Committee of Senators Approves Bill Providing Relief For Unemployed

SETS UP HUGE RELIEF FUND

Bill to Authorize $375,000,000 Will Be Soon Reported to Manufacturers' Committee Before Being Sent to Senate for Action; Immediate Appropriation of $125,000,000 To be Authorized This Winter.

Washington, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The Costigan-LaFollette bill to authorize a federal appropriation of $375,000,000 for unemployment relief was approved today by a committee of senators.

This group will soon report to the full manufacturers committee, which must report on the legislation before it can be sent to the Senate for action.

The bill, which would authorize direct federal participation in unemployment relief to which President Hoover is opposed, was taken up at a meeting of the full committee a few minutes later.

An immediate appropriation of $125,000,000 would be authorized for this winter and the remainder would be appropriated for the next fiscal year beginning July 1.

Four of the five members of the committee voted to report the bill.

They were senators Costigan, Democrat, Colorado; LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin, joint authors of the measure; Wheeler, Democrat, Montana; and Cutting, Republican, New Mexico.

The funds provided by the bill would be allocated to the states on the basis of their population, the amounts they themselves spent for relief, and their needs as judged by a federal emergency relief board.

The chief of the children's bureau of the Labor Department would be charged with administration of the act under supervision of the board.

The bill was favored during hearings by a large number of relief workers and the American Federation of Labor.

Walter S. Gifford, President Hoover's relief director, testified, however, that he believed the problem could be met by states, counties and municipalities with the aid of voluntary contributions.

Reds Attempt to Lynch Catholics in Spanish Strike

Bilbao, Spain, Jan. 18.—(AP)—A mob of 3,000 Communists besieged the jail today in an attempt to lynch 41 Catholic prisoners as the first outbreak in a general strike.

Thirty artilleriers stood off the crowd with guns and sabers ready to release two Communist prisoners to appease the rioters. The Communists marched away with the prisoners, waving the red flag and singing the Internationale.

Authorities expressed belief that the strike which originated in a sanguinary encounter between the Catholics and anti-Catholics yesterday, had spread throughout the nearby mining district, but communications were poor.

Akron Breaks From Mooring

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 18.—(AP)—The Akron, Giant naval dirigible, tore loose from the naval tanker Patoka yesterday morning three minutes after being tied to the vessel's mooring mast.

Naval officers and men on duty on the mast fled down the steel structure to escape the flying end of one of the broken mooring lines. The maneuver took place off Plantation Flats, near Cape Charles.

After breaking loose, the Akron circled the Patoka a number of times and then headed for her home port at Lakehurst, N. J.

J. H. KITTRELL PASSES AWAY

Funeral services for J. H. Kittrell 84, who died here Saturday night, were conducted from his late home on Cotanche street this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Rev. W. A. Ryan, pastor of Eighth Street Church of Christ, officiated, and burial was made in Cherry Hill cemetery. The funeral was largely attended and an extensive floral tribute attested the high esteem in which he was held.

Death followed illness resulting from old age and a complication of diseases. Although he had been in ill health for several months, his condition did not take a turn for the worse until last Thursday after which little hope was held for his recovery.

He was a life-long resident of this county and has made his home in Greenville for three score years. He was quite active in behalf of the development of his community until illness brought about his confinement. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Carlos Harris, of Greenville.

RECESS RAIL CONFERENCE

Presidents, Brotherhood-Union Leaders Study Difference on Proposals.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Conference between railway presidents and brotherhood and union leaders took a recess today to give both sides more time to study differences arising from the discussion of stabilization of employment and other proposals made by the labor group.

Although both sides insisted nothing definite had been decided, indications were that the management proposals were unfavorable to some portions of the labor program, although friendly to other proposals.

The labor program was advanced as a counter proposal to the suggestion of a voluntary ten per cent wage reduction with the implication that if the presidents agreed to it or a large part of it, labor would be willing to take the wage cut for one year.

The unions asked, among other things, that the roads promise full time employment to at least a minimum force for one year and a definite amount of employment to "stand-by" forces. It was understood that this was one of the matters referred to when the labor spokesmen said "on some things they (the presidents) did not go as far as we hoped they would."

The attitude of the presidents regarding the six hour day was believed to be even less satisfactory to the union heads. The labor group had asked that a commission be formed to study the ways and means of applying the six hour day to the railway industry but it was reported that the presidents reiterated the usual objections of the management to such a plan.

Probe Finding of A Human Arm

Thomasville, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Discovery of a human arm in a clump of woods near here led to a search for a corpse, but none had been found today.

A party of hunters discovered the arm and notified police who searched the section. The arm was badly mangled and bore knife or teeth wounds.

Lester Mendenhall, who lives near the woods, told police he heard a woman screaming there about four weeks ago, but officers attached no importance to his story, because the condition of the arm led them to believe it had been in the woods for some months.

Pay Taxes With Old, Old Money

Asheville, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Robert C. Collins, Buncombe county tax collector, says residents during the last few weeks have paid more than $10,000 in taxes with currency that has been recalled by the treasury.

Bills of denominations from $1 to $100, many smelling of moth balls, he said, have appeared in his office. Collins estimates the money has been "hoarded" for years.

AGRICULTURE SUPPLY BILL IS SHARPLY CUT

Washington, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The keen blade of Democratic economy was exhibited today as the House received from its appropriations committee a closely pruned Agriculture Department supply bill. Carrying out the policy laid down by Chairman Byrns., the committee cut the first big departmental bill to $175,443,000 for the coming fiscal year. This is $60,220,000 less than appropriations for the current year and is $10,799,000 below the budget estimates of $186,243,000 recommended by President Hoover.

Not one budget item was increased by the committee and no single expenditure was added. Nor did the committee go into the question. (Continued on Page Four)

NINE KILLED IN KY. FIGHTS

Flare-up of Feudal Strife and Family Quarrels Also Cause Six Wounded.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Feudal strife and family quarrels flared in Kentucky over the weekend and a series of pistol fights left nine dead and six wounded.

A church meeting at New Salem, in the foothills of the Cumberland mountains, took four lives but left the death count unchanged in a long standing feud between the Crook and Johnson families. Two brothers of the Johnson clan and two of the Crook men were slain late Saturday in a renewal of a disagreement over the 17-year-old sister of the Johnsons. Another of the Johnson men was wounded slightly and their cousin was wounded critically.

The dead were: Homer Crook, Forrest Crook, Henry Johnson and Earl Johnson. Willie Johnson was wounded lightly and his cousin Henry Johnson was reported dying early today in a London hospital. The men fought while Willie Johnson was accused of wronging the Crook girl.

Over in adjoining Knox county, two men grasped hands and fought a duel to settle an old quarrel. One was killed and the other wounded critically. They met on Cold Fork Creek, 18 miles back in mountains and a man named Gambrell was killed and Walter Smith was shot three times. He was in a Pineville hospital unable to give any details of the duel.

Now his pear tree is blooming again and Pink says he'll have a third crop of pears the last of February if the weather stays good.

China Paid Dear Price For Victory Over Japs

Mukden, Manchuria, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Hundreds of Chinese have paid with their lives, Japanese officials communiques said today, for the victories they won last week when Japanese casualties ran high.

The communiques told a grim tale of the crashing of the Japanese mailed fist in retaliation, wounding all the most destructive engines of modern war. The announcements were made almost simultaneously with the arrival here of the advance guard of the new groups of Chinese war lords under whom it is proposed to erect a new Manchurian state.

General Shigeru Honjo, Japanese commander, drove his retaliatory thrust at several widely separated points in South Manchuria. In two battles Yentai and Tungliao at least 220 Chinese were known to have been killed and the Communiques said "a considerable number" were slain at Yingkou in a third battle. These were only the three most important clashes listed in the announcements.

One Japanese officer was killed and three men wounded in the Yingkou battle. The largest of yesterday's battles was at Yentai, a coal-mining center 25 miles south of here. A Japanese infantry battalion using machine guns, artillery and airplanes clashed with 500 Chinese. The fighting lasted 40 minutes. The first official report said the Chinese were "almost completely annihilated." The battalion returned here. (Continued on Page Four)

RUTH JUDD TO GO ON TRIAL

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Revealing the defense will concern itself chiefly with a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity, attorneys for 27-year-old Winnie Ruth Judd held their final conference today on the eve of the opening of her murder trial.

The slender, auburn-haired office worker is charged with the murder of her two former friends and roommates, Agnes Le Roi and Hedvig Samuelson, whose bodies were sent in trunks to Los Angeles.

It will be an all-man jury to whom the story of the slayings will be told, since women do not sit on juries in Arizona.

Attorneys for Mrs. Judd, wife of Dr. W. C. Judd, Los Angeles physician worked behind closed doors today. They have summoned three psychiatrists in addition to several witnesses from various points in Indiana and Illinois, where Mrs. Judd and her relatives formerly resided.

The attorneys said, however, they had not abandoned the plea of self defense as a motive for the slayings, and will offer testimony which will seek to show that Mrs. Judd killed the two women last October to save her own life.

Mrs. Judd's story of the slayings was that she shot the two women in self defense as the climax of an argument over social affairs.

At her side when she goes to court will be her husband and her parents, Rev. and Mrs. H. J. McKinnell of Darlington, Indiana.

Sixty-two witnesses have been summoned by county attorneys.

Negro Confesses Holdup And Shooting at Pactolus

A solution to the fatal shooting and robbery of Hagan Hodges, postmaster and operator of a general store at Pactolus, was obtained by county officers yesterday in the arrest of John Robert Myers, 33-year-old Greenville negro.

Following a grueling examination conducted by Sheriff Sam Whitehurst at police headquarters yesterday morning, Myers confessed the holdup and shooting after officers had obtained the pistol with which the crime had been committed and several other clues completely sealing the fate of the negro. The Reverend John M. Phillips, of Hartford, Connecticut, made the statement.

ASKS REFORM IN BANKING

Gov. Murray Testifies before Ways and Means Committee of House.

By CECIL B. DICKSON Washington, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Sitting at his ease with a smoking cigar and black coffee at hand, "Alfalfa Bill" Murray—otherwise the governor of Oklahoma—counseled Congress today to institute banking reforms.

He testified before the House Ways and Means committee, introduced by Representative McKeown, a fellow Democrat of his state.

McKeown is sponsor of a bill to remove the ten per cent tax on state bank note issues which was first presented about 15 years ago by Murray when he was a House member.

The bill seeks to repeal the law in order that the so-called "Scottish" banks in states could issue notes on stored agricultural and similar products.

Chairman Collier and the other committee members accorded the plain-worded Oklahoma executive unusual courtesy. As McKeown concluded his introduction, he said the committee "may have to drink some coffee because he hasn't had all of his morning coffee yet."

Murray then obtained permission to sit down and talk in support of the McKeown bill. It had been granted but once before and then to Secretary Mellon when he was ill.

Rearing back in an easy chair, Murray crossed his legs—exposing white cotton socks and high laced shoes—and began a detailed discussion of "the central and Scotch bank systems in England" and the central or Federal Reserve Banking system in the United States.

About that time Harry, the negro who has been janitor for the ways and means committee for 41 years, brought in two pots of coffee and one cut and placed them before the governor.

Without interrupting his discourse Murray jerked forward and poured the cup full to the brim with black coffee.

Rejected Lipton Mrs. Catherine Stewart, 67, of Duluth, Minn., has confessed that she rejected the late Sir Thomas Lipton's marriage proposal when she was Catherine McLeod of Glasgow, Scotland, because of her youth. Sir Thomas never married.

"I think it would depend on how active the stockholder was," Gregg replied. "If he continued to run a company he would be barred whether he owned 99 or one per cent of the stock. Mr. Mellon has not taken any active part. He does not own control in any corporation."

"Mr. Mellon has never attended even a stockholders' meeting of any corporation since he has been secretary. He has given his proxy." Summers asked Gregg whether the bank stock Mellon had disposed of when taking office was now held by any individual in one block.

"I can't answer that," Gregg said. "I don't know; but there are no strings on it." Gregg was asked to supply the ownership of this bank stock and said he would do so. To further questions, he said the disposition of Mellon's bank stock had probably been through a private sale and not on the public exchange market because "it was a large block."

Representative Dominick, South Carolina Democrat, suggested a list of all Mellon's stockholdings be supplied.

"It would be possible to get it but I want to suggest the seriousness of spreading private affairs before the public," Gregg said.

Dominick's request was not pressed.

In reply to questions by Representative LaGuardia, New York Republican, Gregg said Mellon owns a minority interest in the Koppers Construction Company of Pittsburgh.

Patman had called attention to this connection as giving Mellon an interest in Soviet Russia because of a business arrangement between the Koppers Company and Russia.

Gregg named a Mr. Wallace, a vice-president of the Gulf Oil Company with offices in New York, as the official who negotiated the Barco concession in Colombia. He further said Mellon was the beneficiary of the sale of his stock in A. Overholt Company, a brewery, which was disposed of when the secretary took office.

Representative Oliver, New York Democrat, directed Gregg's attention to a meeting in Mellon's Washington home between the secretary and James B. Duke, president of the American Company of America and the Canada Development and Manufacturing Company.

"I asked Mr. Mellon about that," Gregg said, "and he told me the negotiations were not discussed at all. It was simply a contract between large stockholders."

"And it did not influence the negotiations?" Oliver pressed.

"I cannot imagine that it did," Gregg replied.

PUSH RESCUE IN FLOOD AREA

Boats Rush Through Tipp Basin to aid 2,000 Water-Bound Refugees.

Glendora, Miss., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Scores of boats chugged through the flooded Tipp Basin today in a "big push" to rescue some 2,000 refugees waterbound by crumbling levees on the Tallahatchie river.

New breaks of the past have virtually inundated the entire basin district.

For a stretch of 200 miles thru parts of Panola, Quitman, Tallahatchie, Leflore and Humphreys counties, the river has defeated the weeks labors of levee patchers and the lands on the east side of the Tallahatchie are under water.

In the Matthew Bayou drainage district, officials have abandoned hope of holding the levees against the rising torrents. They say the basin, already deserted by 1,500 farm tenants, will be under water probably until April.

No loss of life has been reported. Tenants took warning and carried their easiest movable possessions to high land and now await boat passage out of the flooded basin. The basin's hilltops are islands dotting the inland lake.

Seriousness of the situation has been noted at Washington. Ernest P. Krick, national Red Cross disaster relief director, said Washington headquarters had advised a "more liberal policy" in handling the relief situation. Local Red Cross agents said this means the relief situation will be fully met, even though aid probably will be needed through March.

Although many of those trapped in the basin are known to be short of rations, rescue workers believed they would reach them before the pinch of hunger. No reports have been received of any disease menaces.

Prices Purchases Land Waynesville.—Two additional tracts of land near here have been purchased by Thomas Price of New York, secretary of the Union Pacific railway, bringing his holdings to more than 1,000. He plans to develop a game preserve.

ABOUT TOWN

ABOUT TOWN 16 16 1871. That was an ugly charge which the attorney for George M. Pritchard, defeated Republican, contesting the election of Senator Josiah William Bailey, brought against Democrats last week—one that would never have been made had Pritchard instead of Bailey been elected.

Saying that "a system in North Carolina that does not allow a fair and honest election if the machine in power does not deny it," Robert McNeil slapped the Democrats squarely in the face, for it is that party that is the dominating influence in this state.

Such a charge certainly was unbecoming and will only tend to create a bitterness between the two factions dominating the political life of the state.

Wonder what Pritchard would have said had he been elected? Would he have insisted on probing irregularities then? Was there more irregularity, if any, on one side than on the other?

The charge apparently is without justification and the attack upon a party which has been notably clean and fair in former elections is wholly unwarranted as the Senate investigation of the affair will prove.

Another tobacco warehouse was destroyed by fire in this county last week, bringing the total number of such buildings destroyed by fire in this county the last year to three.

The total loss will go beyond the $200,000 mark and will prove a severe blow to an industry which has flourished more than all others during the last decade.

One of the warehouses has already been rebuilt and that the other two will be ready for occupancy by the beginning of the next season is not to be doubted.

This staggering loss should awaken the people to the constant menace of the fire demon and cause them to adopt more stringent measures for the prevention of further loss.

The loss by fire in Greenville last year was four times as great as the previous year in spite of increased precaution and determination of the firemen to reduce it.

This is a matter that requires the co-operation of people in all phases of life and it is hoped more attention than formerly will be directed to cutting down the loss.

This is truly a nation of investigations. Congress for the past two years has been converted into a veritable bureau of inquiry, and its members are kept constantly on the run probing some charge brought by somebody with a chip on his shoulder with no idea how to get it off without public assistance.

Every day the public is treated to news of an investigation or a request for one, and by the time the next Congress meets, if request for inquiries continue, the solons might as well hire them a pack of bloodhounds and go to it.

It is difficult to understand how normal business is continued with so much dissension, but the boys seem to have an unusual capacity for punishment, not considering scandal, and apparently will end the present session with about as much accomplishment as any other session in recent years.

Sunset Pass

By ZANE GREY

SYNOPSIS: The secret of the Prestons—cattle rustling—has been discovered by Truman Rock, and is becoming known to a few ranchers. Rock intends to prevent the open disgrace of Gage Preston and his son, Ash, because he is in love with Gage's daughter, Thiry. Thiry keeps a shamed silence.

Chapter 43 BUYING SILENCE "Fresh Half Moon hides hidden close to where Preston last butchered. He can show these any time. I called Tom Lincoln in to talk it over. We advised Slagle to keep mum 'n' wait."

"Dabb, here's what I'll do, and I'm sure thankin' you for the 'hunch,' returned Rock, passionately. 'I'll buy Slagle's silence. I've five thousand dollars in the bank. I'll stop Gage Preston's stealin' before it's too late. . . And if I have to, I'll call Ash Preston out!"

"No! No!" exclaimed Dabb, violently. "Not that last, anyway. . . Rock, you will never settle down to peaceful ranchin'? Suppose you come to my house for dinner to-night. I'll have Tom Lincoln. We'll talk it over."

It was an interminably long day for Rock. It was dusk when he walked out to the mansion that was John Dabb's home. Rock was admitted to a cheerful library, and the presence of Dabb and Lincoln.

"Howdy, Rock! Get down an' come in," was Dabb's greeting. "Glad you came early. . . Tom, you remember True Rock, don't you?"

"I shore do," replied Lincoln, extending a lean hand. "Sit down, friends," said Dabb. "I've got two more fellows comin' after dinner, an' we'll have a little game of draw after. Now, Rock, I've talked your trouble over with Tom, an' here's his angle. I'm bound to say I think it a solution to a nasty problem. At that it hinges most on you. . . Go back to Preston an' tell him the truth. That he's found out by some cattle men, an' he must quit his butcherin' stolen cattle before Hesbitt gets on him. Tell him he's to come before the Cattle Association. That means Tom an' me, an' Hesbitt, sure, but we can handle him. We will keep the deal out of court, an' Preston out of jail, provided he comes to us, pays Slagle off, an' squares Hesbitt for the stock he has lost. Then Preston, an' his four sons, especially this Ash Preston, who's the ringleader, no doubt must leave the country."

"Wonderful fair and fine of you gentlemen," returned Rock, instantly, his set face breaking. "Wal, Rock, it's about this hear way," put in Lincoln, with his slow Southern accent. "We shore can afford to be generous because Preston hasn't stole from us. Then we don't want the range slandered by such a raw case. "All right, Rock. What do you say?" queried Dabb, as if in a hurry to get it over. "Will you settle it?"

"Yes, with one reservation," replied Rock, grimly. "An' what's that?" "I can manage Preston. But when Ash finds out, he'll fight. He can't be persuaded or frightened."

"Shore. An' your reservation is you'll have to kill him," interposed the imperturbable Texan. "Not even Mr. Willard.

Convincing men that salary reductions are necessary is like trying to convince an elephant that he can go without water as long as a camel, and Mr. Willard or anybody else might talk from now until the end of time and fail to get results.

It is not to be doubted that railroads are hard hit by depression just like other phases of industry, but they should be able to operate a long time on the huge profits they exacted from the public before the network of highways enabled trucks and automobiles to deprive them of business.

The time to cut salaries is during booms and not when the average man finds it almost impossible to keep the wolf from his door. Keeping expenses at a minimum when times are flourishing should prevent another economic nightmare through which the country is passing at this time and if some of the moneyed interests would keep this fact in mind there would be no reason for such talks as Willard made to the railway employees.

Dry forces of the nation will not compromise themselves in the fight which wets are making for modification of the prohibition law, and mean to fight to the bitter end, in the opinion of Senator Shepard, co-author of the Eighteenth Amendment.

"Let these recalcitrants be notified," he said, speaking in the Senate during the celebration of the twelfth anniversary of prohibition, "that so far as the dries are concerned there is to be no compromise on the question of keeping the nation, as a nation, arrayed against beverage alcohol, no submission to a reversal of the American constitution except in obedience to the will of the people in each district and in each state."

The declaration received the approbation of men and women in all parts of the country who believe that the salvation of the nation rests in keeping it free from legalized sale of whiskey. It is a big question and one that will be fought to a finish during the coming campaign testing the strength of the two dominant parties.

Daniel Willard, president of B. & O. railroad, attempted to tell organized railway workers why they should accept a voluntary 10 per cent cut in salary last week but if he succeeded nobody has noticed it

National Survey Points to Big Business Year Ahead

Many Potential Buyers Now Need Many Different Kinds of Goods; Purchasing Power High; Recovery Already Under Way in Areas Where Advertising Has Been Heaviest

That the year before us will give advertising a great opportunity is indicated by the results of a national survey conducted by the board of directors of the Advertising Federation of America.

Purchasing power of $28,000,000,000 is lying in American savings banks, it is pointed out by the federation, most of which belongs to persons who have been "curtailing their purchases more than necessary and who now need many kinds of goods."

"A survey of 102 large companies shows that those firms which had increased their advertising in 1930 over 1929 made a fifty-eight per cent better profit comparison than those which decreased it," the federation declares.

"The same firms increased their lead still further in 1931. "In another analysis, covering seventy large cities, the research bureau found that local business recovery has been under way for some months in the cities where newspaper advertising has been relatively the heaviest, while the volume of total business is lagging farther behind in the cities where advertising linage is relatively the least."

Seventy-two companies making greater profits in 1931 than in 1930 were studied, and it was found that three-fourths of them had increased or maintained their advertising appropriations as compared with 1929 expenditures. One-fourth reduced their appropriations by thirteen per cent. The 1931 profits of the groups of firms which increased their advertising was slightly more than 100 per cent greater than the profits of the group in which advertising was reduced.

"Depletion of personal goods by individuals and the scanty stocks on the shelves of dealers and in distributors' warehouses are important factors in the outlook," he says. "The opportunity is at hand, and far sighted executives are planning their sales programs to make the most of it."

Legion Launches

Drive Against Unemployment

Raleigh, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Members of the American Legion in North Carolina will launch an attack on unemployment in two sections on January 25.

One drive will be aimed at securing pledges from employers to increase on February 1 their present personnel by 10 per cent even if the wages of those now employed must be cut.

The other provides for securing pledges from property owners for so many days work each week in the line of yard work, repairs and domestic service.

The campaign was mapped out at a meeting here yesterday of the state executive committee. It also fixed definitely the dates for the state convention to be held in Asheville, naming July 17, 18 and 19.

Invitations to attend have been dispatched to General John J. Pershing, Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley and Henry L. Stevens, Jr., Commander of the American Legion.

Discover Fortune

in Ancient Tomb

Mexico City, Jan. 18.—(AP)—A princely fortune in gold and precious stones, a cache overlooked by Herando Cortez and his Conquistadores 400 years ago and said to rival the treasure found buried with King Tutankhamen in Egypt, lies today in the vaults of the Bank of Mexico.

It was found in the tomb of ten ancient Mexican Caciques, or feudal lords, in the fortified city of Monte Alban, high above Oaxaca, by Mexican archaeologists. The announcement caused a great buzz of prediction that the long-sought gold of the "lost cities" may at last await excavators' picks and shovels.

The treasure already uncovered consists of more than 100 specimens of all kinds, ranging from heavy and finely-wrought gold crowns to pearls described as large as pigeons' eggs. A half dozen gold necklaces, said to be "an extremely minor part of the treasure," were evaluated at $500 each, on their gold content alone.

Monte Alban, from which government archaeologists secretly removed the grand collection, is really a fortified mountain top, and the excavators said they believed they have only scratched the surface of the ancient and magnificent ruins.

Tyler Speaks At Memorial Baptist Church

John Tyler, convert of the Jerry McCauley Mission of New York City, who is credited with the distinction of having circled the globe five times, spoke at Memorial Baptist church last night.

Introduced by Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, Tyler, a member of a socially prominent Richmond, Va., family told of the life of sin he led prior to his conversion.

It was another version of the prodigal son who started out in quest of happiness, and found it in the tiny mission house in New York City after having literally revelled in all vices of the world of today.

Tyler said he was at the end of his rope when he landed in New York City the last time. Sitting on a park bench, ragged, disconsolate, with the stain of sin written all over him, he was preparing to throw himself under a passing train when a frequenter of the park asked him why he did not go to the Jerry McCauley Mission.

He went and after being converted studied until he was qualified to become a licensed minister. Since that time he has circled the globe and the nation four times, telling of the secret to success—the following of the teachings of Christ.

Former Court Clerk Sent To State's Prison

Wilmington, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Marion J. Shuffler, former deputy clerk of the New Hanover County court, pleaded guilty to embezzlement today and was sentenced to from two to five years in State's prison.

Shuffler's troubles go back to a year ago when he was arrested on a worthless check charge. He forfeited his bond and this led to an investigation of his accounts.

It was found that he was short approximately $6,000 in trust funds. After remaining at liberty for several months, he returned to Wilmington about a month ago and gave himself up.

White Offered As Candidate For Presidency

Cleveland, Jan. 18.—The name of Governor George White of Ohio as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination was definitely offered today by leaders of the party in this state, together with expressions of confidence that he would accept.

However, the leaders announced though the delegates are to be pledged to the governor, they will be "free from any sort of control." This was interpreted as meaning they will be free to switch to another candidate if the governor should fail to receive an encouraging number of the convention's early votes.

The agreement upon Governor White as Ohio's "favorite son," was announced last night by Newton D. Baker, himself prominently mentioned as a possible candidate, but who has refused thus far to seek the nomination.

Pitt Civil Court Begins Its Work

A one-week term of Pitt County Superior court, for the trial of civil cases, convened in Greenville this morning with Judge E. H. Cramer, of Southport, presiding.

The calendar, completed the first of last week, contains over a half hundred cases, and the week is expected to be one of the busiest in many sessions.

This is the first session of court held here since the first of November, and both civil and criminal calendars are pretty well cluttered up with cases accumulating since that time.

The local collegians will play two games this week. Both of them will be played in foreign territory. They meet Lenoir Thursday night at Lenoir and play Campbell College a return game Saturday night at Boutes Creek.

The building was threatened with destruction, but timely arrival of the fire department resulted in confining the blaze to the mattress.

Firemen attributed the fire to a lighted cigarette butt which somebody sleeping in the building tossed carelessly on the mattress.

73-4 POUND CHUB

To, A. H. Critcher goes the honor of catching the largest chub reported in this part of the country this season.

While fishing on Tranters' Creek last Saturday, Mr. Critcher had the pleasure of hauling in a black bass weighing 73-4 pounds. The fish is on display at the Greenville Cafe. Its mouth is large enough to accommodate a normal size grapefruit.
