CANNON ASKS JUDGMENT TO BE WITHHELD

Calls on Senate Members to Withhold Verdict Until He Can Make Reply

Washington, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Declaring he had not been given a promised opportunity to reply to charges against him, Bishop James Cannon, Jr., asked members of the Senate in an open letter today to withhold judgment on evidence of his activities in the anti-Smith campaign of 1928.

The letter said that last February the Bishop asked and was promised an opportunity to make a sworn statement to the Nye investigating committee.

He said he later decided definitely to make such a statement when the adverse evidence was complete, but that the committee ended its hearings, drew up a report and turned the evidence over to the district attorney without including his reply.

He was in Europe, he said, during the final committee hearings.

Younger Brother of Mussolini Dead

Milan, Italy, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Arnaldo Mussolini, 46, younger brother of the premier, died this afternoon in a hospital, after he had been taken from his automobile suffering from a heart attack.

He left the office of the newspaper D'Italia, of which he was editor, shortly before on o'clock to have luncheon at home.

He became ill in his car and was taken immediately to a hospital, where he passed away.

Fail to Obtain Clue in Slaying

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Jack Diamond's slayers appeared today to have lost themselves in the crowd of enemies the little second-rater in gangland had made for himself.

Police were admittedly without a definite clue to the two or three men who shot him just when he thought he was no longer important enough for his enemies to trouble to kill him.

They seemed to place much faith in a report that gang vengeance born from the belief that he "squealed" to prohibition officers about a $150,000 liquor cargo which was seized in New York was behind the slaying.

Former Legislator Passes Suddenly

Rockingham, Dec. 21.—(AP)—W. L. Parsons, 73, lawyer, former legislator and cotton mill owner, died of a heart attack while eating breakfast in his home early today.

Mr. Parsons was a native of Anson county, but had lived here for more than forty years.

He served two terms in the state senate, two in the House of Representatives and at different times presided over and engaged in the banking and cotton mill business.

Two sons and four daughters survive in addition to his second wife who was Mrs. Lucy West Litchford, of Raleigh.

Funeral services have not been announced.

Aged Woman Likes Flying

Kinston, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Mrs. W. F. Hart, 85, today declared she was going to fly again and as many times as opportunity presented itself.

While visiting here, her grandson insisted she take a flight and though "dubious" at first, she finally got in a hip and went aloft.

John Parrott, the pilot, said she was an excellent passenger with no exception, she didn't want to come down.

Gastonia, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Funeral services will be held here at 2 p. m. today for James Monroe Hoyle, 60, assistant United States attorney for the western district of North Carolina, who died yesterday after a stroke of apoplexy.

A native of Lincoln county, Mr. Hoyle received his education at Fallston academy and Rutherford college. While a teacher at Liberty, S. C., he studied law, completing his preparation at the University of North Carolina. He moved to Gastonia 20 years ago.

FIRE WRECKS LEAF HOUSE

Flames of Undetermined Origin Destroy Large Warehouse at Ry. Mount

Rocky Mount, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The Service Tobacco Warehouse, containing approximately 10,000 pounds of tobacco was destroyed here early today by fire of undetermined origin. It was one of the largest warehouses here.

Only the brick walls of the building, which contained 26,000 square feet of floor space, were left standing.

S. E. Ballentine and D. J. Ross owned the warehouse which had been closed since Friday for the Christmas holidays.

Nearby houses were not damaged by the flames which burst suddenly throughout the building. When firemen arrived the entire structure was ablaze.

The warehouse, valued at $60,000, was insured for $17,000. Firemen said the flames apparently started in the basement.

Tobaccoists here said its loss would "not affect the market" and that the other nine markets here would continue operations after Christmas as usual.

Andrew Joyner, of the State Insurance Department, said Rocky Mount had the lowest fire loss in the United States for a large city until today's fire.

Fear Levee Break In Flood Section

Batesville, Miss., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Fear of levee breaks at Asa, eight miles south of this city, became acute today as flood waters of the Tallahatchie river rose to within a few inches of the embankment's crest.

Reports had reached here that the levee protecting Asa was smashed by the turbulent tide but that proved erroneous. A group of men went from Batesville to the threatened area today and found the levee intact but under great pressure.

There is also danger of a break at Crowder, a village nearby. Sand bags have been used to strengthen the levee but the rapid rise of the water threatened to offset that precaution.

Lumberton, N. C.—Eugene Penny, 18, died here of wounds sustained when a shotgun accidentally was fired in his hands Friday.

Senate Leaders Assure Hoover of Quick Action On Relief Corporation

Washington, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Senate leaders of both parties assured President Hoover today at a White House conference of prompt action on the $500,000,000 reconstruction corporation after the Christmas holidays.

The president urged the earliest consideration for this measure by which he hopes to bolster up the national financial structure and (Continued on page two)

EIGHT KILLED ON HIGHWAYS

Thirteen Others Injured in Automobile Mishaps in the State Over Week-end

Charlotte, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Week-end automobile mishaps in North Carolina took a toll of eight killed and 13 injured.

Two of the deaths occurred at Washington. Lawrence Scott, an attorney, was killed when the car in which he was riding collided with that of three negroes. Both drivers, J. C. Chauncey and Arthur Long, negro, were arrested pending an investigation.

COLD SWEEPS OVER EUROPE

Freezing Weather Claims Eight Lives in France; Much Damage Elsewhere

Paris, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Eight persons were dead today in France as a result of a cold wave which has accompanied heavy falls of snow.

Four of the deaths occurred in the Lorient district, and one each in Paris, Senlis, Mulhouse and Saintes.

The temperature rose a little today and there were only occasional snow flurries.

London, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Freezing weather, with a blanket of snow, made a Christmas landscape of the whole of Europe today and set the stage for Santa Claus, although in some places heavy damage made the picture a costly one.

The blast of winter extended from Scandinavia to the shores of the Mediterranean.

A violent storm lashed the Baltic sea, accompanied by heavy snow, wrecking many houses along the shores and flooding others.

Scandinavia, especially Sweden, suffered the heaviest damage. For two days heavy snow, driven by a high wind, smothered the country, leveling forest trees over a wide area and causing heavy losses to timber interests. Telephones and telegraph wires were down and trains snowbound, while the towns and villages were almost buried under (Continued on page two)

Six Drowned in Effort to Save Michigan Youth

Multiple Tragedy Occurs On Small Lake As Child Rides on His Christmas Sled

Muskegon, Mich., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Orville Oman, 7, rode gallily to his death on a Christmas sled in the icy waters of a small lake near his home yesterday, and six other persons drowned in attempted rescues.

The multiple tragedy, which cost the lives of Orville's parents and four boys, occurred near Dalton, in northern Muskegon county.

The victims, besides Orville, were: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Oman, aged 33; Oliver Oman, 13, another son; Harry Ergang, an uncle of the boys, and Jones and Theodore Morgan, 17 and 14 respectively, also nephews of Ergang.

Orville could not wait until Christmas, and his parents gave him his sled yesterday. He set out at once for nearby Ergang lake. The two-inch crust of ice broke beneath him and he disappeared.

Mr. and Mrs. Oman saw him sink, ran to the shore and pushed a small boat across the ice toward him. Oliver was with them. They, too, broke through the ice.

Jap Troops Launch New Campaign In Manchuria

Japan started a new drive in Manchuria to the south of Mukden today and although the command said the movement was directed against bandits, there were those who believe that its purpose was to capture Chinchow before Christmas.

China sent a note of protest to the League of Nations and the foreign office issued a statement interpreted as a direct appeal to the United States to intervene in behalf of the nine-power treaty and the Kellogg-Briand pact.

Dr. Wellington Koo recalled that Theodore Roosevelt once prophesied that the Pacific would be the storm center of international politics in this century. He insisted that Manchuria should remain an integral part of China and that the Japanese military occupation was a violation of right and justice.

A Japanese estimate placed the bandit force at 30,000. There were no figures on the strength of the movement to the south but the morale of the troops was described as high in spite of the exceedingly cold weather.

SOLONS SEEK PAROLE FOR ALBERT FALL

Senators Lewis and Cutting Ask President to Liberate Former Interior Sec'y.

Washington, Dec. 21.—(AP)—A parole for Albert B. Fall, former secretary of interior, now in a New Mexico prison, was sought of President Hoover today by Senator Cutting, Republican, New Mexico, and Lewis, Democrat, Illinois.

It was understood on capitol hill that the two senators had suggested early action looking toward the release of Fall, who is now eligible for parole.

The president was said to have taken the position that such matters are in the hands of the Federal parole board, which acts as an independent body, and is capable of granting a parole on its merits without action of the Chief Executive.

There have been numerous pleas for the release of Fall, serving a year for accepting a bribe from Edward L. Doheny, the oil man.

The parole board is understood authoritatively to have considered Fall's case, but no action has yet been announced.

BUTLER SLAYS MILLIONAIRE

Woman Companion of Rich New Yorker Seriously Stabbed and Beaten

By ELTON C. FAY
Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Turned into a raging fury because he had been discharged, a Japanese butler stabbed and hacked his millionaire employer, J. William Schatz, 56, to death after a desperate struggle in the Schatz mansion here yesterday.

Aided by his meek sister-in-law, the butler then began a murderous attack upon Schatz's companion, Mrs. Florence Quick Carozza, 26, whom he had forced to look on as he killed the rich manufacturer and sportsman. Police summoned through the t-racing of her strangled call for help, arrived to save her from death after she had sustained two stab wounds and several hammer blows.

Authorities said the butler, Gantaro Akiyama, 38, stoically confessed the crime. His sister-in-law, Sadako Otsuka, 26, also confessed, they said. The pair was held on charges of first degree murder.

The attack began in the bedroom where Schatz and Mrs. Carozza were sleeping. Akiyama leaped through an open window from a porch roof and seized Mrs. Carozza who he believed had induced Schatz to discharge him. Schatz entered the battle and was hit over the head with a water bottle. The battle raged into the hall, where the Otsuka woman entered it when Mrs. Carozza tried to telephone for help. Schatz wailed under the attack of his small but wiry opponent and was dragged to the cellar. Then Mrs. Carozza was forced downstairs and held in a chair (Continued on page two)

Police gave Jack Gibson medical aid and then took him to jail.

SEN. JOHNSON IN REBELLION

California Republican Complains at Rush to Drive Debt Plan Through Before Holiday Recess; Senator Watson Says He Is Making No Attempt to Force Ratification but Insists on Speedy Action.

Washington, Dec. 21.—(AP)—A dispute over the Christmas recess and the Hoover moratorium sprang up in the Senate today with Senator Johnson, republican, California, complaining at the rush to drive the debt bill through.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, insisted he was making no threat to force the moratorium through before the holiday recess begins tomorrow night, but he urged that it be ratified before then.

Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, an advocate of the moratorium, called for "orderly procedure" and protested against continuous sessions on the debt holiday agreement. He proposed that Christmas recess be curtailed.

Senator Harrison, democrat, Tennessee, asked that the length of the Christmas recess be limited before debate was begun on the moratorium. He favored a short recess.

"I am willing to stay here constantly," interposed Johnson, "but I don't like to read in the newspapers as I did on yesterday that we are going to be held here and lashed by those who like to take European debts and saddle them on American taxpayers."

Watson said the resolution from the House for the holiday recess had been sent to the Senate. "I have said we ought to pass the moratorium if it is humanly possible before adjournment," he said. "That is the only threat I have made."

Johnson contended that those who signed the agreement on June 20 to support the moratorium "signed on a statement of facts that were not substantiated by the moratorium."

"I disagree entirely," Watson replied.

Watson said the House would have to be called back if the moratorium were not approved by tomorrow.

Borah protested against assuming that the House would not be on hand.

"We have been home for nine months and our wives and babies are tired of us," Borah said.

Capacity Crowd Witnesses Splendid Production at Presbyterian Church

The pageant was entitled, "There Was No Room," and was concluded with an inspirational consecration service stressing the thought, "There was no room then—is there room now?"

The decorations were completely in keeping with the occasion and were very effective as well as impressive. Bethlehem Inn, where Mary and Joseph were denied admittance, and the stable where Christ was born, were faithfully reproduced on the pulpit platform and a large star hung over the manger guiding the shepherds and wise men to where the Christ Child lay.

A choir composed of a dozen voices rendered several numbers, and Mrs. J. Knott Proctor accompanied in two solos. Miss Edith Marsden acted as accompanist during the rendition of the entire program. (Continued on page two)

Fire Destroys Two Buildings At Wilmington

Wilmington, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Fire of undetermined origin here yesterday destroyed two three-story buildings and store stocks valued at about $155,000.

Before firemen brought them under control the flames threatened the heart of the business district. The buildings, on Front street, were occupied by the McClelland Department store and a McKinney's Shoe store and contained many small offices. Nearby buildings were damaged slightly.

Owners of the buildings said they would rebuild immediately.

ONLY 3 SHOPPING DAYS

NEW PLAYER IN BRIDGE TILT

Baron Waldemar Von Zedtwitz to Assist Culbertson at New York Tonight

New York, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Having overtaken the opposition with Jo as partner and then acquired a lead with Teddie, Ely Culbertson will team up with Wally when his 150-rubber match of contract bridge with Sidney S. Lenz and Oswald Jacoby is resumed tonight. Later he expects to have Harold as partner.

Baron Waldemar Von Zedtwitz will play tonight instead of Theodore A. Lightner, who has been Culbertson's partner since Mrs. Culbertson withdrew in order to do her Christmas shopping. The baron was scheduled to play some of the match from the first arrangements. He is going away on a vacation tomorrow, hence his substitution for Lightner tonight. Lightner will be back in the game tomorrow night to continue until the holidays are over. Then Mrs. Culbertson will return to play at least 27 rubbers. She is supposed to compete for one half the match. She has played in 48 rubbers.

Culbertson has Harold S. Vanderbilt, his wealthy amateur friend, in mind for the last stages of the match. Vanderbilt, the originator of contract, devised bidding methods when the game was young which differ from Culbertson's, but will play the Culbertson system. He is regarded by Culbertson as without a superior as a player.

Culbertson's team will be 7915 points plus when hand 373, the first of rubber 64, is dealt tonight. The total points are 54,845 and 46,930. Culbertson and partner have won 34 rubbers compared with 29 for the opposition.

No expert regards the lead as at all decisive. It might be overcome in one session. It was largely accumulated in 15 rubbers. Lenz and Jacoby think it is based principally on favorable cards and expect a turn shortly.

There will be sessions tonight, tomorrow and Wednesday nights and Saturday afternoon. Beginning with Wednesday, the scene of the match will be changed from Culbertson's apartment in the Hotel Chatham to quarters at the Waldorf-Astoria with Lenz as host until the contest is over.

COLD SWEEPS OVER EUROPE

A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Stockholm said 3,000 unemployed persons were given work clearing the city streets. Many towns were without lights for two nights and motion picture houses were closed. Hundreds of automobiles were installed in the snow and several persons were injured in traffic accidents.

Paris of Germany, including Berlin, were covered with snow and freezing weather prevailed throughout most of the country. Many sections of France were white-blanketed and temperatures ranged from 7 degrees below freezing in Paris to 14 below in the country districts.

Italy did not escape the blast. Northern Spain was frost-bound.

She managed to flee but was attacked on the stairway just as police hammered on the door. Akiyama fled.

It was Mrs. Carozza's desperate attempt to telephone for help that saved her life. She was pulled away from the instrument before she had said more than a word.

but the receiver remained off-the-hook and the telephone operator heard the sound of the fight. The call was traced and police notified. They found Akiyama covering in a coal bin, his sister-in-law upstairs. Both submitted quickly.

Akiyama had brooded over his discharge, of which he had been informed by Schatz when Schatz and Mrs. Carozza returned from the theater and found unprepared the lunch Schatz had ordered.

Schatz ran a small beauty business into a fortune. He was prominent as a big game hunter and golfer. His home is an imposing place in an exclusive section of the city.

Officials, professing great perturbation over the reports, from which it appeared Chinchow might be the objective of the Japanese thrust, expressed the belief that "most dangerous complications" are likely "unless the Japanese refrain from further action."

Dr. Koo's new note to the League called attention to "the new serious situation" and said the Chinese military forces about Chinchow would "be compelled, in self-defense, to resist if the Japanese attack the town."

In the subsequent statement from the foreign office Dr. Koo declared Manchuria is an integral part of China and China has every right to control it. If this important part of Chinese territory is allowed to be made a prize of Japanese aggression," he said, and thereby become a scene of future war, it will not only endanger peace in the Far East but will shake the faith of mankind in the brighter outlook upon the world since the great war.

Dr. Koo further recalled the part various American statesmen have played in upholding the integrity of China from "predatory powers." The Japanese invasion, he said, violates article one of the nine-power treaty and also the Kellogg-Briand pact and the covenant of the League of Nations.

RECOMMEND CLOSE LIMITS FOR CAMPAIGN EXPENSES

All candidates would be made directly responsible for any expenditures in their belief either by agents or by committees.

The special committee headed by Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota, based its plea for the legislation on its report of the expenditure of $5,505,712 in the 1930 senatorial campaigns.

The limits were set out in a bill presented by the special campaign funds investigating committee headed by Senator Nye, Republican, of North Dakota. The maximums it would prescribe in future campaigns:

For presidential nomination, $250,000.
For Presidential election, $5,000,000.
For senatorial nomination and election, $50,000 each.

For nomination and election to the House, $10,000 each.
Further, the senate expenditures would be limited to two cents a vote, the House to four cents a vote, for every vote cast for all candidates for the office in the preceding election, so as to allow for great variation in number of voters to be reached in different states.

The committee based its contention for a tight curb upon Federal candidates, on its report of the expenditures of $5,505,712 in the 1930 Senate races alone. Under the bill a permanent joint congressional committee on elections would be established to supervise campaigns and to receive and make public the reports of expenditures.

Violation of the law would involve forfeiture of an election and disbarment from public office for a stipulated period. Willful violation would be penalized with a ten year disbarment from public office and a fine and prison sentence.

In the 1926 campaign, the Senate investigating committee headed by Senator Steiwer, Republican, Oregon, reported that Herbert Hoover's nomination cost $395,254 and Alfred E. Smith's $152,622. In the ensuing election drive the committee reported, $9,433,695 was spent in behalf of the Republican ticket and $7,152,511 for the Democrat.

"We assured the president," said Senator Watson, "that at the earliest possible moment after the Christmas recess, we would take up and speed work on the $500,000,000 reconstruction corporation. Hearings are now being held on this and we will have it in the Senate early in the new year."

Only last Friday, the president called in House leaders along with Ogden Mills, undersecretary of the treasury, to talk across the breakfast table about the moratorium, the emergency reconstruction corporation, and the bill to increase Federal land bank capitalization, two of which already have been passed by the House and laid before the Senate. They assured him consideration of his economic program would not be delayed.

GLEE CLUB RENDERS SPECIAL PROGRAM
A glee club from Free Union, Greene county, give a very interesting program at King's Cross Roads Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The program consisted of a number of choruses, quartets, duets and solos all of which were well rendered. The program was under the direction of Mrs. Barber of Snow Hill. There were about 25 or 30 people in the club and they reflected much credit on themselves and those who trained them.

Prominent among the numbers was an address by Miss Lena Carraway, secretary of the club. Miss Carraway discussed the present trend of morals from a scientific standpoint and all who heard her declared it to be a great masterpiece. Miss Carraway, it is understood, will deliver an address at this place Friday night, January 1. We are fortunate in securing this talented young lady and it is hoped the public will avail themselves of the opportunity to hear her.

MRS. SAWYER URGES CLUB WOMEN TO TAKE INTEREST IN MUSIC

Listen to the mocking bird, club women, or to any other song bird and what do you hear? And what do you feel? Don't you hear joyous, spontaneous music-making that makes you wish to follow as a creator of music, too? All the year round we North Carolina club women have the blessed opportunity of making music, and many of us sit peacefully by a radio without a thought of exercising our muscles or our brains in an effort to add something to our state's achievement in music. Let the "thought be father to the deed" as you read this, you musicians, who are as well qualified as those of any other state, and enter the contests for two cups offered through the Music Department of the N. C. F. W. C., the Duncan and Florence M. Cooper cups, waiting to be awarded for the first and second best original musical compositions, either vocal or instrumental.

Nothing worthwhile comes without effort and one trial of the wings may be discouraging, but success usually crowds determined effort. At least it would be an interesting worthwhile experiment to any true musician to think out and write down a musical idea. Just try it.

It would be fine to celebrate McDowell Memorial Week, the last week in January, by doing creative work for the Peterborough Colony in New Hampshire was instituted for just such work. Also, during that week let McDowell and his music fill our programs and study.

Don't forget National Song Week in February, especially featuring patriotic programs of Colonial and Civil War periods, with George Washington and his music uppermost, this being the bicentennial anniversary of his birth.

Look out for the February issue of the Federation Bulletin. It will fairly reek with music and we of the music department hope you will like it.

As I write I am hoping that more Christmas carols will be sung this year than ever before around more community Christmas trees laden with gifts for those less fortunate than many of us.

Will all clubs who intend celebrating the George Washington bicentennial with music, colonial dances, etc. please write me to that effect as soon as you have made your plans?

Mrs. C. J. Sawyer, chairman, Music Dept., N. C. F. W. C.

American Legion Dance, Farmville

Farmville, Dec. 19.—Promising to be the most elaborate, brilliant and enjoyable social event of the holidays and of the early winter season, is the American Legion dance to be held at Knott's warehouse Monday evening, Dec. 21, from 9:30 to 2:00.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by Weede Meyers' 12-piece orchestra of Huntington, W. Va. It is one of the most popular orchestras of the south and has met with great favor in Eastern Carolina.

The decoration committee of the Legion is planning to make the dance section of the large warehouse a marvel of beauty, using Christmas colors and decorative motifs, with a huge Christmas tree overshadowing all. A moon will give the picturesque effect for the enjoyable moonlight waltzes and favors will be most attractive.

Joint Hostesses To D. A. R.
Farmville, Dec. 19.—The Major Benjamin May chapter D. A. R., was delightfully entertained Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. J. W. Joyner and Mrs. C. T. Dixon at the home of the regent, Mrs. T. C. Turnage. Holly and bar-berries were in crystal bowls with black bases and red candles in crystal holders together with season greens were used in the decorations.

A selection from Esther, emphasizing her nationalism, was used by the chaplain, Mrs. C. E. Moore or Wilson, for the devotional, Esther exemplifying the ideal patriot. The chapter accepted with pride and outspoken appreciation the reports of Mrs. J. Loyd Horton of the benefit play committee and of Miss Tabitha DeVisconti, of the conservation and thrift committee.

Pursuing its study of George Washington, the chapter heard with interest, sketches of his social life before and after the Revolution, given by Mrs. J. Loyd Horton and Mrs. Mary Moyer Patterson. Miss Daphne Carraway of Wilson, known as "Dixie's Story Teller" was present, having recently returned from a chautauqua tour of North and South Dakota and Montana, and spoke enthusiastically of the optimism and spirit of the homesteaders in that part of the country. Mrs. J. L. Shackelford, president of the Tyson Reunion, was a guest also and took occasion to express appreciation for the support given the recent reunion by this organization.

Delicious refreshments served by the hostesses, consisted of mince pie topped with cream, black coffee, cheese pastries and Christmas candies.

Lumberton Bank Fails To Open

Lumberton, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The Planter's Bank and Trust Company, one of Lumberton's two financial institutions, failed to open for business today.

A notice, signed by K. M. Barnes, president, and posted on the door, said the bank was "closed by order of the board of directors to conserve the interests of depositors."

The bank was organized in 1916 taking over the Farmers and Merchants Bank.

A statement by Mr. Barnes said the bank has borrowed money in the spring of each year to assist farmers and business clients and re-paid the loans in the fall.

This year, however, because of the depression and the low value of cotton and tobacco, the bank's customers have been unable to meet their obligations and the bank has been unable to pay off its borrowings, the statement said.

Barnes said the bank is solvent. The assets exceed the liabilities by more than $100,000, he said, and expressed the opinion that depositors would be paid in full.

Former Governor A. W. McLean, president of the National Bank of Lumberton, the remaining institution, said his bank possesses large cash resources and is ready to meet any demands.

Liner Segovia Wrecked by Fire

New Port News, Va., Dec. 21.—(AP)—The liner Segovia which soon was to take her place on the seas as a merchant princess, today was a half submerged smouldering hulk.

Fire yesterday burned the United Mail Steamship Company vessel at the pier of her builders, the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company.

Underwriters already on the scene, today were determining the damage caused by the five hour blaze of undetermined origin. Shipyard officials had not decided whether the ship could be repaired.

City and shipyard firemen failed to prevent the ship's listing and finally the giant craft wallowed over on her side, her propellers exposed. Her masts and stack rested on the pier where she was receiving final touches before being commissioned January 30. She was a $3,525,000 ship, the Talamanca, in Pan-American trade. A third sister ship, the Chiriqui, berthed at the next pier, was not damaged by the fire.

ABOUT TOWN

The movement of Pitt county Democrats to draft Josephus Daniels as a candidate for governor will be in progress throughout the state within the next few days and probably culminate in a widespread rumor of popular approval.

Mr. Daniels is well versed in the needs of the state and nation and that he would be able to fill the important office with distinction to himself and the people he serves.

In the words of members of the staff committee here, the time has come for more constructive leadership in the political life of the state, and as the Raleigh publisher represents the highest ideals of the people, it is fitting that he should be called upon to fill the most important office it is in the power of the state to give him.

Mr. Daniels is well versed in the needs of the state and nation and that he would be able to fill the important office with distinction to himself and the people he serves.

It is difficult to conceive a more worthy cause than that to have school children sing for the sick Christmas Eve night, and the ability no doubt will lend its hearty probation.

School children will visit the homes of the sick from 8 to 9 o'clock Christmas Eve night and sing several selections for those who will be unable to take an active part in the observance of the occasion. They will also visit the hospital and then return to Five Points where one of the most impressive as well as inspirational programs of its kind ever rendered here will be presented.

Santa Claus, patron saint of children of all nations, will be on the scene to determine the wants of the children and through his personality add color to the event. The exercises will take place at the Christmas tree to be erected at Five Points today. Hundreds are expected to attend.

In spite of shortage of money, Christmas this year promises to be one of the best in years, and while its may not be as expensive as usual they will be accompanied by spirit that should make them of greater value to the recipients. The old saying that "it is not so much the gift as the giver" will find more practical application than ever and hearts will be filled with joy and gladness by the inexpensive offerings.

The approach of the Christmas holidays, with the attendant increase of pleasure-bound automobile traffic, makes it pertinent to emphasize the danger of accidents usually occasioned thereby.

The records show that the peak of accidents in each week is on Sunday. The danger curve begins to rise on Friday, reaching its apex on Sunday, and recedes through Monday and Tuesday. The danger curve each day begins to rise in the late afternoon when the pleasure seekers are abroad, and reaches its peak in the twilight between sundown and dark.

This cannot be explained by traffic congestion alone. It often happens, as on the occasion of the recent Carolina-Virginia football game, that immense crowds are handed upon the highways with almost no accidents. The explanation must be that when the public are traffic-minded they drive with care.

At the present rate of accidents, perhaps a hundred homes in North Carolina alone will have the Christmas season spoiled by the death or serious injury of some member of the family, due to careless driving upon the highways.

What a glorious thing if the Christmas-tide could be made a time of safety. Why not everybody take this occasion to see that his automobile is made mechanically safe—tires inspected, brakes tested, lights adjusted.

Figures just released by the National Safety Council show that practically twelve percent of fatal accidents are due to glaring headlights. This means an annual toll of a hundred deaths in North Carolina alone.

If you haven't contributed to the relief fund here, why not do so at once and help the committee speed up its work of caring for the countless men and women suffering from the effects of unemployment here.

Although a considerable sum has been raised, the committee has not yet realized the $5,000 needed to provide for the campaign during the winter. Hope has been expressed that those who have not done so will get busy and contribute as soon as possible and in that way do their bit toward a movement having as its object the mitigation of the suffering of those who will endure untold hardships without public aid.

DUROC-JERSEY AUCTION SALE WELL ATTENDED HERE

The first auction sale of pure-bred stock ever held in Pitt county was conducted at Oakhurst farm on the Greenville-Washington road about three miles from Greenville, last Saturday morning, and proved quite a success.

The sale was attended by stock fanciers from several surrounding counties and they exhibited considerable interest in the splendid products which Oakhurst had to offer.

J. H. Boyd, owner of the farm, stated that a total of 30 Duroc-Jersey hogs were sold and these were distributed among growers in eight counties.

Believing that sources of extra revenue are going to be necessary in the economic recovery of this part of the country, Mr. Boyd for the last several years has encouraged the raising of pure-bred stock and expressed himself as highly gratified at the interest manifested in the sale.

Sunset Pass

By ZANÉ GREY

SYNOPSIS: An enemy appears in Trueman Rock's first moment at Sunset Pass, where he takes a position with Gage Preston. Preston's son Ash invites him to leave. Despite Ash's unpleasantness, Rock stays because of his love for Thirty Preston's, Gage's daughter, and because he suspects Gage Preston of cattle rustling.

Chapter 21

QUICKLIME

"It was just daylight when I got down here," went on Harry. "Range and Scott were just ridin' off. Ash had your horse and saddle. Pa was cussin' Ash awful. Reckon they'd been arguin', 'cause Pa never cusses till he's wore out."

"Well, when he got done Ash says, 'Pa, how'd you like to go to hell?' Then he forks your horse and rides after the boys. Pa 'peared to be chokin' mad. All of a sudden he busted out laughin'. He climbed up on the wagon with Boots, and they left."

Rock for the moment succumbed to a silent fury. But seeing the gray-eyed brothers watching him curiously, keen to catch how he would take this first move of Ash's, he thought he had better explode naturally and wholesomely, as any cowboy.

"He took my new white horse! And my saddle that I wouldn't lend to the King of England! ... Never had that happen to me. Doggone!—Boys, was it sap posed to be a joke?"

"Joke nothin'." Ash was just mean, like he always is when we set a new rider. But reckon you'll have to take it as a joke."

"Huh! I will—like the old lady who keeps taverns out West!" replied Rock, with a short laugh.

"How'd that boss?" inquired Al, hugely delighted.

"Like h—," answered Rock. "Boys, I reckon I'm the maddest copperhead that ever was. I think I'll get a horse and saddle from you, and go after my horse."

"If you take my advice you'll swallow it—leastways till Ash comes back. Chances are he won't do Egypt no harm. If you follow Ash now, mad as you are, there'll only be another fight."

"Take it as a joke. Or better be nice about it, added Harry. That always stumps Ash. If he can't make you mad he lets up—for a while, anyway."

"Thanks, boys. I'll think it over," rejoined Rock, grateful for their solicitude. "But I reckon the good Lord himself couldn't keep my mouth shut—after that."

"Let's get to work," suggested Harry. "We're late. And Ash ain't the only one Pa can cuss."

While Rock and Al greased the wagon wheels, Harry hiked up, and by the time this task was done Tom rode in leading a horse. It was a bay that instantly took Rock's eye, and which would have made up for the loss of "most any horse, except one like Egypt."

"Where's Ash's saddle?" he asked.

"It's hangin' there," replied Al. "But, gee! you won't ride his, will you?"

"I'll be darned if I won't," returned Rock, with grim humor. "You boys rustle along. I'll catch up."

"Come down the road by the pasture, boss," said Al. "Then take the right-hand road. You can't miss the slaughter-house, for the stink will knock you down."

After the boys left, Rock proceeded to put Ash's saddle and bridle on the bay horse, but he was not in any hurry. This first trick of Ash Preston's, rankled in Rock. "Wonder what Thirty will say," he soliloquized. "She must have seen Ash on my horse. That's what upset her. ... Damn him!—He must be one of those people who make the angels weep. And there I am with my hands tied!"

When Rock rode around the barn he espied the wagon far ahead down the gentle slope. He came to the forks of the road, and taking the left one he entered the cedars climbed the ridge, and descended to a grassy open meadow, only to mount another cedar ridge. Rock rode up a sparsely cedared slope to a level bench, and soon came upon the site that had once been Slagle's ranch. The boys were halting before the several cabins. As Rock rode up, the stench unmistakably heralded a slaughter-house. Cabins, corral fences, barns and sheds, and even the trees bore ghastly evidence of the nature of what this old Slagle range had sunk to. Skins of cattle hung everywhere.

The horses were turned loose to graze, and Rock, with the three boys set to work. It was no easy task for one man or even two men, to fold a stiff hide and compress it into small space. But that was what they had to do. The Preston boys might have been skillful and diligent at other kinds of ranch work, but at this particular job they were lazy. They made no bones of saying they hated it and particularly the inescapable smell. Rock did not drive the boys, but he drove himself. He heard Al say to his brothers in an aside, "Sure he's a hawg for work."

Nevertheless, during this labor, and while joking with the brothers, without any ostensible interest in the place of the hides, Rock was bending all his keen faculties toward the end that he had determined upon. Nothing escaped his sharp eye, yet during the half day that it took to complete this job he did not observe anything that struck him significantly. Toward late afternoon, however, he happened to kick a piece of white substance, not alone, and of a color markedly contrasting with the red earth. When he picked it up he thought it was clay. He smelled it—tasted it. Quicklime! Rock put it in his pocket.

In due time Tom mounted the loaded wagon to drive home, while the other brothers rode off toward the woods, each now with a rifle over his shoulder.

"I'll poke along, Tom," said Rock. Presently Rock was left alone. The boys were so glib that he knew he could pursue his suspicions almost before their backs were turned. They surely were as honest boys as any one could find.

He took out the piece of quicklime. It did not appear to be very old. He looked around where he had found it to see if there was more. After diligent search he found a smaller piece. Quicklime in any quantity there might be used to deaden the stench of decaying offal, blood, and bones. Rock searched all the cabins, sheds, bins, without finding any more. None had ever been used upon the horrible pile that had accumulated in the hollow below the slaughter-house.

"Reckon no little piece of quicklime could get down here of its own accord," mused Rock, deliberating. "It sure never flew. It must have been fetched here with more of the same. What for?"

He had no other answer than the first he had conjectured. Manifestly, the Prestons left the entrails and skeletons of their cattle there on the ground to rot. No need to waste valuable time destroying what the hogs would soon do away with. But they might have left something here that they wanted to destroy quickly. Hides! Cow hides they could not sell because these did not bear their brands!

All of a sudden, into Rock's searching mind there flashed memory of a deep well he had once helped to dig on these premises. It had been a job, he rebelled, that every one of the half dozen cowboys had rebelled at, and had scornfully told Slagle was labor wasted. They had to go so deep that it was necessary to enlarge the hole. But they never struck water, and at eighty feet abandoned the effort.

Since that time brush had grown heavily all around the ranch houses, but after some search Rock located the well. The edges had weathered, widening the mouth. He was about to crash his way through the bushes, when his caution urged him not to leave a trail. Carefully he retraced his steps, worked around into a narrow path, in which he saw boot tracks.

Reaching the well, Rock peered down. He saw only the gravel sides and the black hole. He dropped a stone into it. No sound! He thought that strange. Selecting a larger one he leaned over and let it fall. The hole certainly was deep. A low soft thud, barely distinguishable, came to his taut ears.

"By gum!" he ejaculated. "That well had a rock bottom. ... We had to quit diggin' because of rock. Son-of-a-gun if this ain't gettin' hot."

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

STOCK MARKET

New York, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today, unchanged to 5 points off under southern and local selling promoted by easier Liverpool cables. January sold at 6.25.

There was not a great deal of selling by the south but there seemed to be considerable liquidation or realizing from commission houses while brokers with Liverpool connections had some selling orders after the opening and there was selling by New Orleans. January eased off to 6.19 and May to 6.55 with the active months showing net declines of about 5 to 7 points at the end of the first half hour. The report of the census bureau showing 15,358,405 bales ginned prior to Dec. 13 was about in line with expectations, or at least, had no appreciable effect on the early market.

New York, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Securities markets began the holiday week with signs of restored confidence today, as result of the strong boost received late last week. Stocks had a mild sinking spell for a time in the morning, but further indications of organized support in the bond market soon had a stimulating effect, and losses were widely replaced by small gains. Trading was fairly quiet.

Early losses of 2 points in New York Central and Santa Fe were regained, and the latter recorded an advance of more than 2. Hershey Chocolate sold up 4 points on a report that the annual dividend would be increased from $5 to $6. Miscellaneous issues up a point or so included Southern Pacific, Bethlehem Steel, Chesapeake and Ohio International Harvester, Consolidated Gas, Public Service of N. J., General Electric, DuPont, Corn Products, and others. Early losses of a point or so in U. S. Steel and American Telephone were recovered. In the oils, Standard of N. J. and Texas Corp. were rather heavy. Brokers reported that the buying in both stocks and bonds was of a distinctly encouraging character, with some interests coming into the market for the first time in months. It was pointed out, however, that pending developments in Washington and abroad, there was a distinct tendency to proceed slowly.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Grain values receded in the late dealings today owing more or less to disappointment over the decrease in the United States visible supply total being smaller than had generally been looked for. The decrease for the week amounted to but 1,135,000 bushels, compared with 4,145,000 bushels decrease the week previous. Export demand for North American wheat lacked volume, new business being only 600,000 bushels.
