Japanese Assure America and Britain Full Protection

MEET DEMANDS FORWARDED BY TWO NATIONS

Stimson Makes Announcement Following Joint Action By U. S. and Britain

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Under pressure from the American and British governments, Japan has assured that foreign rights in the international settlement and Shanghai will be respected.

Secretary Stimson made the announcement today a short while after meeting with President Hoover and the cabinet in a prolonged session.

His formal statement said: "Several days ago when the situation first became acute, I consulted with the British ambassador in regard to the crisis at Shanghai and asked him to confer with his government.

"I discussed with him the making of representation to Japan.

"That in view of the efficient police and other sources of protection already available in the international settlement, there should be no military occupation of that settlement by Japan unless the municipal force became clearly inadequate to protect life and property.

"On Wednesday our government made such a communication to Japan and we have now received an answer assuring this government that international rights and interests in Shanghai would not be interfered with.

"I learned this morning from the British ambassador that his government has made the same suggestions to the Japanese that were conveyed by ourselves.

"An informal communication such as we made to the British has been made by both Great Britain and ourselves to the French and Italian governments.

"No other proposals for international action have been made by the American government."

Stimson met with newspapermen at the State department, but confined himself to the prepared statement.

It seemed evident that a lack of unanimity as to the American course had cropped out at the cabinet meeting, but the various department heads kept what had happened to themselves.

Hope for quick peaceful adjustment in Shanghai leaned waveringly on a report to the Navy of a truce there, a report denied by Japanese on the scene and contradicted by accounts of more fighting.

London, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Great Britain and the United States will take joint action in dealing with the Chinese crisis, it was announced in Downing street today.

The British government has asked the Japanese government to take no action inside the international settlement at Shanghai without prior consultation with the other governments concerned.

Great Britain has informed the United States of this action and invited Washington to take a similar step in Tokyo. This was in reply to British conversations with Secretary Stimson.

Fire Destroys Peanut Plant

Edenton, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Approximately $200,000 damage was done and 100 employees were thrown out of work by flames which destroyed the Edenton plant of the Farmers Peanut Company, and two peanut warehouses.

Flames from the plant, one of the town's largest industries, also threatened nearby structures until brought under control after several hours work by firemen.

DECLARES CYR NOT SERIOUS

Senator Long Warns Public Against Serious Consideration of Disturbance

New Orleans, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long came home from Washington today with an admonition to the public against serious consideration of Paul N. Cyr's struggle to seize the governorship.

He said even Cyr was not serious in his efforts to oust acting Governor Alvin O. King, former president of the state senate who Long elevated to the office of Lieutenant Governor so that he would have a political ally fall heir to gubernatorial duties with the beginning of the senatorial term in Washington.

"It is ridiculous for the public to take seriously Cyr's plans for a suit against King," he said. "Cyr is not serious in his efforts and it is ridiculous for the public and bankers to give a second thought to Cyr who is trying to obstruct a constructive program."

One Chance In 1,000

Associated Press Photo New York physicians contemplate an attempt to save 13-month-old Diana Moore from a life of idleness by an operation in which she would have one chance in a thousand to escape death. The child's brain, due to hardening of the skull, has no room to develop. She is shown with her mother, Mrs. Lillian Moore, who is willing to risk the chance of the operation.

ABANDON HOPE FOR LOST SUB

British Admiralty Gives Up All Hope of Saving Crew of Missing M-2

Portland, England, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The last straw of hope for the rescue alive of any of the sixty-one men and officers who went down with the British submarine M-2 last Tuesday was snatched away today by the publication of an admiralty statement saying it was no longer possible to hope.

The statement, which was based upon a report of the rear admiral in charge of submarines, said, however, that the search of the sea floor for the ill-fated submarine would be continued.

The object sought by divers yesterday on the theory it might be the M-2 was found to be an old wreck, the admiral said, and the succeeding search will be continued at another spot where a former wreck brought up two submarine hand flags in a canvas case.

R. M. GARRETT HEADS BOARD

Elected President of Tobacco Board of Trade at Annual Meeting Last Night

R. M. Garrett, president of Person-Garrett Tobacco Company, was elected president of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade at the annual meeting of the organization at Sheppard Memorial Library last night. He succeeds Jack Kilgo, manager of the local plant of Laggett-Myers Tobacco Company, who served for two years.

W. Z. Morton was elected to the vice-presidency and H. A. Best was re-elected secretary.

The meeting was largely attended and short talks dealing with the progress of the market during the present year were made by prominent members of the industry.

The annual report of the retiring president indicated the market had enjoyed one of the best years in history considering reduction of acreage and poundage this season.

A vote of thanks was extended the retiring president for the efficient and courteous way he conducted the market during his two years of service.

Those making short talks were: A. E. Hobgood, J. S. Ficklen, B. B. Sugg, C. W. Howard, W. S. Mays, R. C. Stokes, R. V. Keel, W. Z. Morton, W. P. Moore, G. E. Forbes, K. W. Cobb and others.

The speakers were hearty in their praise of the splendid record set by the market and pledged their support to furthering activities in future years. (Continued on Page Three)

THREE JUDD JURORS SICK

Mistrial Expected to Be Ordered in Face of Existing Illness of Men

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Illness of jurors forced postponement today of the murder trial of Winnie Ruth Judd until Monday.

Court House, Phoenix, Arizona, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Illness of three jurors made it appear likely a mistrial would be called today in the first legal battle over the life of Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd, confessed slayer of her two one-time friends, Mrs. Agnes Anne Lerol and Miss Hedvig Samuelson.

Superior Judge Howard C. Speakman said he would dismiss Juror M. T. White who is confined to his bed with a severe cold. Two other jurors, Joseph L. Standage and P. J. Lassen, also are suffering from colds.

Dismissal of White will leave the jury without an alternate. Judge Speakman, however, said the trial would continue provided the physicians of the other two jurors reported their condition was such that they could remain in the jury box.

No testimony has been given since Wednesday afternoon when White and Standage became ill. Lassen was stricken yesterday.

Mrs. Judd appeared in court yesterday when Judge Speakman again ordered a recess. She appeared morose and complained because she had not been allowed to summon a hair dresser. (Continued on Page Three)

Never has there been such a night of horror in Shanghai, those who watched it said.

It began when the Japanese arrived, pushing through the twisting streets, clearing a way with machine guns.

Planes added to the carnage, swooping down every twenty minutes like clockwork and dropping cargoes of bombs which started fires at six separate points.

The railroad station, objective of the first drive, burned to the ground. The railroad line to Nanking was broken and telegraph and telephone lines to the capital went down.

The wounded came in by the score to emergency dressing stations and it seemed certain that many women and children had been killed. The Chinese place their losses at 300 killed and wounded. The Japanese said they had lost only a handful.

One shell fell in the international settlement, but nobody was hurt and the damage was slight.

The Chinese commander asked for reinforcements and the Japanese military attaché also wanted more men but Japan's naval commander said he thought his men were able to handle the situation.

FLAMES SWEEP CHINESE AREA; MANY KILLED

Hundreds Reported Slain as Japs Push Campaign; Chinese Threaten Foreigners

Shanghai, (Saturday) Jan. 30.—(AP)—A new menace came across the boundaries of the international settlement today in the form of a warning by the Chinese military command that if the Japanese occupation was not ended the Chinese would attack the settlement.

This definitely put an end to reports that the opposing forces had signed a truce.

The warning served upon the international settlement authorities said that if they did not use their influence to end the occupation of Chinese territory, the Chinese, who were still engaged in heavy fighting, would train their guns on the foreign concession.

Meanwhile as flames licked up a wide section of the Chinese quarter of Chapei, there were bursts of machinegun fire indicating that though the Japanese had reached the objective they set for themselves they were having much trouble holding it.

Shanghai, Jan. 30.—(Saturday)—Fire swept through the Chinese quarter of Chapei early today and nobody knew how many hundreds had been killed in the fighting which began when Japanese marines marched in at midnight, Thursday.

There were reports that a truce had been signed, but the Japanese denied them and Chinese military leaders said they were going to oppose the enemy to the last man.

As midnight approached fighting was still going on at several points. Once a Chinese band pushed across the boundary of the international settlement and fired on the Japanese military headquarters, but they were repulsed after a brief skirmish.

Never has there been such a night of horror in Shanghai, those who watched it said.

It began when the Japanese arrived, pushing through the twisting streets, clearing a way with machine guns.

Planes added to the carnage, swooping down every twenty minutes like clockwork and dropping cargoes of bombs which started fires at six separate points.

ROUND TABLE CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. FITZGERALD

On Tuesday afternoon the Round Table Club met at the home of Mrs. R. G. Fitzgerald on Biltmore street.

After the usual business session the president, Mrs. R. L. Smith, extended greetings to the guests for the afternoon. Mesdames Luther Heyring, Vernon Parrish, Frank Kendall and Misses Gorrell and Thomas of the college faculty. The subject of the afternoon's program was Naples and Southern Italy. The club was especially fortunate to have Mrs. E. L. Hillman as program leader, since she had traveled in Italy and spent some time in Naples.

She took her hearers as traveling companions as she boarded the steamer in Alexandria, Egypt, bound for Brindisi, Italy—during the voyage they had the exciting experiences of a storm at sea and witnessing the burning of another ship. The trip by train across country to Naples was very beautiful, overlooking the blue waters of the Bay of Naples and through olive, orange and lemon groves. The view from the terrace of the hotel overlooking the city below, across to the island of Capri with the white smoke and occasional flames of Vesuvius like a torch in the distance was a scene too wonderful for description. The most interesting spot in the city is the national museum with its pictures and sculptures as much as 2,000 years old. The Amalfi Drive outside of Naples is always enjoyed by tourists. Here are miles of towering mountains, blue waters, beautiful flowers and ruins of old castles.

The most thrilling part of the trip was looking into the crater of Vesuvius which was more active at the time of Mrs. Hillman's visit than it had been for years before. She mentioned the recent earthquake there which caused the light in its crater to go out which has puzzled scientists so they are making investigations.

Next to Vesuvius in interest is Pompeii, the city of the dead. Although founded several hundred years before Christ, its walls and streets are in excellent condition, due to being covered with ashes for 1700 years. Even the colors in paintings on the wall are fresh and lovely. Pompeii though interesting, is very depressing—one is never loathe to leave.

The beautiful Blue Grotto on the Isle of Capri was described as a veritable fairyland, with a dome of the blue of Lapis-lazuli, the water shimmering like blue satin and oars as blades of sapphire. Its charm is unequalled in the world.

As a delightful ending to the vivid and interesting descriptions given by Mrs. Hillman, a minuet and two romances by Italian composers were played by Miss Gorrell on the violin, and Miss Thomas accompanied on the piano. While the hostess was serving a salad course, the members admired the pictures, beads, mosaics and lovely linens displayed by Mrs. Hillman and expressions such as "One of the very best programs," were heard on all sides.

Exams End at High School

At 11:30 this morning all regular examinations were brought to a close, thus ending one of the tense periods of high school life. With mid-term examinations behind, the students are able to look forward with renewed zest and vigor to the various activities of the winter-spring term. There is an optimistic feeling among the students although results of the work will not be known until Wednesday.

As a grand and glorious finale the students are looking forward to the party which will be staged in the high school auditorium by the junior class tonight. These parties have been held before and have proved satisfactory, from both the financial and social standpoint. The party, chaperoned by the school officials, will start after the basketball game, about 9 o'clock, and a mail admission price will be charged.

KREUTZBERG CREATIVE DANCERS HERE MONDAY

The Kreutzberg Dancers, who will appear at East Carolina Teachers College Monday evening, Feb. 1, are to be at Duke University this evening. The papers in the central part of the state have had flattering reports about them.

Kreutzberg himself claims that he has not founded a new school of dancing, but his dancing theories and practice are so distinctive in his own that others claim he is. Some of the music for his dances is composed especially for the dances, which makes the dance itself the creative artistic product. Instead of always attempting to re-create in dance movements what the composer has expressed in music, he expresses his own ideas. Again he finds exactly the medium he needs, and brings together his own ideas and the composer, but he creates his dances and then selects the music that fits them.

The two prices advertised are one for adults and one for children. It was thought that a number of boys and girls would be interested in seeing the dancing. The change has been made in notices elsewhere in the paper.

FARM NOTES

The Farmers' Market House on Cotanche street, which is operated under the auspices of the Pitt County Mutual Exchange, is now fully equipped and has been classified by the public health officer as a Grade "A" market. State officials from the extension forces of Raleigh and the Department of Agriculture, who visit the markets throughout the state, tell us that our market is the best equipped market they have visited.

Dr. McGeachey, the public officer, has rated our market Grade "A" and next week plans to begin a personal visit of those who sell on the market for the purpose of inspecting the sanitary conditions under which the food is prepared for sale, and through this means the individual sellers will be graded and the buyers of food will have the assurance of the public health office that the articles they purchase are produced under the most sanitary conditions.

We invite the cooperation of the citizens of Greenville to help in maintaining for this city a market of which all may be proud. We hope that every home in Greenville will be represented on the market Saturday morning for the purpose of inspecting and knowing first-hand just what our farmers have and just how our farmers offer produce to the buying public of Greenville.

Pitt County Mutual Exchange. The Pitt County Mutual Exchange graded and sold its first crate of eggs Thursday, January 28. While farmers were soliciting folks at the court house to buy their eggs at 12-1-2 cents per dozen, the exchange by proper grading and selecting was able to sell a crate of thirty dozen at 20 cents per dozen. We could have sold some 30 or 40 crates at the same price, had they been prepared. The thing, however, that we wish to call attention to is that proper grading and selecting and proper methods of sale secures the farmer a better price for his product. On the 8th day of February the Mutual Exchange will again have buyers of eggs in Greenville and will have prepared for them selected, graded and candled eggs.

R. M. GARRETT HEADS BOARD. (Continued from page one) The market has established an enviable reputation this year and indications were that it led all other markets of the bright belt. Sales were so close between this and another market, however, that government figures may be required to determine which came out ahead.

THREE JUDD JURORS SICK. (Continued from page one) "It's made me ill," Mrs. Judd told her counsel, referring to the sheriff's refusal to allow the hair dresser to visit her in jail. "I'm running a temperature, and I've got that pain in my chest."

Mrs. Judd's counsel said the chest pain was not a new development. She is a sufferer from tuberculosis.

DOZEN CASES FINISHED HERE. (Continued from page one) Practically a dozen cases were disposed of yesterday and the docket had been reduced considerably when court resumed work this morning. The majority of cases consisted mainly of violations of the prohibition law and assault.

Frank Ellison, colored, who had more wives than the law allows, was sent to the roads for 8 months. He was alleged to have had two wives.

Les Atkinson, Jule and Dave Cogdell, colored, were found not guilty on a charge of possessing whiskey.

Roy Mills, charged with hit and run and resisting an officer, E. P. Hadley, highway patrolman, was adjudged guilty but sentence was not pronounced.

Charles Williams, colored, was ordered to the roads for four months on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Perry Horne, colored, of Farmville, charged with selling whiskey, drew 12 months on the roads. He appealed from police court at Farmville.

Elbert Anderson and Will Darden, colored, charged with stealing money from another negro, were found guilty. Anderson was sent to the roads for 15 months and Darden 9 months.

Galvin Hyman, colored, received 18 months on the roads for assault with a deadly weapon.

John Joyner, adjudged guilty of larceny, was sent to the roads for six months.

Sentence was reserved in the case of Charlie Smith, colored, convicted of a charge of larceny.

PLAN TO SELL LOS ANGELES

"That would be a very good trade," Fulton answered. The commander added that "we suggested it," to the Goodyear Zeppelin Corporation, builders of the Akron and ZRS-5.

Here is an opportunity for every Christian man and woman to help Christianize the homes of the sad, oppressed and careless ones.

Plans for the campaign are being carefully matured and the work of organizing will be thoroughly completed within two or three days. It is planned that the actual days for canvassing will be Wednesday and Thursday, February 3 and 4, leaving Friday and Saturday for clean-up work, back-calls etc.

The budget of $2,500 is a modest sum for the carrying on of the splendid work of this organization. The advisory board has been re-organized. New members have consented to serve throughout the present year. The executive officers of the board are R. C. Flanagan, president; J. H. Waldrop, treasurer; J. T. Clifton, secretary, with directors: Mr. J. J. White, J. T. Little, H. G. McGinnis, J. E. Winslow, Dr. A. M. Schultz, J. H. Rose, Wiley Brown, Guy V. Smith, James S. Ficklen, Rev. Lilycrop, and Rev. E. L. Hillman.

The checks in the coming campaign will be made payable to J.

Boy Crazy

By GRACE PERKINS
AUTHOR OF "PERSONAL MAID"

SYNOPSIS: Clever plotting is necessary to arrange a successful party at Lake Placid, Hope Ross finds, but she is more than equal to the occasion. She wants freedom to run her party as she wishes, and as far as her indulgent father is concerned, that is easy. Her mother, however, is more critical, and her sister, Goody, is so conventional that she promises to be a perfect damper. Goody is in love with Charlie Rand, and this gives Hope an idea. Charlie can't go to the party, so Hope maneuvers him into promising to look after Goody, if Goody stays home, too. Then she tells Goody that the way to win Charlie is to stay home from the Placid party, and concentrate on him. Goody would be glad to have a clear field, for Hope is a distraction to any boy who catches sight of her gold hair and piquant face.

Chapter 5
LAUNCHING THE HOUSE PARTY
"You find some excuse to stay in town. Then you'll have Charlie here—lonely—missing the party—all by himself. Why, it's a cinch, Goody. Only make a good excuse so he won't catch on."
"Goed! I wonder!"
Hope turned away because the happiness in Goody's face was slightly pathetic—and embarrassing.
"Listen," she said quietly. "Mamma would do anything for you to make you happy. Why don't you go and tell her about it? She could make up a reason to stay home. Some business reason, or something—like more of that palaver over her mother's will. She hates Placid and winter sports anyway."
"Oh, boy!" breathed Goody rapturously. "If she only would! I'll go talk to her right now. You know, Hope, I'd even diet for Charlie Rand. I mean really diet!"
Hope watched Goody as she stalked unceremoniously out of the room. She wanted dreadfully to grin—but the grin wouldn't come! She scrutinized the New England antiques, the measured patchwork quilt, the four-poster bed with its curved canopy top all done in sprigged-print covering to match the huge wing chair and its tiny hassock before the fireplace, the braided and hooked rugs, the maple lowboy with its prim mirror above, framed in the Chippendale manner, and its ladder-back chair with a rush seat, the maple bureau with ball feet, the butterfly table.

Her eyes met themselves in the mirror as she completed her survey. They were clouded and slightly foggy, and one eyebrow went up as Hope broke into a mocking and somewhat explosive smile.
"You poor melon," she told herself with that sly delight which most every young girl's experience in talking to themselves via a mirror so that they may study their expression (a secret pastime which many women never quite outgrow). "Goody's the north pole and you're the south pole, and you're both pretty much exactly the same, but you'll never get together."
Mrs. Ross and Goody remained on the old Ross estate for the Christmas holidays. And only Papa Ross accompanied the houseparty to Placid.
The party, in toto, included: Rusty Crandall, of the Gotham Oil Crandalls, who as soon as Yale had finished him, would make by far the best husband for Hope in the eyes of Mama and Papa Ross and of the Senior Crandalls as well. Judy Hunt, Hope's "grandest friend," who was a young lady with lily hands, and a model of no mean distinction as a baby-talk vamp, to make up, mostly for her lack of more worldly and hence more desirable status. For Judy, while so poor as Angel, lived in magnificent sumptuousness that was kept up on nothing a year (nothing meaning debts and loans), for most of the Hunt money had dribbled year by year, to the endless, bottomless bucket of medical expenses that did little more than keep her mother alive. It was certainly up to Judy to marry, and to marry well; a combination many girls have found difficult in itself, but Judy found it almost unbearable inasmuch as she was being politely forced in to the amused and bored arms of Frisky Hall.

house and stealing clothing is a serious offense, and nobody knows it better than Leman Gaskins, negro, sentenced to serve 18 months on the roads in Criminal court here this week.
Gaskins was found guilty of breaking into a home at Ayden and stealing articles of wearing apparel. He denied it but the evidence produced by the state was sufficient to convince the jury that the negro was guilty.
It is the same old story of a man attempting to get something out of life without rendering proper service for it.
Gaskins probably thought he made a good job of the case until he found himself in the toils of the law and before the bar of justice, and then, despite all of his squirming, he discovered that he must fully atone for the crime.
Many other defendants have had similar experiences at this term of court. Others will feel the strong arm of the law in the future even as those have felt it this time. It is the only way society can be protected, and while the law sometimes is slow meting out punishment, eventually the criminal must pay the price set on wrongdoing.

vice her of the rating necessary for acceptance in her private society. For while Hope's crowd were apt to pick up, upon occasion, anyone from the garage boy to the girl who served bananas split in the favorite tea-room, the actual gang itself was as tight as adhesive plaster, and snooty as only the very young can be.
No—Angel Thorn had something, besides her ability to divide all Gaul into three parts, to offset her obvious poverty and the fact that she lived on the wrong side of the tracks.

An exciting young stranger appears in the next installment—and Hope sees him first.

U. S. WARSHIPS TO SHANGHAI
remaining here made ready to put to sea on short notice.
The war rumor apparently arose from activity of shore patrols in rounding up crews of the destroyers. They were ordered to join other American naval craft at Shanghai to protect American lives and property if needed.
The rumors swept the city, adding to the excitement in the already turbulent Chinese quarter and breaking in upon a gay reception at Malacanang palace, the residence of the governor general.
The men apparently were in high spirits as their annual winter stay in the islands was abruptly terminated. Their commander, Rear Admiral Montgomery M. Taylor, made no comment as he hurried away from Malacanang palace.
Admiral Taylor remained in Manila while preparations for sailing were made aboard the rest of his fleet in Manila Bay—eleven other destroyers, 12 submarines, a number of auxiliary craft, and his flagship, the Houston, a 10,000 ton treaty cruiser. He kept in touch with the Shanghai situation by wireless.
The four destroyers enroute to China sailed after a night of busy activity. They are expected at Shanghai Sunday, bringing the number of United States destroyers in the vicinity to nine. Seven small American gunboats also are there.

Orders for the destroyer Truxton to return to Manila from Shanghai were cancelled. It was to have been relieved by the destroyer Borie, which sailed from Manila Tuesday.
The four new destroyers each carried 105 men. Sailing under command of Commander E. W. McKee, they are to join the Yangtze river patrol which is commanded by Rear Admiral Yancey Williams, who recommended that his force be augmented.
The destroyers are the Paul Jones, Parrott, Bulmer and Edsall besides the Borie and Truxton, the destroyer Simpson was at Nanking and the Stewart at Foochow, south of Shanghai. The McCormick sailed from Manila Monday to relieve the Stewart.

SOVIET RUSSIA OPPOSES JAPS
way official blocked transport of Japanese troops over the Chinese Eastern railway.
At the same time the Japanese government planned to hold officials of the Russian-owned Chinese Eastern accountable for any delay in the arrival of Japanese reinforcements at Harbin, where a severe battle has been in progress for three days between Chinese factions.
The Chinese Eastern railway is jointly owned by Russia and China. Hsi Hsia, governor of Kirin province, has been fighting a force led by Ting Chao, commander of the railway guards. Japan attempted to send a body of troops to Harbin, to protect its citizens there, the government said.
M. Kuznetoff, Russian manager of the railway, forbade the transport of the troops over the line, on orders from the Russian government at Moscow. M. Kuznetoff pointed out that Russia had refused to transport Chinese troops southward at the time the Japanese invaded the Nonni river area near Tsitsibar, and that Japan had suggested neutrality be observed.

Japanese Consul General Ohashi at Harbin reported that Russian officials had acted on Moscow instructions and Hsi Hsia reported in effect that the board of directors, of the railway (partly Chinese and partly Russian) ordered the destruction of the bridge at Sungari, which delayed the troop movements a day or so. The consul general said the bridge was dynamited and the Japanese soldiers were compelled to abandon their trains south of Sungari but that they have crossed the river on the ice and started marching on foot for Harbin.

since the search began, lost their last crumb of comfort with the admiralty's announcement.
Desperate efforts were made last night to reach what was thought to be the submarine, although even then the spark of hope was feeble and almost out. Divers risked their lives time after time, in a stormy sea, to reach the bottom of the 18-fathom area in the channel where the submarine was believed to be lying. When night fell and the sea grew more and more rough they were forced to abandon the effort, however, and to come ashore here for a few hours rest.
The search was all the more feverish because everybody knew there was not a moment to be wasted and if the crew of the submarine had managed to cling to life that long on the slender supply of oxygen in the hull, they could certainly not hang on much longer.
The reception of what were thought to be "sub-surface signals" by the hydrophone of the destroyer Thruster, which was assisting in the rescue work, added impetus to the labors of the navy's crews, labors which now have definitely been declared without reward.

LAUD GRAHAM AT UNIVERSITY
ence of Dr. Graham, so well has he wrought."
Speaking for the class of 1889, the late president's class, Justice W. J. Brogden of the Supreme court, said there "are two universities on this campus, seen and unseen, the university of complexity and efficiency of modern equipment of limited space and time and the "invisible university."
The invisible university, he said, "stretches back to the beginning of American Government molded by statesmen and inspired patriots, kindled and kept alive by the spirit of Democracy is the university of unlimited space and time and today its alumni come thronging back across silent fields of memory to tell us Edward Kidder Graham is still president of the university."
Superintendents Meet
Durham—City and county school superintendents from central North Carolina gathered here to discuss the school system and heard an address by Jules B. Warren, secretary of the North Carolina Education Association.

ABOUT TOWN

President Hoover has added his approval to the plan to reduce cotton acreage in the south.
This was the information imparted in a conference between the Chief Executive, Senator Smith of South Carolina and Senator Bailey of North Carolina.
The President is in favor of the plan providing it can be made uniform in all states.
Just what effect his position is going to have on the movement remains to be seen. It is hoped it will inspire the states to confine more attention to the proposal which occupied the limelight some time ago.
The salvation of the cotton industry rests upon a reduction measure and it would be wise for all cotton producing sections to see that some action is taken to accomplish this purpose.

Japan is determined to have her way about things in China in spite of protests registered by the United States, Great Britain and other countries.
It is impossible to estimate the outcome of the occupation of Shanghai by Japanese marines. Should the fighting spread to the international settlement, for the first time since the Manchurian dispute arose, the other countries will be forced to do something more than talk.
Japan cannot hope to defy the whole world, but she is doing just about that in continuing her policy in China. She has left nothing undone to carry out any agreement which she may have had with the Chinese, and how much further her soldiers will go before calling off their dogs is a neglected by the other countries matter of considerable speculation.
Drastic action so far has been neglected by the other countries whose property is being threatened by advancing Japanese soldiers and it appears as if the time at last has come to quit talking and do a little acting.

The Graham Memorial building, which will be confined to student activities, was dedicated at Chapel Hill with appropriate exercises today.
The opening of this $250,000 building made possible through alumni contributions, marks another step in the progress of the institution, recognized as one of the leading state centers of learning in the nation.
The building is a memorial to the late Edward Kidder Graham, leader of the University from 1914 to 1918, and is a fitting tribute to one who did so much for the advancement of education.
The state is proud of the university's record, and students and alumni are to be congratulated upon the sentiment prompting them to recognize the long years of service which Dr. Graham and his relatives have given to the state.

A Senate committee is busy at this time studying legislation designed to put a strong curb on international loans.
The action follows a series of hearings dealing with foreign loans made by bankers of this country in recent years. The hearings revealed the lack of sound judgment in many of the loans, and it is the purpose of the committee to outline legislation to do away with such practice in the years to come.
No doubt some of the financial depression existing in the country at this time is due indirectly to the inability of the foreign nation to repay the loans, and if the condition is not to become more serious, it is imperative for Congress to take some action to bring bankers and business men to their senses.
This nation faces a period demanding absolute economy and sound judgment in the matter of handling finances, and if it is to rise from the slough of depression and accompanying despondency and uncertainty only the soundest of judgment, must go into the important matter of foreign loans in future years.

East Carolina Teachers College basketball team "found themselves" last night and handed the Farmville all-star quint a neat trimming to the tune of 26 to 15. Almost every kind of basketball was seen in the game. The game was played in Farmville and several Greenville people saw the game.

A revamped lineup started the game and it seemed to click. This boy Nesbit seems to be the find of the season. He can shoot when necessary and loop them through the basket but the outstanding thing about his play is that he works with team. Another interesting thing about Nesbit is that he did not play in high school. He received his baptism under fire last night and made good. He started in the place of Barker. The rest of the lineup for the Teachers was unchanged.

The high scorers for the Farmville Stars were Casen and B. Smith, who scored 6 and 5 points respectively for their team. Tucker was high scorer for the Teachers, but he took many more chances and many times should have passed the ball when he shot. All of the local collegians played a nice game and deserved to win.

Tomorrow night Louisburg will come to Greenville to play the local collegians. This game will be hotly contested from the beginning and as a result, a record breaking crowd is expected. Louisburg will have a new coach, Mr. Bradley, and two new players. This will be one more game and you cannot afford to miss it.

Middleweight Champ

Gorilla Jones (above) of Memphis, Tenn., won recognition as world middleweight boxing champion by a technical knockout over Oddone Piazza of Italy in their Milwaukee fight.

The spotlight from all the rest of the 250 athletes here for their third winter games starting February 4. Just as the sleds themselves have traveled far from the fragile runners of kid days, so has the bob sleigh sport itself. The teams race down a slide that has 25 curves and banks. Two of them, shady corner and zigzag, considered the most treacherous on any slide in the world. They race against time and the world record is one minute and 52 seconds for a mile and a half. Captain Werner Zahn, flying ace in the world war, now captain of the German squad, believes that the breathless plunge through the curves and banks at 65 and 70 miles an hour far exceeds the thrills of aviation.

Salisbury (AP)—John Steadman, treasurer of North Carolina, has accepted the appointment as treasurer for the Robert E. Lee Memorial Foundation, Inc., in North Carolina.

KINSTON HIGH CAGERS PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Tonight in the High School gymnasium at 8 o'clock the basketball team of Greenville high will take on their ancient rivals from Kinston.

Kinston has only lost one game in conference play this season while the locals have not been quite so fortunate. However, the Greenville team has been practicing hard for the last week and, with the addition of two players made eligible by passing the term's work just ended, hope to give Kinston a good game and walk away with the victory.

On Monday night, February 1, at 8 o'clock, the high school Athletic Association will present Henry the world renowned magician. Henry is reputed to be one of the world's three greatest magicians. He will bring with him to Greenville his entire company, along with tricks and illusions that other magicians have tried to imitate but have not succeeded in doing.

The performance will be given under the auspices of the Athletic Association in an endeavor to secure money with which to put out a baseball team this spring. The price of admission will be 25 and 35 cents.

CATS INVADE DUKE TONITE

Charlotte, Jan. 29.—(AP)—All interest in Big Five basketball circles will be centered on Durham tonight when the Davidson Wildcats invade Duke University in an effort to topple the Blue Devils from the leadership of the loop.

The Blue Devils, having won two and lost none, went into the lead this week when N. C. State defeated the University of North Carolina. State and Carolina have each won two and lost one.

A defeat tonight for Duke would produce a three-way tie for first place, which would in turn be broken Saturday night when Duke and Carolina clash. Davidson will get another crack at the Blue Devils Monday night.

In the main event of last night's sports bill in the state, Appalachian played host to the Guilford Quakers, but the visitors were forced to return home with the short end of a 38 to 34 score. Guilford played the Mountaineers almost on equal terms however, and forced the game into three extra periods.

At Davidson, Oak Ridge defeated Davidson's freshmen, 27 to 12. The Wildkittens will take on the Duke freshmen tonight.

NO SENTIMENT IN WORLD OF SPORTS NOW

Atlanta, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Big business has entered into college football sufficiently to rule out "sentimental games" which fail to fill the stadium.

Sentiment, built up largely by state and sectional rivalries, has boosted interest in the game and for years such contests as Vanderbilt versus Sewanee and Tulane versus Mississippi A. & M. ranked among the high spots of the season.

But a falling off of the gate receipts at these games has contributed toward their end. Some of these former "naturals" are not even matches now. The schools have not advanced at the game pace in football prowess.

Vanderbilt and Sewanee split two years ago, ostensibly because they could not agree on dates. For years their engagement had been one of the Thanksgiving day features in Dixie, but when Vanderbilt desired a stronger opponent for its closing game and offered Sewanee an earlier date, their long series, dating back more than a score of years, ended.

Next fall, Tulane will not play Mississippi Aggie and Alabama will not have Sewanee as an opponent, Kentucky no longer meets Centre.

Economic Confab Largely Attended Here Yesterday

The men and women who attended the economic conference in Greenville yesterday received sound advice and inspiration from the two speakers from the State Extension Department.

Miss Pauline Smith, district agent, presented recommendations that have been made by farm women and extension agents who have met in council at economic conferences held throughout the state. Substantial home living was stressed throughout. The food and nutrition committee urges that more attention be given food and feed necessities with the idea that each farm provide and use the foods essential for health. Home-makers were urged to make yearly plans for the needs of the family and plan in practice all thrift measures available.

Building up the home plant and more cooperation on the part of each member of the family is urged. Expenditures made for permanent home improvements are wise investments.

Mr. B. Troy Ferguson, district agent, also based his remarks around the home. All farm operations are made because of the home and the need of maintaining good living conditions. Factors that sound living should be given first consideration. Instead of making specific recommendations for planting this season, he merely presented statistics for 1930 and stated that each farmer would need to make his own conclusions. Shortages in wheat, poultry, eggs, milk, gardens and live stock in this country were pointed out. Instead of going into debt to raise a crop, he stated it would be a more thrifty procedure to let land lie idle and build itself up for future use.

RE-SALE OF REAL PROPERTY
By virtue of a decree of the Superior Court of Pitt County made in that certain Special Proceeding entitled M. K. Porter, Administrator of the estate of Jane Page et al, exparte, the bid made on January 4th, 1932 for the lands hereinafter described having been raised according to law, the undersigned administrator of Jane Page will expose to public sale to the highest bidder for cash before the Court House door in Greenville, Pitt County, N. C., on Saturday, the 23rd day of January, 1932 at 12 o'clock Noon the following described real property to-wit:

Lying and being situated in Greenville and Chitwood Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, adjoining the lands of Ernest McGowan, Cora Carroll, H. L. Cannon, J. A. Mills and others and containing about 20 acres, more or less, and being the lands owned by Jane Page at the time of her death. This sale is made for the purpose of making assets with which to pay the indebtedness of the estate of Jane Page.

SPORTS SLANTS

Noting our prediction of an Olympic marathon conquest for peevish Paavo Nurmi this year, Maxwell Stiles of the Los Angeles Examiner contributes this information for the benefit of Paavo and the rest of us:

"Nurmi's chief rival in the marathon may be the great Japanese runner, Seiji Takahashi, who has covered the distance 26 miles, 385 yards in 2 hours, 34 minutes, 30 seconds, and consistently beaten his two countrymen, Teuda and Yamada, who placed sixth and fourth respectively, at Amsterdam. Kusunoki, with 2:45:24, is also rated better than Teuda and Yamada. "If Nurmi can win the classic marathon he will have climaxed the greatest career in the history of sports with the greatest achievement possible for an Olympic athlete."

The best time ever registered for the Olympic marathon was 2:32:35-4-5 in 1920 at Antwerp by Hannes Kolehmainen, the first of Finland's international yfamous distance runners and the best known up to Nurmi's time. It was the same games that Nurmi, as a 22-year-old phenomenon, first broke into the ranks of Olympic champions. El Ouali, the African, won the 1928 marathon in 2:32:57.

It's a long grind and a tough one, this marathon, but if Paavo lays off the veal pie beforehand and doesn't experience any cramps or foot blisters, I believe he can romp the route in the hitherto unheard time of 2 hours and 15 minutes.

The best of the marathon plodders average around 10 miles an hour. On a regular track the distance has been done in less than 2 hours and 30 minutes. I would figure Nurmi capable of doing close to 12 miles an hour. I may be prejudiced in favor of the silent Finn, but I have seen him run two miles in 8:58:1-5 after spending two previous nights in pullman berths and I have watched him romp over the countryside in weather and conditions that made such great runners as Wide and Ritola look like selling platters.

No one may ever know how fast or how far Nurmi can run when he really sets his mind to it. One of the few record attempts that really ever interested him for any length of time was the mark for greatest distance covered in one hour.

Nobody else seemed to care very much about this, but Paavo satisfied himself by running almost 12 miles—11 miles, 1648 yards—in a 60-minute gallop at Berlin in 1928.

Bob Sledding Holds Sway At Winter Resort

Lake Placid, N. Y., Jan. 29.—(AP)—It's a far cry from the "belly-flops" of kid days, on a home made sled down the nearest hill, to the grown-up pastime of bobsledding. But the men who go in for it, winter Olympic athletes of eight nations, swear it is the ultimate in thrills.

It is the outgrowth of course, of the fascinating winter sport of extreme youth, where you grabbed your sled rigidly in two hands, shouted for gangway, and took your "topper" down the hill in your turn whistling for room at the cross road with the wind in your eyes and teeth, snow in your hair.

The ordinary youngster would never recognize the 500-pound steel and oak contraption, with its automobile steering device, side netting to protect the legs, and the four man crew, padded and outfitted in football helmets, the Olympic bobsled team.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today 1 point up to 2 points off. Orders were evenly divided, with near months relatively steady on trade buying while there was evidence of some southern selling for the later deliveries. May sold at 6.81.

Trading continued quiet after the call with fluctuations narrow. Houses with Japanese connections were among the buyers, while there seemed to be some Liverpool selling of December and perhaps some local selling on the early action of the stock market. March sold off to 6.81 and July to 6.95, making net declines of 1 to 3 points on the active positions, but offerings were well enough taken to give the market a fairly steady undertone.

Liverpool cables reported local covering and trade calling in that market and said there was a fair British home trade for cotton goods.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Sharp upturn in wheat prices late today accompanied forecasts of much colder weather over the entire domestic grain belt.

60-70 temperatures in parts of Kansas were reported, and the trade was apprehensive as to likelihood of crop damage. Increased anxiety was also shown regarding military developments at Shanghai. Wheat closed strong at the day's topmost level, 21-4 above yesterday's finish; corn 7-8 to 11-4 up; oats 5-8 to 3-4 advance and provisions unchanged to 5 down.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Selling quickened moderately for a time in today's stock market, and prices drifted close to the early January lows, but the liquidation abated somewhat after midday.

The developments in the Far Eastern situation added a new element of uncertainty, although important financial quarters expressed confidence in the handling of the matter. Business and industrial news was again uninspiring. Nevertheless, there were slight recoveries in spots in the early afternoon.

Rails were decidedly heavy, as the wage conference dragged on. Loss of 2 to 3 points appeared in such issues as Chesapeake & Ohio, N. Y. Central, New Haven, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and others. Other issues registering similar losses included Allied Chemical, American Telephone, Public Service of N. J., Eastman, Case, Coca Cola and others. Bethlehem Steel preferred dropped five points, and the common more than a point, on the dividend and earnings news. U. S. Steel also lost more than a point. General Motors was fairly steady, as were coppers and oils.

The money market was about stationary, although some call money was offered outside at a concession of 1-4 of one per cent from the official rate of 21-2. Federal funds showed a little week-end firmness.

Court to Hold Juryless Term to Aid Economy

Fayetteville, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Cumberland Superior Court as an economy measure will hold a "juryless term" beginning on February 15.

C. B. Broadfoot, court clerk, today said no jurors would be summoned for the civil term, but that Judge M. V. Barnhill would hold court to sign consent judgments and act in cases not needing juries.

Very few contested cases are on the docket and they will be carried over for trial later. Broadfoot estimated that $500 will be saved by not calling any jurors.

Says South Will Oppose Roosevelt

Chicago, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president of the W. C. T. U., characterizing Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, as a "wet," predicts the south will oppose his presidential aspirations "unless politicians succeed in fooling the southerners."

Returning from a tour of the south, she declared efforts were being made in every southern state to make the prominent Democratic candidate for the presidential nomination appear a prohibitionist.

"Roosevelt will not do for the dry south," she said. "Southern states will send dry delegations to the Democratic convention in Chicago unless politicians succeed in thoroughly fooling the southerners about Roosevelt. The south is as dry as ever."

She asserted Roosevelt has proved his "wetness" by being elected governor of New York on a "wet" ticket, by signing "wet" bills passed by the state legislature, and indirectly through the recent statement of Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago that "Roosevelt is wet enough for me."

Fayetteville, —(AP)—A coroner's inquest was scheduled for today in connection with the death of Albert Hart, mill worker, who was fatally shot by Will Hales who claimed self defense.
