No Immunity for Kidnappers

Chinese Begin Attack

ASSAULT JAP POSITION IN LIUHO AREA

Japanese Claim They Are Forced to Take Defensive Measures Against Attackers

Shanghai, March 7.—(AP)—Japanese military officials said tonight 3,000 Chinese soldiers in the vicinity of Liuho began an offensive against the Japanese positions there forcing their troops to take "defensive measures."

The Chinese, on the other hand, said the Japanese continued to push westward from Manziang along the Shanghai-Nanking railway and also westward from Kating.

Neutral observers said they believed considerable skirmishing was continuing along the present battle line but no general engagement had been begun.

Japanese authorities declared their troops would be withdrawn from Shanghai as soon as it was made certain Chinese army would not again enter the 12-1-2 mile zone and the offer brought Chinese and Japanese peacemakers together again in a hopeful atmosphere.

The declaration stimulated hopes of softening the attitude of the Chinese government which rejected former peace proposals, declaring the Chinese army would not be evacuated except on withdrawal of the Japanese forces.

The indications were late this afternoon that the proposed round table conference of the neutral powers would be discarded in favor of a direct Sino-Japanese parley.

Mamour Shigenitsu, Japanese minister, declared Japan was willing to withdraw his troops at the earliest practical moment. "Obviously," he said, "Japan is not anxious to maintain a large army in the Shanghai area. Our forces will evacuate the 12-1-2 mile zone as soon as there is positive assurance the Chinese will not re-enter this area and again become a threat to Japanese lives and property within the international settlement."

He said that although the time and place for a new conference between Chinese and Japanese authorities was not yet fixed, there was every likelihood it would be held in a day or so.

The United States transport Grant arrived from Manila this afternoon bringing additional infantrymen to join the organization here. The Grant also brought four army nurses and a large quantity of supplies for the regiment. The President Jefferson is expected to arrive tomorrow with another cargo of supplies for the 6,000 American soldiers, sailors and marines on duty here.

Woman Slayer Is Held in Hospital

Concord, March 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Donald Widenhouse, who shot her husband to death at their home in the county Saturday, was under guard in a hospital here today.

She was taken to the hospital suffering from shock and a warrant charging her with murder was served there.

Sheriff Ray C. Hoover said she would be given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate C. A. Roberson tomorrow.

Mrs. Widenhouse said she shot her husband after he beat her and was threatening to attack her again.

TWO CHILDREN HURT IN JUMP FROM TRESTLE

Frightened by an approaching train while crossing a Norfolk-Southern trestle in the eastern section of the city last Saturday, two little girls, Lela and Mary Alice McLawhorn sustained injuries to their backs when they jumped to the paved road way twenty feet below.

A third member of the party, Mary Alice Faulkner, fell on the tracks and skinned her hands and limbs but did not jump.

COLD WEATHER BIG FOUR TO VISITS COUNTY

Winter, riding on a howling March wind, brought rain and snow and considerable property damage to Greenville and community yesterday as well as to other sections of the state, according to information reaching the city today.

The cold blasts descending out of the north all day yesterday and last night exacted severe toll among buildings, communication and power lines, and damaged plant life to no little extent.

Although it was impossible to estimate the total damage in this immediate section it was expected it would go into thousands of dollars.

Probably the worst sufferer from the gale, which gained its greatest momentum shortly after the noon hour, was the Greenville Floral Company. The greenhouses were damaged to the extent of $250, L. S. Spence, said today and carpenters were busy most of the day attempting to replace shattered glass.

The family of John Mitchell, cashier of State Bank and Trust Company, had a narrow escape from serious or fatal injuries when a section of the sun parlor fell in at their home on Library street.

Members of the family and friends were sitting in the room about 11 o'clock when several windows built into a single frame, suddenly gave way before the pressure of the wind, and crashed with a terrific shock. How the occupants escaped without injury (Continued on Page Two)

Rescue Crew Oyster Boat in N. C. Water

Elizabeth City, March 7.—(AP) Capt. R. B. Hodges and five members of the oyster sloop, Mildred Hodges, of Washington, N. C., were rescued by the Coast Guard today after the sloop stranded in Old Trap Bay, near the mouth of the Pasquotank river.

None of the survivors was seriously hurt, although all suffered from exposure.

The sloop was anchored to ride out the storm, but a shift in the wind caused the anchor to drag and drove the vessel on the lee shore. A stake stove a hole in the bottom and with the decks awash, the crew spent the night on deck wrapped in bedding and sail.

Virtually every coastal town was isolated today following a storm which lashed the seaboard yesterday.

WAR STARTS ON HOARDING

President Hoover Opened Campaign With Stirring Appeal Last Night

Washington, March 7.—(AP)—The great war-like offensive against hoarding swung into action today, signalled by President Hoover himself in a stirring appeal for a demonstration of the people's faith in their country.

At the "zero hour" last night, the chief executive faced a battery of microphones in the White House cabinet room to tell his nation-wide radio audience that it was time for every citizen to step out against the harmful economic forces that have hampered recovery, with releasing hoarded money the big objective.

"The American people," said Mr. Hoover, "have at this moment one of the greatest opportunities in their history to show an assured confidence and an active faith in their own destiny which is the destiny of the United States—and by that faith we shall win this battle."

Supporting him were Colonel Frank Knox, director of the organization; Secretary Mills of the Treasury; Senator Joseph T. Robinson, leader of the Democrats, and Charles G. Dawes, head of the Reconstruction Corporation, who spoke from a Washington hotel.

Mr. Hoover gave his full emphasis to impressing on his hearers the grave effect of keeping money out of normal channels.

MANY JOBLESS GIVEN WORK

Nature and Building Program Furnish Work for Hundreds at Morehead City

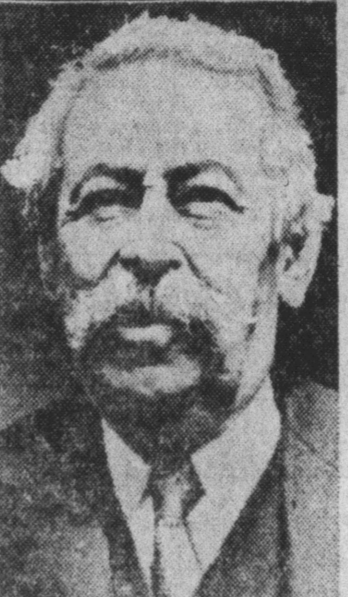

Morehead City, March 7.—(AP)—The best broom-corn crop in years, an abundance of soft shell crabs, and an extensive building program are providing work for hundreds of unemployed in this section.

Accurate figures on the number of persons recently provided with employment are unavailable but nature's generosity in boosting broom-corn growth and the multiplication of crabs has proved a boon to many.

A number of extra hands are employed for a brief season each year to harvest the broom-corn which is said to be the largest and best in many years. The soft shell crab season opened early and a large number of persons went to work gathering the extra amount this year.

Outside these two occupations, scores of men are at work on a building program in and near Morehead City.

SOUTH IN GRIP OF COLD WAVE

Severe Damage Results From Wind and Rain in Many Parts of Southland

Atlanta, Ga., March 7.—(AP)—Winter, the benevolent Dr. Jekyll that bestowed unseasonable flowers and crops on the south with a spring-like gesture, turned into a malicious Mr. Hyde over the weekend to scatter death and destruction on bitter winds.

Snow sifted down over sections of Virginia, the Carolinas, Tennessee and Alabama while gales lashed coastal points from Virginia to Florida, wrecking small pleasure boats and fishing craft. Sub-freezing temperatures were recorded as far south as Pensacola, Florida, on the Gulf of Mexico. Wind and rain did heavy damage.

A five-year-old boy was killed and four members of his family injured when the storm bowled over a (Continued on page three)

GIVES CLOTHES TO THE NEEDY

Salvation Army Distributes Much Clothing After Bundle Day Drive

The Salvation Army "Bundle Day" drive failed to measure up to expectations in this city Saturday, and the organization has been unable to meet the demands of the poor in the face of the unexpected cold wave which descended upon the community during the weekend, it was revealed by workers this morning.

The drive, which was intensively prosecuted by Army workers assisted by 19 members of the local Boy Scout patrol, netted a total of 19 bundles of clothing and shoes. The bundles were loaded on trucks furnished through the courtesy of the Ficklen Tobacco Company, Person-Garrett Tobacco Company and the automobile of Ensign Joseph Willett.

Penrose Perkins had the honor of collecting the greatest number of bundles during the drive. Ensign Willett said today in commending the Boy Scouts for their splendid services to the cause.

The Salvation Army head also expressed appreciation to the public for the gifts, and said he would be able to take care of scores of families entirely dependent upon charity for a livelihood in the face of the employment shortage.

Applicants have appealed for clothing since the drive was completed, the ensign said, and they were provided with sufficient apparel to prevent suffering.

The condition among the poor is worse than it has been in many years, especially during the present cold wave, and any citizen that failed to contribute during the drive is asked to do so at any time. The need for clothing has never been greater than at this time and gifts of this kind will do much toward relieving an acute situation.

GOV. MOORE DECLARES HE IS POWERLESS TO CHANGE LAWS OF N. J.

NO RANSOM IS DEMANDED

Police Tell Newspapermen That Abductors of the Lindbergh Baby Did Not Demand Ransom in Note; Man Who Said He Rode From New York to Bridgeport With Red Johnson Grilled by the Police Today

Trenton, Mar. 7.—(AP)—Governor A. Harry Moore told newspapermen today that he was powerless to grant immunity to the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby but added that he would be willing to withdraw the police if Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh should request it.

The governor received reporters at their request in his chambers in the state house. The first question was whether he would promise immunity if Colonel Lindbergh himself should ask it.

"I have no more authority than you to do that, he replied. "No one can give a pass to break the law. A law is a law. Only a grand jury, by refusing to indict, can grant immunity."

He was asked whether there was any basis for the police belief that the baby was alive, expressed at Hopewell today by Police Captain J. J. Lamb.

"We have no tangible evidence that the child is alive," we are investigating every minute and there are no new developments. We are cooperating with the Lindberghs all the time.

"My idea is to put every resource of state and nation in the case. The forces of the secret service are working throughout the country."

Hopewell, March 7.—(AP)—Captain J. J. Lamb, of the state police announced today that no demand for ransom has ever been made for the kidnaped Lindbergh baby and that neither the Lindberghs or police have ever had any communication from the kidnapers.

This statement was in direct contradiction of information given out by investigating forces at the Lindbergh estate last week that a note had been pinned to the nursery window sill demanding ransom and threatening harm to the baby if the text of the note was made public.

It was reported that this note demanded $50,000 for the baby's return but this was never officially confirmed.

Captain Lamb made his announcement today at the morning press conference at which he replied to a long list of prepared questions. The list of questions and answers follows: Will the police say officially whether or not there was a demand for ransom in the note left by the kidnapers? The family and police both deny there was a note left demanding ransom. Will the police reveal the contents of the note? Police know of no note or contents. How much ransom was demanded? Same answer as number one. Did any note instruct Colonel Lindbergh to announce Spitalo and Bitz as intermediaries four days after the kidnaping? No. What taken, if any, did the kidnapers leave to identify their later communications to Colonel Lindbergh from fake messages? None. Have the police or Colonel Lindbergh received any message they believed are from the kidnapers? No. Do the state police or Colonel Lindbergh believe the baby is dead or alive? We believe the baby is alive. (Continued on Page Two)

SOUSA'S BODY AT CAPITAL

Noted Bandmaster to Be Buried in Congressional Cemetery Thursday

Washington, March 7.—(AP)—A snow-hushed capital sheltered today the body of John Philip Sousa the great march king, whose career as a bandmaster over forty years led him to the pinnacle of international acclaim.

Sousa died in Reading, Pa., early Sunday morning. It was just a few hours after the 77-year-old conductor had directed a rehearsal of a local band. He attended a banquet given in his honor, retired to his room, and was found shortly after by his secretary, stricken by a heart attack which snuffed out his life.

They brought his body to Washington—home. He was born here, and here his father obtained him a place in the Marine band when 13 years old. He will be buried Thursday at Congressional cemetery with such honors and ceremonies as his family will accept.

Reading gave him a martial send-off, with an honor guard composed of American Legionnaires. Four Army officers and his son-in-law, Hamilton Albert, escorted his flower-covered casket to the capital.

But his body's entry in Washington was without ceremony. In a driving snow storm the casket was taken from the station to the hearse which waited in the deserted street, Navy and Marine Corps were ready to pay the tribute of an es-

RUM DEALER NABBED HERE

Negro Arrested After Escape From Still in Beaufort Three Weeks Ago

Arthur Moore, negro, charged with violation of the national prohibition law, was nabbed by officers here today and released under bond of $250 for his appearance at a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Thomas E. Beaman.

The negro escaped from a still raided by federal officers in Beaufort county in the Blount's Creek section, three weeks ago. The officers also seized a steam distilling plant, a truck and considerable amount of paraphernalia.

A new automobile and 24 gallons of whiskey said to have been the property of the negro were captured by the police here about two weeks ago. Moore again escaped and it appeared that his freedom would be permanent until he was nabbed here yesterday.

Latest Facts Dealing With Kidnapping Case

(By The Associated Press) New York—While rumors flew that Saly Spitalo, Lindbergh "brother-in-law," was holding shadowy rendezvous with an agent for the kidnapers, police pounced on his limousine as it left a ferry on Staten Island. It was a mistake, however, and the car, containing only a spattering chauffeur, was released.

Hopewell—Five hundred motherless tots at St. Michael's orphanage are praying that the kidnapers will leave the child at that institution. Each day they hurry to the door, but there has been no child on the step. New York—"Somebody knows all about the crime," said Commissioner Edward Mulrooney to 900 policemen. "When more than two people are in on a secret, it is not a secret. Neglect no clues."

ABOUT TOWN

The government effort to stop hoarding should do much toward making additional money in circulation, in the opinion of John Mitchell, local banker, who told of the far-reaching effort of the administration to improve the economic condition of the nation in an address before the Kiwanis club the latter part of last week.

The government plans to issue bonds to people in all communities, and this will be left in these communities in order to aid in recovery from the financial shortage. Investors in these bonds are assured of full protection as they have the guarantee of the national government behind them. The bonds are redeemable after sixty days.

Civic organizations of the county should do everything possible to interest the people in the buying of these bonds, Mr. Mitchell believes, as they will have a tendency of bringing more money into play and that in itself should be constructive to improvement of the depression.

Alumnae who attended the Founders Day program of East Carolina Teachers college here last Saturday were not only inspired by the program, but expressed themselves as highly elated at the splendid progress made by the institution in its twenty-five years of history.

The college has developed into one of the leading institutions of the nation for the training of teachers for the broad field of service, and it was only fitting that a celebration of this kind should be held, the visitors asserted. They praised members of the faculty for their undiminished devotion to the cause of the college and the purpose which it serves, and predicted the future would hold forth as great opportunities as the past, for uninterrupted development in spite of the setback received by all educational institutions as result of the unprecedented economic crisis.

Dr. Wright especially was complimented for his untiring service to the school. He was the first president and the progress experienced through years of inflation and deflation was due to a great extent to his diligence, vision and unselfish service to the school. Not many colleges have made as great progress as this school over such a short period of time, and the recognition which it has received in the field of higher education attests to the thoroughness of the work of the educators who have made this possible.

North Carolina club women have been called on by Mrs. Charles B. Whitaker, of Southern Pines, president of the North Carolina Tuberculosis Association, and chairman of Health of the State Federation, to cooperate in carrying out the program of the state-wide milk-for-Health-Campaign being conducted by the State Board of Health in the interest of health and better nutrition, particularly among school children.

Knowing that much of the average woman club's work for the past two years has been feeding and caring for the undernourished school children of the community, Mrs. Whitaker takes this occasion to remind club women that plain, whole sweet milk is the cheapest and most important single article in the diet of a child, and that children cannot be well nourished without milk.

Mrs. Whitaker suggests that women clubs join the other agencies of their counties and wage a vigorous county campaign for the use of more milk as a means of combating malnutrition. "Nutritional diseases," she says, "are on the increase, and mostly for the reason that many people are leaving milk out of their daily diet." That North Carolinians drink less than half as much milk in comparison with the people of other states shows the size of the problem, she says, "and the Milk-for-Health-Campaign offers one way to 'cure it'."

As president of the N. C. Tuberculosis Association, Mrs. Whitaker is also calling on the chairman of all local associations to offer their services toward furthering the campaign. She points out that it was the state and local tuberculosis associations that several years ago demonstrated the seriousness of undernourishment in some 20 per cent of the school children of the State, and presented the methods for correcting the same.

Kitty Frew

By Jane Abbott

SYNOPSIS: Kitty Frew's bright imaginings about her marriage to Garfield Frew, young college graduate and son of a wealthy family, dim when Gar's friend, Marge Crosby, makes her conscious of her small town background. Arriving at Gar's home, she dreads meeting his family. Gar is happily unconscious of her worries. He has no fear of his mother's reception of Kitty, though he is annoyed that she has arranged that Kitty and he are to have his old room. His sister, Carol, watches their mother as she waits to receive Gar and asked about Gar's marriage. When the young couple come in, Mrs. Frew is formally cordial to Kitty and warm to Gar, Carol barely acknowledges the introduction, during the conversation, Mrs. Frew indignantly told Kitty's presence is a complication. Gar and Kitty go out dancing, where they meet Gar's crowd. Mrs. Frew is angry and disappointed and his bride, Carol knows that morning, early, she thought of it, half dreading the meeting with Gar's father with her conscience so burdened.

They found Dalton Frew alone at a table in a sunny breakfast room. When they entered he sprang to his feet with an exclamation of pleasure.

"Hello, Da's," Gar's greeting was casual. "You're looking fine."

"You're looking fine yourself, boy." He dropped Gar's hand to hold his out to Kitty. "So this is your wife."

He scrutinized Kitty in a searching, kindly way, his smile indulgent. Gar turned his attention immediately to the breakfast table, pulling out a chair for Kitty.

Mr. Frew asked Gar about college. "Well, you're through, boy." But he did not say anything about Gar's job waiting for him.

Kitty felt that only a part of Dalton Frew's mind was focusing on her and Gar. He was tall-built like Gar; in his youth he must have had some of Gar's splendid vigor but now his shoulders stooped a little, his hair was thin and gray at the temples, his mouth and eyes lined with fine wrinkles.

And presently he left them. He patted Kitty's shoulder as he passed her. "I hope you'll be happy here with us, my dear," he offered in a kindly tone.

It was three o'clock of a night-five weeks after their coming to Winton, that Gar turned on Kitty with cold dissatisfaction.

"Kit, I wish you'd warm up to my friends a little more. They have been all pretty darn nice to you, I'll say." Gar's voice was sharply critical. He was standing before his chiffonier, tearing off his tie and collar, his back turned to Kitty but she saw his heavy frown reflected in the mirror.

Gar turns against Kitty, with more cutting accusations, tomorrow. And Kitty decides upon a new plan of action.

FARM NOTES

By E. F. ARNOLD, County Agent The following is a list of committees who will be in charge of distribution of farm seed loan money from Washington.

Beihel: S. C. Ives, J. C. Thompson, and J. V. Taylor.

Farmville: John Thorne, D. E. Oglesby, T. E. Joyner.

The application blanks have arrived. The above committees have been advised of arrival of these blanks and any farmer can find out through his local committee as soon as blanks are available. The county committee has designated the county agent's office as headquarters for filling out blanks and we will be glad to render this service on receipt of blanks.

Cost. Money secured through this source will bear an interest of 5-1-2 per cent per annum. In addition to this there will be a charge of 25c for filling out of application blanks and crop liens. Each application will also require an affidavit by a notary public or some other authorized official which is to be paid for by the applicant. If the loan is approved, the federal government pays for having same recorded.

Rules and regulations: There are certain rules that should be borne in mind by those who seek crop loans, some of which follow:

1. No loans will be made to any applicant who has a means of livelihood other than farming nor to a minor.

2. No loan will be made to any applicant who did not operate a farm in 1931.

3. No loan will be made for a total acreage of crops in excess of the average of the acreage planted by the borrower in 1930 and 1931.

4. No loan will be made for the purchase of machinery or livestock or for the feeding of livestock or other workstock used in crop production or for the payment of taxes, debts, or interest on debts.

5. The maximum loan to any individual will not exceed $400. The tenants of any landowner can not borrow in excess of $1600.

6. Tenants can not secure loan if this landlady has applied for loan or has been granted a loan.

7. No application will be received by the Farmers' Seed Loan Office after April 30, 1932.

GET IMPORTANT LINDBERGH CLUE

State Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn (left) and County Detective Ed J. Hickey (right) of Hartford took charge of the questioning of Henry (Red) Johnson, friend of Betty Gow, nurse for the Lindberghs. They announced the questioning had given them an important clue to the kidnaping of baby Lindbergh.

Jimison Will Again Enter the Ministry

Charlotte, March 7.—(AP)—Tom P. Jimison, whose political activities led to friction between him and other members of the Western North Carolina Methodist Episcopal conference and his resignation as a minister of the conference seven years ago, plans to return to the ministry.

Now an attorney here, Jimison announced he had not been "happy since I gave up the ministry" and said he would go back to it. His first step will be to aid in a revival service to be held at Pleasant Grove Methodist church, Mecklenburg county, beginning March 13.

While a minister of the church, Jimison made an unsuccessful campaign for mayor of Winston-Salem. Later he was an active leader of a strike of railway shop employes at Spencer.

When he left the ministry he studied law at the University of North Carolina and then began practice here. He represented the defense in the trial of a group of Communists for murder of O. F. Aderholt, chief of police of Gastonia, who was killed during the textile strike there in 1929.

New Theory to Be Expounded on Energy-Matter

Chapel Hill, March 7.—(AP)—A new theory of matter and energy, explaining all the phenomena of light, will be expounded for the first time here tomorrow night.

The theory has been developed by Dr. E. K. Plyler, associate professor of physics at the University of North Carolina, and will be presented at the meeting of the Elisha Mitchell Society.

Colleagues have expressed the view the new theory will be one of the greatest developments in physics. In the matter of light, Dr. Plyler said, the wave theory of Huggens and the Quantum theory of Planck and Einstein each explain parts of the phenomena.

Dr. Plyler says no theory has been advanced explaining all the phenomena of light and that he believes his theory will fill the gaps in other theories.

EDITORIAL Choosing a Vocation.

The fact that every normal person is the recipient of some natural "bent" or specific ability in one individual line of thought has long been recognized. If it is true that every human being is endowed with some spontaneous aptitude, why, then, do so many people with natural talent make a failure in following their selected line of work? The answer is that they have selected the wrong type of occupation—work for which they are totally unfit. They have not uncovered and put to work their inborn talents, proper use of which would have brought a veritable gold mine of success; but instead have entered employment blindly and by matter of chance, too heedless of their fitness for the occupation in which they have entered.

Modern man tests with greatest care the materials used in his constructions, but unfortunately the all-important matter of choosing his life work is nine out of ten times left to the unrelenting winds of chance and prejudice.

Because of this 85 per cent of the people in the world today have entered trades and occupations in which they have no ability, and have thus become vocational misfits. These same people, had they given more time and thought to selection of their life work and their fitness for that work, would have undoubtedly become very successful in life, whereas now they are plodding along in a class of unsuccessful mediocrity.

The commonest cause of vocational misfitting is the lack of adequate understanding of young people by themselves or their mentors. They are totally ignorant of their genius and of their various handicaps and are uninformed of the whole mental and psychic equipment with which they are endowed. The evanescent echo of the note of genius, commonly referred to as "natural bent" is to the average parent about as lucid a phenomenon as was the flight of a heavier than air machine in the days of Shakespeare. Ambitious parents, hopeful of germinating the seeds of genius in the nursery, are doomed to the same disappointment befalling a horrified hen when her duckling brood takes to water.

The child, even the most gifted, instead of displaying the marks properly to be expected of an embryonic tycoon is far more apt to reveal ordinary predictions of a fireman, cowboy, or street car conductor.

From this it is quite evident that self knowledge is essential to sound life planning, and sound life planning is the very first step towards success. The problem of selecting a life work is by no means an easy one and it should be studied and weighed with ardent deliberation.

However, there are quite a few things which are of positive relation and benefit to those seeking vocational aid. There are numerous vocational experts who, upon consultation, could prove very helpful to the undecided and hesitant job seeker. Psychologists have now come to rely on Graphology or Interpretation of hand writing, as an unerring avenue of approach to the mind. Heredity, early environment and physical characteristics also play an important part in the fixation of the "natural bent."

Triangular Debaters Chosen.

On Wednesday morning at the home room period the try outs for the selection of the triangular debating teams were held. Miss Mary Ellen Powell, Mrs. Bessie Picklesimer and Miss Rachel Scarborough acted as judges.

The query for debate this year is: Resolved, That the United States Should Adopt a System of Compulsory Unemployment Insurance. Students selected to represent the high school in this contest were Ruth Burns and Catherine Tyson, who will represent the affirmative side of the question; and Elizabeth Ferguson and Gretchen Willard, who will defend the negative.

Greenville is in the triangle with New Bern and Washington. Each team will debate on foreign ground. Greenville's affirmative will journey to New Bern, while the negative will debate in Washington. The debate will take place on Friday.

The radical change of temperature came on the heels of a long sojourn of balmy weather and sent thousands of people scurrying for heavier clothing and replenishing depleted coal supplies. It was believed fuel dealers did a large business this morning than on any single day of the winter.

Balmy temperatures still prevailed when the citizenry awoke yesterday morning, but gathering clouds, accompanied by heavy wind and rain of storm like proportions, presaged changing temperatures. The change came with breath-taking suddenness, and at the noon hour it was evident the locality was in for the coldest attack of the winter.

The rain of the morning hours was converted into snow during the afternoon but this failed to stick on account of the warmth of the ground. The snow fell fast and thick for three hours or more, but only a slight coating remained on rooftops and lawns today as a reminder of the first visit of the snowman this winter.

The sun was shining brightly this morning, but the mercury still hung low under the impact of a stiff wind. Continued cold with frost was predicted for tonight and tomorrow.

GOV. MOORE DECLARES HE IS POWERLESS TO CHANGE LAWS OF N. J.

Yes. Was the milk bottle found in Johnson's car the property of the company which furnished milk for the Lindbergh baby?

I can't tell you anything about the milk bottle as investigators have not reported as yet.

Will Johnson be released under bond or will be retained further?

That depends on the outcome of his questioning.

Bridgetown, Conn., March 7.—(AP)—A man who said he rode from New York to Bridgetown last Wednesday with Henry (Red) Johnson, detained for questioning in the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby, was taken into custody here today.

Police, who refused to disclose his name, took him to police headquarters for questioning. Johnson, friend of Miss Gow, the baby's nurse, was picked up in West Hartford Friday. He was taken to Newark, N. J., yesterday

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, March 7.—(AP)—Cotton opened easy today, unchanged to 5 points off on southern selling, promoted by easy cables. May sold at 7.07.

Initial offerings were readily absorbed but the selling continued. May eased to 7.02 and October to 7.40 after the call or about 4 to 7 points net lower on the active positions. The market then steadied on covering and prices rallied 3 or 4 points from the lowest at the end of the first half hour. Considerable early trade buying came partly through houses with Liverpool and continental connections. In addition to scattered southern selling, there was said to be some selling by local traders and brokers who sometimes act for the co-operative interests. Liverpool cables reported hedging and general liquidation influenced by the advance of sterling and said there was an improved business in cotton cloths for shipment to the continent and South America.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, March 7.—(AP)—Wheat prices underwent a decided setback late today after announcement that the United States visible supply showed 4,037,000 bushels increase for the week.

On a preceding bulge, September delivery of wheat equalled the season's top quotations. Apprehension of crop damage by the cold wave was largely responsible, together with sterling at a new high for the year.

Wheat closed steady, -6-7-8 lower than Saturday's finish. Corn 1-4-5-8 down, oats 1-8-1-4 off, and provisions varying from 2 cents down to an equal gain.

STOCK MARKET

By CLAUD A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Editor)

New York, March 7.—(AP)—The stock market once more encountered selling at the top level of the trading range of the past three months today.

Speculators for the ice endeavored to extend last week's advance by bidding up food and miscellaneous shares in the morning, but found the list lory. After the first hour, a slow decline set in, which carried several leaders 1 to 3 points under Saturday's final prices.

American Telephone was heavy from the start, and by early afternoon was off about 3 points. Losses of 1 to 2 points appeared in such issues as American Can, U. S. Steel, DuPont, Allied Chemical, Santa Fe, Canadian Pacific, Southern Pacific, North American, Consolidated Gas, Woolworth, and Penny. Safeway, a recent bull favorite, lost 3. Peoples Gas was a strong spot, pushing up more than 7. Homestake Mining, another volatile issue, gained as much. Such issues as National Biscuit, Borden, Corn Products, and Lambert gained 1 to 2 points early and held up fairly well.

Wall Street sentiment remained moderately cheerful, but week-end news failed to provide any tangible signs of the seasonal increase in production and distribution of goods that the stock market is waiting for.

Money was a little firmer at the start of the week, with no outside call money offered under the official rate of 21-2 per cent.
