GENEVA HEARS PEACE PLEAS

Delegates Representing All the World Make Appeals At Arms Conference.

Washington, Feb. 6.—(AP)—A sharp denunciation by Chairman Borah, of the Senate's foreign relations committee, appeared to Washington today to have barred any chance of France's proposal for an international police force being accepted.

Reinforcements Will be Removed From China as Soon as Object is Accomplished

Tokyo, Feb. 6.—(AP)—A pledge that the military reinforcements which are being sent from Japan to Shanghai will be withdrawn as soon as their object is accomplished will be contained in an explanatory statement by the Japanese government which will be published in London, Paris, Geneva and Shanghai tomorrow, it was announced today.

Democrats Start A Sweeping Realignment to Stop Roosevelt Onrush.

By BYRON PRICE Washington, Feb. 6.—(AP)—A sweeping realignment of Democratic Presidential politics, designed to stop definitely the onrush of the Roosevelt forces, draw new candidates into the picture, and throw the decision squarely into the lap of the national convention itself, is about to be undertaken by an imposing group of party leaders.

WAR BULLETINS

Harbin, Manchuria, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Japanese airplanes today bombed Chinese troop concentrations in the region of Pihnsin and it was believed that heavy casualties were inflicted. Military authorities explained the operation was ordered because of fears that the Chinese commander Ting Chao, forced from Harbin yesterday, would reassemble his forces at Pihnsin and make that point a base for further attacks.

Tokyo, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The government formally announced tonight that it had decided to send a military force to Shanghai to "put an end to the menace of the Chinese armies and to relieve inhabitants of all nationalities from the strain of fear."

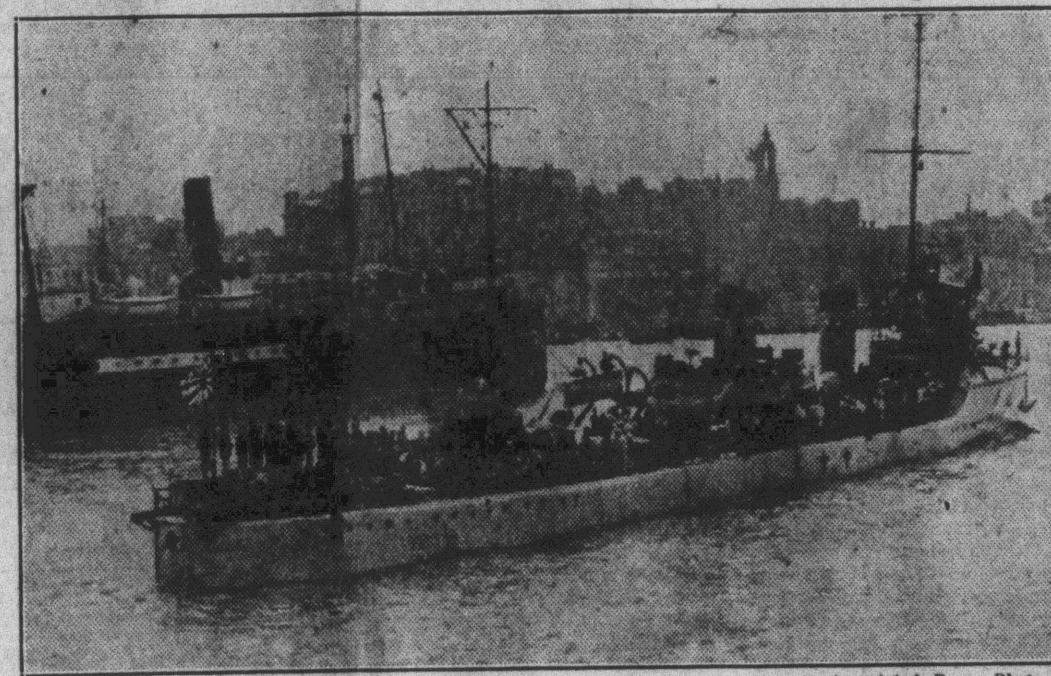

Shanghai, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Chinese banks announced today that in view of the disrupted state of business here all loans in the future will be charged interest at the rate of two percent daily or 720 percent a year.

New York, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Edward Hunter, International News Service war correspondent in Manchuria, who was reported captured by Chinese, is safe at Harbin, his offices here announced today. A report in Japanese press despatches that he had been taken prisoner proved erroneous, the announcement said.

Washington, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The explosion of seven shells from Chinese anti-aircraft guns in the marine regimental area at Shanghai was reported today to the navy department.

JAPANESE WARSHIPS BOMBARD CHINESE FORTS

Chinese forts at Wossung near the mouth of the Whangpoo river were bombarded by Japanese warships in a five hour battle. Here is one of the Japanese destroyers stationed on the river. It is one of the war vessels that backed up marines when they attacked Shanghai's native sections.

American Citizens Evacuate Nanking

ARE ADVISED TO QUIT CITY

City quiet but Authorities Believe it Wise for Citizens to Leave While Transportation Facilities Still Function.

Nanking, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Virtually all Americans in Nanking began to leave the city today under the advice of American authorities. Willis Peck, United States consul general, said officials advised the evacuation, pointing out that it was impossible to predict when traffic will be resumed on the Shanghai-Nanking railway and that navigation on the Yangtze river as well as rail traffic on the Tukow-Tientsin line may be obstructed if military operations continue.

BUDGET DRIVE NEARS CLOSE

Salvation Army Campaign Workers Hope to Complete Their Work Next Week.

Mr. J. T. Clifton, general chairman, with his vice-chairmen, Mayor R. C. Flanagan and Rev. E. L. Hillman, are making plans to finish the Salvation Army campaign next Monday and Tuesday, and all friends who have not yet turned in their donations and pledge cards may call in at the campaign headquarters and do so. Unless the budget is raised in full, the Army will be severely handicapped in carrying out its program of caring for transients and feeding them as has been previously outlined. It is hoped that the more wealthy people of the city will either send in their contributions or come in person before the close of the campaign.

The divisional commander has appointed two splendid officers to head the campaign.

Roosevelt Still Favors State Control of Liquor

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, long on record as a wet, has not changed since becoming a presidential candidate.

Ever since he announced that he was a candidate for the Democratic nomination there had been speculation by Democrats and Republicans alike as to his stand on prohibition.

Yesterday he indicated he would stand on the statement on which he was a candidate for the Democratic nomination.

Interracial Meeting Largely Attended at the Court House Yesterday.

The Eastern Carolina conference on "Human Relations in Agricultural Adjustment" closed here yesterday afternoon after hearing several speeches dealing with conditions affecting both white and colored people in this part of the state.

The conference, which opened yesterday morning, was attended by leaders of public thought from all sections of the state as well as some from other states, and proved to be one of the most interesting sessions of the kind ever held in this part of the country.

Riddled Chapei Sector Now City of the Dead

By MORRIS J. HARRIS Copyright 1932 by Associated Press Shanghai, Feb. 6.—The riddled Chapei sector of Shanghai, once the home of 200,000 persons, today was a city of the dead.

For eight consecutive days and nights Japanese airplanes and big guns have poured shells and bombs into the congested area, leaving a scar which time is not likely to erase.

Non-combatants have suffered with the active Chinese participants in the sector's defense. Thousands of persons, many of whom scarcely knew what it was all about, have lost their homes and many of them have been killed by fire and bursting shells.

The Shanghai-Nanking railway station is a mass of ruins, wrecked by bombs and fire. The rails themselves have been twisted and wrenched into all manner of shapes. Likewise, the huge plant of the Commercial Press, called the world's largest printing plant, has been flattened. For thirty years it printed the most of the books, in many languages, which have been read throughout China.

Within the sector, over a wide range of wrecked buildings and scattered debris not a human being could be seen today. The sound of a single rifle shot reverberated through the ruins.

Capitol's Physician Says Congressmen Must Take Better Care of Themselves.

Washington, Feb. 6.—(AP)—A stiff warning was given to members of Congress today that they are over-working, and must take better care of their health.

The capitol's attending physician, Dr. George W. Calvey, spoke out sharply against the seven-day week schedule many have been following this session. At the same time he urged the public to be reasonable in its demands upon representatives.

START FIGHT ON HOARDING

President Tells Civic Leaders of Plan to Prevent the Hoarding of Money.

Washington, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Behind the closed doors of his cabinet room, President Hoover in an extemporaneous speech today outlined to half a hundred civic leaders his plans for creating an anti-hoarding machine.

The Chief Executive, in his address to the gathered leaders of more than two score national organizations, stressed that the American monetary system depends upon a mobile currency, and that the $1,300,000,000 he estimates is hoarded has caused a credit inflation of approximately $10,000,000.

The President had figures to show that partially because of hoarding and partially because of depressed security values, the gold backing of currency by the Federal Reserve system has risen from the legal 40 per cent to between 75 and 80 per cent.

Mr. Hoover sat in his customary cabinet chair, with a small table before him. The remainder of the room, however, was stripped of its customary furniture. Cabinet chairs were moved into an adjoining hallway, and the long cabinet table was placed in the lobby of the executive offices.

As the meeting assembled, Dawes circulated about the crowd, smoking his familiar underslung pipe.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Henry L. Stevens, of Warsaw, N. C., national commander of the American Legion were early arrivals. They have been working

Says Conditions Better in China

James S. Ficklen, president of the Ficklen Tobacco Company of this city, received a cablegram today from the firm's representative in Shanghai, stating that "conditions were more favorable."

The message also said the situation "looked better than any time in the last four days."

Associated Press Correspondent Proceeds back of Chinese Line and Sees new Forces as they Come in and Old Ones Go Out; Relief Forces Appear Young and Inexperienced and Carry Poor Fighting Equipment.

By MORRIS J. HARRIS Shanghai, Sunday, Feb. 6.—Six-inch guns thundered in the dark early this morning as the Japanese poured shells into what is left of Chapei.

For eight days they have been bombarding the Chinese line, but today (Sunday) there were fresh troops relieving the Chinese veterans and their stubborn resistance was unbroken.

All through the week the artillery bombardment had continued along about midnight, but about 1 a. m. today the firing was heavier than it had been all day long.

The small arms were silent as the big guns jarred the city. It was not possible to go close to the lines, but from the sound the 6-inch pieces had been set up close to the Japanese headquarters in the Hongkew area.

Not long before this phase of the battle began the Associated Press correspondent, touring behind the Chinese lines, saw reinforcements coming up and the battle-worn veterans going out.

The 19th Chinese army is supposed to be the best fighting unit in the country, but to western eyes they seemed deficient in training and certainly they lacked much in equipment.

They carried guns of a dozen varieties, some of them antiquated. Long-barreled pistols and some of their rifles long outmoded. A few wore steel helmets obviously taken from the Japanese, but most of them had no helmets at all.

The most impressive thing about them was their extreme youth. Many of them certainly were not more than 14 years old. Nevertheless, less these youngsters were as stoical as any veteran who ever was under fire.

Behind the Chinese front line an intricate system of trenches spanned the countryside and there were scores of sandbag shelters in exposed spots.

Strangely, well inside the Chinese territory a squad of Japanese blue-jackets stood guard over a large-scale cotton mill. The place bristled with machine guns but no one there has been no attack on the mill although the blue-jackets were in constant danger from snipers.

On the road to Nanking it was very difficult to pilot an automobile through the stream of humanity. The big parade of Chinese under heavy burdens of their household goods also was marching steadily along the tracks of the railway to Nanking.

Every now and then a Japanese airplane dropped overhead. Nobody could see it in the dark, but at the sound the crowds would throw themselves on their faces, turning occasionally to peer through the night at the sky.

DROWNS IN CANAL Elizabeth City, Feb. 6.—(AP)—W. Meads of 174 Seaboard avenue, South Norfolk, Va., failed to make a curve on the George Washington highway at 800 ft. Mills with his automobile today, plunged into the Dismal Swamp canal and was drowned.

Meads was pulled from the canal within 10 minutes, but did not respond to resuscitation efforts.

WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR WEEK South Atlantic State: Rain Tuesday night or Wednesday; squalls toward end of week; moderate temperatures except colder Thursday.

Shanghai, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Two American mission houses in Shanghai were attacked this afternoon by a fleet of airplane bombers overhead, battering for the first time today the flattened settlement of Chapei.

These bluejackets forcibly entered the Presbyterian mission and dress on May 17th Saechuen road, well within the area occupied by the Japanese. They forced their way into the building in spite of an official order of the American consul which called up on the entrance of the property.

The American Southern Methodist Episcopal mission in Hongkew, which last week was ransacked by the Japanese bluejackets and it was subjected to a shelling from the light artillery guns in Chapei during afternoon and mission officials who were in the building attempting to appraise last week's damage were forced to retire under the shelling.

It is not known whether the shells came from Japanese or Chinese airplanes began their second raid in mid-afternoon. Before noon the quiet which had reigned since yesterday's hectic day of artillery and machine gun fire and air bombing, interrupted when fourteen Japanese bombers zoomed over the international settlement and Chapei and so the battle all over again.

The Presbyterian mission which was forcibly entered today is owned by the Presbyterian mission headquarters in New York. It has been heavily engaged in the printing and publishing business here for 60 years. Let us know why the bluejackets we have picked it today unless they were necessary.

Unable to Find Roosevelt Critic In Greenville Criticism of Governor Roosevelt's pronouncement of "initiate" and "associate" is causing no little controversy in New York City, and newspapers desiring to know something more about the identity of the critic kept the wires hot between New York and Greenville yesterday and last night.

A young woman signing herself as Mabel Whitmyer, of Greenville, newspaper correspondent, wrote Governor Roosevelt a letter protesting against the infection which he place upon the two words in recent radio addresses.

The story was carried on the leased wire of the Associated Press yesterday afternoon, but was not handled here because nobody knew of a newspaper worker by that name, and thought the name of the town had been confused with the Greenville, S. C.

However, last night a correspondent of the New York Times called The Daily Reflector over long distance telephone, requesting an interview with the governor's critic.

The correspondent held the telephone several minutes while the Reflector more fully investigated the identity of the writer, but if she resides in "this" Greenville she would not be located "high nor low."

It is presumed the writer sign a fictitious name to the letter, and consequently, it has been impossible to locate her.

ABOUT TOWN

The Interracial conference held at the court house yesterday dealt with a problem vitally affecting the people of this section of the state.

Men prominent in the business and professional life of the state discussed the situation and much valuable information was compiled for future use.

The discussions centered largely about the tenant farmers, both white and colored, and tended to bring about facts which would work for their future betterment.

The conference was conducted under auspices of the State Interracial commission, an organization that is doing much good towards bringing about a better understanding between the two races.

Co-operation must be the watchword of every race in all walks of life if the world is to recover from the economic depression of the last two years, and it behooves the colored people to do their best to pull together with the whites if they desire to go forward in the future as in the past.

The Democratic Victory Fund got under way in Pitt county yesterday and the people of all townships will be given an opportunity to contribute to this cause.

The campaign committees were named by W. E. Hooks, county chairman, at a meeting here yesterday. This was the opening gun of the drive to raise funds with which to settle debts of the national committee and prove sufficient funds for the coming campaign.

The success of the next election depends upon the way party members rally to the call for aid and Mr. Hooks expressed his hope that driving would be liberal.

Suppose one thousand men should give a dollar each. That would mean one thousand simon-pure, which if added to the regular contribution, would enable the county to go over the top in real form. Some of the wealthy party members no doubt will give several times that amount, realizing as they do that money is going to prove absolutely necessary if the campaign is properly prosecuted in every part of the country.

Members of the Board of Aldermen did the right thing when they placed a license tax of $25 on charity dances. It will enable them to really do something for the poor whereas little has been accomplished through such mediums in the past.

Applications to hold charity dances have been a source of much trouble to the aldermen ever since promoters found out that poor people needed help. They have been granted permission repeatedly to conduct dances, and according to the aldermen, if any funds have been turned over to charity nobody has heard about it.

By the license tax plan the aldermen will be assured of at least $25 for the poor and if dances are as frequent in the future as in the past, then his poor ought to receive quite a boost.

Chinese generals have been reported as desiring a showdown with the Japanese, and judging by the way the Japs are fighting around Shanghai, the Chinese are going to get their wanted.

Boy Crazy

By GRACE PERKINS AUTHOR OF "PERSONAL MAID"

SYNOPSIS: A runaway marriage—at seventeen—is the crest of Hope Ross' whirlwind social seasons. She has been the envied young leader of the Westchester boys and girls; now she is married to Dickey Dale, who is still in Dartmouth. Neither of the Rosses approve of Dickey. Hope and Dickey try to solve the problem of how to break the news to Hoe's family. Her father feels that Dickey is socially inferior, and objects to Dickey's father, a theatrical manager. All of Hope's life Mr. Ross has spoiled her; now he expects that she will obey him and break with Dickey.

Chapter 12

CRACKERS AND A KITTEN Dickey's face went blank. Then he rose manfully to the practicalities of life.

"All right," he agreed slowly. "If you think you ought, if you really must. Only promise me, Hope—she can't talk you into coming home. We're married now."

Her blue eyes studied him and weighed his words. "It says to leave your mother and father and all kin," he explained magnificently. "Leave all—and follow your husband."

"Way, Hope!" She shivered slightly at his exploded reproof, and drew her velvet wrap, with its white fur collar tighter about her.

"Who ever heard of going home right after being married?" insisted Dickey in an injured tone. "You leave home right after you're married. Everyone knows that."

"Well, where are we going?" inquired Hope, timidly. "To a hotel of course. We'll call your father from here. I don't mind telling him we're married. That's all right by me. I want to do the right thing—though I don't intend to call old Hickey until the morning. Morning's time enough. But your father and mother don't approve of me. And I don't want any interference. Understand? You've chosen me now, baby, and you're going to stick by me, aren't you?"

She gazed at him, her heart swelling with tenderness. "Forever and ever," she said simply. "And who ever would have imagined Hope so tractable? Was it possible that Hope had met the man who could manage her?"

Dickey, after a rewarding kiss for this latest statement, was busy fishing in his pocket. From one after another he hauled out cash. Dollars and cents.

"Fourteen dollars and sixty-nine cents," he announced after poking over the silver with a probing finger. "Well, I guess we can get by for tonight. After tonight things will be okay, baby. Hickey will do the right thing. First off, tomorrow morning I'm going to get you the swellest ring you ever saw. That old signet ring of mine is just a makeshift, you know."

Hope felt the bulging old signet ring with her small cold fingers. "I like it," she decided with a queer little smile. "I love that old signet ring. It's my wedding ring."

"Shucks," grinned Dickey. "Suppose I'm going to let you wear something your crowd will laugh at? Say I didn't have enough to buy you a decent ring? I haven't got enough. But I'll get it. I can pay old Hickey back. I won't go to college any more. I guess I'll get a job right in Hickey's office. Or maybe I'll write plays."

"Oh, please write a play," Hope pleaded gleefully. "They make lots of money, Dickey."

Dickey started the car with a sudden jer. "Where are we going?" she called to him against the wind.

"To the hotel here," he answered, drawing her closer and cruising quietly up the streets of the town.

But first they found a tiny dry-goods store open, and purchased some necessities, with their thoughts on the fourteen dollars that had to go so far. Fourteen dollars, for a honeymoon, gilded Hope. Wasn't it romantic? Fourteen dollars, reddened Dickey, but of course, that was only until morning. They could get by.

They made a few more purchases. A pack of cigarettes and two boxes of crackers. A bottle of milk and several chocolate bars. Because after all, it was nearly three in the morning, and many hours since they had eaten. On their money it would be impossible for them to order a snack in the hotel, so it terms has been received. The election of Lawrence Stroud as head of the Merchants Association will be received with interest by the business men of the community. Mr. Stroud has taken an active part in the business life of the city for many years, and has always thrown his support on the side of progress. He believes in the possibilities of the great agricultural community, and is optimistic concerning the improvement of general business conditions.

The association has taken the place of a chamber of commerce as well as a source of development for merchants, and business men, and stands ready to render distinctive service in the years to come.

The membership campaign to be launched in the near future no doubt will bring good results, and scores of men representing all branches of business and industry will throw their support to the cause which it serves.

the tariff, foreign debts, unemployment relief, waterpower, utility regulation—all of these the governor has made his position clear within recent months. The gist of Gov. Roosevelt's letter on prohibition was that nothing could be accomplished so long as the 18th amendment was in force, that the fundamentals of a new amendment must be the restoration of real control to the states; that the sale of intoxicants "to state agencies" should be made lawful wherever the people desire it; and that the home rule idea should be carried out so that local communities could decide against liquor even though the rest of the state permitted it.

urable anticipation. C. B. Rowlett was in charge of the singing and Mrs. Ray Tyson accompanied at the piano. Duets numbers were rendered by Mrs. Dink James and Miss Agnes Fullilove, who were liberally applauded.

It became the part of Rabbi Deal to provide the humor of speech-making and this he did in comments on events of world-wide interest. He talked about everything from Bear Grass to China and Japan and his witticisms produced much merriment.

Mrs. E. D. Hillman provoked much merriment in the presentation of rules "On How to Get a Husband." She based part of her observations upon actual experiment, and her husband, who is a Methodist preacher, really had forgotten the complexities of courtship until reminded of it.

Mrs. Dink James, Miss Agnes Fullilove, Mrs. J. J. Summerell, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hillman, C. B. Rowlett and Dr. R. S. McGeehey were commissioned to sing an improvisation of "Good Bye, My Lover, Good-Bye," and this proved to be distinctively interesting in view of the fact that reference to several club members was made.

A bingo contest, was staged with Dr. S. M. Crisp and Dave Moore calling the numbers. Regular cards were provided for the guests and gifts were presented to each contestant. Those receiving gifts were: Mrs. Frank Harrington, Mrs. Berry Bostic, Miss Katherine Utley, Mrs. George Woodward, Mrs. W. I. Wooten, Mrs. B. W. Mrs. J. C. Galloway was presented a lovely potted plant because her birthday was near February 15 than any other woman present.

Attractive place cards carrying out the Valentine idea were at each plate, and the tables were decorated with burning tapers, and cut flowers given by Moore and Randolph. Favours in the form of hats were distributed among the ladies.

AMERICAN CITIZENS EVACUATE NANKING (Continued from Page One) Shanghai, also on the advice of United States authorities. The city has been quiet since it was shelled earlier in the week by Japanese warships, but the officials believed it best for all women and children and men not engaged in vital occupations to leave while vital transportation facilities were still functioning.

BUDGET DRIVE NEARS CLOSE (Continued from Page One) take charge in Greenville. They are experienced in Army work. They are good singers and have good personalities and will be able to carry on a successful work in our city. The welcome meeting of Ensign and Mrs. Joseph Willett was well attended last night and much interest manifested. Six hands were raised for prayer and three converts came to the altar at the close of the meeting.

Mr. Clifton expects to have three or four teams of Rotarians, Kiwanians and American Legion men to finish all business sections Monday and Tuesday.

GENEVA HEARS PEACE PLEAS (Continued from Page One) As far as the United States goes—any action by it must be ratified in the Senate—Borah usually speaks with the voice of authority. And little chance was conceded for an argument set-up under the League of Nations while the United States maintains army and navy intact.

Geneva, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The voice of the world at large echoed this morning in the ears of the delegates of 59 nations of the world at the disarmament conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen of 56 countries, demanded through their representatives peace and disarmament. It was the first time since the abortive conference of Nicholas II that the man in the street and his wife were given official heed.

Delegates from organizations representing hundreds of millions of men and women marched into the conference hall with green bands on their arms across which the white word "Peace" was written.

They carried 5,000 petitions bearing the names of more than 6,000,000 people of nearly 60 countries, 600,000 of which signatures came from the United States.

Most of these unofficial delegates were women. Long before the day's plenary session of the conference was called to order the street in front of the meeting hall was crowded with them. The petitions they bore were circulated by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. The representatives of the various nations each wore a white band, draped from the belt across the shoulder, on which the name of the country was printed.

Some of them carried huge bundles and others beautifully bound books, in which the signed petitions were fastened together.

Four of the women were admitted to the platform while the rest occupied seats in the visitors' gallery. The president of the conference, "Uncle Arthur" Henderson, former foreign secretary of Great Britain, opened the meeting, welcoming cordially the representatives of the organizations and telling them the conference was glad to give them a hearing.

Mr. Henderson told the conference the delegations were divided into five great groups—organizations of women, churches, the League of Nations Society, labor and students.

STATE BEGINS MURDER PROBE (Continued from Page One) back when it started down hill, and passed one of the other men with a gun.

Comparisons of bullets indicated the sheriff and Wimmer were both shot with the sheriff's gun, and two pistols found in Wimmer's truck had not been fired. The sheriff's gun when found had been hidden behind Brinkley's house, Brinkley and Younce both denied putting it there. Officers last night compared Brinkley's shoes with footprints in his yard, but did not announce the result.

Younce said he did not go near the body of his friend after the shooting, but heard an ambulance coming so went on to his hotel room.

WARNS SOLONS of HARD WORK (Continued from Page One) sudden death of Representatives Quinn of Mississippi and Rutherford of Georgia, and the recent collapse of Chairman Collier of the House ways and means committee.

All three broke under the strain of committee work. Collier, however, is recovering.

It developed also that, although carefully guarded from the public, about half of the members of Congress had to call for medical attention during the past two months. Calver said an outbreak of a mild influenza had accentuated previously unnoticed weaknesses in the members' system, plus the heavy nervous strain of this session, has been responsible.

Demands upon congressmen this session have exceeded anything in the memory of the old members here. Not so much the floor sessions as an intensive schedule of committee work and the unparalleled demands from the home districts have caused this.

START FIGHT ON HOARDING (Continued from Page One) together for eleven weeks in preparation for an intensive drive against unemployment, designed to put one million me back to work.

The cabinet room was crowded to the doors by a throng apparently greater than had been expected. Finally all were in, however, and a majority seated upon narrow gilt chairs placed in close packed rows across the room.

The man who will head this organization, however, was absent. He is Colonel Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, named to his new position yesterday by the President. He is not expected in the capital before Monday.

TO WITHDRAW FORCES AS SOON AS POSSIBLE (Continued from Page One) was stated on good authority here today.

The statement, which was originally intended to be issued today but which was delayed or some reason, possibly because of the chance of a reduction of the number of troops to be sent will attempt, it was understood, to remove misgivings of the powers and to explain the reasons which led to the sending of the reinforcements.

It is being issued as a result of action of the British and American governments, which were understood to have conveyed "expressions of disappointment" to Japan on learning of her intention.

The statement will set forth these five points, it was said. 1. Japanese bluejackets in Shanghai are opposing a Chinese force ten times their strength.

2. The object motivating Japan is the same which has prompted other powers to increase their forces at Shanghai.

3. Activities of additional Japanese troops being sent to Shanghai will be confined to protecting the interests and safety of 30,000 Japanese residents, and to carry out Japan's share in the defense of the international settlement.

4. The new Japanese troops will not attack the Chinese unless the Chinese interfere with the performance of those specific duties.

5. Shanghai presents an entirely separate issue from Manchuria.

SEEK MORE CANDIDATES (Continued from Page One) informed leaders to open the way for use of his name as a candidate in certain pivotal states.

This will be followed by a nationwide effort to bring more favorite sons into the picture; to strengthen sentiment for uninstructed delegations in states having no real favorite; and to widening the influence of various candidates already in the field against Roosevelt.

Speaker John N. Garner is one of those whose supporters are expected to begin serious efforts to enlist delegate strength. He already has been promised Texas and some outside support, and although he only has laughed at these proposals, he now will be urged to let his name go into the primaries in many places.

Former Governor Harry Byrd, Virginia's favorite son, will be asked to file in certain states where his possible candidacy is not now a factor. Headquarters for him have just been opened at Richmond.

With all this will go a reinforcement of the Roosevelt drive for delegates. Conducted up to now without any publicity—recognized national headquarters.

The long-expected stop-Roosevelt campaign is, in short, at hand. In the early months of the party's 1932 preparations, the New York governor has had things largely his own way. No other candidate is running, in a national sense.

His friends have collected a very imposing list of pledges from party leaders in many states. His manager, James A. Farley, predicts his nomination on the first ballot.

It is to stop just this that other elements of the party now are moving. They will use the argument that the party will be in a much better position to decide in June than it is in March, April and May when most of the delegates are to be chosen.

ONE BUILDING RANSACKED WHILE ANOTHER IS FIRED ON BY ARTILLERY FORCES (Continued from Page One) seeking anti-Japanese literature, quantities of which have flooded the district. The owners protested to the United States consulate.

When the Methodist mission was ransacked last week the Japanese terrorized the Chinese servants. Officials said that there was no evidence of servants within the property today. Two American said when they were entering the property a few days ago they saw a Japanese marine repeatedly bayoneting a helpless Chinese man, plunging the bayonet into him until all movement in his body ceased.

Americans expressed the belief today that the bluejackets had taken away all the servants, whose fate may have been the same as that of the man they saw.

The U. S. destroyer Whipple was badly damaged in a collision in the lower Whangpoo river, two miles from Shanghai, during the day. The destroyer collided with the British steamer Rosalie Moller, a hole was torn in its bow, above the waterline. The British vessel also was damaged in the bow. Both ships were laid up for repairs. The Rosalie Moller was outward bound from Shanghai and the destroyer was circling when the crash occurred.

The force of 1,200 U. S. troops which arrived yesterday from Manila on the transport Chaumont was landed today. It was the first time in American history that regular army troops were landed at Shanghai although marines have been there almost continually. Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today, unchanged to two points higher on trade buying and covering. May sold at 6.88.

The South was a moderate seller and there was some weekend realising. The market however held fairly steady at the end of the first half hour with prices about net unchanged to 1 point higher.

There was a report in spot cotton circles that Japanese interests were moderate buyers of spot cotton in the South. This doubtless had an effect on sentiment but one of the chief influences appeared to be the continued trade buying of near months.

Liverpool cables reported liquidation and hedge selling with a poor offtake in that market and there was a fair cloth inquiry from India, but that many offers were unworkable.

The strike of mill operatives in the Burnley district of Lancashire was said to affect 10,000 operatives and 50,000 looms beginning at noon today.

The amount of cotton on shipboard at U. S. ports awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 215,000 bales against 71,000 last year.

Futures closed very steady, 7 to 8 points higher. Spot steady, middling 6.75.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Forecasts of a new cold wave helped lift wheat values in the late dealings today.

Week-end purchases for traders who were short of wheat to fill future delivery contracts was an additional strengthening factor. Upturns were in the face of inactivity of North American wheat export demand.

Wheat closed firm at the same as yesterday's finish to 3-8 higher, corn 1-4 off to 1-4 up, oats unchanged and provisions varying from 6 cents decline to a rise of 7 cents.

cleared from the party but those present were delightfully entertained. With exams over and a victory over Kinston just tucked away in the bag, everything seemed to be in high spirits.

During the evening a vocal trio was given by Helen Sawyer, Harold Sugg and George Willard. Music was furnished by a local orchestra.

DOUGLAS BUTNER—11 High School Ling. After knocking over some Physics apparatus and barely catching some, Bancroft said: "It certainly is lucky I was here to catch this stuff."

There was a slight commotion in the exam-hall last Thursday. We hope this was not caused by students falling down on their exams. Tom thinks he's "Frankenstein," the second (sh-h-h) don't let him know he's just another "monster."

We understand that all the H. S. boys are going to be divided into three sections—tenor, bass and "falsetto"—according to the part which they sing (of course those now singing soprano must change to another part). If the balcony is to contain the "falsettos," we imagine that it will be full.

Harold's idea of the origin of the depression: "Once there were three generals—a Frenchman, a Chinaman, and a Prussian. While having an argument about how many bricks to put in the great Chinese wall, the French general killed the Chinese general, and then jumped into the Red Sea. Of course all that was left was de-Prussian."

—By "HECK." Things We'd Like to Know. When are the girls gonna find out this is leap year?

Will Dan Wright ever be a movie hero? Why is Joe Gaston acting so queerly lately? Just why is that shy look in Ray Moore's eyes?

Why don't we have more school activities? For whom is Marjorie Savage looking beautiful? Did anyone miss me last week? When will the wrecking crew be called out again?

What is M. O. Blount's power over girls? How is the Junior-Senior banquet fund progressing? Where did John D. Warren get his English accent? Will Harold Sugg ever be president of the U. S.?

—By "MAC." P. S.—Is it really true that L. C. Powell has installed a stop light system on that Lonesome (?) road behind his house to protect his cows? Miss Smith Entertains. Monday afternoon, Feb. 1, Miss Evelyn Smith, girls' athletic adviser, entertained the girls' basketball squad at a theatre party.

The party was given at the State Theatre and the feature was "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." RUTH HORNE—11
