CAGE LEADERS HAVING HARD SLEDDING NOW

By DILLON GRAHAM (Associated Press Sports Writer) Atlanta, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The fad of Vanderbilt and Florida as probable championship contenders in Southern Conference basketball were outstanding developments of the second week's campaign in Duke cage play.

While Alabama and Kentucky were showing the way with four victories each and Maryland, defending champion, was close behind with two triumphs, Vanderbilt and Florida, both favored teams, were encountering trouble at every turn.

With veteran players returning and Josh Cody, one of the south's best basketball coaches, on the memorial deck, Vanderbilt was looked upon as one of the strongest prospects, but both Georgia Tech and Auburn roused the Commodores, who also lost to Chattanooga.

Florida, a semi-finalist last year, lost to Georgia Tech and dropped two contests to Alabama. Both Florida and Vanderbilt may come back fast in the championship tournament next month but present indications are that the championship flag will not fly at either Gainesville or Nashville.

Tulane, the football champion, also gave little show of basketball strength, losing double-headers to Alabama and the Mississippi A's. Tennessee, another strong team, lost to Kentucky and bowed to a surprisingly strong team from little Milligan college.

Among the unbeaten teams as the third week play started today were North Carolina State, Auburn, North Carolina, Virginia, Mississippi A and M, Maryland, Alabama and Kentucky.

Duke, defeated last week by Army and Navy, opens its conference slate against North Carolina State Friday at Durham. To keep its record clean, Alabama must reverse Louisiana State in a brace of games at Tuscaloosa Friday and Saturday.

Other games for the week included Florida and Vanderbilt at Nashville, Louisiana State and Mississippi A and M at Baton Rouge and Sewanee and Tulane at New Orleans, tonight and tomorrow; Maryland and Navy at College Park and Georgia Tech and Mercer at Macon Wednesday; Virginia and Maryland at Charlottesville Tuesday; Florida and Auburn at Gainesville Friday and Saturday.

LEGION BEGINS RELIEF DRIVE

Hopes to Find Employment for a Million Men at Chicago Conference.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—(AP)—The American Legion propounded today, at a conference of legion officials and representatives of relief organizations from 10 middle western states, a program which it hopes will re-create prosperity by immediately increasing employment 10 per cent and turning one billion dollars over seven times.

Henry L. Stevens, Jr., of Warsaw, N. C., national commander, was here. So were Mark T. McKee, of Detroit, executive secretary of the Legion's Michigan section of its national employment commission and scores of workers of various state-directed and private relief organizations, including the governor's relief commissioners of Illinois.

"The legion hopes to put to work one million men who are now unemployed," McKee said. "We hope their incomes will average $1,000 each and that it will be turned over seven times."

McKee indicated that "certain large industries," had already increased their personnel 10 per cent and that their names would be revealed later.

Other major parts of the program outlined by McKee included making effective the six-hour day with six-hour pay and the "Rochester plan" of obtaining pledges from all property owners to have some repair or improvement work done immediately.

Above is pictured N. C. State's No. 1 basketball quint, which will start against Wake Forest Tuesday night in State's first "Big Five" game. The tilt will be played in the Frank Thompson gymnasium at Raleigh at 8 o'clock. Johnson, Brown and Clark are juniors, and Captain Rose and Morgan, seniors.

McKay's Improves Interior Of Store

Work in connection with re-painting of the interior of McKay's store on Evans street has been completed and the building today presents an exceptionally attractive appearance.

Rearrangement and painting of the display windows was also numbered among the improvements and this will make the windows among the most attractive in this part of the state.

A change in the arrangement of stock and fixtures in the rear of the building was made along with other improvements, and this was expected to greatly expedite the dispatch of business in that section of the building.

This is one of the many improvements to be made by Greenville stores during the new year in an effort to keep pace with the city's slogan, "The Principal Shopping Center of Eastern Carolina," and they are expected to add much to the general appearance of the business district.

High Point Bank Closes

High Point, Jan. 19.—(AP)—The Commercial National bank, oldest High Point bank, did not open for business today. On December 31 it reported deposits of $4,785,040.

J. Elwood Cox was president. A statement issued by the board of directors said strenuous efforts to convert bank assets into cash had proved futile.

The bank had capital stock of $1,000,000 and surplus and undivided profits of $1,144,000.

STATE DUKE GAME HOLDS SPOTLIGHT

Charlotte, Jan. 18.—(AP)—North Carolina State's undefeated case team and Duke's Blue Devils, who have taken it on the chin regularly from eastern quints, clash in the feature game of this week's big five play.

The game is scheduled for Saturday night at Durham and is one of three contests between big five basketball teams to be run off during the next six days.

Wake Forest takes part in both the others. The Deacons meet State tomorrow night and the University of North Carolina on Saturday.

Duke, the defending titleholder, is tied for first place now in the big five race with North Carolina. Each has one victory and no defeats. The Blue Devils scored their over Wake Forest while the Tar Heels beat Davidson.

The Duke game will open N. C. State's big five campaign and will also be the first southern conference game for the Blue Devils who were beaten by Army, the Crescent Athletic Club and Navy last week.

The Tar Heel boxers have two engagements during the week. The first is with Duke tomorrow night and the second with Virginia Poly Saturday. V. P. T's wrestlers exchange headlocks with the Tar Heel matmen preliminary to the boxing.

Elon meets High Point Saturday in the only basketball game scheduled for the week between two North State Conference teams.

Mercury Begins Downward Move After Warm Spell

King Winter came back to this section today to claim his own after playing hide-and-seek with spring-time for the last several days. And, incidentally, people who have been basking in the most balmy weather this part of the state has experienced in years, donned heavier clothing and then felt like they might have to call for more.

The lowest temperature in Greenville yesterday was 61. B. T. Clark, local weather observer, said this morning, and the low this morning was given at 55. The maximum yesterday was 72 and this morning it was 63.

The weather man several days ago predicted the advent of colder weather, but for some inexplicable reason it failed to appear until last night.

The warming rays of sun were a signal for nature to begin her beautification program, and many trees and shrubs were reported budding in various sections as winter again appeared.

AYDEN NEWS

Mr. Ben Stock, one of the pioneers of the Fork Swamp community, suffered a stroke of paralysis last week and is lingering between life and death.

The remains of Mr. Robert Jones who died last Saturday in Lancaster, Pa., are expected to arrive here Tuesday and will be buried Wednesday in Ayden cemetery.

Lewis Cherry, the colored night watchman of Conklin's manufacturing plant, suddenly fell dead Monday evening.

Mr. Lewis Braxton of Washington, has moved his family here and occupies residence near the Wingate race track.

Our farmers have lost a lot of their meat and sausage due to the warm weather, but still there is more meat, lard, potatoes, corn and canned goods throughout the county than has ever been, so why should we worry?

Our people have quit talking depression and gone to work—that is their only redress.

The musical prelude and interludes were furnished by the High School orchestra under the direction of Mr. Robeson.

Miss Powell and Mrs. Picklesimer of the faculty assisted Miss Shindler in putting the production over.

The proceeds from the entertainment, amounting to seventy dollars, will be used to defray the expenses of the musical clubs of the High School when they go to Greensboro in May to take part in the state contest.

Last year Greenville High School won second place for schools with enrollment of less than 500, and this year the clubs are entertaining hopes of taking first place.

Mr. and Mrs. Carey Mayo and daughter, Daisy King, of Greenville, were here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Wardlaw and son of Goldsboro, were here Sunday.

Misses Colleen and Dorothy Little visited here Sunday.

Miss Delphia Satterfield spent the past week visiting Mrs. P. G. Mayo.

Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Smith of Greenville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Smith.

Miss Frances Patrick of Belvoir, accompanied by Mr. Jack Lewis, Misses Bertha and Nancy Lewis and Mrs. Albert Lang, passed through here Sunday.

Mr. Frank Dupree and family of Farmville, visited Mrs. Emma Little Sunday.

Messrs. Ben Stokes and Ed Harris of Pinebluffs, were here Sunday.

The Ladies Bible Class will meet with Mrs. W. J. Moore on Thursday night.

A game of basketball was played here Wednesday between Belvoir and Falkland. Score 9 to 11 in favor of Falkland.

Mrs. Lyman Brown spent Saturday and Sunday in Greenville.

Report on Octagon soap labels were encouraging, also the treasurer reported. Miss Jordan's room won in attendance.

After the business session, the following program was rendered: (Miss Dorothy Crutchlow, chairman) Song, "It Isn't Any Trouble Just to S-m-i-l-e."

Program based on Thrift: Play—Penny Lane, by elementary grade children. Reading on Thrift, by Miss Eleanor Whitehurst.

Talk—Thrift in the Home, by Miss Ethel Nice. Tag—The Rewards of Saving, by Mr. Frank Patrick of Greenville.

Rev. A. J. Crane held services here Sunday night. His text, "Have Faith in God," was a very able and timely theme.

We should all remember and live by its teaching.

OPERETTA WAS HUGE SUCCESS (Continued from Page One) evening, outside of the chorus work, were the duet by Lucy James as Sylvia, and Helen Sawyer as Betty, and the solo by James Dees, the policeman.

Unfortunately for the enjoyment of the audience, the solo of Dees was very short. He showed a voice of rare quality. Sybil Clark was a gracious hostess, although a much-worried mother of modern daughters.

Leatrice and Sylvia, Elizabeth Ferguson was the blase one, and her wise-cracks were put over in such a fashion as to make the audience roar.

Pearl Lautes, as Suzanne, the French maid, fitted into her part perfectly, as did Jane Cox, who was always predicting disaster to everybody and everything.

NOT GUILTY

ABOUT TOWN

The promptness of Pitt county officers in bringing criminals to justice was evinced over the weekend in the capture of the slayer of the postmaster of Pactolus.

In slightly over a week after the robbery and shooting, the negro was speeding toward Raleigh, where he will be held until he faces trial in superior court two weeks hence.

It was probably the quickest solution of a case of this kind in the history of law enforcement in this county, and reflects considerable credit on Sheriff Whitehurst and members of the police department who assisted in the investigation.

There is only one way to break up lawlessness and that is to capture criminals and see that they are meted out proper justice in the courts. This one thing will do more to bring about a reduction of crime in America than any other thing to be imagined.

The keen blade of Democratic economy was exhibited yesterday when the House received the agriculture supply bill.

The bill called for total expenditures of $175,443,000, a reduction of $60,220,000 under the bill for the present year and shows to what extreme the Democrats are trying to relieve the hard-pressed taxpayers of the country.

It is estimated the reduction was obtained without impairment of service in any particular phase of the department and will enable that branch of government to care for problems of the nation with as great efficiency as formerly.

With the nation faced by one of the most overwhelming deficits in history, it is nothing but right that those charged with the responsibility of running the government should cut expenses wherever possible, and the Democrats responsible for the cutting of such a huge slice out of appropriations are to be congratulated.

President Hoover is opposed to federal relief for unemployment, but a committee of senators has prepared a bill providing an appropriation of $375,000,000 for the purpose and it will be debated by the House in a short while.

The President and members of the relief committee contend that each community will be able to care for its indigent population during the coming winter months, but the contention is based merely on theory, and not actual facts.

With millions of men and women walking the streets in quest of employment it is going to be practically impossible for the communities to take care of the situation without state or federal aid, and it would not be a bad idea for Congress to provide an appropriation to be used after the various sections have exhausted their resources.

Nobody will dispute the fact that the government is hard pressed, but it has always found money to pay for investigations, from which the country has derived little benefit, and it would be far better to invest some of that money in behalf of humanity instead of literally throwing it away for something not imperative to the welfare and happiness of the nation.

Tremendous sums—staggering in their proportion—have been devoted to other causes in past years, but at no time in the history of the nation has a more acute situation confronted the people, and if it is possible, the government should respond to the call for aid.

There is no suggestion of a dole involved in the support of such actions. It is merely an effort to retrieve what is generally believed to be a temporary condition, a tiding over of hungry, jobless people until they are able to find employment and care for themselves.

The average American is too thrifty, too ambitious and proud to accept a dole, and in providing relief for the present condition, President Hoover or any member of the great relief committee he has set up, should not be afraid of encouraging any such system in this

SYNOPSIS: True Rock has known for some time that his employer, Gage Preston, is a cattle rustler, but has not told Preston until the community has become aroused. Because he knows that Preston is influenced by his son, Ash, and because he loves Thiry, Preston's daughter, Rock plans to save his employer.

Chapter 44

PRESTON'S "GOLDEN CHANCE"
"What you mean?" hoarsely rejoined the rancher, as if shot thru with something that froze his vitals. He knew! It was only an outburst.

"You're found out?"

"What's found out?"

"Your butcherin' stolen cattle."

"Who knows?"

"Elagle found Half Moon hides under that culvert above his place.
He told John Dabb. Dabb told Tom Lincoln. Then me."

Preston's eyes set with greenish glare; his face, too, took on a greenish-white cast and otherwise changed grotesquely.

"My Gawd!" And as if to shut out the revealing light he covered his face with nerveless hands.

Rock's first thrill came with the rancher's reception of this news. It argued well. But let the revelation sink deep. He waited.

"Gage, I can prove you guilty," whispered Rock.

"You can? . . . How?" returned Preston, with solemn glaring eyes.

"Ash's tracks. I trailed them. I measured them. I got his boot track here in the corral. I saw the same track leadin' down to the culvert and under in. I compared 'er. I ripped open one of those burlap sacks. The Half Moon brand!"

"Ash!" And the hissed word was a curse.

"Yes. You've split on Ash. Preston."

The big hands clenched, and opened wide.

"Rock, you wouldn't ruin me?"

"No."

"Does anyone else have the proofs on me—like you?"

"No, not yet. But I'm not the only trailer on this range. Somebody will trail your sons, as I did Ash. If you don't stop them!"

"Ha! Then it ain't too late?" he queried, huskily.

"No."

"Does anybody else suspect—besides the four you named?"

"Hesbitt's outfits are scourin' the range. They suspect. But they don't know. Reckon sooner or later they'll hit on somethin'. Old sign. It might not convict, but it'd ruin you just the same. And any fresh sign—Preston, you'll all go to jail!"

"Rock, are you comin' in with me—an' Ash—an' Thiry?" asked Preston.

"I'm in with you and Thiry now.
Not Ash. . . . But clean and honest, Preston. I've laid my cards before Dabb and Lincoln. They know me.
I couldn't be crooked now—not to save your life and Thiry's happiness."

"Ahh!—What's the deal?"

"If you'll agree to what I lay before you we can stall off the worst."

"What you mean by worst?"

"Ruin for your family. Jail for your sons. Perhaps bloodshed."

"Ha! that last is shore as hell with Ash in it. . . . Rock, I get a hunch you've been workin' to ward off this ruin. Fer Thiry's sake?"

"Naturally I think of Thiry first." went on Rock, with deep emotion, warming to the impending argument. "But also I'm thinkin' of her mother and sisters—and the boys who're as innocent as they are. In fact, for all of you."

"Can you save us? Not countin' Ash. He's outside any deal. An' on him we'll stumble. Through Ash will come this worst you harp on."

"Listen," whispered Rock, "I've shut Slagel's mouth. I've bought his silence. He's leaving the range."

"Lord Almighty! . . . How'd you do it? What'd you give him?"

"Twenty-five hundred dollars." Preston whistled low. Of all the fellers I ever seen, you—Rock, I'm going to square that with you."

"Sure you are. You're going to square it all. . . . Listen. Come to town with me. I've got it all fixed.
Dabb will call a meetin' of the Calder Association council. That means him, Lincoln and Hesbitt. To keep this out of court you will agree to pay Hesbitt for his Half Moon
country."

The illicit whiskey traffic is not going to thrive in this part of the state if federal officers operating out of Kingston and Wilson have their way about it.

Several times recently, the enforcement agents have raided stills in this community with telling effect, and have caused bootleggers and distillers to adopt new methods of procedure to save themselves from punishment meted out by the courts.

One of the finest stills captured in this immediate section in months fell into hands of officers in the Grimesland community Saturday, along with a considerable amount of whiskey and still paraphernalia.
Two distillers were also nabbed and bound over to the next session of federal court.

Activity of this kind is bound to have a pronounced effect in curtailment of the industry. If there is one thing in the world a bootlegger dislikes it is a federal agent—an authorized representative of Uncle Sam—because he knows capture by these officers means a trip to a federal prison followed by long confinement.

stock. Dabb and Lincoln have promised me they'll handle Hesbitt.
It will all be done in secret. Then you and your sons who were in this deal must leave the country."

"Fair enough, but I reckon I'd rather fight."

"Preston, don't let pride and anger blind you. By fightin' you will lose your golden chance. We all believe Ash roped you into this butcherin' stolen cattle."

"He shore did. He was killin' my stolen steers long before I ever knew. Then it was too late to stop him. An' I drifted in myself. All so easy! I was a few head of stock at a time! Nobody could ever guess! An' now. . . . Rock, I'd almost as I'll croak as face the council."

"Preston, you are not thinking clear. You don't see this right.
. . . By Heaven! Preston, I can't let you ruin Thiry. She's guilty now, to some extent, for she shares your guilty secret. Ash would drag her in with him."

"He shore will—unless you kill him!" muttered this implacable father.

"But if I do—Thiry will hate me," replied Rock.

"Maybe she would. We Prestons shore can hate, but we don't change from love to hate."

"Do— you, Preston," flumed Rock. "I've got a feelin' more than once that you'd not stop me from drawing on Ash."

"Hell, no!" An' you would have long ago if you'd had the guts you once was noted for. . . . But Thiry has got you located. . . . Come in with us, Rock. We'll fight this deal, sell out, an' go to Arizona or Utah."

"No!" replied Rock, fiercely. "I won't."

"Wal, then, I'll think you ide-over good an' hard. Rock, my word acceptin' it pronto doesn't mean I don't appreciate your wonderful offer an' all that prompts you. I shore do. It may be the best way to save them. But the wife—Thiry, Allie, Lucy—they'd have to know, an' I'd almost shore rather die in my boots than tell them."

"Man, we don't have to tell. No, one but Thiry will ever know."

"All right. Let's much in it's favor. I'll think it over. Meanwhile, I'll stop Ash if I have to hawg-tie him. An' you better take the boys an' go off in the woods somewhere. They deserve a vacation. But no goin' into town.
Take them huntin'."

Well as Trueman Rock knew that country it was his fortune to be taken by the Preston boys to high hunting grounds which he had never visited.

It was up in the mountains back of the Pass, about a day's climb on horseback.

In the morning Rock was awakened by the gobbling of turkeys.
Rock crawled out, revolver in hand, and soon espied the big birds at the edge of the grove. A gobbler stood up straight, head high. Rock's hand moved and stiffened, his gun boomed, the turkey fell. Securing his gobbler, Rock walked into camp and laid it before the roused Prestons.

Thus the hunting began for Rock, and he entered into it heartily.

"Boys, you try for turkeys and deer," suggested Rock. "And don't miss an elk, if you see one. I'll climb for a sheep."

The days passed until Rock had no idea how long he had been absent from the Pass. It was well, too, to be alone, for in the past weeks he had fallen back upon an old habit—the drawing of a gun to bring back and insure the swiftness that had once been his. This action alone was grim indication of his extremity. He dared not slight it, though he fought against admitting the reason for it to his consciousness.

Al Preston left to go down home for supplies. This threw Rock into a fever of uncertainty. What news sage from Preston? Would Thiry would he fetch back? What message? The day was long, the night interminable, the second day unbearable.

Then a gray-laden pack-horse emerged from the green wall across the meadow. Rock suffered both thrill and pang. Next came a dark horse holding a slight rider that could not be Al Preston. Who could it be? Not the youngest Preston lad. Perhaps it was some boy Al had brought or sent. For Al was not in sight. Another pack-horse clef the dark green gap where the trail emerged. And after it Al on his big bay. The foremost rider waved to the boys in camp. How they yelled! Rock watched with eyes staring and expanding. What was there strangely familiar about this rider? Yet he knew he had never seen him before. Rock never forgot a mounted rider. Suddenly he leaped up madly. Thiry!

Thiry has come with a new appeal—and a new promise. Does he agree, tomorrow?

the Bank of Conetoe, North Carolina Bank & Trust Co., and Katherine M. Pender, Joint Executors of Estate of James Pender, Trustee, deceased, the undersigned commissioner will on

Friday, February 19, 1932 at Twelve o'clock Noon, at the courthouse door in the Town of Tarboro, North Carolina, offer and sell at public auction to the highest bidder a certain parcel or tract of land hereinafter described on the following terms: One-fifth (1-5) of the accepted bid to be paid into Court in cash, and the balance on credit, payable in six (6) equal installments, with interest thereon from date of sale at the rate of six six (6%) per centum per annum.
The cash portion of the accepted bid shall be applied toward the payment of the costs of this action, including the compensation to the Commissioner, unpaid taxes assessed upon the property and assessment which may be past due and unpaid, and judgment of the plaintiff in the order stated. The credit portion of the accepted bid due plaintiff shall be evidenced by a bond or note of the purchaser, payable to the Commissioner secured by a first mortgage over the premises, and the remaining balance of the credit portion of the accepted bid, if any, shall be evidenced by a bond or note of the purchaser payable to the Commissioner, and secured by a second mortgage over the premises; the said first mortgage over the premises and the bond or note secured thereby shall be assigned by the Commissioner to the plaintiff and the said second mortgage over the premises and the bond or note thereby shall be held by the Commissioner subject to the further order of this Court; provided, however, that the purchase shall have the right to pay in cash the whole or any part of the credit portion of the accepted bid. The purchaser shall pay for the preparation and recording of all papers including the requisite revenue stamps; provided, however, that revenue stamps need not be placed on the deed of conveyance to the plaintiff, should it become the purchaser, or on the bond securing any balance due the plaintiff, unless the plaintiff becomes the purchaser, the successful bidder will be required to deposit the sum of Six Hundred ($600.00) Dollars, either in cash or by certified check as earnest money or evidence of good faith, this sum to be applied on the bid should there be a compliance with the same; but should the successful bidder fail to make such a deposit immediately at the time of acceptance of his bid, then the said premises shall be at once resold at such bidder's bid, then the said bidder shall be liable for the cost of the said deposit and thereafter fail to comply with said bid without just cause or legal excuse shown, then such deposit shall be delivered to the plaintiff and retained by it as liquidating damages, and the premises shall thereupon be resold upon the same terms and at such purchaser's risk on some subsequent sales day to be designated by the plaintiff or its attorney.

The land to be sold is described as follows:

All those certain pieces, parcels or tracts of land containing 91.33 acres and 16.2-3 acres, more or less, situate, lying and being on the Tarboro-Greenville Public Road, about 12 miles from the Town of Tarboro, in No. 8 Township, County of Edgecombe, State of North Carolina, having such shapes, metes, courses and distances as will more fully appear by reference to a plat thereof made by W. C. Dresbach, C. E., in June, 1918, which was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Edgecombe County, in Map Book 1, page 88, the 91.33 acre tract being bounded on the North by the lands of Lula Joyner, on the East by the lands of W. A. Hearne, on the West by the lands of S. M. Crisp, and being Lot No. 1 of the upland allotted to Annie Tripp in the division of the lands of the late Nancy L.

Hearne.

The 16.2-3 acre tract being bounded on the North by the Elias Carr lands, on the East by the lands of Ella Moore, Josie Hearne and Lula Joyner, on the South by the lands of W. A. Hearne, and on the West by the lands of May Hearne, being Lot No. 1 of the low grounds field allotted to Annie Tripp, in the division of the late Nancy L. Hearne.
Part of said lands also lying in Pitt County, North Carolina.
This the 19th day of Jan., 1932.

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today, 2 points up to 67 1/2 cents with near buying and some southern selling on the later deliveries.

March sold at 68.00 on the call. Otherwise orders appeared to be fairly well divided, but after selling at 68.00 on the call, March reacted rather easier tone at the end of the first half hour. The weather in the south was considered more favorable to the movement of cotton and there may have been some selling in anticipation of increased spot offerings, but there was not much selling by the south at the start.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Disclosure that the wheat market had almost run out of new buying orders except at substantial declines led to material downturns in grain today. Rallier were few and failed to last. Export business in North American wheat amounted to only 200,000 bushels.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Jan. 19.—(AP)—With a fresh head of steam, the rail shares moved forward in today's stock market, after sliding down grade in yesterday's late trading.

A firm tone was imparted to virtually the entire list, and net advances of 1 to 103 points were numerous. The market was hesitant in the early dealings, but soon began a slow climb. Trading was dull.

Issues up about 2 to 3 points included Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and New Haven, while Norfolk and Western made an exceptional advance of more than 5. Issues up a point or so included U. S. Steel, American Can, Sears, Allied Chemical, American Telephone, Public Service of N. J., Alaska Juneau, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Chesapeake & Ohio, and others. General Electric however, was a soft spot, sagging 11 1/2 points to within striking distance of its bear market low.

Accompanying the upturn in the rails was a fresh wave of hopefulness over the prospects of a satisfactory agreement at the Chicago conference on wages. One rumor circulated in brokerage circles was that the brotherhoods might accept a 10 per cent cut leaving their counter demands subject to mediation. News that the Lackawanna employees had voluntarily offered to accept a 10 per cent reduction was regarded as a good omen.

Selling of General Electric reflected the report of orders received for the final three months of 1931 aggregating $49,321,480 against $74,168,480 in the like period of 1930. Public utility budgets for new construction indicate that heavy electric equipment will not be in demand, at least during the early part of 1932.

The money market was slightly firmer, with virtually no offerings of call money reported under the official rate of 2 1/2 per cent, while outside funds had been offered at 2 per cent yesterday.

HOOVER NAMES DAWES PRESIDENT OF GIANT RELIEF CORPORATION

(Continued from Page One) were named to and accepted the position as head of the new corporation, he would sail from the United States tomorrow.

The President is keenly desirous to have the corporation start functioning immediately.

A conference must be had between the Senate and House for reconciliation of differences in details of their bills, but the President is expected to have the legislation forwarded to him for signature in the next few days. Soon thereafter, it is hoped that credit can be started flowing from the $2,000,000 resources planned for the agency—to live business in many fields.

The President, announcing the selections at his regular Tuesday midday press conference, said he was gratified to state that Dawes had accepted the important assignment. The former Vice-President, who now is ambassador to Great Britain, but soon will resign, is a guest at the White House.

Presumably, the President has conferred with him at length about plans for throwing $2,000,000 into the nation's credit structure.

Other members of the directorate of the corporation will not be named at this time, the President said. He wishes to preserve a non-partisan character on the directorate. He explained protracted conferences with leaders of both parties would be necessary before a final choice is made.

The President issued two formal statements, announcing the sudden changes in his plans. The first said: "I have requested General Dawes to accept the position of president of the new Reconstruction Corporation.

"It is gratifying to state that he has accepted.

"Mr. Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, will also be chairman of the board of the Reconstruction Corporation.

"In order that we may preserve the non-partisan character of the institution, the other directors will be chosen after consultation with the leaders of both political parties upon completion of the legislation.

"I announce General Dawes' name at this time because of the required change in plans as to the chairmanship of the delegation to the arms conference. Otherwise, General Dawes would be leaving for Europe tomorrow."

BREAK BETWEEN CHINESE AND JAPANESE IMMINENT (Continued from Page One) treaty in connection with the Manchurian situation was called "imperialist to America and insulting to China" by a spokesman for the Chinese foreign office today.

"The Japanese assertion that the welfare and safety of Manchuria are matters of extraordinary importance to Japan," the spokesman said, "is perfectly true because Manchuria, as a source of raw material and a massive means to Japan's domination of China is indeed of extraordinary importance to Japan in her preparation for the eventual war which the Japanese general staff considers inevitable for the mastery of the Pacific ocean."

That part of the leaders of the National government are anxious to have the powers convene to discuss Manchuria was clearly shown today when Sun Fo, government leader, addressing a group of officials, expressed the hope that the United States would take further steps toward a solution of the Manchurian dispute on the basis of the recent Simons notes.

Sun Fo also said he hoped the United States would call a "second Washington conference" for the purpose. The statement was taken to refer to the proposal reported before the Chinese government to ask for a conference of signatories to the nine-power treaty.

Statue Honors Lee

On the anniversary of the birth of Robert E. Lee, January 19, the Virginia general assembly will unveil this full length bronze statue of the confederate leader at Richmond. It is the work of Rudolph R. Evans, Virginia sculptor.

Programs were also planned in the schools in the two Carolinas. Similar exercises were sponsored by the state bar associations.

After a brief executive session held after Representative Patman, Texas democrat, and Alexander W. Gregg, Mellon's representative, had closed their arguments, Chairman Sumner said:

"We are going to await the printing of the hearings before we consider the matter further."

The material requested includes the original cable sent by President Oliva of Colombia to his legation here which in turn was laid before the committee today, denying that he had ever discussed the Barco oil concession with Mellon.

Patman had charged that the secretary had a hand in influencing American bankers to make a loan to Colombia which went forward after the Mellon controlled Gulf Oil corporation received a concession from Colombia to lease oil lands in the Barco concession.

Later a police inspector introduced them.

Corruption Needed! This "patriotic" Patman Stephen Tracy and Ernest Ruedelger declared to a committee. Neither knew of the other's plans. Tracy purchased a gallon of alcohol. When he stepped outside there was Ruedelger, waiting to arrest the first man who came out with a package. That man was Tracy. They almost reached the first swinging stage before the denunciation. Later a police inspector introduced them.
