JAPS PREPARE TO REPLY TO STIMSON NOTE

Government Believes Move for Independence in Manchuria Ought Be Let Alone.

Tokyo, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Japan will reply to the recent note of Secretary of State Stimson on Manchuria within a few days, the Rengo News Agency said today, and will state that it believes the various movements for independence there and in Mongolia should not suffer interference, either from Japan or any other nation.

The reply also will say, according to the Rengo report, that Japan's military operations have by no means transgressed the nine-power treaty or the Kellogg-Briand pact, which were cited by Secretary Stimson in his note.

The government would emphasize the agency said, that it believes the urgent problem at the moment in Manchuria is to restore peace and order and that Japan's aim is to make the territory a safe place in which to live, making possible an open door policy of equal opportunity.

Dispatches received today said four Japanese officers and more than 30 privates were killed and all but 10 of the rest of a company wounded when it encountered a large force of Chinese irregulars last night at Hsinyin.

The Chinese band numbered 5,000 men, the dispatch said, and a Japanese armored train which was bringing help from Tahushan was derailed and overturned because rails had been removed from the tracks.

Woman Assured of Victory in Ark. Election

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Arkansas held an election to fill the unexpired term of the late Sen. Wendell H. Caraway today and the state generally considered the selection of his widow, Mrs. Hattie W. Caraway, assured.

Women over all the state campaigned for the widow and many served as volunteer election officials. Victory for Mrs. Caraway would make her the only woman ever selected to the United States Senate. One other, Mrs. Rebecca Latimer Felton of Cartersville, Ga., has served in the body but that was by appointment for just a day.

Mrs. Caraway has waged no campaign, remaining in Washington after appointment to the Senate by Governor Harvey Parnell. She had, however, two opponents, Sam D. Carson of Detroit, and Rex Floyd of Yellville, who are on the ballot as Independents.

She was regarded as assured of the election in view of her selection as the Democratic nominee last December and Governor Parnell's active support. The Republicans did not name an opponent.

Deny Motion to Exclude Evidence

Wilson, Jan. 12.—(AP)—A defense motion to exclude from the evidence testimony given by Alton L. Jordan of Norfolk, Va., in a special master's hearing in a petition for a receivership for the Home Mortgage Company of Hickory was denied today by Judge Johnson J. Hays in Jordan's trial for perjury.

Reading of a transcript of Jordan's testimony at the hearing was continued by the government. The defense contended Charles B. Calvert, the special master, failed to duly qualify himself.

Judge Hays ruled Calvert's appointment as special master clothed him with judicial power and authority to administer an oath to witnesses regardless of his failure to properly qualify.

The judge held that it was possible for a witness to perjure himself in Calvert's hearings.

Recess Probe of Daniel's Death

Rocky Mount, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The coroner's inquest into the death of J. H. Daniel, well known business man whose mangled body was found on railway tracks in the warehouse district Friday, has been recessed pending gathering of additional evidence.

At a hearing yesterday, trainmen testified they found blood and other evidence that Daniel had been struck by Car No. 15 of a train at 12:15 A. M. Friday.

Authorities are working on the theory that Daniel was slipped and his body thrown beneath the train to make it appear an accident, or that he was a victim of tameness.

Call On People To Pay Taxes and Help Schools To Operate Full Term

The joint meeting of the Trustees of the Greenville schools and the Board of Aldermen Friday last night was one of the most beneficial meetings ever held. The spirit of the meeting was "Faith in God" and the determination of every member of each board to renewed efforts to uphold the splendid tradition and achievement of the Greenville schools. The troublesome financial problems were discussed in a business like and intellectual manner.

Pistol Marriage

John Rigdon, former Georgia football player, has filed suit for divorce at Columbus, Ga., charging that Lovie Teel Rigdon (above) threatened to kill him unless he married her. Probate Judge H. R. Dudley said the bride carried a pistol. "I married them because I did not want the gun used on me," the judge said.

RUM MAKER JAILED HERE

3 Still Also Captured by Sheriff's Officers in Raid in Alpine Section.

While preparing his still for operation in the Alpine section yesterday Frank Harris, colored, was nabbed by county officers and brought back to Greenville and confined in jail to await hearing in County court today.

The negro made a break for liberty when ordered to throw his hands up, but was soon overtaken by the fleet-footed members of the law enforcement squad.

The still was of the steam variety, one of the finest used in this part of the country for the distillation of intoxicating liquors, and was capable of a considerable output at a single run.

Harris, officers said, had just fired up and was preparing to settle back to watchful waiting when they called on him to surrender. Believing in his ability to out run the sleuths, Harris dashed into the thick underbrush surrounding the still and disappeared as if by magic. The officers gave chase in vain for minutes the negro was in the toils of the law.

Support Ritchie For President

Charleston, S. C., Jan. 12.—(AP)—The News and Courier, one of the oldest daily newspapers in the country, today declared editorially for Governor Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, for the Democratic nomination for president.

"The News and Courier was raised in the same way that Governor Ritchie was," the editorial said. "He is saying the same thing the News and Courier said in 1876, in 1881 and in all the presidential years."

After quoting from Governor Ritchie's recent Jackson Day address on "minimum of government, maximum of freedom against government ownership and prohibition," the editorial said:

"These things are not only what he has been saying all his life but what he has been living up to in Maryland and they are the beliefs of South Carolinians who understand the faith of their fathers and grandfathers, who can't be bulldozed, who can't be fooled, who won't sell out for office or for the applause of the mobs."

ONE SLAIN IN GANG FLAREUP

Benjamin Rosenblum Killed for Part in Campaign Against Racketeering.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—(AP)—A new war in Chicago's turbulent cleaning and dyeing industry was believed by police today to have been responsible for the killing of Benjamin Rosenblum, 46, manager of a dry cleaning concern and campaigner against racketeering.

ROTES TO MEET AT FOUNTAIN

Discussion of Club Administration Had in Regular Meeting Here Last Night.

Discussion of club administration marked the regular meeting of the Rotary club last night. Discussions were based on the standard set by Rotary International and covered activities of the organization for the first half of the current year. The total score of the club on the basis of this standard was given as 88.

Tom Clifton was in charge of the program and President Howard McGinnis presided.

Those taking part in the discussions and their subjects follow: K. W. Cobb, "Program"; J. H. Waldrop, "Finance"; Dr. K. B. Pace, "Membership"; F. C. Harding, "Rotary Relations"; Howard McGinnis, "Officers."

The next meeting of the club will be held at Fountain. It is the first time in months that the club has conducted a rural-urban program, and members were looking forward with pleasure to the visit to the thriving town in the upper part of the county.

Fountain, it was said, will make ample preparations for the occasion and the visitors will be treated to some old time Pitt county hospitality.

Lincolnton, (AP)—Montgomery Weaver and Paul Leatherman, Catawba county youths, were bound to Superior court on charges of robbing Marvin Probst, filling station operator, of $60.

Slug Cashier and Get $14,300 from Bank at Magnolia

Magnolia, N. C., Jan. 12.—(AP)—The Bank of Magnolia was robbed here today by three white men who slugged the assistant cashier, locked him in a vault and escaped with a sum at first estimated at $14,300.

The men entered the bank at 11:50 A. M., knocked Alton Gaynor, the assistant cashier, unconscious, threw him in a vault and then fled southward in an automobile.

Police throughout the southeastern part of the State were notified and asked to watch for the trio.

Magnolia is a village of 802 population. Bank officials said they had an unusually large supply of currency on hand.

Police said the three men were seen about the town several hours before the robbery and that they "must have been familiar with the bank and this section of the country."

They said one of the men waited in a small sedan while the two others entered the bank, guns drawn, and with handkerchiefs over their faces.

Gaynor was the only person in the bank at the time, L. L. Dail, the cashier, had just left and was across the street.

DEMOCRAT LEADERS IN A HUDDLE

During meetings of the democratic national committee in Washington, party leaders held many a conference on ways and means of preparing for the 1932 campaign. Here three of the party leaders are shown together. Left to right: Alfred E. Smith, presidential nominee in 1928; John J. Raskob, chairman of the national committee, and James W. Cox, presidential candidate in 1920.

ASKS SUPPORT OF EDUCATION

Lt.-Gov. R. T. Fountain Addresses Parent-Teachers Assn. at Grimesland.

Declaring education to be one of the greatest forces, imaginable, in the fight against depression, Lieutenant-Governor R. T. Fountain, of Rocky Mount, prominently mentioned as a candidate for governor, addressed the Parent-Teachers' association at the high school building in Grimesland last night.

The address was heard by a representative gathering of citizens of the community, and Mr. Fountain, a native of Fountain, Pitt county, made a profound impression upon his hearers.

The lieutenant-governor emphasized the important part which education is playing in the life of the state and nation at this time, and told his hearers to "cut expenses wherever needed" but not to impair the efficiency of the schools.

He declared education to be one of the most direct solutions of the depression.

Referring to the effort of the present administration to bring about a change in the constitution of North Carolina, Mr. Fountain declared himself as firmly opposed to the "short ballot" as advocated in the change, believing it would be detrimental to the best interests of the people.

He said he favored economy wherever possible, but warned his hearers against the ill effect which would come from the lowering of school standards. "Cut where you will, but let the schools thrive" was his closing ultimatum.

Negro Killed by Hit and Run car

High Point, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Frank Yokeley, aged negro of Thomsville, was killed by a hit-and-run driver on Highway 10 south of here today.

Lela Taylor, negro woman, said she and Yokeley were walking on the left-hand side of the road and a big black sedan swerved across the road and struck Yokeley, dragged his body for some distance and then stopped. When the car stopped, she said, Yokeley's body, which had caught on the bumper, fell free. The car then went on, she said, one of its wheels passing over the negro's body.

Marks at the scene indicated the body was dragged 126 feet.

Crisis Faces France As Cabinet Follows Briand

Paris, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The entire French cabinet today followed the example of Aristide Briand and placed their portfolios in the hands of Premier Laval, leaving him free to do as he wishes in reconstructing the ministry.

This action, not altogether unexpected, followed a conversation between the Premier and M. Briand, whose ill-health impelled him to ask last week that he be permitted to retire as foreign minister.

This development, coupled with the sudden death of Andre Maginot, minister of war, precipitated the cabinet crisis.

READY TO AIR MELLON CASE

Impeachment Charge Against Secretary to Be Considered Tomorrow.

Washington, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Impeachment charges against Secretary Mellon will be considered at a public hearing tomorrow by the House judiciary committee.

The committee reached this decision today behind closed doors. "We agreed on a public hearing to consider the sufficiency of the charges against Secretary Mellon," Chairman Summers said. "Mr. Mellon will be advised that he may be represented at the hearing."

So far, Patman, a Texas democrat, is the only witness who has testified he desired to be heard. Patman is author of a resolution seeking impeachment of the veteran treasury chief.

He charges that Mellon has violated laws prohibiting the secretary of the treasury from engaging in business.

RAIN SWELLS STATE RIVERS

Precipitation Expected to Have Little Effect on Flood Sweep- ing Ocean-ward.

Raleigh, Jan. 12.—(AP)—General rains which were falling in most parts of the state today were expected to have little effect on floods now sweeping oceanward in three rivers in Eastern North Carolina.

The rains will continue through tonight and probably tomorrow, Mr. Denson said, and will cause a slight further rise in the streams but it will hardly be noticeable as the new waters will run-off in the wake of the crest of the food now in the over reaches of the Cape Fear, Neuse and Roanoke rivers.

It is possible, Mr. Denson said, that the new rains may cause the Tar, which has been rising slowly, to go into flood, but the river was (Continued on Page Six).

HOLMES RESIGNS AS ASSOCIATE JUSTICE OF SUPREME COURT

Witness Describes Huge Loan Made To Columbia

Washington, Jan. 12.—(AP)—State Department intervention to encourage the National City Co. in making a loan to Columbia last year, was described to a Senate committee today by an official of the company, but he denied the company had anything to do with the transaction.

POE SUPPORTS CHINESE MOP BEER PROGRAM UP WITH JAPS

Baltimore Attorney Says Legalized Sale Would Bring Splendid Revenue to U.S.

Washington, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Edgar Allen Poe, Jr., Baltimore commander of the Crusaders, an anti-prohibition organization, urged today before a Senate committee the modification of the Volstead act to permit beer.

Poe, an attorney and a relative of the poet, said it was inconsistent to prohibit beer or other liquors of more than one half of one per cent (Continued on Page Six).

CRISIS PASSES IN HONOLULU

Soldiers and Sailors Permitted to Re-enter City with Warning Show Restraint.

Honolulu, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Soldiers and sailors, warned against violence, reentered Honolulu today for the first time since the killing of a native chief with attacking a naval officer's wife precipitated a reign of fear.

Freedom to again visit the city was granted enlisted service men following a conference between Governor Lawrence M. Judd and Rear Admiral Yates Stirling, at which they decided the crisis of the hysterical situation has passed.

The men are all warned, when given leave or liberty, to "exercise restraint" and "conduct themselves properly."

Steps preliminary to the prosecution of Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., Mrs. Granville Fortescue, society matron and mother of Mrs. Massie, whom the native killed was charged with assaulting, and two enlisted navy men, were completed by city authorities. A grand jury was drawn to meet Friday and the panel of a trial jury will be drawn Thursday.

Despite the insistence of city officials that no cause for undue alarm remained, heavy guards of naval and military police patrolled the city. Civil police units were reduced by Major Gordon Ross, in charge of territorial police. He cut his staff from 250 to 100 men and announced it would be further reduced.

"Please don't worry," was the message Mr. Fortescue sent her husband in New York from her temporary prison aboard a warship. Major Fortescue, prominent soldier and author, is critically ill with pneumonia.

A special territorial legislative committee meeting to determine if an extra session of the lawmakers should be called to threat the situation, requested copies of all documents passing between naval officers in the Hawaiian Islands and naval authorities in Washington.

The request was preceded by word the United States Senate had directed the attorney general at Washington to investigate the situation here and the character and efficiency of all territorial officials, from Governor Judd down.

RESIGNATION IS ACCEPTED

Veteran Jurist Forced to Quit Bench by His Weakening of Physical Power; President Hoover Expresses Keen Appreciation of the Splendid Services Rendered By Mr. Holmes to the Nation.

Washington, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Chief Justice of the United States, President Hoover today accepted his resignation.

The justice in a letter to the president dated January 12 said the condition of his health made his move necessary.

Holmes told the president "the time has come when I must bow to the inevitable."

Announcing receipt of the resignation, the president said "I must, of course, accept it."

The veteran justice will be 91 on March 8.

The strength of Mr. Holmes has been markedly lessening in late months.

His step became somewhat embarrassing at times and he has become a help of court pages or of his law clerks to take his seat and rise after the session was over, as at recent meetings of the court.

It was noticeable on yesterday that Chief Justice Hughes held a firm hand on the aged Justice Holmes' arm as he took his seat.

Although his speech has at times been halting and a cough more pronounced, Justice Holmes has delivered his share of opinions in the brief period of this term. He delivered one only yesterday—his last.

Holmes' letter, submitting his resignation to the president said: "In accordance with the provision of the judicial code as amended section 295, title 28 United States code 370, I tender my resignation as Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States of America."

"The condition of my health makes it a duty to break off connections that I cannot leave without deep regret after the affectionate relations of many years and the absorbing interests that have filled my life."

"But the time has come and I bow to the inevitable. I have nothing but kindness to remember from you and from my brethren."

"My last word should be one of grateful thanks. "With great respect, "Your obedient servant, "Oliver Wendell Holmes."

In a letter addressed to the aged justice today, the president said: "I am in receipt of your letter of January 21st tendering your resignation from the Supreme Court of the United States. I must, of course, accept it."

"No appreciation I could express would even feebly represent the gratitude of the American people for your whole life of wonderful public service, from the time you were an officer in the Civil War to this day—near your 91st anniversary."

I know of no American retiring from public service with such a sense of affection and devotion of the whole people. "Yours faithfully, "Herbert Hoover."

Light Docket Before Court

The weekly session of County court was in progress today with neither light docket. There were about a dozen cases awaiting consideration and work was expected to be completed during the late afternoon.

County court set something of a record for a light docket last week, disposing of six cases, the smallest number handled at any single session of court in years.

LASSITER—SCOVILLE

Beautiful in its simplicity was the wedding of Miss Hattie Sue Scoville and Mr. Moses Dow Lassiter, which was solemnized this morning at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother on Rotary avenue.

The living room, where the wedding took place, was appropriately set with decorations of potted plants and white roses. A number of burning white tapers were used.

The bride and groom entered together and Rev. E. L. Hillman, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, performed the ring ceremony. The bride looked lovely in a tailored Spanish blue crepe gown with black trimmings and all black accessories. She wore a shawl of sweet heart roses and lilies of the valley.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Lassiter left for an extended trip to Florida and Cuba. Upon their return, they will make their home at the residence of Mrs. J. B. White on Greene street.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mrs. Virgil P. Scoville and the late Rev. Virgil P. Scoville. She is pretty and attractive and possesses a large circle of friends. She is a graduate of the East Carolina Teachers College here.

The groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Lassiter. He graduated from the University of North Carolina with the class of 1930. He also possesses a large circle of friends and is connected with the tobacco interest in this city.

The wedding was attended by the family and a few intimate friends.

Rocketfeller and Galli-Curci
Last winter Galli-Curci opened her concert tour in Florida and visitors from every section and even from Europe flocked down there to hear her. She returned from her tour of the British Isles just in time to spend Christmas at her home, Sul Monte, in the snow-covered Catskills. Then she went directly to the palm-decked Miami to sing.

John D. Rocketfeller met her for the first time while she was in Florida. Many will recall pictures taken at Ormond Beach that came out in Sunday supplements of newspapers. Mr. Rocketfeller, on the morning after he had heard her at Daytona Beach, presented her a bouquet and read a poem to her when they met on the golf links. They met on the eighth green for the first time. His first words to her were:

"Bless you, bless you! I have enjoyed hearing you so many times and am delighted to meet you." Then he sent the chauffeur to get the flowers in the car and said, as he presented them: "I found these at my plate this morning, and they made me think of your voice."

palmer against racketeering.

Rosenberg was slugged near his home in suburban Maywood last night and shot six times by three assassins while he lay helpless on the street. It was the first bloody event of its kind since the bloody warfare between Al Capone and George "Bugs" Moran over control of the "cleaning racket."

A booklet which Rosenberg wrote several months ago revealing racketeering in the dry cleaning industry was regarded as a possible reason for his slaying. He charged in the pamphlet that racketeers were extracting $2,000,000 from dry clean firms in Chicago.

Also, the International Cleaners and Dyers, Inc., the firm of which Rosenberg was manager, cut prices, employed non-union help, and refused to join an association of cleaning companies. Vandals had damaged the plant several times recently, at one time throwing pails of acid on about $200,000 worth of clothing.

Assistant State's Attorney Edwin C. Dufficy said he believed Rosenberg was killed because of his part in the prosecution of Philip Mangano and Louis Clement, charged with taking part in one of the raids on Rosenberg's concern.

"I regard it as a bold attempt to intimidate witnesses," Dufficy said. "They succeeded in removing one witness, but we have many others."

Rosenberg's widow said he had received several death threats recently because his firm had refused to join an association or to charge "regulation" prices and hire union help.

HOMES SUBMERGED BY FLOOD

Hundreds of families in the Mississippi floor area have preferred to continue to live in their houses although water covered the floor, but rising waters have forced some to abandon their homes. This picture shows two negroes near Webb, Miss., who were forced to seek the roof for safety.

Negro Must Die in Chair Jan.

Raleigh, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Tyre C. Taylor, executive counsel, indicated today that he would not interfere with the scheduled electrocution of Ernest Herring January 15.

Herring was convicted of the murder of F. F. Newton, aged postmaster at Kerr, Sampson county. His brother Chevis has been electrocuted for the same crime and asserted as he sat in the electric chair that Ernest was not guilty of the killing.

Today some 20 Sampson county citizens, headed by Solicitor J. A. Powers and Col. C. M. Faircloth, appeared before Mr. Taylor to protest against any clemency being granted the negro. Last week counsel for Herring was heard in a request that the sentence be commuted.

Mr. Taylor said he would definitely announce his decision tomorrow.

WITNESS DESCRIBES HUGE LOAN MADE TO COLOMBIA

 sistent two hour cross-examination, pointed out the loan was made about the same time the Colombian government restored an oil concession in which the Mellon-owned Gulf Oil Company is interested.
 Such people objected to giving details of the transaction. But finally testified that the State Department had called his objections to making the loan "technicalities."
 The witness said he did not remember a statement by then President-elect Olava of Colombia, published in a New York newspaper in 1930, that Secretary Mellon had advised him to speed up settlement of the old problems in order to make financial recovery of the country possible.
 Schoepfer said he was dissatisfied with Colombia's failure to balance its budget, and disclosed that his company had virtually dictated to the Colombian government policies it must pursue before loans would be made.

Sunset Pass

By ZANE GREY

SYNOPSIS: Trueman Rock is caught between his love for Thiry Preston and his knowledge that her father, Gage, and her brother, Ash, are cattle rustlers. The cattlemen's suspicious of the Prestons are closing down, and threaten Rock also, since he works for Gage. Thiry is terrified at the situation.

Chapter 38

GO FOR YOUR GUN

In the morning Rock watched from his window until Ash left, then went out to breakfast. Thiry did not appear. Preston came out while Rock was eating and said: "Rock, I've a job for you. The boys are gettin' a pack outfit ready. They know where to go. I want five hundred head of two-year-old steers in the flat down there by Slagle's ranch. By August."

"It can't be done," protested Rock. "Wal, you've been hollerin' fer some real work. Pack an' rustle." "You're the boss, Preston. But are you sure you won't need me more right here?"

Preston bent toward Rock and lowered his voice. "It ain't what I'd like or need. Thiry asked me to. Ash is wuss than ever before." "Suits me fine. Don't mind tellin' you, boss, that Ash is almost gettin' on my nerves."

"Haw! Haw! Almost gettin' hey? My nerves are shot to pieces." "Small wonder, boss. Reckon you'd do well to hang-tie Ash an' hang round the Pass for a month." It did not suit Rock just then to leave the Pass without a hint to Preston.

Rock repaired to his cabin and packed the things he would need. Rock wavered between two strong desires—to see Thiry before he left and write to her. The better course would be to write, because he could put on paper what there would be no chance to speak. He sat down to his little table and began, with hand that he could not keep steady and heart which accelerated a beat for every word:

Thiry Darling,
Your Dad has ordered me away for several weeks, maybe more. I am glad to go, though not to see your sweet face for so long will be terrible. My conscience flays me all for what I brought upon you at the dance. But I don't ask forgiveness for that so much as for what happened on Winter's porch. Still, if I had no more to sustain me, Thiry, through what seems to be the hardest trial of my life, that kiss you gave me would be enough.

Don't worry, Thiry dear, about Ash, or me, or whatever it is that is wrong. And it will not turn out so bad as you think. I believe that if you were to fall into some really dreadful trouble I could save you. Now what do you think of that for a fellow's faith in himself? Of course, by trouble, I mean something concerning Ash. I must not deceive you, dearest; your brother is the kind of range man that comes to a bad end. You must realize that he might involve your father, you and all of your people in something through which you could suffer.

I shall think of you every sunset and see you come out to watch the Pass.

Ever,

Slipping the note under the door of Thiry's cabin, he beat a rather precipitate retreat. Nevertheless he heard the door open, and turning saw Thiry pick up the missive, and then stand to look at him. Finally she waved.

In half an hour he sat astride Egypt, bound down the Pass. Late that afternoon he halted with the boys in a wild spot to make a permanent camp.

Before they went to bed Rock had imbued the brothers with some thing of his own will to do or die. Next morning they were up in the dark, had the horses in at dawn, breakfast before sunrise, and on the drive when the first tinges of rose colored the rims of the Pass.

It rained every day, mostly summer showers, with rainbows bent from cloud to forest.

One night Al got in latest of all, weary and sullen. "I was up under the Notch," Al said, "an' first thing I seen a couple of riders high up, watchin' me. Reckon they never lost sight of me all day."

The twins were silent, which fact did not argue for a favorable reception of this news. "See any brands except ours?" asked Rock, pertinently.

"Shore did. Lot of Half Moon stock scattered all over." "The devil you say. I thought Hesbitt ran the Half Moon outfit low down on the range."

"We heard in town he was goin' to change," replied Al.

Three days later, miles east of the Notch, Rock's alert eye caught sight of riders above him on a slope keeping behind the trees, and no doubt spyin' upon him with a glass. Though boiling with rage, he went right on driving as if he were none the wiser. On the return to camp he came to the conclusion that one of Hesbitt's outfits was deliberately on the trail. This roused more than anger in Rock. The situation around Gage Preston was narrowing down critically.

A couple of days before the longed-for number of cattle had been herded into the canyon-coral, the thing Rock expected came to pass. Early in the morning, at breakfast hour, a group of riders, five in number, rode down upon the camp.

"Boys, reckon I don't like this," said Rock, gruffly. "But you take it natural-like, and I'll do the talkin'." As the riders entered camp Rock rose from his seat beside the camp fire to greet the visitors. They were seasoned range-riders, a hard looking quintet, not one of whom Rock had ever seen.

"Howdy! Just in time for grub," he said heartily.

"Much obliged, but we had ourn," replied the leader, a rugged cowboy.

"Get down and stay awhile," said Rock.

His invitation was not accepted nor acknowledged.

"Gage Preston outfit?" inquired the leader.

"Part of it," replied Rock, not so cordially.

"Round-up or drivin' a heard?" went on the interlocutor, visibly cooler.

"We're drivin' five hundred head of two-year-olds down the Pass. Reckon another day or so will make the full count," rejoined Rock.

The leader was evidently finding Rock a man about whom he had begun to have uneasy conceptions.

"Don't know the lay of the land," went on the leader. "Haven't rid long on this range."

"Shore you didn't have to tell me that," replied Rock, bluntly.

"You're from Wyomin', an' ridin' for Hesbitt?"

"How'd you know that?"

"Reckon nobody else would brace me this way."

"You? Which one of the Prestons might you be?"

"Hadn't you better hand over your callin'-card before askin' me to introduce myself?"

"I'm Jim Dunne, foreman for Hesbitt," replied the rider.

"All right. How do, Mr. Dunne? A blind cowboy could see your call isn't friendly. Now what do you want?"

"Wal, we've come over to have a look at your herd," answered Dunne.

"Ahhhh!" Rock, with suddenness, stood erect. He strode halfway across the camp space to confront Dunne. "Just to see if by accident we didn't round up a couple of Half Moon steers?"

"Wal, I ain't sayin' nothin' about accidents," returned the other.

"Dunne, you bet your life you're goin' to look over our herd," snapped Rock. "Then I'll call you plumb straight."

"Say, are you this feller Rock?" he asked, suddenly.

"Yes, I'm Rock. Reckon that doesn't mean anythin' to you. But maybe it will later."

"I can't see as there's any reason to be riled," returned Dunne.

"That's because you don't know this range," said Rock, curtly, and then turned to the Preston brothers.

"Boys, we'll drive the steers out of the canyon for inspection."

Rock relentlessly held the Half Moon outfit on both sides of the corral gate while the cowboys drove the steers out in single file and in twos and threes.

Dunne made several weak attempts to call the inspection, but Rock rigorously held him and his men to a count of every steer that passed the gateway.

"Dunne, between you all you've seen every head of stock we've driven," said Rock when he had dismounted to face the men.

"Reckon we have," rejoined Dunne, and made as if to mount his horse.

"Stay on the ground," ordered Rock. "You didn't see one Half Moon brand, did you?"

"Who said we was lookin' for Half Moon brands?" blustered Dunne.

"Bah!—Out with the truth! You didn't see one Half Moon brand?" demanded Rock.

"Can't say I did."

"All right, . . . Dunne, go for your gun," commanded Rock.
