DRYS AGREE TO VOTE ON PROHIBITION

Accept Challenge of Vets for Showdown in Next Session of Congress

Washington, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Confident that the drys are still in control of the Senate and House, congressional leaders have agreed to demands of the vets for a vote on prohibition this session.

On the Senate side Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, and Borah of Idaho, a stalwart prohibitionist, have expressed a willingness for an early showdown.

At the same time Representative Rainey of Illinois, prospective Democratic leader, and Representative Snell of New York, the Republican nominee for speaker, said the new House would face the issue directly.

Representative Linthicum, Maryland Democrat, the leader of the House wet bloc, claims 150 votes for repeal in the House, the largest number since the advent of prohibition.

It has not been decided what proposal the vets will press for a vote. A repeal amendment would require a two-thirds vote of both Houses and ratification by three-fourths of the states. A number of anti-prohibitionists favor a referendum on repeal.

"Let's have it out," Senator Borah said. He made it clear however that he was against the referendum and said he would not vote for repeal.

Representative Rainey, a dry, said: "We ought to vote on the wet and dry question early in the coming session. It will then be possible to give the economic issues the consideration to which they are entitled."

Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, co-author of the Eighteenth Amendment, expressed confidence that foes of prohibition would make little headway. He is preparing a measure to make purchasers of liquor equally guilty with sellers.

Linthicum said: "The drys have been laughing at us for years but now we have enough votes to wipe the smiles off their faces. We are going to put the wets and drys on record in the coming session."

Divorce Expense Granted Husband of Indian Heiress

Los Angeles, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Charles J. Chalette, chauffeur, who married his employer, Elizabeth McCallister, Osage Indian oil heiress, cannot collect alimony from her, but he is entitled to divorce expenses.

Superior Judge Dudley Valentine ruled that California law makes no provision for a man to collect alimony even though a wife has an estimated income of $150,000 yearly, as reported in Mrs. Chalette's case.

The judge, however, ordered Mrs. Chalette to pay her husband $3,750 as a defense fund in the divorce action she has instituted.

Chalette married Miss McCallister last September. At that time he said he had $165. He reported his present assets at $32.

Chalette admitted his wife gave him various sums, promising him $10,000 yearly as spending money. The former chauffeur testified, however, that most of the money she gave him is in escrow in real estate deals and attached by her.

Mrs. Chalette instituted divorce proceedings after approximately two months of wedded life. She charged her husband with cruelty and asserted he had married her for her money.

State Financial Report in March

Raleigh, Dec. 3.—(AP)—North Carolinians must wait until March to learn the exact financial condition of their state government, Gov. O. Max Gardner said in commenting on reports showing marked increases in general fund collections so far this year.

While $1,600,000 has been collected over last year, the governor pointed out that the last legislature's budget and tax levies contemplated an increase of $4,500,000, and that every cent of this contemplated increase must be realized if the budget is to be balanced.

The extent to which income taxes will meet expectations will be the deciding factor, the governor added. This will not be known until March.

RAIN FALLS OVER SOUTH SENT TO ROAD FOR LARCENY

Slow Drizzle Last Night and Today Brings Relief to Several Territories

Atlanta, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Slow drizzling rain fell over much of the south last night and today to bring some sections the first precipitation of any consequence in weeks.

The rainfall, although making the skies dreary for aviators, was welcomed for the benefit it will do winter farm crops.

Forecasters promised cloudy and rainy weather tonight or tomorrow in parts of Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Virginia, Florida, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Arkansas.

Temperatures for the most part were moderate, over the south and slightly warmer weather was expected in most states tonight or tomorrow.

The coldest weather in the south was felt at Louisville, Ky., where the mercury went down to 22.

Lynchburg, Va., was very little warmer with a reading of 24. Raleigh, had freezing weather at 32.

Asheville and Charlotte had registrations of 36 and 38, respectively. St. Petersburg, Fla., had the first rain of any consequence in eight weeks. It was raining this morning in Charlotte.

Questions Legality Of Election Of Bankhead

Washington, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Legality of the election of John H. Bankhead as Democratic senator from Alabama was questioned today in a report to a senate elections sub-committee by Chairman Hastings, citing widespread violation of election laws and indications of fraud.

After receiving it, the committee which set up to consider the contest brought against Bankhead's election by his defeated opponent, former Senator Hefflin, adjourned without action to await the arrival of one of its members, Senator Bratton, Democrat, New Mexico.

Hastings called another meeting for tomorrow afternoon and said he wanted to hear arguments from opposing counsel on evidence that Bankhead spent $11,531.58 in campaign expenditures through a state law sets a limitation of $10,000.

Bankhead and Hefflin were seated across from each other at the committee table as Hastings, a Delaware Republican, submitted that there were violations of law in every voting place in Alabama during the 1930 election.

Bankhead later commented: "No fair minded man in Alabama, regardless of whom he voted for, charges any fraud in that election."

"Third—that the ruling of the chairman of the state Democratic committee that Democrats permitted to participate in the primary as voters could not write the name of the candidate of their choice upon the primary ballot was illegal and unlawful."

To Hefflin the report was "fine." He issued this statement: "I believe that the sub-committee

LEAF PRICES REMAIN FIRM

Distinct Advance Noted on Better Grades of Tobacco Here Yesterday

Prices were reported firm on the Greenville tobacco market today following the spurt upward yesterday.

The official report made public this afternoon by the supervisor of sales showed that total sales for the season had reached $6,361,543 pounds.

Sales yesterday were given as 702,828 pounds for $63,872.58 at a general average of $9.05 per hundred pounds.

It was stated that there was approximately 700,000 pounds of leaf on the floors of the various warehouses today and that sales would be completed during the mid-afternoon. The price advance yesterday was noted on medium and better grades of tobacco.

Business Booms At Cleveland, O.

Cleveland, Dec. 3.—(AP)—More business brightness brightens—$3,600,000 worth of them—came out of the Cleveland area today.

The White Motor Company here received a contract from the City of New York for 774 heavy duty dump trucks. The order is the largest White has received since the boom days of the war and is worth approximately $2,600,000.

One thousand men will go to work in the next two weeks at the Lorain yards of the American Shipbuilding Company, which will convert three lake ore carriers of Boland and Cornelius, Buffalo steamship operators, into self-unloaders. The job will cost $1,000,000.

Charge Police With Consuming Captured Rum

Goldsboro, Dec. 3.—(AP)—A grand jury report handed to Judge E. H. Cranmer in Wayne county Superior court today called his attention to a "complaint that confiscated liquor has been taken by officers of the county and towns and used by themselves and given to other people."

Judge Cranmer termed such conditions if true "bad" and said he believed Sheriff Paul C. Garrison knew nothing of the alleged practices. He ordered that the sheriff's attention be called to the report.

Solicitor Clawson L. Williams pointed out that no law provides that an officer can use or give away seized whiskey.

G. O. P. Will Not Contest Bailey Seating

Washington, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Republican leaders in the Senate have virtually decided not to contest the seating of Josiah W. Bailey, Democrat elected senator from North Carolina.

If Bailey's seat is not contested, a resolution asking a full investigation of his case will be presented.

George M. Pritchard, Republican, filed a contest against Bailey, charging irregularities in the election.

Republican leaders, however, are considering a move to deny a seat to Senator Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama.

SHEP ANDREWS DIES SUDDENLY

Funeral for Prominent Young Man to Be Held Tomorrow Afternoon

Sheppard Andrews, 31, member of an old and socially prominent family, was found dead in his bed at the Proctor hotel this morning about 8 o'clock. Death resulted from a heart attack.

The death was discovered by Milton Johnson, hotel clerk, who called at Andrews' room to ascertain his condition.

Andrews' physician was in attendance early last night, and shortly before 1 o'clock when Johnson dropped into Andrews' room to see how he was getting along found him asleep and apparently resting comfortably, and it was not until Johnson returned to the room this morning that it was learned that his condition had taken a fatal turn.

Announcement of his death came as a shock to relatives. The remains were taken to the home of his sister, Mrs. W. L. Whichard, on Ninth street.

Funeral services will be conducted from St. Paul's Episcopal church to morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. W. A. Lillycrop, rector of the church. Interment will follow in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Andrews was born in Greenville, February 23, 1900, the son of the late John A. and Hennie Sheppard Andrews. He spent the most of his life in Greenville where he was popular among a wide circle of friends. He was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal church.

He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. W. L. Whichard, Mrs. John McKeithan, of this city, and Mrs. Emerson Hinds, of New York, and his grandmother, Mrs. Ella Greene, of this city, and a number of other relatives.

Active pallbearers will be: T. T. Hollingsworth, Walter Harrington, O. F. Clark, W. C. Brashwell, O. L. Joyner, Jr., J. S. Morton, Will James, Dr. Joseph Smith.

GRIDIRON TOLL CAUSES WORRY

Death of Fordham Player Creates Speculation As to the Future of the Game

New York, Dec. 3.—(AP)—While Fordham University paid its last tribute today to Cornelius Murphy, Jr., 21-year-old football star who died yesterday of injuries suffered in his team's closing game with Bucknell ten days ago, the sport loving public wondered what would be the result of the unusual number of gridiron fatalities during the 1931 season.

Murphy's death was the first first recorded this season. In my quarters it was believed important steps would be taken to check the toll of football.

Coaches, officials, ex-players and others connected with football rallied to the support of their game and pointed out that few players had been killed or even seriously injured in major college games. Of the 31 deaths recorded so far only four have occurred at major colleges, one at a small college and one at a normal school. Others were at high schools or in "sand (Continued on Page Six)

Hundreds Seek Tickets To Opening of Congress

Washington, Dec. 3.—(AP)—At least seven persons to each seat have applied for admission to the House next Monday to witness the clash between the Democrats and the Republicans over who shall control that branch of Congress.

There are 5,000 applicants for the 705 seats that are available to the public.

The parceling out of tickets will take place Saturday morning in the office of Door Keeper Bert Kennedy. About 700 tickets will be shaken up in a basket in the presence of members to assure equal distribution.

No one will be admitted to the galleries who does not possess a ticket. The steps in the galleries are to be used to supplement the regular seats.

Each of the 435 members of the House is entitled to one seat in the galleries for his wife. The speaker's gallery is reserved for the wives and children of former speaker and the District of Columbia commissioners have reserved seats.

NEW PROPOSAL IS COMPLETED

Counter Proposition is Understood to Meet Points in League's Plan Which Are Unacceptable to Tokyo Government; New Instructions Will Be Sent to Japanese Ambassador At Paris; Neutral Control Will Not Be Accepted

Tokyo, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Foreign Minister B. Ito Hirota today completed the draft of Japan's counter proposals to the League of Nations council's Manchurian peace plan and new instructions to Ambassador Yoshizawa will probably be dispatched to Paris late tonight.

The counter-proposals are understood to meet points in the League's plan which are unacceptable as they stand, to the Tokyo government.

Japan is standing firmly upon its demand that the Chinese military forces must entirely evacuate Manchuria if a neutral zone at Chinchow is to be realized. The solemn engagement of the Tokyo government to observe the neutrality of this area, except where banditry may require repressive measures, is held to be a sufficient guarantee, while a neutral control, if held, could not be accepted by Japan.

The Japanese objection to the plan is based on two points. One she considers as restricting her activities against bandits after Chinese troops have been withdrawn from Chinchow and the other as fixing a virtual time limit for the withdrawal of Japanese troops.

The first ris contained in Chairman Aristide Briand's declaration accompanying the peace resolution and the second in the League resolution itself.

The latter is a new provision, that if the Japanese evacuation is not completed by the time the neutral commission of observers sent by the League arrives upon the ground, the observers are to "report speedily to the League with whatever recommendations they see fit."

This proviso, the government contended today, virtually sets a time limit for the withdrawal and is, therefore, unacceptable.

New Forest Fires Flare Up in East

Washington, N. C., Dec. 3.—(AP)—New forest fires discovered in Hyde county below Fairfield despite the rain have become so serious, reports today said, that residents of that section are leaving their occupations to fight the flames.

At first it was believed recent rains would bring total relief but inhabitants of the affected sections say the fires are burning on with new ones springing up. Near half a million dollars damage has resulted from the blazes.

Clara Bow Sued for Gambling Debt

Las Vegas, Nevada, Dec. 3.—(AP)—For the second time within a year, an allegedly unpaid gambling debt has been charged to Clara Bow, red-haired screen actress.

A suit for $1,100 was on file here today against the actress on a demand note claimed to have been given in a gambling debt. Rex Bell, at whose ranch Miss Bow has been staying, was named co-defendant.

The suit was brought by Louis Cornero, one of the owners of a gambling casino, who said the demand note was given last September 26 and requests for payment had been unsuccessful.

Some time ago, James McKay, one of the owners of a gambling resort at Calneva, Nevada, announced the actress had stopped payment on checks for $13,900 given for alleged gambling debts.

Preacher Killed By Bandit Guns

Chicago, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The Rev. Amos Oyer, 49, a tabernacle pastor, formerly of Lima, O., was shot dead last night when he was caught in the cross fire between bandits and a drug store owner.

The minister had stopped for a soda before going on to the non-sectarian southwest Gospel Tabernacle to hold the usual midweek prayer meeting. Stepping back from the counter, he was just about to walk out when two robbers entered and ordered him and the owner, Charles W. Kenny, to put up their hands.

Kenny, standing behind the prescription counter, seized a double barreled shotgun, and fired at the bandits. One of them fired, too.

The Rev. Mr. Oyer fell to the floor, dead.

With that, the robbers fled to an automobile and escaped.

The Rev. Mr. Oyer opened his tabernacle here two years ago. His widow and five children survive.

GREAT POWER ATTACKS FOR CHARITY GAME

Charlotte, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The charter teams for the Big Five's charity battle Saturday are taking shape with the lineup promising a great power attack from Duke and a smart overhead game from Davidson.

The Duke and University of North Carolina stars, installed as favorites when the battle plans were first announced, may find their defense riddled by the air attack from the N. C. State, Wake Forest and Davidson forces.

Pat Miller, Monk Younger and John Smith, coaching staff of the Demon Wolfcats, put King Davidson, at quarterback; Dunc Wilson, Wake Forest, and Charles Pearce, Davidson, at halfbacks; and Cumiskey, N. C. State, at fullback, on one eleven in the first joint workout of the squads.

Any time and anywhere that four are dangerous. Wilson and his teammates whipped Davidson with a passing game during the regular season. Pearce, who chunks the ball left-handed, adds versatility to the overhead attack and Cumiskey hits a line so hard the defensive backs must play close to back it up.

Another team was lined up with McQuague, N. C. State, quarterback; Hipps, Wake Forest, and Don Wilson, N. C. State, halfbacks, and Bradley, Wake Forest.

Two elevens they judged to be of about equal strength were lined up by Wallace Wade and Chuck Collins, the Duke's coach.

Johnny Branch, N. C. State, quarterback, was captain of one with Mason, Duke, and Thompson, N. C. State, at halfbacks and Brewer, Duke, at fullback. In the line were Walker, N. C., and Hyatt, Duke, ends; Bryan, Duke, and Underwood, N. C., tackles; Sink, Duke, and Fyral, N. C., guards, and Gilbreth, N. C., center.

Laney of Duke was quarterback of the second eleven with Adkins, Duke, center and captain. Others in the backfield were Chandler and White, N. C., halfbacks, and Ershler, Duke, fullback, with the line showing Crawford, Duke, Brown, N. C., ends; Hodges, N. C., Harton, Duke, tackles; and Melver, N. C., and Friedman, Duke, guards.

Slusser, the Tar Heels' backfield ace of the regular season, will probably replace Thompson on the first eleven.

Golf Association, was 1.62 inches in diameter and 1.62 ounces in weight. The first revised standard, which became official January 1, 1931, and covered all the shooting, is 1.68 inches in diameter, and 1.55 ounces in weight—larger and lighter. It was adopted by the U. S. G. A. and by the Royal and Ancient, so it is standard only in the United States.

The latest alteration is to a ball the same size as the present standard—1.68 inches in diameter, but weighing the same as the original ball—1.52 ounces. The same size, and heavier, than the present projectile, this compromise evidently was intended by the U. S. G. A. to quiet the delicate plaints of average players and duffers. The expert, so far as I heard, did not yell much.

Personally, I'm sorry about the latest change. If the present ball is not to be kept, I'd rather see the old standard come back. My interest, I confess, is almost exclusively with the average player and the duffer. The expert can take care of himself. If he can't, he's no expert.

HEAVY STRAIN CAUSES BOOTH TO BREAKDOWN

By EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The tremendous physical strain of three years of varsity football, two baseball and two basketball campaigns put upon a physique that mustered only 145 pounds is believed to have contributed to the breakdown that has forced Albie Booth into a private sanatorium for months of rest and recuperation.

Despite his lack of size, the "Little Boy Blue" of Yale's major teams since his freshman year has put in long and vivid athletic career behind him. At Yale he duplicated his all-around athletic activities through four years in a New Haven high school and a year at Milford school. In addition he worked every bit of his way.

With two brothers, Albie conducted a milk route that forced him out of bed each morning of his high school days at 4 A. M. That provided him with funds to stay in school. When he landed at Yale, Albie sold automobiles to pay his bills.

There have been university honors aside from athletic laurels to fill the time of the rugged little fellow who was the first of modern Yale ball carriers to gain, more than 1,000 yards from scrimmage in a single season. Last month he was elected chairman of the "Pom" committee for class day exercises next June.

Booth captained football, and baseball teams in his freshman year, captained his last varsity football squad, and was captain elect of the basketball five. He reamed over the baseball team, playing shortstop, third base or center field equally well. He won five varsity letters, in baseball and football, besides two minor awards in basketball.

He might have set a record never before equalled in Yale history by accepting the baseball captaincy to add to the honor of football and basketball paid him, after Edgar Warren, captain elect, lost in an arm last August in a motor boat accident.

The hos decided to elect Albie. But Booth shook his head. "Ed will be out there yet," he said.

Warren probably will be, but Booth has finished his varsity career. He will need at least four months rest fighting off a pleurisy infection and the danger of a more serious lung ailment.

This Game of GOLF

By O. B. KEELER

There were 15 men on a dead man's chest, says Maxwell Stiles, Los Angeles sports writer, but he switched it to 15 men on a dead ball's chest not long ago, according to his own story, which is interesting. It concerns the newest version—which is to become official on or about April 15, 1932.

Mr. Stiles collected 15 golf professionals in his vicinity and cross-examined them carefully.

Following are the results:

Five had played with the revised version ball; ten had not.

Of the five, only one liked it. The other four were against the change; emphatically, says Mr. Stiles.

Considering the matter academically, so that all 15 might vote, nine were against the change; six favored it.

Bringing up the moot topic of the original standard ball—the 1.62-1.62—five preferred going back to that, if any further change were made; five voted for the present ball—the 1.68-1.55—and only two favored the change to the big, heavier ball.

Mr. Stiles makes it plain that these findings are not to be considered conclusive.

"They are based on opinion rather than experience," he explains. But the five who had tried out the new size were pretty emphatically against it, in the majority of four to one.

Further, Mr. Stiles says, the three leading tournament professionals in Southern California admittedly are Fred Morrison of Fox Hills, Olin Dutra of Brentwood, and Mortie Dutra of Virginia Country club.

Olin favored the newest new ball, Mortie and Fred did not. And there you are—if anywhere.

The unanimous opinion of the professionals was that the revised version would be easier to control in a wind, and that it will be longer, off the tee. Also that it will putt better.

Mr. Stiles makes it plain that these findings are not to be considered conclusive.

"They are based on opinion rather than experience," he explains. But the five who had tried out the new size were pretty emphatically against it, in the majority of four to one.

Block and Tacile Used to Bury Man

Chicago, Dec. 3.—(AP)—A crew of six piano movers, with block and tackle, was employed by an undertaker to lift the body of Charles Bush, who weighed 622 pounds, from a second story window of his home today.

After the casket, weighing 408 pounds and constructed especially for Bush, has been lowered, ten pallbearers will assist the piano movers in lifting the total of 1,030 pounds of weight into the hearse. A special hoisting apparatus was also set up at the cemetery.

Bush was a butcher. He died of fatty degeneration of the heart. Known as one of the heaviest men in the world, he won second place in a fat man's contest in Los Angeles several months ago.

ABOUT TOWN

A congressional vote on prohibition at the next session of Congress is virtually assured by leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties. Just what the outcome of such a vote will be is problematical at this time but if the wets have their way about it the prohibition law will be modified to permit the sale of beer and wine. Considerable impetus has been given such a proposal by expressions from the American Bar Association and the American Legion as to whether the pressure is sufficient to cause the congressmen to take the desired action is questionable. There are favorable arguments on both sides of the fence but it is to be doubted if the country could be improved by legalized sale of intoxicants. Men who never think about indulging in strong drink as dispensing by bootleggers would be tempted to take advantage of the new law, and sooner or later they would seek something stronger. It is human nature to follow the path of least resistance, and certainly modification of prohibition would be opening the way for greater intemperance in this country, and the worst part about it is it would be legalized if Congress should deem it advisable to let down the bars.

Twenty-nine men have sacrificed their lives on the altar of football during the past season, it has been revealed by records made public yesterday afternoon.

That figure sounds insignificant but it would assume a more impressive aspect could we look upon the firesides around which those young men have been accustomed to gather in past years.

It is a terrible price to pay for a form of sport which has been emphasized by colleges to such extent that it has begun to outshine all other fields of scholastic activity.

Athletics is very essential to the development of young manhood but is it necessary to sacrifice human life to obtain that end?

The sacrifice of human life for some great cause or principle is justifiable, but it is difficult to see any justification in the offering of youth on an altar of death simply to gratify the desire of over exaggerated sportsmanship.

Some noted educator said not long ago that football would be a thing of the past in a few years, but this is hard to believe in the face of the emphasis it is receiving in the various educational institutions of the nation where preservation of human life should be the aim instead of the destruction of it.

Christmas is crowding closer with the passing of each day, and persons desiring to place tuberculosis seals on their letters and parcels should begin purchasing them at once and have them ready when needed.

The major part of funds derived from the seal sales will be kept in our own community to help alleviate the suffering existing among the needy during the cold winter months.

Sales are being conducted through the health department of the woman's club and anybody desiring to supply himself should get in touch with Mrs. H. S. Ragsdale, chairman of the health department of the club.

Greenville has always responded liberally to the seal sales, and with conditions among the poor more severe this year than ever before, it is hoped the response will be greater this season.

Don't put off your purchase but get busy and supply your needs at once.

PITT COUNTY MEN OFF FOR KINSTON MEETING

H. V. Staton, of Bethel, chairman of the Board of Commissioners, E. F. Aracid, director of the County Farm Department, and J. C. Galloway, of Grimesland, president of the Mutual Exchange, went to Kinston today to attend a two-day conference for business men, bankers and farm agents.

The purpose of the gathering will be to outline a sectional farm program for the year. This will involve methods of financing 1932 crops, marketing of surplus supplies and reorganization.

Representatives of several counties of this part of the state will attend the gathering. Meetings looking to county-wide organization will be held in each of the counties next week at which time definite plans looking to the coming year will be outlined.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN WILL MEET TONIGHT

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Aldermen will be held at the city hall tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Only matters of a routine nature were scheduled for consideration and the session was expected to be one of the shortest of the year.

A turkey supper followed by brief and interesting speeches marked the regular meeting of the Grifton Masonic lodge last night. Claude Gaskins, A. B. Corey and Wiley Brown, of Greenville, attended the meeting, and reported the occasion of interest oratorically as well as gastronomically.

The speakers were Rev. Perry Case, pastor of the Grifton Christian church; I. S. Richmond, pastor of Grifton Methodist church; Prof. Richardson, of the Grainger high school; Wiley Brown and A. B. Corey.

The Town of Ayden is doing its best to provide for the poor during the cold winter months ahead and will stage a charity football game Friday in an attempt to increase its funds.

Ayden has suffered probably more from depression than any other section of the county and unless a large sum of money is raised through such mediums as football games it will be impossible to take care of the situation.

It is to be hoped each community will send large crowds to the game and help Ayden in this movement to ameliorate the condition of suffering humankind.

CHAMPION STEER SELLS FOR $1,447

Chicago, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The grand champion steer of the 1931 International Livestock Show, "Briardiff Thickset," was sold on the auction block today for $1,274 a pound, the lowest price since 1923.

The prize animal, owned by Oakleigh Thorne of New York City, weight 1,140 pounds and cost Abernast and Bastian, meat packers of Allentown, Pa., the highest bidders, $1,447.80.

BYRNS READY FOR BUSINESS

Tennessee Democrat Plans to Run Appropriations Committee in "Folksey" Way

Washington, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Democratic Representative Joe Byrns, of Tennessee, who pities the boy or girl who has no opportunity to grow up in the country, expects soon to be running the august appropriations committee in a "folksey" way.

"I'll have nobody at the door to keep anybody from coming in," said Byrns today. "I'm glad to see everybody who wants to see me."

On that principle, he had long predicated the political career which will bring him, if the Democrats organize the House, the all-important job of spending the country's money—$5,249,000,000 last year, somewhat less this session if economy plans bear fruit.

The chairmanship, will be in a measure, result of his own enterprise, for Byrns has been four years chairman of the Democratic National Congressional committee which takes much credit for the 1930 election turnover.

Byrns has been ranking member of the appropriations committee ever since the Republicans assumed House control in 1919. For eight years before that he belonged—and thus got to watch all the billions crossing the counter during the World war.

Speaking in staggering sums never makes Joe Byrns forget that he was once a barefoot boy on the hills of Robertson county, Tennessee, and that he was later a struggling young Nashville lawyer.

He is exactly the sort of man anybody would expect to see where the invitation is "come right on in."

He is humorous and kindly. Keen twinkling brown eyes look through beetling brows. He is long and thin. He plays with a knife on his watch chain as he talks the language that everybody understands.

As for his views on the new job: "The appropriations committee is not a partisan committee—we don't play politics there," said Byrns. "We are all interested in reducing expenditures—and there never was such a necessity of economy as at the present time."

In off-duty hours, Byrns likes to fish, see baseball games and football games, read detective stories and biographies.

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Birmingham theatre managers would welcome a Saint Patrick. Meanwhile, they're depending on the police.

Twice, within the past few days, snakes have been released in motion picture establishments here. Near panics resulted. Last night Chief M. E. McDuff of the Birmingham police bureau of identification announced arrest of Emmitt Wilson of Gadsden, Ala., in the cases.

Wilson, Chief McDuff said, confessed turning over to Birmingham motion picture operators sixteen snakes similar to those released in the theatres. He had ordered them from Texas, he said.

A charge of conspiracy to boycott by intimidation in restraint of lawful trade was lodged against Wilson and authorities said they expected to make other arrests shortly. The snake incidents followed recent bombings of theatres of the same chain which had formerly been in controversy with organized motion picture operators.

Everett Wins Golf Suit

Raleigh, Dec. 3.—(AP)—A violation of golf etiquette which results in injury may properly form the basis of a successful damage suit, the State Supreme court ruled in upholding the award of $500 damages to J. M. Everett, of Greensboro, whose kneecap was fractured by a ball on the Starmount golf course there.

Everett sued the club and James S. Goodwin, who drove the ball, alleging that Goodwin violated golfing rules by driving from the tee before Everett had time to make his second shot.

Goodwin claimed that a twosome and a threesome had been merged on the tee, and that Everett should have waited instead of going ahead. The merger was denied, and the damages were allowed against both Goodwin and the club, in the latter case because "rangers," as required by rule, were not present.

Burch Durham, of High Point, sentenced to 12 years in prison for manslaughter in a hit-run case, was denied a new trial in this week's batch of opinions.

Rabbit Chases Big Police Dog

High Point, Dec. 3.—(P)—If High Point hasn't he-man rabbits then rabbits there are missing a good chance to gain a hard-boiled reputation.

Several days ago one resident swore he saw a rabbit chasing a large police dog which was trying to escape by running in circles.

Now comes Clyde Hendrick who reports similar instances. Hendrick reported a neighbor of his, a woman, saw a rabbit in her yard and that she attempted to pet it. He said it leaped at her several times and she had to ward it off with a stick.

The rabbit then hopped down a few doors, Hendrick said, and took a nibble at the shoeheel of another neighbor.

Hendrick said the rabbit ripped off the entire back part of the heel.

By ZANE GREY

SYNOPSIS: Trueman Rock is forced into a fight the first day of his return to Wagontongue, the scene of much gun play. He has met Thiry Preston at Sol Winter's store, and carries her bundles to the wagon for her. There Ash Preston, her brother, quarrels with him. A younger brother takes away Ash's gun. Rock trips Ash, trying to avoid a bad fight, because he likes Thiry. He leaves the scene, annoyed not to have beaten up Ash, and goes back to see Winter. He tells his friends of his sudden interest in Thiry and of Ash's attitude. Winter says that the Preston outfit is well liked with the exception of Ash. He believes that Ash killed his son, and it is also rumored that he shot the sheriff. There is much complaint about cattle rustling, Winter says, and there have been some dark hints about the Prestons.

Retried For Murder

Mrs. Minnie Stull of Princeton, W. Va., is being retried in Lewisburg, W. Va., for the slaying of her eight-year-old stepson, who died of burns received in a tub of scalding water. Trial is in Lewisburg on a change of venue from Mercer county where she was previously found guilty.

Chapter 6 A DEADLY PROPOSITION

"Darn few hints, mind you, son, an' sure vague an' untrallable," said Winter.

"It might be owin' to the slow gettin' rich of Gage Preston. It's a fact. He's growin' rich. Not so you could see it much in cattle, but in land an' money in bank. I happen to know he has a bank account in Los Vegas. That's pretty far off, you know, an' it looks queer to me. Found it out by accident. I buy from a wholesale grocer in Los Vegas. He happened here, an' in a talk dropped that bit of information. It's sure not known here in Wagontongue, an' I'm askin' you to keep it under your hat."

"Is Gage Preston one of these lone cattlemen?" queried Rock, thoughtfully.

"Not now, but he sure was once. Who's he in with now?"

"John Dabb. They own the Bar-X outfit. It's not so much. Dabb has the big end of it. Then Dabb runs a butcher shop. Fact is he undersold me an' put me out of that kind of business. He buys mostly from Preston. An' he ships a good many beeves."

"Ships? Out of town?" asked Rock.

"I should smile. They have worked into a considerable business, with prospects."

Rock pondered over his friend's disclosures, trying to reduce them down to something significant. They might be and very probably were perfectly regular transactions. He could never split hairs over deals pertaining to the cattle range. Thiry Preston's sad face returned to haunt him. Surely she was too young, too healthy and good for marked sadness of expression, such as had struck him forcibly.

"Sol, what do you think about Ash Preston?" asked Rock, coming out of his reverie.

"Well, son, I'm curious to ask you that same question," replied Winter, with humor. "You know the range. How did this fellow strike you?"

"Like a hard fist, right in the eye," acknowledged Rock.

"A-huh. I'm glad your sojourn in Texas hasn't dulled your edge," said Winter. "The Prestons are all out of the ordinary. Take Thiry, for instance. How did she strike you?"

Trueman gazed at his friend as if words were useless.

"Well, I wouldn't give two bits for you if she hadn't. Son, I've a hunch your comin' back means a lot. . . . Wal, to go on — these Prestons are a mighty strikin' outfit. An' Ash Preston stands out even among them. He's a great rider of the range in all pertainin' to that hard game. He can drink more, fight harder, shoot quicker than any man in these parts. You used to throw a gun yourself, Rock. I'm wonderin' did you get out of practice in Texas? But Texas, now."

"Go on," interrupted Rock, curtly. He was shy on talk about gun-play.

"Excuse me, son. Well, to reason, Ash Preston is sure the meanest, coldest, nerviest, deadliest proposition you're likely to stack up against in your life. I just want to give you a hunch, seein' you went sweet on Thiry."

"Thanks. The man was drunk when I met him, but I think I grasped a little of what you say."

Winter evidently found more in this reply to worry him.

"You know what the risk is."

"What do I care for risks?"

"True, you always were a sudden cuss, but even so, you could hardly get serious — real serious over Thiry Preston so quick."

"What do you mean — serious?" snapped Rock on her. I mean," answered Winter, hesitatingly.

"Sweet on that girl! No! I've been sweet on a hundred girls. This is different. I don't know what I'll have to dig into myself and see. But it's smethin' terrible. Ten thousand times sweet!"

"Son, you needn't bite my head off," protested Winter. "If you want to know, I'm tickled stiff — an' scared to death. I love that girl. An' if you haven't forgot, I was once some fond of you."

"Sol, I haven't forgotten," replied Rock, with warmth. "But don't you dare ever mention my — my old girl friends. And if you dare to tell Thiry I'd murder you."

"Somebody will tell her, son. For instance, Mrs. John Dabb. She likes Thiry. She'll tell her. I see them together occasionally."

"Mrs. John Dabb. She couldn't know much."

"I told you she was Amy Wund."

"Oww!" wailed Rock, bending double.

"Trueman, your trail will sure be rough," returned Winter, wagging his head.

"Listen, old friend. There's only one thing that could stump me. I don't know what I'm going to do. But there's only one thing that could queer this — this beautiful dream almost before it starts."

"An' what's that?"

"Tell me. Do you know Thiry real well?"

"Yes, son, an' I can answer that question so plain in your eyes. Thiry is not in love with anybody. I know, because she told me herself, not so long ago."

"That'll help," replied Rock, swallowing hard. "Now, Sol, I'll sneak off alone somewhere and try to find out what's the matter with me — and what to do about it."

Trueman sallied forth into the sunlight like a man possessed. He did not know whether he was trying to escape from himself or find himself. It had been all very well to talk loftily to Sol Winter, but now that he was out in the open his feelings began to edge into his incomprehensible buoyancy.

He did not notice the heat while he was striding out of town, but when he got to the cedars and mounted a slope to a lonely spot he was grateful for the cool shade. He threw aside coat and sombrero, and lay down on the fragrant mat of cedar needles. How good to be there! He became aware of his labored breathing, of moist, restless hands, of hot face. Excitement was strong upon him.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 1 to 3 points on overnight buying orders and trade buying. January sold up to 6.09 at the call, while liquidation set in later and the market eased slightly.

The initial demand was comparatively light and after it had been supplied, the market appeared to be without much support with prices yielding rather readily to scattered selling. At the end of the first half hour, January was selling at 6.01 and May 6.37, or 3 to 6 points net lower.

Liverpool cables reported continued selling in the market with fluctuations influenced by irregularity in sterling and easier Egyptian markets. Egyptian cotton futures in Alexandria were 15 to 46 points lower. A private crop report was issued placing the indicated yield at 17,265,000 bales and ginning prior to December 1 at 15,100,000.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Developments pointing to eclipse of Russia as a bearish influence on wheat gave encouragement today to speculators hopeful of a rise in prices. For the first time this season, Russia's export clearances of wheat dropped under those of last year. There was also a revival of reports that Russia had been buying Australian wheat. Newly harvested southern hemisphere wheat was reported as offered abroad at a discount under U. S. hard winter.

Wheat closed firm 1-2 to 11-8 cents higher than yesterday's finish; corn unchanged to 1-2 lower; oats 1-8 to 1-4 up; and provisions 2 to 7 cents down.

STOCK MARKET

By CLAUD A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Editor)
New York, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Pressure was lifted from financial markets today, and some recovery was accomplished, but trading turned dull.

The stock market's stubborn resistance of breaking through the bear market bottom of early October together with vague rumors of a constructive announcement might be forthcoming from Washington, prompted considerable short covering.

The leading rails rallied rather sparsely after some hangover liquidation was absorbed in the morning. Net gains of about 2 to 3 points appeared in the afternoon in such issues as Southern Pacific.

Santa Fe, New York Central, and Union Pacific, while issues up a point or more included Chesapeake and Ohio, New Haven, Frisco and others. Industrials and utilities rising a point or two included U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can, North American, Case, Woolworth, Consolidated Gas, American Tobacco, "B", Lorillard, DuPont, Allied Chemical, Lambert, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and others.

After recovering from the first shock of the Washab receivers in Wall Street took a more hopeful view of the railroad situation. Prominent bankers who discussed the railroad outlook said that the plight of a few of the so-called feeder lines should not be taken as an indication of the railroad situation generally. Leading carriers in need of funds are said to be receiving support from important banking interests.

The New York money market was virtually unchanged, with a slightly easier tone in call money. Outside money was available at 2 per cent, against 2 1/4 to 2 1/2 yesterday.

COTY ORDERED TO PAY WIFE

Paris Perfume Manufacturer Must Pay Additional $5,200,000 Compensation

Paris, Dec. 3.—(AP)—M. Francois Coty, noted Paris millionaire perfume manufacturer, a large part of whose fortune has come from sales of his products in the United States, faced today the prospect of having to pay an additional $5,200,000 to his former wife as compensation for her share in building up the business.

A Paris court issued the order. Mme. Coty divorced the manufacturer in 1922. They were married in 1906. He borrowed money from her brother and they opened a laboratory in which she also worked in order to keep the secret of the perfumes within the family. Their fortune rose to nearly $35,000,000 by the time they were divorced and Madame Coty claimed half of it because there was no marriage contract. M. Coty paid her $12,000,000 and she claimed an additional $5,200,000.

When the order was handed down in the civil court yesterday M. Coty's attorney pleaded that the manufacturer did not have the money, asserting that the state of business in the United States had resulted in high losses to his interests there.

Fordham's farewell to Murphy, one of the leading candidates for the football captaincy in 1932, took place early today when high school mass was held in the university chapel.

Later today the body was to be taken to Greenfield, Mass., where the funeral will be held probably Saturday.

ONE KENTUCKY MARKET OPEN

with the exception of Franklin, Ky., where farmers did not express open dissatisfaction with prices.

Sales were literally "hounded down" by farmers at Owensboro Tuesday and at Henderson Wednesday, forcing warehousemen to stop the auctions. In both cities the growers and boards of trade decided to conduct no more sales until Monday.

Dark leaf prices at both Owensboro and Henderson averaged between $4 and $5 a hundred before sales were halted, as compared to averages of $8 and $9 at last year's opening. At Franklin, where 136,000 pounds were sold yesterday at an average of $4.43 a hundred, many rejections were reported but auctions were not stopped.

At Madisonville, where auctions were scheduled to start today, warehouse managers decided to postpone sales until next Tuesday as a result of developments in Owensboro and Henderson. Hopkinstown will not begin sales until next week, and Mayfield will wait until after Hopkinsville has opened. Other dark leaf markets plan openings next week.

Sales of burley grown in central Kentucky will begin at Lexington next Monday, other markets opening the day after. Burley ordinarily sells at double the price of dark tobacco, grown in Western Kentucky.

A committee of burley growers at Lexington yesterday approved a cooperative marketing contract but will not seek signers until assurances are given enough tobacco can be pledged to make it effective. Meanwhile dark leaf growers will confer with Federal Farm Board officials and consider a pool for Western Kentucky.

HOOPER CONFERENCE HOPE TO ELIMINATE CITY SLUM DISTRICTS

The community of President Hoover's conference on home building and ownership urged that slums and blighted areas be eliminated and state legislation enacted to buy large tracts of land for development of the neighborhood unit.

The committee was one of 31 which today began the task set before them by Mr. Hoover of finding a way for Americans to purchase homes on easy terms and erect them upon new standards of adequacy and design.

"Home ownership," said the committee, headed by Dr. Joseph H. Pratt, of Boston, "tends to root citizenship, to build a man and his family into the community."

"So important is the acceptance of this goal," the committee continued, "that every citizen of these United States should have as a background a home in a neighborhood where there is beauty, convenience and social opportunity; that wherever in the edifice of every boy and girl stress should be laid on home ownership and its financing and management, city planning and zoning."

The committee said, however, homes should also be constructed with a view to preventing house, hold accidents, fires and spread of disease. It blamed 30,000 deaths annually from accidents in the homes and 70,000 deaths yearly from fires due to defects in construction and arrangement.

Close attention was urged to the size of rooms and number of persons per room. Recommendation was made for strict regulations to prohibit overcrowding to prevent spread of disease.

How One Woman Lost 47 Lbs of Fat

Feels Years Younger In 3 Months and

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds, was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides. Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, years younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better but I look better, so all my friends say."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 65 cents at drugists the world over. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

Attention to diet will help—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat. Try one bottle and if not joyfully satisfied—money back.
