Russia Proposes Total Disarmament as Only Security Against War

M. LITVINOFF GIVES FACTS

Commissar of Soviet Affairs Predicts Another World War More Terrible Than the Last if Disarmament is Not Achieved; Says His Government Ready to Accept Any Plan Looking to Reduction of Armaments

By P. I. LIPSEY, Jr. Geneva, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Maxim Litvinoff, commissar for foreign affairs for Soviet Russia, proposed total and universal disarmament to the world disarmament conference today as the only valid security against war.

M. Litvinoff, chief of the Russian delegation to the conference, forecast the approach of another world war, which, he predicted, would be more terrible than the last unless disarmament is achieved.

His plan for disarmament of the world, he admitted frankly to the delegates, would probably have slight chance of acceptance by the great powers and, as an alternative, he offered a second project for progressive and proportional disarmament.

Then, to the surprise of many of the delegates, he assured the conference his government was ready to consider any proposal likely to achieve arms reduction.

In international quarters the Soviet delegation was credited with being marked by moderation and as likely to increase the possibility of success for the conference.

He rejected the French proposal for an international armed police force under the supervision of the League of Nations after a long analysis of the proposal. It would be unworkable, he said.

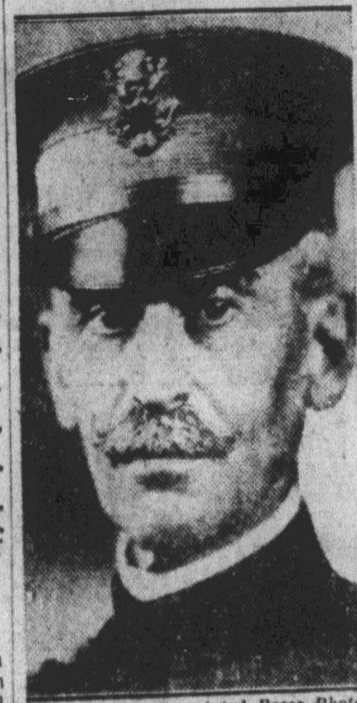

His plan for proportional disarmament included an adjustment of the percentages of arms reduction to as to give equal security to weaker and more exposed countries.

"The sole aim of the Soviet government," Litvinoff said, "is building up socialism in the Soviet union. In the face of the successful accomplishment of our first five-year plan, which includes colossal achievements in every sphere of economic life, it seems to the Soviet delegation that what has been obvious from the beginning must now be clear as daylight to all and sundry—that the Soviet requires neither increase of territory nor interference in the affairs of other nations to achieve its aim. It could, therefore, do without any army, a navy or military aviation or all other forms of armed forces.

More Argument In Davis Case

Raleigh, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Oral arguments on the appeal of Wallace B. Davis, former president of the defunct Central Bank and Trust Company, of Asheville, from conviction on a charge of publishing a false report, continued before the State Supreme court today. R. R. Williams, of Asheville, chief counsel for Davis in the series of criminal trials in which he was involved following the failure of his $18,000,000 institution in 1930, opposing before the court, appeared. A. N. Seawell, assistant attorney general, who presented the state's side of the case.

MELLON GETS OVER HURDLE

Ogden Mills Also Clears Last Congressional Barriers for Treasury Job

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Ogden L. Mills and Andrew W. Mellon were clear today of the last congressional hurdles in the path to their new activities.

Mills was secure in his confirmation by the Senate as secretary of the Treasury, although he could not receive his commission of office until three days have elapsed. His predecessor at the Treasury could go serenely on his way to the embassy in London, with impeachment charges filed against him completely squashed.

The objection of Senator Norris of Nebraska, prevented waiting the three-day wait in favor of Mills. During that time the Senate may reconsider, so long as notification of its action has not gone to the President. But reconsideration is certain not to happen in Mills' case as the only opposition to him was recorded by Senator Long of Louisiana, and he was absent.

When the Senate approved the Mills nomination yesterday it also confirmed that of Arthur A. Ballantine, now assistant secretary, to be undersecretary of the Treasury in Mills' place. He too will have to wait three days.

N. Y. Senate Moves To Probe Administration

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 11.—(AP)—The Republican Senate of New York state has passed a resolution to investigate the Democratic state administration headed by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, presidential candidate. In a surprise move last night the majority party brushed aside Democratic opposition and put through the resolution for a thorough going inquiry into every department or subdivision of the state government. Not a single branch or agency of the complex governmental system would escape scrutiny. Introduced over the name of Charles J. Hewitt, chairman of the finance committee, the resolution was patterned after that by which the legislature last year launched its investigation into the Democratic administration of New York City.

RELIEF HEAD FILES CHARGE WITH CONSUL

Says 51 Men, Women and Children Killed By Bombs Dropped From Planes

Shanghai, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Chong-chang, Japanese aerial bombers killed 51 Chinese flood refugees, men, women and children, in a refugee camp in Chapei last week were filed today with Japanese consul general Mural by Sir John Hope-Simpson, director of the National Flood Relief Commission. The bombardments, Sir John said, occurred February 5 and 6. The first raid, he said, resulted in the killing of a woman and a boy and the wounding of four other Chinese, one of whom died later. MANY ARRESTS IN COAL FIELD

Eleven Writers Freed Upon Being Escorted to the Kentucky Border

Pineville, Ky., Feb. 11.—(AP)—The busiest day for Bell county officers since coal field troubles began saw the arrest of 36 persons and the release of 12 of them, including eleven writers, upon their consent to being escorted to the state border.

Alan Taub, New York attorney, and eleven writers who brought funds to the state line early today after an exciting hour during which they were arrested in their hotel rooms, were escorted to court by police officers. The charges dismissed, packed their bags and motored out of Pineville accompanied by officers.

Behind them the writers left two of their group in jail. They were Harold Hickerson and Doris Parks, who were arrested on open charges when they addressed a mass meeting of striking miners, despite the warnings of County Attorney Walter Smith.

Others arrested during the day and night were nineteen men charged with disorderly conduct after a (Continued on Page Two)

Albemarle, Feb. 11.—(AP)—After debate on a motion to abolish the office of full time president, the North Carolina Synod of the Lutheran church, in annual session here, voted to retain the present system and re-elected Dr. J. L. Morgan, of Salisbury, to the post. He was elected for a five-year term, having served 12 years already.

RELIEF FUND TO AID BANKS

Forthcoming Legislation Expected to Help Tottering Banks of Nation

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The expectation that bank failures would be stopped by the forthcoming legislation to broaden the base on which paper can be rediscounted was expressed today in high treasury quarters.

It was pointed out that if the Federal Reserve Banks were able to advance funds on the intrinsic value of securities held in the portfolio banks, this would aid banks finding their cash exhausted through unnecessary runs to raise additional money and prevent them having to suspend.

It was said that while the kind of paper which would be eligible for rediscount under the proposed temporary law had not been determined, it would operate much as personal loans and would be based upon the actual value of the bank's security.

Many banks have been forced to (Continued on Page Two)

TRANSIENTS' HOME READY

Salvation Army Completes Work on Sheltering Place for the Homeless.

The work of cleaning the house and putting it in shape to shelter city has been completed. Chief of Police G. A. Clark inspected the house yesterday and was much pleased with the convenience which it will afford for taking care of all transients coming into the city.

Mr. J. T. Clifton, general chairman, has also inspected the house and considers it ideal. The Corps Commander, Ensign and Mrs. Joseph Willett, moved in yesterday. Everything is being put in readiness, so that on Monday, February 15, the house will be open so that any business men, ministers, and civic bodies can send all transients to the Army.

The American Legion team turned in $67.00 yesterday, making their total now $379.00. The Rotarians will have to look to their laurels or the Legion will pass them yet.

Mr. J. T. Clifton and Brigadier Casler are working hard to close the campaign today and request everyone who has pledge cards out to turn them in. The campaign headquarters will be open until 9 o'clock tonight so that everybody can report the amount they have raised. If any friends have made up their minds what they would like to give to help make up the Budget they may also call in and (Continued on Page Two)

Chinese Boats "Dress Up" for Jap Natal Day

Shanghai, Feb. 11.—(AP)—This tricky informal "war" between China and Japan produced another odd incident today when Chinese government customs boats in the Whangpoo river broke out all their bunting and dressed ship in honor of Japan's "Empire Day." All the other foreign warcraft also were dressed, for in the the book of naval etiquette failure to recognize another nation's holiday is justifiable only if the celebrating country is not recognized or if there is a state of war.

MUSSOLINI VISITS POPE

Meeting Seals Peace of Church and State Begun by Lateran Treaty

By JOHN EVANS (Copyright, 1932, Associated Press) Vatican City, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini, II Duce of Italian Fascism and Pope Pius XI, holy father to the Catholic world, met today in the pope's library and were closeted alone for a full hour, sealing the peace of the church and state which was begun by the Lateran treaty three years ago.

The premier's first visit to the pope, looked for for several months since the settlement of the controversy over the Catholic Action Society, was expected to last only a few moments, lasted an hour, to the surprise of the waiting attendants both of himself and the pontiff.

Judging by the premier's smile as he emerged, the meeting was most pleasant. It was not learned whether or not they discussed state relations, but from all signs it was a thoroughly friendly talk. After the private conversation ended II Duce presented the members of his party to the pontiff and they reverently bent and kissed (Continued on page two)

DOLLAR DAY DRAWS CROWD

Big Demand Made for Bargains as City Observes Semi-Annual Trade Day.

Today was "Dollar Day" in Greenville and crowds jammed the stores throughout the morning hours seeking the bargains which the nine participating merchants had to offer.

Demand for "Dollar Day" values exceeded all expectations, merchants declared, and indications were that bargains would be completely exhausted when the stores close for business late today.

A steady stream of people thronged the principal business district during the morning hours and this was expected to be augmented during the afternoon when shoppers make a last minute effort to obtain some of the stupendous values which the merchants had placed upon their counters.

Seasonable goods, direct from the great fashion centers of the nation, were on display in the various stores, and the shoppers had a variety of goods to choose from. All other materials not included in the "Dollar Day" values were marked (Continued on Page Four)

Black Arrested As Suspect in Brutal Slaying of Little Dorothy Lutz

Philadelphia, Feb. 11.—(AP)—A negro, with a button off his overcoat and a mole on the side of his face—two important clues—was arrested today for questioning in connection with the kidnapping and brutal slaying of seven-year-old Dorothy Lutz, only child of a widowed mother.

The suspect said he is Gilbert Eddy, 40. No specific charge has been placed against him, but detectives said the more they question him the more they believed he is the man wanted for the fieldish crime.

Dorothy disappeared last Wednesday while roller skating. She was last seen alive by a neighbor (Continued on Page Four)

American Soldiers Move Up to First Line Defense in International Settlement; Sporadic Outbursts Reported at Chapei and Woonung; Bombers Start Fresh Fires Near International Settlement

Shanghai, China, Friday, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Five-hundred-pound aerial bombs will smash into Woonung when hostilities on that point resumed, perhaps today, certainly it will be the first time such huge missiles of destruction have been used in this area, but the bombs will not be dropped on Chapei because of nearness of the international settlement. The explosion of such a bomb is terrific. On Thursday the hostilities along the whole twenty-mile front from Chapei to Woonung were suspended because of the celebration of Japan's "Empire Day." Even the Chinese government customs boats in the Whangpoo dressed ship as an international courtesy, and only the occasional spatter of machine gun fire interrupted the quiet.

Behind the lines, however, operations were going on which pointed unmistakably to preparation by both sides for a major engagement. It appeared that the Japanese were waiting for the arrival of heavy reinforcements on the way from Japan. The Japanese government has carefully withheld information regarding the date on which the transport left, and the number of men on the way, but Japanese sources here admitted early today they were hurrying to finish as quickly as possible their job of driving the Chinese out of Shanghai.

Shanghai, China, Feb. 11.—(AP)—A four hour truce from 8 A. M. to noon tomorrow to permit foreigners to take non-combatants out of Chapei was arranged by a French priest today as both the Chinese and Japanese continued to dig in for a major engagement along the Chapei-Woonung battle line. Dr. Harry North Dies Suddenly at Home in Raleigh

Raleigh, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The Rev. Harry M. North, D. D., presiding elder of the Raleigh district of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, died suddenly at 12:15 this afternoon at the district parsonage, 1230 Glenwood avenue here.

Dr. North was stricken with a heart attack and died before Dr. James W. McGee, who was summoned, could reach the house.

His death followed by less than a week of Dr. Michael Bradshaw, a former presiding elder of this district, who died Sunday in Durham.

Coming here from the Wilmington district, Dr. North had been presiding elder for two years. In recent years he had served parsonages at Durham, Rocky Mount and Winston-Salem. Unmarried, Dr. North's relatives include Mrs. W. B. North of Raleigh and Edwin M. Gill of Raleigh and Laurinburg, private secretary to Governor Gardner.

Funeral arrangements had not been announced this afternoon.

Gen. Summerall Quits as President of Citadel

Charleston, S. C., Feb. 11.—(AP)—General Charles P. Summerall's resignation as president of the Citadel, state military college, was received today by John P. Thomas, chairman of the board of visitors.

Thomas received the resignation by mail. He declined to make public its text at this time, but said General Summerall expressed regret that circumstances made it necessary for him to sever his connection with the institution.

General Summerall walked out of a state senate finance committee hearing at Columbia yesterday after telling the committee he considered a question asked him had a reflection upon his honesty of purpose. In leaving he said his resignation would be given the board of visitors within six hours.

While his resignation was still in the mail, General Summerall left early this morning for Jacksonville, Fla., to make an address. He declined to comment on the incident at Columbia yesterday. Thomas said he possibly would have some statement to make later in the day after conferences with other members of the board of visitors. General Summerall expressed appreciation, he said, of the cooperation and support given him by the board in the past. General Summerall's resignation set no date for it to become effective, leaving it presumably, upon acceptance by the board of visitors. The question as to which General Summerall took offense deals with a $19,000 deficit incurred at the Citadel. "By what authority," asked Senator W. C. Hamrick, of Charlotte, "do you increase the deficit? What is the good of the legislature fix (Continued on Page Two)

ABOUT TOWN

Pictures dealing with the game situation in this section of the state were shown here this week under auspices of the State Department of Conservation.

The pictures were of an informative nature and showed what is being done by the department for protecting game in the lower end of the state, considered among the most prolific hunting grounds in this part of the country.

The department of Conservation is doing commendable work in preserving fish and wild game and should receive the full support and co-operation of the sporting element.

Only through the most diligent attention to this matter can the state hope to preserve the supply of its streams and forests, and if it is given proper cooperation and assistance of those who indulge in this kind of sport there should be no distinct depletion of supplies as experienced in some of the other states, and in this state also until the replenishing process was adopted.

The North Carolina Reformed Church recently passed a resolution urging the people to "support all candidates who favor law enforcement."

Every organization in the country should adopt similar resolutions and keep them firmly in mind when they go to the polls.

Flagrant disregard of the law may be considered as one of the reasons for the widespread corruption prevailing in the large cities of the nation and the only way it can be stopped is to put men in office who will see that the law is fully enforced.

The country has too many apparently law-abiding citizens attempting to obstruct the law by resorting to what is termed "legal measures," and if some of this should be eliminated who doubts but that conditions will undergo a pronounced improvement in the future.

The resolution of the Reformed Church is nothing new, but it bears the stamp of sincerity of purpose, and should bring good results if vigorously prosecuted.

The United States apparently has given up hope of bringing about peace in the Orient until the two belligerent powers have settled the dispute in their own way.

Consequently, according to latest information from the capital, the only thing the government can do is to continue to send representations to Japan protesting the use of the international settlement as a means of protecting our nationals.

This conclusion might have been reached sometime ago had the government taken time to analyze Japan's attitude and her avowed intention to settle the controversy with arms.

China has been equally frank about the situation, although she has been more receptive to overtures for peace. However, since she has realized that Japan means to fight to the finish, China has gone to war with unexpected determination and succeeded in inflicting heavy casualties yesterday in spite of her antiquated fighting equipment.

Believing the world does not understand her position on the Manchurian situation, Japan is planning to send spokesmen to foreign countries to explain her cause. That move, however, is not necessary. What the other nations want is not explanations, but peace, and nothing can be accomplished until this has been definitely established.

could be put to public use without anybody suffering. It seems like the President has started at the wrong end of the line. By easing credit through the putting of huge sums in circulation he might induce the sock-puppeteers to bring their money from out of hiding, but as long as they see capital continue to stick greedily to what it has without making any move for relief, it is a safe bet the stockings will be hidden away more carefully than ever before.

There is not as much hoarding in the country as the President thinks—certainly not so much down in this part of the country where everybody has spent his last dime trying to keep his automobile going and meeting usual expenses at the same time. It has been hard sledding and fortunate indeed is the man that had enough left for hoarding purposes.

Today is "Dollar Day" in Greenville and hundreds of people from this great trade territory are taking advantage of the bargains that Greenville merchants are offering from their counters.

The stores were crowded during the morning hours and nine participating merchants were disposing of a considerable amount of goods bought exclusively to meet the demands of "Dollar Day" shoppers.

Greenville offers only the best of values on trade days of this kind and it is for that reason that uncounted shoppers visit the stores to buy liberally of the splendid values.

Sales days of this kind have contributed their bit toward making Greenville the principal shopping center of this part of the country, and merchants are determined to hold the recognition by continuing to offer only the best of values on "Dollar Day."

Greenville extends a cordial welcome to the visitors and invites them to come again and partake of the bountiful bargains to be offered from time to time during the year.

TRUCE PERMITS NON-COMBATANTS TO LEAVE

Father Jacquinet of Saint Francis Xavier's college, was credited with effecting the truce, the first cessation of hostilities in the zone. It was believed many citizens were still trapped there, survivors of the almost two weeks of constant bombardment.

The French priest lost an arm at Verdun and holds the medal militaire for heroism in that world war engagement.

Save for that one gesture of mercy, preparations in the international settlements and all along the twenty-mile Chapel-Woosung front were for renewed and bloodier hostilities.

Soldiers of the 31st Infantry moved up into the front line of settlement defenses today occupying one of the most strategic sectors along Woosung Creek. They relieved three companies of Shanghai volunteers, one of which was made up of American business men.

Meanwhile sporadic outbursts occurred today both at the Chapel and Woosung ends of the battle zone. Fresh fires were set near the international settlement by Japanese bombers and the invaders also loosed aerial projectiles on the Chinese airdrome at Hungjiao, five miles west of Shanghai.

The raiders dropped some fifty bombs, the Chinese said, contenting themselves with tearing up the ground around the hangars and shaking the countryside. Although many British and American residents lived near the hangars no casualties were reported. The Chinese evacuated airplanes from the hangars.

Earlier in the day almost a score of United States marines narrowly missed death from a Japanese aerial bomb in the international settlement. The projectile hit a Chinese-owned cotton mill on Sochow creek in which the marines were billeted, killing five Chinese women and children workers in the mill, none of the marines was injured.

Rear Admiral S. Shimada a member of the Japanese command at Shanghai visited United States marine headquarters immediately after the bombing and expressed his regret there as well as to Admiral Taylor of the United States Asiatic fleet.

Describing the bombing as a mistake the Japanese command announced that reparations would be made for the killing and wounding of the Chinese and for property damage.

Shimada said the incident occurred while Japanese planes were bombing a concentration of Chinese soldiers near the settlement boundary in Chapel, and that the airman did not know they had struck the settlement until they returned to the Japanese airport when they discovered they were "short" two bombs. An apparently faulty release mechanism was blamed.

where he was, and what he was doing. At eight o'clock that night, the key turned in her lock and her door was flung open. On the threshold stood her father. Silent. Never glancing at her. Past him came Dill, the cook, bearing a tray which she deposited on the end table beside Hope's pet armchair.

"Good evening, Miss Hope," mumbled Cook from sheer necessity to greet the forlorn figure standing at the window. Hope started. Her eyes had been on her father's unapproachable countenance. Now her little jaw grew square and her lips curled.

"I'm not Miss Hope," she said quite nastily. "Oh, very nastily indeed. 'I'm Mrs. Dale, Cook.' " "That will do, Dill," said Mr. Ross sharply.

"Yes, sir. Good night, Mrs. Dale!" Hope smiled with sour triumph as the cook clucked sedately through the doorway. But the smile faded as her father followed the servant swiftly, closed the door and turned the key once more in the lock.

"Dad!" she called, and flew to the door, beating it viciously with her small fists. "I won't have it! You can't treat me like that. I won't have it, you hear? I'm not a baby any longer. Listen to me!"

But it was Papa Ross was listening on the other side, no sound or murmur came through the door to quiet her anger.

"Treat me like a prisoner!" Hope cried. "I never heard of such insane, medieval, outlandish, downright cruel ideas in all my whole life!"

But a worse situation follows tomorrow, when an important scene is staged by Dickey, Mr. Ross and Hickey—with Hope absent.

Brigadier Casler wishes to take this opportunity to thank the various civic bodies, men and women, the citizens and every one who has aided in this campaign, for their extreme kindness and hearty co-operation.

He has seldom worked in a city where such splendid co-operation has been given and where the people have been more friendly than in Greenville. The citizens will have more cooperation from the Army than has ever been given before, and with the splendid program mapped out for the coming year the Army cannot help but prove a great asset to the city.

We will be about $900,000 short on our Budget unless the clubs, lodges, and business men come to the front and respond quickly and liberally to make up the amount needed. Now is your opportunity. Let everyone help make up the budget needed to carry out this program.

RELIEF FUND TO AID BANKS (Continued From Page One) suspend because eligible paper and cash had been depleted, while at the same time they held a large amount of valuable securities in their portfolios which would not be rediscounted.

It was said that the Federal Reserve Board would be able to determine in each case the value of the security and would rate any loan upon exactly what those securities were worth.

Among securities which it was suggested might be made eligible were mortgages on real estate, which have intrinsic value but frequently cannot be realized upon quickly.

Ogden Mills, new secretary of the treasury, today described the non-partisan move instituted yesterday to broaden the base of rediscount eligibility as "a movement to address the surge of credit deflation."

He contended the legislation to be introduced by Senator Glass, (D., Va.) to bring about this effect would not be "inflation" but merely a reversing of what he called a "tremendous credit deflation."

The new treasury head is optimistic over the results to be expected. He feels that in easing the strained on member banks of the Federal Reserve System, they, in turn, can deal more leniently with neighboring banks and that loan making the normal bank functioning will be restored.

CHARGES AIR BOMBERS WITH KILLING FLOOD REFUGEES (Continued from page one) The next day, he said, the planes again dropped bombs on the camp, killing 48 people, many of them women, and most of whom were patients in the camp hospital. The planes returned twice again on Feb. 7, he said, and bombed the camp both times, but the refugees had been evacuated on the night before.

It was upon the advice of Mayor J. M. Brooks that the writers left the county. The mayor told them their visits here "only stir up trouble and excite miners so that bloodshed may result." He advised them never to return, and his advice was supported by city and county and city officials present at the arraignment.

TALKS ABOUT SPEECH SINS

(Continued From Page One) Thus it is that two classes of persons go forth each day—one to gather up the honey of good reports about his neighbor, the other to collect the poison of scandal with which he may ruin another's good name. The Indians used to tell their boys that if the hunter dipped the point of his arrow in blood, it would surely hit the heart of his game. This was of course fanciful, but it is not fanciful to say that words dipped in the venom of the whisperer will strike and wound some innocent heart.

The sermon at the services last night was an answer to the question "Did Christ give to me power to pardon sins?" "This question," the speaker contended, "finds a complete and decisive answer in Christ's own words, 'Whose sinner sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them,' (John 20:23). Here the Lord is speaking to the same men to whom he gave the power to teach and to baptize. He is preparing those same men for a new commission in a very solemn fashion. It is on the first Easter Sunday immediately after He rose triumphantly from the dead having vanquished sin, and hell, and death, that Jesus appeared to His Apostles and twice saluted them with the consoling words: 'Peace be unto you.' He showed them His hands and His side that they might know that it was He. He sent them anew with the words, 'As the Father hath sent Me even so send I you.' Then Jesus breathed upon them, and anointed them with the Holy Ghost, saying: 'Receive ye the Holy Ghost. Whose sinner sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them.'

"We know that the apostles received the power to preach because Christ said unto them: 'Go teach all nations.' We are convinced that He gave the power to make new disciples when He said: 'Baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.' In like manner the same Lord gave to the same men power to pardon when He addressed them saying: 'Whose sinner sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them.'

"The power and commission to preach and baptize did not die with the apostles but continues and is exercised in the world today. In like manner, the power to forgive has been handed down from generation to generation, for it, like teaching and baptizing, has to do with the salvation of souls.

"The power to remit or retain sins is the need of confession. It is a judicial power. If the penitent is worthy, who shall deny him pardon? If he is not sorry for his sins, and does not intend to give them up he can not be forgiven. Sorrow for past sins together with a firm and sincere resolution to give up ones sins are indispensable conditions for the sacrament of penance. Can we not know whether the penitent is worthy unless the penitent reveals his faults and his state of soul. Hence the need of confession if the commission to pardon be wisely and reverently exercised.

"We have something like confession in the case of baptism. The adult who comes to any minister of the gospel seeking to be baptized must make a sort of confession or something similar to it. He must make manifest his belief in Christ, his sorrow for his sins, and his determination to obey the law of God. And yet in the commission to baptize there is no mention of the revelation of conscience. But how could the minister of baptism know that the subject is deserving unless the subject tell him? This is in a way similar to confession in the case of penance.

"Now it must be borne in mind that mere confession of sin does not secure pardon. To be forgiven, the sinner must be heartily sorry for his offences against God; he must be firmly resolved to avoid sin in the future. He must be prepared to make restitution in the case of injustice, and reparation if he has harmed any one; and he must do penance in satisfaction for his offence against God. On those conditions and those alone, can he be forgiven.

"Some objectors say, 'I will have nothing to do with the sacrament of penance as the Catholic does because I will not have any person or institution stand between me and God when I seek his favor.' In reply we ask: 'What favor or gift of God have you received which He did not bestow upon you through some person or institution which he has appointed to stand between you and Him for the purpose of conferring his gifts upon you? Through your parents He gave you physical senses and the Bible you learned His teaching. Through the minister of baptism and the sacrament you were made His disciple. Through the medium of food and air and drink He grants you health and strength of body. How little therefore have you reason to object to the institution of pardon which He gave to the apostles when He said to them 'Whose sinner sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them.'"

SPORTS ENTER FINAL STAGES AT LAKE PLACID

By EDWARD J. NEIL Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 11.—(AP)—There was tension in the air today and a hint of robbing, a premonition of disaster, as the winter Olympics entered the final stage, where the danger of death or grave injury on the jagged sides of Mount Van Hoevenberg transcended the nerve-wracking exhilaration of the Olympic brook sleigh championship.

The first half of the competition was ended, and in a measure the treacherous mile and a half sweep through ice banks and dizzying hairpin turns, zigzags and cross-overs, stood humiliated, its dangers scorned and spurred by riders who slashed its sides at dizzying speeds of 65 and 90 miles an hour to set records that 48 hours ago were considered not only an impossibility, but absolute insanity.

There has been a universal feeling among the steel-nerved international sportsmen who drive these 500 pound meters at such speeds down the ice chute on the mountainside that the luck of the riders which has been good since eight Germans crashed within two days in practice, sending six to the hospital, two in critical condition, would end before these races were over and that grim Mount Van Hoevenberg would take its toll again.

The feeling nearly faded yesterday as Hubert Stevens, a river-thewed and frosty-nerved giant as ever piloted a sled, whipped disdainfully through such paralyzing obstacles as, "white-face," "Cliffside," "Shady Corner" and "Zig-Zag," to literally fly down the mile and a half stretch then in one minute, 59.65 seconds, first in 1:57.68 to win the fifth Olympic championship he United States has ever captured in the 1932-games and set a two man bob sled record that should last for many years.

COLLEGIANS PREPARE FOR VIRGINIANS

The best game of basketball of the season will be played in the college campus building in Greenville, Friday night, February 12, when the highly touted William and Mary team will play the local Collegians.

The Indians have had a very successful season on their home court, but the teachers expect to put an end to their winning streak Coach Scott and his William and Mary team will arrive early tomorrow so they will be in good shape for the contest.

Coach Porter is confident that his proteges will be in the battle from start to finish and expects a victory over the visitors.

MUSSOLINI VISITS THE POPE

(Continued From Page One) ed the pope's ring, as he did when he entered, after which he said farewell and went to visit Cardinal Pacelli, Papal secretary of state. Later he went to St. Peter's and knelt in prayer.

The visit, which went down as a notable mark in recent Italian history, took place as the whole country was celebrating a new national holiday, the third anniversary of the signing of the Lateran treaty between Italy and the Vatican. This treaty, negotiated by envoys of the pope and the premier, ended the long "imprisonment" of the popes in the Vatican and restored relations between the state and Holy See.

The premier's official party left the Palazzo Venezia in Rome shortly after 10 a. m. and made its way to Vatican City through troop-lined streets on which were crowded thousands of Italian people, in holiday attire, cheering Il Duce as he was driven along on his historic mission. The party was escorted by carabinieri and accompanied by Ambassador De Vecchi of the Holy See. The route was covered with orange-colored sand, as is done for the cortege of King Victor Emmanuel.

A short time later the pontiff and the premier met face to face in the pope's private apartments, shook hands heartily and sealed their peace in friendly conversation.

22 DEATHS ARE CHARGED TO FOOTBALL

By MERLE OLIVER Associated Press Staff Writer Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 11.—(AP)—An investigation conducted by Fielding H. Yost, athletic director at the University of Michigan, has disclosed that of 43 deaths charged against football last fall only 22 actually resulted from the game.

Yost investigated each death and has submitted a report to E. K. Hall, chairman of the football rules committee, for its meeting at Hanover, N. H., which opens Friday.

Of the 21 reported deaths which Mr. Yost believes should not be charged to football, two were caused by pneumonia, one by infantile paralysis, one by kidney disease, one by appendicitis, one by typhoid fever, several by infections and one by heart disease. One boy was injured while wrestling, another was struck by a truck. One boy was found alive and well, and another who was reported dead was found never to have existed.

The 23 who died following actual participation in football games were classified as seven college players, seven from high schools, and eight "sand lot" or unorganized players. Causes of death were given as follows: Fracture of cervical vertebrae, eight; cerebral hemorrhage, four; encephalitis, four; coronary embolism, one; fracture of skull ruptured spleen, concussion of brain, one each. Two deaths were from unknown causes.

"It is proper," the report says, "that football should be cleared of the responsibility for the deaths improperly charged against it. At the same time, it is also fitting that football take stock of itself to see what risks may be eliminated and what safeguards may be raised to prevent death in the near future."

CATS LOSE TO TECHMEN

Charlotte, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Davidson, barely nosed out, 27 to 26, by the N. C. State quintet in Raleigh last night, continues its Big Five invasion tonight, tackling the Carolina Tar Heels at Chapel Hill, where a victory for the Wildcats would leave Duke in undisputed position of first place in the state race.

The Wildcats started off against State with a bang, held the Tech-men to four points only for 12 minutes, led 16 to 9 at the intermission, continued the drive well into the final period and then, with only seven minutes to go, slumped.

With a 26 to 18 lead, the Wildcats allowed State to come out of its daze, the Red Terrors crowded to within one point of the invaders, and then, in the final minute, Jimmy Brown snugged the ball as Davidson tried to freeze it, and tossed one backward over his head for the winning point.

The Wildkittens, accompanying their seniors, likewise tasted defeat. The State fresh winning 24 to 7. In the Little Seven contest last night Lenoir-Rhyne, on the home court, defeated Catawba, 25 to 18, and Appalachian, entertaining Atlantic Christian, won 47 to 29.

Last night's victory placed N. C. State just one game behind Duke and Carolina, tied for Big Five honors with four wins and one loss each.

In addition to the Davidson-Carolina fracas tonight, which will also involve the yearlings, Atlantic Christian plays Lenoir-Rhyne; Western Carolina Teachers journey to Georgia for a tilt with young Harris and Grifflord entertains the College of Charleston.

ENGAGE IN VERBAL

(Continued on Page Two) of bills sponsored by Senators Hawes (D. Mo.), and Cutting, (R. N. M.), and Representative Hare (D. S. C.) Senator Hawes, leaning forward toward the speaker, sought to stop him but Secretary Hurley refused, asserting, "I am making this speech You wait until I finish."

"Do you mean to say," asked Hawes, "that Senator Cutting and I are cowardly?" Hurley replied that the bill "has not in it one element of courage."

"It attempts to tear down all that has been built up in the Philippines over a period of years," he added.

"Then you don't withdraw the word cowardly?" Hawes inquired. "No, I don't," said Hurley. "I know that Senator Cutting will understand that I mean no personal offense and I hope you understand it also."

He then reiterated that the "purpose of the bill is for destroying" and that "it is based absolutely on fear."

COLLEGE AND CAMP BOOKLETS IN LIBRARY

In Sheppard Memorial Library there is a table filled with attractive college and camp booklets, annuals, calendars and publications, and above this is a shelf of catalogues and bulletins placed there by the American Association of University Women. The committee responsible for the collection is composed of Mrs. J. E. Winslow, Mrs. R. J. Slay, Miss Hunter of the college faculty, and Miss Powell of the Greenville high school faculty.

Girls and boys looking forward to going off to school or camp, parents trying to solve the problem of choosing schools for sons and daughters, men and women seeking help in finding extension courses, summer schools, and other ways of carrying on their education, and young men and women planning work and needing vocational guidance, can perhaps find help from this collection. The committee will become somewhat of an informational bureau, for if anyone wished to know more about some school or camp not represented, he can leave his request at the librarian's desk or get in touch with some member of the committee and the material will be ordered.

Anyone browsing around the library can find entertainment in looking over the attractive pictorial booklets and annuals, catching glimpses of campus views and activities of college and camp. This is only the beginning of a collection that will grow larger and better as the weeks go by.

LITERATURE DEPARTMENT OF WOMAN'S CLUB HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

The Literature Department of the Woman's Club held the outstanding meeting of the year at the club house Tuesday evening when Dr. Hugh T. Lefler of the N. C. State College spoke to the department and a large number of friends on the subject "George Washington." This year being the bicentennial of the birth of Washington, his life and works are being extensively studied by clubs and study groups and this department considers itself very fortunate to have had a man who has made such a wide study of his subject talk to them.

The audience was quickly brought into the spirit of Washington's time with a delightful musical program of melodies that were loved in his day. Among these were "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes," sung by Mrs. Knott Proctor; "Yankee Doodle" sung to the guitar accompaniment by Miss Agnes Fullilove and Mrs. Dink James, and "The President's March" played by Miss Jeanie Thomas.

Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, chairman of the department, very graciously introduced Dr. Lefler who spoke most interestingly about George Washington as a real man. He showed that he was neither the band man that some of our modern writers would have us believe him to be, nor the perfect hero that some of our earlier writers have pictured him. He was just a plain man who made mistakes but who had the sound judgment to recognize those mistakes and not to make them a second time. He was not a military genius and he knew it, consequently it was with a great deal of reluctance that he accepted the command of the colonial forces doing it only when it was put up to him as a matter of duty. At the conclusion of the war his great desire was to return to Mt. Vernon and live a simple life as a gentleman-farmer but again his countrymen would not let him rest, calling him into public life again as the first President of the United States. It was not the life of a great public official that he loved but the simple life that he lived at Mt. Vernon. He was happiest when he was out of doors experimenting with some new kind of farm implement Scouts Commemorate Birthday. In cooperation with the associated Scouts all over the United States, troops 38 and 33 of Greenville are celebrating the 22nd anniversary of the scouting movement in America.

During this anniversary week, Scouts will alternately wear their uniforms and special troop meetings are to be held.

In the window of Taft Furniture Company is an exhibit presenting to the public many phases of scouting. This exhibit has been prepared by the two troops of Greenville under the direction of the Taft brothers "Bill" and "Joe," as they are known to the Scouts of troops 33 and 30 respectively. Those two men are largely responsible for the success of the Greenville movement, Mr. J. M. Taft being one of the pioneers and Mr. William Taft taking over the reins of troop 33 a year ago.

Scouting was introduced into the United States by Mr. William D. Boyce of Chicago, who got the idea from an unknown scout in England. One foggy night in London when he had lost his way, he was confronted by a boy who assisted him in finding his hotel and room.

When refusing the proffered tip the boy stated that he was a Boy Scout and was only performing the duty assigned him that night.

Mr. Boyce returned to the United States and started the movement which has grown into the largest, organized movement for boys in America.

Set for Charlotte Independence Meet

Charlotte, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Three hundred leaders of agriculture, industry and commerce in North Carolina and South Carolina have been invited to attend a "declaration of independence" dinner here February 22—George Washington's birthday.

Sponsored by a group of men interested in reviving public confidence and improving business, the object was said to be a "1932 declaration of independence from fear, selfishness and jealousy."

Governor Gardner of North Carolina and Governor Blackwood of South Carolina, head the list of speakers, which includes B. B. Cesset, president of the American Cotton Manufacturers Association; R. M. Hanes, of Winston-Salem, president of the North Carolina Bankers Association; W. E. Lee, vice president of the Duke Power Company; T. M. Marchant, Greenville, S. C. textile leader; and Dr. E. W. Sykes, president of Clemson College.

Addresses of the governors will be broadcast.

False Fire Alarm Here Last Night

Two fire trucks answered an alarm sent in from the western section of the city last night but discovered there was no fire. The alarm was believed to have been sent in by false alarmists—an element that caused the fire department no end of trouble about a year ago.

The alarm, sounded at 1:45 was sent in from box 35 on West Fifth street, and although the trucks made the trip in record time, they were unable to find anybody knowledgeable anything about a fire.

Nominate Sheriff Under Sentence in Liquor Charge

Hinesville, Ga., Feb. 11.—(AP)—Liberly county has renominated, virtually assuring of re-election, a sheriff who is under a two-year federal sentence on charges of conspiring to aid liquor runners.

The Sheriff, M. F. Clark, received a vote almost equalling that of his two opponents combined. A plurality was sufficient to win under the rules of the Democratic primary held in this county yesterday. The Democratic nomination ordinarily is tantamount to election.

Sheriff Clark was convicted of conspiring to violate the prohibition laws by aiding rum runners during the latter part of 1931 and has appealed his case. He received 359 votes to 124 for L. R. Crowley and 273 for C. A. Mayr, his opponents.

China and Japan Boost Cotton in United States

By CAPTAIN J. W. BOSTIC New Orleans, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Heavy buying of cotton by Japan and China has held the cotton market steady in the face of weakness in the stock market and the pressure of a large surplus supply.

In many quarters it is believed the heavy takings by Japan but the formal Japanese explanation is the shortage of the cotton crop in other countries, the increased Japanese cotton trade and the low price of the American commodity.

During the last week, there has been a marked falling off in the demand from the orient but shipments so far to Japan have exceeded the whole of last year's Lexington, —(AP)—The case of George A. Younce and W. F. Brinkley, under bond for the death of Sheriff James A. Leonard after a drinking party, is to be handled through regular court channels, and not in a special court, it was learned here after Governor Gardner talked with local court officials.

China and Japan Boost Cotton in United States

Exports from American ports to Japan at the end of last week totaled 1,374,991 bales as compared with 643,967 for the corresponding period last year.

While China has not bought as much as Japan, her takings through last Friday had totaled 833,344 bales as compared with 241,446 bales for the corresponding period last season.

Due entirely to these increased purchases in the Orient, the foreign exports of cotton have shown a gain of 650,000 bales over last year. Except for the exports to Japan and China, a deficit would have been shown.

The demand in China is due partly to a shortage of China's own crop because of floods and political disturbances. The increased takings by Japan are attributed, in a measure, to the shortage of the crop in India from which Japan ordinarily draws much of her supply of raw cotton. The India crop is believed by the trade to be more than a million bales short. Whether or the all-off in the demand for Japan in the last week means she has filled her needs or if it is but a temporary slack remains to be seen.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today, 1 point off to 2 points up on overnight selling orders which were absorbed later by trade buying and covering. May sold at 6.63.

The demand became more active following the higher opening in the stock market. Contracts were comparatively scarce after the early offerings had been absorbed and there was very little southern selling. Prices advanced to 6.78 for May and 7.15 for October or about 14 to 17 points net higher.

Rebuying by some of yesterday's sellers was reported on the advance and trading was more active than for some time with the advance accompanied by comment on the proposed emergency banking legislation reported in this morning's press reports from Washington. Liverpool cables reported that calling had absorbed liquidation and hedging in that market.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Feb. 11.—(AP)—All eyes in the grain trade today on probable results of new banking legislation at Washington.

A bullish construction as to immediate effects was generally placed on the proposed enactments but wheat specialists were not unanimous as to ultimate consequences, owing to premiums already existing in this country's wheat prices compared with those at Liverpool and Winnipeg. High winds and dust storms in parts of Kansas received considerable notice.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The decisive non-partisan effort in Washington to restore the normal functions of banking gave the stock market its most powerful boost in nearly two months today.

While Wall street was not entirely of one mind regarding the proposed revision of Federal Reserve practice, most leading bankers seemed heartily in favor of the measure, some expressing the view that it was the most promising of all measures yet undertaken to check deflation.

Virtually the entire stock list swept forward, advances of 3 to 7 points appearing in many prominent issues, while Auburn shot up 16. Beats were obviously caught napping. Such issues as American Telephone, Allied Chemical, American Can, American Tobacco B, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Consolidated Gas and Case surged up about 5 to 7 points, while issues up 3 or more included General Electric, Union Carbide, Woolworth, Sears Roebuck, National Biscuit, Westinghouse, Electric Auto Lite and others. General Motors rose 2. Oils and coppers advanced but moderately.

Lorillard's annual earnings provided a bright spot in corporate news, showing 1931 net of $2.12 a share, as increased from $1.47 in 1930.

Famous Movie Dogs to Appear at State Theatre

Tarzan, Polar Ipsi and under, famous movie dogs, will appear in two performances at State Theatre Saturday afternoon and night, it was announced today by Manager Walker.

The dogs, owned by Frank Barnes, of Los Angeles, Calif.,

brother of Mrs. J. J. White of this city, have been on a visit to the city the last several days and have created considerable interest by their unusual intelligence.

They appeared at city schools the last two days in behalf of the milk fund and hundreds of children were thrilled by the canine power of understanding.

Because of widespread requests to see the dogs in action, Manager Walker made arrangements with Mr. Barnes for the dogs to appear at State Theatre Saturday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock and in the evening at 8:50 o'clock.

Tarzan is known as the dog with the "human mind" and has amazed millions of movie fans with his capacity for understanding the spoken word. Zander, only one year of age, is being trained for the talkies and is governed entirely by Ipsi. Polar plays in snow scenes.

Tarzan and Zander always put on a love act, and although probably gets tired of the "puppy love" of the younger dog, he goes through the act with perfect nonchalance—just like he has been used to it all of his life.

DOLLAR DAW DRAWS CROWD

goods at way below the usual price. The participating merchants made last minute preparations for the semi-annual trade day last night and display windows were decorated with many of the creations to be offered the public today. Many of the values ranged as high as $10 for the price of $1.00 and shoppers who came from a distance were more than able to pay their cost of transportation.

Although merchants had made unusual preparations for the bargain seekers, they were amazed at the widespread demand during the first hours of trading and believed the afternoon hours would see the day equal if not surpass former years.

HOLD NEGRO FOR MURDER (Continued From Page One) who noticed her talking with a negro who had a mole on the side of his face.

A button which police said had apparently been torn from an overcoat was found beneath the child's body on the second floor of an unoccupied house Monday. Two other suspects were also being held by police. They are Michael Mantycha, who lives less than 100 yards from where the girl lived, and Arthur Jones, negro.

"I've smoked LUCKIES for three years"

A TINY LITTLE FOX
Sidney Fox is just a fraction of an inch under five feet and weighs all of ninety-four pounds. In her first mo'm pitcher, Sidney occupied the star's dressing room. She clicked immediately in UNIVERSAL'S "Strictly Dishonorable" and slays 'em in "MURDERS IN THE RUE MORGUE." Sidney has smoked LUCKIES three years. She's not only been kind to her throat, but also kind to the makers of LUCKY STRIKE in donating that friendly statement.

"I've smoked LUCKIES for three years. I've tried almost every other brand and found that LUCKIES are truly the only cigarettes that do not hurt my throat. Talking pictures make it even more important for an actress to keep her throat in perfect condition. And I think the new Cellophane tab is slick."
