DENY EFFORT MADE TO DUMP U. S. WHEAT

Chairman Stone Says Reports Circulated in Attempt to Manipulate Market.

Washington, March 22.—(AP)—Chairman Stone of the Farm Board said in a statement today that rumors concerning the visit of George S. Milnor of the Grain Stabilization Corporation to Europe were being circulated as "a part of a malicious attempt to manipulate the market."

At the same time C. E. Huff, president of the Farmers National Grain Corporation, issued a statement that no significance should be attached to Milnor's visit and that "international sleuths, seeking mysteries for solution, may turn their attention back to finding the Lindbergh baby."

Milnor sailed for Europe last week and since that time it has been reported, particularly in market circles, that the Grain Corporation was preparing to dispose of its surplus wheat in the European market.

Stone's statement said: "Rumors are continuing to be circulated that George S. Milnor, vice-president and general manager of the Farmers National Grain Corporation, went to Europe for the purpose of dumping stabilization wheat."

"These rumors are untrue and they have the earmarks of being a part of a malicious attempt to manipulate the market for the express purpose of aiding those who are speculating in grain. There will be no stabilization wheat dumped anywhere. We announced last July how this wheat would be sold. This program has been followed and will not be changed."

FOREST FIRES RAGE IN N. C.

Hundreds of Acres Destroyed by Blaze On a 20-Mile Front Near Carthage.

Marion, N. C., March 22.—(AP)—Two and a quarter inches of rain drenched McDowell county today and six forest fires that had been raging before a high wind were extinguished.

Forest Ranger T. W. Wilson said the heretofore dry woods would be safe from fire for at least five days. Foresters said these fires might have reached serious proportions had not the heavy rain fallen.

Hurled along by a wind which at times approached gale proportions, forest fires ate their way unchecked through hundreds of thousands of North Carolina timber lands today.

Fighters along a 20-mile front between Carthage and Fort Bragg were merely able to turn the flames from buildings at times, but could not perceptibly lessen the rate of advance.

"We didn't get more than 100 yards, though, when it hit us so I grabbed her and we laid down be-

CONTINUE WAR ON SALES TAX

Insurgent Movement Gains Momentum Producing Critical Situation.

Washington, March 22.—(AP)—Rejecting the olive branch tendered by House leaders, insurgent forces from both parties stuck today to their way on the manufacturers sales tax, leaving prospects for the billion dollar revenue bill as critical as ever.

For a while, it seemed certain a compromise would be reached. The ways and means committee came half way by exempting from the tax food, clothing, medicines, and farm implements, meeting the fundamental objections of at least one congressional leader, LaGuardia of New York. But spokesmen for the revolvers decided after a conference to strike to the fight on principle.

So the House reassembled to sink on the bill much where it left off in the hectic session last Saturday which was terminated by a sudden call for adjournment from the harassed leaders.

The new exemptions of the ways and means committee meant essentially that the sales tax would not be a "poverty tax" as its clamorous opponents have called it, would not reach into the pockets of those barely able to supply themselves with the necessities of life.

The decision to fight on for principle reflects the determination of many members to prevent this (Continued on page six)

AL'BAMA HARD HIT BY STORM

Few Hours After Daylight Checkup Showed 119 Dead in Alabama, 30 in Georgia, 12 in Tennessee, 2 in Kentucky and One in South Carolina; Property Damage Is Unestimated.

Birmingham, Ala., March 22.—(AP)—Freakish March tornadoes killed at least 214 persons in five southern states yesterday and today.

All during the night the death list grew, starting with seven and mounting rapidly as communities, cut off by the terrific winds, were restored to communication with the rest of the world.

Alabama suffered worst of all. A check at dawn showed 169 dead there, in Georgia 30 were dead, in Tennessee 12, in Kentucky 2, and in South Carolina one.

Property loss was extensive. No attempt has been made even to approximate it. Hundreds of persons were injured. Scores reported narrow escapes.

The fall end of the Alabama winds dipped into other southern states with telling effects.

Violent rains accompanied the blasts impeding rescue work and communication lines were stirred into a tangle that prevented an accurate check of damage and death.

Daylight brought a desolate scene in Alabama communities hit by the winds. National guardsmen, and nurses, doctors and volunteers combined in rescue work and hospitals and emergency quarters for the injured were crammed with the victims of the winds.

First reports of the tornadoes came from northwest Alabama. The winds hit Northport first killing twenty-six, skipped southward to Demopolis and Linden and Faunsdale, and then struck twice at Marion in the Black Belt, bringing death at each point.

The winds then switched to the northeast hitting Lomax, Thorsby, Columbiana and Bethel and touching at Paint Rock before passing into Tennessee, leaving death and destruction behind it.

The national guard was ordered out for duty at Northville across the Warrior river from Tuscaloosa, Ala., and the University of Alabama gymnasium was converted into an emergency hospital. Appeals broad cast for nurses and physicians hurried to the stricken areas.

Witnesses at Columbiana, Ala., where sixteen died, told of dark funnel-shaped clouds that cut a swath 150 yards wide and sent timbers and homes swirling. Six men were killed at Lineville, Ala. And the totals handed down to one dead at Falkville, Ala.

Stricken families turned out with rescue workers to search the dripping wreckage for missing persons. Flashlights lighted their way last night and the parties increased at dawn.

Nine dead in Bartow County, Ga., as the winds whipped over the countryside in the northwestern part of the state. A community church was turned into a hospital to care for the injured. Five were killed near Athens, Ga.

Four were killed at Pulaski in middle Tennessee and two men were injured fatally when a hotel was hit by the winds at Uniontown, Ky. Seven others died in Tennessee communities where the tornadoes struck.

Reports from Spartanburg, S. C., said one was killed, several injured and much damage done. A telephone operator sent out a call for aid from Piney Grove, Ala., in the storm region, saying many had been killed in that region. Communication lines went out before a check was completed.

Spartanburg, S. C., March 22.—(AP)—A tornado swept across Spartanburg county early today, destroying at least 15 houses and (Continued on page six)

Fanned by a wind of gale-like proportions, a terrific dust storm swept over Greenville and community today.

The storm gained intensity this afternoon and completely concealed the skies from view and handicapped hundreds of people engaged in out-door occupations.

Although the wind was high both last night and today, no damage of any extent was reported from any part of the county.

SOME FOLKS ARE JUST NATURALLY UNLUCKY
New York, March 22.—(AP)—Dan Nevins guessed wrong.

He was on trial for first degree murder yesterday. The jury was deliberating. Conviction meant the chair.

Nevins grew more and more nervous. Finally he agreed to enter a plea of guilty of second degree manslaughter and take a sentence of from five to ten years imprisonment.

Sentence was imposed.

While the formality was taking place, the jury, unaware of Nevins' action, finished its deliberation. The verdict, however, was not accepted, in view of Nevins' plea.

The verdict was not guilty.

WOMAN CHARGED WITH KILLING HUSBAND
Asheville, March 22.—(AP)—Solicitor Zeb V. Nettles today gave the Buncombe County grand jury a bill of indictment charging Mrs. Jessie Hough, pretty young Asheville woman, with murder of her husband, William R. Hough, railroad employe found shot to death in his home on March 13.

A coroner's jury decided Hough committed suicide after hearing two witnesses, Liston L. Hayes and Fred Runion, express belief he killed himself. Hayes was in another part of the house and Runion was seated in an automobile in front of the house when the fatal shot was fired.

Mrs. Hough was in the room with her husband, but because of illness did not testify at the inquest.

Mrs. Hough was secretary to Gerald Cowan, director of the city departments of public safety and public works. He announced today that she had resigned.

TWO MEN ARRESTED ON ROBBERY CHARGES
Smithfield, March 22.—(AP)—L. Johnson of Wilson and a man named Cook, a garage employe at Selma, were held in jail here today in connection with the robbery of the Bentonville postoffice and the store of J. M. Beasley several weeks ago.

The arrest followed search of a storage garage at Selma operated by Chief of Police Pearson, which netted an automobile containing a number of inner tubes, merchandise and liquor, county officers said.

The alleged loot was found secreted in two large trunks built under the automobile, officers said the tubes were stolen in the Bentonville case. Loot in the Bentonville store-post office robbery was valued at $1,000.

County and federal officers today expressed belief an organized gang of robbers was working in Johnson county and were searching for other members.

Some stolen property was found in Wilson when the officers arrested Johnson, they said.

Before they could search Pearson's garage he required them to get a search warrant, the officers added, but they did not connect him with the case. They arrested his assistant, Cook. Pearson was named chief of police of Selma two weeks ago.

CALIFORNIA FOR GARNER

Wm. G. McAdoo Says State Will Support Speaker at Chicago Convention.

Washington, March 22.—(AP)—William G. McAdoo said after a conference today with Speaker Garner, that while the Texan was not seeking the Democratic presidential nomination the boom for California was growing and California would send an instructed delegation for him to Chicago.

The former Democratic secretary of the treasury, who heads the Garner-pledged state of delegate candidates in the California primary in May, flew here last night on business and called on Mr. Garner at the Capitol to pay his respects.

"We didn't discuss politics," McAdoo said "but as I was leaving I expressed to him the opinion that while he was not seeking the nomination California would send an instructed delegation for him just the same."

McAdoo said he talked government finances with the speaker in a general way but didn't offer any advice, nor was any sought.

Holding a copy of the much-controverted tax bill, the tall Californian smiled and said:

"As a former secretary of the treasury, I don't care to talk through my hat on it. I want to familiarize myself with the details before I reach any conclusions."

IT WOULD HELP BUSINESS

The action of the Pitt County Post American Legion in urging our Representative in Congress to support the Patman bill for the immediate payment of the balance of the world war adjusted compensation certificates is certainly timely and every post in the nation as well as all organizations who would really like to see better times should take similar action. It has been pointed out on several occasions by Congressman Patman, the veterans by asking for the payment of these certificates are not asking a dole or gift from the government but are asking only that which is justly due them and according to the Patman plan of payment the government can pay these certificates without embarrassment or depletion of the treasury. The payment of these certificates at this time would bring to Pitt County more than $600,000, and to North Carolina nearly $39,000,000. Certainly this much cash money in the hands of so many people in our section and state would have a great effect upon the revival of business and every business man and citizen generally should be interested in this movement for the payment of the ex-service men and revival of business generally.

We urge all our people to get in touch with our Representatives in Congress and urge them to support the Patman bill. This money is rightly due the veterans and in addition the payment would mean much to every citizen now.

ABOUT TOWN

The rat extermination campaign got under way in Greenville today. The importance of killing this form of pest is realized by those who know that they destroy thousands of dollars worth of property of the community in the course of a year. With abundant food, a rat produces an average of ten young to the litter. At the maximum rate of increase and without check, in a few years the rats in the world would consume all vegetables and animal life and the earth would become a lifeless waste. Two rats, unmolested, in three years time will produce 3,500,000 descendants. The campaign will be carried to all sections of the city and it is hoped business men and housewives will join the fight to cut down the annual property loss caused by the pest.

Forest fires, fanned by high winds, have already done right much damage in Pitt county the last several days, and unless checked, will do still more. This is the season of the year when the county is threatened by fire and unless every precaution is taken it is impossible to estimate the damage that will ensue. Farmers cleaning off their lands should be careful how they handle fire. This advice should also be considered by fishermen who will patronize nearby streams during the next several months. A cigaret or cigar butt tossed carelessly into a brush pile may result in untold damage to forests and if those who frequent woodlands do not observe every precaution the loss may be of staggering proportions.

Pitt County Legionnaires are in favor of the government paying former service men the remainder of their war compensation, believing the action would play a vital part in relieving the shortage of finances evident in all parts of the country.

A bill to this effect has been presented to Congress by Rep. Wright Patman of Texas, who also believes it would have a salutary effect on the economic situation affecting not only this country but the world generally.

Pitt county would get over $663,000 from the proposed payment, and anybody having an intimate knowledge of conditions, will agree that this amount of money would not only help the veterans but would also contribute to the financial recovery of the community.

This is a debt the government owes the former service men and it would be far better to pay it than to give away millions to other forms of relief, in the opinion of those who have investigated the proposal and know what they are talking about.

The schools of Pitt county will have a difficult time finishing the extended term this year in spite of the avowed statement of the commissioners that they would do everything in their power to see that the institutions are not closed before the term is completed.

This brings taxpayers face to face with the necessity of settling their taxes as promptly as possible in order that school work may not be interrupted.

The same applies to patrons of the city schools, and hope has been expressed that people who realize the financial plight of the city and county governments will get busy and do their bit.

The Board of Aldermen several months ago appealed to the public to help through prompt settlement of taxes and if this should be heeded there will be no chances of disrupted school activities.

Plant more food crops and cut down on tobacco and cotton is the advice imparted by agricultural leaders in all parts of the country at this time. It is especially applicable in this section of the state where tobacco is produced in abundance and where the farmers face continued depressed price conditions unless they abide by the movement for curtailment.

Both cotton and tobacco markets are more hopelessly glutted than they have been in years and there is slight hope of improvement of prices until this situation has been remedied.

There are only two ways to relieve the condition and that is through larger sales and decreased production, and if both can be realized for the next two years the depression so evident in all parts of the nation would soon be dissipated.

Growers should not be misled by statements to the contrary and the sooner they acquaint themselves with true facts the sooner they may hope to get back to the high road of prosperity.

NOTICE OF SALE OF LAND Under and by virtue of the authority conferred by deed of trust executed by G. A. Rouse and wife, Myrtle Rouse, dated the 1st day of September, 1928, and recorded in Book _____, page _____, in the office of the Register of Deeds for Pitt County, Jefferson E. Owens, Substituted Trustee will at twelve o'clock noon on Beginning at a stake on the South side of Wilson Street, two hundred sixty-two and one-half (262 1/2) feet from the intersection of Pitt St. and Wilson street, the inside line or sidewalk on the Southern side of Wilson Street, in the town of Farmville, North Carolina, and runs South 43-15 West, two hundred fourteen (214) feet; thence South 46-15 East fifty-two and one-half feet; thence North 43-15 East 214 feet to Wilson Street; thence with Wilson Street North 46-45 West 521-2 feet to the point of beginning. Rouse, which deed is duly recorded in Registry of Pitt County in Book W-16 at page 39, and same being surveyed September, 1928, by Henry L. Rivers, Civil Engineer. Reference being made to said survey for a fuller description.

This sale is made on account of default in payment of the indebtedness secured by said deed of trust.

A ten per cent (10) cash deposit will be required of the purchaser at the sale.

This the 8th day of March, 1932. Jefferson E. Owens, Substituted Trustee. Mar. 17-11w-4wk.

Kitty Frew

By Jane Abbott

SYNOPSIS: Clever plotting by Garfield Frew's mother has resulted in unhappiness for his wife, Kitty. Mrs. Frew has given Gar money, so he won't get a job. Kitty resents this dependence, and runs away to remain till Gar will support her. Gar's half-brother David, estranged from the family, advises her.

Chapter 18 "TILL TAKE THE NIGHT TRAIN" Mrs. Frew turned to her mirror and carefully put into place a lock of hair that had escaped Cora's attention.

"Mrs. Garfield has been homesick, doubtless. There is no need for your concern, Pound. She may have gone to her home for a little visit, and Gar knows, of course."

Pound shifted uneasily from one foot to the other. "She didn't go home, madam. She went to Mr. David's. I gave the address to the driver."

Mrs. Frew's astonishment at that was more than she could control. Her voice took a higher note. "But, Pound, you are mistaken! Kitty—Mrs. Garfield never has met David!"

Poor Pound, he had lived to sixty-two in service, obedient to the slightest command. Mrs. Frew's statement commanded. He obeyed.

"She knows him, madam. She met him here. Mr. David comes sometimes, to have dinner with his father. He waited, his kindly wrinkled face marked with distress. He was betraying Mr. David!"

Mrs. Frew appeared to be weighing what he had said. Except that her mouth was drawn into a thin hard line she gave no sign of any emotion. After a moment she walked to a desk in the corner of her room and took from it a check-book. She filled in one of the blank sheets, unhesitatingly, blotting it carefully.

"This covers your wages for the rest of the month, Pound. You may go this morning. And under the circumstances, into which I do not think we need go, you can expect no references from me, of course."

For a moment Pound's old body stiffened under a wave of anger. He opened his lips to speak, then closed them. He bowed his head, took the piece of paper and withdraw, shutting the door carefully, softly behind him.

Mrs. Frew stood quite still looking fixedly at the closed door. Her brain was working with a cold, hard precision that kept in check her mounting triumph.

Cora came back to finish the work Pound had interrupted. When Mrs. Frew was dressed she told Cora to summon Mr. Gar.

"He slept in the blue room last night, Madam. I didn't know—I thought Miss Carol'd brought home a guest and I knocked—"

"Wait, Cora, before you call Mr. Gar. Get the Wickser Placement Agency on the telephone, I have dismissed Pound."

Gar was awake, heavy-eyed, when Cora delivered her message through an inch of open door. He was trying to collect just why he was here, in the blue room. His head ached—probably the stuff Burkett had gotten for them last night had been rotten. There was something he'd planned to do first thing this morning. Oh, yes, Kit—she'd been sore last night. He had to make up with her. Well, he'd been sore, too, the way she'd jumped on him. That was why he'd slept down here! But she must have worried, maybe thought something had happened to him—

He'd run upstairs before he went in to see his mother. He moved to get out of bed and then dropped back on his pillow. "God, what a head! Guess I was tight last night. Glad Kit wasn't there—"

Then he remembered, with sudden clarity, just how Kitty had looked. She'd said something about going away. A vague uneasiness took hold of him. He got up hastily and looked about for a robe of some sort; he must find Kitty at once. And, there being no robe, he wrapped a blue silk coverlet around his underclothes, in which he had slept, and went, two steps at a time up the stairs to his room.

Three minutes later hobnobbing into his mother's room, the blue coverlet still dragging at his heels, his face white, his eyes dark with horror.

She had expected he would come like this. She met him halfway from the door, and put steady hands on his shoulders. "I know, dear boy." Her voice was deep with compassion, tenderness.

"She said she was going—but I didn't think she meant it. She was terribly mad, mother! I guess I've been rotten. I guess maybe I acted rotten last night—I can't remember—"

"Calm yourself, Gar. Kitty has gone home. Pound put her in a taxi."

"Last night? But she didn't have any money—"

"She must have had some money, Gar, that you did not know she had."

Gar remembered the money with which Kitty had bought her dress—she hadn't let him know she had that. Perhaps hid away somewhere. Maybe she had gone home. He dimly remembered her saying something about going home—

"I'll wire to Bridgewater. I'll take the night train."

"Wait, son." Mrs. Frew sat down in a chair and motioned to him to draw one close to her. "You must not rush into anything. You must think of the future. Hasn't Kitty done rather childish, undignified things, going off like this? I cannot believe that she was justified in any pique—you are devoted to her. We have done everything we could to make her happy here—"

"You've been wonderful, mother." "If you rush after her now, Gar, it is certain that she will do it again. Wait and let Kitty see for herself how silly she is acting. In a few days you'll have a letter from her begging you to forgive her for the distress she has caused you. Then you can go to Bridgewater."

Gar's face had brightened. He caught his mother's hands and squeezed them boyishly. "You're the greatest mother a fellow ever had. The way you see things out!"

She smiled her gratitude for his tribute. She left her hands in his.

"I hold my motherhood as my most sacred responsibility. I must always be ready to help you, Gar, to think things out. You must always know that I never have told you what pain I felt over your hasty marriage. I've feared for its outcome and I've prayed that it may bring you no unhappiness. I know you'll come to see—as I saw at once—that Kitty is not our sort."

"And is it for us to make her over, to teach her that our standards are a little different from those she has known, to be patient with her when she makes mistakes, to help her."

(Copyright, Jane Abbott)

Will Mrs. Frew's smoot; lies succeed? Gar decides his course of action tomorrow.

PIRATE POWER IS UNCERTAIN THIS SEASON

San Francisco, March 22.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, once one of "the teams" to beat for the National league pennant but more recently fallen by the wayside, will take the field this season as doubtful contenders.

At third base and in center field, Pittsburgh is fortified. Harold "Pie" Traynor still is rated the best third sacker in baseball. Lloyd Waner will do until another fly chaser comes along.

But around these two stars is built a club that is a pre-season puzzle. It may or may not click.

George Gibson, making his second debut as manager of the Pirates, is frankly concerned with the keystone combination of his infield unit. Tommy Thevenow, shortstop, is a crack fielder, but dismally weak at the plate. In addition he is nursing a weak foot, broken last season. Vaughn, a recruit, has been filling in. While he is described as "a great prospect" by Manager Gibson, he has shown a lack of stability.

Two youngsters who had some experience at the position last season are battling for second base, with Tony Piet holding the edge over Howard Grosskloss at the present. Gus Sulz, with plenty of experience, has first base sewed up.

Paul Waner, elder brother of Lloyd, will patrol right field as usual, but he does not impress observers now as he did when he broke in a few seasons ago and topped the league in batting.

The left field berth is open with Adam Comorosky, Forest Jensen, Gus Dugas and Dave Barbee in the running.

Comorosky has shown a tendency to become an "on and off" performer. Jensen, also a holdover, is not a consistent hitter. Dugas, recalled from Kansas City, where he hit over 400, may win himself a steady job if he can continue to club the ball. Barbee, a slugger, drafted from the Coast league, has not had much chance yet to show his ability.

Gibson says he is satisfied with his catching staff.

It includes Hal Finney, Earl Graco, holdovers, and Bill Brenzel, rookie purchased from the San Francisco Missions.

Pittsburgh's pitching staff is manned by veterans. Gibson thinks they will stand up. He also expects some help from a couple of youngsters. Ray Kremer, Larry French, Ervin Brame, Steve Swentick, Glenn Spencer, Charlie Wood and Henry Meine are holdovers, with Meine in the role of "holdout" at present. Harris, Niggling, Swift and Bivin are youngsters who have shown promise.

SENATORS ARE AFTER FLAG

By RALPH WHEATLEY

Biloxi, Miss., March 21.—(AP)—Between practice the Washington Senators lounge on the hotel green, listen to the gulf waters smack against the sea wall and dream of the American League pennant flying over their ball park at the end of the season.

They firmly believe they will cop the flag this year. They believe they can lick any team in the league if their regulars can stay on their feet. But old man accident stands in the background like an ogre.

For this team does not have strong reserve strength and their manager, Walter Johnson, has impressed upon them the old baseball theory that "a ball team is only as strong as its utility supply."

"Bluege. Cronin, Kuhel, beat that for an infield," challenges Johnson. "But outside of Joe Judge, we have no utility infielder."

"We are all right in the outfield with Manush, Reynolds and West as regulars with Harris and Rise to back them up."

"Out catching staff is satisfactory as we have Bolton and Berg to support Spencer."

Then Johnson moves to the pitching box and there he pines for one more seasoned pitcher that he "ain't got."

Even at that, Johnson believes his team will finish on top. Barring injury, he believes his other players will make up for the deficiency in pitchers.

The "big train" is centering his attention on his young pitchers and in camp he goes to the box and tries to show them how he became the great Walter Johnson of the mound. His old arm still has power and snake still comes from his hard ball and his curve still curves. "Somehow, young pitchers aren't like they used to be," laments Johnson.

Begin Practice In Piedmont

Charlotte, March 22.—(AP)—With spring not yet too days old, Piedmont ball paks this week have begun to take on a livelier air, with one club down to hard work, players arriving in the other towns and club chances the sole topic of conversation in countless cigar stores. Wilmington's pitchers and catchers went to work yesterday, with the remainder of the squad scheduled to get down to business Thursday.

Cardinals and the Boston Braves. The Cardinals, as world champions, can be ranked with either the Yankees or the Athletics but the Braves are picked to finish deep in the National League's second division. Six of the National League's defeats have been charged to the Braves. The only clubs with perfect records in the inter-league series are the New York Giants and the Phillies, both of the National League. They each have accounted for two straight wins. A tabulation of all exhibition games, whether against major or minor league opposition, reveal the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox as the only undefeated teams. The Indians have won seven straight games and the White Sox three, all against minor league teams. Washington has won four and lost one and Pittsburgh eight and two.

The Yankees' record of six wins and one defeat is the best so far as strictly major league opposition is concerned. The Giants and the Athletics are tied for second place with seven victories and three defeats each.

N. Y. STOCK LIST

New York, March 22.—(AP)—Cotton opened easy today at a decline of 1 to 6 points on selling presumably for local and foreign account, influenced by easy cables. After the early selling movement had spent itself, however, prices rallied partially and the May position recovered from 6.69 to 6.75 or unchanged from the previous day. The trade was a fair buyer and southern offers were conspicuously small, influenced possibly by heavy rains and tornadoes over portions of the cotton belt east of the Mississippi.

Liverpool cabled that prices there were reinforced by covering, easier sterling with speculation dormant.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, March 22.—(AP)—Stop loss selling swept wheat prices down today to the lowest levels since October 10 last.

Most traders construed as bearish a variety of official statements from Washington referring to proposed export sales of government financed wheat. It was contended that the grain could not be sold unless it displaced wheat which would have been obtained from some other country.

Prices of all cereals broke in sympathy with wheat, corn outdoing the season's bottom record.

STOCK MARKET

New York, March 22.—(AP)—A slump in the wheat market struck the stock market when it was wobbling uncertainly today and influenced a quiet but substantial decline.

Special pressure appeared against the motor shares and American Telephone, and prices sagged easily under light pressure. In view of the continued lack of signs of seasonal stimulation in general business activity, the market's resistance was feeble.

American Telephone broke about 4 points. General Motors sagged a fraction, and Nash about a point, to new lows. U. S. Steel lost about a point, and issues off 2 points or so included Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, American Tobacco "B", Allied Chemical and Eastman. Anaconda and Kennecott sang a fraction to new lows. Miscellaneous issues losing a point or so by easy afternoon included American Can, DuPont, Union Carbide, International Harvester, Woolworth, Safeway, Westinghouse Electric.

A somewhat better feeling toward the rails was apparent in financial quarters, but it was not strong enough to be translated into buying orders.

The selling of American Telephone presumably reflected dividend uncertainties. While the company's strong cash position may lead to continuance of the present 89 rate for a time, the rate is not being earned.

hit a sandy shoulder of the road, and when he attempted to right the car it sideswiped the automobile driven by Hardee and occupied by Harrington and Smith. Hardee's car turned over and Smith was badly crushed when caught beneath the machine. It was considered short of remarkable how the occupants escaped alive.

Both cars were reported as badly damaged by the impact. Sheriff Whitehurst investigated the wreck but no action had been taken pending the condition of the occupants.

the case, court began consideration of the action brought by the Commissioner of Banks against P. M. Wooten involving an attempt to set aside a deed of transfer that prevented the commissioner from recovering a stock assessment against Wooten in connection with the closing of the Farmers Bank here several days ago.

Wooten, who was vice-president of the institution at the time it closed, is alleged to have transferred his property to a third party who in turn had it made back to Wooten and his wife. The amount of the stock assessment was given as $5,160.

The case was expected to be one of the hardest fought of the entire term, and will probably continue through today and part of tomorrow morning.

STORIES OF HEROISM IN

city hall. Lines were strung over the Warrior river to a hotel in Tuscaloosa where a second headquarters office was set up.

Students at L. S. University were pressed into service and joined in the search for the bodies of additional victims believed to be buried in the debris. As the students conducted a systematic search, they were followed by county convicts who set to work cleaning up the area.

Druid City Hospital in Tuscaloosa was overrun and the University of Alabama gymnasium was turned into an emergency station. University students did heroic work in ministering to the injured.

After the last of the dead and injured were removed from the ruins last night, the rains stopped, the clouds lifted and a full moon broke through to cast eerie shadows about the gaunt remains of what were homes a few hours before.

Huge strips of corrugated roofing were driven through the air and wrapped around trees and telephone poles like pieces of paper. The early night was lighted by the flames of half a dozen homes that caught fire from kitchen stoves.

A big white bulldog sitting in a torn and twisted automobile presented a pathetic picture. He looked neither to the right nor left and yawned his teeth to all who approached.

One of the heaviest tolls was taken in a stable on Main street in North Port where six persons were killed after taking refuge there. Among the victims were Mr. and Mrs. Ebb Shirley who lived next door.

R. E. Ray, one of the owners of the stable, was inside when the tornado struck. He grabbed the hand of Wilbur Snyder who fell lengthwise and was unhurt but Ray was crushed to death by falling timbers. Ray still clasped his hand in death, Snyder said.

WAR IN CHINA FOLLOWED
BY DISEASE AND FAMINE

famine conditions had again reached such a pass in some parts of the country that the people were eating the bark of trees, the chaff of thrashed grain, and weeds, in order to ward off starvation.

Dr. Wu said the smallpox epidemic was the most widespread, and taking the heaviest toll in this vicinity, of any in many years. Fifteen persons have died of it in the last two days and the native quarters are crowded with patients, the number of whom is not known, he said.

Sir John Hope Simpson said desperate measures will be necessary to carry on the work of the national flood relief commission in the face of the crisis in the organization's affairs as a result of the hostilities.

The Chinese government has been ordered to pay the relief fund in gold to $175,000, he said, and the commission is now forced to depend almost entirely on the sale of American wheat for income. A total of $750,000 must be raised in addition to this, he said, if the huge flood relief program is to be completed.

Reconstruction of the dykes, on which nearly 500,000 flood teams are now employed, must be completed within three months if a repetition of last year's disastrous floods is to be averted.

All steamers entering and departing from Shanghai now are required to take special precautions against cholera.

New York, March 22.—(AP)—Fire, the danger most feared by seamen today imperiled 50 officers and men on the freighter San Angelo.

The San Angelo, a 5,600 ton ship, was about 300 miles north of Panama in the Pacific ocean last night when she appealed for aid. The fire was in her number 3 hold, the radio messages said.

In answer to her plea for ships to help, the steamer San Lucas reported, in a message picked up by the Radio Marine Corporation, that she was standing by.

It was not the first time the crew had faced the fire threat. Soon after the vessel left Philadelphia, March 6 for Portland, Ore., her home port, flames broke out in her number one hold.

Part of her cargo at that time was a consignment of matches and fire officials at Norfolk, Va., who helped put out the blaze when the vessel arrived there March 8, believed friction was the cause.

The Chinese lost 150 killed and the Japanese 13, the Japanese military reported. Fifteen Japanese were wounded.

Lesser raids over a wide area were reported at the same time. A strong force of Chinese attacked Huangshih, 20 miles northwest of Tunghua, the reports said, killing two Japanese residents and wounding one.

Another band of 300 insurgents attacked Tatpin, the second station south of Changchun on the South Manchuria Railway, and destroyed the railway tracks. Japanese soldiers and police rushed to this point from Changchun.

Concentration of Japanese troops along the Russian border, where most of the fighting took place, recently was the subject of an extensive diplomatic interchange between Russia and Japan. The greatest destruction was done at Fairmont and Berry Shoals, two rural communities about 15 miles from here. There was hardly a building in the section that was not damaged.

The home of George Cohen, near Abner Creek church, was smashed and he and his wife were seriously injured. Cohen crawled to a neighbor's home for help and when he returned to the wreckage of his home, no trace could be found of his children, Eloise, Alliston, Leroy and Annie.

Mrs. A. M. Otter of the same section was seriously injured by falling timbers as her house was wrecked by the wind.

Communication and power lines throughout the southeastern section of the county were down and many roads were impassable because of fallen trees.

The school buildings at Fairmont and Hopewell were destroyed. The seriously injured were being brought from the stricken sections to hospitals here this morning.

Tom Johnson, who lives on the W. C. Harrison farm, was brought here with a crushed foot. Andrew Logan, of Fairmont, with head and possibly internal injuries, and Mrs. J. N. Seay, of Cowpens, with undetermined injuries.

Mrs. Seay's home, a five-room house, was destroyed by the wind. The tornado came in from the southwest, striking first in the Berry Shoals and Fairmont sections, swept on with diminished fury over Spartanburg and then struck savagely again around Cowpens.

Windows were blown out, trees blown down and some damage done to houses here, but no one was injured.

The flames in the Southern Pines-Pinehurst area, famous winter resort section, either burned out or were extinguished as the fire leaped into fresh fuel.

Thousands of acres were also reported burned over by fires in Brunswick, Pender, Sampson, Duplin, Cumberland, Harnett, Hoke, Robeson and Scotland counties, on the east, while in the mountains, McDowell, fire ridded for months, was the scene of three new conflagrations.
