was given the "Sacra Via," the way made famous by the Vestal Virgins. A vivid and graphic description of architectural beauty recalled the glory of the Parthenon, the Forum, the cathedrals and other show places of this magnificent city.

Mrs. W. C. Vincent discussed world affairs in a brief report on current events. The guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Nannie Holloman, Mrs. W. I. Skinner, Mrs. S. N. Graham, Mrs. L. W. Tucker and Mrs. Walker. A beautifully appointed and appetizing snack course with hot coffee, was served by Mrs. Norman Winslow and Miss Hattie Belle Yelverton.

Mrs. Wiley Brown, in whose honor the beginning of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Sunday School has been named.

Name Sunday School Room for Mrs. Brown

In a fitting service last evening, the Beginner Department of the Jarvis Memorial Church was named "The Molly Brown Room" in honor of Mrs. Wiley Brown, who has given forty-five years of devoted service to the children of that church.

Mrs. W. S. Dail, superintendent of the Beginner Department, presided over the services. As an opening hymn "Jesus Loves Me," the hymn beloved through the ages by children everywhere, was sung. Mrs. Dail then presented Miss Athlene Edwards, who has been educational director of the church for a year and a half, with a set of linen, a token of love and appreciation from the Beginner Department. Miss Edwards, who leaves soon to make her home in West Virginia, responded in a gracious manner to the tribute that Mrs. Dail paid her.

The purpose of the meeting was discussed, as Mrs. Dail spoke very feelingly of the years of loving labor given by Mrs. Brown to the many children who have passed through the Beginner Department of the Methodist Church. Mrs. Alton Baker then presented a large framed photograph of Mrs. Brown, the gift of Baker's Studio, to hang in the room that bears her name. Rev. E. L. Hillman, pastor of the church, and Mr. J. H. Rose, general superintendent of the Sunday school, made fitting talks on the devoted life of Mrs. Brown, and the service that she had rendered over a long period of years.

Mrs. Dail then presented Mrs. Brown with a blue basket of yellow and pink chrysanthemums. Mrs. Brown made a brief response in appreciation of the service and the honor bestowed upon her, and was deeply touched by this tribute from her fellow-workers. As a closing number, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" was sung while a huge circle of friends surrounded Mrs. Brown and members of her family who were present. Rev. and Mrs. Addison Brown of Robersonville were here especially to attend the service. The large room of the Beginner Department, which has recently been completely refurnished and repainted, was filled with friends who came to honor Mrs. Brown.

REDS SEND AID TO CHINA

(Continued from Page One) active cooperation by the United States which they read into President Hoover's Armistice Day speech and the appointment of Ambassador Charles G. Dawes as the American representative at next Monday's League council meeting. England's cotton industry is booming as a result of China's increased demand for textiles.

Washington, Nov. 12.—(AP)—United States Secretary of State Department said today a compromise plan to be brought forward at the League of Nations sessions in Paris next week was the basis for the American Government's optimism over the Manchurian situation. Although the secretary would not go into details, it was said in other official quarters the plan already had taken definite shape in communications between European and American statesmen and stood a good chance of acceptance by both the Japanese and Chinese governments.

Whether the plan involved the sending of a neutral commission to Manchuria was not disclosed. But observers thought such a commission might militate against open hostilities and that the time necessary for it to report might permit the two nations to "cool off," thus paving the way for Japanese troop withdrawal and an adjustment of the difficulties.

SEEK TO OUST OIL CONCERNS (Continued from Page One) ent filling station operators. The defendants are: Standard Oil Companies of New York, New Jersey and California; the Shell Union Oil Corp., Humble Oil & Refining Co., the Texas Co., Gulf Refining Co., Eastex Petroleum Co., Continental Oil Co., Sinclair Refining Co., Magnolia Petroleum Co., Sunoco Oil Co., Shell Petroleum Corp., Cities Service Oil Co., Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Co., Texas Petroleum Marketers' Association, American Petroleum Institute.

The suit asked forfeiture of the charters of the domestic corporations named as defendants, cancellation of the permits of foreign corporations operating in Texas, liens upon the property of all defendants, and fines under the anti-trust laws from Nov. 20, 1929, to the date of the suit, approximately 700 days. The attorney general said the defendants each were liable for a minimum fine of $35,000 or a maximum fine of $1,050,000 or a total minimum of $595,000 and maximum of $17,850,000. The fifteen companies and two associations were charged with having been engaged since November 20, 1929 in a systematic program of acquiring all independent filling stations in Texas; fixing the price of gasoline and petroleum products; fixing the price of filling station equipment; lessening and eliminating competition among themselves and generally dominating the marketing branch of the oil industry. This practice was carried out under the guise of complying with a so-called "code of practices" and with the purported approval of the Federal Trade Commission, Alford charged.

KEEP YOUR MONEY IN THE BANK

Those people who are accustomed to keeping large amounts of money on their person or their premises instead of in the banks should take warning from what befell a Rowan County farmer Sunday when $3,100 was stolen from the dresser drawer of his home while he and his family attended church. The person who keeps money in unsafe places is certainly inviting disaster and almost daily the newspapers carry reports of such occurrences as that in Rowan County Sunday. Don't be foolish. If you have money it is much safer in a good bank.

ABOUT TOWN

Greenville and Pitt county people witnessed one of the best Armistice Day celebrations in years here yesterday.

The exercises were in keeping with the great event which the day represents, and showed to all the world that the people are still appreciative of the sacrifices of American soldiers on foreign battlefields.

The address by Rev. Gipsy Smith was all that could have been expected. He paid tribute to the heroism of the men who fought in that great conflict and declared that the victory for humanity would not have been possible without their admirable courage and fortitude.

The parade was an inspiration in itself, the members of the military unit of the North Carolina National Guards furnishing the proper setting for such a spectacle. The rumbling artillery trucks bearing field guns were reminiscent of that period thirteen years ago when word was flashed around the world that the great war was over.

Many of the men who attended the celebrations in different parts of the nation yesterday will not be present next year. The grim hand of death takes its toll with the passing of the years, and soon now these men who went to the war in the prime of young manhood, will have vanished from the earth. But memory, hallowed by their deeds in behalf of humanity, will live on and on and inspire future generations to carry on for the great cause for which their forebears fought.

Tomorrow over a thousand men and women representing the teaching profession in this part of the state gather here for their annual conference and Greenville, as always, on an occasion of the kind, extends to the visitors the most cordial welcome.

It is not the first time the North-eastern Teachers conference has met here. The city had the pleasure of entertaining its members last year, and they may be assured of the same hospitality that greeted them upon their previous visit.

The Merchants Association has made ample accommodations for the visitors, and everyone that remains overnight will find that he has been fully provided for.

Greenville has forged to the front as a convention city in recent years, and this year will see it surpass all previous years from that standpoint. It shows the city not only has the accommodations to take care of huge crowds, but that it has the spirit of hospitality so essential in the entertaining of conventions.

Forest fires continue to rage in various parts of the country, bringing the people face to face with the necessity of using more caution in the handling of fire while in the woods.

Men who frequent the woods from day to day can do more to reduce the forest fire loss than any other set of people. By completely extinguishing cigar and cigarette butts they will eliminate one of the greatest of fire menaces to the woodlands.

Forest fires have been more frequent in the south this season than formerly because of the dry weather. The timberlands are dryer than they have been in years and a small spark of fire will start a conflagration entailing loss of thousands of dollars.

The loss in Eastern Carolina has been a staggering one, and every effort should be put forward to see that it is reduced as much as possible. Pitt county so far has escaped fires of any consequence, but with dry weather still in evidence the danger continues, making it highly important for everybody to be on his guard against careless handling of fire.

Rev. Gipsy Smith, one of the best known evangelists in this part of the country, or the nation for that matter, opened a series of revival services at Immanuel Baptist church Wednesday night.

He will be in the city practically two weeks, and during that time will impart to the people many pertinent facts regarding the fight in behalf of the Bible.

The public should take advantage of this opportunity to hear Mr. Smith. He is a believer in the presentation of the old-fashioned gospel so badly needed during this complex age, and those who try to abide by what he says should be converted into wholesome influences for community life.

EDITORIAL SECTION

Our Purpose
Through advice and assistance of our English professor and the courtesy of the Daily Reflector, this section is being printed weekly to give the citizens of Greenville a peep at the numerous activities carried on in Greenville High school. We sincerely hope that we may please the patrons of the school and keep them acquainted with our activities.

We wish to show our parents our progress not only in book knowledge, but in the comprehension of everyday life.

Besides this we hope to learn much concerning the history and make-up of the modern newspaper. We expect to become familiar with its various departments—news stories—editorial social items—sports—advertisements.

Probably the most personal aim of our efforts is to develop ourselves into fair newspaper writers. We wish to acquire during our reporting a nose for news; to develop accuracy; and we hope that from our practice at journalism some of the club will find themselves, and later prove to be good writers for college papers, and magazines—or perchance become sufficiently interested in newspaper work that it will attract them as a profession.

Experience will improve us; and by our final issue in June we hope you'll be getting as much pleasure out of this section as we do, and that you will be looking forward to each issue.

WHAT ARMISTICE DAY SHOULD MEAN TO US

On Armistice Day we should do more than rejoice because war is over. We should think of those who gave their lives to save our country, those who are lying under the poppies in Flanders Field. We should think of those in the hospitals today because they have lost sight, limbs or health in defending our country.

Armistice Day should be a day of sacred memory to those who are dead and those who are suffering. As we consider the price they paid, may we determine all the more to enjoy and maintain our peace.

GRADY BELL—8

Peace

On November 11, 1918 peace was declared between the great opposing powers of the world. At last the long terror and turmoil was ended. The people raised their voices in a loud cry of thanksgiving. No longer had there been the shedding of blood and no longer need the booming of guns be heard. Peace was declared! War had ceased!

Today that declaration of peace is celebrated on Armistice Day. The people give again that clarion cry. The wounds and scars which the war made are becoming less and less painful, yet the people of the world today pause long enough to remember these same wounds. They sigh at the memory of those whom they lost during the struggle, and, all the while, they are hoping that there, shall be no more the pain and heart break of the long years of 1914-1918.

ELIZABETH MUSSEWHITE—11

Heritage of Peace

A typical American child of five years put on his paper cap and with his bronsted gun began to creep among the ferns. At intermittent intervals he is seen to aim his gun at some unseen object and say: "Bang! bang! I got that German; Pow! I got that one too, and crawl away in his innocence thinking he had killed some one that his nurse calls "German".

It would be well, now that much of the demagogic patriotism and heart burn of the war is gone, to dismiss our petty, ignorant hatred of enemies, and think of Armistice as a peace, a chance for world friendship, not of it as a victory or revenge. Reverence to our heroes who went over sea should mean a willingness to prevent another such catastrophe.

We begin to realize the futility of war when we remember that on one side of the trenches the soldier in gray prayed to God and Christ for victory and peace and that on the other side of the line the soldier in brown and blue prayed to God for the same thing.

The attitude of the ruling generation will be responsible in a large degree for the establishment of world peace. We will find it profitable to forget the differences that made the English, French, German, and American soldiers kill each other, and buckle down to the present task of making such a calamity as that of 1914-1918 forever impossible in the future.

May friendship and cooperation among the nations of the world be the dominant characteristic in our next chapter of history! May the principles of humanity—dear to every heart—life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness be enshrined in the heart of all nations, to the end that peace may be our heritage.

INJURED BALL PLAYERS RETURN TO SCHOOL

Hugh Winslow and Ed Skinner, local high school football players, were welcomed back to school last week after an absence of some time caused by broken bones.

Hugh Winslow received a painful break in his upper arm during the first game of the season with Elizabeth City. After several weeks in the local hospital, he was removed to Richmond for a careful examination. Last week found him in school, and this week he is minus his sling.

The other sufferer, Ed Skinner, received a broken collar bone while at practice two weeks later; but he remained out of school only a few days. Ed is also preambulating this week, slowly and carefully, without his sling.

Greenville High wishes to extend its welcome to Hugh and Ed, who were representing the school when they were injured.

GREENVILLE FROSH RUN AWAY WITH KINSTON

Thursday afternoon, November 5, the Greenville Frosh team trounced the Kinston Frosh 38-2 in a run-away game on the Third Street field.

Mr. Porter, coach of the local team, and Rex Hodges, a star of the high school varsity for two years, have been coaching the frosh. The thirty candidates for the squad, most of whom had never played in a game before, were in line shape. Coach Porter allowed each boy to participate in the game.

Mr. Kelly, the coach of Kinston brought fifteen boys to Greenville. They were about the same size as those of Greenville.

The game started with Greenville kicking. The Kinston lad missed the ball and Greenville took the ball across the line for the first touchdown. Hamilton went around the end for the extra point. The first touchdown was in the first two minutes of the game. Greenville kicked off again and held the Kinston Frosh tight for the downs. The ball went over and Greenville kicked off. This time the Kinston boys took the ball down to their 20-yard line, and there Greenville got it. The center made a bad throw and Gaston missed the ball. It bounded across the Kinston goal line for a safety. Kinston's only score.

In the second period the Greenville Midgets scored another seven points. When the third period came, Jack Forbes was placed in. Greenville kicked off again and the Kinston boys tried to pass, which Forbes intercepted and raced 65 yards for a touchdown. Again Hamilton took the ball over for the extra points. Jack Forbes again took the pigskin for a gain of twenty-five yards and a touchdown. The extra point was made by Hamilton.

Nathan Bullock and Mack Tripp did some good tackling. Pete Brewer carried the ball for the Midgets most of the time, and L. G. Hamilton carried it across for extra points.

On Thursday, November 12, the Greenville frosh team will go to Kinston for a return game.

REV. G. W. GASQUE SPEAKS TO GREENVILLE HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

On Tuesday morning Rev. G. W. Gasque of Atlanta, Ga., accompanied by Mr. Charles B. Tillman and Rev. W. A. Lillycrop visited the Greenville High School, where Mr. Gasque gave a very helpful talk to the students on Good Behavior.

Mr. Gasque was introduced by Rev. W. A. Lillycrop of St. Paul's Episcopal church. In his speech he complimented the merit system of the Greenville High School very much, and also the behavior of the students that they make their record in high school as high as possible, for more and more the students record is being checked up when he enters college or the business world.

After Rev. Gasque's speech, Mr. Charles B. Tillman, leader of songs, gave a very interesting talk and sang several songs, one of which he composed himself.

On Friday Mr. Tillman returned to the high school and suggested that the school use his newest song book for its programs. Mr. J. H. Rose, the principal, is planning for the students to use these books if possible.

Gipsy Smith opened last Sunday night with the first two sermons being delivered by Rev. W. S. Harden, pastor of the Presbyterian church and Rev. E. L. Hillman, pastor of the Methodist church.

The service, decidedly the most inspirational of the campaign, was marked by splendid congregational singing led by Rev. W. H. Cover, pastor of the church, assisted by the regular choir.

The services will continue over a period of two weeks, according to present plans, and Mr. Smith has declared that he intends to confine himself to the presentation of old-fashioned gospel truths.

He is probably the most remarkable speaker that has appeared in the city in the history of evangelistic campaigns, and his matchless flow of language combined with his wide knowledge of the Bible and general world conditions, gives his sermons an exceptionally effective appeal, especially to those who are yearning to absorb more of the great principles upon which life is founded.

With a voice slightly hoarse from long years of speaking in behalf of the furthering of the gospel, the speaker last night drove home the greatest fundamental truth of the Bible, that it is not possible for one to enter the Kingdom of God without being born anew.

Taking his text from the seventh verse of the third chapter of St. John, in which Jesus declared "Ye must be born again," the speaker set forth the great fundamentals of regeneration.

He told of the temptation confronting Adam, his yielding, and of his becoming the son of the world instead of the son of God as created.

Temptation, he said, is the devil knocking at the door of the heart, and sin is yielding. When sin entered Adam's heart he was thrown out of contact with God. Cain, Adam's son, was not born of God, but of Adam, the flesh.

He declared that we are spiritually dead and it is impossible for us to understand and love God until His image has been restored through the incoming of Christ into the heart.

He told of the impossibility of man entering the Kingdom of Heaven without being born again. This is no theory, he asserted, but it is a truth that had its inception before the foundation of the world. Things of God are spiritually understood. He said it was not necessary to advertise "being born anew," that it was plainly evident in the lives of men and the world will know it. He paid tribute to John Wesley, Moody, Whitfield and William Booth, who did their best to spread the gospel of regeneration to the utmost corners of the earth.

He gave a graphic description of William Booth in England who later befitted the globe with the story of the new birth. He commended the work of the Salvation Army, declaring it had been loyal to the fundamental doctrine.

Christ is still the author and founder of our salvation and it was He who said we must be born again. He asserted that the doctrine needed to be preached first to the church so that its members might have complete understanding.

The church is built to serve and not to coddle, the speaker asserted, and when this fact is realized greater things will be accomplished.

Answering the question, "Can a man be born again when he is old?" Mr. Smith declared it was possible, but the chances are that he will not. The habit of constantly refusing God takes grip like some overpowering narcotic and when one constantly says no to God until he is 50, his chances of regeneration are slim.

He said there are many mysteries of life not to be understood, especially the wonderful things of nature, because creation is a part of the Holy Spirit, but that the words of Jesus as expressed through the Bible were fully understandable, and the only direct way to eternal life.

country was fallacious. "We must watch that the South does not cut its throat by reducing its cotton acreage while the rest of the world increases acreage," said Governor Gardner.

When Governor Blackwood had set forth his views, Governor Gardner suggested that the conference go into executive session and visit, and newspaper reporters were asked to leave.

"Any cotton plan that does not take into consideration the cotton growers in the foreign countries is fallacious," he said. "We must watch that the south does not cut its throat by reducing its cotton acreage while the rest of the world increases acreage."

The North Carolina governor served warning on the buyers of cotton, tobacco, peanuts and potatoes, that the production of these crops in the Carolinas, Georgia and Virginia will be drastically reduced in 1932.

Seated by Governor Gardner at the opening of the conference, which he called to consider problems peculiar to the four states, were Governor Ira C. Blackwood, of South Carolina, Richard B. Russell of Georgia, and John G. Pollard, of Virginia. Agricultural and marketing experts from the four states also were present.

Governor Gardner said the farmers would make the predicted reduction in the four major crops voluntarily because of the low prices paid for the crops this year. "We couldn't prevent it even if we formed a solemn covenant to endeavor to increase the acreage," he said.

The prosperity of this country, he asserted, is bound up with the prosperity of agriculture.

"Until agriculture is profitable," he said, "we will never have a return of prosperity to this country."

"We want to look at this question, and look at it fairly, and squarely. We must lay aside politics and partisanship, and look at the facts," he added.

Governor Gardner named cotton, tobacco, peanuts and potatoes as the principal cash crops of the four states.

Reduction of the acreage in these crops he pointed out, raises the question of what shall be planted on the land thus made available, that he said, is one of the chief problems before the conference.

The North Carolina governor declared reduction of cotton acreage in the south would not aid the southern cotton farmer permanently unless there were an international cotton acreage agreement.

GIpsy SMITH PLEADS FOR THE OUTLAWING OF WAR

The Legion were made by Charlie Martin of Ayden, post commander. The speaker of the day was presented by Professor Adams as a man who is going up and down the land preaching the gospel of love and hope.

Mr. Smith said our forefathers came to this nation in quest of peace and freedom. He recalled the various wars the nation has fought since that memorable time when the first settlers arrived, and reaching the period of the world war, gave vivid descriptions of the suffering and bloodshed that swept over the nations engaged in that deadly struggle for supremacy.

In a voice grown hoarse from long years of service in the pulpit, the speaker in a matchless flow of oratory marked by a slight British accent, gave an intimate view of the scenes of horror and unspeakable suffering resulting from the war.

No church but the Roman Catholic through the Pope, lifted its voice in protest against the war. He declared, Christ came to this world to preach peace—not war, and the churches owe it to the world to use their influence against deadly conflict.

He quoted a poem "America First," setting forth the ideals of the nation, and hurled a challenge to the Legionnaires that they lead the world to end war and the bloody sacrifice resulting from it.

No organization, he asserted, could have a higher ambition, a greater objective, than attempting to outlaw war and to make civilization free from such awful consequences.

He expressed hope that he might one day have the opportunity of pronouncing a benediction on America and England as they engage in a great program for peace and against war, "Whom God hath joined together, let no man put asunder," he concluded in an imaginary blessing to such a pact.

GRID TILES ARE AT STAKE DURING WEEK

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 12—(AP)—Southern football fans have a week-end of pretty strenuous shouting before them for it is one that should see a definite clarification of the title situation.

Tulane and Georgia will risk their claims to the southern laurels and the mythical national crown all in one heap at Athens, Ga., Saturday while their competitor, Tennessee, faces a similar crisis in its 1931 career in a battle with Vanderbilt at Knoxville, Tenn.

Neither Coach Harry Mehre of Georgia nor Coach Berns Bierman of Tulane is devoting much time to optimistic conversation.

Coach Mehre says his team appears "flat" but that "we're planning to hold down the score to less than the 25 to 0 lacing they gave us last year." His players are in good condition and that is all the good news he knows.

Coach Bierman, on the other hand, was not satisfied with the Green Wave's performance against Auburn Saturday despite the 27 to 0 victory Tulane achieved. The team played indifferently, he says, and he has outlined a merciless schedule of practice for this week.

The Green Wave was put through a drill of punting, passing and general calisthenics yesterday and scrimmage was planned today and tomorrow. Thirty-six players will leave New Orleans Thursday for Athens. Two special train loads of fans will follow them Friday along with a legion of motor, airplane and hitch-hiking followers. The university band also will attend.

The Georgia Bulldogs likewise had a light workout yesterday. Coach Mehre said he planned a similar program for the rest of the week with the exception of the scrimmage tomorrow or Thursday. Coach Mehre says his team is "nearly exhausted" from a hard schedule that came to a climax with a 7 to 6 victory over New York university Saturday.

Most of the southern teams had a day of rest yesterday but Vanderbilt is put through its paces by Coach Dan McGugin who is wasting no time that can be utilized in preparation for the Tennessee battle. Tennessee went through a signal drill and was scheduled to get a look at Vanderbilt formations today.

Sewanee starts practice today for its clash with Auburn this week-end. North Carolina is studying blocking and defense against passing in preparation for Davidson. Duke received with gloom news Bert Friedman, star guard injured in the Kentucky game, may not be able to play against North Carolina State this week-end.

South Carolina expected Captain Miles Blount injured in an automobile accident Sunday, back in practice today for the Florida game preparations. Florida was in a battered condition after its 41 to 0 drubbing by Alabama.

SCENE OF NEW CHINESE TROUBLE

American troops stood ready to act at Tientsin, China, after rioting on the outskirts of Japanese concession. The riots followed an unsuccessful attempt on the life of Hsuan Tung (right), China's former boy emperor.

case has only 15 men considered of vanity calibre, with not a single candidate among them for All-America honors, whether the experts like it or not. These 15 are out to establish themselves as another team of "iron men."

Forcoming engagements with Michigan State College and Columbia will determine whether these rugged Syracuse boys can "take it" over the season's stretch the way Brown's famous "Iron men" did about five years ago.

TWO CONTESTS IN LIMELIGHT IN THE SOUTH

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 12—(AP)—Intra-conference football again takes the bow in the south this week-end.

Nine Southern Conference games, topped by the all-important Georgia-Tulane and Tennessee-Vanderbilt clashes, are included in Saturday's gridiron program.

Principal attention is focused on how Georgia, Tulane and Tennessee fare, since they are risking their title hopes, but the other conference battles are drawing a large amount of sectional interest.

Alabama, just a step behind the three unbeaten conference leaders, meets Clemson at Montgomery with the odds favoring the Crimson Tide. Auburn and Sewanee, formidable opponents, meet at Birmingham. Auburn has the edge.

Florida, hampered by injuries, will face South Carolina in a toss-up match at Tampa. Kentucky is to battle with V. M. I. at Lexington, Va.; Louisiana State will engage Mississippi at Jackson, Miss.

The other two conference matches are state affairs. Virginia plays V. P. I. at Charlottesville and Duke clashes with N. C. State at Durham. Maryland will be idle.

North Carolina has a state game with Davidson at Chapel Hill and Mississippi A. and M. plays Southwestern at Starkville, Miss.

Georgia Tech and Washington and Lee are the only southern teams which plan northern invasions. The Yellow Jackets meet Pennsylvania at Philadelphia and the Generals play Princeton at Princeton, N. J.

The outstanding S. I. A. A. games are Chattanooga and Mercer at Chattanooga, Centre and Transylvania, and Louisiana Tech and Mississippi College.

Principal interest centered in the tilt between North Carolina and Davidson, with Tar Heel followers admitting, according to Chapel Hill dispatches, that anything may happen, now that the trainers have found that June Underwood, brilliant quarterback, will be kept out of the lineup by injuries received in the Georgia Tech game.

In the meantime, over at the Wildcat training camp every effort was being put forth to muster a bag of tricks which would accomplish the least hope of the Wildcats—a win over the Chapel Hill aggregation.

Duke and N. C. State were to work lightly today after observing Armistice day yesterday—but there won't be any armistice Saturday. Both have been working on new attacks and studying each other's offense to develop defense.

Clipper Smith, in his team's light workout tried some new backfield combinations to use against the Wade defensive system.

Yesterday saw a considerable outlay of minor league ball.

The Davidson Wild-Kittens used a pass, a dash by Wingfield and an Oak Ridge fumble to defeat the Cadets 18 to 6 at Greensboro.

The fresh of N. C. State and Wake Forest battled to a scoreless tie. The young technicians showed a powerful offensive in midfield, but could not pierce the Deacon forward wall when within the 12 yard line, which occurred five times. An intercepted pass halted the only chance the Baby Deacons had to score.

Tar Heel followers were hoping today that Duke's varsity and freshmen did not represent the same ratio as North Carolina's freshmen and varsity. The young Devils didn't exactly run roughshod over the yearlings which have given Coach Collins' regulars so much trouble at various times this season, but they were able to score twice at Chapel Hill while the Tar Babies were held to midfield except in the last few minutes, when the Carolina frosh threatened twice but couldn't make the grade.

At Bristol, Va., Catawba invaded the King College stronghold and came home today with the long end of a 16-0 count. Catawba scored in the first and second, and was outplayed in the third, but came back in the final period to score again. Robinson taking a pass from Witmer to run 41 yards for the score and the final thrill of the game. The first score was a field

SPORTS SLANTS

"Gene McEver" advises Dillon Graham, our Southern observer, "is better this year than ever. He is cracking the lines just as sensationally as he did two years ago, before his injury, and he has now developed into a fine passer. He is aided by one of Bob Neyland's finest Tennessee lines."

There doesn't seem to be much doubt about McEver and Tennessee this fall. The Volunteers of Knoxville have been around the top under Neyland's coaching for as long a spell as any outfit in the country, and that includes Notre Dame.

Over the past six years, Tennessee has a record of 48 victories, only four defeats and four ties for a winning percentage of .923. This includes the seasons of 1925-30.

For the same stretch Notre Dame shows a record of 47 triumphs, eight defeats and two deadlocks, for a winning percentage of .855.

Utah's close to these two. So are Southern California and Pittsburgh but there isn't a major team anywhere in the country that can show a better record than Tennessee's.

The first defeat for Tennessee in four years came last season at the hands of Wallace Wade's last Alabama juggernaut, a team that went on to beat Washington State in the classic Rice Bowl contest at Pasadena.

The Vols, with McEver back at the post he occupied in the unbeaten seasons of 1928-29, obtained ample revenge when they bowled over Alabama this fall, 25 to 6.

It will be a great record if McEver can help Tennessee fill out another unbeaten campaign this year and remove his varsity cleats with the distinction of never having played on a losing team.

Syracuse "Iron Men" Syracuse university's "starless" team, coached by Vic Hanson, the former All-American end, may turn out to be one of the very best in the west.

Until the intersectional game with Florida there was not much disposition to turn the spotlight on the Orange, but the 33-12 slaughter of the strong southern outfit, emphasized the power Hanson's array has developed.

The unusual feature is that Syra-

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 3 to 5 points on trade buying and a good demand from commission houses. January sold up to 6.69.

Offerings from the south were comparatively light. The buying may have been promoted by the relatively steady showing of Liverpool and prices held steady during the early trading with December advancing to 6.62 and March to 6.88 or about 7 to 10 points net higher by the end of the first half hour. Brokers supposed to be acting for the cooperative interests were sellers again this morning but otherwise there seemed to be very little pressure against the market.

Liverpool cables reported covering and some buying on firmness in Alexandria and said the demand for cotton cloth was sustained. Egyptian futures in Liverpool were 5 to 12 points higher and the quotation for Indian cotton in the Liverpool spot market was 6 points higher.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Agitated selling out on the part of traders who were eleventh hour buyers during whirlwind declines of late, pitched grain prices to lower levels today. Wheat went to 7 cents under its recent high point, and rye dropped off 8 cents. Fresh speculation purchasing, however, broadened on the declines, owing largely to persistent drought reports from western half of Kansas.

STOCK MARKET

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER, (Associated Press Financial Editor) The stock market eased after an upturn in the first hour, but showed signs of stiffening again after midday. Unofficial reports of some progress toward a Franco-German agreement as to the method of procedure in seeking a new basis for reparations was wisely hailed as distinctly encouraging, and European government bonds generally pushed upward.

In the main, the movement in stock prices was narrow and irregular. An early upturn in rails was not held. Union Pacific advanced for a time, but encountered profit-taking after announcement of the regular $2.50 quarterly dividend. Radio and Radio-Keith were again heavy, declining about a point, the latter to a new low. General Electric, chief stockholder in Radio. Steel gained more than a point early, yielded most of their gains and again pointed up. Air Reduction and Eastman rose nearly 3, then backed up. Firm specialties were U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Lambert, International Silver and McKeesport, up 1 or more.

Fresh strength in bar silver was an encouraging aspect of the commodity markets. After dropping 1 7/8 cents in New York yesterday, bullion recovered 7/8 of a cent today, selling at 36 1/4 cents ounce. Despite heavy unloading of wheat, commission houses were active buyers on the decline.

The selling in Radio and Radio-Keith was generally attributed to the unsatisfactory situation in Radio-Keith, as shown in the proposal for a reorganization and the issue of nearly $12,000,000 in debentures. On the other hand, it was pointed out that both radio and its subsidiary are entering their active season, and that radio's recent earnings statement showed considerable improvement over a year ago. A statement by Attorney General Mitchell that he had little hope of reaching an out-of-court settlement of the anti-trust suit against Radio may have accelerated the selling although news that conferences are still going forward was favorably regarded in some quarters.
