Police Study Kidnaping History In Attempt To Recover Lindbergh, Jr.

NOTED CASES ARE REVIEWED

Paroled Convict Who Was Principal in the Verner Alexander Case at Schenectady Several Years Ago Held at Rochester for Questioning; Investigators Still at Work on Lightfoot Clue.

New York, March 16.—(AP)—Police at the Lindbergh home received an anonymous letter today saying the kidnaped Lindbergh baby was in a house at 136 Green street, Syracuse, N. Y., occupied by Callie Polz.

The police put a copy of the letter on the interstate teletype for the information of authorities at Syracuse. It read:

"Lindbergh baby safe. Can find it in Callie Polz's house, 136 Green street, Syracuse. They double-crossed me. I tell you Callie and two men have it."

Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of New Jersey state police, appended a note to Syracuse police saying "please investigate."

Schwarzkopf also asked New York City police to interview Otto Nelson of 523 Avenue "O", corner E. 54th street, Brooklyn, to obtain his "valuable information."

Syracuse, N. Y., March 16.—(AP)—Police today searched the home of Mrs. Callie Polz, 136 Green st., here today, after receiving a teletype message quoting an anonymous letter, as saying the kidnaped Lindbergh baby was there. No basis for the letter was found. The anonymous message had been sent to the Lindbergh home.

Hopewell, N. J., March 16.—(AP)—Police delved still further back into the history of kidnaping today in persistent efforts to see if from almost forgotten famous cases they might learn the secret of the theft of the Lindbergh baby.

Yesterday attention of investigators was focussed on the fantastic and frustrated attempt to kidnap Max Phillips, wealthy retired collar maker, seven years ago.

Nothing being learned from study of that case which might help solve the present mystery police eyes were turned to another famous case which occurred nine years ago.

In 1923 little Verner Alexander, son of a Schenectady, N. Y., scientist, was kidnaped. There was a terrific furore of public excitement and the search spread across the country. The child was found at last near the Canadian border.

Today Rochester, N. Y., police poked up Stanley G. Crandall, paroled convict who was one of the principal figures in the Alexander kidnaping and it was announced that he was to be questioned about the Lindbergh kidnaping but it could not be immediately learned whether police working on the case here would go to the upstate New York City to take part in the examination.

Detention of Crandall resulted from a question addressed to the Schenectady police by Jersey state troopers here yesterday as to whether Crandall was still in prison and where he could be reached.

The Morning Bulletin issued here today made no reference to Crandall but it was known that the report on his examination was eagerly awaited.

The bulletin, signed by Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of state police, said that investigators sent to the home of Mrs. Leandro Lightfoot in Highland Park concerning the most likely local lead of the moment had not returned and it was not known whether anything of value had been discovered.

Mrs. Lightfoot had told of two former born servants who left her employ the day after the kidnaping. Coincidentally with their departure Mrs. Lightfoot discovered the chisel and some rough wood such as the kidnapers' ladder were made of were missing from her estate. A chisel was found beneath the Lindbergh nursery window.

Col. Schwarzkopf said no official report had been received as to the action of Newark and Jersey City police resulting from questioning Charles Oliver, also known as Nitzgerald, who was taken from Tombs prison in New York for examination, and William Gleason. Oliver had said that Gleason

DOZEN CASES IN COURT HERE

Majority of Defendants Sent Either to Jail or Roads in the County Court.

Practically a dozen cases were disposed of in the regular weekly session of county court yesterday. The session was continued for a short time this morning in order to finish two or three cases which were still hanging fire when court was adjourned yesterday afternoon.

The majority of the cases consisted of larceny, violation of prohibition laws, and most of the defendants found their way to the roads or jail.

Fargo, N. D., March 16.—(AP)—A close contest between Governors E. J. Roosevelt, New York, and W. H. Murray, Oklahoma, for North Dakota's Democratic presidential preference vote was apparent today as tabulation of returns from yesterday's primary continued.

With a record Democratic vote, encouraged by interests in the Murray-Roosevelt race, Roosevelt maintained a lead, but the early votes were insufficient to show a definite trend. Returns were lacking from the northwest section of the state where Murray supporters hoped to draw much strength.

Returns from 190 precincts out of 2,235 in the state gave Roosevelt 3,989 and Murray 2,230. These votes were chiefly from the larger centers whereas Murray was considered to have strong followings in rural districts. In addition to the preference vote, Murray and Roosevelt also were seeking the support of the state's ten delegates to the

Says Government is Bleeding N. C.

Asheville, March 16.—(AP)—Dr. H. T. Hunter, president of the Cullowhee State Normal College, declared in an address here that "government bleeding" of the state of North Carolina is responsible in large part for the state's inability to meet proper educational expenses.

Answering his own question as to North Carolina's ability to pay for education in the affirmative, Dr. Hunter said the trouble "is that the United States government is bleeding the state of approximately $300,000,000 in internal revenue annually."

"That is almost exactly 10 per cent of the state's value," he continued. "Up now the tobacco tax and we shout see how rich we are! Only New York pays more to the federal government."

"And then what happens? The federal government gets four times as much as do the farmers. That's why we are poor."

BIG SAVING IN SEVERAL HURT CITY EXPENSES IN FIRE ON BUS

Nearly $11,000 Saved Last Eight Months Compared with Previous Period.

The economy program adopted by the Board of Aldermen several months ago has resulted in a saving of nearly $11,000 in government expenses during the last eight months, it was revealed today in a comparative statement following auditing of the city books.

The statement covers the first eight months' operation from July 1, 1931 to March 1, 1932. Expenditures of the general fund for the same period in 1931 was given as $60,443.19 and for the past 8 months $49,673.32, or a decrease of nearly $11,000.

Slashing reductions were made in every department of government at the beginning of the next fiscal year, and the aldermen have hewed to the mark throughout the period, holding every department to its budget estimate.

Members of the board reviewed the result of their effort with pleasure and expressed a determination to end the year fully within the budget limits.

The reduction was effected without interfering with the efficiency of any single office or department, and was the result of long study on the part of city officials before the budget was finally accepted.

Mayor Flanagan has constantly impressed upon officials the necessity of reducing expenses in order that the tax payers might enjoy the fruit of this effort, and he has received the combined support of all members of the board and government employees.

The comparative statement of the operation of the city government during the eight months period is carried in the columns of this paper today and the public has been invited to inspect it and (Continued on Page Four)

KEY WINNER AT ATLANTA

Mayor Defeats Recall Movement by Large Vote; Disorders are Reported.

Atlanta, Ga., March 16.—(AP)—The City of Atlanta has voted to retain as its Chief Executive, Mayor James L. Key, outspoken critic of prohibition and advocate of Sunday movies for charity.

A record vote for municipal elections here was cast yesterday to bring about defeat of a bitterly fought recall movement 17,178 to 11,744. Police guarded the polling places but even then there were disorders.

Partisans clashed at one precinct when an attempt was made to rip up a Key banner and the challenge of votes of recall petitioners resulted in an outbreak at another, officers said, but nobody was hurt seriously.

The fight against Mayor Key was initiated by the greater Atlanta prohibition and law enforcement league following his repeated public declarations last year that prohibition had failed, was not enforced, did not halt drinking and had corrupted public officials.

Circulation of a recall petition was started by John A. Manget, president of the league, and then other forces began to join the movement.

The mayor vetoed payment of a bonus on a city construction job and advocated salary reductions to balance the municipal budget. His financial policies and administration were criticized, and he was accused of unfairness of labor.

A Steve Nance, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, led a new attack on Mayor Key and many joined him. Then the mayor sanctioned the opening of theatres for charity performances on Sunday and his political enemies incited further.

Recall petitions were presented to the city council and Key's friends charged fraud and forgeries in obtaining names. Many were withdrawn but a sufficient number was retained to cause the election to be ordered, and a campaign of charges and counter-charges began.

KIDNAPPER IS SENTENCED TO LIFE IN PRISON

Dowell Hargrave Gets Maximum Penalty in Abduction of Jas. DeJute.

Warren, O., March 16.—(AP)—Declaring kidnaping is "one of the most cruel and heartless" crimes and is becoming "all too prevalent" Common Pleas Judge Lynn E. Griffith today sentenced Dowell Hargrave, 31, to life imprisonment for the abduction of 11-year-old James DeJute, Jr.

The judge, who heard the case without a jury at the request of the defense, found Hargrave guilty of kidnaping with intent to extort money. Under Ohio law, conviction on such a charge in case the victim is under 12 years carries a maximum sentence of life. Defense pleas for a recommendation of mercy, which would have reduced the penalty to 10 to 20 years, were ignored.

"The crime of kidnaping is one of the most cruel and heartless; the calendar," Judge Griffith said in his verdict, "it strikes a blow at the tenderness and most sacred affections of human blood, and is usually resorted to for revenge or extortion."

"By the Jewish and civil law, kidnaping was punishable with death, and by common law, with fine, imprisonment and pillory.

"Kidnaping is an offense that is becoming all too prevalent in its appearances throughout our land in the recent months.

"Where the crime is proven in all its elements, punishment should be meted out by the courts of justice and the punishment should be exemplary."

The court then found Hargrave guilty and added: "There being no extenuating or mitigating circumstances to warrant the court in making the recommendation of mercy, the same is withheld."

Before delivering his opinion, Judge Griffith asked Hargrave if he wished to reveal the name of a third man believed to have been connected with the kidnaping. Hargrave said he had "nothing to say."

The sentence was then given. S. P. Manso, defense attorney, said he was undecided whether to appeal.

Two Face Trial in Murder Case

Gastonia, March 16.—(AP)—The defense continued introduction of evidence today in the trial of Constable O. T. Sams and Berry Dillingham, charged with slaying Stroupe.

Some also testified they saw Dillingham fire, while others said they saw Sams fire, although physicians said only one bullet struck Stroupe.

NAB MEMBERS OF RUM RING

Nine Men and Three Hundred Cases Liqueur Seized by Officers near Florence.

Florence, S. C., March 16.—(AP)—Federal prohibition officials said today they believed the arrest of nine men and the seizure of 300 cases of assorted liquors had broken up the operations in South Carolina of what they suspected as being a branch of the "Purple" ring of Detroit.

The authorities swooped down on a tobacco barn at Cartersville, this county, yesterday, seized the liquor and arrested four men. The other five men were taken into custody during the day.

After their hands had been fixed at between $10,000 and $25,000 each, the nine prisoners were taken to Charleston for finger-printing and photographing.

In addition to other charges, four of the men were alleged to have illegally operated a radio station on the coast near Myrtle Beach where officers said they had been informed the "ring" at one time unloaded its liquor from boats.

The officers said they had reported the alleged gang leader began using Waccamaw Neck, between Murrells Inlet and Georgetown, as the base of their reported operations.

The nine held were listed as J. O. Brown, Edgar L. Dunn, Ed and W. P. M. Daniel, W. J. and Frank M. Guro, Jack Taylor, Joseph L. Parker and J. S. Tyler. They were all charged with possession, transportation and storage of liquor and conspiracy to violate the prohibition (Continued on Page Four)

PRAYER MEETING AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

The study of the last chapter of the book of Hebrews this evening will bring to a close one of the most helpful studies of the Bible we have had. This chapter deals with these topics: Various exhortations; Avoid novel teachings and break with Judaism; Request for prayer; A prayer for the perfecting of the readers, ending with a doxology; Concluding words and salutations.

Special consideration will also be given to the pre-Easter services which will begin next Sunday.

There will be two services daily next week. The morning services will be a joint meeting on the part of all the churches. Each night the pastor will preach. It is to be hoped that the services at all the churches will be largely attended. Easter is a most fitting season for one to renew his covenant with the Lord Jesus Christ.

The visit of the Irish Players from the Abbey Theatre of Dublin and the presentation of one of their plays at East Carolina Teachers College on Saturday evening in this place in line with the leading cities and college and university towns of the country. The Dublin theatre is closed while they are in this country, for they do not send out other companies, as they have no "seconds" and understudies.

The play and the players are such that all who enjoy a good show will like, but those who are especially interested in plays, the theatre, and the drama, will get double enjoyment out of the evening.

The chapter was opened by the Greenville chapter in a most creditable way with Sister Mollie A. Brown, worthy matron, presiding. In a most impressive way the officers of the three chapters were installed at one time. The following officers were installed for Greenville Chapter No. 149 for the ensuing year:

Worthy Matron, Mrs. Josephine Rawl; Worlthy Patron, Mr. Frank Brown; Associate Matron, Mrs. Eva Corbett; Associate Patron, Mrs. J. F. The worthy matrons having been presented with their charters and laws, the chapter was then turned over to the new worthy matron of Greenville Chapter, Sister Josephine Rawl.

Sister Mangum, in her usually charming way, made a most beautiful talk. Everyone present received a great inspiration from her talk. She stated that our main objective for the work is the Masonic and Eastern Star Home at Greensboro. Under this head she stated that there were two phases of the work, maintenance and building. The second objective for work is the educational work at the orphanage; third, the International Temple Fund and fourth, work with the Rainbow Girls.

Sister Alice H. Parker of Farmville Chapter No. 146, past worthy grand matron, made a most enjoyable talk. One of the members stated that Sister Parker's talk was equal to that of Cam Morrison's.

Several short but enjoyable talks were given by other officers. The chapter was declared closed at the top of the gavel. Following this a social hour was enjoyed by all. A delectable salad course with hot coffee was served by members of the Greenville chapter. Everyone present declared Greenville chapter a most gracious hostess. —Reported.

Correction

In W. J. Bundy's announcement of candidacy for solicitor of County Court carried in the columns of this paper this week, solict was spelled "solchre." It was a typographical error, of course, because if there is one thing Dick Bundy can do it is spell correctly.

ABOUT TOWN

Curtailment of tobacco acreage this year, seems to be gaining considerable attention wherever the product is grown.

A recent report from Wisconsin is to the effect that officials of the Northern Tobacco Pool are encouraging its members to make drastic acreage slashes this year in view of reduced consumption and congestion.

Another report from Angora, Turkey, where tobacco is being grown extensively at this time, is equally significant. It says the national congress has decided to destroy considerable stocks in order to check the fall in prices following the world crisis.

Similar action is being urged upon growers in this part of the country who have suffered extensively from low prices the last two or three years. It is generally agreed that a worse situation will develop if normal acreage is produced this year and farmers are asked to reduce until they feel like they have done their part to relieve the condition.

If the growers will cut acreage and confine their attention to the cultivation of a higher grade of tobacco it is generally believed they will receive more for their crop than if they raise normal acreage with the usual amount of inferior grades.

Something must be done, and as curtailment of acreage seems to be the only means offering relief, there is nothing to do but cut until the glutted condition of the world market is relieved and manufacturers are given a chance to catch their breath.

A community is known by the way its people talk and think and act. That being the case it is evident the boys who have been complaining hard times until they don't know how to talk about anything else should get busy and change their perspective before the world puts them down as a bunch of fellows willing to run along in the same old rut.

Go into a progressive community and hear people talking about better times, and you at once form the opinion that they are headed for better things.

We can think hard times and depression until we become morbid, and instead of improving our condition cause it to become decidedly worse than it would be otherwise.

If you are one of those constantly looking on the blue side of life, consult an oculist and get a change of glasses. Maybe a new view of things will enable you to get out of the rut and improve your condition.

Revolution, we are told, was openly advocated before the House Immigration Committee yesterday by W. F. Duane, member of the central committee of the Communist party of the United States.

Duane asserted President Hoover was the "head and front of the Wall street capitalist drive to lower the standard of living of the working class. He also declared the working class must either take over control or be condemned to slavery."

If he had the nerve to make such an assertion before members of Congress it is impossible to imagine what he would say in the presence of a crowd of ignorant people unable to think for themselves.

The expression of such a doctrine threatens the foundation of this great and prosperous nation where the workingman enjoys as much freedom and advantages as he ever had before. America is still a "land of the free and home of the brave" and her opportunities have not been diminished by the constant march of progress in which poor men have been able to rise to the topmost rung of every field of human activity.

The opening gun of the forthcoming political campaign has been fired in Pitt county by announcement of two candidates for county court offices and it is expected those seeking other offices will begin tossing their hats in the ring in sufficient amounts at home.

Kitty Frew

By Jane Abbott

mother-in-law is plotting to undermine her marriage determines Kitty Frew to persuade her husband to take her away from his parents' home. She has not been happy staying there, but Gar's mother persists in giving Gar money and telling him to have a good time instead of going to work. Her small-town background prevents her from fitting in with Gar's friends, and she is ostracized especially by Marge Crosby, who wants to annex Gar. For some time Gar has been busy with Marge, helping direct a little theater group. Once during his absence Kitty met Gar's halfbrother, David, who is estranged from the family, and whom she likes and trusts. Gar is young and irresponsible, and fails to realize Kitty's discontent and his mother's unfriendly attitude toward her. He scolds Kitty for not being warmer to his friends, but says he will work.

Chapter 13 ULTIMATUM

Pound was telling Mrs. Frew that Griffin was at the door with the car. They went away; Kitty heard Pound going from the drawing room with the tea things.

She went swiftly up the stairs; she shut the door of her room—Gar's room—behind her. Standing against it, she stared about her for a moment, as if the familiar things in the room had taken on strangeness. Gar's things, for the most part, her own few possessions seemed curiously to show. She bathed, running the water to almost scalding heat, yet so hot was she still with anger that she felt it cool. She dressed, her fingers moving mechanically.

Before her mirror she suddenly put down her brush. Why, that girl facing her wasn't Kitty Brandon! She saw a short half-laugh. Her chin—it was funny—thrust out! And then she remembered what David had said about her chin, other things David had said. "If you have a chance—"

And now she had her chance, right in her hand. She and Gar could go to a hotel for tonight and tomorrow they'd find a furnished apartment, a home secure from that woman's scheming.

She put on the dress she had traveled in, coming to Winton. She dragged her suitcase out from the depths of Gar's closet and began to pack her clothes. In it, a little heedlessly, she had just taken the new yellow chiffon from its hook when she heard Gar's step on the stairs outside. She dropped it to open the door.

"Gar!" She clung to him. Oh, he was so big, so dear, Gar, it's good to feel you!"

Then she straightened a little away to look up at him. She kept tight hold of his hand as she drew him into the room. "Now tell me all about it!"

"It's going to be great, Kitty. Decker caught Marge's ideal right off. We're going to keep the barn effect, the rafters and things—"

"But, Gar, I mean—your father! What did he say about the job?"

Gar was taking off his coat. He did not notice the pleading on Kitty's face. "Oh, that," he answered easily. "I didn't see Dad. I talked it over with the Mother, and she advised against it. She thinks I ought to stick around home this winter and give my time to this new theater venture. We're fixed comfortably, and it isn't as if Dad couldn't afford to keep us. Say—we've got to get dressed, Kit. The bunch is going to Hoffman for dinner. Somers's going with Marge. Red's in a stew about that. Fix the studs in my shirt, will you, sweet? I'll jump into a bath—"

Kitty took a dress shirt out of Gar's bureau. She put it on and spread the shirt out on the bed. She found a collar and a tie and put them beside it. Socks—She was shivering; her whole body felt cold, numb, her brain a dead thing.

There was something she had to tell Gar, something she had to do—She took on the yellow dress, vaguely aware that it had to do with her purpose, and a was standing, staring dumbly down at it within the next few months.

Pitt county has always had her crop of candidates and this year is not expected to be any exception. In fact, with the economic depression keenly felt in every household it is expected more office seekers will attempt to take their place at the pie counter and obtain a new source of income.

The gubernatorial fight seems to be picking up steam all the time and as it stands now the race seems to be confined to Maxwell, Ehringhaus and Fountain. People have been slow to commit themselves in anticipation of further developments but if they do not come choice will begin to narrow down to the three candidates.

"Milk for Health" week is being generally observed throughout the nation with a view to interest people in the value of milk as a food product.

The health giving qualities of milk have been stressed repeatedly in schools and homes of the nation for the last several years, and many a person has found renewed health through following the advice of supporters of the movement.

Milk is probably the most effective diet possible for undernourished children, and organizations desiring to do their part by humanity should see to it that they make more milk available for school children who do not obtain the liquid in sufficient amounts at home.

when Gar emerged from the bathroom, rubbing his curly hair with a towel.

"That's right, Kit—wear that. It's going to be a big night tonight!" His words, his tone released her brain from its numbing weight. She faced him, crushing the yellow dress in her hands.

"I'm not going tonight, Gar." He saw her face, then. He stared at it, puzzled, frowning a little. "Not going? What's the big idea?"

"I'm not going out with you any more until you can pay for our pleasure with money you've earned."

She could let in a faint surprise at the steadiness of her tone. Gar's frown deepened. "Oh, lord, are you going to begin that old song? Well, you can't mind if I go without you."

"I can't mind it as much as the humiliation of going with you and knowing that your mother is—buying you!"

But Gar did not hear that. His angry glance had gone to the half-packed suitcase.

"What's this? Going back to the chickens and the pigs? Well, remember me to them and to Aunt Jermina and Uncle Joshua—"

He looked so like an angry, spoiled boy, his hair rough, his suspenders hanging, his fingers fumbling with his collar, that a part of Kitty wanted to laugh, to manager the unruly collar button, to smooth his hair, to kiss away the dark scowl. But she did not move. She dropped the yellow dress she had been crushing in her arms to the floor.

"I am not going to stay in this house another night. When you are ready to support a home I'll come back to you." Again she felt that surprise at the coolness with which she could answer.

"You will, will you? That's kind." Gar was savage dragging on his clothes. He turned his back to Kitty. She scarcely stirred until he had finished dressing and had gone out, slamming the door behind him.

She had no feeling of hurt or heartache, only her driving need of escape. She finished packing her clothes. She shut the bag and put on her hat and coat and gloves. She took up her purse—then she looked at it in dismay.

She had only ten dollars. That was not enough to take her home, though not until Gar had spoken of it had she thought of going home.

David—He'd help her, of course. She went to the telephone. "Park 893." Strange that she remembered it! And when his voice came over the wire: "David, can I see you at once?"

A new life begins for Kitty in the next installment, while she tries to plan a future apparently empty.

LEGION WILL HELP NEEDY

It was the sense of the meeting that former service men unable to work should be assisted as far as the organization was able to do so, but little consideration will be given to appeals for aid from those who refuse to work although physically able to do so.

The membership campaign is being pushed vigorously by the State organization received attention, and members were impressed with the necessity of supporting it as much as possible. The building up membership was stressed, and all members of the post were asked to do their bit in this direction.

Charlie Martin of Ayden presided over the session and the usual supper was enjoyed.

ROOSEVELT LEADS IN N. D.

In the Republican preference primary, 125 precincts gave former Senator J. I. France of Maryland, 1,907 votes, and Jacob S. Coxey, of Ohio, 1,145. These votes came from scattered areas and the trend favored France throughout.

President Hoover was not a preference candidate, but he had a slate of eleven delegates to the national convention competing against an unopposed set.

The preference votes have no especial significance and the party delegates elected to the national convention need not be guided by the result. Tabulation of the delegate vote was slow because each was voted on individually without regard to whether they were Murray or Roosevelt, or Hoover or anti-Hoover. A split delegation for each party was considered a possibility.

A constitutional proposal to move the capital back from Blantock to Jamestown brought out the heavy vote. Indications were the proposal would be defeated by at least three to one.

Normally Republican, North Dakota usually polls around 10,000 Democratic votes in presidential primaries, but the figures so far from yesterday's election indicate that mark will be doubled.

JAPANESE GOVERNMENT APPROVES TENTATIVE AGREEMENT FOR PEACE

China's representative in the conferences was Kuo Tai Chi, Nationalist commissioner at Shanghai. The parleys were held at the British consulate. Nelson T. Johnson, United States minister to China sat in on the conferences. The parleys today were held before the League of Nations investigating commission arrived from Japan, but the Earl of Lytton, chairman of the commission, was reported from Shanghai as saying the members of the league group were willing to assist other neutral mediators and to remain in Shanghai until all danger of further hostilities was past.

Emperor Hirohito already has authorized the withdrawal of a large part of the Japanese forces at Shanghai.

Shanghai, March 16.—(AP)—Japanese negotiators seeking to arrange a Sino-Japanese peace conference here said today they did not plan to ask for assistance from the League of Nations investigating commission, which is now at Shanghai.

The Japanese officials said they were inconstant contact with the Chinese and they hoped a preliminary conference would be held soon.

Because of the continued tension in Chinese territory, however, United States Consul General Cunningham advised the American missionaries who have sought refuge here not to return to their posts in outlying districts. There has been a continual inflow of Americans into Shanghai from distant schools and missions, he said, even since the cessation of hostilities.

POWERS TRIES TO HALT DEATH

(Continued from Page One) county where twice he was threatened by mob violence and that he was tried by a jury "chosen from the mob." He further averred Powers was denied a change of venue, a confession "was beaten out of him and the trial was held in an open opera house."

In the Moundsville prison yesterday the condemned man said he was innocent and that "a great shame would be up on the state of West Virginia" if he is executed. His only defense to the killings has been that the two other men committed the crimes.

BINGHAM RAPS HIGHWAY BILL

One of the telegrams—that of Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania—said starvation was wide-spread in his state. The others reported conditions of varying seriousness but, that local and state agencies had thus far been able to cope with the situation.

Bingham said the reports received in response to telegrams he had sent out indicated that 6,000,000 was a fair estimate of the number of jobless instead of the 10,000,000 figure that has been mentioned in the Senate by some of his colleagues.

"Where is this money going to come from?" asked Bingham, regarding the proposed highway appropriation.

"We are today spending $8,000,000 a day more than we are receiving and this bill would add another million dollars a day to this deficit for the next nine months. Who is going to pay the bill?"

Bingham urged an amendment that would distribute the funds on the basis of population rather than area and highway needs on the ground that the relief thus would be offered in the more thickly settled populated industrial states where he contended it is needed most. He said, however, he would oppose the bill even if his amendment were adopted.

SIX KILLED BY GAS FUMES

The dead: John Lucas, 60, the father. Mrs. Helen Lucas, 58, the mother. Mrs. Mary Sitkiewicz, 33, a daughter.

Jeanette Lucas, 21, a daughter. Lola Sitkiewicz, 11, and Irene Sitkiewicz, 9, grandchildren of the Lucas couple.

The four others might also have died had not Mrs. Charles Weyant mother of the boys, returned home early today after an all night vigil with her six mother, to find her own home filled with gas and her husband and sons unconscious. She immediately threw open all windows in the house.

The husband, Charles Weyant, and the three sons were revived by firemen.

Noting that illuminating gas fumes lingered about the neighborhood, Mrs. Weyant wondered if gas could be in other homes nearby. She notified that windows in the Lucas house were closed.

She ran across the street to the Lucas house and found all members of the family in bed. Her efforts to rouse them failed, and physicians who arrived later found them dead.

New gas mains were laid in the village last fall, and it was thought one of these might have failed.

MAYOR HEADS ARMY BOARD

Attending the meeting last night were Mayor R. C. Flanagan, J. H. Waldrop, J. T. Clifton, J. S. Ficklen, Dr. A. M. Schultz, J. H. Rose, Rev. E. L. Hillman and Ensign Joseph Willet and wife.

A detailed report of activities of the organization from February 15 to March 15 showed that considerable work had been done for that period.

Ensign Willet reported that the transients' quarters was meeting a long-felt need here and said numbers of persons unable to provide lodging for themselves had been cared for.

WHITE SOX HAVE STRONG MOUND CREW

By BILL PARKER
San Antonio, Tex., March 16.—(AP)—Manager Lewis Fonseca hopes to prove magician enough to develop the second division Chicago White Sox follies of 1930-31 into 1932 first division pennant drama.

His foundation of hope is the Sox pitching corps.

He maintains it will compare with the league's best.

Talk pitchers to Fonseca and he points to Ted Lyons, Urban Faber, Alphonse Thomas, Pat Caraway, Victor Frasier, Irving Hadley, Sam Jones and Milton Gaston, and explains he has hurlers to spare.

"Mention heavy hitters to the Sox skipper and he blushes. He is still searching for the wallop that was absent in the puncheon seventh place Sox of 1930 and the last players of 1931.

Fonseca expects some excellent pitching from Frasier who won 18 and lost 15 last season. He thinks with the normal amount of improvement and confidence that Frasier will win 20 games.

"Ted Lyons," explained Fonseca, "had a sore arm last year. Adams was only fair. I expect improved pitching from these two. Caraway worked in 51 games last year. It was too much. I plan to pitch him his regular turn and believe he will win around 18 games. Red Faber will be used in spots and may win at least 10 games."

The outstanding rookie pitcher is Ralph Erickson, a big southpaw, who won 15 and lost 10 at Shreveport last year.

The infield shapes up with Lou Blue at first, Minter Hayes at second, Chalmers Cissell at shortstop and Carey Selph at third. Blue and Cissell are regular holdovers. Hayes was secured from Washington. Selph was drafted from Houston, where he played second.

Of the four, Selph was last year's hardest hitter. He batted .322.

Joseph Sullivan and Luke Appleby, holdovers, and Gregory Mulvey from Toledo are other infield candidates with a chance to stick.

The outfield is a puzzle. Harold Anderson from St. Paul, Melbourne Simons from Toledo and Bruce Campbell from Little Rock are among the promising recruits. John Watwood and Bob Fothergill are experienced major leaguers. Watwood is sure to be a regular. Fothergill is a heavy hitter, but weak on defense. Fonseca, who hit .312 last year, may play the outfield in a desperate attempt to bolster the Sox offense.

Smead Jolly, pinch hitting outfielder, is trying to develop into a catcher. If Jolly fails as a catcher, Frank Grub and Henry Tate, regular maskmen last year, will again share the burden.

REDS TO MAKE EFFORT TO GET OUT OF CELLAR

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
Tampa, Fla., March 15.—(AP)—The camp of the Cincinnati Reds today buzzed with confidence as Manager Dan Howley expanded on the prospects of climbing out of the National League cellar as a result of the club's sensational six player swap with Brooklyn.

The deal brings to Redland the assorted services of outfielder Floyd (Babe) Herman, one of the league's heaviest hitters, catcher Ernest Lombardi and third sacker Walter Gilbert in exchange for Tony Cucinello and Joe Stripp, infielders, and Clyde Sukeforth, backstop.

"This deal may make the club," declared Howley. "Herman as well as Lombardi, will add terrific punch to our lineup."

"Imagine how much stronger we will be with an outfield consisting of Crabtree, Douthitt and Hermon, all three of whom can fig 'em, hit 'em and run the bases. Then we will have in reserve, mind you, such clouters as Harry Heilmann and Wally Roettger. I may alternate Roettger with Crabtree, depending on the pitching."

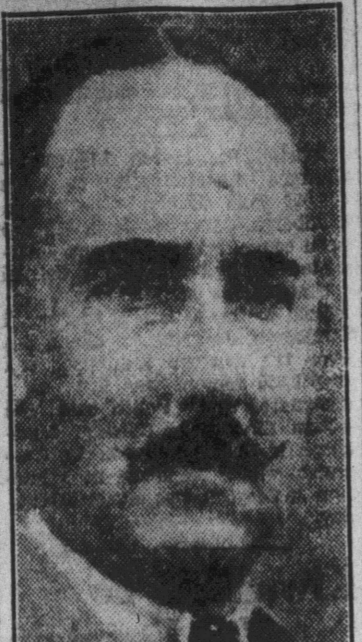

Howley has been working an infield consisting of Mickey Heath at first, George Gantham, the former Pirate, at second; peppery Leo Doucher occupying the short field and Andy High on third. It has looked first class. However, the Red leader can try Gilbert at third, experiment with his highly touted St. Paul recruit, Joe Morrissey, at either short or second, and put Gantham on first base, if Heath fails to come through.

"Sukeforth is a good catcher but can't stand steady work," Dan said. "Now we have an experienced, first class receiver in Clyde Mansion, drafted from Milwaukee, and a hard hitting, hard working young fellow in Lombardi."

The pitching staff looks doubtful but Howley insists he isn't worried about it. Discussing this, he says, "Red Lucas and St. Johnson will be better than ever. Owen Carroll looks right to me for the first time in years. Frey, Benton and Rixey ought to go well. If a boy like Walter Hulcher can come through the way he promises to do, the pitching will be all set."

Sixth place perhaps is the best the Reds can hope for but their spirit as well as prospects, appear substantially improved by comparison with its outlook in the past two seasons.

On Sunday they played against Cioero of the Reds, and yesterday it was Virgil Davis and Homer Dudley of the Phillies.

Los Angeles—John McGraw, the New York Giants' manager, has discovered a new reason why he does not want Hugh Critz, second baseman, to have any more trouble with the arm that kept him out of action so much last season. McGraw doesn't want to move Freddy Lindstrom to the infield.

Lindy, who shifted to the outfield last season, has developed into an unusually good defensive gardner in the center field job.

Oakland, Calif.—Manager Bucky Harris was elated today over the showing his Detroit Tigers made in trouncing Oakland 9 to 2 in yesterday's exhibition game.

Tampa—Ernest Lombardi and Willy Gilbert, ex-Dodgers, make their first appearances in uniforms of the Cincinnati Reds today in an exhibition contest with the Phillies at Winter Haven.

Whether "Babe" Herman, acknowledged Kingpin of the trade that sent Joey Stripp and Tony Cucinello to the Brooklyn club, will recede from his holdout demands is uncertain, but the Reds management exuded confidence.

New Orleans—There was rejoicing in the Cleveland Indians camp today over the belief that for the first time in several years the tribe will have a dependable left-handed pitcher.

Thornton (Lefty) Lee held the Toledo Mud Hens hitless and scoreless and only issued one pass in the three innings he worked yesterday.

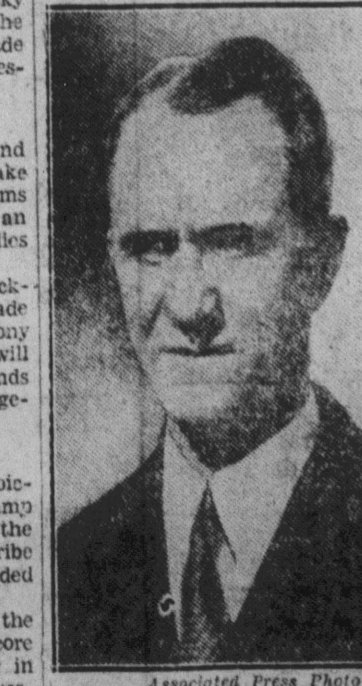

West Palm Beach.—Defeated by the Yarnigans 5 to 4 in their first clash yesterday, the regulars of the St. Louis Browns today were to meet the second-stringers in another si-ning game.

STOCK MARKET

New York, March 16.—(AP)—The stock market was called on today to assimilate further unfavorable dividend actions and reports of lessened business activity as registered in important reaction.

Losses, while general, were mostly small, although some specialties reacted sharply. An early morning rally gave way to receding values as market technicians voiced considerable skepticism over further advance at this time because of the apathy of the bulls. The carrier stocks bore the main burden of what little selling appeared, with declines of 1 to over 2 points in Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Delaware and Hudson, New York Central and Canadian Pacific.

H. H. Macy, broke more than 5 points following reduction of the dividend to a $2 annual basis. U. S. Steel confined its loss to narrow proportions although trade reports placed current production for the industry at 25 percent of capacity against 27 per cent last week. Announcement that the Stockholm stock exchange would suspend trading in Krueger & Toll when it reopens next Monday brought further selling into that issue, several blocks of 5,000 to 25,000 shares appearing on the tape. The price fell to a new low. Eastman Kodak, International Business Machines, Allied Chemical, American Telephone and Corn Products declined 1 to 2 points.

International Match preferred broke several points to a new record low on announcement that the dividend had been passed. Electric Power figures for the week showed $2 per cent less production than one year ago. This compared with 8.7 per cent decline as of last week.

On the cheerful side, February foreign trade figures showed exports of $155,000,000 for the month, a gain of $5,000,000 over the January total.

N. Y. COTTON

Covering and continental buying was reported in the Liverpool market, and cable advices said there was steady buying of cotton cloths in Manchester for shipment to South America and Africa.
