Vice-President Curtis Says He Will Not Run For Senate Next Year

WILL ACCEPT HIS OLD JOB TWO VESSELS CRASH IN FOG

Declares if Republican National Convention Renominates Him for Vice-President He Will Take it; No Campaign for Re-nomination Contemplated; Little Doubt That Kansas Will Again Get Post if President Hoover Receives the Nomination Again

Nobody Injured as Steamer and Schooner Ida Dow Collide on N. C. Coast

A. C. L. OFFICIAL PASSES AWAY

Henry Walters, Chairman of Railway Board, Dies After Brief Illness in N. Y.

Washington, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Vice President Curtis announced today he would not run for the senate and would accept re-nomination as vice president if tendered the office next year.

His statement follows: "There has been presented for my decision the question whether I shall be a candidate for United States Senator from Kansas in 1932, and if not, whether I shall accept another nomination for vice-president in the event of its being tendered to me.

"Many reasons have been assigned by my friends, to support either course I pursue.

"After careful consideration I have decided not to be a candidate for the United States Senate from Kansas in 1932; and further, that if the next Republican National convention nominates me for vice-president, I shall accept."

While Mr. Curtis made no mention of President Hoover in his statement, his offer to accept again the vice presidency cast his lot with the present, in the opinion of political leaders.

No campaign for renomination is contemplated by Mr. Curtis, but his statement puts him far in the front in the deliberations of the Republicans over the vice presidency.

Mr. Curtis reached his decision after months of consideration. Recent talks with administration leaders were believed at the capitol to have determined him finally.

While no statement is expected from Mr. Hoover, there is little apparent doubt in Washington that Curtis will be re-nominated—should Mr. Hoover get the nomination again.

Mr. Curtis made public his announcement this morning shortly after his return from Chicago. The typewritten statement was handed out by Miss Lois Williams, long his secretary.

When newspapermen asked Mr. Curtis if he had anything to add to his brief announcement, he smilingly recalled President Coolidge's "I do not choose to run" statement in 1927.

"I said to Mr. Coolidge on that occasion," he remarked, "that I thought he should make his statement more definite.

"He replied that he had nothing to add to it or nothing to take from it. I say the same now."

Asked whether he had conferred with the president before making his decision, he was non-committal.

In response to a question as to whether his decision indicated optimism over Republican prospects for 1932 he said "read my Chicago speech of Saturday night and you will see that I am optimistic, not pessimistic."

Curtis is the only man of Indian ancestry ever to become vice-president.

In his early life he lived for a time on the Kaw Indian Reservation in Kansas. His mother died when he was a baby and he was raised by his Indian grandmother, Julie Popplin, daughter of White Plume, a chief of the Kaws.

His grandmother persuaded him to return to his white relatives and become one of them because the Indians could not offer him opportunities for success.

For several years Curtis rode as a jockey on several western tracks. Then he studied law and in 1884 was elected Shawnee county attorney.

At 33 he came to Washington as a representative from Kansas. He served until he entered the Senate in 1907.

When he rose to the vice-presidency he was Republican Senate leader and previously had served as president pro tem.

New York, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Henry Walters, chairman of the board of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway, died here today.

He was 63. His home was in Baltimore and he was one of the pioneer figures in the railroad industry. Death, it was said, followed a brief illness. He had been in New York on business.

Walters' father was one of the original organizers of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway system.

Henry Walters began his railroad service in the engineering corps of the Valley Railroad in Virginia. He had studied previously at Georgetown University, the Lawrence Scientific school, and in Paris.

After a brief period with the Valley Railroad, Walters joined the operating superintendent's office of the Pittsburgh and Connellsville railroad. Then he went to work for the Atlantic Coast Line.

He became general manager of the line and expanded the system by merging it with the plant system of Florida and by purchasing control of the Louisville and Nashville system.

Walters came to be the largest stockholder in the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and chairman of its board of directors as well as that of the Louisville and Nashville system.

During the World War, he served on the staff of the United States General of Railroads as a representative of the railroad interests.

Walters was noted as a next-to-none art collector and as a yachtsman. He owned the yacht Narada and was a member of the syndicate organized to build the American cup defender.

Walters' death was the largest stockholder in the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and chairman of its board of directors as well as that of the Louisville and Nashville system.

San Francisco, Nov. 30.—(AP)—A severe cold which for a time seemed about to place in jeopardy James J. Walker's mission to California to plead for a pardon for Tom Money, appeared under control today. Unless an unexpected turn for the worse comes, the threat of influenza seems past.

The New York mayor spent a very restless Saturday, an increasing concession making sleep almost out of the question. He slept much better last night.

Walker arrived in California last Tuesday feeling none too fit. A cold, starting with little indication that it would come more than mild discomfort, grew much worse Sunday.

At an age when many statesmen are just beginning to show promise, Major General Han-on E. Ely, Major General Fred W. Slade and Rear Admiral Thomas Pickett Magruder, are being retired. They are 64, and neither soldier nor sailor can stay on the active list after that.

Golf is the chosen career of the two soldiers from now on. The admiral hasn't said, but will stick around New Orleans. He might perhaps, do more writing about the navy. When he did it before, in 1927, he won more note than in all his previous distinguished career, but also brought down official displeasure. He will have more freedom now.

General Ely, leaving his command at Governor's Island, New York, will come here to live. His home is in Iowa. General Slade, originally from Nebraska, is going to do his golfing down south for a time.

Miss Beatrice Fuller, whom the youths were driving home, escaped unhurt. The car was wrecked.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—(AP)—North Carolina's corn growers, swept the field in the utility class while N. C. State College's crop-judging team won first honors in the international livestock show underway here today.

The victory in crop-judging, the third victory for the N. C. State team, gave permanent possession of the stockyard's trophy.

Members of China Grove were awarded first place in the utility corn class with S. W. Patterson, second; R. L. Patterson, China Grove, third and J. F. Cress, Salisbury, fourth.

N. C. State's winning team was composed of C. C. Murray and H. M. of Oakboro, Stanley county, and J. M. Parks, of Jennings, with J. J. Zimmerman of Lexington as alternate.

Hunger Marchers Push Toward Capital City

Washington, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Unflinching but watchful, the secret service headquarters here today kept tabs on the advancing caravans of "hunger marchers," bound for Washington from points east, north and west.

When they get here, says W. H. Moran, chief of the service, they will be handled "in a manner satisfactory to all concerned."

WILLIAMS TO GANDHI SEES HELL AHEAD

London, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi, desiring of the independence for India he came here to seek at the round table conference, today prepared to sail for home Saturday to what he predicted is going to be hell, and probably more jail for him.

"There is going to be hell," the little man said yesterday as he plodded through slushy streets on his regular early morning walk at 4 A. M., looking even more ghost-like in the raw, cold fog. "I leave Saturday for Bombay. There we shall take up again our weaponless battle against England."

"Yes," he said, in answer to a question, "I expect to be a guest of the government again in jail—or they might deport me, but the fight will go on."

He plodded along, his head bowed, his shoulders drooped and his homespun shawl pulled tightly around his scrawny body. His voice sounded spectral as it came through the thick fog to the listener at his side.

From behind him came the solicitous admonition of Mira Behn, the former Miss Madeleine Slade, his devoted disciple. "This way, Baboo (Father)." The Mahatma paused while she picked up the end of his trailing shawl and put it around his shoulders, beckoning to a turn in the road.

"We must go again through a calvary of suffering," he continued after a moment's silence. Not far away the chimes of a church rang out the hour. The swish of Gandhi's sandals echoed through the silent streets. "It seems God's will that we must take up our heavy cross and carry it to the end."

Chicago, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Another financial crisis loomed for Chicago today.

For twenty-three thousand city employees, including 10,000 policemen and firemen it was a payless payday, unless wealthy tax payers save the situation by responding to a request from Mayor Anton J. Cermak to purchase tax anticipation warrants to raise cash to tide the city over.

Mayor Cermak called many of the city's tax payers into conference with the hope of raising the money to tide the city over. The money is the latest financial pinch which is one of many that have developed from time to time because of a tax muddle. Should the conference fail, thirteen thousand employees of the election board, municipal tuberculosis sanitarium and other city departments will be affected as well as the 10,000 policemen and firemen.

The city's school teachers have also been hard hit by the lack of ready cash. Approximately 18,000 teachers and other board of education employes have received but one month's pay in cash since last spring, and some of them are reported to be in actual want.

DR. R. H. WRIGHT GIVEN BASKET

Dr. R. H. Wright, president of East Carolina Teachers college, was presented a basket of food at the opening of the new curb market in the annex of the old Model School building, on Coanah street, last Saturday.

The basket was an appreciation of the services which Dr. Wright had rendered the market by permitting it to use the school building, abandoned for school purposes this year, as headquarters.

A basket, liberally loaded with spareribs, backbone, sausage, chicken, cats and other items of food, was presented to Dr. Wright by members of the market immediately after the new home was thrown open to the public Saturday morning.

Dr. Wright expressed appreciation of the gift today to E. F. Arnold, director of the Pitt County Department of Agriculture, and one of the curb market leaders. He said he had never seen so many good things in all his life, and thoroughly enjoyed them.

The market, through the generosity of Dr. Wright, has one of the best quarters of any other organization of its kind in this part of the state, and has been provided with sufficient funds to enable it to handle the largest offering of the farms with greater ease and facility than ever before.

Mr. Arnold expressed appreciation of the many courtesies shown by the public in the market development, and was highly elated over the fine showing Saturday morning, in spite of the inclement weather, which probably reduced the crowd attending the opening.

Expansion of the market during the few years of service has been a matter of pride to its hundreds of patrons throughout the community, and the acquisition of the new quarters was greeted with interest by both patrons and producers alike.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Judge A. M. Stack this morning said he would begin his "court of inquiry and preliminary investigation" into charges of Buncombe County court corruption this afternoon.

He requested that Wickes Wamboldt, blind city councilman and newspaper columnist, who has charged that "judges and juries are being bought and sold like sacks of corn," appear before him to offer evidence Wamboldt says he has.

Judge Stack appointed three attorneys to assist in the investigation. They are Thomas J. Harkins, former district attorney; A. S. Bernard and A. C. Avery.

Bench warrants will be issued for any persons who can shed light on the charges, Judge Stack said today. "If there are guilty parties," he said, "they should be punished. If there is nothing to substantiate the charges the public should know this. This is a grave matter."

DENIAL MADE BY CHINAMAN

Prospect for Direct Negotiations Between China and Japan Carries Hopes for Peace to Tokyo; Japanese Charge d'Affairs to Visit the Chinese Foreign Minister; Japan Revokes Criticism of Stimson; Washington More Hopeful for Ending of War

Peiping, China, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, deposed governor of Manchuria, issued a statement tonight denying he had reached an agreement with Japanese charge d'affairs, Yano, providing for a neutral zone along the Peiping-Mukden railroad.

"In view of the misrepresentation concerning the interview Mr. Yano sought with me Saturday night it is necessary definitely to clarify the situation," he said. "Mr. Yano informally asked my opinion regarding a proposed neutral zone along the Peiping-Mukden railroad. It is entirely contrary to fact to say there was any negotiation or any agreement signed or even any understanding arrived at."

Tokyo, Nov. 30.—(AP)—A prospect for direct negotiations between China and Japan brought hopes for a Manchurian peace to Tokyo today.

The first basis for the new hope was in an announcement that Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese charge d'affairs in China will visit Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese foreign minister, to discuss the creation of a neutral zone in the territory.

This discussion, it was hoped, might lead to the opening of direct negotiations between the two countries over the whole Manchurian problem. Official circles expressed themselves as optimistic that the general situation would show marked improvement before long, notwithstanding evidence of an apparently grave situation at Tientsin.

Calam was restored over the foreign office today, following Saturday's criticism of statements misinterpreted as having been made by Secretary of State Stimson at Washington.

The foreign office last night revoked its criticism and said the situation had been entirely clarified.

"Mr. Stimson assures that he did not make any such statement as I gathered from press dispatches," said a spokesman for the foreign office, which had charged Colonel Stimson with "losing his head" and flying into fumes.

"Therefore I consider my impulsive expression at that time entirely uncalculated," the spokesman said. "I desire to say that any part of my statement which was not proper is hereby revoked. The assurance given by Mr. Stimson to Ambassador DeBucht at Washington clarifies the situation entirely to our satisfaction."

American Ambassador W. Cameron Forbes called on Foreign Minister Shidehara and had an amicable talk with him concerning the misunderstanding.

Yuechi Iwanaga, Sha, today cabled the Associated Press that the Rengo News Agency "assumes full responsibility" for the publication of the dispatch concerning Secretary of State Stimson's remarks on the Manchurian situation Friday.

This was the dispatch from which the Japanese foreign office attributed to Secretary Stimson certain statements which, he said he did not make. The foreign office severely criticized the American Secretary of State, but upon the receipt of his explanation withdrew its criticism.

"At the same time," Managing Director Iwanaga said in his cablegram, "Rengo is giving full publicity to Secretary Stimson's explanation."

"Viewed broadly, Mr. Stimson's remarks Friday and the subsequent developments will have a tendency to help mutual understanding concerning the situation as a whole."

MILK THIEVES JAILED HERE

Two Negro Youths Dealt With by Juvenile Court for Stealing Milk

Two negro youths started out yesterday morning to take all the milk they could find on people's porches, and while accomplishing their purpose for a time, they were soon landed behind jail bars after a spirited chase by the police.

John Moore, 12, and Elijah Small 14, appeared before Judge Frank Harrington in juvenile court this morning to answer to the charge of milk stealing, and were turned over to the welfare officer to be placed at a more gainful occupation.

Residents on Eighth and Ninth street awoke yesterday morning to find they didn't have any milk. Hurried calls were sent to the dairies where it was learned that the truck had made all morning deliveries at the usual time.

In the meantime, two officers, John Mobley and L. B. Tucker saw two boys hurrying along the street in the business section with bundles under their arms. Of an inquisitive nature, especially concerning people with bundles on Sunday morning, the sleuths hailed the boys.

Instead of stopping with fear written all over their faces, the youths scattered behind buildings on the lower end of Dickinson avenue. The officers, each distinguished for his sprinting ability, within a few minutes had the boys in custody. (Continued on Page Three)

Sunset Pass

By ZANE GREY

SYNOPSIS: Waggoner, the scene of several bad romances, seems both an attraction and a hindrance to Trueman Rock. He has returned, after six years, a doctor to find the sheriff looking for him. But the sheriff has been killed, and it is rumored that Ash Preston did the shooting. Ash, who has a bad reputation, is the son of Gamble Preston. The older Preston heads an outfit that is now since Rock's time and is making money by large scale cattle butchering. Rock is a friend, Sol Winter, who tells him the local gossip; Winter's son has been killed, the girls Rock used to know are married or gone away. Amy Wand has made an unhappy marriage and Winter thinks she is interested in Rock. Winter leaves Rock temporarily in charge of his store, and a girl comes in. Rock likes her appearance and tells her he is the clerk.

Katharine C. Kramer, 19, of Washington was awarded the title of "Ideal Secretary" by the Alpha Iota sorority, national business women's organization, at its Des Moines, Iowa, convention.

Chapter 3
SPILLED RICE

"Now, shall I read the list off one at a time or altogether?" the girl asked.

"Well, miss, it really doesn't make any difference," replied Trueman, vaguely, raising at her lips. They were sweet and red, and just now curved into a little questioning smile. But as he watched, it faded and then they seemed sad. Indeed her whole face seemed and particularly the deep gray eyes that had begun to regard him somewhat doubtfully.

"Very well—the groceries first," she said, consulting her list. "Five of sugar, five of rice, five—"

"Five what?" interrupted Trueman, with slowness, moving toward the grocery department. Everything was in plain sight. It ought to be easy, if he could keep his eyes off her.

"Five what?" she echoed, in surprise, raising her head. "Did you think I meant barrels? Five pounds."

"That's what I thought," replied Trueman hastily. "But some people buy this stuff in bulk. I used to."

"Oh, you were not always a clerk, then?" she inquired, following him.

"Oh no! I've been a lot of things."

She looked as if she believed him. Rock began to grasp that he was bungling the greatest opportunity of his life. He found the sugar and had almost filled the large sack when she checked him: "Not brown sugar. White, please."

There was something in her tone that made Rock wonder if she were laughing at him. It stirred him to dexterity rather than clumsiness. He filled a large paper bag with white sugar, then turned to her, essaying a smile.

"But you didn't weigh it," she said.

"I never weigh out small amounts," he returned blandly. "I can guess very accurately."

"What next? Oh, the rice."

"Can you guess the weight of rice too?" she inquired.

"Sure can. Even better. It's not near so heavy as sugar." And he filled a larger bag. In attempting to pass this to her he accidentally touched her bare hand with his. The soft contact shot a thrilling current through him. He dropped the bag. It burst, and the rice poured all over her, and like a white stream to the floor.

"There—you've done it," she said, agast.

"Excuse me, miss, I'm sure awfully sorry. But rice is lucky. That might be a good omen. I'm superstitious," went on Trueman, winking toward the confidential.

"Well, young man—" she interrupted, almost severely. But his gaze circled her.

"You never can tell," he said. "Spilled rice might mean a wedding."

She blushed, but spoke up with spirit. "It couldn't, so far as I'm concerned," she said. "Of course I don't know your affairs—but you are wasting my time."

Rock humbly apologized and proceeded to fill another bag with rice. Then he went on with the order, and for several moments, in which he kept his eyes averted, he performed very well as a clerk. He certainly proved that Sol Winter's girl got some back bone. Who was she? My head ached in his life, but what a girl. She could not be married. Too young and—she did not know what he thought that she might be made his heart sink like lead lead. He stole a glance at her left hand. Ringless!

She asked to see some calico. Rock replied the only lot of this commodity on the shelves and drew it down.

"Calico! Gosh that reminds me," he said with such enthusiasm that she had to attend. "Once in Colorado I rode into a town. Gosh, it was a Saturday, Big day. All the outfits were in. Everybody for miles around. Horses, wagons, buckboards on the streets. I bought a bolt of red calico, tied one end to theommel of my saddle and left the bell in on the ground. Then I rode up and down. In about ten minutes that street was a roaring millinery."

"Please cut me ten yards of this," she said, with steady eyes of disfavor upon him.

Trueman made a mess of the job, to his secret chagrin and her despair. Then she asked for a certain kind of dress goods.

"How much of this?" asked Rock, stripping off yards of the material.

"Five. And I want it cut on the bias," she returned.

"On the bias," he echoed. "Oh, sure." And he went at the task desperately, realizing full well that he could not stand this deception much longer. But he had not progressed very far when she interrupted: "You're measuring too much. I said yards—not miles."

Trueman vowed he would finish as he had begun. He went on.

"You can't guess on dress goods like that," she protested.

"Miss, this is five yards, roughly," he rejoined, beginning to cut.

"Stop. You'll ruin it. That's not the way I want it cut," she cried.

"You said on something or other."

"Excuse me, Mr. Clerk," she returned, manifestly at the end of her patience. She brushed him aside and taking up the shears began carefully to cut the material to suit herself.

"I'm sorry," spoke up Rock, completely. "I'm not usually so dumb. But you see I never before waited on such a girl as you."

She shot him a gray glance not wholly doubtful or unforgiving. And meeting his eyes ceased her to look down again with a tinge of color staining her cheeks.

"I'm not a clerk. Good Heavens! If the gangs I've ridden with would drop in here to see me—do! this. Water!—My name is Trueman Rock. I'm an old friend of Sol Winter's."

"Trueman Rock?" she repeated, almost with a start, as she swiftly lifted his questioning, surprised eyes. That name was not unfamiliar to her, but Rock could not tell whether she attached good or bad to it.

PRIMITIVE BAPTISTS HOLD SUCCESSFUL UNION MEETING

Farmville, Nov. 28.—Despite the inclement weather, a cold, dense mist making of Saturday and Sunday exceedingly grey and dreary days, nearly 400 Primitive Baptist delegates and visitors, were in attendance at the union meeting held at Damascus Church here, which had not been held at such an occasion in 16 years.

The church, which was dedicated some months ago is constructed of red brick, the exterior being ornate yet not pretentious, and is furnished with the simplicity required by the laws of this religious body, which views the use of musical instruments with some disapproval.

The union began on Saturday morning with five preachers present, the introductory sermon being delivered by Elder J. E. Mewborn at 11:00, with the text, "Judgments must begin at the house of God." Elder W. E. Gaines of Williamson also spoke prior to the business session.

There were seven preachers present on Sunday morning when Elder Gaines opened the meeting, the first speaker being S. B. Zenny, pastor of the Wilson church, who preached a strong sermon, taking as his subject "The Repentant Thief." Elder J. B. Roberts of Greenville, pastor of the local church, also spoke in the morning on the text, "Do yourself no harm, we are all here." Dinner was served in Hobcock's warehouse at the noon hour.

The meeting was reconvened at 2:30, a session of songs preceding the sermon by Rev. Keeney of Wayne county, who dwelt on the sovereignty of God. The union said by many to have been one of the best held in recent years, closed with communion services.

HUNGER MARCHERS PUSH TOWARDS CAPITAL CITY

Just what the reception of the marchers here will be has not been made clear. Demands for food and lodging are not expected to meet with official recognition, at least, while the attitude of authorities toward parading has been shown in the arrest of a bunch of pickets at the White House last week. These are still in jail, will be tried tomorrow.

Although not directly connected with the hunger march, an appeal was issued today by E. C. Babcock, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans, urging ex-soldiers not to join in any pilgrimages here after cash on their service certificates. It doesn't help, said Babcock, and only strains the charity funds of veterans groups who have to send the men home again.

MILK THIEVES JAILED HERE

(Continued from Page One) today, and discovered that the bundles contained bottles of milk—five in all. A confession was wrung from the prisoners and before the milkman had time to go around and again supply his customers the policemen, accompanied by two very frightened negro boys, had visited the various houses and restored the milk.

The youths were taken to the city jail to await hearing before Judge Harrington this morning. Small told the court he had neither mother nor father, both having abandoned him and fled to some unknown community. He said he lived with Moore's mother.

TWO VESSELS CRASH IN FOG

No one was injured in the crash, Coast Guard officials were informed. The Carabasset reported by radio that the schooner was damaged about her bow, and that her life boat was carried away. The steamer was great that the schooner was leaking badly.

The Roman Franch received a hole in her number one hold, the bow also being received on the starboard side about six feet above the water line. The schooner and steamer crashed almost head on in the fog off Currituck during the early morning.

CHAIN STORE TAX UPHELD

This case brought a dissenting opinion from Justice Holmes in which, as in so many previous cases, Justices Brandeis and Stone concurred.

The appeal of the packer corporation to test the validity of the Utah law prohibiting the advertising of cigarettes, cigars and tobacco on billboards in the state, was entertained.

At the same time the government was granted a review of a lower court order that books and papers seized by federal prohibition agents in a raid at Room 604 1547 Broadway, New York, be returned.

Daniel M. Leikowitz and Pauline Paris were arrested in the raid and charged with prohibition violations. Solicitor General Thacher, in asking a review, said the case was of prime importance to prohibition enforcement in determining what seizure of evidence could lawfully be made.

COURT BEGINS PROBE TODAY

Wambold's latest statement followed an earlier charge that judges and juries were being bought and sold "like sacks of corn."

At that time Judge Stack called on Wambold for detailed charges, but the city councilman was unable to furnish them. A grand jury inquiry followed with it reporting it found no evidence any court officer had intentionally violated any law.

The jury in the same report recommended indictment of John Mitchell, former chief state bank examiner, and the members of the State Corporation Commission, formerly supervisor of the operation of state banks, for alleged failure to close insolvent banks.

Later Mitchell and the Corporation Commission members were indicted. A mass meeting recently addressed by Wambold passed a resolution demanding that Solicitor Zeb V. Nettles resign, and charging he had been remiss in his duties.

SMITH WINS REPUBLICAN SPEAKERSHIP NOMINATION

Representative French of Idaho, placed Tilson's name in the nomination. It was the first presented.

ABOUT TOWN

The tobacco market re-opened today after celebration of the Thanksgiving holidays.

When sales were suspended Wednesday the market had passed the fifty-four million pound mark to continue the lead over all other markets of the bright leaf belt.

The record is one that has produced considerable elation among people in every branch of industry, and bespeaks great things for the future.

Greenville tobaccoists have had their eyes set on this goal for many years and now they have reached it their entire attention will be devoted to holding it.

Through fair treatment of their customers warehousemen have created an exceptionally fine reputation for the market and this has been instrumental in drawing people from territories never before selling tobacco here.

Because growers were slow selling their crop the first of the season sales are expected to be fairly heavy from now until Christmas.

The campaign of the State Highway Commission to reduce highway accidents through education of the public to the various causes is receiving widespread attention at this time.

"What duty does the law impose upon a motorist driving at night when the vision of the driver is obscured by rain, fog, or mist, and the pavement is wet and slippery?"

The judge then comments: "The standard of duty announced is broad, severe, and unbending, but it appears to be a just one, particularly in view of the appalling destruction of life and limb by motor driven vehicles upon the highways of the State."

Wishing to do their part toward relief of the poor during the winter months, members of the Kiwanis club last Friday night contributed considerable food to the Welfare Department to be used in the charity campaign.

This is a very commendable effort on the part of the club and should be followed by other organizations interested in the movement to provide food for the indigent population suffering from hunger and cold.

The situation in each section of the country is more severe this year than it has been before, and unless the people able to do so contribute their bit suffering will be indescribable, especially in the rural sections, hard hit by the depression.

Although the annual campaign to beautify Greenville during the holiday season has not been started, it is expected to get under way in the near future.

Home owners and merchants will be called upon to light up their buildings in keeping with the spirit of the year, and it is probable many Christmas trees will be also used in the decorating scheme.

Greenville for the last several years has won the recognition as the best decorated city in this section of the state and that the citizens, in spite of hard times, will attempt to maintain the honor is not to be doubted.

By the use of multi-colored lights buildings may be converted into things of beauty and aid greatly in spreading the spirit of Christmas cheer and good-will.

The time to begin considering this matter is not long off and it is hoped more people than ever will join the movement, even though not on such an extensive scale.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

FIVE CHARITY CONTESTS SET FOR SATURDAY

By W. T. PEACOCK.
Charlotte, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The North State's gridiron stars will throw up a line of defense against hunger's charge on the needy this week with their own goal a full chest for the war against suffering.

One charity football game has been reeled off and five will be played next Saturday.

Duke and North Carolina university players, combining in a Devil-Heels squad, meet a team of Demon Wolfpacks from Wake Forest, N. C. State and Davidson in the featured contest.

Tickets for the charity game, to be played in Duke's stadium, have gone on sale all over North Carolina. The American Legion is sponsoring the sale.

All the state's dignitaries will be there along with thousands of others. Governor O. Max Gardner has already bought his tickets, paying a premium price of $5 each for them.

Those who don't enthuse over football can o to the same for the music. The five bands of the institutions represented will be there.

Appalachian and Catawba, two evenly matched clubs of the North State Conference, battle at Charlotte in another charity contest. Elon and High Point will play at either Burlington or High Point while the Davidson freshmen will meet the University of North Carolina freshmen at Hickory.

Two teams of negro football stars will perform at Greensboro in another charity match.

Gulford opened the charity game season Saturday at Winston-Salem, trimming Moravian College 12 to 6 to help the poor of the Twin City.

Washington and Lee, champions of the Old Dominion, bowed for the second time to a Big Five eleven as Duke closed its regular season. Lowell Mason, romped through the Generals for 88 yards and a touchdown on the kickoff opening the second half. It was the only score of the game. Davidson earlier in the season beat the Generals by the same score, 6 to 0.

The victory gave the Blue Devils a season's record of five games won three lost and two tied, about the best of any of the Big Five teams.

North Carolina won four, lost three and tied three. Davidson won four, lost four and tied two. Wake Forest won four and lost four. N. C. State won three and lost six.

Other week-end games saw Langley Field whip High Point, 25 to 0. Campbell lost to the Naval Apprentice School 20 to 6. Oak Ridge topped Weaver 26 to 0 and the Kiski School eleven drub the University of North Carolina freshmen 41 to 6.

TULANE HAS CHANCE TO WIN NATIONAL RACE

Atlanta, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Tulane University, the only major undefeated and untitled football team in the country, and the Southern Conference champion, has only to squish Washington State Saturday to advance a substantial claim to the national title.

The Tulane Green Wave has conquered eight conference enemies, one Southwestern Conference team and one Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association outfit in record order. Texas A. and M. from the southwest, held the Wave to the closest score, Tulane winning by a scant 7-0. Louisiana State University was the last conference foe to be bowled over, losing Saturday to Tulane, 34-7.

The Washington State game finds the Wave pitted against last year's Pacific Coast champion, and a team of formidable proportions. Should the Wave roll over Washington State, there is a strong probability it will roll right on to the Rose Bowl game New Year's Day at Pasadena with Southern California.

Georgia finished its conference year Saturday with a 35 to 0 victory over its ancient foe, Georgia Tech. The Georgia Bulldogs so far this year have suffered only one defeat, at the hands of Tulane. The Bulldogs start practice Thursday for a game in Los Angeles, December 12 with Southern California.

Lowell Mason, Duke, ran 88 yards for his team's only touchdown against Washington and Lee but it was sufficient to give Duke the game, 6-0.

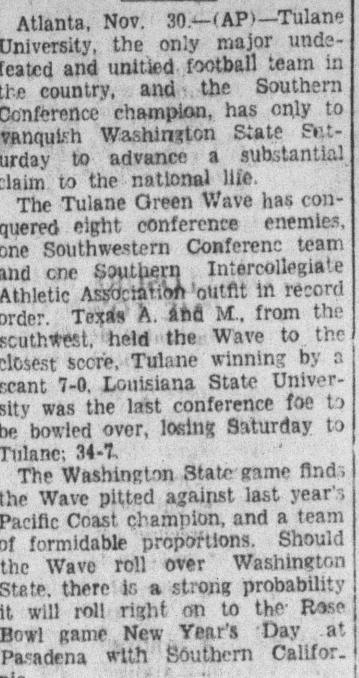

Final standings in the Southern Conference find Tennessee in second place, with six victories and one defeat; and Georgia is fourth with six loop wins and one defeat to its credit. The next seven teams in order are Maryland, Louisiana State, Kentucky, South Carolina, Auburn, Sewanee, and Duke.

Vanderbilt dropped out of the big time for the first season in many years, losing four of their major games. The years of plenty seem about to come once more to Auburn and Sewanee. These two squads each won three of their six conference games.

Florida and Kentucky play Saturday at Jacksonville, Fla., in the last conference game. Other games for Saturday include Maryland and Western Conference at Baltimore; Alabama and Chattanooga at Chattanooga; South Carolina and Centre at Columbia, S. C., and Tennessee and New York University at New York.

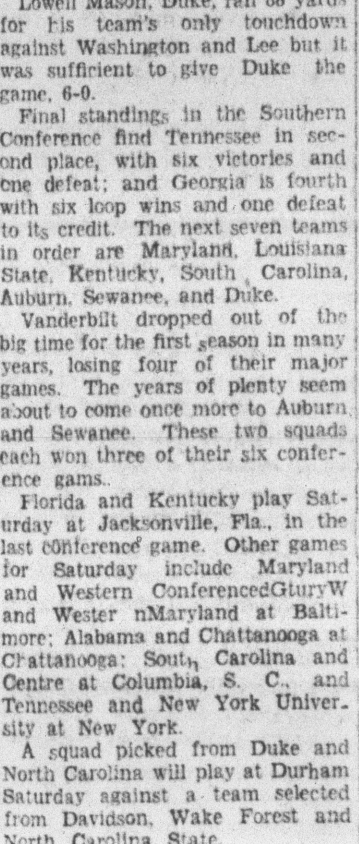

A squad picked from Duke and North Carolina will play at Durham Saturday against a team selected from Davidson, Wake Forest and North Carolina State.

Undeclared Grid Brigade Suffers Only Slight Loss

The nation's undefeated football brigade lost only one of its number during the past week but three of them suffered their first ties.

Northwestern was the team which was eliminated from the list while Tennessee, Southern Methodist and Westminster of Missouri all were tied for the first time. Kansas Wesleyan another undefeated eleven suffered its second tie.

The list of unbeaten teams as compiled by the Associated Press follows: Oklahoma City, Tulane, Maryville (Mo.), Muskogum (O.), Louisiana Tech.

Unbeaten but tied teams: Southern Methodist, Tennessee, Wittenberg (O.), Westminster (Mo.), Kansas Wesleyan, Hillsdale (Mich.), Bucknell, Baldwin Wallace (O.).

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Cotton opened barely steady today, unchanged to 6 points off on commission purchase liquidation coupled with Liverpool and local selling. January sold off to 6.07.

The offerings were comparatively light, however, and were sufficiently well taken around 6.05 for January and 6.38 for May to stiffen the market during the early trading. By the end of the first half hour January had advanced to 6.15 and May to 6.59, making the market about net unchanged to 10 points higher. Traders seemed to pay little attention to the action of Liverpool or the further decline in sterling and very little southern selling was reported during the early trading.

Liverpool cables attributed an advance in that market to covering on the lower sterling and absence of selling pressure, and said the British home trade in cotton goods was quieter with the demand for yarns poor.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Wheat scored more than 3 cents a bushel advance today in some cases, with the maximum just before the close. Unfavorable crop reports from Argentina and also from European countries, together with bullish world statistics on wheat supplies, were largely responsible. Temperatures as high as 105 were reported in Argentina, with rains extending northward into harvest regions.

Wheat closed unsettled 17-8 to 3 higher than Saturday's finish; corn 11-4 to 13-4 up; oats 5-8 to 1 advance and provisions unchanged to 12 decline.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The stock market met support today, after wavering on the edge of the bear market lows established early in October.

There were a few selling flurries during the morning, with rails, motors and motion pictures encountering monetary pressure, but the list generally stiffened after midday, and advances of 1 to 3 points appeared in prominent issues.

Leads up 1 to 2 points included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Can, Sears, Woolworth, National Biscuit, Consolidated Gas, American Telephone, Pennsylvania, New York Central, Southern Pacific and Eastman. McKeesport and Auburn rose about 3. During the morning selling, U. S. Steel touched a new low at 53. General Motors and Paramount sold off about a point.

A recovery in the wheat market helped shares. A fresh slump in the British pound sterling, which fell through its low level of September, had only a momentarily unsettling effect.

The new week in the securities markets found the speculative community in a highly unsettled frame of mind, with a considerable residue of bearishness from last week's slump. Nevertheless, the market's refusal to break through the Oct. 5 low was regarded as distinctly hopeful. While traders felt one day testing could not be regarded as conclusive, the market's resistance was at least impressive enough to prompt considerable short covering.

"I suppose I'm like most people who read the newspapers..."

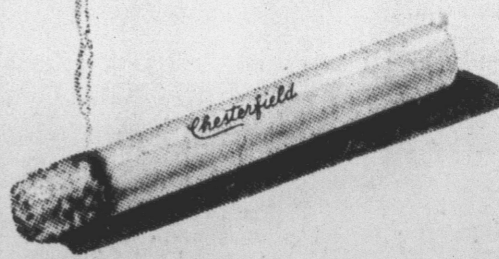

"I DON'T read all the ads, any more than I read the whole of any newspaper or magazine. But I do read a good many of them."

"Recently I've been reading more than usual, and I certainly like what Chesterfield has to say and the way it is said. I would probably like the cigarette, too, but somehow I just haven't got 'round to trying it."

"Come to think of it, I can't tell you why I smoke this other cigarette. It's more from habit, I suppose, than for any real reason."

"I'd never thought about it before, but last night, at a party, I noticed eight of my friends—five men and three girls—who had changed to Chesterfields. They told me that Chesterfields are milder, that they taste better, that they just seem to satisfy."

"Of course, cigarettes are a small thing, but, after all, they give me a lot of pleasure, and a cigarette like Chesterfield, that you hear such good things about, must be good. Anyway, I've just bought my first package of Chesterfields, and I believe I'll find them just like the ads say—milder—taste better—pure—satisfy."
