Three Arrests in Kidnapping Case

Hoover Suggests Plan For the Reduction Of Government Expenses

WOULD CUT DEPARTMENTS

Sees Need for Suspending Duties And Functions of Various Departments in Order to Relieve Constant Drain of The Treasury; Confers with Various Department Heads On Question.

Washington, March 8.—(AP)—President Hoover took the position today that the best remaining means of slicing federal expenses is for Congress to help cut down or suspend duties and functions of various government branches.

The president disclosed at a conference with newspapermen that the cabinet has been canvassing to determine what changes could be made in the activities of government departments that would result in less cash being required from the treasury.

Frank T. Hines, veterans administrator, has proposed alterations in the law governing allowances and pensions, the president said, which may save as much as $60,000,000 annually.

In addition, Postmaster General Brown has drawn up suggestions for changes in postoffice routine and Secretary Hyde has done similarly for agricultural expenditures, with both moves designated to save millions yearly.

The Chief Executive pledged his aid to the special house economy committee and to the ways and means committee, but said he doubted there was little room left for cuts of appropriations under present administrative functions.

The whole of the administrative officials are cooperating with the special economy committee appointed by the House of Representatives in the drive to bring about further drastic economies in Federal expenditures.

You will recollect that the budget sent to congress represented reductions in expenditures for the next fiscal year of about $365,000,000 below the present fiscal year. The House appropriations committee has reduced the amounts of bills so far reported out by about $112,000,000.

Of this, however, between 60 and 70 millions is a deferment until Congress meets next December when they will be compelled to meet positive obligations by deficiency bills. To this extent, therefore, the reductions do not help next year's expenditures.

In order to meet the requirements of the ways and means committee that expenditures must be reduced by $125,000,000 in order to balance the budget, it is necessary that further cuts be made.

Man Confesses in Trunk Murder

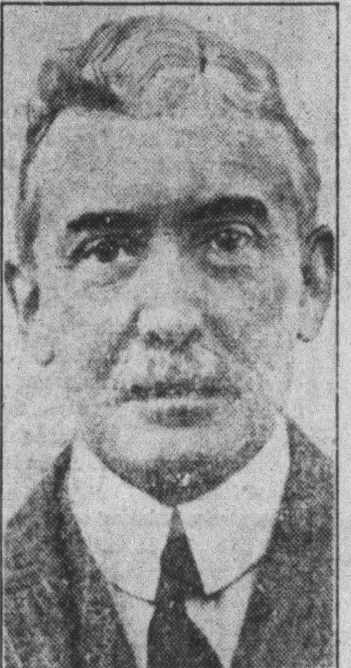

Atlantic City, N. J., March 8.—(AP)—Louis Pine, 50, was charged with murder today after confessing to police that he had shipped the body of his landlady, Mrs. Mattie Schaaf, 60, to Philadelphia, in a trunk where it was found in a rooming house yesterday.

Pine collapsed from a heart attack immediately after making a statement and was taken to City Hospital where he was placed under police guard. Authorities refused to reveal whether or not he had admitted the actual slaying.

It was feared Pine might attempt to commit suicide and a pellet he attempted to swallow as he was being taken from police headquarters to the hospital was turned over to county prosecutor, Louis Repetto.

Pine was arrested six hours after Philadelphia police had discovered the body of Mrs. Schaaf in a trunk within a rooming house in Philadelphia. Identification of the body was made by Emma Middleton, Mrs. Schaaf's negro maid, who was taken to Philadelphia last night, and Pine's arrest followed.

VOTERS LOOK TO HAMPSHIRE

The National Political Spotlight Turned On the Smith-Roosevelt Fight.

Concord, N. H., March 8.—(AP)—First returns from today's presidential primary in this state—the vote from the town of Livermore—gave a six to one vote for the state of delegates pledged to Alfred E. Smith over that pledged to Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Washington, March 8.—(AP)—The national political spotlight swung on New Hampshire today to witness the voters' choice between Franklin D. Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith for the Democratic presidential nomination.

It was the first presidential primary of the present year, and the first of strength between the present and past New York governors' (Continued on Page Four)

Sidelights on Kidnapping of the Lindbergh Baby

Mansfield, Pa.—A crowd of curious watching for the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby to drop around got only numbered feet for their patience. A note seized in Elmira, N. Y., told Cold, Lindbergh to be at the cross roads inn with $500,000 at 7 p. m. last night. The zero hour (the weather made the term doubly appropriate) came and went without any action.

TWO PILOTS DIE IN WRECK

Three Others Injured as Plane Crashes At Airport in St. Louis.

St. Louis, March 8.—(AP)—Two Century Air Lines pilots were killed and three other pilots injured when the plane in which they were practicing night landings crashed near the Curtiss-Stenberg air field in East St. Louis early today.

The aviators recently were employed by the Century Air Lines, following the dismissal of other pilots by the company when a salary disagreement arose. The plane struck the skeleton of an old windmill about 500 yards from the edge of the field and crashed to the ground.

The dead are L. H. Atkinson, 35, and James S. Kirk, 35, both of Chicago. The injured: Ira Smalling, 33, Chicago, fractured leg; Sidney Cleveland 34, Goldfield, Iowa, cuts and bruises and shock; Theodore Graff, 29, Chicago, cuts and bruises.

Fraud Found In Claim For The Wendell Estate

Annapolis, Md., March 8.—(AP)—Arthur Trader, chief clerk of the state land office here said today that two counterfeit cards had been placed in his files in an apparent effort to establish a claim to the Wendell millions.

Discovery of the fraud, trader said, followed two requests—one by a Maryland woman and the other by a New York attorney—in the past week for records of the marriage of Frank Brown to Rachael Virginia Wendell, January 1, 1819.

Two cards, neither of which corresponds with the type used by the land office were found in the files, the clerk said. They gave the name of the bride and bridegroom, parents of both the clergyman who officiated and the church. The cards were removed from the records Trader declared.

Both the woman and man requested the office to testify to the accuracy of the data and both were refused. "The thing looks like a frame up" Trader said, "I checked the list with the copy and found that someone has filed cards that do not conform with the type of card used in making the compilation."

Eighth-month schools of Pitt county will run their usual term this year in spite of the economic situation affecting virtually every county school system of the state at this time.

STORM HITS COAST HARD

Shad Fishing in Dare County is Damaged Half Million Dollars by Cold Wave.

By W. W. ANDERSON Manteo, N. C., March 8.—(AP)—Shad fishing, Dare county's largest industry with a half million dollars invested stood paralyzed in mid-season today for weekend storms had swept away virtually every fisherman's net.

The loss in equipment was estimated at over $250,000 while the loss in uncaught fish would probably total another quarter million dollars.

Storms which swept over this coast during the week-end wreaked havoc enough when they tore away the nets which for many fishermen were their only means of livelihood. Today, scores of families faced destitution for, in addition to the loss of equipment, they have no means of procuring additional nets and boats with which to recoup their losses and continue to bring in the weekly funds for bread and meat.

In addition, much other damage was done along the coast. The 64-mile an hour gale blew water four feet deep through many of the villages; scores of small craft were blown ashore at Hatteras; the Nags Head-Roanoke Island highway and causeway was damaged $50,000; Mann's Harbor and East Lake Ferry terminals were wrecked.

Wharves and piers were destroyed at Manteo, where a 100-foot barge was stranded; damage to fisheries outside of Dare county was estimated at $250,000, and piers at Wilmington and Wrightsville were wrecked.

Shad fishing got underway half-heartedly the early part of last month for fish were not as plentiful as in seasons past and catches were few. In many communities fishermen (Continued on page four)

ROTES FAVOR BOND DRIVE

Greenville Club Will Support Government Campaign Against Hoarding.

President Hoover's campaign to bring money out of hiding through an intensive drive against hoarding will receive the support of Greenville Rotarians.

This fact was determined at the regular meeting of the organization last night at which time Tom Clifton explained the government bond issue, similar to that adopted during the war, and called on the Rotarians to support it in every way possible.

Through the sale of bonds, the speaker said, President Hoover hopes to bring millions of dollars from their hiding places in various sections of the country and relieve the financial strain experienced by virtually every community for the last two years.

The suggestion for the two civic clubs of the community to support the government campaign was similar to that presented to the Kiwanis club last Friday night by John Mitchell, cashier of State Bank and Trust Company.

The public will be asked to buy liberally of the bonds and in that way start dollars on an endless roll to the higher plane of prosperity. Every community should be interested in the project, government representatives said in launching the campaign last Sunday night in that every dollar invested in bonds will be left in the community in which it is spent to aid in improving conditions.

Although Rotarians in creating sentiment in behalf of the bonds, this was not done last night, but was expected to be completed today.

Discussion of the anti-hoarding drive constituted the main part of the program last night. Several songs were enjoyed along with the usual supper. President Howard McGinnis presided.

ANOTHER HELD UNDER BOND

Police Admit They Are Still Investigating Probability That Some Member of Yindbergh Household Was Involved in the Kidnapping of His Baby; Henry Johnson May Be Released Sometime Today

Hopewell, N. J., March 8.—(AP)—The searchlight of the Lindbergh baby kidnaping investigation today swung its full glare into New England.

Two men were arrested in a Boston railroad station while putting through a long distance call to the Lindbergh home. One of the men told police he believed his father-in-law knew more about the case than he would tell and he wanted to inform Col. Lindbergh.

In New Haven, Conn., a contractor was held in $25,000 bond for state police investigating what they said was an entirely new angle of the case.

There was little development elsewhere, though three long term kidnap convicts were questioned at length in Philadelphia.

Boston, March 8.—(AP)—Two men, one of whom said he was going to telephone Col. Charles Lindbergh to tell him he knew a man who knew where the missing Lindbergh baby was hidden, were arrested in the north station of the Boston and Maine Railroad today.

The men identified themselves as Earle Edwards, 40, of Derry, N. H., and Samuel Black, 51, of Lawrence. A man using a telephone book at the station overheard Edwards pass a call to the Lindbergh home at Hopewell, N. J., from the adjoining booth. He told William J. Crimmins, a railroad policeman, and he notified Sergeant Andrew Markhard of the Boston police.

Traffic policemen in the vicinity were gathered and they surrounded the booth and arrested Edwards and Black.

Edwards said a man in Haverhill had convinced him he knew where the missing baby was being held and he, Edwards, was calling Lindbergh to tell him to communicate with the Haverhill man.

Later Edwards said his father-in-law in Haverhill whom he said could neither read nor write, had described both the Lindbergh baby and the Lindbergh home to him in detail. For this reason, he believed he knew more about the case than he was telling, Edwards said. His father-in-law's last name was Belanger and "he thought the first name was Charles."

Black told police he met Edwards on the train and the latter had told him about his "clue." Black quoted Edwards as saying he would transmit the information to Lindbergh if he had sufficient funds. Black said he had $165 and would gladly spend any part of it if it would help find the baby. He agreed to finance a telephone call to the (Continued on Page Four)

J. J. Oakley Dies At Shelmerdine

J. J. Oakley, 70, died at his home near Shelmerdine yesterday. Funeral services were conducted from his late home this afternoon by Rev. W. H. Laughinghouse and burial was made in the family burying ground.

Mr. Oakley was one of the most prosperous farmers of the community and was held in high esteem by scores of people. He spent his entire life in development of his farm and his influence counted largely in the agricultural development of the locality. He is survived by his wife and seven children, George, Johnnie, Floyd, Mrs. Crissie Coward, Mrs. F. L. Cox, Mrs. A. J. Cox and Mrs. H. D. Cox, all of Pitt county. The deceased was a faithful member of the Free Will Baptist church.

ABOUT TOWN

The way of the bootlegger grows more hazardous in Pitt county. Another member of the illicit traffic fell into the toils of the law here Saturday and probably will find his way to the roads or federal prison to answer for the crime.

Nineteen bundles of clothing were collected by the Salvation Army in its "Bundle Day" drive here last Saturday, and before the canvass was completed insistent demands from the poor could be heard on all sides.

Hundreds of people are being employed in the Morehead City area as result of one of the best supplies of broccoli and soft shell crabs in years and a construction program recently started.

This is the most encouraging news that has been received in this area in months, and while our people are not directly affected, they will be buoyed by news of the improvement of the condition of a nearby locality.

The kindness of nature to the coastal section is another indication of the desirability of this part of North Carolina. When other parts of the world are suffering from the effects of some appalling disaster, this community usually has sufficient foodstuffs to get thru to another year without suffering severely.

The death of Aristide Briand in Paris removes one of the most picturesque figures in the political life of the nation.

With the best interest of his government always before him, Briand occupied the post of foreign minister until he made the office almost his own.

When the government faced crucial periods in recent years, it was Briand's shoulders that caught the responsibility of keeping things of state in order, and he did so in a way that won the admiration of men and women in all walks of life and in spite of political affiliations.

rel if she spoke now. But she could not keep back her tears. They came in a flood. She despised herself for her weakness even when Gar's arms went remorsefully around her.

Chapter 6 NOBODY LOVES US It had been some one's birthday; there had been wild speeding from one dancing place to another.

Tonight, without a moment's hesitation, Gar had sprung into the driver's seat, thrown the clutch into gear with a masterful air and shot off into the deserted road, leaving Kitty behind with Red Harding.

Gar thought she was standoffish with his friends, a prig, when she was only shy with them. They made her feel that way; more often than she did not know what they were talking about and no one of them, unless it was Tubby in a burst of devotion, bothered to tell her.

"I'm not envious," Kitty sighed, covertly. "I'm not jealous." No, even though Marge often coolly appropriated Gar she was not so small-townish but that she could laugh at it.

"You don't have to put on such an almighty righteous air when you turn down a drink, either, Kit," Gar pursued. "They're all laughing at you. They think you're a prig. That small-town stuff doesn't go in my crowd."

Hurt on hurt, she hadn't meant to look almighty righteous. She wasn't a prig. But she wouldn't quarrel and it would mean a quarrel cannot pass away without their death receiving world-wide expressions of regret, and in France his name will be hailed in with joy and gladness until the end of time.

The counties of Caldwell, Wilkes, Lincoln and Gaston have set up county Milk-for-Health campaigns, and a county-wide program embracing the schools, the industries and all social and civic agencies has been adopted.

Great interest is being shown throughout the state in the various contests, and dozens of requests are received daily at the state board of health from school children asking for literature on milk and its food value, uses, etc.

It is amusing to note that to date Catawba leads in the number of inquiries from any one county, while Fayetteville leads in the same respect in the list of cities.

Back To School

Gene Venzke is back in his classes at Pottstown, Pa., high school, after his phenomenal indoor track campaign. He gained fame by setting a new indoor mile record, and a new 1,500-meter record.

She was a little startled to find that it was past one o'clock. Gar must have worried as to her whereabouts, thought perhaps that she was lost. She could well get lost, for she knew scarcely anything yet of the city.

"What's the big idea of not touching my Mother?" he asked, a little ill-humoredly. She pushed him gently into his chair and drew his tray up close to him. "Drink your coffee, Gar, while I talk. I've been thinking—I took a walk and sat in the Park—Gar, we're just drifting; it's been four, but it isn't what we wanted to do, what we talked of, at Panther Mountain. Gar, we nearly quarreled last night. I'm sorry for my part—I mean that I hadn't pleased you, but Gar, aren't we both just a little tired of playing?"

Students Visit Goldsboro, Kinston Arrangements are now being made for the students selected from the four classes of the Greenville high school to visit the schools of Goldsboro and Kinston. Early next week Mr. Ross will confer with these delegates, and advise them what to look for in these schools. The purpose of these visits is to find out wherein our school may be bettered.

A faculty member will accompany each delegation. Similar groups from Goldsboro and Kinston will visit the Greenville school with the same motive in mind.

Three plays are now being considered by the student and faculty committee, headed by Mrs. Bessie Picklesimer and Louis Skinner, Jr. They are "The Sixth Key," "Believe it Or Not," and "Sky Train."

Because of its newness and unusualness, "Sky Train" seems to be the favorite at the present. The scenes of "Sky Train" are laid entirely on a dirigible flying high above the Atlantic.

A decision will be made early next week as to the play chosen.

All club members are especially invited to attend this lecture in the Austin Building of East Carolina Teachers College, on Wednesday evening, March 9, at 8 o'clock.

LENNOX ROBINSON TO LECTURE HERE TOMORROW

Tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Austin building of East Carolina Teachers College, are the place and hour of lecture that is free to the public and to which all club members and individuals who are interested in the drama, plays, the theatre and literature, are especially invited.

The director of the Abbey Theatre of Dublin, Ireland, the national theatre of the Irish Free State, Lennox Robinson, will talk about this theatre, how the Irish people have taken their drama seriously and something about the movement that has caused Ireland to give to the world the greatest living dramatists and creative writers. It is not for the sake of selling tickets for the Irish Players who will appear in the series of college entertainments on the evening of March 19 and not merely for the sake of preparing those who are planning to see these players and will enjoy all the more if they know more about them, but for the sake of all those who are interested in literature and the drama.

The Atlanta papers have recently had interesting reports about the Irish Players and the plays they have presented there recently. They gave a series there, among them "The Far Off Hills," the one that will be presented here. Both the lectures and the play were received with enthusiasm by Atlanta audiences. It seems that the south can appreciate especially the Irish and their point of view, so southerners say, better than other people. Yet the critics in the big cities are responsible for saying that this is the greatest group of actors in the English speaking world today.

Pres. Hoover Approves First Wheat Order

Washington, March 8.—(AP)—President Hoover today approved a Red Cross application for 5,000,000 bushels of government wheat—destined for the South Dakota drought area. This is the first application for wheat under the legislation signed yesterday by the president making 40,000,000 bushels available for relief.

Couple Observes Golden Wedding Anniversary Here

Col. and Mrs. F. G. James observed their golden wedding anniversary today.

Although there was no celebration connected with the observance by reason of the fact that Colonel James has been sick in bed for sometime, the couple was the recipient of many congratulatory messages from myriad friends throughout the state.

Col. James was reported as showing distinct signs of improvement today and greeted members of his family cordially as they entered his room this morning to congratulate him upon his fifty years of wedlock.

The couple was married in the old Methodist church here fifty years ago, and numbers of those who took part in the wedding still reside in this community.

Mrs. James is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cherry. Col. James is the son of the late Dr. John G. James. The family moved to Greenville from Hertford when Mr. James was about 7 years of age and he has made his home here since.

Col. James, graduate of the University of N. C., was admitted to the bar in 1880, and has been practicing law here ever since. He is the oldest living member of the local bar, and is admired by hundreds of people because of his genial and kindly manner.

He served the city as mayor for several terms and represented the county in the State senate for three terms.

He has always evidenced an active interest in the life of the community and this has continued all through the long months he has been confined to his beautiful home on Fifth street.

He will be 75 years old this month. Mrs. James is 69. They have four children, J. B., Charlie, Larry, Mrs. W. T. Lipscomb, and Miss Ada James. J. B. James is associated with his father in the practice of law under the name of F. G. James and Son.

In The Eastern Reflector on the 15th of March, 1882, was an article from which we now take the following extract: "The marriage of our talented young townsman, Fernando G. James, Esq., to Miss Maggie, eldest daughter of our esteemed County Treasurer, James B. Cherry, Esq., took place in the Methodist Church in this place Wednesday, March 8th, 1882, at 8:00 o'clock p. m."

The bridal party, consisting of thirteen couples filed up each aisle, keeping perfect time to the wedding march skillfully played by Mrs. Ada M. Cherry. They were as follows: Chas. Dozier of Tarboro, with Miss Bettie Sutton, of Greenville; L. V. Morrill of Greenville, with Miss Van Jenkins of Edgecombe; Richard Williams, Jr., with Miss Lella Cherry, both of Greenville; C. M. Bernard of Greenville, with Miss Carrie Caldwell of Greensboro; Andrew Joyner with Miss Maggie Cherry, both of Greenville; W. L. Brown of Greenville, with Miss Annie Jones of Greensboro; W. B. Wilson with Miss Lula Dancy both of Greenville; W. B. Brown of Greenville, with Miss Lula Borgen of Goldsboro; J. D. Pearce of Greenville, with Miss Emma Langley of Paeolus; Thomas McKoy of Clinton, with Miss Bettie Dancy, of Greenville; D. L. James with Miss Nina Cherry, both of Greenville. The bride entered with her father, and the groom with his best man, Col. I. A. Sugg. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the bride's father's.

The play "Nora Wakes Up," given some time ago by the school faculty will be repeated here on Friday night for the benefit of charity. It is sponsored by the P. T. A. and P. C. S. club.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. Laurie Ellis, after a long seige of illness, is on the road to recovery. After several weeks of illness, Mrs. J. H. Moore died at her home near Bruce at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday, March 3. She was 57 years of age and leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband, one daughter, Mrs. B. L. Little, two sons, Forrest and Glenn Moore; her father, several brothers and one sister, also seven granddaughters.

She was a member of Falkland Presbyterian church where services were conducted and interment took place on Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

Rev. W. S. Harden, of Greenville, conducted the services. She was a good, kind wife, mother and neighbor, loved and respected by all who knew her.

Sympathy is extended the bereaved.

RED OAK NEWS

Mrs. W. T. Page and Miss Martha Jolly were joint hostesses to the Red Oak Home Demonstration club last Wednesday afternoon.

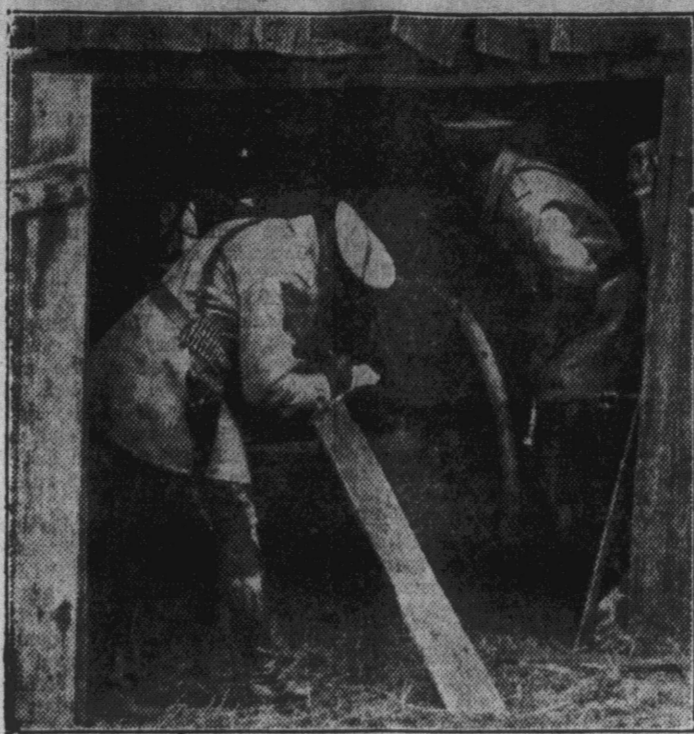

Miss Nice demonstrated to us how to cook Welsh rabbit and also gave us some one-dish meal recipes. After that we were invited into the dining room where we were served delicious fruit gelatin and party cakes.

We then were asked to go into the living room. Miss Nice had two enjoyable contests which were thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Nineteen members and visitors enjoyed a most profitable and pleasant afternoon.

Red Oak club will present a one act play at the Winterville high school the second Friday night in April. Pierce's club will also present one the same night. We will

Taylor Heads The Young Democrats

Washington, March 8.—(AP)—Organization of a nation wide association of young Democratic clubs of America with Tyre Taylor of Raleigh, as president, has been completed.

Supported by the Democratic National committee and the leading party members, the organization has laid plans for a drive to recruit 1,000,000 members from colleges, universities and other activities, before the November elections.

At a meeting here of more than 100 young men and women Democrats from 27 states, the organization was perfected yesterday.

Taylor said the association would not participate in primary elections but would endorse and support all nominees and policies determined by the group received the support of regular party conventions, the Democratic national committee through John J. Raskob the chairman.

Man Freed On Murder Charge

Lenoir, March 8.—(AP)—Jeff Swanson was free today of a murder charge in the death of Ned McDade, fatally wounded at Swanson's home the night of February 14.

Judge P. A. McElroy directed an acquittal verdict after Solicitor L. S. Spurling admitted circumstances "were such that a jury would not return a verdict for conviction."

Swanson said five men entered his home, started a fight and hurled the only lighted lamp at him. He said he fired in the darkness. McDade was killed and Homer Kayler wounded.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, March 8.—(AP)—Cotton opened quiet today, unchanged to 4 points higher on trade buying and covering. Mayo sold at 7.07.

Fluctuations in the Liverpool market and sterling exchange rates appeared to have a confusing effect and the price movement was rather narrow and irregular during the early trading. Houses with Liverpool connections were credited with trading both ways here, but were said to be buyers of balance. There was also some buying said to be for the continent and prices held fairly steady at the end of the first half hour within a point or two of the opening figures or about net unchanged to 3 points higher.

Liverpool cables reported heavy general selling on the higher sterling but said there was a fair demand for cotton cloths from India and China.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, March 8.—(AP)—Broadening of export business in North American breadstuffs, together with soaring of the British pound sterling, gave a fresh boost to wheat values late today.

It was estimated 700,000 bushels of wheat and 500,000 bushels of rye had been taken from North America for overseas, including 200,000 bushels of United States hard winter wheat and 150,000 bushels of western rye, a reported exchange of 5,000,000 bushels of stabilization wheat for futures at Kansas City was construed in some quarters as indicating the Farm Board was preparing to get out of the cash grain business.

STOCK MARKET

New York, March 8.—(AP)—Oils provided the fuel for a fresh advance in the stock market today.

The list was sluggish, with a firm undertone, during the earlier hours, but increasing strength in the petroleum group finally spread throughout much of the list, and trading quickened after midday. Advances of 1 to 2 points or more were numerous, carrying the general level up once more to around the year's best.

Such issues as Standards of New Jersey and California, Texas Corp., Tidewater Association and General Asphalt rose a point or more, while several of the lower priced oils moved up fractionally. Chemicals and tobaccos were also firm, with American Tobacco "B" Liggett and Myers B. Columbian Carbon, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and Allied Chemical showing gains of around 2 points. American Telephone gained as much. Miscellaneous issues up a point or more included U. S. Steel, American Can, National Biscuit, New York Central and Southern Pacific.

The gains in the oils and tobaccos were in further response to the billion dollar tax bill as presented in Congress, which omits specific additional levies on gas, oil and tobacco. On the whole, financial quarters expressed satisfaction with the tax measure.

The sharp uprush of the British pound sterling was so spectacular as to be regarded as somewhat unsettled, particularly in connection with a downturn in the London stock market.

The weekly condition statement of Federal Reserve member banks in large cities, showing the first gain in deposits this year, although the gain was small, was one of the brighter spots in the days news.

President Hoover, whose renomination is regarded by administration leaders as already in the bag, stood to pick up 32 more delegates today in Kansas, New Hampshire and South Carolina, to add to the 33 he has already, but as he was unopposed, principal interest was in the Smith-Roosevelt contest.

Only eight votes in the Democratic convention were involved in the New Hampshire primary, but the outcome may have a strong bearing on probable contests between Smith and Roosevelt in Massachusetts, Connecticut and Pennsylvania, where the name of the 1928 standard bearer was filed only yesterday for the April 2nd primary.

Each candidate had 12 delegates in the field in the granite state, four district and eight at large, the latter with a half vote each.

MISSING TELEPHONE

Although a wide-spread search has been instituted for the couple, no definite information as to their whereabouts had been obtained today.

While a checking of the condition of the bank was continued this morning, an official of the institution stated it was not believed the shortage would exceed to any extent that already discovered. He said McGlohn was bonded and that any shortage suffered by the bank was fully protected.

The loss was revealed in a check of McGlohn's personal account which did not correspond with the ledger record of the bank.

The disappearance of the socially prominent couple has created considerable excitement and speculation throughout the community, and while Mrs. Summerville was reported to have been seen in Wilson and Raleigh and McGlohn at Kingston, this fact could not be verified.

The only information concerning the disappearance was contained in two messages from Mrs. Summerville to her husband. The first was found in the home immediately after her disappearance, and stated she was taking $400 from the safe and would not return. The second message was postmarked at Raleigh Sunday and reiterated the statement that she would not return because she no longer loved her husband.

Mrs. McGlohn, mother of a 10-year-old son, and considered one of the most beautiful women of the community, swore out a warrant for her husband shortly after the disappearance. She charged him with abandonment. McGlohn left home without any clothing but Mrs. Summerville carried a trunk in a new automobile recently given to her by her husband.

Dr. Summerville, father of two sons was quoted as saying he believed his wife and McGlohn were headed either toward Canada or Mexico. Dr. Summerville stated he did not care much about the return of his wife as he does about his automobile. He declared it rather premature to consider divorce proceedings.

He expressed sympathy for Mrs. McGlohn, who was reported to have been left without any visible means of support.

Dr. Summerville is one of the best known physicians in this immediate section and surrounded his family with every comfort and convenience.

The only action taken against McGlohn so far was that instituted by his wife but it was expected the bank would let the law take its course as soon as the checking of accounts has been completed.

CHINESE PUSH WAR ON JAPS

Internal negotiations have not been interrupted while the mediator heard was adjourned, but it was said that the Chinese representatives had not modified their attitude of opposition to any armistice achieved by means of "humiliating" concessions.

A representative of the Chinese government summed it up in a sentence. "It takes us to stop a fight as well as to start it," he said.

The Chinese are still looking to the League of Nations assembly for a solution, regarding that the Japanese have overstepped the 12-2 mile demarcation to which General Umeo had demanded that the Chinese force withdraw.

By MORRIS J. HARRIS
(A. P. Staff Correspondent)
Shanghai, March 3.—(AP)—A new offensive of major character was reported developing today along a newly established battle line west and northwest of Shanghai.

Chinese sources said General Chiang Kai-shek, former Chinese president, was leaving Nanking for Kunshan, about 15 miles behind Chinese front lines, and this report gave rise to speculation among Chinese that General Chiang planned to participate in a new campaign against the Japanese.

Two thousand Japanese soldiers, who arrived at Woosung yesterday, were taken up to the front lines on the west. They followed larger detachments which entered the lines yesterday. The Japanese also took forward large amounts of ammunition, field guns and supplies.

Independent reports indicated that considerable fighting was going on at various points, from Nanzhuan northward, and that both armies were strengthening their positions with increased forces.

Service over the Shanghai-Hang chow railway was discontinued today when the personnel of the Shanghai station suddenly left for Hanschow. Soldiers were reported to have served the line 35 miles.

Many Japanese airplanes were in the air during the day, flying over a wide area and keeping constant watch over Chinese troop movements in the zone of hostilities and in the country far behind.

Japanese consular officials said they were investigating the beating of Miss Rose Marlow, Baptist missionary from Williamsburg, Ky., and that if they found circumstances warranted it, the perpetrators would be punished. Miss Marlow, a teacher in the Baptist Mission School was pummeled by Japanese armed civilians last Friday when she visited the ruins of the school building.

The case of T. D. Robinson, United States trade commissioner who was reported to have been beaten last Saturday in an encounter with Japanese civilians his automobile, had topped from official notice today. Robinson made little of the encounter yesterday and Consul General Edwin S. Cunningham filed no protest with Japanese authorities.

A number of advertisements asking for information about persons of all ages, from babies to nonagenarians, who were lost during the Chinese evacuation of Chapei, appeared in today's newspaper newspapers. Municipal police reported that 807 persons were unaccounted for and that 126 had been traced.

Hopewell, N. J.—The Lindberghs in their sorrow do not forget the men helping to search for their baby. FOUR KILLED DURING RIOT

Four men, marchers or bystanders were shot to death, and several score persons—including Harry H. Bennett, chief of the Ford service department (private police) and eight other officers—were injured before the demonstrators, earlier victorious over a smaller number of Dearborn police, were repulsed at the gates of the factory. Bennett's condition was said not to be serious.

A dozen men from the ranks of the 3,000 or more marchers were charged with the taking of possible murder charges.

Augmented forces of the law today kept unrelaxing watch on the always closely guarded Ford plant. State police, Detroit officers and Dearborn policemen were assembled at strategic points. They blocked every approach to the plant against the possibility of a second march. National guardsmen, 200 of whom were held at their Detroit armory for seven and a half hours last night, were subject to call should they be needed.

Authorities professed to have no definite reason to believe another march would be made, beyond the fact that they heard from the demonstrators as they fled "they are dead and they died behind." Three of the dead were identified as Joe Work, Joe DeBuske and Coleman J. Lenz.

Yesterday's demonstration had been announced weeks in advance, some of the announcements saying William Z. Foster, Communist leader, would be in it. Foster was not identified in the crowd, but he and William Reynolds, described by police as a Communist agitator, were sought.

Traces of the marchers who talked to newspapermen after the battle, declared they themselves were not Communists. They said the demonstrators hoped to send in two representatives to ask Henry Ford to employ a larger number of men.

The opposing forces accused each other of inciting the tragic conclusion to the march.

and their families eked out little more than a bare living with their nets but gardens helped solve the food problem.

The fishing industry in North Carolina, R. H. Feder, of the United States Bureau of Fisheries, said some time ago, ranks as one of the greatest in the state with an investment of $1,500,000 and employing over 5,000 people.

This industry, in which Dare county plays a large part, thus was struck a severe blow by nature's cruel capriciousness. In Dare county, approximately 1,000 men again a living from the contents of their nets.

The pursuance of their occupation requires an expenditure of about $2,500 a day in operating expenses.

Winds whipped through upper New York State last night, drifting snow three feet high about towns whose communications lines were torn away. Trains were lucky to arrive hours late.

Pennsylvania, with countless poles down, dug out of drifts. Lancaster and Gettysburg got in touch with the world after 24 hours isolation. Many schools, heatless, were dismissed yesterday. Tourists got home after spending hours trapped by snow.

Frigidity settled over Dixie. Big league baseball players found it too cold for practice.

A $500,000 blow was struck at North Carolina's shad fishing industry as almost all nets were swept away.

Off New Jersey's coast three fishing schooners, with 20 men, were missing overnight.

TWO MEN ARRESTED BY POLICE AT BOSTON WHILE TRYING TO PHONE LINDY LINDBERGH HOME AND BLACK LINDY EDWARDS WAS IN THE BOOTH PUTTING THE CALL THROUGH WHEN THE ARRESTS WERE MADE.

At police headquarters Edwards said that his father-in-law in Haven, Ark. was an amateur fortune teller and had told his fortune yesterday.

Hopewell, N. J., March 8.—(AP) Hopewell revealed today that they were still investigating the possibility that some member of the Lindbergh household was involved in the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby a week ago today.

That such investigation was still going on was acknowledged by Colonel H. Norman Schwartzkopf, superintendent of state police, who is in general charge of the police search for the kidnapers.

In accordance with procedure established by state police a list of questions was submitted by the press this morning to Colonel Schwartzkopf at the Lindbergh home. He made his replies by telephone after consultation with the Lindberghs or their representatives.

Henry Johnson is held at Newark without any charge. It was reported he might be released today.

A sensational report was published in New York City today that negotiations actually had been opened; that a reputable New York lawyer (not named) had telephoned Col. Lindbergh last night asking if he Lindberghs were ready to "do business" with the kidnapers. The report added that on Col. Lindbergh's invitation the lawyer had gone to the estate near here, and that he had gone into conference with Col. Lindbergh.

Reporters here, and state police, denied this in toto. The reporters have every road under close observation, and no person entered the estate during the night. State troopers, guarding the estate, were equally emphatic.

One of the questions read: "The refusal of the state police to answer any questions pertaining to a possibility that a servant or employe in the Lindbergh home created a general impression that such a theory is the most plausible now held by police. Do police care to say anything that will exonerate any or all members of the household?"

To this Colonel Schwartzkopf replied: "Investigation incomplete."

EIGHT MONTHS SCHOOLS TO RUN FULL TERM IN PITT

law will come to a close in this county March 15, it was up to the commissioners to take some definite action as to whether or not finances would enable the county to permit the schools to go into extended terms.

Then, also, various counties, like the state, have had trouble collecting taxes to cover general expenses, and the extended term in many communities is a matter of considerable speculation at this time.

Checking over tax collections of the different townships of the county yesterday, the commissioners found the condition better than expected, and expressed belief that by speeding collections in one or two townships they would be able to provide sufficient funds to permit the schools to go into the extended term.

The board issued an appeal to taxpayers in behalf of the schools several months ago, and this was renewed as they began casting about for ways and means to pay for the two month extra term.

The extended session plays an important part in the educational system of the county, educators have reiterated from time to time, and failure to hold it would retard the progress of the schools to a considerable extent.

News of the action of the commissioners was received with satisfaction in the communities affected, and it was expected a concerted effort would be put forth to speed up those who have been slow in the settlement of their taxes.
