D. A. R. SHOWS MUCH ACTIVITY IN THIS STATE

Two New Chapters Reported at Meeting or Organization at Durham

Durham, March 9.—(AP)—Organization of two new chapters of Daughters of the American Revolution for North Carolina was reported to the State D. A. R. conference here today by Mrs. Sydney P. Cooper of Henderson, state regent.

The new chapters are at Crossmore with Dr. Mary Martin Sloop as organizing regent and the Col. William Folk chapter at Raleigh, with Mrs. Martha Andrews as organizing regent.

Mrs. Cooper also announced two other chapters are under way. One is at Greensboro with Mrs. George Beall as organizing regent and the other at Marion, a chapter authorized by the state regent, with Mrs. William Trevorton assisting.

Publication of two volumes, the history of the North Carolina D. A. R. chapters, and the roster of revolutionary soldiers of North Carolina, was reported by Mrs. Cooper as a major accomplishment of the year.

Plans were announced for placing a marker in memory of John Paul Jones on the Wiley Jones land at Halifax, purchased some time ago by the state organization.

During the last year nine tablets were unveiled and two portraits presented by chapters in the state. They were:

Tablet on the historic McIntyre farm near Charlotte, by Mecklenburg chapter.

A boulder marking the spot where George Washington stopped at an old tavern near Lexington, by the General William Davidson chapter.

Tablet to Leonard Henderson, for whom the town of Henderson was named, on the Henderson courthouse square by Old Bute chapter.

Boulder on courthouse square at Monroe, by John Foster chapter, honoring Revolutionary soldiers.

A portrait of Judge Alfred Moore presented to the courthouse in Carthage by the Alfred Moore chapter.

Portrait of William Gaston given to the courthouse at Gastonia by William Gaston chapter.

Tablet to Col. Frederick Hambricht on Kings Mountain battlefield ground by Col. Frederick Hambricht chapter.

Tablet marking the site of Crowfield Academy near Davidson College, by Mary Slocumb chapter of Mooresville.

Two tablets for Mary Sheffield Dunn and Captain Patrick Boggan at Wadesboro by the Thomas Wade chapter.

Marker at Rock House near Danbury in Stokes county honoring Lieut. Jack Martin by George Reynolds chapter.

As the main projects for the coming year, Mrs. Cooper recommended the erection of a tablet in the state capitol in commemoration of the Cape Fear patriots of Eastern Carolina, erection of a suitable memorial at Raleigh to soldiers and patriots of North Carolina, building of a girls' dormitory at Crossmore School and continued efforts for all other national and state objectives.

Elizabeth City, March 9.—(AP)—As crippled communications were repaired today, additional reports of Sunday's storm on the Eastern North Carolina coast came in.

An inlet 250 yards wide and 10 feet deep was reported cut through the banks between the ocean and Pamlico Sound just south of the Pea Island Coast Guard station.

Two lesser inlets were opened at the same time and are believed passable at low water.

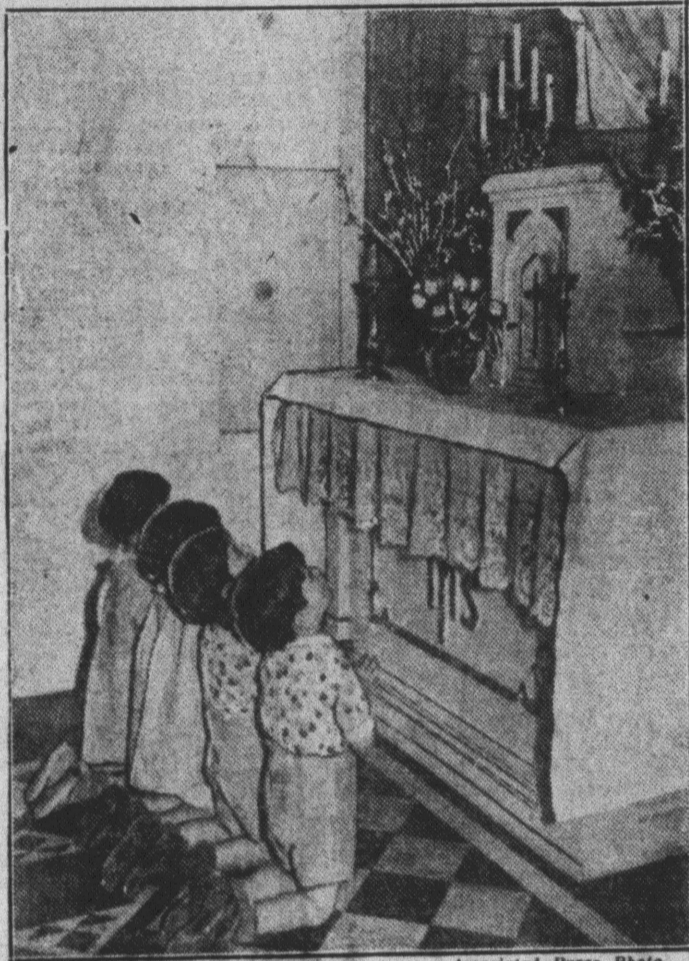

Ironically, at the largest inlet the ocean and sound joined at a point where a new inlet formerly existed and where the state had spent thousands of dollars in a vain attempt to reopen it after it has been closed by a storm.

The oyster boat Mildred Hodges of Washington, sunk in Old Tray Bar Saturday night, was raised today and towed here by a Coast Guard Boat for repairs.

A crew of six was rescued off the Mildred Hodges after it had pulled anchor, had a hole rammed in its side by a stake and grounded. The crew spent the night covered with sails in a cold rain.

DEATH FROM COLD MOUNTS

East Struggles Out of Storm That Claimed 33 Lives; West and South Cold

(By Associated Press)

Winter ruled in the west and south today while the east struggled out of a storm that took at least 33 lives.

From the Rockies east and south cold prevailed during the night. In Kansas four victims fell, including an elderly couple found dead of exposure. Snow, sleet and rain blustered through Texas. Snow as deep as 30 inches and cold as severe as 20 below wrought misery in the Rockies region.

Many southerners saw the first snowflakes of the season. Cold blighted fruit, flowers and vegetables.

In the northeast snow removal was a problem. On the Atlantic a dozen vessels were in straits, including the crippled collier H. P. Bardeleben. She rolled helplessly on the North Atlantic, waiting for the sea to moderate so her crew of 34 could flee in lifeboats. Two Coast Guard rescue boats were damaged by the waves.

High winds held down airplanes waiting to search off New Jersey for a coal barge and two fishing schooners, missing with 18 men. The barge Deepwater was listed missing at Norfolk, while off Mississippi the steamer Gullpen took the fishing schooner Snapper King in tow when she lost rudder and anchor.

East of Cape Charles the motorship Tidewater picked up six fishermen from a smashed vessel. The distressed tanker Virginia reached Ludington, Mich., fleeing a storm.

Most of the east expected more snow today. It already had plenty (Continued on page four)

Although the new visit of the snowman was not accompanied by the terrific wind that caused such widespread damage during the week, lowered temperatures brought much suffering to hundreds of people who found living conditions difficult even during the warm weather. Welfare workers would not venture an estimate of the situation, but every relief agency was receiving new calls for aid and it was expected every resource would be taxed in rushing relief to the sufferers.

The snow began falling shortly after midnight, but owing to the fact that the earth was still warm from the long seige of springtime weather preceding Sunday's attack, it stuck only on house tops and on grass covered areas. The flakes, which fell thick and fast at times this morning melted as quickly as they hit the pavement except in shaded places where temperatures were cold enough for them to stick.

It was the second visit of the snowman this week, the cold spell Sunday having been accompanied by a light fall which failed to stick to any great extent on account of the warmth of the earth.

Children greeted the snowman with shouts of joy and gladness when they emerged from a long night of sleep this morning, and while winter sports were not possible because the snow did not (Continued on page four)

MORROWS ALSO DENY REPORTS

Denial follows Declaration by Boston Mayor that He Had Been Advised Child Was Returned Home On Sunday; Secrecy Is Maintained as to the Conference of Lindbergh with Kidnappers.

Hopewell, N. J., March 9.—(AP)—Police at the Lindbergh home stated flatly today that the kidnaped Lindbergh baby was not in either the Lindbergh or Morrow homes and said they knew nothing of a report emanating from Boston that the child had been returned.

As soon as it was reported from Boston that Mayor Curley had what he considered reliable information concerning the baby's return the following question was framed and sent to the police headquarters at the Lindbergh home.

"Mayor Curley of Boston has announced that he has received information from an 'authoritative source' that the baby has been returned on Sunday night and that the police had been cleared away from the kidnapers 72 hours in which to make their getaway. Has the baby been returned? Is Mayor Curley correct in any respect?"

Police conferred for more than an hour on this and other questions submitted at the same time and then replied to the question about the baby's alleged return:

"We know nothing of this."

Another question as to whether the baby was now in the Lindbergh or Morrow homes the police answered flatly "no."

Earlier, a rumor that something would happen at the Morrow home caused a flurry of excitement in Englewood, but early this afternoon nothing had materialized there.

Police headquarters at the Lindbergh estate continued to maintain strictest secrecy on possible movements of Colonel Lindbergh or his representatives and gave negative answers to questions about their own activities.

Henry (Red) Johnson, suitor of the baby's nursemaid, still was held incommunicado at Newark police headquarters with authorities refusing to say if he was submitting voluntarily to inquisition.

Police of Niagara Falls, N. Y., were seeking J. Norman Beck, dog race promoter, and a possible companion named "Archie" at the request of New Jersey state police, who wanted to know the whereabouts of these two men at the time of the kidnaping.

"Archie," the police said, was discharged from the employe of the late Dwight W. Morrow after stryking the latter in Mexico, and had a record as a smuggler and kidnapper. Buffalo, N. Y., police joined in the search and learned that Beck was last seen there in the spring of 1930.

Authorities of West Chester, Pa., seized upon a possible connection between the Lindbergh kidnaping and that of Mrs. Nell O. Donnelly, wealthy Kansas City woman, and sought to learn if Martin Dewey, former Dowling, Pa., man was among workmen once employed to level off a field near the Lindbergh home.

Scores of crak messages filled the mail of Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, paternal grandmother of the missing child, at Detroit. None was considered of importance.

Police at the Lindbergh home maintained strict secrecy concerning reports that Colonel Lindbergh or his representatives were in communication with the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby.

The question was broached in the first list of questions submitted by the press this morning.

"Has Colonel Lindbergh, Colonel Henry Breckinridge, his attorney, or another agent of Colonel Lindbergh (Continued on page three)

ROOSEVELT WINS AGAIN

New York Governor is Handed Eight Votes to National Convention by N. H.

Washington, March 9.—(AP)—Political leaders and observers sought to calculate the effect today of Franklin D. Roosevelt's sweeping victory in New Hampshire on other eastern states which must soon line up in the contest for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The New York governor was handed New Hampshire's eight votes in the national convention in yesterday's first delegate primary of the year. It was a test of sorts between Roosevelt and the supporters of Alfred E. Smith, for it was the latter's slate of delegates, entered with Smith's consent, which went down to defeat.

Smith leaders are not expected to consider the result an indication of what will happen in Connecticut, Massachusetts and Vermont where further contests between the two are impending. Roosevelt had most of the state's leaders with him and New Hampshire was virtually in his pocket until the Smith candidacy came along, rather late in the day.

Unquestionably, however, the Roosevelt bandwagon crew hailed the result as an enthusiastic omen. James A. Farley of New York, leader in the Roosevelt movement, saw it in the first part of a definite answer to the "Stop Roosevelt" drive. He predicted the governor would have 100 votes by April 1, including Iowa, North Dakota and Minnesota, Washington, and Alaska. Minnesota will name its 24 delegates in convention today; the issue being between Roosevelt and an uninstructed delegation.

ABOUT TOWN

The best news we have heard in some time is that the county commissioners have found it possible to finance the extended eight month school term in this county.

By reason of the shortage of state appropriations from the six-month term it was thought that Pitt County, like other counties of the state, might have to close her schools at the expiration of the six-month session, but doubt in this connection has been entirely dispelled by action of the commissioners last Monday authorizing continuance of the schools.

Tax collections were found to be better than expected in some localities while in other it is going to take some prodding by collectors to bring them up to the realization that they must pay if they want the schools to continue their high type of service.

Demoralization of school service should be avoided everywhere if possible and that other counties will make a desperate effort to do as Pitt county has done is indicated in the unusual activity being put forward in this direction.

President Hoover's idea of doing away with boarding through a government bond issue, similar to that adopted during the war, has met with the approval of Greenville Kiwanis and Rotary clubs.

The Kiwanis club last Friday evening agreed to a suggestion by John Mitchell, local banker, that the organization use its influence for creating interest in the bond sale, and the Rotary club took similar action on a proposal by Tom Clifton Monday night.

It is the idea of the two clubs to fully inform the public of the bond sale and let it be known that money invested in such securities will remain in this community to aid in the recovery from financial depression felt the last two years.

Government experts estimate that a billion and a half dollars is tied up by hoarders in various parts of the country, and they figure if this is put back into circulation that business conditions will be given a boost.

The plan seems one of the most far-reaching so far proposed for relief of the financial situation, and in a few months now the country should experience better times.

A new campaign for peace in China has been started and hope has been expressed efforts will be successful this time.

Just about the time advocates of peace thought they were getting somewhere the Chinese announced they were going to continue their drive against the Japs.

It was on the eve of this announcement that new proposals for peace began to fly thick and fast throughout the country, but whether they will meet with any success is purely problematical.

For China, how she has suffered from the Japanese invasion of Shanghai and community. No wonder her warriors, almost crushed by modern Japanese warfare, hope to crowd the invaders from their land and give their own people a chance to settle down to peace again.

Hard hit by storms of a few months ago, China will be years recovering from the ruin inflicted by Japanese troops, but her people will be glad to go back to rebuild ruined homes and property if they will be permitted to do so in peace and tranquility.

The war has been overshadowed in this country recently by the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby, but those who lose steadily in a commercial way as result of the conflict have not forgotten and are looking forward hopefully to the day when peace comes and they will be able to revive trade with that part of the country.

President Hoover has a new plan in mind for reduction of government expenses and has so informed congress. He would slice federal expenses by suspending duties and trimming down activities of some of the departments. It is his idea to prevent so much cash leaving the treasury, and if successful, he

Kitty Frew

By Jane Abbott

SYNOPSIS: "That small-town stuff doesn't go in my crowd," Garfield Frew angrily tells his newly acquired young wife, Kitty. Kitty has been transplanted abruptly from her quiet home to the sophisticated of Winton. She wants Gar to go to work and make a home but he accepts his mother's suggestion to "play around" for a while after college. While they stay with Gar's family, his sister Carol is aloof and his mother distinctly hostile. Marge Crosby, one of his crowd, tries to regain the interest Gar used to have in her, and leads the other girls in snubbing Kitty. Brought up to be economical Kitty is worried about the money Gar spends, though his father is rich, and also because Gar borrows from Red, his best friend. After a reconciliation, Kitty goes out for a walk and decides to take a new tack at marriage.

Chapter 7 A MYSTERIOUS STRANGER "Wouldn't we be happier if you began to work and we started a little home?" Kitty asked. "Oh, that's what's been souring you!" He pushed her away, a little roughly. "I don't see why you should complain—you haven't a thing to do except twirl your thumbs, and that ought to seem damn soft to you after the way you've worked."

"Gar! Gar!" He paid no heed to her protest. He got up, upsetting his undrunk coffee. He threw off his dressing gown and began to put on a collar and tie, scowling as he adjusted his tie.

"Trouble with you, Kit, is that you've counted pennies so long that you think it's all there is to living. Well, there's a lot more. I'll start working alright when I get ready, but I'm not ready yet. The Mother's satisfied, so I'm satisfied too. And that's that." He thrust his arms savagely into his coat sleeves. "I suppose you think it's a crime to play golf. I take it you don't care to go out with me." And with that he flung himself out of the room. Kitty stood quite still, stunned, unbelieving. When she heard the sound of Gar's car in the driveway under the window she said aloud "He's gone. He's really gone."

Pound came in and went away with the tray. She moved mechanically about the room putting it to rights. Now and then she went to the window and stared, unseeing out across the house-tops.

They had quarreled—or no, it hadn't been a quarrel. She had said nothing, just her "Gar! Gar!" out of her horror at his anger. What had put him in that mood? She remembered his annoyance because he had not risen in time to see his mother before she went out, Monday—He was broke, he had borrowed from Red the night before. Of course he'd hate to borrow from Marge.

Time and again Kitty had wished for an afternoon which she might devote to putting her clothes in order, reading, writing letters, but Gar had not let her have one. Now she had it on her hands and was too distraught to use it. She was lonely too; Gar's room gave her no sense of security now.

She had an overwhelming longing to talk to some one, some one who would understand, who might help her—maybe laugh away her horror. Gar's mother—if she could talk to her. But on the very breath of that desire Kitty sighed. Gar's mother would listen to no criticism of Gar; Gar had said she was satisfied. Kitty thought of how often Gar was closeted with his mother in her office, her sanctuary to which no one ever went, uninvited. Kitty had not been in it. Often, passing its shut door, she had felt a little wistful. Oh, she hoped to save several millions of dollars.

The president has presented the nation with many suggestions for recovery from the financial strain of recent years, and if Congress gives him desired attention, it is to be supposed that something will be accomplished in this direction.

been in communication with the kidnappers during the past 12 hours?" was the question heading the list submitted at eight o'clock.

Shortly after nine o'clock the answers were telephoned from the Lindbergh home, and the notation opposite the first question was "No answer."

Though police would say nothing about the activities of Colonel Lindbergh or his civilian representatives they were more communicative about the results of their own investigation, which results were purely negative.

Early last night they reported police "progress," though they would not say what that progress was. At midnight they reported "no change." In the eight o'clock questions this morning they were asked:

"Are there any new developments since the last conference?"

Major Charles Schoeffel, deputy chief of state police replied "No change." What the earlier progress had been still remained a mystery.

Other questions asked this morning and Major Schoeffel's answers follow:

Is Johnson (suitor of the baby's nurse) still held at Newark police headquarters?

We have not been informed of his release.

Is he remaining there voluntarily or are police contemplating filing charges against him?

Suggest Newark police for reply.

Has James L. Dalton, toll collector at Perth Amboy bridge, supplied any clues? If so, what are they?

Know nothing of this.

What was the foundation of the report that the baby was to be returned at the Morrow home in Englewood last night or early today?

Know nothing of this prior to your questions.

Do the police know of any authentic communication received from the kidnappers? What is it?

Previously answered (Previous answers had been that no authentic communication had been received but that hundreds of communications purporting to be the kidnappers), purporting to be the kidnappers).

Colonel H. Norman Schwartzkopf, chief of the state police, agreed this morning to meet the reporters at two o'clock face to face instead of making them get their information solely by telephoning questions to the Lindbergh home.

Englewood, N. J., March 9.—(AP)—A member of the Morrow household, who said she was authorized to speak for Mrs. Dwight Morrow, today denied a report that the kidnapped Lindbergh baby had been returned.

Mrs. Morrow's representative declined to reveal her name. She said that the Lindberghs would have no reason to withhold announcement of the baby's recovery.

LENNOX ROBINSON TO LECTURE HERE TONIGHT

The noted dramatist, Lennox Robinson, this evening at 8 o'clock in the Austin auditorium of the College, will talk about Ireland, the source of his inspiration and his native country—Irish dramatists, Irish poets, the Irish Free State, the national theatre, or any other topic that is connected with Ireland that he thinks his audience will find most interesting.

Mr. Robinson belongs to the younger group of dramatists connected with the Abbey Theatre of Dublin and is a director of that theatre, which is the national theatre of the Irish Free State, the only national theatre of any English-speaking country. He is the author of "The Far Off Hills," the play that the Irish Players from the Abbey Theatre will present at the college on the evening of March 19.

The college has issued an invitation to the public for this evening to come out and enjoy this treat free of charge. A special invitation is given to all club members and students who are interested in the drama or any form of literature.

Yet if you are interested in Ireland find the evening of interest.

Yesterday the stage director of the Irish Players was in town getting things ready for the presentation of Mr. Robinson's play.

charges.

Police arrested Stringfield when they said he was driving an automobile while under the influence of whiskey. They said they also found a small amount of liquor in his machine.

Two High Point women school teachers and another man were with Stringfield when he was apprehended. Police withheld their names, saying they "may be innocent parties."

Stringfield said they were returning from a bridge party when the arrests were made. He said they had only a small quantity of whiskey from which they had taken drinks.

Stringfield is well known here. He played for Greenville in the old Eastern Carolina League.

Gardner Takes Crack at Critics

Durham, March 9.—(AP)—Persons who described as "radical," changes made in administrative affairs since he has been governor should accompany their criticism with suggestions for improvement in the opinion of Governor O. Max Gardner.

His demand was made in an address before the opening session of the 32nd annual conference of the North Carolina Daughters of the American Revolution.

"If what has been done has its defects and dangers, let those who criticize and condemn suggest something better," the governor said.

"If I were called upon to name the next governor of this state with the knowledge of the unprecedented responsibilities that will confront him, I should name the ablest, the fairest, the most fearless, the most courageous man available, and then pray that he live through the four years of his term."

Continuing, the governor said "this is no time to follow the man who hovers. Beware of the patriot who, appealing for votes, hovers over the prejudices of each individual voter and promises everything to every man. Make him light, make him fly. Don't let him hover."

The governor mentioned none of the three candidates for his post.

NEW RULER IS INAUGURATED

Henry Pu-Yi Formally Inducted As President of New State of Manchuria

Changchun, Manchuria, March 9.—(AP)—Henry Pu-Yi, young descendant of the former Manchukuo emperors, was formally inaugurated Chicheng "dictator" of Manchukuo "Land of Manchuria" this afternoon.

The ceremony took place in the main hall of the new presidential palace, formerly Changchun's city hall and lasted only 25 minutes. The attendance was limited to 30 Chinese, including several Manchus and Mongols, and 15 Japanese.

"The people of Manchuria have long suffered under tyrannical government," the former emperor said in his inaugural address. "In these troublesome times I must confess myself poor in talent and unable to devise means to relieve the people from their pain and suffering."

"However, with a due sense of my unworthiness, I come to assume the office of dictator, unable to refuse to please the people. Therefore I am determined to use my utmost efforts, with the kindly aid and wise advice of you all, to seek peace and safety for the state and the people."

"The heaven and sun above know all."

Among the Japanese who were present at the inauguration were the highest authorities of the military organization in Manchuria. Their presence was taken to indicate Japan's regard for the new state, the ground for the foundation of which was cleared by the Japanese warriors of General Shigeru Honjo, commander-in-chief of the expeditionary force.

Carolina Rivers At Flood Stage

Raleigh, March 9.—(AP)—Three Eastern North Carolina rivers were in moderately heavy flood today.

Lee A. Denson, weather expert here, said in warning that the Cape Fear, Neuse and Roanoke rivers would go eight or more feet out of their banks in eastern counties.

The Cape Fear at Fayetteville had crested at 43 feet, Denson said, and would reach 31.2 feet at Elizabethtown tomorrow morning. This is between eight and ten feet out of the banks.

The Neuse was 18.4 feet at Smithfield today and was still rising. It was four feet above its banks.

At Weidon the Roanoke was 40 feet today, 10 feet higher than bank-level, and was still rising.

Mr. Denson said the overflows were not doing very much damage as the lowlands being overflowed were not cultivated at this season.

The snow which fell generally throughout the state last night and today was not sufficient to influence the flow of the rivers materially, the meteorologist said.

Sixteen Inch Snow At Black Mountain

Black Mountain, March 9.—(AP)—Sixteen inches of snow blanketed the crest of Mount Mitchell while the mercury slipped down to eight degrees below zero on the highest peak east of the Mississippi early today.

News of the heavy snow on the mountain was telephoned here from the Ranger's station there. Snow began falling on the peak yesterday at 1 p. m., and continued through the night.

There were only light snow flurries here, but the thermometer dropped to eight degrees during the night.

Recommends Cats for Electricians

Kinston, March 9.—(AP)—Paul Long, Kinston electrician, recommends that every electrician carry a cat.

Long had the job of running a cable through the top of a house but between the roof and ceiling, there was hardly enough room for him to squeeze in and the distance was 80 feet.

Then he had an idea. He cut a hole in one end just under the roof, tied a string to a cat's tail, and shoved it in. Then he closed that hole, leaving an inch-wide opening, and cut another hole where he wanted the other end of the cable. He sat down and waited.

The cat was slow. It wandered about all over the attic and finally appeared at the second hole. Long pulled her out with the string and completed the job.

Name of Green Sticks to Family

Forest City, N. C., March 9.—(AP)—John Green of near Cliffside believes his name will never get out of the family, no matter what happens.

From his great-great-grandparents to himself, the name was Green. He married twice and both times married Greens. He has three daughters and one grand-daughter—they all married Greens.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 9.—(AP)—I used to be Johnny Allen in the New York Yankees' training camp but from now on its probably will be "Zipper." He collected the new "tag" from the way he "zipped" the ball past Babe Ruth's team in a practice game yesterday. He allowed only two hits and fanned four in three innings.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, March 9.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today two points up to one point off on trade buying and covering coupled with some southern selling. May sold at 7.02.

Continued fluctuations of sterling exchange and Liverpool prices appeared to have a confusing influence and orders were quite evenly divided. Houses with Liverpool connections were credited with selling on balance during the early trading. Freer selling by the south was reported.

Trade interests were buyers of near months, but prices eased off with May declining to 6.98 and October to 7.36 with the general market showing net losses of about 2 to 4 points at the end of the first half hour.

The international federation figures placing world's consumption of American cotton at 5,940,000 bales for the first half of this season against 5,378,000 for the same period last year, appeared about in line with expectations. Liverpool cables reported heavy general selling and said business in Manchester was disorganized with buyers cautious.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, March 9.—(AP)—Overseas purchasing of American corn, something not witnessed before in a long while, gave a firm undertone to all cereals today.

It was pointed out that hopeless disparity between Southern Hemisphere and United States corn had practically disappeared, and that apparently Argentina had not only a curtailed crop, but had met with adverse weather conditions causing much harvest difficulty. Reports of improved demand for Canadian oats and barley led to predictions that coarse grains would come in for more central attention from now on.

Corn closed unsettled, 1-3-3-3 higher than yesterday's finish, wheat at 1-5-5-8 decline, oats unchanged to 1-9 up, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents advance.

STOCK MARKET

By CLAUD A. JAGGER (Associated Press Financial Editor) New York, March 9.—(AP)—The stock market had apparently dropped anchor pending lifting of the uncertainty obscuring the business outlook, today, but Wall Street remained fairly cheerful as bonds continued to push ahead.

The share market sagged a little in the morning trading, but selling soon dried up, and traces of bullish activity appeared in some of the food shares. By early afternoon, the general level was barely changed from the previous session's close.

Radio and American and foreign power were under considerable pressure for a time, both sagging about a point. American Telephone and Consolidated Gas also yielded moderately. In the first half hour, some effort was made to bid up the rails, and for a time there were numerous gains of a point or so in that group. U. S. Steel fluctuated in a narrow range. Some of the packing company issues notably the Armour and Wilson preferred issues, gained 2 to 3 points. Beatrice Creamery rose more than a point. Some buying developed in Stone and Webster. Oils failed in the main to continue their upswing of the previous day, but the Tidewater association issues were firm.

The midweek business statement failed to provide speculators with the rise with any new leverage.

Total automobile output for March is now being estimated at around 150,000 units, as against about 118,000 in February.

LIGHT SNOW IN THE EAST (Continued from Page One) predicted for later in the day. Low temperatures during the night over the state averaged below freezing. Asheville's low was 14, Charlotte's 30, Goldsboro's 27.

PROBE RIOT AT DETROIT (Continued from Page One) The meeting and the mass funeral were announced in handbills circulated late yesterday, which also professed to set forth the demands the demonstrators had intended to make on Henry Ford through nine of their representatives.

Police Chief Carl Brooks of Dearborn said "No further demonstration and no raid will be made on the Ford plant as long as there is a man left on the Dearborn police force to resist it."

The cross-fire of accusations as to who started the fighting which resulted in four deaths and injuries to several score policemen and marchers continued. The Dearborn police insisted, and claimed to have witnesses prepared to testify, that six shots fired by a Communist precipitated the battle. The wounded marchers as one denied any of their number was armed.

Chief Brooks and the safety commission of Dearborn asserted last night the police followed "to the letter" their instructions to fire only to save their lives or to prevent destruction of property.

The "demands" to be made on Ford, as set forth in the handbills, included: Re-employment of all workers laid off by the Ford Company; payment of 50 per cent of full wages to laid off workers; establishment of a six hour day in the plant without reduction in pay and discontinuation of the "fatal speed-up"; free medical service for employed and unemployed workers; abolition of private police; assumption by Ford of mortgages, back taxes and land contracts on workers' homes pending six months of regular employment by the owners; abolition of the "graft system" in hiring workers and the right to organize.

McGLOHON IS SHORT $950 (Continued from page one) all facts regarding the missing banker's connection with the institution. The loss is covered by bond. McGlohon, father of a 10-year-old son, and Mrs. Summerrill disappeared from their homes in Ayden Saturday afternoon, and the only word received since that time was a special delivery letter which Mrs. Summerrill wrote to Dr. Summerrill from Raleigh, stating that she no longer loved him and did not intend coming back.

The peaceful little Pitt county town has been shocked by the mystery surrounding the disappearance and it has been the principal topic of conversation the last several days.

The couple was believed headed either for Mexico or Canada and immigration authorities have been notified by Sheriff Sam Whitehurst to be on the lookout for the missing pair. They were believed to be traveling in a practically new automobile which Dr. Summerrill carried no clothing when he left home but Mrs. Summerrill had a trunk containing sufficient wearing apparel to last her for some time, it was stated.

Dr. Summerrill, father of two sons was reported to have gone to some unknown destination to remain until the shock of the disappearance had been relieved.

Mrs. McGlohon, considered one of the most attractive young women of the town, swore out a warrant for the arrest of her husband shortly after the couple was reported missing, but this was still in hands of officers awaiting service. No word has been received from McGlohon, and had it not been for the letter from Raleigh, the disappearance of Mrs. Summerrill would also have been shrouded in complete silence.

Mrs. Summerrill, a former nurse, also attractive, obtained $400 from the safe of her husband before leaving. She left a note stating that she had taken the money and did not intend to return.

She and McGlohon were reported to have been seen in one another's company quite frequently at social affairs of the town, but their disappearance provided the townspeople with the most distinct shock in years.

spontaneous combustion." Camden, N. J., March 9.—(AP)—Sixteen workmen were killed and at least 10 more are believed to be dead following an explosion in gas purifying tank of the Public Service Gas and Electric Co., Locust and Cherry streets, today. Four men were injured.

Residences for blocks were shaken by the explosion, the scene of which is a mile from the central city area. The scene of the blast was made harrowing by the cries of relatives of the doomed men. Police roped off the streets a block from the gas tank. Spectators by the hundreds blocked the thoroughfares beyond the ropes.

The explosion was caused by a spark, either the result of a blow on the metal inner shell of the tank or a lighted match that ignited the gas collected within.

A tremendous roar announced the accident while practically the entire force of workmen, many of them unemployed who were earning their first pay in weeks, were trapped below.

A fierce torchlike flame which followed was speedily extinguished by firemen and then the search within the chambers was begun.

Outwardly the tank showed no signs of the explosion. It is a square steel structure 20 by 20 feet and 15 feet deep, raised from the ground on steel girders 15 feet in height.

Within it is separated into upper and lower compartments braced by many girders and longitudinally divided into east and west chambers. The metal interior was coated with a mixture of charcoal, sawdust and sulphuric acid which assisted in purifying the gas which is piped across the street to a distributing tank.

SENATE BOD YAPPROVES HUGE LOAN TO FARMERS (Continued from page one) It would make the full amount available for loans immediately without waiting for sale of the corporation's debentures.

Only $75,000,000 is now available for loans to farmers and the committee's proposed legislation would make the whole $200,000,000 available for loans on the new 1932 crop.

Under the bill as passed by congress $50,000,000 out of the corporation's original capitalization of $500,000,000 was allocated to farm loans.

The corporation has since, however, allocated $25,000,000 additional for this purpose.

McGLOHON IS SHORT $950 (Continued from page one) all facts regarding the missing banker's connection with the institution. The loss is covered by bond. McGlohon, father of a 10-year-old son, and Mrs. Summerrill disappeared from their homes in Ayden Saturday afternoon, and the only word received since that time was a special delivery letter which Mrs. Summerrill wrote to Dr. Summerrill from Raleigh, stating that she no longer loved him and did not intend coming back.

The peaceful little Pitt county town has been shocked by the mystery surrounding the disappearance and it has been the principal topic of conversation the last several days.

The couple was believed headed either for Mexico or Canada and immigration authorities have been notified by Sheriff Sam Whitehurst to be on the lookout for the missing pair. They were believed to be traveling in a practically new automobile which Dr. Summerrill carried no clothing when he left home but Mrs. Summerrill had a trunk containing sufficient wearing apparel to last her for some time, it was stated.

Dr. Summerrill, father of two sons was reported to have gone to some unknown destination to remain until the shock of the disappearance had been relieved.

Mrs. McGlohon, considered one of the most attractive young women of the town, swore out a warrant for the arrest of her husband shortly after the couple was reported missing, but this was still in hands of officers awaiting service. No word has been received from McGlohon, and had it not been for the letter from Raleigh, the disappearance of Mrs. Summerrill would also have been shrouded in complete silence.

Mrs. Summerrill, a former nurse, also attractive, obtained $400 from the safe of her husband before leaving. She left a note stating that she had taken the money and did not intend to return.

She and McGlohon were reported to have been seen in one another's company quite frequently at social affairs of the town, but their disappearance provided the townspeople with the most distinct shock in years.

LIGHT SNOW IN THE EAST (Continued from Page One) predicted for later in the day. Low temperatures during the night over the state averaged below freezing. Asheville's low was 14, Charlotte's 30, Goldsboro's 27.

PROBE RIOT AT DETROIT (Continued from Page One) The meeting and the mass funeral were announced in handbills circulated late yesterday, which also professed to set forth the demands the demonstrators had intended to make on Henry Ford through nine of their representatives.

Police Chief Carl Brooks of Dearborn said "No further demonstration and no raid will be made on the Ford plant as long as there is a man left on the Dearborn police force to resist it."

The cross-fire of accusations as to who started the fighting which resulted in four deaths and injuries to several score policemen and marchers continued. The Dearborn police insisted, and claimed to have witnesses prepared to testify, that six shots fired by a Communist precipitated the battle. The wounded marchers as one denied any of their number was armed.

Chief Brooks and the safety commission of Dearborn asserted last night the police followed "to the letter" their instructions to fire only to save their lives or to prevent destruction of property.

The "demands" to be made on Ford, as set forth in the handbills, included: Re-employment of all workers laid off by the Ford Company; payment of 50 per cent of full wages to laid off workers; establishment of a six hour day in the plant without reduction in pay and discontinuation of the "fatal speed-up"; free medical service for employed and unemployed workers; abolition of private police; assumption by Ford of mortgages, back taxes and land contracts on workers' homes pending six months of regular employment by the owners; abolition of the "graft system" in hiring workers and the right to organize.
