CHINESE DELEGATES TO LEAGUE QUITS; MINISTER RESIGNS

ARE ASKED TO RECONSIDER

Both Dr. Alfred Sze, League Representative and Dr. Wellington Koo, Foreign Minister, Give Up Work in Face of Critical Situation in Manchuria; Dr. Sze Says China Will Not Evacuate Chinchow but "Will Fight and Die There."

Nanking, China, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese representative, told leaders of the council of the League of Nations today that China will not evacuate Chinchow but "fight and die there if necessary."

The Japanese position was reiterated by Nobumi Ito, Japanese legal expert, who declared to the council's drafting committee that his nation was unalterably opposed to intervention by a third party in the Manchurian quarrel, either through a commission of inquiry or through neutral observers.

Those who heard Mr. Ito said that their impression Japan was determined to get the Chinese military and perhaps civil government out of Chinchow and behind the great wall of China.

Tokyo, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Fears that the Japanese civil government might not be able to keep the army in Manchuria in check were expressed by a foreign office spokesman today, conditioned on what he said was the failure of the Chinese to withdraw their troops from the Chinchow area after the Japanese halted their advance November 27.

The announcement followed the receipt of press dispatches from Nanking indicating China rejected the plan to establish a neutral zone at Chinchow. The reports said the Nanking government contended the provincial government at Chinchow must be maintained and that the Chinese army could not be withdrawn under any circumstances.

Mukden, Manchuria, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The United States government is to have a special report on the situation in Manchuria from its own military observers.

Col. James G. Melroy, United States military attaché at Tokyo, who has been on a tour of northern Manchuria for several days with a party of other neutral attachés under Japanese auspices, his left here for Chinchow to meet Col. Nelson Margets, American attaché from Peking.

By the week, not including Friday, the market sold 2,896,914 pounds for $27,694.46 at an average of $8.47 per hundred.

The major part of the offerings during the week consisted mainly of common grades.

GANDHI OFF FOR FRANCE

Indian Leader Leaves London After Having Done His Best to Win Freedom.

Folkestone, Eng., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi bade farewell to England shortly before noon today, sailing from here aboard the channel steamer Maid of Kent for Boulogne, on his way to Paris.

The Mahatma put behind him three months of the most strenuous labor at the round table conference but he left with nothing tangible to offer Nationalist India. Although physically exhausted and mentally weary, however, he refused to call his trip a failure.

"England knows me now," he said. "I am no longer a vague, indefinable figure in a distant land. The thousands of friends I have made here alone repay all my efforts."

"Had I not come to the conference, as was my first intention, the government and my critics could have said I deliberately refused to negotiate and threw away my chances of peace."

"I return with a clear conscience. I have explored an exhausted every approach to peace."

Unidentified Man is Found Dead at Raleigh Today

Probe Burning of Negro in Greene

Snow Hill, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Greene county officers today were investigating the burning to death of Gavin Brown, negro, found dying on the floor of his home.

They said manslaughter charges would probably be preferred against men they said were drinking and gambling at the place a short time before Brown died. His clothing was burned off as if an inflammable liquid had been poured over the body.

McGOWAN & CANNON LEAF WAREHOUSE IS REDUCED TO ASHES

Democrats Name Garner As Speaker Candidate

Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP)—With an eye on a fast start, party groups and blocs in congress today speeded preparations for Monday's opening of a momentous session. The House Democrats, confident of seizing the control held by Republicans since 1918, gathered to nominate John N. Garner of Texas for speaker and Henry T. Rainey of Illinois for floor leader, and to formulate party procedure on the issues which leadership has thrust (Continued on Page Three)

SEES VOTE ON WORLD COURT

Chairman Borah Promises Vote On Tribunal at Coming Session of Congress.

Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Chairman Borah of the Senate foreign relations committee, promised today a vote at this session on the World Court which he is opposing.

Borah stipulated only that the question of American adherence to the court await disposition by the Senate of "pressing domestic problems."

"I have assumed all along," he said in a statement correcting charges that he would favor indefinite postponement of the court, "that as soon as pressing domestic matters were out of the way, the question of the world court would be taken up and be disposed of. I can assure you that it is entirely agreeable to me."

The court foes, led by Borah, are predicting privately again in strength which some believe will cause the protocol of adherence to be rejected.

GERMANY SAYS SHE CAN'T PAY

Financial Statesmen Ready Show World Reparations More Than she Can Bear.

Basel, Switzerland, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Armed with bundles of figures and statistics, Germany's financial statesmen prepared today to begin another exhaustive attempt to show the world her war reparations are more than she can pay.

The sessions of the Young plan advisory committee which the German showing will be made do not begin until Monday, but the national delegations were gathering today, and many informal conferences seemed likely to take up the week-end.

Dr. Theodore Melchior, head of the German delegation, is believed to have so much material prepared that an adjournment of the committee for two or three days may be necessary to give an opportunity to the members to study the figures.

Walter Stewart, United States member, with the English, Japanese and Italian representatives are not looked for until tomorrow.

The committee was appointed by the seven central banks affiliated with the World bank for international settlements, and its first task will be to decide whether to appoint four more members, a privilege the Young plan accords it.

Urges Banks Not To Pay Dividends
Raleigh, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The bankers of North Carolina today had before them a proposal by Governor P. Hood, state commissioner of banking, that they charge off their losses and stabilize their valuations this year instead of paying dividends.

He said that uninvested cash reserves have reduced banking profits—that many have suffered losses which should be charged off, and that inflated values need to be depreciated to their real value.

CONVENTION TO MEET HERE

One Day Gathering Scheduled for Eighth Street Christian Church Dec. 8th.

A one day convention will be held at Eighth Street Church of Christ Tuesday, December 8th, and prominent workers of the denomination are expected to be in attendance.

Speakers will include leaders of thought in this and other sections of the country. The convention is one of 218 scheduled by the United Christian Missionary Society. Last year 105 gatherings of a similar nature were held and were attended by 49,865 persons representing 2,197 churches of the country.

In one day those attending the conventions get a world wide view of the Christian service they are making possible through their church. Preachers and laymen meet together with missionaries and other leaders, and together they face the responsibilities of the brotherhood work which they enjoy as a common task.

These one day conventions have become one of the greatest enterprises of the Disciples of Christ and one of the most effective means of presenting the broad work of their communions.

Speakers for 30 years medical missionary at Chuchow, China; Miss Bertha Clawson, former head of the Long Girls' School, Tokyo, Japan; Mrs. H. H. Settle, state secretary woman's work; C. C. Ware, North Carolina secretary Disciples of Christ, and Rev. John Barclay, minister of the Wilson church.

An outstanding feature of the convention is the church leaders' banquet at 6:30 p. m. This is for all members of the church, but the church officers and other leaders are especially urged to be present. The banquet program will include speakers with first hand information about the world-wide service of Disciples of Christ.

Another feature is the stewardship hour, an hour given over to a discussion of problems which will be of keen interest to the local churches. In the present emergency stewardship is an answer, a challenge to the strength that has not been fully applied.

The general theme of the convention is "Our Message of Jesus Christ." Three sessions will be held beginning at 10:30 a. m. 1:30 p. m., and the evening session held about the banquet table at 6:30.

Noble Awarded Mayflower Cup

Raleigh, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Dr. M. C. S. Noble's "History of the Public Schools of North Carolina" has won for him the Mayflower Society cup awarded for the best work written by a North Carolinian during the past year.

The award to the veteran University of North Carolina professor was announced here last night at the final meeting of the State Historical and Literary Society, which has just closed its 31st annual convention.

The principal speaker last night was Dr. Ulrich B. Phillips of Yale University, who defended the old southern system of negro slavery as "sanctioned by the Bible and all human history, more beneficial than the present white slavery of northern industries" and the "beneficial base of a cultured, flowering civilization."

CAUSE OF FIRE UNDETERMINED

Johnston's Warehouse Containing Thousands and Hogsheads Tobacco, Damaged By Fire, Smoke and Water; Other Buildings Threatened But Firemen Handle the Situation with Assistance from Washington and Farmville

Fire last night destroyed McGowan & Cannon's warehouse, in the heart of the Greenville tobacco district, and damaged other buildings and tobacco estimated in the neighborhood of $150,000.

The blaze repeatedly spread to Johnston's warehouse across the street from the burning structure, but firemen, using every available piece of fire fighting equipment in the city, prevented destruction of the building, although the roof was damaged considerably. One thousand hogsheads of tobacco stored in Johnston's warehouse by local dealers were badly damaged by heat, smoke and water, and while the loss had not been determined pending more complete investigation, it was roughly estimated at $50,000.

Approximately forty thousand pounds of tobacco on the floors of McGowan & Cannon's warehouse, was completely destroyed along with several trucks and all warehouse equipment. The loss was estimated at $100,000, and was partly covered by insurance.

Washington and Farmville fire departments responded to calls for aid and rendered invaluable services in preventing the blaze from spreading to other buildings.

The fire, originating in the basement in the rear of the warehouse, had gained such headway when firemen arrived that all their efforts to check the conflagration proved of little avail. The building in a few minutes was converted into a blazing inferno, and sparks flying high into the heavens constituted a grave menace to surrounding buildings. Had it not been for the heavy rainfall which visited the community the previous night and day it was believed adjacent buildings would have been reduced to ashes.

The cause of the fire had not been determined. A night watchman on duty in the front of the building said the first he knew of the fire was when he was attracted by a blast, believed to have resulted from combustion, in the rear of the structure at about 11:30 o'clock.

The fire alarm was sounded several times and every available piece of the fire fighting equipment was rushed to the district and put into service. Realizing the futility of trying to save the building after being repeatedly forced back into the open by heat and smoke, firemen confined their attention to saving nearby structures.

While the flames were virtually under control when Washington and Farmville firemen reached the scene, they were used in showering nearby buildings with water to prevent ignition by flying sparks. Roof of several surrounding buildings were damaged by heat and water.

The entire tobacco district was illumined when the blaze broke through the roof of the warehouse and hundreds of people from over the city and surrounding community were attracted to the scene.

Although it was stated the building would be rebuilt, no definite plans for continuing warehouse business this season had been decided upon today by McGowan & Cannon. It was reported during the morning hours that they would finish the season in Johnston's warehouse, at present used for storage purposes, but the plan was abandoned.

The building destroyed by fire was constructed of brick, steel and wood and covered 72,000 feet of floor space. It was one of the largest of its kind in the city, and was erected by the late J. N. Cannon during the beginning of the period of expansion on the local market.

ABOUT TOWN

Gratifying indeed is the news that the Rosenwald Fund and the United States Public Health Service have appropriated funds for continuing clinics among the colored people in this section.
This will make it possible for the County Health Department to almost completely stamp out venereal troubles among the colored people, creating a reality of the dream of public health workers united in an effort to improve this condition.
A colored nurse will be assigned to this county to work in conjunction with the public health department and that she will be able to accomplish much toward the education of her people in the prevention of disease is not to be doubted.
The health department is to be congratulated upon the additional appropriations because it shows work along this line is not only proving beneficial locally, but is winning additional recognition.
Four persons were killed and ten injured in twenty-three accidents in this division of North Carolina Highway Patrol during the past month. It was set forth in the report of Lester Jones, division lieutenant, yesterday.
This is the largest toll of life taken by automobiles in several months and should impress the public with the danger forever facing them while on the public highways.
The State Highway Department, in conjunction with other units, is attempting to bring the people to a realization of the need of more careful attention to highway traffic laws in an effort to effect a decrease in the toll of life, and their effort would bear fruit if the average driver would only stop to think.
It is a serious situation, one demanding the attention of thinking men and women everywhere, and it is to be hoped the useless waste of life and property will be tremendously reduced in future months.

Trying to prevent duplication of effort in the attempt to relieve suffering among the poor in this community during the winter months, the city has started a census of destitute families.
The census will be taken by the police department and will be completed within a few days, in the opinion of George Clark, chief of police. Much misdirected effort has featured charity relief campaigns in recent years. J. H. Boyd told members of the Board of Aldermen Thursday night, and only by a complete census of the poor may the city hope to render assistance to those deserving it.
There are persons, in the opinion of Chief of Police Clark, who are eternally willing to accept help if they do not have to pay for it. He told of a case only a few days ago of a man coming to him in quest of fuel. "I told him he might have some wood if he would cut it," the chief quoted himself as saying, "but he said his back was in such bad condition he could not do hard labor."
Scores of such cases come to the attention of the policemen from time to time, and how much greater is the problem confronting those engaged directly with the responsibility of dealing with the situation.
The aldermen have hit upon a happy plan to bring about a more complete coordination of effort this winter, and it will have a tendency to eliminate the professional beggars, and other kinds of human parasites constantly seeking aid without employing their own effort to improve their condition.
Don't neglect purchase of tuberculosis Christmas seals until the last minute. Supply your needs at once and have the tiny seals at hand when you begin sending away Christmas letters and parcels.
The health department of the Woman's Club is doing everything possible to increase their sales this year and in that way obtain more money for their relief work.
Ninety per cent derived from the sales go to take care of the local charity campaign, and the remainder is confined to national needs. This is a cause of which everybody interested in the dire distress and suffering existing among the people should be appreciative and it is to be hoped purchases will be liberal.

Sunset Pass

got saddle, bridle, spurs, riata—all Mexican, Sol, and if they don't knock the punchers on this range, I'll eat them. My Texas pardner gave them to me. And last, I reckon I'll require some more hardware."
This last came reluctantly with a smile not quite grim from Rock. "Ahuh! . . . An' with all this outfit you're headin' for Sunset Pass, asserted Winter, wholly grim.
"Year. I'm going to ride down slow and easy-like, renewin' old acquaintances and makin' new ones. Then I'll end up at Gage Preston's and strike him for a job."
"Son, it's a bold move, if it's all on account of Thiry," returned Winter. "Gage Preston can't hardly refuse you a job. He needs riders. He has hired about every cowpuncher on the range. But they don't last."
"Why not?"
"Ash gets rid of them, sooner or later. Reckon about as soon as they shine up to Thiry."
"How does he do that?" queried Rock, curiously.
"Wal, he scares most of them. Some he has bused up with his fists. An' several punchers he's driven to throw guns."
"Kill them?"
"None. They say he just crippled them. Ash shoots quick an' where he wants."

Chapter 8
DANGEROUS BUSINESS AHEAD
"Sol, I'll not sub Amy, but I can't go playin' round with her."
"Wal, that's what she'll expect."
"Sol, what did Amy mean by sayin' Thiry had an unnatural love for her brother?"
"I don't know. Sure I never seen anything unnatural about Thiry. An', Rock, I've heard that a very same remark before. It's just low-down talk by nasty people. All the same, it bothered me."
"Is sort of jarred me. Funny how gossip can sting you, even when you know where it comes from. Sol, how much money do you owe?"
"Couple of thousand, an' when that's paid off I'll be on the road to prosperity again."
"Old-timer, you're on it right now. I'll take that much stock in your business," went on Rock, crisp and business-like, as he took out his pocketbook.
"Son, I don't want you to do that," protested Winter.
"But I want to. Here's five more, which I want you to put in your bank, on interest, but fixed so you can draw it out quick."
"You want it to your name?"
"No. Put it in your name. Reckon we'd better add another thousand to that five. I only need enough money to buy a spankin' outfit."
"Son, suppose somethin' happened to you," said Winter, gravely, as he fingered the money. "You know this is a sudden country."
"Sol, my parents are livin' an' though old, they're in good health. They live in Illinois. I was brought up in western Illinois, town of Carthage. Went to school there till I was fourteen. Then we moved to Nebraska. Dad went in for ranchin' and lost all he invested. Then my folks went back home, but I stayed on, and drifted all over till I landed here."

"Son, I always was curious about you—where you come from, if you had any folks. How old are you, Trueman?"
"Reckon I'll never see thirty-two again," returned Rock, ruefully.
"Cowboy, you sure hide your age. Fact is, you always was a mysterious cuss."
"To go on about the money. If anything should happen to me—while I'm claimin' it went—you send this six thousand to my folks. I'll leave the address with you. Also some papers and things for safe-keepin'."
"An' how about the two thousand you're investin' with me?" queried Sol with a smile.
"You can just forget about that."
Winter shook his lean old head sagaciously, almost sadly. "Son, you were always open-handed. How did you ever save all this money?"
"Never did save it, Sol," returned Rock with a laugh. "Went in with a pretty big rancher in Texas. He had enemies—one of them a sure enough crooked hombra. I just naturally gravitated toward removing that hombra from disfigurin' the general landscape down there. My pardner did well after that. Then a railroad came out our way. We sold out, and I found myself with ten thousand."
"Uhh!" exclaimed Winter, his eyes narrowing to slits. "An' you found yourself needin' to get out of Texas?"
"Wal, Sol, there sure wasn't any need of my gettin' out at all," replied Rock, dryly. "I hung round for weeks to give my pardner's enemies the chance they circulated round they were lookin' for. But they didn't seem to be lookin' very bad for it. So I got homesick and hit out for Wagontongue."
"I'm goin' to be a plain cowpuncher and start in where I left off here six years ago."

"What's the idea of pretendin' to be poor, when you've got a big stake for a cowbo?"
"Sort of suits me, Sol."
"You'll need an outfit."
"Sure. Two saddle-horses—the best on the range, if money can buy them."
"We can find one of them pronto," replied Winter, with satisfaction. "We'll walk out to Leslie's. He's sellin' out an' he has some good stock. One horse in particular. I never saw his beat."
"All right, Sol. Then I'll need a pack-horse and outfit. In the mornin' we'll pick out a tarp and blankets, grub and campin' outfit. I've

SHOWER FOR MISS FULLILOVE, BRIDE-ELECT

On Friday evening at eight o'clock, Mrs. W. H. Bradsher and Mrs. Knott Proctor entertained a number of friends at the home of Mrs. Bradsher, at a most attractive shower, complimenting Miss Carolyn Fullilove, whose marriage to Mr. Dink James is to take place during the Christmas holidays.

As the guests arrived, they were greeted by the hostesses and directed to the punch bowl, where beneath a canopy of smilax, tulle and wedding bells, punch was served by Mesdames Clifton Edwards and J. B. Cummings. After an esthetic dance by little Miss Peggy West, pencils and paper were passed and everyone asked to write a wish to the bride. These were placed in a wishing well artistically arranged at the end of the spacious hall. The wishes were drawn from the well and read by Mrs. Proctor, and brought forth much merriment, ranging from the sublime to the ridiculous.

As Mrs. H. H. Settle played several selections on the piano, the bride-elect took her seat on a white and green throne in the sun room and Ione Hooker Bradsher and Knott Proctor Jr., dressed in bright colored pirate costumes came in, drawing a treasure chest of gold on a beautiful float, a real work of art, skillfully wrought by Miss Bettie May Potter.

The gifts were presented by an original poem read by Mrs. W. A. Ryan. Miss Fullilove was most gracious in her acceptance of each one as she opened and admired them.

Mrs. Mamie Bradsher and Mrs. T. E. Hooker, seated at each end of the beautifully appointed table, served an ice course in the dining room which was all aglow with burning tapers. Smilax, tulle and bells were draped from the chandelier to the corners of the table, which was covered with an imported Venetian lace cover, with a basket of white roses in the center.

Expressions were heard on all sides not only for the pleasure of this delightful evening but the fact Miss Fullilove, who has meant so much to both the social and religious life of Greenville, is to make this her future home.

They began preparing also with their Senate colleagues a broad legislative program which they hope to make a pre-convention platform laying before the people of the country the party's ideas for economic betterment. A more immediate purpose was to head off, if possible, a disorganized chase after legislation which cannot pass.

The senate Republicans, organized yesterday without aid of their independent element, were confident of controlling their chamber by virtue of majority, despite internal friction over the president pro tem, George Moses of New Hampshire.

The prohibition vote advocates threw their weight behind the generally supported loosening of House rules, while the group of Independents, Republican and Democrat and Farmer Labor, pledged itself to support the most liberal program offered.

A section of the senate Republicans settled down to decide whether to try reducing the Democratic contingent by barring John H. Bankhead of Alabama, whose seat is contested. Two other southerners will not be at the first session Monday so in any case the G. O. P. is nearly sure of controlling organization.

Gathering in the House chamber where early in the week the Republicans chose their leaders, the Democrats set the unopposed nomination of their leaders first on the caucus program. Rules were next for attention with an almost certain approval of a liberal program.

Rainey, the leader candidate, although a dry wanted it possible to get a prohibition vote out of the way; the Tammany delegation of 33, sought the same object to continue a fight against the Eighteenth Amendment. South and north, wet and dry, the greater number sought a slackening of control by party heads.

Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Garner, fiery leader of the House Democrats today was named as their candidate for speaker.

Announcement by advocates of a Democratic steering committee which would serve as a council of war that they would not press that point before the caucus left the proposed liberalization of the House rules as the only remaining important question still in dispute.

The decision not to press the steering committee proposal came after a conference between Garner and a group headed by Representative Byrns of Tennessee. The group had planned to force the matter to an issue. Garner opposed the plan.

Arnold of Illinois, secretary of the caucus called the meeting to order and of the 219 Democrats, 215 answered on the first roll call. It was announced that three of the missing members were in Washington and that the fourth, Percy Stewart, who recently was elected from the fifth New Jersey district, would be here Monday.

Before the roll call, the Democrats crowded around Garner and Rainey to wish them luck in the fight for the speakership Monday.

Garner sat at his old seat on the floor quietly smoking a cigar. Rainey wore his customary soft black bow tie and carried a sheaf of papers.

and for particularly brilliant lighting displays and these are pushing forward plans for duplicating the attractions this year. Other towns will hang out lights and erect trees on streets in accordance with the spirit of the occasion.

Columbia reports the city will be a "veritable fairyland" during the season. Along the streets are trees where lights have been strung for a mile, all converging at the state house. Santa arrived there by plane this week and was escorted to the capitol where Governor Blackwood and Malor L. B. Owens greeted him.

In Asheville, Santa has arrived and is living in a white igloo in the business section. Streets are decorated with evergreens and lights and merchants have added displays to those put up by the city.

At Greenville, S. C.—Santa came to town and was greeted by 20,000 people. A parade was held in which nearly 1,000 children participated. The fame of Greenville's annual rendition of Handel's "Messiah" at Greenville Women's College has spread to many states and the Chamber of Commerce has received requests for information of people who say they want to stop over for the program on their way south.

Raleigh merchants appear heartened over trade prospects which the trade exposition there forecast.

WIFE TO HELP CULBERTSON

The Former Josephine Murphy to Take Part in Championship Bridge Match.

New York, Dec. 5.—(AP)—"The Elder Statesman" some years ago gave a certain young woman named Josephine Murphy her first lessons in the game of bridge—partly, she thinks, "because they thought it would be a good joke to make a bridge expert out of a woman."

Next week she starts on a six weeks' contract bridge match, one woman playing with three men, and, if she and her partner win, it will cost one of her teachers, Sidney S. Lenz, $1,000.

Josephine Murphy is now Mrs. Ely Culbertson, wife of the blond young man who came charging out of Russia to upset the bridge tables of the U. S. A., and the match is to be the Culbertson system of contract bridge bidding against the Lenz system, with a $5,000 Culbertson wager against a $1,000 wager by Lenz. Six weeks of play, 150 rubbers, perhaps 1,000

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Cotton opened barely steady today at a decline of two to four points on overnight selling which seemed to come from the continent. January sold off to 6.01, firings were absorbed later on covering and the market steadied.

Liverpool cables were relatively steady on Bombay and trade calling and reported a fair British home trade in cotton cloth. The amount of cotton on shipboard at U. S. Ports awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 225,000 bales against 133,000 last year.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Sharp late upturns in wheat values today accompanied renewal of stock market strength. There were also estimates that fresh export dealings in North American wheat amounted to 1,000,000 bushels, offerings grew scarce on the upward swing of prices, and speculative sellers switched generally to the buying side.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The financial markets ended the week with a wave of cheerfulness today. The effects of a calmer appraisal of both domestic and foreign conditions was apparent. The statement of Adolf Hitler, reiterating the German Fascist party's respect for private debts, tended to quiet uncertainty over the central European financial outlook.

While weekend surveys reported little change in basic industrial conditions at home, signs of a distinct improvement in retail trade, with the approach of the holiday season, appeared to have stimulated general business sentiment.

Share prices surged up about 1 to 2 points for many prominent issues. In bonds, foreigners, notably German and domestic rails.

In stocks, recoveries of 2 to 4 points were registered in such issues as U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, American Can, Eastman, Allied Chemical, C. & C., New Haven, Union Pacific, and Santa Fe.

Issues up a point or more included General Motors, General Electric, Bethlehem, Sears, Woolworth, American Smelting, Borden, General Foods, and others. In the main, however, oils and coppers were narrowly changed.

CAMPAIGN FOR THE POOR AROUSES INTEREST HERE

blessed with weather conditions unusual for this season, the real pangs of hunger and cold have not been felt as they will within a few days. With the heads of hundreds of families out of employment now, and indications that the situation will be even worse later on, it now appears that suffering among the poor will be more acute this year than ever before unless citizenship respond liberally to the call being made by the committees in charge of the relief work for Greenville and community.

A census made discloses the situation in some sections as already serious. Because of low prices for farm products there are scores of tenant farmers penniless and in many instances without food, necessary clothing for a shelter to cover the heads of shivering and hungry children.

Efforts are now being made to create work of some kind for the unemployed of the city. But even if this is done there will be need of much relief work among the sick and with the widows and orphans.

It will be necessary to raise $5,000 if the work is even partially done, and the committee is asking for old clothing, food and fuel in addition to this amount of money.

Judge Condemns Action of State Executive Dept.

Asheville, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Judge A. M. Stack today condemned the executive department of the North Carolina State government for what he said was its "interference with the judiciary" and asserted it was "largely destroying the efficiency of the courts."

He criticized Tyre C. Taylor, executive counsel to Governor O. Max Gardner, who he said had made efforts to secure reductions in sentences for defendants.

Judge Stack's remarks were made in Superior court shortly before he sentenced R. P. Starnell, 35, Asheville, convicted of manslaughter, to state's prison at Raleigh for five to eight years.

"This interference of the executive department with the judiciary is largely destroying the efficiency of the courts," Judge Stack remarked.

SAYS WETS TO GET NOWHERE

Dr. Scott Tells W. C. T. U. Prohibition Opponents do Not Have a Chance.

Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP)—A forecast that wets in the coming congress would get nowhere in actual enactment of laws against prohibition was pronounced today before the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Dr. Isora Scott, who keeps her finger on the pulse of prohibition in the capital, lined up the prospects in an exceedingly frank discussion for a regional rally of white ribboners.

"I predicted slight gains of support for a bill to make the buyer equally guilty with the seller of liquor, and announced the author, Senator Sheppard of Texas, 'is not likely to lead an aggressive fight for the measure.'

"In fact, the friends of prohibition believe," she revealed, "that we have enough law if we could get the people to observe the spirit of the Eighteenth Amendment. In such an event, we should not have need of punishing the buyer, and there would be no seller if there were no demand for the drug."

Dr. Scott called for a tightened padlock law and proposed authorization of access to wholesale and retail industrial alcohol dealers premises to facilitate tracing shipments.

All the bills were introduced last year she "suspected" would be reintroduced.

"We are hoping they will get no further than they did last session, which was introduced and referred to proper committee for consideration," she continued. "However, no one can prophesy with assurance about this. If one reads from the wets in the newspapers, he thinks all the congress is fast coming their way. If one reads the line-up of the important leaders in the House under Democratic leadership, one doubts any great victories for the wet bills. We shall see what we shall see."

Reichers Leaves Miami For Newark

port here at 10:21 A. M., EST, today, one hour and 13 minutes after he left Havana in his attempt to break Captain Frank Hawks' speed record for a round trip from New York to Havana.

After hastily refueling his plane, Reichers and T. O. Warfield, his companion, hopped off for Newark airport at 10:38 A. M. He left Havana, where he was the guest of President Machado, at 9:09 A. M.

Reichers' flying time on the southbound trip was six hours 47 minutes as against eight hours and eight minutes for Hawks.

Both pilots made the Havana-Miami leg of the return flight in one hour 12 minutes. Hawks' flying time for the Havana-New York trip, when the record was made last July, was seven hours, 15 minutes.

Minister Dies At Lexington

Lexington, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow for the Rev. L. R. Thompson, 76, who died at his home here late last night after a short illness.

For 45 years he was an active member of the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was superannuated six years ago.

Mr. Thompson had served pastorates at Fayetteville, Wilmington, Washington, Elizabeth City, Carthage, Mebane, Durham, Henderson, Weldon and Louieburg. He was presiding elder of the Wilmington district at one time.

Surviving are his widow, a daughter and three sons.

Now, Here's a Hunter.
Charley, Pa.—Sam Banjo, welterweight boxer, has some real. He is glad it isn't beef. It seems Sam went hunting. He came upon a herd. When the smoke cleared away, a farmer told him he had shot a calf. He admitted that he had really aimed at a $400 bull. The calf cost him $30.
