Committee Okays Federal Relief Bill

DIVIDED INTO THREE PARTS

$700,000,000 Measure Approved As Substitute for La-Follette - Costigan Bill for Aiding Unemployment

Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—A $700,000,000 Federal relief bill was approved by the House labor committee today by a 9 to 3 vote.

The measure would divide the total authorized appropriation into three parts as follows: $300,000,000 for direct loans to states by the secretary of the treasury upon the application of governors who would be required to furnish state bonds in that amount.

$200,000,000 for direct grants to states that have borrowed to their limit or whose constitution prohibits application for loans.

Under both the loan provision and the direct grant provision the states would be required to repay the money within ten years. Failing that, the treasury would make deductions from that state's participation in the annual Federal highway fund.

George Washington Luncheon.

The Sans Souci Book Club and a number of visitors were entertained on Tuesday by Mrs. W. L. Best and Mrs. S. T. White, at a beautiful patriotic luncheon at the home of Mrs. Best. A varied and colorful program marked the current interest in the natal day of Washington.

One sensed the atmosphere of "ye old time" from the first greetings of the hostesses, who wearing the quaint fichus of the day, hospitably greeted their guests at the front door. An antique spinning wheel placed near a handsome Stuart portrait of Washington, emphasized the tempo of those days; its slaves, its spinning wheels, and its homespun; its thrifty virtues and its unparalleled statesmanship. Numerous flags, traditional cherry trees and red candles centering each table, made a beautiful patriotic setting.

A three-course luncheon was served on small tables placed throughout the drawing room, the library and hall. Tiny red hatchet place cards gave character to the appointments. By each place were typewritten verses which, to the tune of old favorites, were sung during the luncheon.

The program combined many charming and instructive features. Mrs. White, assisted by Mrs. Best, gave the high spots of Washington's life. In a tableau scene, participated in by Joy Flanagan, Ann Hillman and Ann Gaskins, the portrait of our hero, "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen," was unveiled. Mrs. R. L. Smith, impersonating a colonial lady, read the interesting human will of Mary Ball Washington. Two old favorites, "The Lass with the Delicate Air," and "Drink To Me Only with Thine Eyes," were charmingly sung by Miss Jesse Moye, dressed in bouffant colonial dress. The program was concluded by the reading of a chain of dates in verse, and was participated in by all the guests.

Among the out of town guests present were Mrs. John Gorham, Mrs. Cahob Bell and Mrs. Jim Ellison of Washington. Other visitors included Mrs. E. L. Hillman, Mrs. Ed. Bateheller, Mrs. J. L. Fleming, Mrs. J. L. Stauffer, Miss Margaret Fleming and Miss Gretchen May of Pittsboro.

END OF THE CENTURY CLUB MEETS.

The End of the Century Club held a most enjoyable meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. B. Spilman on Ninth street.

After a short business session presided over by the president, Mrs. J. L. Fleming, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. M. K. Fort who in turn introduced Prof. A. D. Frank of the college faculty, who gave a most interesting and instructive talk on "Current Topics of the Day." Prof. Frank spoke of the appointment of the new chief justice of the Supreme Court, Benjamin Cardozo, the coming presidential election with its many prospective candidates for the office, the trouble between China and Japan and several other topics of interest. This talk was thoroughly enjoyed by the club members and visitors present.

At the close of the program Mrs. Spilman, assisted by her daughter, Frances, and Mrs. J. H. Blount, served a salad course.

The visitors for the afternoon were Mrs. E. L. Henderson, Mrs. Marianna Murphy and Mrs. Annie Morton.

The meeting adjourned to meet March 1st with Mrs. E. W. Harvey.—Reported.

WILL DEFEND PRES. HOOVER

Congressional Harmony Threatened in Attack on the President's Economy Plan

Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—In the face of Democratic belittling, a vigorous movement is under way to defend President Hoover's economic record for consolidation of government bureaus with duplicating activities.

So seriously is the criticism being taken up that many observers forecast an end to the generally harmonious, non-political era in Congress which has seen the most conspicuous peace-time cooperation on legislation for the national good.

The White House itself has taken part in the Hoover defense through the issuance of a 30-page list of recommendations for consolidation made by him over the past 12 years. This was not officially linked to the sharp words of Speaker Garner and others who said the president was trying to create new positions instead of dispensing with present activities. A statement was made that the list was issued "in response to numerous requests."

At the same time, besides a Republican taking up of the issues on the House floor, an administration source pointed out that Garner's announcement of a special Democratic committee to study federal reorganization had been issued one day before the president's message had been handed in confidence to the press.

Whatever the outcome, the Democrats go ahead with their efforts to consolidate the war and navy departments, claiming it will make a big saving. The president and all the high officials of both departments are against it.

Meanwhile the first economy achievements of the House were being undone by the Republican-dominated appropriations committee of the Senate. This group added two and three quarter millions to the $175,000,000 agricultural department appropriation bill, and yanked out three anti-expense safe guards inserted by the House.

The first banned the salary increases for the year; the second prevented filling personnel vacancies except on authority of the president; the third forbid purchase of motor cars costing more than $750, or their use by officials to ride home in.

The president made an appeal to the club to keep up the cultural things in their lives in spite of the

Farmville D. A. R. Meets.

Farmville, Feb. 18.—With iris, jonquills and Japanese quince forming a colorful setting in the home of Mrs. R. H. Knott, an interesting meeting of the Major Benjamin May chapter D. A. R., was held on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Knott and Mrs. G. M. Holden as joint hostesses.

Six delegates and alternates were elected to represent this group at the state meeting to be held in Durham, March 8, 9, 10. Mrs. T. E. Joyner reported the results noted in the children for whom the chapter is providing milk; Miss Tabitha DeVoscent reported 15 walnut seedlings received from Mount Vernon and progress of the tree planting program; Mrs. George Jefferson told of historic spots in Chatham and Moore counties and the chapter voted to present a suitable frame for Washington's portrait to the high school. Mrs. G. M. Holden, Mrs. R. H. Knott, and Mrs. M. V. Jones were appointed as a committee to purchase same; Mrs. C. E. Moore, Mrs. T. H. Joyner, Mrs. George Jefferson and Mrs. Chas. Moring were requested to place a curbstone around the Tyson marker; Mrs. Hugh Sheppard, Mrs. B. Sireter Sheppard and Mrs. Chas. Arrington were requested to compile the history of the old Pink Road in connection with the celebration planned for May 20.

Mrs. W. M. Willis, corresponding secretary, presented the recommendations of the executive committee for the spring activities of the chapter and Mrs. W. C. Holston, treasurer, gave a financial report showing $510 expended and a donation received recently from Mrs. G. B. King, a Washington, D. C. member, for the Sunshine Fund of Constitution Hall, and reported that despite the financial stress the membership of 58 remained intact during the past year.

Mrs. E. B. Beasley had charge of the program, making a talk on "Homes and Homemaking of George and Martha Washington," and Mrs. Robert Fountain sang several selections with Miss Allie Louise Fountain at the piano.

At the conclusion of the program the hostesses served a delightful salad course.

SHEROD M. SMITH DIES IN GREENE COUNTY

Farmville, Feb. 18.—Sherod M. Smith, aged 72 years, died Thursday morning at 4 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Pete Shirley, near Walsenburg, following a critical illness of several days duration resulting from kidney complications.

Funeral services were held from the Shirley home Friday afternoon at 2:00 with his pastor, Rev. J. B. Roberts of Greenville, officiating, and interment followed in Forest Hill cemetery here.

A pioneer farmer of this county, Mr. Smith was forced by ill health several years ago to retire from his farm activities. Of a deeply religious nature he had long been a faithful member of the local Primitive Baptist Church. Genial and cordial in his dealings with his fellowman he will be greatly missed by a wide circle of friends.

Surviving are seven children, his wife having preceded him to the "rave" by ten months; five daughters Mrs. E. L. Gaylor and Mrs. Ed Finch of Farmville; Mrs. Pete Shirley and Mrs. Nola Murphy of Greene county; Mrs. Leon Jones of Pitt county; two sons, Herbert and Ray Smith of this community.

Garner, speaker of the House of Representatives as the Democratic candidate for the coming presidential campaign.

McAdoo believes that under the Texas all elements of the party should be able to unite and assure his election.

In a formal statement issued last night, McAdoo characterized Garner as a man who "would bring to the presidency just the equipment that is sorely needed to direct the affairs of the people of the United States in these extraordinary times."

"I have received so many inquiries as to my attitude toward the forthcoming Democratic presidential nomination that I take this method of answering them," read the formal statement issued by McAdoo.

"I favor John M. Garner, speaker of the House of Representatives."

ABOUT TOWN

A bond campaign, patterned after that during the World war, will be conducted by the government in an effort to loosen up hoarded funds throughout the country. Announcement to this effect was made yesterday, and who doubts but that the movement will do everything believed of it.

Former Governor Harry Flood Byrd, addressing members of the Kentucky legislature, saw fit to issue a warning concerning the dangers of high tariffs. He stated that "lives as well as dollars" may be lost in a fight over the tariff, and described the ill effect of the high tariff wall in this country. He believes like hundreds of other leaders of public thought, that the high rates charged in this country are literally driving business away, and the only way to improve the condition is to lower the rates, and give the other countries a chance to trade with us on an equal basis.

England especially is suffering from the wall erected by the Republican party when it took charge of government, and it is impossible to determine the outcome of the situation unless a change is made. Tariff barriers have always handicapped nations of the world, and will continue to handicap them as long as they find such action necessary. They do more to kill trade than anything to be imagined, and when America lowers her wall some of the business we have been denied the past two or three years will return.

Blanks for the filing of applications for seed loans will be available through various farm department offices throughout the south next week, according to information made public today.

As North Carolina stands fourth in repayment of similar loans last year, it is believed she will stand a better chance to obtain funds this year.

The loans will be available to all growers of the south, whereas only the flood districts were affected last year. Farmers obtaining these loans have been urged by farm leaders to plant their crops with the least possible expense because there is only fifty million dollars available to the growers of the entire country. In addition to this, the loans must be paid back next fall and the less borrowed the easier it may be repaid.

Farmers interested in the loans should apply at the local farm office. This department will be glad to furnish all information possible and to assist in the preparation of applications.

With its budget drive completed the Salvation Army has gone into its new quarters here with greatly enlarged facilities for rendering service to the people of the community.

Rooms have been provided for transients and people without money or places to eat and sleep will be able to find accommodations there.

The transients' quarters is one of the far-reaching measures included in the army's program for the city during the new year, and holds forth great possibilities. Through a general change in workers here and more intensive organization the army is attempting to render a higher type of service to the community this year. This will be possible only through the best kind of support, and hope has been expressed by leaders in humanitarian endeavors that nothing will be left undone in this

Boy Crazy

By GRACE PERKINS AUTHOR OF "PERSONAL MAID"

SYNOPSIS: Without her family's knowledge, Hope Ross goes to Harnmouth college hoping to meet her former husband, Dickey Dale. But Dickey isn't there. The young couple has been separated by Mr. Ross, who disapproves of Dickey's social status. Each believes the other has failed in loyalty, because of Mr. Ross' intervention.

Chapter 23 NEW SCANDAL "Yes," Twosome nodded glibly and began whirling her round in idiotic circles. "You must have given him what for, all right. "Dale flunked all his mid-years this winter, and has been trying to buckle down and make us so he can graduate. Drinking like a fish, he is. So the fellows told me. They say he's about as easy to live with as a rattlesnake with a ore tummy."

The music jangled into a finish. Hope was grateful that Tuck Hall suddenly caught her around the waist and yelled something about bringing her down to the locker room.

Only vaguely did she realize that Betty and Twosome were joining them, down into the lockers, through the gym, and out to the swimming-pool where they squatted on long, hard benches, and Twosome wrangled with the corks of high-sounding bottles. Dimly she realized that Betty was nudging her. Protesting in pained whispers. Clearly, however, she did realize that she was the life of the party. Quite sharply she heard herself sing, with Twosome joining in.

Clearly she understood that Tuck was dragging them back to the dance, for fear that her behavior might cause an unpleasant riot. And then, madly, she felt herself dancing, laughing, kidding. Yes, she knew all that. Quite clearly. She knew she was tight, and gloried in it. She knew she was scandalous and shocking, and revealed in the thought. She wanted terribly to get lighter-bunned, really blotto, for what did she care? Who cares about anybody? What did anybody matter but a good time.

With remarkably dainty, but quite nimble wrap which seemed too difficult to trace, Hope made her way across the well-known and memory-laden campus toward the fraternity house. Two doors down from Dickey's fraternity—only two doors away. Grouping, unheeding to any sound or word, she pushed through the door and made for Tuck's room, entered—and found Tuck himself! Tuck was seated squat on the floor, a flat trunk pulled under his cot, contents strewn all over the floor. He looked up, aghast, well aware of the rule that kept boys out of the fraternity houses when girl visited.

With a most unladylike, un-rossly whoop of laughter, Hope slammed the door and threw herself headlong across the cot, her face dangling down toward Tuck as he knelt on the floor. "Whatcha lookin' for, lil' boy?" gurgled Hope in high amusement. Tuck grinned in appreciation. It suddenly dawned on him. "You're plastered," he wagged an admonishing finger at her.

The army has been handicapped for lack of funds for the last two years, but with a big part of its budget virtually assured, its workers are looking forward to the future, believing they will be able to accomplish more than ever before. It is a great work these people are doing for that type of people other organizations are unable to reach, and money given to this cause certainly will be devoted to the interest of improving the condition of humanity.

It sounds like a fairy story, but we have the word of official Washington that "millions upon millions of dollars" have been dumped into the channels of business and industry in this country the last two weeks. The transformation was the direct result of activities of the Hoover Reconstruction organization and has reached virtually every weak bank in the country.

Reports from banking institutions affected state the banks are in shape to stand the storm now and look forward to pronounced development in the future.

News of this kind does more to bolster public sentiment than anything imaginable, and the more of it we hear the surer we are that conditions are bound to come around within the next year or so.

It is going to take time for the entire country to feel the effects of the monumental effort to revive sagging business foundations, but the time is not far distant when individual pocketbooks should feel the force of the movement and everybody will be able to look beyond the clouds which have hovered around them almost interminably.

$200,000 Fire At High Point High Point, Feb. 19.—(AP)—A building housing the machine and cabinet departments of the Giant Furniture Manufacturing Company was destroyed by fire early today with a loss estimated by Forrest H. Murray, Secretary-treasurer of the company, at from $150,000 to $200,000.

The building was of wooden construction and was in the heart of the industrial section. It was discovered burning about 2 a. m. and every piece of fire apparatus in the city fire department was called out.

Fanned by a northeast wind, the blaze spread quickly and before firemen arrived the flames had enveloped almost the entire structure. After an hour's fight the fire was brought under control.

The origin of the fire has not been determined. A brick building owned by the same company and adjoining the wooden structure was saved. Considerable finished furniture stored in it was damaged, however, by water. Firemen drenched the building to prevent the flames spreading to it.

J. Ed Kirkman is president of the company. Murray said insurance covered part of the loss. Raleigh.—(AP)—The country life committee of the North Carolina ten year plan corporation will meet February 25.

Porter Named C. M. T. C. Head In This County

C. W. Porter, director of high school athletics, has been appointed director of Citizens' Military Training camp for Pitt county, it was made known today.

Notification of the appointment was received from General Cox, in charge of C. M. T. C. activities in the state.

Pitt county's quota this year is twelve, and all young men desiring to join have been urged to get in touch with Mr. Porter at once.

The new chairman said he had already received several applications and that it would be necessary for those desiring to take training to act immediately. Annual encampment of the contingent will be held at Fort Bragg July 13.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and snaky and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c a all stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

Venus Seriously Ill at Rockwell House

Faith, N. C. Feb. 19.—(AP)—John T. Wyatt, known to newspapers as "Venus," is seriously ill at the home of his nephew Henry Wyatt of Rockwell.

The 80-year-old collector of "Items from Faith," which at one time were published by more newspapers than any items of country correspondents, "became suddenly ill a few days ago at his home where he lived alone and he was removed to his nephew's residence.

Prior to 10 years ago "Venus" was seen at nearly every public gathering in the county. Recently his eyesight had been failing and this had curtailed his unique correspondence.

Senior Privileges
Having reached the fourth year of our high school career, we, as seniors, feel that we should be allowed some privileges not allowed other classes. We are sure that any privilege given us would not be abused, for all of us would try to uphold the trust that our principal and teachers placed in us. Surely we have reached the age when we can be allowed some extra freedom, as fits our age and rank. We are about to enter into the world or, at any rate, into another environment. Anywhere we go we must rely on ourselves without depending on someone else. We must discipline ourselves. If we are capable of entering into the world and working our own way, why shouldn't we be capable of bearing the trust that might be placed on us. Most of our demands are reasonable, and we think we don't expect too much. We only want the satisfaction of knowing that our teachers can trust us, and that we have left the dependence of other days behind us. We should have to leave our school at the end of the year feeling that we weren't thought capable of having privileges. Let us hope that we shall be considered worthy of trust by our teachers and everyone else.

Crude Humor

This article is not devoted to the inevitable punster or the mysterious "Mac" of the newspaper column, but rather to the childish pests who delight in performing foolish stunts which invariably bring a laugh from some equally puerile person.

There seems to be, as someone has aptly said, a general celebration of "Charity Ball Day," "Put a tack in your neighbors' seat," and "See if you can hit the vase on the desk with an eraser" day. This type of entertainment can hardly be classified under practical jokes, and certainly it could not claim a higher rating. It seems to me that the best way to classify this type of humor is to call it "crude humor." If one dare enumerate only a few of these pests without detailed comment. First, there is the engineering person who delights in chewing up spare bits of paper and throwing them at various other students. Then, there is the idler who participates in that delightful game "Pass your neighbors book around and tell him its behind the radiator." There is the barbaric darian (so often feminine) who delights in applying the acute end of a compass in such a manner as to obtain a jump, a silly grin, and a "you stop" that from the victim. Many other equally foolish stunts can at best only be called crude.

All through life we shall probably find this type of moron, but if the Greenville high school students were to apply verbal pressure the student body would benefit by a minimizing of these pestiferous personages.

These so-called pranks often terminate seriously. Only last week a teacher in this school barely escaped losing the sight of an eye by some example of unmitigated devilment on the part of a person who was throwing shot around the room.

Let's apply the verbal and moral pressure toward the extinction of this type of the species. They will be benefitted, and we, who pride ourselves on not being that type, will be eased mentally if not physically.

NEWS

Washington Program
Friday morning, February 19, at the regular chapel period, the fourth of a series of character education programs was given. The program in charge of Mrs. Luther Herring, was on the Youth and Manhood of Washington.

The program opened with the singing of "America." After this James Dees, gave a talk on the Scope and Purpose of Bicentennial Celebration. The school stood and recited the American Creed.

"The Boyhood of Washington," a very interesting talk, was given by Doris Crawford.

The school was honored by having Mrs. Knott Proctor, render a solo number, "Father of the Land We Love."

Bob Fleming gave a talk on "Washington, the Man," and Mattie Moye Gaylord spoke on "Tastes and Amusements of Washington."

A song dedicated to Washington, "Beneath the Weeping Willow Shade," was sung by Lucy James and Helen Sawyer. The school stood and sang the Star Spangled Banner.

Wins Contest

For the past three weeks Miss Powell's freshman assembly took first place in the attendance and punctuality contest, sponsored by the State Theatre in conjunction with the school system. The average for this assembly was 99.60.

Mrs. Bowen's freshman assembly came second with an average of 99.14. Mr. Porter's sophomore assembly rated third place with a percentage of 99.07. The average for the entire high school was 95.15.

The West Greenville school was led by the sixth grade, which had an average of 97.37. The seventh grade won the contest for the Training school, the fifth grade taking first place with an average of 98.83 at Third Street school.

The average attendance for the entire school system for the past three weeks was 97.24.

The winners will be entitled to a free pass to State Theatre.

JACK DEMPSEY GETS LICKING

Chicago, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey's promised land, in which he had envisioned another chance at the heavyweight championship of the world, today seemed to have been only a mirage.

Last night in the Chicago Stadium, before a record smashing crowd of 23,322 spectators who left $74,199.95 at the gates, Dempsey in the opinion of a big majority of newspapermen and about the same percentage of the customers, took a beating from King Levinsky, the socking Jewish boy from Chicago's Ghetto.

The bout was billed as an exhibition and there was no official decision. A poll of writers at the ring-side, however, gave Levinsky 18 votes, two for Dempsey and four called it a draw. The ovation the grinning Kingfish received as he left the ring indicated that the crowd felt the same way about it.

Giving away six and one-half pounds and nearly 16 years, Dempsey was he same scowling, glowering Dempsey who knocked out Jess Willard, George Carpenter and Luis Firpo—until he went into action. He came out weaving and bobbing, but slowly, and Levinsky, who radiated confidence from the time he climbed into the ring, met him, took everything the former champion had to offer, and it seemed, Dempsey had plenty on his vicious belts to the body in the first two rounds and the cocky King took a few and then held on. Starting with the third, there was less steam in the punches that used to lay opponents low, and Levinsky cut loose and hammered both hands to Dempsey's head and body and built up the margin that convinced writers and spectators. Dempsey showed distinct signs of wear after the first round when he stalked to his corner. After the other three rounds the stalk became a shuffle.

Levinsky, springy of leg and in no way awed by the former champion, even went so far in the fourth as to stop almost contemptuously as Dempsey plodded around him seeking an opening, and beckon the Manassa man to come on and fight—just as Dempsey had urged Gene Tunney to come on and fight in that upbraiding seventh round at Soldier Field in 1927.

Regardless of whether he can ever reach the point of engaging in a real battle, Dempsey demonstrated he is still a champion at the box office. The crowd was the greatest ever to watch an indoor fight, and the gate was gratifying to the Stadium Corporation and the box-ers. Dempsey had the option of 60 per cent of the receipts and paying Levinsky $7,500, or he might take 45 per cent and leave the Kingfish 15 per cent.

Dempsey's only comment was: "He's a good boy and a dangerous puncher."

Levinsky, more cocky than ever said: "Aw, he ain't so hot, but he can still punch. His lit' thook is good. But the King can take them."

Farmville High Cagers to Play Locals Tonight

Basketball teams of Greenville and Farmville high schools will play in the high school auditorium here tonight at 7 o'clock. Both teams were said to be in splendid condition for the fray, and promised to turn in one of the best games of the year.

Competition between these two clubs is always quite active, and good crowds from both towns were expected to be in attendance.

Lumberston, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Posting two $500 bills each for appeal bonds, George Allen and Walter Scott, arrested when a Michtigan van was found loaded with whiskey here, left town before Federal warrants could be served. They had been convicted in Recorder's court and sentenced to 18 months on the roads.

CAGE TEAMS IN ACTION AGAIN

Charlotte, Feb. 19.—(AP)—After two days of comparative inactivity, North Carolina collegiate basketball teams swing into action again tonight, with three headline games on the program.

Washington and Lee, which last night trounced Duke 21 to 12, will invade the Red Terror gym at N. C. State College, while V. M. I. will visit Duke. Wake Forest, on a northern swing, will meet the University of Delaware at Newark, Del. a tussle between High Point and Lenoir-Rhyne is also on the schedule.

Wake Forest was unable to stem the advance of George Washington's Giants in Washington, and took a 48-34 drubbing, after having started off with an early lead.

Last night's other collegiate encounters saw Appalachian nose out High Point, 28 to 2, and Elon defeated Lenoir-Rhyne 38 to 17.

Report Snake With Human Face

Kinston, Feb. 19.—(AP)—William B. Burney exhibited a snake here with a human face marking on its head and he defies "anyone to class this reptile."

Burney said "experts at Raleigh and Washington have failed" to name the type of snake. He said he was sending it to a showman at Atlanta, Ga.

The snake, preserved in alcohol, has a clearly defined face on its head, the peculiar scale formation making each feature of the face.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 7 to 11 points on buying orders for both local and foreign account, promoted by firm cables. May sold at 7.15.

The advance which carried May contracts up to 6.18 or about $2.75 per bale above the low levels of last week encountered considerable southern selling and realizing and after the initial demand had been supplied, prices eased off a few points, although the buying continued in sufficient volume to give the market a fairly steady undertone at the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables reported trading and Bombay buying supplied by Manchester and Continental realizing in that market and said there was a fair cloth demand from the continent, South America and Africa.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Sustained activity and strength spelled higher prices in the wheat pit today late as well as early.

Broadening of speculative trade lifted the wheat market as a whole to the topmost level since last November, with values in some cases soaring above the season's previous apex. It was estimated 1,000,000 bushels or more of North American wheat was taken for shipment overseas.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Feb. 19.—(AP)—A momentary bear panic at the opening of the stock market was Wall Street's response today to the stock exchange's latest restriction on short selling.

After a few minutes of feverish trading and swiftly rising prices, however, the market regained its equilibrium. Early upticks of 1 to 7 points were cut in half by profit taking by bulls, but the list again turned quietly upward for a time after midday, with trading proceeding at a normal pace.

The high-fliers were largely among the favorites of professional traders, which harbored substantial bear interests. Eastman shot up 7 points, then lost about half of it. Auburn rushed up 6, lost all but a point of its gain, then turned upward later. U. S. Steel rose 3 points then held around 2. American Telephone pushed up 5 1/2, and lost all but a fraction of its rise, before turning firm again. Santa Fe rose 3, only to lose most of its gain. These movements were typical. Some issues actually showed fractional recessions from yesterday's final prices during the morning downturn.

Brokers and traders were greatly confused as to what the ultimate effect of the new ruling will be, but since it does not take effect until April 4, several of the more experienced traders who were short of the market were said to be taking their time about covering. The stock exchange's new rule, as announced last night, provides that brokers must secure the specific permission of traders long of the market before lending their stocks to short sellers. It was acknowledged that this would considerably reduce the amount of stock available for bear operations.

Bandit Robs Man and Then Shoots Him in Stomach

Morganton, Feb. 19.—A lone bandit held up Gus Bounous, Valdese meat store operator, when he stepped from his automobile at his home last night, took $1,500 from him and shot him in the abdomen. Physicians today said Bounous' chance for recovery was slight. He is in a local hospital.

Bounous told police he "had an idea" who robbed him but he was not questioned further because of his condition.

He said he gave up his money when the robber accosted him. When he attacked the man as he fled, he told police, he was shot. His cries brought his wife who summoned help.

Many bridges protected by machine guns, were fixed so they could be removed easily at a retreat became necessary.

Numerous sangbag redoubts dotted the roads.

Four hundred American infantrymen, members of the 31st Infantry in Manila, took over the defense lines along a mile frontage in the international settlement during the afternoon. The American position faced the Chinese stand in Chapel and was the most advanced post on the settlement front. The Americans also rubbed elbows with the Japanese forces on their right along these settlements northern boundary.

They relieved a settlement volunteer corps light gun battery and a force of Russian infantry who were paid employees of the settle-

At the Japanese headquarters in the Kundza mill in Yangtzeppoo district, the officers there formerly occupied by bookkeepers and clerks were filled today with uniformed men poring over maps, drawing plans, and discussing problems of strategy for the big offensive which they regarded as inevitable.

The cotton spinning machinery was stilled and soldiers bunk were placed about the great looms.

The officers of Lieutenant General Ezaki Ueda were the hub of all the activity.

Machine guns were being placed in pits at intervals of about 50 yards around the new Japanese airdrome. Numerous sand bar redoubts were also built at the corners of the field and along the banks of the Wangpoo river.

I visited General Tsai Ting-Kai, Chinese commander just before the lines were closed. As I departed he said "you probably will be the last correspondent I will see for we are now closing our lines to Shanghai."

He gave me a card in his own handwriting ordering the sentries along the way to permit me to pass into Shanghai. "This will get you into town," he said, "but it won't let you return."

JAP PROTEST TO PROBE DECLARED TO BE INVALID

The decision of the neutral 12 came after reports had been made on the Japanese objection by a jurists' committee.

Reports were then circulated that Yen was prepared to protest to the whole council against the creation of an independent Manchurian state, which was announced yesterday at Mukden.

MEXICO READY TO ACCEPT REDUCTION OF ARMAMENTS

The Mexican delegation, he said, approved the project of the Polish delegation for moral disarmament. "Mexico," he said, "is a country whose little army serves only to guarantee internal order. It possesses negligible aviation forces and a navy without international importance, which has never fought except to protect Mexico territory when it was invaded or when Mexican independence was threatened."

Mahmoud Fahry Pasha, Egyptian delegate, opened today's session with a glowing tribute to Woodrow Wilson.

"I should like to take the first opportunity," he said, "to associate my country with the unanimous homage of the world to the great figure of President Wilson, founder of the League of Nations and initiator of this conference."

Referring to the membership campaign under way now, Mr. Corey stated the roster was far ahead of the same time last year. He said this was remarkable in the face of existing economic conditions, and expressed belief that further increase would be experienced during the year.

JAPS PREPARE TO SPEED REINFORCEMENTS TO CHINA

(Continued from page one) Members of the cabinet were reported, however, to have agreed to do their best to prevent the situation from developing in such a way as to necessitate a declaration of war. Immediately after the cabinet conferences the premier left for the palace to see the emperor.

Mr. Araki, the minister of war, told the Associated Press correspondent that the possibility of reinforcements under Chiang Kai-Shek might compel Japan to send an additional expeditionary force to Shanghai.

"Our intelligence reports," he said, "indicate that there are at present 90,000 Chinese soldiers facing our men in the Shanghai area, including Chiang's troops which are reported to have joined the 19th army. If these reports prove true we may be compelled to reinforce our expedition proportionately."

ADVISED TO SEEK PLACE OF SECURITY IN FACE OF EXPECTED SINO-JAP FIGHT

As a precautionary measure the American authorities today called the attention of General Tsai Ting-Kai, mayor of Wu Teh-Chang and Mayor Shigenitsu, Japanese minister, to the necessity for taking the strictest care against shells from the artillery of either side falling in the international settlement and endangering American lives and property.

Between 150 and 200 Americans in the chief danger zone began to leave during the afternoon, following the consul general's advice.

The number at the consulate showed 115 Americans living in Hongkong, 12 at Yangtzeppoo and 18 at the University of Shanghai between Kienyang and Woosung. There are also quite a number of retired American soldiers, marines and sailors who have lived in Hongkong for years but who have not registered at the consulate.

Meanwhile, American marines and infantrymen in pistol along the northwestern border of the settlement were in a bad spot in case the expected battle should begin.

In the event of an artillery attack from Japanese batteries in Hongkong these men would find themselves virtually in the line of fire and in extreme danger from shells which overshoot the mark.

This afternoon General Uveda, the Japanese commander, said his men had been instructed to exercise caution but he added that "it is likely some shells might fall wide of their mark, in which we would be regretful but unable to prevent it."

The British, French, Italians and some other powers also called attention of Chinese and Japanese headquarters to the danger of shells falling in the settlement and urged efforts to avoid artillery fire in that direction. Both Chinese and Japanese authorities gave assurances that their armies had been cautioned not to train big guns upon the foreign area.

Garner, behind a wall of silence on things "political which is broken only to disavow connection with the acts of his supporters, sticks to the job of running the House of Representatives. This job is most conspicuous one nationally now filed by a Democrat, and Garner's handling of it is what his volunteer supporters count upon to arouse enthusiasm on a country-wide scale.

McAdoo spoke of Garner as a candidate under whom all elements of the party could unite. He related his own personal experience as secretary of the treasury, with Garner's grasp of national affairs. Then he laid on heavily with the argument that Garner is not involved in any party schisms, and that as "one of the people" he makes a strong appeal to important elements in the party.

McAdoo is one of the staunchest fans, and his announcement was considered important in the light of the prohibition issue, for Garner although since voting for enforcement measures, cast his ballot against adoption of the 18th amendment.
