Powers to Take Immediate Steps to Stop Sino-Jap War U. S. and Great Britain Submit Terms of Peace

Japanese Bluejackets Begin Attack on Shanghai

Inform League Council That Fighting In China Must Come To An End

FOUR NATIONS MAKE DEMAND COLD SWEEPS OVER NATION

United States, Great Britain, France And Italy Offer Terms at an Extraordinary Meeting of League of Nations Council at Geneva; J. H. Thomas, British Cabinet Member, Speaks for Britain and United States.

By P. I. LIPSEY, Jr. Geneva, Switzerland, Feb. 2.—(AP)—America, Great Britain, France and Italy announced in brisk military style at an extraordinary meeting of the League of Nations council today that the Sino-Japanese fighting must stop and they would take immediate steps to stop it.

J. H. Thomas, a British cabinet member, spoke for his country and the United States, and the American delegates to the disarmament conference sat near the council table.

That conference was delayed for an hour while the council met. When he had finished his brief but emphatic declaration of policy, Dino Grandi for Italy, and the French representative announced that their governments approved the stand of Washington and London. The German delegate made a similar cordial statement.

The American and British governments, said Mr. Thomas, would follow their lead but in any event the English-speaking nations are determined to stop the fighting and bring about a settlement under the terms and in the spirit of the Kellogg pact.

"War—in everything but name is in progress," said Mr. Thomas. "Shanghai has been the scene of conflict in which artillery and airplanes have taken part. To such a state of affairs the members of this league cannot be indifferent. If we allow it to go on the League covenant and kindred international treaties must inevitably lose the confidence of the world."

"It is not without significance to the League members that the government of the United States holds an identical view of the situation in all the efforts of peace which the council has made in the past four months."

The armies of both belligerents must retire, he asserted, and a neutral zone must be organized under British and American supervision.

The British representative spoke with tremendous emphasis, and by his side, listening quietly, sat Naotake Sato, the Japanese representative, poring over a booklet of the League covenant.

Near the council table sat Dr. Mary Emma Woolley and other American delegates to the disarmament conference. There was a crowd of tense spectators. Mr. Thomas finished, the German delegate said he was informing his government of developments. Dr. W. W. Yen thanked the council for China, and then Sato rose to reply.

SNOW, Accompanied by Sub-zero Temperatures, Reported In Many Sections.

By the Associated Press. Winter cold gave Uncle Sam a red nose today. The old gentleman's feet were soaked by rushing rains in California. The honey bees which were buzzing in his high hat just a few weeks ago, crawled back into his hair and went to sleep. The flowers that gaudied his shoulders so unseasonably in January were turned today, by widespread cold, into a huge doughnut of ice. Arctic-born winds sang with wailing melancholy through his thinning chin-whiskers, and the strong lines of his face were lined with snow.

Amos Woodcock Opposes bill to Legalize Four Per Cent Beer at Washington.

Washington, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Prohibition Director Amos W. Woodcock appeared before a Senate committee today in opposition to a bill to legalize four per cent beer.

Woodcock said he had come to the hearing because some one had asked the attorney general to have him do so. "I am the guilty party," said Senator Hatfield (R., W. Va.), a prohibitionist.

The committee headed by Senator Metcalf (R., Rhode Island), is hearing those opposed to the bill, having previously listened to anti-prohibitionists advocate passage of the four per cent beer measure by Senator Bingham (R., Conn.) which is under consideration.

Woodcock said, "The technical efficiency of the prohibition bureau has been steadily increasing" since he became its director in July 1930.

Fight Between Japanese And Chinese Is Expected Any Moment at Nanking

Shanghai, Wednesday, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A sullen silence had fallen upon the ruins of Chapel today (Wednesday) after a sharp artillery duel on Tuesday during which neither side appeared to have gained any material advantage. The Japanese claimed a victory in the artillery exchange but the Chinese command only repeated their blunt statement: "We intend to drive the enemy out of Chinese territory."

Greensboro, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Mrs. W. E. French, whose husband charged she led him to a lonely spot where B. B. Owens, an insurance man, shot him, was arrested today.

Warrants for Mrs. French and Owens were sworn out last night after French was found wounded beside a street intersection and told his story.

She spent the night at a friend's home and the warrant was not served until this morning. Owens surrendered to police last night, saying the first he knew of the shooting was when he read of it in a newspaper.

G. HOG FAILS TO SEE SHADOW

Country is Faced by Springtime Weather, According to an Old Weather Theory.

Mr. G. Hog was prowling around the country today laying plans for springtime.

When the tiny animal cautiously poked his nose from the ground this morning his eyes were not blinded by the sunlight, and he bounded out of his hole and danced in pure glee.

It was the first time in years he had had the opportunity to take a squint at the world without the disadvantage of sunshine, and he tore across the country singing a song of ecstasy, he left behind him promises of Springtime.

Had the sun been shining, according to those who believe in the ground hog theory, the country would have been doomed to forty days of hard weather. Last year, the sun was blazing down upon Mother Earth with all his power when the hog stuck his snout from his place of hibernation, and running true to form, the nation was treated to several weeks of real winter weather.

Nanking, Feb. 2.—(AP)—A telephone message from Wuhu, Anhwei province, said the Japanese consular staff and nationals there left today for Japan and that the Japanese warships stationed there also departed as a result of the evacuation.

Proposal Sent To Japan And China For Halting Warfare In The Orient

GUNMEN SLAY THREE IN N. Y.

Woman and Two Men Killed by Gang Gunners at Commonwealth Apartment.

New York, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Once more the dogs of gang war are barking in the Bronx. The screams of children echoed last night as gang gunners, bursting into a Commonwealth avenue apartment, slew a woman and two men, and fled even as one of the children was panting her story to the corner policeman.

Police said today it was the "Dutch" Schultz-Vincent gang war again; that Schultz gangsters were hunting Coill and succeeded only in sending death to three.

MORE NATIONS TO TAKE PART

France and Italy Expected to Join U. S. and Britain in Effort to Bring End to Hostilities in China; America Avoids any Semblance of threat, Reserving Complete Freedom to Act as Future Events May Dictate.

Washington, Feb. 2.—(AP)—The United States and Great Britain submitted to the Japanese and Chinese governments today detailed proposals designated to end hostilities in the Orient.

France and Italy were expected to do likewise. While gunfire again raked Chinese sections of wealthy Shanghai, President Hoover and his cabinet waited anxiously for word whether the peace efforts would have fruition.

The Far Eastern authorities took them under consideration. The text made public here, did not mention what further steps would be taken if the proposals proved unacceptable.

The American government plainly was avoiding any semblance of a threat, reserving meantime complete freedom to act as future events may dictate.

The text of the State Department's announcement telling of the Sino-Japanese peace proposals was: "On January 29 the Chinese minister for foreign affairs in Nanking appealed to the United States through our consul general in Nanking to take immediate friendly measures to bring the hostilities in China to an immediate end."

"On January 31 the Japanese foreign minister in Tokyo requested the United States to use its good offices to induce the Chinese troops not to bring up further reinforcements and to withdraw the Chinese troops now in Shanghai to a safe distance to avoid clashes."

"He stated that it was not the desire of the Japanese government to send any further reinforcements or to send land troops. On February 1 the Japanese ambassador in Washington called upon the secretary of state and confirmed this request made in Tokyo for the good offices of this country in stopping further hostilities at Shanghai."

"Accordingly, the American ambassador at Tokyo and the American consul general at Nanking have been instructed to submit to the Japanese government and the Chinese government respectively the following proposals as a basis for the cessation of the present hostilities between China and Japan:

"1. Cessation of all acts of violence on both sides forthwith on the following terms:

"2. No further mobilization or preparation whatever for further hostilities between the two nations."

"3. Withdrawal of both Japanese and Chinese combatants from all points of mutual contact in the Shanghai area."

"4. Protection of the international settlement by the establishment of neutral zones to divide the combatants."

"These zones to be policed by neutrals; the arrangements to be set up by consular authorities."

"5. Upon acceptance of these conditions prompt advances to be made in negotiations to settle all outstanding controversies between the two nations in the spirit of the pact of Paris (Kellogg-Briand anti-Continued on Page Six)

Deputy Sheriff Injured In Bladenboro Strike

Bladenboro, Feb. 2.—(AP)—B. F. Townsend, a deputy sheriff, was shot and slightly wounded last night after approximately 1,000 workers of the Bladenboro cotton mills went on strike in protest against a wage cut of 10 per cent.

Townsend was sitting in the office of the mill and the shot was fired through a window. He said he chanced to stoop over just as the shot was fired and most of the load from a shotgun passed over his head. A few shot struck him in the neck and back of the head. The wounded deputy was given emergency treatment here and then was taken to Elizabethtown.

Various other disorders occurred during the night as the strikers gave active protest against the wage cut. Rocks were hurled against the mill and several shots were fired. Whether the other shots were fired wildly or aimed at officers guarding the mill could not be determined.

CHURCH SERVICES TO MARK OPENING OF BICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION

When America goes to church on the three days preceding George Washington's birthday this year, it will be to open "officially" a celebration never paralleled in all history—a celebration in which those who participate will honor themselves in doing honor to a nation's founder.

Officially scheduled to open February 22, the nation wide Bicentennial Celebration of George Washington's birth will nevertheless be inaugurated unofficially in religious services throughout the entire country during the three days just preceding that date. On Friday, February 19, those whose Sabbath begins at sundown on the sixth day of the week will honor the memory of Washington in their regular devotional services. The following day Saturday, others will observe the Sabbath in similar manner, and on Sunday all other religious groups will hold divine services paying tribute to the Father of his Country.

As is pointed out by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, which has been co-operating with and assisting the churches of the nation as well as all other groups in preparation for this great event, these religious services leading up to the official opening of the celebration are most appropriate. Given this devotional aspect to start with, it will more than ever impress the American people with the great principles and motives underlying this tribute to the great American.

With features provided especially for observance in the home, the school and the church, the celebration will unite America in a far more impressive and lasting tribute than ever could be accomplished by the most spectacular display of national wealth, power and achievement. Every person living in the United States must be impressed at this time, if never before, with his debt of gratitude to George Washington. The opportunity is now being given him to express that gratitude in a national demonstration designed for the participation of every individual in the country.

The Junior Woman's Club will give a subscription for one year to "The Club Woman" to the Shepard Memorial Library. The club voted to pay $7.50 toward a tonsil operation for a twelve-year-old boy.

By a unanimous vote the members decided to present a gift of $25.00 to our mother club, the Woman's Club of Greenville.

The Junior Woman's Club will gladly take part in the Salvation Army campaign. Mrs. Thomas Clifton will act as chairman of the committee. The following members will assist her: Mrs. Marvin Sugg, Mrs. Dan Pigott, Mrs. Francis Wilson, Mrs. Eli Bloom, Mrs. W. F. Young, Mrs. Frances Bowen, Mrs. Sam Allen, Miss Grace Gaxton, Mrs. George F. Hadley.

Miss Sonora Moore, chairman of the committee for the Leap Year dance to be given Feb. 12, reported the plans for the dance.

At the close of the business session Miss Sue Barrett, program leader, introduced Mrs. E. L. Hillman, whom the club was delighted to have speak for them on "Italy." Having spent some time in this foreign country, Mrs. Hillman's talk was instructive and indeed interesting. She displayed many pictures and linens she had brought from Italy.

At the conclusion of this lovely program each member was asked to draw a number, and Mrs. E. L. Hillman holding the lucky one, was presented by the hostesses a beautiful potted primrose.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Miss Barrett and Miss Moore, assisted by Miss Louise Park.

The club was delighted to have as guests for the afternoon Miss Evelyn Horton of Farmville, Miss Nell Gaskill of Ocracoke and Mrs. Monroe Osborne of Greenville.

APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE GREETED DANCERS

Harold Kreutzberg in his dance program at East Carolina Teachers College last night proved his title to leadership in the field of high-class creative dancing, expressing great themes, as well as the lighter themes, through the dance, with no touch of the low. His group of four young women have caught the spirit and were in harmony with him, bringing out his idea and ideals in most artistic dancing.

The dance-comedy at the end was unique, a story against the dimnitive village background, enacted so that boredom, curiosity, flirtation, caprice, jealousy, whimsically, hilarity and humor, with a touch of the trappings and devoutness when the priest comes in, were all rapidly presented to the eye and mind of the spectators, who needed no words of explanation or dialogue.

The group before this was in marked contrast, the Greek dance over the tomb of the beloved, the stages of the lamentation of the group with the efforts to comfort heart-broken Orpheus, the dance reaching its climax when he was left alone with the robe of the beloved dead. The other groups were graceful and full of meanings.

brought out his ideas with clearness and distinctness, leaving never any doubt as to his meanings, showing perfect blend of soul and spirit, with mind and with perfect coordination of muscles and movements, every part of his being ready to contribute to the one creative urge, to get the fullness of meaning expressed to others. The four solo dances, "The Annunciation," "The Last Judgment," "The Revolt" and the "Ceremonial" all were marvels of dance expression, and showed the high level of his art.

"Habenera" by the four young women without the star, was interesting and different, while the waltz was lovely.

The costumes were important parts of every dance, but were always merely a means to help the dance, without attempt to make them show up for themselves as a spectacular part of the show. The lighting was also for the sake of bringing out some special thing and not to make a big spectacular effect.

From the first curtain to the last, the whole program was artistic. The manager in the afternoon suggested that it was decidedly "arty" and perhaps wondered if it would get across the footlights, but last night there was no doubt about that. While dancers cannot give different numbers for encores, they can take curtain calls and repeat parts of dances, and this they did time and again.

There was an appreciative audience. The group from Washington was especially noticeable. The dancing class of Miss Zelma Russ, numbering more than 25, with quite a delegation of others, came over in a body and remained to see the artists as just people. And they were as human beings, very interesting people. The young women were interesting and interested in their experiences in going around over America. This is Mr. Kreutzberg's second visit south, and he is interested in going further south than he went last season. They left on a night train for Pinehurst.

Surprise Birthday Gathering.

Stokes, Jan. 31.—Mr. L. S. Barnhill was told Saturday night by his baby child, Clarence, that he could not go visiting the next day, as some of his folks were coming, and they told him not to tell who it was. Mr. Barnhill sat around wondering in great suspense to know who his company was. At one o'clock the company began to come. First, Mr. A. C. Barnhill; second, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Barnhill and daughter, Isabelle; third, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Barnhill and children, Roscoe, Katherine and Ellen; fourth, Mr. and Mrs. Elias Nobles and children, Marjorie and Johnny; fifth, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Garris, Edsel and Reginald Garris; sixth, Mr. and Mrs. Lamm Barnhill, Zoradane, Wyon and Edgar; seventh, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Barnhill, Pearlina N., Aldine, Dewett and Otto.

When they all were gathered in the living room Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Barnhill, Mr. Barnhill the only brother of Mr. L. S. Barnhill, entered. Mrs. Clarence Barnhill came in at this moment and said, "Well, Pa," (addressing Mr. L. S.), "here is your company." Then Isabelle broke the news by telling her grandfather that they all came there to celebrate his birthday. The shades were pulled, which made a dark room. Mr. Clarence Barnhill entered with a huge birthday cake with 65 lighted candles and placed it on a table in the center of the room. The light glowing from the red and white candles made a beautiful scene. Mr. Barnhill was then asked to blow out the candles which represented his age. He blew them out very nicely with one hard blow.

The following grandchildren: Pearl Ward, Roscoe, Zoradane, Marjorie, Isabelle and Edsel assisted Mrs. Clarence Barnhill in serving a sweet course. The last and most interesting to Mr. Barnhill was when Master Clarence Dupree Barnhill entered with his father, bringing a waiter full of many useful presents from his children.

Every child of Mr. L. S. Barnhill was present. And they all left wishing him many happy birthdays.

and desk work he has been doing on national problems would wear him out. His left eye has been causing him some trouble for several weeks. During the recent cabinet crisis he worked twenty hours a day.

After attending the opening session of Parliament today and an important cabinet meeting tomorrow morning he will go to a nursing home in London for the operation, which was described as a very delicate one, but not serious.

He has been wearing glasses recently when out of doors. He saw his physicians yesterday morning and they decided the operation should be performed immediately.

London, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Prime Ramsay MacDonald will undergo an operation, immediately after tomorrow's cabinet meeting, for "a slight and progressive diminution of the vision of his left eye," caused by overwork, it was announced today.

He hopes to go to Geneva as soon as he recovers from the effects of the operation, however, the announcement said.

ABOUT TOWN

Fire danger is greatly increased with the advent of cold weather and citizens have been warned about the handling of fire through bulletins sent out by the State Insurance Department. Thousands of dollars worth of valuable property has been destroyed in North Carolina the last few months because of the careless handling of fire and the condition will not improve until the public pays more attention to the handling of cigarette butts and matches.

In spite of the fact that the Greenville fire department has increased in efficiency the last year or so the city's fire loss last year was over four times as great as the previous year. Japan evidently took China at her word, judging by the shelling of Nanking yesterday. Government leaders previously had declared war, and Japan, thinking the declaration meant war, brought her gunboats into play on the former Chinese capital.

It increased the gravity of the situation between the two countries, and the world for that matter, because other nations, deeply concerned as to the safety of their nationals, are watching developments with considerable apprehension. Japan evidently thinks she knows what she is doing in invading China. The custom is as old as time itself, and the Japs just can't get over the idea that they can go over to China and annex a piece of territory when she gets ready.

It may be all right from the Japanese viewpoint, but the first time her bullets damage the property of some other nation she will have more on her hands than the practically defenseless Chinese.

It is hoped the situation may be improved before countries become involved because it will be just too bad for conquest-loving Japan if such an emergency should arise.

One of the most important gatherings this generation will see convened at Geneva today. It is the world disarmament conference, and representatives of practically every important nation on earth are present.

The purpose of the conference is to take definite steps looking to disarmament; and for the first time in the history of the world it is expected some progress will be made. The most important factor working toward success of the conference is the economic situation confronting every country in the world. With shortage of finances and apparently insurmountable debts staring them in the face, nearly every country on the globe will be seriously disposed to consider reduction of armaments as a means of reducing expenses.

Years will pass probably before actual disarmament will take place but it is generally conceded that a good step will be taken at the Geneva conference, and especially in view of the threatened severance of relations as result of the Sino-Japanese controversy.

Mayor Flanagan issued an appeal yesterday for support of the Salvation Army budget drive which gets under way tomorrow.

Mr. Flanagan is fully cognizant of the good work done by the organization in all parts of the country and feels confident they will be able to accomplish much more here if given proper financial backing.

The local organization has been greatly handicapped in this city the last year because of lack of funds, but its supporters hope to be able to raise enough money this year to care for the improved program outlined for the city.

Two thousand five hundred dollars is a small sum considering the excellent work done by the workers of this humanitarian body of men and women, and campaign workers feel confident Greenville will go over the top this year.

Boy Crazy

By GRACE PERKINS AUTHOR OF "PERSONAL MAID"

SYNOPSIS: Dickey Dale, ski-jumper extraordinary, attracts the first real interest of Hope Ross' life while she is in the midst of giving a house party at Lake Placid. Hope, slim in green leather coat, with her gold hair bright under a green hat, as quickly catches Dick's attention. Hours of riding and ice-skating and talking result in the highest honor of a high school girl's life—an invitation from Dickey to the Har-mouth prom. She already has carried off the social honors at home; she is a leader of her crowd, renowned as the prettiest and richest girl in town, and is easily the most popular. Her popularity, in fact, worries her mother by its incessant progress and drives her sister Goody sullen, with jealousy. Hope's father spoils her, but does not carry this to the extent of admitting the social equality of Dickey's father.

SIGNING A PLEDGE

And wouldn't she just be in town for a minute—and almost miss it? If she hadn't phoned home about staying in to dinner, she would have missed it! For when she phoned, her mother explained that a young tramp, arriving in wheezing car and a rather scrubby raccoon coat, had been sitting in the living room all afternoon, refusing politely to move. His name, said Mama Ross, was Dickey Dale, and he had driven all the way down from Har-mouth to see Hope!

An hour later, Dickey met Hope in town. During which hour Hope had successfully dodged her sweet Rusty Crandall's tricking him unmercifully into taking her up to see a sick girl-friend! Poor old Rusty—who knew in his heart that Hope was playing him mean. Who was probably phoning her mother right now, and learning all about Dickey. Oh, well, you could always make up with Rusty. He adored her so. Loved her with such a clean, approved and uninteresting love. And whenever she ditched him, Rusty would find comfort in Angel, and Angel would be sublimely happy until Hope took it in her head to need Rusty again. Whereupon Angel would be quite forgotten, and Rusty's parents would draw a breath of relief, and Angel's eyes would grow sorrowful as she would wait quietly, patiently, for Rusty to remember her again.

But what did any of that matter? The point was that Dickey met Hope in town, and they both made a large evening of it. Dinner, Theater. And a visit to his father's afterward, where Hope found several ladies and gentlemen of the ensemble, one casting expert, and a playwright.

Dickey drove her home in his rat-trap of a roadster—the kind that made you stretch full length on the floor, almost as if you were an invalid on a wheeling table. A brutal, springless, open car, rebuilt within an inch of its carburetor.

Dickey stayed in New York with his father, but at eleven the next morning he was back at Hope's doorstep. Refusing to go to the damned old tea she was slated for. Instead they went out into the county. Ate at Briarcliff Lodge, and tramped all over the grounds. Met Hickey with his leading woman up there, and trailed Hickey's car back into town, where they were taken to a night club as was a night club—with Hickey, the gayest and noblest of the lot!

Such a week-end. Such a man was this Dickey! Such a riot with Dad over the late hours, and such a sermon about sticking to her own crowd!

But Hope didn't hear! Hope was a dead goner. Doped with love! It was easier now to wait for the prom. Easier because she knew that Dickey cared. Cared, as he put it, like hell. That was the only way Dickey would care for a girl—the only way any girl wanted to be cared for. What if he was a bit brusque and unreasonable? Hope was sick of boys (like Rusty Crandall) who gae in to all of her whims, and ran her errands for her gratefully. Sick to death of them.

The rest of the season spun around in a dizzy whirl. Mama Ross wrenched her attention from the happiness of her elder daughter long enough to complain and forbid and foretell catastrophe for Hope. Papa Ross talked to his daughter long and seriously. A good looking, amusing young athlete, this Dickey Dale. Good enough stock, yes, but hardly a family for his little daughter to consider as a serious connection. Rusty Crandall ican Legion will observe Henry Stevens' week in honor of the new commander from North Carolina.

The object of the observance is to induce all veterans of the World War to come back into the Legion and do their bit toward furthering its ambitious program.

It is impossible to enumerate the splendid work of this organization the last several years, but it has put up a splendid battle in the interest of the men who came back from the war maimed and unable to take their places in the rank of industry again.

In this one phase of activity alone, the Legion has rendered a service that should be a challenge to every man who served in the great war. It should inspire all of them to rally behind their organization and attempt to make it even a greater force for good in the years to come.

PLACID HIT BY SHORTAGE OF FINANCES

By EDWARD J. NEHL. Associated Press Sports Writer. Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 2.—(AP)—While the French, the Belgians and the Swiss settled down to final practice on the bob run, speed skaters tore around the stadium rink, skiers wandered through mountain trails and all was well with the winter Olympic sports world, Lake Placid unminuted today on the cost of staging these inenational spectacles.

The financial mechanics behind the grand show of the little New York village under the shadows of lofty Adirondack mountain peaks are almost stunning as the sight of the ski jumpers leaping gracefully off a contraption an eighth of a mile high that looks like a futuristic conception of some new form of suicide.

Lake Placid, a village of 3,500, has invested almost $1,500,000 in this panorama of mountains, lakes, snow and ice. The State of New York put up $500,000 for a start-up. The townspeople floated a $350,000 bond issue, and every merchant, every citizen in one way or another has contributed to the total. The bob sled slide for instance cost about $225,000. The indoor arena, land building and equipment, set the natives back $250,000. The Olympic stadium cost $35,000. The huge interval ski jump $50,000 and maintenance of these things runs annually to near $50,000.

These are but part of the $1,500,000 total the tiny village has gambled in an effort to establish itself as the winter sports capital of North America.

Despite the sudden shift in the weather conditions that had brought back normal zero temperatures and an abundance of snow, there is absolutely no hope of getting the grand total back. And unless there is a sudden shift of interest there will not be returned even a dividend on this sum to the hotelkeepers, shopkeepers, and merchants.

Probe Series Of Strange Fires at Bladenboro Home

Bladenboro, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Mystified authorities today were investigating a strange fire that at intervals and originating from no known source has burned household articles and clothing of the C. H. Williamson family here.

The intermittent fires began Saturday afternoon when a window shade and curtain in the Williamson's dining room were burned. A short time later another window shade burned. No fire had been lighted in this room for days.

Yesterday, while the family and visitors sat in a room, a bed was enveloped in flames. Later, at various times, papers in a closet burned; a pair of trousers in a closet burned; the clothing of one of Williamson's daughters caught fire but was extinguished before she was harmed.

Five rooms of the house have been visited by the fire. Electricians examined the wiring and closed all circuits but the fires continued.

Health authorities guessed gases might have caused the blazes. In the meantime, the Williamson's have moved out to preserve their personal effects.

Poison Murder Case Set For Hearing Soon

Lexington, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The "January term" of Davidson county Superior court opens here today has been delayed until Wednesday due to a conflict with the T. H. Harper trial at Greensboro.

Court attaches said this postponement might cause delay in the poison-murder case of Mrs. Lola Fendleton Pickett, 40-year-old widow.

Solicitor George A. Younce will be assisted by J. Frank Spruill H. Ed. Olvin for the state while the defense council includes T. R. Lee, a commonwealth attorney of Rocky Mount, Va., John C. Owerband and Wade H. Phillips.

The January term of court begins today because of calendar conditions in Less Year. State law fixes Superior court terms with relation to the first Monday in March but five Mondays were found in February and continuances were made to February 1 instead of January 25.

Court officials said it was the first time in 28 years the January term would be held in February and that it will be 28 years before it occurs again.

How CARDUI Helps Women

"I WAS passing through a critical time in my life, and I suffered a great deal," says Mrs. Mat Howard, of Qullan, Texas. "I improved very much after I had taken Cardui for a while. Since then, I have given Cardui to my five daughters. As each one of them arrived at womanhood, I gave her Cardui for several months. I found they were less nervous and felt stronger. All of them have continued the use of Cardui in their homes. In my home we have all been better for having taken it."

Your BUYING DOLLAR Can Be Stretched!

WOMEN are becoming more and more aware of the fact that a dollar has no ABSOLUTE value. It's elastic. It can be worth more today than yesterday, more in this part of the country than in that, more in this shop than in that, more in one person's hands than in another's. A dollar can be stretched! That is, a BUYING dollar can be stretched. And stretched TO THE LIMIT by women who read the Daily Reflector ads.

READ this PAPER for VALUES

The reason is plain. The Daily Reflector advertisements are filled with the most spectacular offerings of the past twenty years. Such values as are found in the pages of the Reflector enable the women of Greenville to shop easily, wisely, ECONOMICALLY. Advertisers in The Daily Reflector are reliable. # Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 3 to 9 points on some southern selling and selling by brokers with far eastern connections. May sold off to 6.82.

There were rumors that ships carrying cotton to China for Japanese owned mills had been diverted to Japan, and the theory was advanced in some quarters that the active selling through brokers who sometimes operate for Japanese account, represented hedging against these supplies.

March sold off to 6.60 and July to 6.96, making net losses of 7 to 10 points and while the selling fell off after initial offerings had been absorbed, the market was within a point or two of the lowest at the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables reported covering and trade calling supplied by realizing and hedging in that market.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Lowest prices in grains today came in the final hour. Sellers of wheat put increasing emphasis on peace gestures if leading powers hopeful of a solution of Far Eastern difficulties. Mild weather and relative easiness of securities were also cited as contributory to setbacks in cereal values.

Wheat closed unsettled 1-2 to 3-4 under yesterday's close; corn 1-8 to 1-2 down; oats 1-8 to 3-8 and provisions receded, closing at 10 to 20 cents decline owing largely to prospective increased marketing of hogs.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Bullish vapors of a "war boom" which had been discredited in leading banking quarters from the start, disappeared from the stock market today and prices drifted quietly lower.

The market was firm for a time in first hour, but rails soon turned reactionary, and a heavy tone spread throughout the list. Early gains of four fractions to points were replaced by losses of 1 to 4 or more. Trading, however, was dull.

Rails lost more of the upturn of the previous session. Santa Fe declined more than 4, Union Pacific 3, and issues off a point or more included Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania, New York Central and others. Coppers turned heavy, and the export price was cut. Miscellaneous issues off a point or so included U. S. Steel, Outpost, Allied Chemical, General Electric, United Aircraft, American Can, Case, American Smelting, Cerro De Pasco, and others.

A sagging tendency in commodities had an adverse influence on the share market. Export copper was quoted at 67-8 cents a pound, which is the first time it has been available under the 7-cent level. The domestic price was still 63-4 cents, however, as against a low of 6 cents at which custom smelters offered some metal last year.

Auto Liability Insurance Rates Receive Boost

Raleigh, Feb. 2.—(AP)—For the second time this year automobile liability insurance rates in North Carolina have been given a boost. The State Insurance Department and insurance agents were informed of the action yesterday, at the same time the new rates went into effect.

Las summer an increase of approximately 45 per cent was ordered by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters. The state department protested fruitlessly at that time, but the second increase came as a complete surprise.

Although percentages had not been worked out, it was said the increase would make $5,000-$10,000 policies on light passenger cars cost $38 instead of $35, while before the July increase such policies cost $24.

Man Lost Life Probing False Headache Potion

Charlotte, Feb. 2.—(AP)—A. L. Ingle, Department of Justice operative killed here, lost his life in investigating wholesale headache medicine counterfeiting, it was revealed here when J. A. Bland was bound to Federal District court for making the false medicine and using the mails to defraud in its sale.

Ingle was killed when a gun fell from the pocket of H. K. Williams, private detective who was helping him carry a box from quarters occupied by W. S. Wallace, who was arrested as Bland's confederate but released at a preliminary hearing.

Evidence was that the bogus headache powders had been distributed throughout the Carolinas, bearing false labels of the "B-C" Company.

Action on Jonas Expected Soon

Washington, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Action on confirmation of the appointment of Charles A. Jonas to be attorney for the western district of North Carolina is not expected from the Senate investigation committee before next week.

The former congressman appeared before the committee yesterday to defend himself against charges preferred by Senators Morrison and Bailey, who have sought to block confirmation of Jonas' recess appointment.

Thieves Busy In This State

By the Associated Press
Police in several North Carolina cities were active today in search of thieves who had stolen bread scrapers, money, and gasoline.

From Asheville, members of the sheriff's office went out on a search for thieves who stole four wheelcrappers from the Weaverville highway. Police said the machinery apparently had been loaded on trucks.

A thief who stole $560 in a bag from a mantle in Julian Myers' home while he ate breakfast was still at liberty. Myers lives near Thomasville.

At King's Mountain, a motor car company was entered and thieves took $33 from the company safe and then drained stored automobiles of gasoline. Yegmen took about $400 from a safe in a Winston-Salem motor company.

Finds War Pants in Salvage Store

Charlotte, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Walter F. Stanley was gassed a month before the World War ended. Moved to a hospital in England, they took away his uniform and gave him denim.

He came home and resumed peace time pursuits. Needing a uniform for a parade, he went to a salvage store here and asked for a pair of O. D. pants—the only thing he lacked.

The pair on top of the pile looked like they might fit him. They did. Inside were his name and serial number. The pants he lost in the hospital had come home.

Four Injured In Small Race Riot In Western, N.C.

Elkin, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Three negroes were shot and Marvin Wilson, a white man, was badly beaten in what was described as a small race riot in the Alleghany county mountains, related reports reaching here said.

Troy Richardson, resident of the Glade Valley section, said he could not give the cause of the riot which swept over the isolated mountain community.

He said that Joe Bryant, a negro, shot Wilson after he had been beaten, and that later a negro woman and two negro men were shot. White men patrolled the section and posted themselves in mountain gaps to prevent further trouble, he said.

Richardson said one of the shooting was done by negroes, members of their own race being wounded by bullets intended for white people.

Those killed were: Pasquale Del Greco, 32, a Col confederate, who has been arrested five times in as many months; Florio Basile, 40, an ex-convict whose record dates back to 1912; and Mrs. Emily Tarzello, 35, whose connection with the others was not entirely clear to the police today.

The wounded: Mrs. Lena Vincozerra, 28, mother of four children and sister of the slain Florio; Louis Basile, brother of Florio; and Joseph Parrone, 19. Louis Basile was critically wounded. A bullet lodged near his heart.

WOMAN HELD IN SHOOTING

French, who said his wife and B. B. Owens, Greensboro insurance man, had nearly run over his prostrate body on a street here as they fled in his car after Owens has shot him twice.

Several hours after the shooting last night Owens walked into police station, saying he had just heard of the shooting for the first time from reading a newspaper, and that he had been in a theatre when it occurred.

Mrs. French, reported near a collapse at the home of a friend had not been questioned early today.

Brought to a hospital by three Guilford college students, French told police his wife asked him to take her for a ride last night, and at a street intersection, he said, Mrs. French cried "That's Bert Owens' car. Let's stop and see what's the matter."

French said that as he alighted Owens did likewise, and placed a pistol to his head, fired. French said he fell to his knees, and that Owens fired again. Then he said, his wife and Owens left the scene in Owens' car, but returned a few minutes later, got into his car and would have run over him had he not rolled into a ditch as they drove off. He told officers "My wife led me into this."

French's condition was at first described as critical, but early today physicians said he had a chance to recover. Police issued warrants against Owens and Mrs. French, charging assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill.

Prior to the cold spell over the week-end virtual summer had held sway along the Atlantic seaboard for several weeks. Trees and flowers had begun to bloom in various parts of the country, and it was apparent that Springtime had come far in advance.

POWERS TO TAKE IMMEDIATE STEPS TO STOP SINO-JAP WAR

At this there was laughter by some of the spectators not seated at the council table.

Mr. Henderson said this conference had three important objectives:

1. To reach a collective agreement on a practical program for substantial reduction and limitation of armaments.

2. To determine that no armaments may be maintained outside the scope of that agreement.

3. To plan for similar conferences in the future at reasonably short intervals of time.

"It is difficult to conceive of a sharper spur to fear and suspicion than the maintenance and growth of colossal armaments," said Mr. Henderson.

"I need not remind you of the staggering cost of the world war nor of the horrifying cataclysm the next war would involve."

"The world wants disarmament," he concluded, "the world needs disarmament. We have it in our power to help fashion future history."

At Lake Placid, where are gathered the winter sports stars of the world for Olympic competition, he saw temperatures flirting with zero. In New York harbor, and along the eastern Atlantic seaboard he observed great liners pulling from the open sea under masks of ice.

Snow lay in 20-foot drifts in Yellowstone National park. The total snowfall for the season there, Uncle figured, set a new all time record of 37 inches.

Cold as he was, and despite his wet feet, Uncle looked forward today to the possibility of the Woodchuck's seeing his shadow. Uncle knows this Woodchuck business is largely hokey—still, one never can tell.

Bimini, Bahamas. It carried Pilot Val Chick of Miami and four passengers. The waves were so high observers feared it could not float long if forced down.

After being hampered by snow, cold and clouds, a hunt concentrated near Cobblesstone Mountain, Calif., for a Century Pacific Air liner missing since Friday with eight persons. It disappeared on a Bakersfield-to-Los Angeles flight, and a sudden blaze was reported on the mountain Friday. The searchers believe all eight may be dead.

The representatives of the British government in Tokyo and Nanking submitted identical proposals at the same time and it is understood that the French and Italian governments have taken the same action.

At the outset he referred to the ominous thunderings from the Far East.

"I feel bound to refer to the tragic fact that at the moment when this conference begins its work we are confronted with a situation of such extreme gravity as that which now exists in the Far East," he said.

"It is imperative that all the signatories of the League of Nations covenant and of other international treaties should make it their business to insure the strict observance of those great safeguards against acts of violence and war."

Mr. Henderson said this conference had three important objectives:

1. To reach a collective agreement on a practical program for substantial reduction and limitation of armaments.

2. To determine that no armaments may be maintained outside the scope of that agreement.

the last six months of the fiscal year be made on a basis to take care of the decrease in revenues, it was upon this suggestion that the board decided to order the reduction of expenses.

This is the second economy move adopted by the commissioners in the last year, the first resulting in a cut of salaries of employes, and a reduction of the courthouse at reduced expenses.

In addition to discussion of the "reduction measure, the board also made two appointments to county offices after accepting resignations, and disposed of regular routine matters.

W. S. Tyson, who for the last two years has served as county attorney, tendered his resignation, and W. J. Bundy was appointed to fill the unexpired term.

Mr. Tyson, recently appointed chief clerk of the committee on accounts of the U. S. House of Representatives, appeared before the board and tendered the resignation in person. He said his new duties demanded his presence in Washington a considerable part of the time and made it impossible for him to care for the court work here in a proper manner.

J. T. Clifton, county auditor, was named to succeed P. L. Stone as tax collector.

E. S. Williams, who has acted as coroner for many years, resigned, and E. E. Elwanter was named to fill the unexpired term.

JAPANESE BLUEJACKETS BEGGIN ATTACK ON SHANGHAI

The Chinese used stokes and mortars for artillery. The Japanese continued their light artillery bombardment as well as the machine-gun fire. The whole had every appearance of a major engagement.

Chinese troops worked at top speed, building sandbag defenses.

The American and British consuls made no more to evacuate their nationals.

United States Minister Nelson Johnson arrived this afternoon with his secretary and the naval attaché. Before he got here the American consul had asked the United States naval commander at Shanghai to send another destroyer up to Nanking, but the commander replied the one destroyer which is here would have to be enough.

The Chinese troops which have been guarding the Nanking waterfront for the past few days were withdrawn inland for a considerable distance to avoid a clash with 100 or more Japanese bluejackets who were put ashore on the Hsiakwan waterfront.

What happened last night in the bombardment by Japanese warships was still not entirely clear.

It was said officially that Chinese forts at Lion Hill and Mofu Hill both were hit, but it was believed that some of the shots fired from the ships were blank shells. Twenty shots were fired and only ten hits have been accounted for.

The city was the scene of many disorders during the night. Taking advantage of the situation, holdup men became active and a number of cases of robbery were recorded before dawn. A number of automobiles taking refugees to Hangehou were reported to have been held up and robbed. All banks remained closed today and officials said they would be closed indefinitely because of the tense situation.

The landing of the Japanese bluejackets who occupied Tungting Hill following a protest by Japanese naval officers, who claimed the Chinese troops fired upon the Japanese bluejackets last night. This, they said, was the reason the warships opened fire upon the city.

The protest surprised Chinese authorities and they said its tone indicated the Japanese planned further action.

One Chinese policeman was killed by the shells fired into the city last night.

Chinese residents began to scurry away as fast as they could, using automobiles, rickshaws and any other means of transportation available. They went south, without any notion of their destination, seeking merely to get away and avoid the danger.

PLANS READY FOR CAMPAIGN

Staff-Capt. W. G. Gilks, division commander for North and South Carolina arrived here late yesterday from Durham. He went to the Rotary club, and he and Brigadier Casler gave short talks on the Army's work. Staff-Captain Gilks readily agreed to the renting of Mrs. Lee's house for the use of officers quarters and an emergency home for transients coming into the city. These men will have to cut wood for fuel and their meals, supper and breakfast. The staff-captain thought it was a great opportunity for the Army to do a better service than ever before.

Dr. K. B. Pace, division manager for the Rotarians, has selected his team captains and workers, and has everything lined up for work tomorrow morning. The Kiwanis division under the management of Guy Smith, and the American Legion, under the management of Dr. A. M. Schultz, are also ready to fire the first gun.

Pledge cards are so arranged that those wishing to give five, ten or twenty dollars can divide their payments to suit their own convenience, and it is hoped with the completion for the Army to handle the transients of our city, and visit in the poorer districts, gathering in little children who do not attend any Sunday school, visiting among the sick, and helping to care for those who cannot care for themselves.

Ensign Joseph Willett has just faredwell from Greenwood, S. C., after spending two years of a very successful work done there, and will arrive in Greenville, Wednesday to take up his work here. He will bring with him several endorsements from city officials, ministers and business men who have worked with him hand in hand in Greenwood. He will have his welcome meeting at the little church on Dickinson avenue, Friday night, February 5. Brigadier Geo. F. Casler will preside and welcome the militia to the city. All friends of the Army are most cordially invited to this service.

Crew of a British armored car reported they saw a Chinese youth of 16 shot dead in the street by Japanese bluejackets yesterday when he stooped over while crossing a road.

Later, the crew reported the blue-jackets forced their way into a Chinese home, bayoneted the occupants and drove away with the bodies of the dead. A police report said the bodies of thirteen Chinese men who had been put to death with bayonets, were found on the bank of Soochow Creek.

Nanking, Feb. 2.—(AP)—A battle between Chinese and Japanese forces here was looked for at any moment this evening as efforts of local officials to bring about peace seemed to be failing. A Japanese attack on the Chinese positions was momentarily expected. The Chinese foreign office staff evacuated the city.
