JAPS ADMIT NO GAINS AT SHANGHAI

ASKS INQUIRY INTO MOVING PICTURE FIELD

Sen. Brookhart Calls Upon Senate to Investigate Entire Industry.

Washington, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Striking out vigorously at "degrading" motion pictures, Senator Brookhart of Iowa today called upon the Senate to investigate the entire industry.

Revelations as startling as those of the Teapot Dome oil scandal were predicted by the senator. He denounced Will Hayes as a "smoke screen" and charged the movies had been "permitted by a supine government to be successfully monopolized."

Allegations of releasing "indecent" pictures and of violating the anti-trust laws were contained in a resolution he introduced calling for an inquiry by the Senate's Interstate Commerce committee. The resolution also said "it has been alleged that the motion picture producers and distributors of America, of which Mr. Will H. Hays is president, is primarily a political organization and has exercised undue influence with private, state and federal agencies."

Brookhart also introduced a bill intended to outlaw "block booking" by which he contended the large producers are able to dictate what pictures shall be shown in the country's theaters.

"The so-called Hays morality code," Brookhart said, "is admittedly a failure."

Since its promulgation, he said, movies have become "even more degrading."

"Last year it was the fashion to exploit, I might say exalt, the gangster on the screen for the entertainment, not to say edification, of the impressionable young minds of the country."

"While some gangster films are still being made, the trend this season is definitely toward prostitution."

"The actors and actresses who have portrayed these degrading roles are the headliners of the screen. The average boy or girl knows as much about these actors—sometimes more than they know about those who run the government."

The Iowan describes as "one of the most shocking chapters in the annals of American business" the "competitive methods employed to drive out the independent theatres."

Funeral Held For Winterville Child

Funeral services for A. G. Cox, two-and-a-half year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Roy T. Cox, were held Sunday afternoon and interment was made in the Winterville cemetery.

The final rites were conducted by Rev. Mr. Kennedy, pastor of Winterville Baptist church, assisted by Rev. W. H. Covert, pastor of Immanuel Baptist church of Greenville.

The funeral was largely attended and an extensive floral tribute attested the love and esteem of the many friends of the family.

The child died Saturday afternoon after an illness of only a few days. His condition became critical Saturday and little hope was held out for his recovery.

Marvin Rountree Be Buried Here Tomorrow A. M.

The body of Marvin A. Rountree, former Greenville young man, who died at his home in Norfolk Sunday night after a month's illness, was expected to reach Greenville tonight.

The remains will be taken to Williams Funeral Parlor and burial will be made at Greenwood cemetery tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Services were conducted from his home in Norfolk today, and final rites will be held at the grave here, Rev. E. L. Hillman, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, will officiate.

The deceased was a native of this county but had made his home in Norfolk the last sixteen years. He is survived by his wife and mother, Mrs. Joseph Tripp, and numbers of other relatives.

ROTES HONOR WASHINGTON

Interesting Program Marks Bicentennial Celebration here last Evening.

If Washington had been king, who would be on the throne in America now?

This was the question propounded and answered by F. C. Harding, local attorney, speaking at the bicentennial celebration of the birth of Washington at the Rotary club last night.

Had Washington actually been king instead of president, a man, Washington's nearest kin, now living in Garden City, Mo., would be guiding the destinies of the nation. This relative of the first president, Mr. Harding said, is in poor circumstances and dependent upon charity, but had America followed the example of her mother country and selected a king instead of president, the Garden City resident would hold the highest office it is in power of the people to bestow upon a family.

The program was marked by appropriate musical numbers by Mrs. Dink James and Miss Aenas Fullilove. They were accompanied at the piano by Miss Ona Shindler.

President Howard McGinnis presided and the program was in charge of Tom Clifton.

The usual supper was enjoyed and the tables and building were decorated in keeping with the occasion.

NEW TAX SOURCE WANTED

Japan Disputes Claims Made in League's Note

Tokyo, Feb. 23.—(AP)—The Japanese government's reply to the note of the League of Nations council of February 18 was telegraphed to Geneva today to Joseph Paul-Boncour, acting president of the council. It declared "it must be emphasized that the Japanese government does not and cannot consider that China is an 'organism' people within the meaning of the League of Nations covenant."

Declaring that China in the past, by common consent, has been treated as an organized state, the Japanese note said that "fictitious cannot last forever nor can they be tolerated when they become

Japs To Double Size Of Army at Shanghai

CABINET ACTS UPON REQUEST

An Appeal for More Troops Made by Jap Minister to China; new Reinforcements will Increase Army to 50,000.

Tokyo, Feb. 23.—(AP)—The Japanese government decided tonight to double the strength of its army at Shanghai in the face of reports from there saying that the Chinese defenders of the city, during three days' fighting, had successfully stopped the power of Japan's attack.

The proposal to send additional troops to Shanghai was placed before the cabinet early today by Minister of War General Sadao Araki, following a conference of military leaders which was called at General Araki's home shortly after the messages were received from Shanghai officials last night.

The appeal for more troops was sent from Shanghai by Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese minister to China, and Vice-Admiral Kikkawa Nomura, commander of the Japanese fleet. Lieut.-Gen. Kenkichi Ueyeda, Japanese army commander there, was reported to have refused to join in the request.

The Japanese army force now at Shanghai is estimated at 25,000 men, so that, with the new reinforcements, if they are sent as authorized, the army would be increased to 50,000, about 10,000 more men than the Chinese are reported to have on the Shanghai front.

MORE WORKERS JOIN IN STRIKE

Two Hundred Additional Employees Of Overall Concern Go Out at Gate City.

Greensboro, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Two hundred additional employees of the Blue Bell Overall Company's plant here today joined in a strike against a wage readjustment.

Yesterday 1,200 workers struck, closing the larger of two plants the company operates here. The strikers were joined today by the workers in the company's No. 2 plant, bringing the total number of employees on strike to 1,400.

All plant operations were halted when workers in the Number 2 factory, which operated yesterday, refused to return to work this morning.

"The workers are protesting the company's intention to change the method of pay from a piece system to an hourly basis."

"They want to pay 36 cents an hour for work which on the piece system would have brought the worker about 55 cents an hour," said one worker.

Milton H. Zaubler, secretary and general manager of the company, said the reduction in earnings of the piece workers under the new (Continued on Page Six)

Reign of Terror Grips Chinas No Man's Land

By MORRIS J. HARRIS Copyright, 1932, by Associated Press

Shanghai, Feb. 23.—I visited the No-Man's land north of the village of Kiangwan today, where most of the heavy fighting has taken place during the last two or three days, and found there the marks of a reign of terror.

In the middle of the war - torn area I saw an old Chinese woman sitting in an open field, weeping and wringing her hands, ignorant of all but the starkest external of what was going on about her and entirely helpless to protect herself.

Some distance to the right a Japanese soldier appeared, while I was looking, followed by several more, close behind. The leading soldier raised his rifle, aimed at the woman (Continued on Page Six)

FEAR AKRON'S DAMAGE GREAT

Rep. McClintic Says Big Dirigible May Have Suffered Irreparable Damage.

Washington, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Fear that the airship Akron might have been irreparably damaged when she struck the ground at Lakehurst yesterday was expressed today by Representative McClintic (R., Okla.)

McClintic, who was chairman of the House naval subcommittee investigating the airworthiness of the giant vessel, said "I certainly won't make a flight in that airship."

The Oklahoman and four other representatives were on the ground at Lakehurst waiting for the Akron to be prepared to take them aloft when the mishap occurred.

"The Akron certainly was subjected to unusual strains," McClintic said.

"I remember that the nose of the Shenandoah was pulled off in a similar accident a short while before she crashed. Whether the same thing has happened to the Akron, I don't know, but I certainly do not intend to take a ride in her."

McClintic said, however, that when the Akron's sister ship—the Macon—is completed, "I will recommend that the committee take a ride on her."

GARNER BOOM MOVES AHEAD

Georgia and Texas Launch Concerted Movement for Texan's Nomination.

Washington, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Intensive activity among the Democrats yesterday brooked no developments in the race for the party presidential nomination, but no decisive gains for anyone.

The Garner boom, spreading mostly from Washington to Texas with way-points stops, broke into the Roosevelt-pre-empted territory of Georgia through the "proxy" signs of Judge G. H. Howard, who announced, if victorious, he would deliver the state's convention votes for the speaker of the house.

The home state of Texas meanwhile launched concerted action for "Jack" which found its echo in cheers in the House of Representatives here. Striking to his aid, Garner had nothing to say.

The Roosevelt forces marched forward with organization of a state-wide campaign program in Pennsylvania; with favorable expressions toward him in Oklahoma as second choice after Governor Murray; and with declarations by supporters in Georgia that the (Continued on Page Six)

NAVAL BILL IS APPROVED

Senate Committee In Favor Building Up Navy to Limits of London Treaty.

Washington, Feb. 23.—(AP)—The Senate naval committee today approved the Hale bill to authorize building the navy up to the limits fixed by the London treaty.

The bill, sponsored by Chairman Hale, was approved unanimously. It calls for building the navy up to the maximum allowed by the London treaty, but does not carry any appropriations.

The cost of the program would depend upon how many years it was spread over.

Hale estimated that if it were completed in ten years, the cost would be $890,000,000 but this includes ships now under construction, modernization of ships and replacements.

The chairman will ask for early consideration in the Senate. A similar measure faces final disposition in the House.

In a speech last night, Hale said there was a necessity for building the navy up to the limits of the London treaty because of the hostilities between China and Japan.

Important as the bill is, it is only about two hundred words long. In event of an international agreement for further limitation the president would be authorized to suspend the program.

MRS. HARDEE WINS IN COURT

Two Other Cases Disposed of in Opening of Civil Court Here Yesterday.

Mrs. Emma Hardee emerged victorious against the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in a suit in the civil term of Pitt County Superior court yesterday.

The suit was the outgrowth of an attempt of the insurance company to bring foreclosure proceedings against the plaintiff for a mortgage of $1,500. Mrs. Hardee obtained a restraining order to stall the proceedings until the case could be given court action.

She declared she did not sign the mortgage and her testimony was substantiated by a notary public who said he could not swear that Mrs. Hardee signed such a paper because he could remember no such transaction.

This was the principal case disposed of in the opening session of court, although divorces were granted Alle Howard against Gordon Howard and Charlie Page against Beside Page. The contestants were colored.

Judge J. Paul Frizzelle, of Snow Hill, who is presiding over the term, ordered adjournment until Thursday morning. The action was taken because several members of the bar had to be in Raleigh today and tomorrow to attend to business in Supreme court, and in view of the fact that only two or three minor issues awaited consideration during the two day period.

There are approximately forty cases on the calendar for this term, and it was indicated that only a (Continued on Page Six)

Chinese Still Clinging To Strategic Points In Spite of Swift Assaults

Hoover Said to Be Against Plan to Boycott Japs

Washington, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Close advisers of President Hoover say he will not insist in the movement for an economic boycott against Japan.

Senate leaders are definitely against taking such a step to bring pressure for peace in China. Joining himself to previous statements by others, Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, last night expressed himself forcefully on the subject:

"I want to keep out of the Far Eastern dispute and above all I want us to keep our boys at home."

CORDOZO IS GIVEN OKAY

Unanimously Favorable Report is Given Supreme Court Justice by Committee.

Washington, Feb. 23.—(AP)—A unanimously favorable report on the nomination of Judge Benjamin N. Cardozo to the Supreme court was made today by the Senate judiciary committee.

This action cleared the way for prompt confirmation of the New York jurist named to succeed the venerable Oliver Wendell Holmes who resigned recently.

Committee approval followed similar unanimous action last week by a subcommittee which had heard a protest by William H. Anderson, a former superintendent of the New York State Anti-Saloon League.

W. P. Clark Dies at Red Oak Home; Burial Tomorrow

W. P. Clark, aged 74 years, died at his home in Red Oak community on highway No. 91, this morning at 7 o'clock. Mr. Clark had been in failing health for some time and his death was not unexpected.

He will be buried in the family burying ground just back of his home Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. M. A. Woodard, of Winterville, will conduct the funeral services at his home, assisted by Rev. R. F. Pittman of Ayden.

Mr. Clark was born in Granville county, but moved to Pitt county forty-five years ago and has made his home in this community since then. He has hosts of friends who were grieved to learn of his death.

He is survived by Jarvis Tripp, who has made his home with him since infancy and five nieces and one nephew.

Active pallbearers will be B. L. R. R. and N. S. Tyson, Tom Heath, Tom Manning and Laurie Coward. Honorary: B. F. Jolly, N. W. Tyson, Henry Allen, R. E. Wilson, Henry Smith, Godfrey Evans, A. M. Waters, Dwight Grubbs, R. S. G. L. F. L., and James Allen and T. E. Dickerson, Johnnie, George, Willie, Ollie and Jim Clark.

It was also a bloody day on the front between Chapel and Kiangwan. A barrage of artillery fire from the Japanese lines prepared the way for the lunges of the infantry and airplanes showered high explosives on the embattled Chinese. Some screens were used to cover the Japanese infantry thrusts and to shield the soldiers from the vigilant eyes of the Chinese gunners.

The slashing machine gun fire from the well-concealed Chinese "nests" which dotted the entire area succeeded in stopping the Japanese again as they have succeeded in similar attacks during the last four days. Much of the fighting was hand to hand. The Japanese were cut down by the Chinese bayonets as they attempted to rush the defenders' trenches.

NEITHER SIDE GAINS GROUND

Japanese Headquarters Says Men are Tired and in Need of Rest; Chinese Continue to Cling Tenaciously to Kiangwan and Tazung and Several Other Important Points; Japs Destroy Chinese Air-dome.

Shanghai, Wednesday, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Japanese headquarters admitted early this morning that the terrific onslaught against Kiangwan had failed to dislodge the defenders and that it appeared the Chinese were capable of holding out for a long time.

Thus 96 hours of the heaviest fighting since the world war has left the two powerful opposing armies just about where they stood last Saturday when the Chinese rejected an ultimatum and the Japanese launched their offensive.

"Our men are tired and they want some rest," said a headquarters spokesman, supplementing the communique which reported only minor advances during yesterday's engagement.

There was report that a Japanese force had put three Chinese regiments to flight, but nevertheless the Chinese held not only the town of Kiangwan but also Tazung, a village to the west, and several other strategic points to the south.

The only success the Japanese were able to eke out of the bloody encounter was the destruction of the Chinese air-dome at Mungjiao with a heavy aerial bombardment. The air-dome is five miles west of Shanghai. The Japanese dropped 25 heavy bombs upon it destroying all the hangars and the planes within them.

The Japanese naval authorities said their airplanes also destroyed the Chinese air base at Soochow on the Shanghai-Nanking railway.

Wave after wave of Japanese was thrown against the Chinese line during the day only to be hurled back. The fighting was hottest along the front northwest of Kiangwan where the Japanese spent every ounce of strength in an attempt to complete a movement begun yesterday which was intended to surround the garrison defending the blasted ruins of the village.

A decision on the mystery of Kiangwan appeared to be far off, however, and the strength of the Japanese attack began to subside after noon with nothing gained or lost by the forenoon's efforts.

As the fighting tapered off, Japanese Red Cross workers sought to bring out the wounded. The same probably was happening behind the Chinese lines.

It was also a bloody day on the front between Chapel and Kiangwan. A barrage of artillery fire from the Japanese lines prepared the way for the lunges of the infantry and airplanes showered high explosives on the embattled Chinese. Some screens were used to cover the Japanese infantry thrusts and to shield the soldiers from the vigilant eyes of the Chinese gunners.

The slashing machine gun fire from the well-concealed Chinese "nests" which dotted the entire area succeeded in stopping the Japanese again as they have succeeded in similar attacks during the last four days. Much of the fighting was hand to hand. The Japanese were cut down by the Chinese bayonets as they attempted to rush the defenders' trenches.

A survey of the area northwest of Kiangwan revealed many bodies of Japanese dead which had not been picked up. Behind the Japanese lines on the northern sector was a scene of utter desolation. Every building had been burned to the ground and smoking embers, over which little knots of Japanese soldiers attempted to cook food, dotted the countryside.

The whole area was blasted terribly by airplane bombs and artillery shells. Numerous grave mounds had been blown open and large numbers of Chinese and Japanese dead lay here and there.

League May Ask U. S. to Act on Inquiry Findings

Geneva, Feb. 23.—(AP)—The League of Nations had under consideration today the possibility of inviting the United States and Russia to join in a commission to act on the findings of the special meeting of the League assembly which has been called for March 3 to consider the dispute between China and Japan.

There was also a proposal to invite Argentina and Turkey to have a representative on the commission. The commission will meet after the assembly to formulate a definite plan for carrying out any suggestions made by the assembly.

League officials expressed the hope the United States would cooperate with the commission. They said the troubles between China and Japan constituted a world problem, affecting every country, and that any discussion of them would embrace all nations.

It was understood that delicate negotiations at present are going on between the league secretariat and the government at Washington on the subject of inviting the United States to take part in the work of the League commission.

If Washington indicates that an invitation would be acceptable, one will be issued, but there will be no invitation unless it is known that it would be favorably considered.

High Court Hears Appeals from Pitt

Raleigh, Feb. 23.—(AP)—The State Supreme court today disposed of cases on appeal from the fifth judicial district with unusual dispatch and it appeared probable the 18 docketed would be completed tomorrow.

Opinions will be handed down tomorrow after the docket has been heard.

Four criminal cases, including the appeal of John Robert Myers from a sentence of electrocution for the murder of R. H. Hodges of near Pateolis, were heard today, as were as many civil actions and the ex parte proceeding of George C. Eubanks of New Bern.

Eubanks seeks to have a court order that he has not negro blood sustained.

Judge N. A. Sinclair signed a declaratory judgment August 27, 1931 that Eubanks was three-quarters white and one-quarter Mohawk Indian, on September 4 the same jurist signed an order vacating his previous judgment on the grounds he did not have the jurisdictional power.

Counsel for Eubanks appealed on the ground Judge Sinclair erred in ruling he did not have jurisdiction.

Hitler Enters Presidential Race, Germany

Berlin, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler, national Socialist leader, was definitely in the race for president of the German republic today against veteran President Paul Von Hindenburg, promising a four-cornered race.

Hitler's nomination was announced last night by his lieutenant, Joseph Goebbels. The announcement followed shortly after that of Theodore Duesterberg, head of the steel helmet organization, who was announced as the nationalist candidate. The fourth candidate is Ernest Thaelmann, a Socialist.

CHARLOTTE GIRL TO WED A VIRGINIAN

Charlotte, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Miss Elizabeth Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Alexander, Jr., of this city, is to wed Charles Pollard, of Washington, second son of Governor John G. Pollard, of Virginia, her parents announced here.

Only two weeks ago Supreme Court Justice and Mrs. Heriot Clarkson, of Charlotte, announced their daughter, Margaret, would wed John G. Pollard, Jr.

No date has been set for either wedding, but advices from Richmond said they were expected to take place in the early summer.

Fire Destroys 2 Negro Houses

Two houses occupied by colored people in the Bama section, were destroyed by fire this morning about 1 o'clock entailing loss estimated at $3,000.

The houses were occupied by Ieber Dawson and Maggie Woolard. The flames originated from an undetermined cause in the Dawson home, and had spread to the adjoining building when the fire department arrived. Both buildings were practically doomed and the firemen confined their attention to preventing the flames from reaching other buildings.

Miss Marie Gaston Entertains
Miss Marie Gaston was charming hostess to a number of her friends Monday afternoon. The house was beautifully decorated, carrying out the Valentine-Washington idea. A course consisting of fruit punch and cakes was served, before and after which dancing and games were greatly enjoyed.

Present for the occasion were: Misses Marie Gaston, Louise Clark, Ione Meeks, Helen Sawyer, Minnie Bell Craft, Maggie Parker, Eva M. Fleming, Edna Hamilton, Thelma Jones, Mrs. W. A. Blalock, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Goor Messrs. R. T. Gaston, George Brown, Alfred Bullock, Norwood Scott, Preston Smith, "Mayflower" Sawyer, A. B. Causey, James Forrest and Charles S. Edwards.

College Y.W.C.A. Gives To Needy

Last week, the Junior Cabinet of the Y. W. C. A. of East Carolina Teachers College carried a large basket of produce to a needy family in this community. Each of the twenty-five members of the Junior Cabinet contributed a dime to a fund for buying groceries for this family, the father of which has been an invalid for sometime. Mr. Cummings, a professor of geography at the Teachers College, drove the group to the home of this family which had been recommended by civic organizations as worthy. The joy it brought caused this college group to decide to follow this plan each month.

Many Pairs Still in Bridge Race

New York, Feb. 23.—(AP)—The wedding-out process continued today in one of the largest bridge tournaments ever held—the Eastern Bridge championships. The first sessions, ending after midnight, left 96 pair still in the running out of the total of 152 who paid the entrance fee for the Julian Goldman contract pair championship.

None of the really "big shots" were swept away in the first eliminations. The "four horsemen" who won the Vanderbilt cup, Mrs. Ely Culbertson, Sidney Lenz, Commander Winfield Liggett, Jr., and others who have dominating positions in the bridge world, all came through safely and all were set for the second test today.

The Hamilton club of Philadelphia and the Women's club led the field with 15 1-2 match points, and a star team from the Cavenish club in the Vanderbilt cup matches was well toward the front with 14 1-2 points.

Mrs. Culbertson's team was tied for fourth with the deal, each with 13 1-2 points. Trailing considerably further down the list were the redoubtable "Horsemen"—P. Sims, Willard S. Karn, David R. Burnstine and Oswald Jacoby—who had 10 1-2 points, along with Sidney Lenz, Knickerbocker Whist club team.

Order Mistrial in Murder Case

Laurens, S. C., Feb. 23.—(AP)—A mistrial was declared by Judge S. W. G. Shipp today in the murder trial of Henry Rasor, 45, Nathan Crisp, 37, and Eugene Crisp, 26.

James M. Donnan, foreman of the jury, reported to Judge Shipp when court reconvened this morning that "it seems impossible to reach a verdict."

Judge Shipp instructed the jurors to return to their deliberations and it retired, but 10 minutes later came into the court room again and Donnan reported it was unable to agree.

He said there had been no change in the voting since 15 minutes after the jury received the case late yesterday.

In his first report of the jury's difficulties, Donnan said it was disagreed as to the facts.

The three defendants were accused of the slaying of W. C. Rasor, 71, of Cross Hill, the father of Henry Rasor.

Founders Day Celebration To Be Held March Fifth

East Carolina Teachers College will celebrate for the first time Founder's day, on March 5. Notices have been sent to large towns and communities to be distributed to the Alumnae. Many have accepted the invitation, and a large number are expected. From one hundred seventy-four students enrolled at the first session, in 1909, the college has grown to almost nine hundred.

The local chapter of the Alumnae Association has planned the program and has appointed divers committees to take charge of the different phases. The visiting alumnae will be guests of the college.

The program will be held in the Campus Building from ten-thirty to twelve-thirty, with Dr. R. L. Slav adaptation of "Tramp, tramp, tramp," the girls are marching," a special adaptation of "Tramp, tramp, tam," will be rendered by the college girls. Members of the original faculty will extend their greetings; and Miss Deanie Boone Hasket, president of the State Alumnae Association, will give the welcome.

Mr. F. C. Harding, of Greenville, will deliver the address. All college girls will wear white dresses.

Following the program, the members of the Alumnae will be served luncheon in the dining hall.

Since many of the Alumnae were either Foss or Lanier, it is expected that they will remain to hear the Foss-Lanier debate in the evening, and to cheer for their society.

Business Men Declare War on the Depression

Charlotte, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Three hundred business, industrial and agricultural leaders of the two Carolinas gathered here last night and banded themselves together to escape depression.

They heard messages from Governor Ira C. Blackwood of South Carolina and Governor O. Max Gardner of North Carolina urging a determination to emerge from economic doldrums.

The occasion was a Washington's birthday dinner, called to promulgate a new "declaration of independence" from the material and especially the psychological factors of the depression.

"Let's stop talking about the depression," said Governor Blackwood. "Before long we will get to the point that our neighbors get tired of listening to us. We talk so much it's hard to think of anything else. Let's get rid of the evanagels of pessimism and think of the really good things we are enjoying."

Inspector Francis J. Kear said that Albano, although an Italian, spoke Hebrew fluently and frequently was taken for a Jew. The inspector said Albano was wanted in Syracuse for the murder there on June 17, 1931, of Rubin Johnson, and his picture was published among the "wanted" criminals in the current issue of "Spring" the monthly publication of the police department.

Man Wanted For Murder, Killed

New York, Feb. 23.—(AP)—A man identified from fingerprints as Charles Albano, alias Ponzy Albano, of Syracuse, N. Y., where he was said by police to have been wanted for murder, was murdered, was tossed, fatally wounded, from a moving taxicab in Eleventh avenue, opposite 17th street, early today. He died before the arrival of medical aid. He was about 38 years old.

The man had been shot several times in the side and was thrown under the new elevated motor express highway. The cab from which he was thrown had been reported stolen.

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Cotton opened barely steady today at a decline of 8 to 10 points on southern and commission house selling, promoted by easy cables. May sold at 7.62.

There was considerable March liquidation probably in anticipation of notices tomorrow, and the initial offerings sent prices off to 6.99 for May and 7.37 for October or about 11 to 14 points below Saturday's closing quotations. Offerings were absorbed by covering and trade buying on the decline, however, and the market stiffened up a few points with prices holding fairly steady at net declines of 3 to 6 points at the end of the first half hour.

Houses with Far Eastern connections were credited with selling a little cotton over the holiday during the early trading. Liverpool declines attributed to the over-holiday decline in that market to liquidation and hedging which had been absorbed by covering and local buying. It was said the demand for cotton cloths and yarns was quiet.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Selling on the part of recent speculative buyers tumbled wheat prices back today in the late dealings, and more than offset an earlier advance. A disappointing close at Liverpool after the wheat market there had shown independent strength was an incentive to holders here to let go. Bearish crop reports as to wheat in Illinois and Missouri were also a factor, together with indications of severe restrictive trade arrangements at Washington regulating grain exchanges.

Wheat closed unsteady, 1-2-1 lower than Saturday's finish, corn 3-4-1 down, oats 1-2-1 off, and provisions unchanged to 20 cents decline.

New York, Feb. 23.—(AP)—The stock market began the new week hesitantly today, but managed to show considerable resistance to further selling pressure. A break of more than 15 points in Auburn in the early trading was only moderately unsettling to the list as a whole. Several issues sagged a point or two, but recovered partially as the session wore on. Trading was sluggish.

Auburn dropped to 93, then recovered a few points. Union Pacific sold off 3 points in the early trading, and showed little recuperative power. American Telephone, after selling off 15-8, regained about half its loss. Allied Chemical, after losing nearly 2 points, more than regained its loss. U. S. Steel sagged a point, recovered to show a fractional gain, and again eased. A few recent bull favorites were again bid up a point or so, including the New York traction, American Woolen preferred, and Keosaupeo Tinplate.

The money market was unchanged, but some observers were predicting a slight gain in the yield rates of bankers' acceptances. Among foreign developments the merger of the Danabank and the Dresdner Bank in Germany, creating a huge new institution controlled by the Reichsbank, evoked favorable comment.

Mount Airy.—(AP)—Miss Lula West, secretary of the state board of examiners, announced examinations for registration of nurses will be held in Raleigh March 5, 6, and 7.

Mount Airy.—(AP)—John H. Richards, 73, farmer, killed himself with a shotgun, leaving a note saying his health left him no desire to live. No inquest deemed necessary.

Charlotte.—(AP)—Charles A. Jonas denied reports from Raleigh that he would become a U. S. Senate candidate on the Republican ticket if Senators Bailey and Morrison succeeded in blockading confirmation of his appointment as U. S. District attorney.

Ormond Beach, Fla., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Two old cronies, whose combined ages totaled 189 years, engaged in some tree planting and repartee here on Washington's birthday.

General Albert Ames, oldest living general who fought in the war between the states and John D. Rockefeller were the principals.

General Ames, who is 97, marching with military bearing in the tree planting, seized a shovel and completed the chore.

Whereupon Mr. Rockefeller, who is 92, offered his old friend a job doing some planting at the Case-mans, the Rockefeller winter estate here.

"That was a fine job general," Mr. Rockefeller announced. "I wish you could come over to my place and do some planting for me."

General Ames countered: "How many would you pay me? Ten cents an hour?"

"I'll give you 15 cents an hour if you want a raise," Mr. Rockefeller replied with a twinkling in his eye. "That, you know, is a fifty per cent increase."

man and fired. He missed. The woman continued to weep, her face buried in her hands. The rifleman leisurely aimed again and fired. This time he scored with deadly accuracy. His bullet sent the helpless victim into eternity.

As I entered the area Japanese stretcher bearers were bringing out the Japanese casualties. A group passed every few minutes. Half of the forms on the stretchers apparently were dead. In the meantime other Japanese bands were laying waste any remaining property within the area.

Large numbers of Chinese dead could be seen before the burning ruins of what had been their homes. I saw ten Chinese dead piled beside a cart path. Examination revealed that the hands of all of them were tied behind their backs. I passed the burning ruins of the home of a peasant. The fire had burned down almost to the ground. In front of it were the bodies of an old man and woman, apparently his former companions.

Farther on I passed another burning homestead. In front of it were scattered five dead Chinese, including one woman.

I returned to the vicinity of the Japanese headquarters in time to see a group of soldiers bringing in a Chinese man dressed in civilian clothes. His stay there was brief. After being threatened with bayonets, swords and pistols, he was led away with a Japanese soldier waving a menacing bayonet behind him.

Japanese consular officials today denied the accuracy of a statement printed in the American-owned Evening Post-Mercury under the signature of T. O. Thackrey, managing editor, saying that he saw Japanese officers killing Chinese at the International Race club.

The consular officials said the race club area had been under fire for two days and it was not likely any Chinese civilians were in the vicinity yesterday. Japanese officers, before launching their attack, warned the civilians to depart, they said.

They added they had no knowledge of executions. Such matters, they explained, were entirely in the hands of the military.

but it is necessary. We must face the facts, and the fundamental fact is that there is no unified control in China and no authority entitled to claim control.

reputed what is called the "stigma" which the world is attempting to attack to Japan of favoring or desiring war. If the efforts of the twelve neutral powers on the council, the note said, should succeed in bringing about a "Pacific attitude on the part of China nowhere will more sincere delight be felt than in Japan."

The note consists first of a letter addressed to M. Paul-Boncour in which the council's procedure is criticized, and secondly, in a statement attempting to refute the implications of the council's appeal and taking "strong exception to the assumption of China's willingness to resort only to peaceful measures" while Japan is not the note said it was at least impossible to see any way the appeal could be made to Japan alone. Texts of the two documents were cabled to the embassies in the various countries, including Washington.

Boston airport, where he landed on his attempted flight to South America, that a cylinder in his motor had burned out and that he was forced to land.

The telephone message was received by J. Nelson Kelly, manager of Floyd Bennett Field. Brown said he was at the Ames Aircraft hangar and that in landing he dumped half his load of approximately 1,100 gallons of gasoline and had buckled the landing gear.

The flier added that he would get a new landing gear "in a hurry" and be off on his flight again. Although he did not specify, it was believed at the field that he intended to repair the damage and return to Old Orchard for another take-off.

The landing gear of the plane had been removed and reattached so that Browne could drop it as soon as he saw he was well on his way.

The plane has two small wheels inside the fuselage, which Browne can drop through slits in the fabric cover when he wishes to land.

Browne said he expected dropping the landing gear would add five to ten miles to the plane's speed.

The weather here this morning was clear and cold and the beach was hard-packed, giving the plane a near-perfect runway to lift its heavy load of gasoline and equipment.

A comparatively small crowd was on hand to see the takeoff. The distance record which Browne and Muldowney hope to break was set last summer by John Polando and Russell Boardman in a flight to Istanbul, Turkey. Their distance was 5,029.3 miles. It is estimated that in a direct line the distance between Old Orchard and Buenos Aires is 5,400 miles. The course which Browne will take, however, will be a considerably greater distance than this.

Old Orchard Beach, Me., Feb. 23.—(AP)—The "Lone Star" headed for Buenos Aires in an effort to break the distance flight record, took off at 9:53 A. M. PST, today.

ABOUT TOWN

The beginning of the nine-month celebration of the birthday of George Washington is over and the public knows more about the "father of his country" than it ever knew before.

Through press, pulpit and platform leading men and women told the people of the splendid qualities that went into moulding the life of the greatest character of American history, and his indomitable battle for liberty which the nation now enjoys.

The principles for which Washington fought are stronger today than they have ever been before and because of that fact the government is more powerful than any period in history.

We do not have to canonize Washington, President Hoover said yesterday. His ideals are secure in the minds and hearts of the people for whom he toiled, and his life will continue to light the way to greater achievement for future generations.

In preparation for the coming of springtime, Greenville stores have begun their annual campaign to clean-up and have everything fresh and clean when the season of the year rolls around.

Numbers of stores have gone in for a new coat of paint and general rearrangement of stocks and fixtures, and customers will be able to make their purchases under far more pleasing circumstances.

Merchants long ago began to realize that an attractively arranged store was conducive to improved business, and with this idea in mind they have worked wonders in both the interior and exterior appearances of their places of business.

Goods can be offered to a far greater advantage with a bright and cherry background such as painting and polishing affords, and no merchant can go amiss by continually improving the appearance of his store.

Somebody has attempted to offer a solution to the question, "Who started the Sino-Jap war?" but so far the only thing we have discovered is that they are still fighting.

Japan says China started the conflict by firing on her bluejackets and China says Japan started it by trying to force her soldiers into Shanghai.

Now, who did start the war? If China and Japan don't know who started the war, who should? The League of Nations evidently is determined to find out and the rest of the world will be greatly relieved when the momentous question is finally made clear.

Heber Tripp, former Greenville man, is building six bungalows at El Paso, Texas, just to help relieve the unemployment situation.

Greenville lost a mighty good man when Heber decided to go west.

He is a hustler and is using his money in a good cause. He might do his native county a good turn by coming back and building some bungalows here.

Such a construction project would do much toward relieving the labor situation here. Men in the building field have been almost as hard hit as any other phase of industry and if somebody would go as Heber has done down in Texas, he would be rendering distinguished service.

Greenville is always glad to hear of her native sons doing something, and the building project started by Heber will be received with interest, especially in view of the fact that it is launched mainly for helping the unemployed.

It is to be hoped those overall workers at Greensboro will soon get straightened out on the wage question.

Strikes at this time are more serious than they have ever been before by reason of the scarcity of jobs and the necessity of keeping as much money as possible in circulation.

Over one thousand men are employed in the Greensboro mill, and

Boy Crazy

By GRACE PERKINS AUTHOR OF 'PERSONAL MAID'

SYNOPSIS: Out of grief and disillusion, Hope Ross reaches maturity—though not happiness. She has not been her happy-go-lucky self since her runaway marriage to Dickey Dale ended by her father's command, since Hope and Dickey were minors. Mr. Ross has told Hope that Dickey left her.

Chapter 26 A NEW HOPE

Hope's letters to Papa Ross must have indicated this to a high degree, for all of her special delivery favors were granted toward the fall.

Together, in a bond of strange friendship, Hope and Mrs. Manly, the girl of nineteen and the woman of sixty-eight, traveled on through the west. To New Mexico to Colorado, to California, to Vancouver, and even to Hawaii.

A new Hope, with the same old Sassy, still immaculately white of fur and grimly whiskered, returned to Westchester the following year at Christmas.

Yes, a new Hope. Tall and slim and strangely self-assured. Hardened in bone and muscle and softened in heart and tongue. A Hope who seemed suddenly to realize that Papa and Mama were lonely and getting on in years.

Oh, a very different Hope. Who once more gloried in flirting and in triumphing—this time with an older crowd by far. An older crowd who were naive in the light of the younger set in many ways, but who taught Hope new and more dangerous thrills. The thrill of gambling that stuck straight home, both in amusements of roulette and contract in the evenings, and in the stock market during the day.

For one entire year Hope crashed this crowd, hewing a peculiarly enviable and distinct position for herself. And Papa Ross, thankful to see her happy and agreeable, sane and carefree once more, paid the piper again—and gladly. Great was the cost, for Hope counted no forfeit too great for the tribute of this new world.

"You are going to leave me half of your fortune anyway," she would remind Papa Ross crisply. "Why not let me enjoy the money while you live, so you may see how I use it! Let me be the one member of this family who can live life riotously for the sake of what life can offer."

And Papa Ross, gazing at her through his cigar smoke, would feel a guilty tug at his heart, knowing how truly he had robbed her of her happiness once. Watch her, he did, day and night, stunned that a girl so young—his baby—should know so much of life, and know it so caustically.

And she certainly knew it. Not a haunt in all New York but Hope visited, from the ordinary night clubs and the regular speakies to the privately conducted salons that the surfed rich and aged could enter; from the joints of Harlem to the darkened rooms of Chinatown, from the Colony club and the Ritz all the way out to the airports of Long Island, where at last she won her final thrill of earning a pilot's license.

While all the time Rusty looked on with pained and punished eyes, realizing the futility of protest, and trying desperately to interest himself in other and lesser lights. It was a strange roudelay—Rusty suffering over Hope and constantly wondering and hoping, and Angel (who had been promoted from being Rusty's secretary to that of the vice-president—and she never would have taken the change so calmly if it didn't mean twenty a week more for her mother who was ailing), oh yes, Angel was suffering over Hope, and constantly wondering—learning to hate the girl who could hurt Rusty so deeply.

Yet Hope clung, as savage races and creeds cling to superstitions, to certain inexplicable habits and weaknesses. No longer were there weeping spells for Sassy to watch sleepily. Hope had passed the stage of weeping. But one old se-let them remain idle a week or two and the entire community is bound to suffer, especially the men extending credit to the workers. Amicable settlement of differences should be sought painstakingly before strikes are resorted to, and the strikers and mill owners will find it to their mutual advantage to come to terms as soon as possible.

Increased population is causing national educators much worry at this time, especially in the face of decreased school appropriations. This is one phase of the educational situation lawmakers of the country have not given much consideration in the states affected by the reductions, but it must be dealt with and the sooner it is taken up the better off all sections will be. Increased enrollment means increased teaching force and facilities and these mean additional expenditures, and nobody realizes it more keenly than the hundreds of school heads in this state attempting to deal with the most unprecedented situation in history.

The state is faced with a shortage, counties and towns are faced with shortages, and in the final analysis, the schools are going to have to suffer irreparable damage if concerted action is not taken in their behalf.

Here is a great problem awaiting legislative attention, and it cannot be definitely determined until the lawmakers of this state get together and find a solution.

cret routine, and weekly. In a light blue vellum hand-tooled name, ocked with a tiny gold-filled key, Hope kept a scrapbook, a strange little scrapbook, with little notations equally strange beneath the items pasted therein. Every opening of every play that J. Hickson Dale had produced in the past four years! Every notice of his travels, of his motion-picture activities, the announcement of a time when he was in a hospital with appendicitis (and he could never guess who sent a certain truckload of flowers), and another of an island he had bought off the coast of Maine as a summer place.

Other and even dearer things were pasted in that scrapbook too. A full-page picture of Dickey Dale in the Year Book of Harmouth (whipped out of Betty Preston adroitly), the picture that was published in a newspaper when he graduated with honors, bits of gossip published by New York columnists, and proving that Dickey was a gadabout in the theatrical world, an item announcing a sketch written by Dickey and incorporated into a small but successful revue, and finally the current publicity of strange and exciting reports that Dickey Dale was adapting an old play of his father's into a musical comedy libretto! Scheduled to appear on Broadway in the fall!

Certain people knew, that year, of Hope's great devotion to Charlie Rand, Jr., born on Hope's own twentieth birthday, in September, nineteen twenty-seven.

And certain folk knew of Hope's unceasing concern over Judy, who had been fighting desperately since her debut to keep on in a world she could no longer afford. Judy, who should grab the opportunity at her doorstep to marry into the wealth of the Frisky Hall family, and who was mated to love a man even poorer than herself.

Tom Post, the faithful saxophone player never saw Frisky's seventeen-carat ring. Judy always hid it and wore Tom's quarter carat; in his presence she hated the ring as much as Tom did, and she hated Frisky more with each day that dawned.

It was growing harder, month by month, to see Tom; and Tom in desperation sneaked off to Chicago Tom did wrong. He didn't explain to Judy that he had a big chance in Chicago, nor that he couldn't stand not seeing her. He just can't left—and then wired her he'd be back when she broke with Frisky! Poor Judy! Hope had a new heart break on her hands, for wasn't Judy's sorrow as great as her own? She knew how Judy felt only too well—but she had the sense, the money, the determination, and love enough to trace Tom and find the real reasons for his departure, and make him write them to Judy.

But in the meantime Judy was dizzy with grief. For how could she break with Frisky when both her parents were so desperately adamant, and so desperately in need? One can run away under normal circumstances, but one can't run away from a sick mother. Nor could one unburden oneself of the cversweet insistence of one's fiancée's family who were just as adamant as the Hunts inasmuch as they needed "family" to salt their "money."

It was the combination of Hope's interest in Judy and in Goody's baby that gave Hope the brilliant idea that sent Mama Ross pale, brought a gleam of pride into Papa Ross's eyes, and a buzz of joking gossip in the town.

For in November, Hope and Judy went into business together.

In an enviable spot on the main street of their town, in a uniquely decreoted shop was brought into existence, and called the "Pierrot and Judy." Incongruous! Hope! Opening a shop for children's dresses and baby things!

Running Papa's lawyer ragged with papers and cases and concessions to be signed, and disturbing the local bank with a new and pecular account. Here was a way in deed for Judy to make money and feel guaranteed of an income. Done in the social manner, with an opening by invitation (where tea was served), the shop caused considerable interest from the start.

Judy was a demon for work, and Hope had a head on her shoulders even if it was blond! Most of the decorations and half of the children's rompers and dresses she had designed herself.

Here was a new thrill, a terrific gamble, a vital interest. Here was companionship with Judy that meant something. Here was a new and satisfying way to shock the surrounding universe in to a fresh fillip of gossip. Here was work—and the dizzy favor of success. (Copyright, Grace Perkins)

Engagements are announced—in the next instalment. Hope's, at last?
