SAYS LATIN AMERICA WAS PERMITTED TO OVER-BORROW IN U. S.

HUGE AMOUNT IS IN DEFAULT

James Corliss Tells Senate Finance Committee that Private Loans Were Floated in This Country For South American Nations Despite Adverse Information from Department of Commerce; $800,000,000 in Bonds Defaulted.

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Further testimony that private loans were floated in this country for South American countries despite adverse information from the Commerce Department was presented today to the Senate Finance committee.

James C. Corliss, specialist on Latin-American finance in the commerce department, testified that Latin-America had over-borrowed by 1928 and 1929.

He said the commerce department's information was available for any American citizen.

More than $800,000,000 worth of Latin-American bonds floated in this country since the war are now in default, he said.

The committee was told yesterday the Commerce Department had "reluctantly" given its consent in 1928 to a $23,000,000 loan to Bolivia because of troubled diplomatic relations with Latin-America.

Corliss told the authorities again of the department's adverse reports on financial conditions in Bolivia and Colombia previous to loans in those countries and of the competition of American bankers in Latin-American loans.

Governor Jones, chief of the finance division of the Commerce Department said Dillon, Read and Company, which floated the $23,000,000 Bolivian loan had not consulted him.

He said a small New York banking house asked for the department's bulletin of the state of Matto Grosso Brazil to which it was considering a loan.

The bulletin showed plainly that the loan was not warranted, Jones said, and the bankers asked that it be revised on the basis of a circular that they had received from the minister of finance of Matto Grosso.

Scrubwoman Given Welcome To Memphis

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Three Memphis scrubwomen and an official representative of the city formed a welcoming committee to greet Randi Leroh as she touched here on her way down the Mississippi today.

The occupational contemporaries of the Subiror, Wis., scrubwomen and who wanted to congratulate her on nearing the realization of an old ambition to travel the course of the big river, where Mrs. Mary Meyers, Miss Blanche Lawrence and Miss Mary Lee.

Randi Leroh's old scow, in which she rowed more than half the 2,100 miles from St. Paul to the gulf, now is perched atop the deck of the Mississippi Valley barge line's $500,000 tugboat, Louisiana, on which she is completing the journey to New Orleans.

She gave up her rowing at Cairo to accept a guest room on the tugboat when rivermen advised her conditions on the lower river were too dangerous for her to continue on through in her dilapidated old craft.

Fire Destroys Negro House

The home of Julius King, colored, on Hudson street, Riverdale, was practically destroyed by fire early today. The loss was estimated at about $700.

Originating from an undetermined cause, the flames had gained such headway when discovered that the building was practically doomed when the fire department arrived.

Two Women Fliers Die As Their Plane Crashes

Harrisburgh, Pa., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Gentry Shelton, a St. Louis, today reported that Mrs. Ruth Stewart and Mrs. Debbie Standford had been instantly killed when their plane crashed on Bowers Mountain late Monday afternoon.

Rosenwald Dead

The world mourned the death today of Julius Rosenwald, Chicago philanthropist, who during his lifetime gave $10,000,000 for the betterment of humanity.

ROSENWALD PASSES AWAY

Noted Philanthropist Dies at Chicago After Giving $40,000,000 to Help World

Chicago, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Julius Rosenwald, the philanthropist, is dead, but the philanthropies which brought him international renown, will live on for many years to come.

The 69 year old merchant prince, who began a brilliant business career by pumping an organ in a Springfield, Ill., church at five cents an hour, was more concerned by his gifts for the welfare of mankind than the hours left for him to live.

"Mr. Rosenwald was mentally alert through his illness," said Dr. Herbert Pollack, who attended him until his death at 2:55 P. M., yesterday. "He had apparently lost all interest in his vast business enterprises and was interested only in his philanthropy to the last."

Mr. Rosenwald, head of Sears Roebuck & Co., gave away approximately $40,000,000 during his life. He was vigorously opposed to "the dead hand in philanthropy," as expressed in perpetual endowments.

Powers Will Take Definite Action Against the Japs

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Definite and unmistakable action in the Manchurian situation has been decided upon by the interested powers.

Decision has been reached after conferences between Secretary Stimson and the British, French and Italian ambassadors.

In view of a probable declaration on the subject, State Department officials declined to comment on the nature of the action except to say it was "sweeping and unmistakable." The secretary called a special conference with American correspondents late today at which department officials said, he would discuss the Manchurian situation.

WILL IGNORE RASKOB MOVE ON DRY LAW

Democrats in Congress Think Success Lies in Solution of Economic Problems

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Congressional Democrats, who regard themselves as the real voice of the party intend to ignore the prohibition issue raised by Chairman Raskob of the national committee.

It is the firm conviction of the party chiefs on Capitol Hill that Democratic success in this year's Presidential campaign rests in successful solution of the economic crisis confronting the nation.

Moreover, the Democrats in Congress for the most part believe the prohibition issue is one which splits both parties and should be kept beyond the realm of a party tie.

Under the leadership of Senator Robinson of Arkansas, and Speaker Garner, the Democrats intend to focus every attention on the economic situation.

LEVEE BREAKS AT TWILIGHT

Blanket of Water Spreads Over Tallahatchie County, Mississippi

Glendora, Miss., Jan. 7.—(AP)—The flood swollen Tallahatchie levee at Twilight, Miss., broke last night and a blanket of water spread through southeastern Tallahatchie county toward Tippoe, Macel, Payne and Sharkey.

These villages are across the river from Glendora. The break, a gap of 35 feet, through which a 12 foot wall of water burst last night, was expected to relieve the river pressure here and at points south.

As refugees deserted the newly swamped areas, residents of the north sought the body of a negro farmer, Amos Smith, who was drowned in Cassidy bayou, north of Webb, yesterday as he attempted to save a herd of 20 mules. That area already has 50,000 acres inundated by back water.

Rivermen estimated between 40,000 and 50,000 acres would be swamped by last night's break at Twilight. Planters took warning and early today were moving 300 tenants from Sharkey plantation; which was under three feet of water.

H. L. Gray, planter, estimated 3,000 persons would be affected by the latest levee breach.

Residents of Crowder and Quitman county, fled to high ground today through the Lambert-Marks highway, which forms a dry "bottle neck" now that water surrounds the town on three sides.

On the west of the river, relief workers inspecting the Swan lake, Webb and Sumner areas, reported hundreds of stranded refugees in need of food and clothing, and said local committees could not hope to relieve them all. R. L. Ward, of Sumner, said a nation-wide appeal for aid will be necessary.

What had happened to the 3,000 Chinese troops stationed in that city, whom the Japanese ordered to evacuate yesterday, was not detailed in the reports but it was believed they probably had retired to Lunchow inside the great wall where 30,000 of their compatriots (Continued on Page Four)

South Plans To Expend $125,000,000 on Roads

Baltimore, Jan. 7.—(AP)—A $125,000,000 highway construction program and will have as income for the maintenance program, a forecast for thirteen states of the south and southwest this year, in a survey announced by the Manufacturers Record.

Economists saw the predicted expenditure as an important factor toward stimulation of southern business.

A $20,000,000 road program was reported as in prospect for South Carolina during the year to top off highway development that cost approximately $24,000,000 during the fiscal year that ended Sept. 30, 1931. Expenditure of approximately $12,400,000 was predicted for Maryland.

Virginia was figured to have a $17,500,000 road program ahead of it this year while North Carolina, which spent $3,398,000 on roads in 1931 under a long time plan, was predicted to spend between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 this year. North Carolina's highway system estimated to represent an investment of $184,000,000 July 1, 1931, since 1921.

Alabama plans to add about 300 miles to its road system in 1932 though its program has not yet been adopted. It built 238 miles of pavement and 313 miles of gravel, sand and clay and graded roads in 1931.

Mrs. John Elks Dies in Chicod

Mrs. John A. Elks, 51, died at her home in Chicod township yesterday afternoon after an illness of five days.

Funeral services were conducted from her late home this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by Rev. D. A. Windham, of Greenville, and burial was made in the family burying ground.

JAPS CAPTURE ANOTHER CITY

Shanhaiwan Falls Before Victorious Army in the Manchurian District

Tientsin, China, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Japanese troops captured the City of Shanhaiwan today, reports from there said.

Japanese troop trains, an armor ed train and supply trains began arriving at Shanhaiwan late yesterday, the advices said, and the city was formally occupied today.

As the Japanese military entered the city the posted a proclamation saying their occupation was "necessary," according to the reports.

The Japanese were said to be using the south Manchurian railway equipment for transporting troops toward Shanhaiwan. There reports in that vicinity was re- ported to be further increased with the arrival at Chinwangtao, ten miles from Shanhaiwan, of an additional airplane carrier and three gunboats.

What had happened to the 3,000 Chinese troops stationed in that city, whom the Japanese ordered to evacuate yesterday, was not detailed in the reports but it was believed they probably had retired to Lunchow inside the great wall where 30,000 of their compatriots (Continued on Page Four)

ARMY OF UNEMPLOYED MARCHES ON CAPITAL AND ASKS FOR JOBS

John Stedman Named To Succeed Capt. O'Berry

Raleigh, Jan. 7.—(AP)—John P. Stedman, 37-year-old Raleigh banker and American Legion member, today was named state treasurer of North Carolina to succeed Capt.

Nathan O'Berry of Goldsboro, who died yesterday. Mr. Stedman is believed to be the youngest man ever to become (Continued on Page Four)

MARCHERS LED BY A PRIEST

Ten Thousand Men Present Petitions to Congress and Pres. Hoover Asking For Jobs and Food For Those Unable to Work; Father James Cox Leads Marchers as They Camp At Washington City.

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The purely leader of a peaceful army of unemployed today petitioned Congress and the president for jobs and food for those unable to find work.

Father James R. Cox of Pittsburgh led his army of more than ten thousand men in an orderly demonstration at the door of the capitol and then was received at the White House by President Hoover.

He gave his petition to Senator Davis and Representative Kelly of Pennsylvania while the crowd cheered and vowed its allegiance to the American flag.

Then he went to the White House and gave another copy of the appeal to the president.

Mr. Hoover received him in the executive office and accepted the petition.

The leader was received in friendly fashion by President Hoover but was given no assurance that his request for work and help would be met.

Father James R. Cox of Pittsburgh, after giving Congress and the president a petition for aid, said the president told him everything that the government could do was being done and that there was no chance of doing things suddenly outside of the regular channels.

"I told the president," Father Cox said, "that unless immediate help was given, God help the country."

The journey was in vivid contrast to that of a body of demonstrators that concentrated here at the beginning of Congress to chant "The Internationale" in the streets of the capital.

Extra police stood about the capitol but they were there more as traffic directors than in anticipation of trouble. The riot guns and tear gas bombs with which they were armed for the December demonstrators were absent.

PARTY HEADS GET TOGETHER

Democrats Reticent as They Converge on Washington for the Jackson Day Dinner

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Representatives of the leading candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination today began to jockey for national committee support as the prohibition question faded out as an issue at Saturday's meeting.

The various movements got started in an atmosphere of outward reticence.

Former Governor Alfred E. Smith the 1928 nominee had "no comment to make."

HITLER VISITS CHANCELLOR

Nationalist Social Leader Confers With Bruening at Berlin, Germany

Berlin, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Chancellor Bruening received Adolf Hitler militant leader of the National Socialists this evening in a conference to discuss this year's presidential elections and other pressing political matters.

General Wilhelm Groener, minister of defense, also was present and the three men talked for an hour and half.

They said nothing for publication about what conclusions they had reached, but it was understood the chancellor sought Hitler's support for a plan to prolong the term of President Von Hindenburg, in return for certain political concessions to the National Socialists.

It was said that General Groener had conferred with Hitler yesterday and arranged then for the meeting with the chancellor today.

There was some confusion in connection with announcements of the meeting. Two German news agencies disclosed that it had been scheduled, then an announcement presumably from the chancellor's secretary said Dr. Bruening had no intention of receiving Hitler.

It was believed that these con- (Continued on Page Five)

CONSPIRACY EVIDENCE IN

Defense Rests in Case Growing Out of the Home Mortgage Receivership at Wilson

Wilson, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The defense rested today in the trial of two men and a woman, charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice in connection with a receivership action filed against the Home Mortgage Company of Hickory, a $17,000,000 corporation.

Mrs. Margaret M. Ramsey of Norfolk, Va., in whose name the petition for a receivership was filed, rested her case without taking the stand. Clarence Dazier of South Mills and Alton L. Jordan of Norfolk, the other defendants, rested yesterday.

The final evidence presented for Mrs. Ramsey was from character witnesses. When she rested her case, the government announced it would have no further evidence.

Mrs. Ramsey, Dozier and Jordan asked a directed verdict of not guilty, but Judge Johnson J. Hays overruled their motion.

Judge Hays limited defense arguments to one hour and 15 minutes for each defendant and allowed the government an hour for opening argument and an hour for closing them.

W. H. Fisher, district attorney, made the opening argument for the government.

Two Desperadoes to Be Buried at Houston, Texas

Springfield, Mo., Jan. 7.—(AP)—The bodies of Harry and Jennings Young, killers of six Springfield and Greene county officers, will be buried in Houston, Tex., probably today at a private funeral.

The mother of the men, Mrs. J. D. Young was informed by a daughter at Houston over long-distance telephone, that the wives of the men wanted them buried in Houston.

The mother protested she wanted the bodies buried here but the daughter in Houston, Mrs. T. M. Mackey, insisted on the Houston burial, saying, "It's lots better that you remember them as you last saw them."

The decision to bury the bodies in Houston, may prevent the officers of that city from collecting the $1000 rewards offered by the Greene county court, which stipulated the bodies be brought here for positive identification, before the reward is paid.

Whiskey Maker Fatally Shot

Florence, S. C., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Shot by state constable, Robert T. Allison, of Chester, when attempting to flee from a raid on a whiskey still. Ben Johnson, about 35, of Hartsville, died early today in a Florence hospital.

Johnson was shot during a search in a book with the office of Allison and two other state constables swooped down on the still in the northern section of Darlington county, near the Chesterfield county line Wednesday morning. Two men at the still with Johnson escaped.

The officers brought the wounded man to the hospital, where he died shortly before 2 A. M. Physicians said he had been shot twice in the back, one bullet lodging in a lung.

No charges had been preferred against Allison early today. He was to make a formal written report of the shooting to the governor's office at Columbia. Allison telephoned Charles E. Gerald, secretary to Governor Blackwood, last night and told him the shooting was "purely an accident." His gun, he said, was accidentally discharged. He denied having shot Johnson twice.

Man Slays Five Children, Then Commits Suicide

Cape Girardeau, Mo., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Olive Davenport, 50, killed five of his children by striking them over the head with a hammer in their farm home near Patton, Mo., early today, seriously wounded his wife and another child, and then shot himself to death with a shotgun. Davenport went insane.

The tragedy left only one child in the family of eight unharmed.

The slayings were discovered about daybreak when neighbors hurried to the home after a 12-year-old Davenport boy had run screaming from the Davenport home, seeking assistance.

Sheriff Dorman Eledge of Bellinger county said it was a parent that Davenport had killed the five children by beating them with the hammer and that he had wounded his wife and the sixth child in the same manner.

The hammer, covered with blood and hair, was found in the modest country home where the Davenport family, one of the most popular in the county, had lived for years.

Nearly was Davenport's body, his head torn off by a charge from the shotgun.

Aldermen Will Meet Tonight

The first session of the new year will be held by the Board of Aldermen at the city hall tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Only matters of a routine nature, however, were scheduled to come up for consideration.

Unidentified Man Victimizes Ayden

An unidentified white man, posing as a labor representative from the Mississippi flood section, had not been apprehended today after victimizing citizens of the Ayden community.

Registering at the Ayden hotel under the name of Mr. Miller, the man arranged to hire unemployed men for work on Mississippi levees at fancy prices. When the day came for the departure of the workers, Mr. Miller had disappeared, leaving an unpaid hotel bill as a sad reminder of his visit.

Kiwanians Will Install Officers

The Kiwanis club will hold its first meeting of the new year Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Weman's club.

The session will be marked by the installation of officers, and the ceremony will be under direction of Ralph Deal. Three new members were also to be inducted into the club.

GALLI-CURCI NEVER SINGS A SAD SONG

Never has Galli-Curci had a more triumphant concert tour than she had last season and has had so far in this. The press reviews in cities far apart, throughout the United States—in Great Britain and from South Africa, are all filled with the highest praise and enthusiasm for her singing and art, the size of her audiences and the report of strong feeling and of affection stirred in her listeners. She is called an "immortal," ranking with Jenny Lind only in the traditions, hearts and minds of the American people. The beauty of her tone, her radiant happiness and the charm of her personality have grown richer and greater. She has lost nothing by devoting herself entirely to concert work and thousands now see and hear her whereas only hundreds had the chance to see her in her grand opera roles. She never sings a sad song and always sings some of the lovely familiar melodies, such as the old southern songs.

Bible Study Course. An introductory Bible Study course will be offered to the Christian men of the city. This course is designed for beginners in such work, and also suited to the needs of persons who lack the time for a more extensive study of this Book of Books. It is intended to enable one to grasp the basic truths of our faith, and to aid one in using the Bible in all Christian work. Sundry school teachers will find it particularly helpful to them and they are invited to give the offer consideration. Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor Memorial Baptist Church, will act as teacher.

A preliminary meeting in which arrangements will be made to carry on such a work is to be held Monday evening next, January 11, at 8:00 o'clock, at the home of Mr. Fleischmann, 309 Greene street. A general outline of the proposed course of study will be presented.

Every Christian man, of any church affiliation, will be welcome, and you are urged to accept this opportunity. Let us make 1932 a year in which we will search God's word, build up our moral foundation and strengthen our faith, hope and courage to face our present life with full Christian fortitude.

Winterville P. T. A. Meets. The initial meeting of the Winterville Parent Teacher Association for the year 1932 was held on Tuesday, January 5, at 7:30 p. m. After the devotional a short business session was held before turning the meeting over to the program committee. This committee presented the following program: Two vocal solos by Mrs. J. Knott Proctor of Greenville, accompanied by Miss Thomas of Teachers College; Mr. Ward, our new principal, was presented and made a few pleasing remarks. Rev. W. A. Lillioy, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Greenville, made a splendid talk. Mr. Quinerly of Greenville, rendered two violin solos, with Miss Thomas accompanying. The attendance prize award was won by the senior room.

Sells Water As Bonded Whiskey at $2.50 a Quart

Posing as a bootlegger, an unknown man sold bottled-in-bond water as bottled-in-bond Scotch whiskey at $2.50 a quart here yesterday and then disappeared as mysteriously as he appeared, it was revealed here today.

Visiting the main business district yesterday, the man was said to have whispered around that he had several cases of bottled-in-bond Scotch whiskey—the best ever brewed—for $2.50 a quart, or $30 a case. With each order, he notified his customers to meet him on the outskirts of town where delivery would be made.

Everything went just right. The deliveries were made—involving a major part of the cargo of an automobile. The mysterious stranger disappeared down the road as the last of his customers was supplied.

The customers went to take a "little nip," and when the seal was broken it was discovered that the bottles in each instance contained water. This water bootlegger may be laughing at the boys now, but if they could get their hands on him, it would be a different tale, it is needless to remark.

Lenz Prepares for Final Fight With Culbertson

New York, Jan. 7.—(AP)—A last minute drive for material for argument will begin tonight in the great contract bridge match.

Recognizing that Ely Culbertson's lead of 14,175 points can not be overcome without extraordinary and unprecedented luck and cards, Sidney S. Lenz, his chief rival in a month's test of contract bridge bidding systems, will try at last to maintain the plus for those rubbers in which his partner has been Winfield Liggett, Jr. Lenz and Liggett have made 2,665 more points in the last 34 rubbers than have Culbertson and Partner. There are 13 rubbers left to play in the 150-rubber match. If, when the last card is laid down tomorrow night, Lenz and Liggett are still plus as a combination, followers of the 1-2-3 system naturally will maintain that the Culbertson lead was due largely to Oswald Jacoby, who resigned from the match in a dispute with Lenz over bids and play. Jacoby took part in 103 rubbers and his side acquired a deficit of 16,840 points in them. Culbertson has said his lead would be 10,000 points greater if Jacoby had not been an opponent.

Kannapolis—(AP)—The Cannon mills here announced the Woolworth Company has placed a $500,000 order for towels and Cannon officials said it was one of the largest towel contracts ever made.

Shelby, N. C.—(AP)—Max Barrett, 19-year-old Waco school boy, died in a hospital here from lung congestion. Physicians said the condition probably was induced by the boy's drinking whiskey.

Safe Crackers Still at Large

Robbers who obtained $400 from the safe in the Gulf Refining Company plant here early yesterday morning were still at large today but officers continued their investigation in the hope of apprehending the culprits.

Entering the office through a side window, the yegmen chiseled and battered out the combination, gaining easy access to the contents of the safe.

The stolen money was at first estimated at between $300 and $400 but a check-up during the afternoon showed it to be a few cents over $400. The lost was covered by insurance, employees of the plant stated. Although officers were without a clue, they believed the robbery was committed by members of a band of thieves that has been operating in this community the last two weeks. The same band was suspected of having obtained money from a safe in the Motor Sales office at Farmville last week.

Old Fort, N. C.—(AP)—Burley Conroy of Old Fort was bound to Superior court under $1,000 bond on charges of burning a barn and attempting to burn the residence of Mr. E. R. Pruitt.

Shelby, N. C.—(AP)—Max Barrett, 19-year-old Waco school boy, died in a hospital here from lung congestion. Physicians said the condition probably was induced by the boy's drinking whiskey.

ABOUT TOWN

Divergence of opinion on the financial condition of the government seems to be one of the most marked features of the present session of Congress.

With the majority of statesmen clamoring for reduction of expenses, there is another faction continually seeking appropriations for some measure they believe necessary to public welfare and happiness.

With the government faced by one of the most staggering deficits in history, it looks as if the economists should be able to win out with colors flying.

It is all right to talk appropriations when funds are available, but it is altogether another thing when the public treasury is drained.

Congress should find some common ground for action on this important matter, and pass up appropriations not actually necessary until they are able to relieve the deficit.

Colored schools are going to provide soup for needy children during the winter months, according to a story carried in the columns of this paper yesterday.

The same plan was tried out with conspicuous success last year, and it should prove of more benefit this year with distress among the poor more acute than in history of the county.

Persons who contribute to this cause may rest assured of doing something really worth while, and it is to be hoped the more fortunate of both white and colored populations will give generously.

It is impossible to estimate the dire distress prevailing among the unemployed of both races at this time, and the soup kitchens at colored schools should go a long way toward alleviating the condition among the hundreds of children whose tiny bodies must have proper nourishment if they are to thrive and become a value as public citizens.

In declaring for a referendum on prohibition law, John J. Raskob has only intensified discussion of a subject which some people claimed would not receive more than passing thought in the coming national election.

While the Democratic national chairman has issued a statement showing that a majority of party members who contributed in the last campaign were in favor of the proposed referendum, it is not to be assumed that this represents the entire party thought.

It is nothing more than a monumental presumption to even suggest such a possibility, and it is difficult to see where the stand for a referendum is going to give the party additional prestige or force when the battle of ballots begins.

It is a big question, one that involves the earnest consideration of people in all walks of life, and it must be treated as such whether approved or disapproved by the members of either of the dominant parties.

It is an issue that affects every American home, and were it to come to a vote, more women would go to the polls in defense of those homes than any other election since their enfranchisement.

Mr. Raskob has revived the future and its outcome will be watched with elation and trepidation by America's teeming millions as they prepare to find the proper solution to the question.

The movement to bring about an investigation of the election of Josiah W. Bailey in North Carolina has been revived again in the Senate, but the resolution was temporarily blocked by Senator Robinson yesterday. It is difficult to understand why George M. Fritchard of Asheville, who opposed Bailey in the primary, continues to demand that Congress investigate the election.

He cannot possibly hope to derive any direct benefit from such an inquiry, and any chance he might have of ever filling the important post held by Senator Bailey, will be lost forever.

The public is disgusted with continued claims of election fraud, especially in this state where balloting is always conducted on a high plane regardless of the odds

Woman Dies of Injury Inflicted by Her Husband

Charleston, S. C., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Charles W. Long, wife of Sergeant Long of Fort Moultrie, died today from injuries inflicted Saturday by her husband who killed his two children in a sudden mania and attempted suicide.

Mrs. Long and the two children, Imogene, 12, and Johnny, 8, were back and beaten with a bat-hat. Long slashed his wrists and his throat.

Long is in the army hospital at Fort Moultrie under guard. He is still in a serious condition.

When an ambulance crew reached the wreckage Jackson's body was found in the pilot's seat. A finger of his right hand clutched firmly the ring of the flier's parachute cord.

Nearly 100 planes were on the huge field today awaiting their turn in various events of the three-day program. Approximately 200 others, delayed in various parts of the country by bad weather, were on their way here.

Service and civilian fliers entered for competition in all kinds of flying craft. Army and Navy squadrons planned exhibitions of formation flying, and will participate in mimic warfare at night while strong search lights manned by field batteries, hunt them in the sky.

WILL IGNORE RASKOB MOVE

(Continued from Page One) nomic issues. If the prohibition issue comes up in the national convention, as Mr. Raskob says it must, then that is the time, they say, to meet it, but no sooner.

There is considerable satisfaction among the congressional group that Raskob has decided not to press for a commitment by the national committee at Saturday's meeting on the prohibition subject he has advanced.

In view of this decision, which the members of Congress regard as a victory for their stand in the March meeting of the committee, there is now every prospect of harmony at the forthcoming party pow wow.

There is full expectation that a roll call will be had at this session of Congress on prohibition with either repeal or modification the question, but it appears clear neither Republicans nor Democrats will attempt to make a party issue of it.

As things stand today, the main problem confronting the national committee at Saturday's meeting seems to be the selection of a convention city. Increasing the way to Kansas City is pointing the way to that city, although Chicago has been supposed to have had the inside track.

JOHN STEDMAN NAMED TO SUCCEED CAUTAIN O'BERRY

(Continued from page one) treasurer of the state, and he succeeds a man who was more than twice as old as himself. Captain O'Berry was 73 years old when he became treasurer two years ago, succeeding the late Benjamin R. Lacy, who took office at the age of 46.

Gov. O. Max Gardner announced the appointment of Mr. Stedman immediately upon his return from the funeral of Captain O'Berry, which was held in Goldsboro. Mr. Stedman accompanied the governor to the funeral and was an honorary pallbearer, as was the governor.

Since the organization of the North Carolina Bank and Trust Company about two years ago, Mr. Stedman has been active vice-president in charge of the Raleigh unit. He was assistant cashier of the Citizens National Bank before it merged with other institutions to form the North Carolina Bank and Trust Company. He started his banking career in Washington, N. C.

A native of Oxford, where he was born, Sept. 17, 1894, son of John P. and Laura Gordon Stedman, the new state treasurer as a student attended the University of North Carolina. He saw service on the Mexican border in 1916 and is a veteran of the world war. He was commander of the Raleigh American Legion post, largest in the state, in 1929.

"I have known Mr. Stedman for many years," the governor commented in announcing his appointment. "He is a man of most excellent judgment and the highest character and fully equipped in every respect to discharge the duties of this important office."

Mr. Stedman is the second appointed state treasurer named by Governor Gardner one day after an elected treasurer died. When Lacy died in 1929, Captain O'Berry was appointed the next day and then in 1930 he was elected to serve the unexpired term. Today Mr. Stedman was named to serve until January, 1933.

The red-headed daredevil of the skies fell 3,000 feet to his death, apparently unable to extricate himself from a plane whose wings had failed to stand the strain of aerobatics as he stunted above Miami Municipal airport yesterday.

Holder of the record of 417 aerial barrel-rolls, Jackson took to the air in an amphibian plane yesterday, to limber up his flying arm in preparation for competition for the Freddie Lund cup, donated by the City of Miami this year for proficiency in aerobatics at the air meet.

While the gaze of hundreds was held skyward, a wing of the amphibian tore loose and spun toward the ground. A split second later the speck in the sky slid to one side and dropped. Another wing fell away from the plane and it hurt-

Tactiturnity also characterized other leaders of the party participating in conferences at the Mayflower hotel and on capitol hill. But it was clear the forces friendly to Governor Roosevelt, of New York, and Governor Ritchie of Maryland, and others mentioned for the party nomination were missing few chances to have their views understood.

Meanwhile, a definite move was discernible to have Chairman Raskob's proposal for a referendum plank referred by resolution along with other platform propositions to the national convention committee on platform.

This course will be attempted to Mr. Raskob's proposal can be joined by others originating from any group or any member of the party.

Coincident with Governor Smith's arrival last night there were rumors pro and con on his being a candidate for the nomination in June. More than the usual number of committee members seemed today to expect definite news on this soon.

In an atmosphere of silence that has enveloped the various committee groups the representatives of cities sking the convention have been working quietly but steadily. Chicago, Kansas City, Atlantic City, and San Francisco are all entering strong bids. The city and the time for the next convention will be chosen on Saturday.

Mrs. Stanford was caught in the wreckage at the same time.

Shelton, reporting at the Harrisburgh airport after a flight with Werner as a passenger, said he had recognized Mrs. Stewart's red coat in the plane wreckage and that the condition of the plane made it impossible for either woman to have escaped instant death.

BILLY'S UNCLE

Sunset Pass

By ZANE GREY

SYNOPSIS—A masquerade means dangerous pleasure to Trueman Rock. He is gaining favor with Thiry Preston, but he is menaced by Amy Wund's jealousy and by the enmity of Thiry's brother, Ash. Because Rock wants to marry Thiry, he is working for her father, although he fears Gage Preston rustles cattle.

Chapter 34

A SMUGGLED NOTE

Some one took Rock's arm lightly. "Buenas Tardes, Señor," said a low voice in his ear.

Rock bowed gallantly to the slim creature on his arm. He did not recognize her, but saw that she was the Spanish girl in gold and black. "Buenas Tardes, señorita," replied Rock.

She averted her face and walked with him.

Rock grasped suddenly that there appeared to be a little pressure on his arm, a gradual but sure guidance of his steps. They were entering the dance-hall, where many masqueraders had assembled. The orchestra burst into music, a languorous Spanish waltz. The girl who had led him there swayed to the rhythm, toward him, slowly lifting her hand to his shoulder.

"You handsome!" she cried, in arch reproach.

"Amy!" exclaimed Rock, incredulously.

"Trueman, what did you do to my husband? He came home the other day, at noon—something unheard of," she went on, swiftly.

"He told me you'd been in to see him. That you had raked him over the coals. That you had cleared up something about you and me! . . . Then he told me he had been sore and jealous for a long time. He'd would try to be young again. . . . Oh, he knocked me cold! . . . Since then he has been like he was when he courted me."

"Good Lord!" said Rock, under his breath.

"I forgot to tell you something else. You know I was scared of Clink Peoples. Today I met Peoples. He apologized for insulting me."

"Of course you'll dance often with Thiry Preston?" Amy asked presently, the old jealousy flaring up.

"Reckon I haven't the nerve yet to ask even one. Besides, I probably won't recognize her."

"Bah! That girl couldn't disguise herself in a burlap sack," returned Amy.

Amy's last words added to Rock's sudden realization of what thin ice he was skating on.

"I'll have to stand for you paying some attention to Thiry," went on Amy, passionately. "But be careful. If you dance more with her than with me—Lord help her!"

"Amy! What nonsense!" returned Rock, sharply.

Amy must have had certain duties as a hostess, for she slipped away from Rock and mingled with the laughing, curious assemblage. He made no effort to follow.

Rock remained at the entrance to the patio, and was standing close to the wall, when a small party entered the corridor and came quickly down. There appeared to be half a dozen youths in nondescript masquerade, and several girls, two of whom, attired in white, stood out prominently.

"Look!" spoke up a woman to her neighbor on a bench near Rock. "That girl in white. Colonial wedding-gown! Isn't she just lovely? Who can it be?"

It struck Rock that the girl in the wedding-gown was certainly worth looking at. At first she did not appear to be masked at all, but as she drew closer he saw that she wore a close-fitting mask, scarcely any whiter than her powdered face. Her hair was done up in some amazing style and as colorless as snow. Arms and neck of exquisite contour, likewise were of a dazzling whiteness. The gown, one of those hoop-skirted, many-ruffled affairs Rock had seen in pictures, took up the space of three ordinary dresses, scarcely space enough for the girl to pass him.

Trueman flattened himself against the wall, as he had observed the two cowboys do. Nevertheless, the young lady so marvelously gowned was forced to sweep her skirts to avoid contact. She came on Rock, could not determine whether or not her face was beautiful, but he certainly imagined it was. The momentary halting of the party, evidently to choose a direction, brought this Colonial masquerader so close to Rock that he meant to step forward and allow her more room. But she seemed to be looking at him, though her eyes were handsly discernible. He felt suddenly rooted to the spot.

They turned, some of them laughing, and the wonderful girl in white pressed close to Rock in passing, still apparently gazing at him. As the soft, fluffy, perfumed gown swept him, Rock felt a hand touch his—slip a folded paper into his palm with quick pressure. Then she passed and he leaned there staring. She vanished with the others.

Rock's trembling fingers tightened on the paper. It was a note that girl had been Thiry. In one glance she had pierced his disguise. And he had been far indeed from returning the compliment. What a joke on him!

Rock peered into his palm at the note, then rushed off to find a light by which he could read it. All the swinging lights were Chinese lanterns and those stationary on the walls were dimmed by colored paper. Finally he found one under which he thought he could discern the writing, and here, after a keen glance around, he opened the note. Dear Trueman:

I will know you the instant I lay eyes on you. Will you meet me in terrible fear, but I will come to the dance, cost what it may.

Ash is in town, hiding. I do not know what he means. It may be there is some other reason for his action. Allie and I will go to the Farrells' to dress and come with their crowd.

Ash never saw my great-grandmother's wedding-dress. He won't recognize me, when he comes. For he will come! You must keep close watch over me, else I would not dare take the risk. He is capable of stripping me before the crowd. I will dance with the Farrell boys a little—the rest with you. I shall not stay till they unmask. I want to go before he knows me. You must take me away before that.

It may be madness. But I let my heart become set on this one dance. I grow furious at the thought of giving it up. I don't know myself of late. I will come—if only to—

THIRY.

Rock did not draw a breath during his swift perusal of this note. Then he grasped—and devoured it again. Though he could not believe he was awake the words were there, on white paper, in ink, clear and firm, in even, beautiful script.

What did they betray? He could not subdue his pounding heart, but he struggled the leaping, whirling, rapturous thoughts. Her letter betrayed terror, yet a woman's willful longing for a little freedom, a little joy of youth. She asked his protection. Thiry Preston—who not long before had begged him to leave her!

Lastly she did not know herself. She would come, if only to—To what! Rock stormed at his insane hopes.

Rock placed the note inside his vest and strode back toward the corridor, his breast throbbing, his head high, his step buoyant, his nerves vibrant.

As he entered that corridor, Thiry came out of a door halfway down and seemed to float toward him. They met, both aware of others present. Rock, removing his hat, made her an elaborate bow.

"Lady from Virginia, I salute you," he said gallantly.

"Sir Knight of the Card Table," she replied, and offered her hand. Rock clasped it and kissed it with the old-fashioned courtesy due the character she personified. But they acted no more. She seemed silently confused as he led her to the patio. There in the subdued glow of the lanterns they were comparatively alone.

"Thiry! You paralyzed me," he said, at length. "I didn't know you I didn't know you. . . . And, oh, how lovely you look!"

She murmured her thanks. They stood under an archway beside the fountain. The falling water tinkled in harmony with the soft strains of music. For them it was neither the place nor the time for calmness.

"How ever did you know me?" he asked.

"It was the way you stood. . . . My brothers—the twins and Al—and the Farrell boys know me, of course," said Thiry. "We must find them. Then after a few dances I'll be free—if you—"

"Thiry, there's no if—now or ever," he replied, unsteadily.

"Will you dance while I dance?"

"No. I'll watch you—and see if anyone else is watchin' you."

"Oh, but surely you must want to dance some?" she queried.

"Only with you."

"Not Amy Dabb?" she flashed, with odd inflection of voice.

CAUT. O'BERRY LAID TO REST

Governor O. Max Gardner, members of the council of state and business leaders from North Carolina and adjoining states joined with the late state treasurer's family and his neighbors in the final tribute to him.

The Rev. Peter McIntyre, pastor of the church, conducted the service which began at 11 a. m.

All business and industrial life in Goldsboro was halted for this service. As the church choir sang "Crossing the Bar," the opening hymn, all church bells in the city were tolled. Captain O'Berry aided in financing negro churches of the city and they joined in tolling their bells.

Mr. McIntyre read the 95th Psalm and the 30th to 48th verses of Corinthians. He made a brief exposition of Captain O'Berry's life and the choir closed the service by singing "Nearer My God To Thee."

An escort of 10 patrolmen, headed by Captain Charles Farmer of the State Highway Patrol, led the funeral procession to the cemetery for the interment service.

Capt. O'Berry was buried beside the grave of his mother, Mrs. Cinderella Pope O'Berry, in a plain wooden coffin.

One of the pioneers in the lumber industry, Captain O'Berry wrought a distinguished business success from wood and in life had expressed a desire to be buried in a wooden coffin.

"I have made my place in life from lumber and when I die I want to be buried in a wooden coffin," his son, Thomas O'Berry, quoted him as saying.

McIntyre described Captain O'Berry as actuated by a philosophy which held that "life is good because it is the gift of God, resplendent with the glory of God, a wonderful, intriguing adventure, more than worth while."

"I think I can say," the minister said, "that the character and career of the dear friend whose sudden death has gathered so many of us here both illustrates and vindicates this Christian philosophy."

Believing that "charity is the one pleasure that never wears out" Mr. Rosenwald established the Julius Rosenwald fund October 30, 1917. Its chartered purpose was "the well being of mankind." The endowment was $35,000,000.

On January 1, 1928, the fund was reorganized and the administration was placed in the hands of a board of trustees.

The charter and constitution of the fund provided that the principal, as well as the current income, be spent at any time in the discretion of the trustees, but both principal and interest must be expended within 25 years of the death of the founder.

Last year the fund gave away $2,500,000. Most of it was spent for welfare of negro children of the south.

The largest part of Mr. Rosenwald's philanthropies have been expended for the welfare of negroes and Jews, but his generosity had no racial limitations and his gifts flowed to whites as well as blacks, to gentiles as well as to Jews.

New Bern Cage Team to Play Locals Friday

On Friday night of this week the basketball team of Greenville high school will open its conference schedule when New Bern will be the visitors. New Bern and Greenville are traditional rivals in athletics and a bang-up contest is expected. The game will start at 8 o'clock sharp and the admission will be 10 and 25 cents.

New Bern has been playing several games during the holiday season and have not been any to successful. Practically the only team of any importance they have played of with Wilmington high and the New Hanover lads trimmed them by about the same margin they did the locals.

Greenville should be in good condition for the game. Several new faces will make their appearance in the lineup and all of the boys will be fighting to secure their positions on the team for the rest of the season.

Scout Council to Banquet at Pamlico Capital

Boy Scout officials of this city were expected to attend the annual meeting of Wilson Area Council to be held at the Louise Hotel at Washington Friday evening at 7:00 o'clock. The meeting will be marked by a banquet and election of a new executive board for the present year. Objectives for the new year will also be outlined.

Ben Eagles, vice-president, of Wilson, will preside, and representatives of the council from many sections of the eastern part of the state will be in attendance.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 8 to 10 points on a renewal of yesterday's buying movement and the steadiness of Liverpool cables. March sold at 6.51.

A further advance in the Bremen market at the opening today was another factor in the rise to 6.55 for July contracts. The early demand was supplied by southern and local selling which caused partial reactions during the early trading. March sold off to 6.42 and July to 6.71, but the market was steadier by the better tone of the stock market and, active months were about 2 to 5 points net higher at the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables reported general buying in that market with an optimistic feeling as to reparations but said business in Manchester was slow in developing.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The best prices for wheat since a week before Christmas were reached today in connection with strength of Wall Street securities and with further export purchases.

Cables said European continental countries were buying wheat on a liberal scale. A leading Australian exporter was asserted to have sold 2,500,000 bushels of wheat to China.

STOCK MARKET

By CLAUD A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Editor)
New York, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Wall Street took a squint or two through its rose tinted spectacles today, as the recovery in security prices persisted through the second successive trading session.

While yesterday's upturn had been viewed as primarily a technical rebound, and had been regarded with considerable skepticism in some quarters, a markedly better feeling was manifest in prominent financial circles today.

After a little early hesitation, the share market pushed upward under the leadership of the rails. Advances of 2 to 5 points were registered in such shares as Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, New York Central, New Haven, Northern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line and Baltimore and Ohio. Elsewhere in the list, similar gains appeared in such issues as U. S. Steel, American Can, Eastman, American Tobacco, Liggett and Myers, B. Case, Coca Cola and others.

While railroad leaders point out that real improvement in revenues must await a revival of general business activity, it was stated in important banking quarters that possible railroad financial crisis which had caused considerable worry, now seemed definitely averted.

While Wall Street feels that further dividend paying is in store some of its worries on that score were quieted by the remarks of Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors, in an address in Boston. Mr. Sloan felt that the rights of the stockholders justified the drawing upon large surpluses for the maintenance of dividends in lean times.

Scores Isolated by Snowstorm in Western States

Kansas City, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Actively in a strip of snow covered states extending northeastward from the Texas Panhandle and in the mountains of the Pacific Coast held the weather interest of the west today.

Snowplows whirling to the rescue of 250 or more persons, isolated by heavy drifts in the Mono basin district of California, had twenty miles to go.

Workers heard to clear the road, blocked since Christmas Eve, before a food shortage develops. Drifts ranged up to eleven feet deep.

Temperatures generally were moderate. Snow plows and wire crews were completing the work of restoring communication and travel to a normal basis.

Wilson Home Becomes Shrine

Staunton, Va., Jan. 7.—(AP)—"The Manse" where Woodrow Wilson was born the son of a Presbyterian minister, was open today as a national shrine.
