Smith Hurls Challenge to Roosevelt In Speech Democratic Pow-Wow

WILL FIGHT TO 'BITTER END'

"Happy Warrior" Of 1928 Promises To Fight any Man Who Persists in a Demagogic Appeal to the Masses of Working People to Destroy Themselves by Setting Class Against Class.

Washington, April 14. — (AP)—The opposition of Alfred E. Smith, suddenly and forcefully expressed, today stood across Franklin D. Roosevelt's path toward the Presidential nomination of the Democratic party.

A stern challenge, with its object unnamed but indisputably identified, was thundered out by the "Happy Warrior" of 1928 last night in his address to the Jefferson day gathering of the party's great — a gathering which had been heralded as a "unity" meeting to forward Democratic success in November.

Roosevelt was not there. Other business kept him in Albany but many of his supporters were in the throng which heard Smith, after quoting Roosevelt utterances, promise to "take off my coat and vest and fight to the bitter end any candidate who persists in any demagogic appeal to the masses of the working people of this country to destroy themselves by setting class against class and rich against poor."

It was Roosevelt who only last Thursday in a radio address pleaded the cause of the "forgotten man" at the bottom of the economic structure, the farmer and the small householder. In that same address he labelled a "stop-gap" the idea of a big public works bond issue to stimulate employment.

Smith, who sponsors just such a project, quoted this word "stop-gap" in referring critically to exception taken to his plan in the recent speech of a leading Democrat whom he did not name. It was that reference which gave his audience one of the definite clues to the direction his words were taking.

Today the Democratic leader is weighing the effect of this startling development on the party fortunes and upon the candidacy of Roosevelt who now is way beyond any rivals on the road to nomination, with 216 pledged and claimed delegates. Immediate repercussions awaited.

Oppose Higher Postage Rates

Washington, April 14. — (AP)—Vigorous opposition to increasing the first class postage rate from two to three cents was voiced before the Senate finance committee today by the national council of business mail users.

Through Richard H. Lee of New York, is general counsel, the organization attacked the increase contained in the revenue bill as passed by the House.

Senator King (D., Utah) promptly took issue with him and asserted he favored making the post-office department entirely self-supporting.

A tax on copper imports was urged by Jarry Joseph, Salt Lake City mining engineer. In answer to questions from Senator Watson (R., Ind), he said, "close to 20,000 men are out of employment that formerly worked in the copper mines of the west."

Ina Claire returned to New York from a trip abroad wearing this black ensemble, "It makes one look thin," the actress explained.

Committee Delays Work On Its Wage-Cutting Bill

Washington, April 14. — (AP)—The House economy committee today delayed attempting to decide on whether to continue to sponsor the McDuffie federal wage cutting plan pending further information from President Hoover on his proposal to stagger employment.

The president was expected to send the information today so it might reach a decision before the House resumes consideration of the legislative supply bill, to which it had been planned to attach the McDuffie proposal a sa rider.

The president's plan is understood to have been revised to some extent overnight, following the White House conference late yesterday at which no agreement was reached.

Frigid Composure of Mrs. Fortescue Breaks During Yesterday's Testimony

By WILLIAM H. LEWIS Honolulu, April 14. — (AP)—Enmeshed by many threads of the prosecution's story of the lynching of Joseph Kahahawai, four persons accused of the killing watched today for Clarence Darrow to go into action for their defense with tactics shrouded in secrecy up to the last minute.

Except for one witness, Public Prosecutor John C. Kelley finished his case yesterday with testimony that broke the frigid composure of the accused society matron, Mrs. Granville Fortescue.

Her shoulders moved expressively when two neighbor women testified to hearing a shot from the (Continued on page eight)

PITT FARMERS ENJOY SUPPER

Preparations for Grade A Certificate Drive Announced at Meeting Here

Pitt county farmers were guests at a supper given at the Rotary club last night by the Mutual Exchange and Greenville Banking & Trust Company.

It was announced that preparations were being made to put on a campaign in this county for the purpose of interesting farmers in filling out blanks for Grade A certificates issued through the State Bankers Association.

A report of activities of the Mutual Exchange was presented by E. F. Arnold, director of the Pitt County Farm Department. He said the organization was meeting with splendid results and that much had been achieved in behalf of improving the condition of the farmers—especially in the marketing line.

W. H. Woodard, member of the agricultural committee of State Bankers Association, explained the farm campaign launched by the organization and urged the cooperation of farm interests to make it as far-reaching as possible.

D. E. Olesby, chairman of the Pitt County certificate committee, explained the nature of the drive and urged growers to cooperate as whole-heartedly as they possibly could.

FICKLEN HEADS U. N. C. ALUMNI

President Graham Delivers Principal Address at Annual Meeting Here

J. S. Ficklen, prominent Greenville tobaccoist, was unanimously elected president of Pitt County Alumni Association of the University of North Carolina at the annual meeting of the organization at the Woman's Club here last night.

He succeeds M. K. Blount, who served for four years. Dick James was elected vice-president and Jack Spain secretary and treasurer.

Frank Graham, president of the University, told of the terrific struggle which educational institutions of the nation were having at this time, and made a plea for the united support of the people in their behalf.

Coach "Chuck" Collins and Marjory Saunders, general alumni secretary, were on the program but they were unable to attend on account of illness and unexpected business developments, it was revealed in a telegram received from Saunders last yesterday afternoon.

M. K. Blount presided and extended a cordial welcome to the sixty-odd alumni from different parts of the county.

President Graham was introduced by J. S. Ficklen as "the right man in the right place at the right time," and paid tribute to his splendid record of service.

Mr. Graham declared that communities throughout the country were coming back after being shaken by one of the most pronounced economic situations in history. He saw signs of a new spirit taking hold of the people all over the country, and asserted this would enable them to conquer the unusual condition. Rough sailing ahead of this accomplishment, he said, and it is going to require the best in every man before the goal is reached.

FIVE HUNDRED MEMBERS HERE

Theodore Johnson, District Governor, and F. C. Harding to Deliver the Principal Addresses at Dinner in Dining Hall of the College tonight; Series of Stunts and Awarding of Prizes on Program.

Greeted by a program crowded with entertainment, approximately five hundred Rotarians and their wives were in Greenville today attending the inter-city meeting of the 57th district of Rotary.

The session promised to be one of the best in years and probably the largest attended by reason of the fact that several clubs had stipulated their intention to come one hundred per cent strong.

The vanguard began arriving early this morning and when the first entertainments got under way this afternoon the city was literally thronging with the visiting hosts.

This afternoon the visitors were entertained with golf at the country club, bridge at the Rotary building, a theatre party at State Theatre and ball game at Third street school grounds between Carolina Teachers College and the high school.

The visitors were to be entertained at a banquet in the dining hall of East Carolina Teachers College tonight at 6:30 o'clock. Theodore S. Johnson of Raleigh, district governor, and F. C. Harding of Greenville, were scheduled to deliver the principal address. Other speakers were Roscoe McMillan of Red Springs, and Charlie Phillips of Greensboro.

Edmund Harding of the Washington club, will be in charge of the song and stunt program. Eddy Bundy of Hertford, group leader, will preside. Prizes were to be awarded.

Greenville Rotarians had made extensive preparations for the coming of the visitors, and cars had been provided for the convenience of those desiring to go outside the city. Flags danced merrily in the breeze in the main business district, and banners flouted a welcome to the visitors at main vanway points.

G. O. P. OPEN CONVENTION

Pritchard Raps Democrats in Keynote Speech at Charlotte Today

Charlotte, April 14.—(AP)—The Republican state convention today nominated Clifford Frazier, Greensboro attorney, as the party's candidate for governor of North Carolina.

Charlotte, April 15.—(AP)—A platform pledging retention and enforcement of prohibition was adopted by the State Republican Convention today after the defeated had booted and flensed a proposal from the floor that the states be given control of prohibition. The platform recorded the convention's approval of the administration of that wise leader and profound statesman, President Hoover.

Charlotte, April 14.—(AP)—Assembled here for their state convention, North Carolina Republicans cheered lustily today a prediction that the party will take over control of the state government after next fall's election. The speaker was Word D. Henderson, of Greensboro, who made the response to the address of welcome by Major Charles E. Lambeth. James D. Duncan, of Greensboro, chairman of the party in the state, called the convention to order, and W. H. Foster, state secretary, read the official roll call. George M. Pritchard of Asheville told the Republican state convention the Democratic party in North Carolina is dominated by the big manufacturing interests which frustrate all efforts toward equitable tax distribution, and its leaders are aiding the scheme of the liquor interests to put a wet in the House.

Delivering the keynote address, he said "the Raleigh ring has been persistently borrowing money, shutting its eyes and spending with both hands. It has multiplied bureaus, commissions, offices and jobs until we have a great army of office holders and the taxpayers are staggering through life bent double and groaning under the load.

"The tobacco interests have been reaping millions in profits and at the same time, without justification, have been taking the farmers' tobacco at starvation prices. They fight with all the viciousness of a tiger any effort to fairly distribute the tax burden and ease the heavy load that property is forced to carry.

"The office holders of the state are systematically urging the farmers to purchase land. They say it can be bought at a bargain. I suppose they especially desire that the farmers buy back their own lands which have been sold at the court-house doors of the various counties to pay excessive and outrageous tax bills."

MAN CONFESSES INN. C. MURDER

Alvin Eller Arrested in Los Angeles Says Dwight Beard Killed Valdeese Merchant

Los Angeles, Cal., April 14.—(AP)—Alvin Eller, 23, arrested here for participation in the holdup February 18 which resulted in the slaying of Gus Boncus, Valdeese, N. C. merchant, confessed and said Dwight Beard, of Lenoir, N. C., fired the fatal shot.

Jesse Lee Sigmund also participated in the hold-up, Eller said. Eller said they took $1,500 from Boncus.

His confession came after hours of questioning by a police detective who constantly smoked an old pipe. Crying out "I can't stand that pipe any more, I'll tell everything," Eller began to tell the story.

"When Boncus resisted," he went on, "Beard shot three times. The first two times the shot did not fire. Boncus grabbed the gun. But the third time the gun discharged and Boncus was killed."

Eller, who said he received $400 as his share of the holdup loot, was arrested on advice from J. P. Coffey, Valdeese police chief.

PLAN TO PUSH BONUS TO VOTE

Leaders Reject Farm Board's Plan for Expanding Credit in the United States.

Washington, April 14.—(AP)—Although they considered the Federal Reserve Board's new plan for expanding credit yesterday, the leaders in the move to pay off in cash the soldiers' bonus remained steadfast today in determination to force their project to a vote.

Conferring with Federal Reserve officials, they came to the conclusion, Representative Patman, of Texas, announced, that the board's project for making the banks use more of the credit facilities extended by new legislation would not reach the mass of the people.

Patman and his group base the fight largely on the argument that getting $2,000,000,000 into the hands of the veterans will act as a ground swell of new purchasing power to restore business.

With little expectation of obtaining approval of the Ways and Means committee, the bonus men plan, as soon as the current hearings end, to petition for a vote in the House. They are confident of success and of passing a bill. Just what form this will take still is undecided, but there is developing sentiment for the plan of former Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma, for issuing four per cent government bonds, which in turn would be made the basis for Federal Reserve notes. There would be paid to the veterans.

Patman, after the Reserve Board conference which found the banking officials unalterably opposed to the bonus legislation, said:

"I feel that the Reserve Board's action after all these months is intended to offset the movement for legislation on the bonus and price stabilizing."

Gastonia.—(AP)—The Rev. P. L. Grier, pastor of Sardis A. R. P. church in Mecklenburg county, was elected moderator at the spring session here of the Associate Reform Church of North Carolina.

Moore said the youth had been convicted in a larceny case at Lenoir and ordered to leave the state, and was sent to Tennessee by his father, Gus Beard, Lenoir contractor.

BEGIN FIGHT ON BLUE MOLD

(Continued from page one) Realizing the danger confronting the farmers of the state as result of the spread of Blue Mold, State college determined to join the fight against the disease, and will send speakers to all tobacco areas in an effort to improve the situation. E. F. Arnold, director of the Farm Department here, said today he hoped farmers from all sections of the county would attend the meeting and gain all possible information as to the best means of combating the disease.

Blue mold has spread to virtually every section of the county at this time and farmers in some districts are reported to have cancelled orders for fertilizers awaiting the outcome of the ravages of the disease. Mr. Arnold expressed belief that tobacco acreage would be reduced at least fifty percent in Pitt county if the situation is not improved in the near future.

Blue stone and hydrated lime mixture has been given as the most effective means of controlling the downy mildew, and farmers have been advised to use it extensively on plant beds which have not been affected.

This is the first concerted effort made in the district for control of the disease, and hope was expressed that the speakers would be heard by large crowds both here and at Farmville.

At the close of the program Mrs. W. C. Vincent, hostess for the afternoon, invited each one present to select a favor from a table on which were placed miniature copies of Italian paintings, small pieces of Italian pottery and for the strictly American minded, small plates with lace-work border and American colonial decorations. The Round Table holds one open meeting each year to which each member brings a guest, but none has been more enjoyable than this one.

$250,000 Fire At Ridgeland

Ridgeland, S. C., April 14.—(AP)—More than $250,000 damage was done by flames here which last night and early today destroyed the Ellis and Quartermaster Lumber Company, 15 or 20 negro dwellings and threatened to wipe out the entire town.

Starting about 9 p. m., in a dry kiln, the fire destroyed it, a saw mill, planing mill, a $150,000 pile of unfinished lumber, and a saw and blind factory.

A number of members of the Ridgeland volunteer fire department, composed of high school boys were painfully but not seriously burned when they removed drums of gasoline from a flaming storehouse despite warnings not to enter the building.

They were credited with averting a major explosion.

Officials of the lumber company declined to estimate its loss, but said the machinery destroyed was worth approximately $3,000.

Fire fighting equipment it was sent here from Walterboro, Beaufort and Savannah, Ga., and was believed to have prevented spread of the flames through a closely-built up residential district, which had been evacuated by inhabitants, into the heart of the town.

When the town's water supply was exhausted firemen turned to reserve tanks of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway, trains of which had been halted through this section because of cross ties burned out by the fire. Traffic was delayed several hours over the line.

Special Venire Is Called for Murder Hearing

Bakersville, April 14.—(AP)—Members of a special venire of 100 men from which a jury is to be chosen were arriving here today for the trial of George Presnell, charged with murdering Lewis Buchanan near here 29 years ago, when is scheduled to get under way in superior court at 2 p. m.

Presnell pleaded not guilty to a second indictment for first degree murder. The first indictment was returned at the April term of court in 1904, after Presnell had fled to the middle-west, where he remarried, thinking his first wife had divorced him, and lived a model life until arrested several weeks ago in Pratherville, Mo.

He is alleged to have fatally stabbed Buchanan when the latter made an offensive remark to the first Mrs. Presnell, who has pledged her loyalty to the accused man since his return.

Harwood Case Delayed Today

Raleigh, April 14.—(AP)—Upon motion of defense counsel the trial of Judge John H. Harwood of Bryson City, charged with being an accessory after the fact to embezzlement of state funds by his daughter, Miss Lola Harwood, was postponed in Wake Superior court today until tomorrow.

It will be the first time in the state's history that a superior court judge has faced trial for a felony. Judge Harwood was temporarily suspended from the judiciary by the governor at his own request.

He is alleged to have altered records upon which the state based its charge against his daughter, who was employed in the state revenue department.

He faces 34 different counts. More than 100 witnesses have been summoned for the trial.

The case was to have been started this morning but was delayed due to failure to complete another case on the docket.

Solicitor J. C. Little said he expected to reach the Harwood case when court reconvenes at 2 o'clock this afternoon after the luncheon recess.

Consider Bridge Over Dare Inlet

Manteo, April 14.—(AP)—State highway engineers and members of the State Department of Conservation and Development are investigating the feasibility of bridging the new inlet in Dare county made by the storm March 6.

Plans are under way to provide a means for crossing the inlet by automobile as machines have been unable to drive from Hatteras to points on the northern part of the island since the storm cut a gash in the banks.

Dare fishermen want the inlet to remain open because, they say, Dare waters have been flooded with fish since the place was opened.

Election Body to Meet Saturday

Washington, April 14.—(AP)—Chairman Shortridge today called a meeting of the Senate elections committee for Saturday to consider the Dickinson resolution to create a committee to investigate 1932 campaign expenditures.

The committee also will discuss the contest brought by George W. Pritchard of Asheville, against Senator Bailey (D. N. C.) with which it has been dealing for several weeks.

Senator Robinson (R. Ind.) yesterday urged prompt action on the Dickinson resolution giving as reasons, among other things, a report quoting Governor Murray of Oklahoma, as charging that $50,000 had been sent into Nebraska to carry Tuesday's primary for Gov. Roosevelt.

Washington, April 14.—(AP)—The Missouri Pacific and the Texas and Pacific railroads have filed suit at Frankfort, Ky., in an effort to prevent taking over of the Cotton Belt Railroad by the Southern Pacific.

WELCOME ROTARY

Greenville today extends a cordial welcome to the visiting Rotarians and their wives. Of course, we are always pleased to have conventions and other gatherings in our city but it is a pleasure indeed when such organizations as Rotary hold a district meeting here.

ABOUT TOWN

Greenville is glad to welcome the hosts of Rotary gathered in inter-city meeting here today. It is always a pleasure to the city to have the honor to entertain an organization of this kind because it is realized its members are doing much for the development of the various communities they represent.

It has been many years since Rotarians have gathered here in a meeting of this kind and many things have taken place in the life of the community as well as the organization.

Senator Robinson presented the party with a six-point program, providing for abandonment of prohibitive tariff rates and reduction of governmental expenses. It was believed these two features alone would enable the nation to get back to normalcy and wipe out a debt that has been gradually increasing until it has assumed staggering proportions.

The Democrats have lots of strong talking points this time, and that they are going to take full advantage of them was evidenced by the scorching attack launched against the administration in the first important gathering of the year.

A plea for education was made before Pitt County Alumni of the University of North Carolina last night by Frank Graham, president of the institution. Dr. Graham, one of the leaders of education of the south, urged the alumni to do all in their power to further the cause of education and especially the hundreds of young men and women handicapped by lack of finances.

Dr. Graham made a stout defense of the student loan fund when it was threatened several months ago, and he is continuing his fight in the hope that the University may be able to lend a helping hand to those who would be unable to obtain an education without such assistance.

The popular University head would make education possible to everybody and he realizes this will be absolutely impossible if the schools of the nation are unable to meet the constant demand for loans from those unable to obtain them from other sources.

The churches of the world are faced by a great crisis in the existing economic situation. Bishop Darst told members of the Episcopal congregation here last night, and Christian men and women everywhere must rally to the call for aid if the cause is to be carried on to success.

Not only the church at home is affected but the mission fields are suffering extremely from the effects of the shortage of money. Bishop Darst declared, as he called upon the people to do their best to meet their church obligations.

Bishop Darst is one of the leaders of public thought in this part of the country and his activities in behalf of the church have attracted the admiration of men and women of all denominations.

VISITORS TREATED TO ELABORATE PROGRAM HERE THIS AFTERNOON

Before the wild scene on the road to the mine, the alleged pickets went from house to house warning miners who had not heeded a strike call not to show up for work.

John Moreland, one of the working diggers told his callers in no uncertain terms that he did not intend to heed their order. He was taken from his home and thrown into a nearby creek. His ducking quenched his ardor for work and he returned home.

HITLER RAPS GOVERNMENT

(Continued from page one) man states, when the Nazis, defeated in their attempt to make Hitler president, will endeavor to obtain majorities in the local parliaments. Hitler thanked his comrades for the "work, discipline and faith" shown during the years the Nazi movement has been growing to its present strength. "Our answer to this last blow of despair from the present system will not be a parade, but a sweeping finishing stroke," he said. "April 24 is retaliation day!"

Indignantly protesting against the dissolution decree, which was signed by President Paul Von Hindenburg, his chief opponent in last Sunday's presidential election, Hitler invited his followers to increase their effort to agitate the Nazi cause during the diet election campaign. "As long as I live," he said, "I belong to you and you belong to me: Long live the National Socialist movement! Long live Germany!"

FICKLEN HEADS U.N.C. ALUMNI

(Continued from page one) not run out during the financial crisis and will serve the children of the coming generation and enable them to rise to great heights of human achievement. The money coming into the state during the period of prosperity, he pointed out, is finding its way back into the great financial centers of the country, but it will begin flowing back into this section in future years and the state will then be able to carry on to greater things in every field of endeavor.

To let improvements run out would be throwing money away, Mr. Graham said. The only thing to do is to reduce debt and cling tenaciously to the things that go into making the state one of the leaders of the country.

North Carolina has stepped from the bottom of the educational ladder to the topmost rung, the speaker said, and this is one of the reasons why the state now has a population of three million souls. It was the spirit of progress that attracted people to our borders, and this spirit must continue to remain in the ascendancy if the future is to be made secure.

He praised support of alumni during the period of stress, and asserted that this had given heart to those charged with the responsibility of keeping the institution on safe, sure ground.

Reduction of school appropriations and those of other departments of state debts, he said. Nobody protested the cuts because it was realized that the state's credit must be protected and that the only way this could be done was to meet the demand of the financiers.

He gave an intimate glimpse of the struggle of the University, the loyalty of the faculty, the student body and other employees, and said the spirit of loyalty must continue if the state is to hold its rightful place in the ranks of the progressives.

J. B. James responded and praised Mr. Graham for his splendid work. He predicted the dark clouds

The Altoona and Tyrone fire departments arrived but were unable to extinguish the fire. They did, however, save the neighboring home of Ephraim Shaner by pumping water from a nearby stream. The Shaners fled with a few hastily gathered belongings. Mrs. Dillon reached home about half an hour after fire was discovered. She collapsed and is under the care of a physician. Mr. Dillon, an employe of the Pennsylvania railroad in Altoona was at work and was not reached until after the charred bodies of his children had been recovered. Greensboro—(AP)—The Rev. D. E. Morris, of Statesville, delivered the principal address at the Piedmont Baptist Association convention here.

This Game of GOLF

By O. B. KEELER

Dave Ogilvie, veteran Scottish professional, regaled us with anecdotes of the tall figures of the past in golf during the recent invitation tournament for women at Augusta, Ga., which was won by Mrs. O. S. Hill. Dave's stories dated back even before the heyday of the famed triumvirate, Vardon, Taylor and Braid.

Andrew Kikaldy — old Andra — still master of ceremonies at the home green at St. Andrews, though he never stirs far from that spot, was the hero of classic tales aplenty. "Andrew and Benny Sayers, of North Berwick, were the greatest of friends — off the course," said David. "And on the course, they usually were paired in the big four-somes matches; the international, and such. And whether they were playing with or against each other, their conversation was likely to be tart — even acrimonious. "Sayers, as you know, was a little, short man; about five feet four. He was very ingenious and a great club-maker.

"Stand up and hit!" "When a match would be tightening up, and Andra and Benny were partners, Andra would get critical. A drive by Benny seemed not long enough, perhaps. "Get after knees, ye wee bugger, and hit the ball," Andra would urge him.

"Once, playing the sixteenth Sayers sliced the drive out on the railroad track, over the wall. It's out of bounds, now, but in those days there was no such thing, on that side.

"Old Andra, a huge man, clambered over the wall and looked over the situation. The ball lay in a terrible place, tucked up against a steel rail among some rock ballast.

"Andra came back to the wall. "Gie us the loan o' yer wee

DUKE SKINS WILDCATS

Charlotte, April 14.—(AP)—Tim McKelthan held the Davidson Wildcats to three hits, none of which proved fruitful, while Duke pounded Pearce for 13 clean blows and an 6 to 0 victory at Davidson yesterday.

Pearce managed to keep the Blue Devil hits scattered until the 8th, when six safeties cost him five runs.

Each team contributed one error. In the other college game of the day, Eon continued its Hickory invasion, took advantage of two errors at bad moments and defeated Lenoir-Rhyne 12 to 6.

mashe, little mon," he suggested to Sayers. "Sayers climbed over the wall and took a peek. "Break yer ain clobber!" he rejoined."

Head Work
And once, in a medal competition, the opening round was played right after a fall of snow which covered the old course. Harry Vardon was in it, and James Braid, and John Henry Taylor and other luminaries. But at the end of the first round, it was stalwart old Andra Kirkaldy, who was leading.

"I played wi' my heid," he explained, when they asked him how he had done so well in the "snow." So some of them watched him start out for the next round — and noticed that he removed his cap and rubbed the old gutta-percha ball carefully through his thick and curly locks before driving, at each tee.

Old Andra indeed was using his "heid." He had rubbed his hair full of an oily lotion or pomade, before starting. That treatment on the ball kept the "snow" from sticking to it, so that it rolled farther and putted infinitely better.

Wee Ben Sayers is dead now; and old Jock Morris and the young Tom Morris on the vast Green of the Elysian Fields. But old Andra Kirkaldy carries on.

BIG BASEBALL GUNS REGAIN FRONT RANKS

By HUGH S. FULLERTON Jr. (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Where the rookies were shining in baseball training camps a few days ago, the old established players are shining now in the first days of the major league campaign.

On Monday at Washington it was Heinie Manush, in his tenth season in the American League, who took the honors. Tuesday Babe Ruth, a man of 18 big league summers, who was the star, and yesterday Manush was back in the limelight along with several other veterans.

The other "big guns" who helped entertain the few shivering fans who saw the games of the season's second full day included Frank Frisch, who has had 13 seasons in the big leagues, Pat Malone, big pitcher of the Chicago Cubs, an established star who is not far short of 30 years old. At Thomas of the White Sox, who has been around a few years longer, and Lloyd Waner, somewhat younger but a veteran of five campaigns.

Manush gave Washington a 7 to 6 victory over the Boston Red Sox. He hit a home run in the ninth inning with two on base to top off a four run rally.

Frisch hit a double with two on base to provide the champion St. Louis Cards with the runs that beat Pittsburgh 9-8. The Cards had to score five times in that final rally after Pittsburgh had made three runs in the ninth. Lloyd Waner started in the same game with three doubles.

Malone, warming the chilly air with his famous fireball, got the better of Owen Carroll of Cincinnati in a neat mound duel and gave the Cubs a 3 to 2 victory.

Thomas performed less sensationally on the mound but he pitched a steady game and received some great support from the White Sox both at bat and in the field. Although out hit 12-9, the Sox made it two straight over the St. Louis Browns 7-3.

Wesley Ferrell pitched eleven innings in weather so cold that it held the attendance at Detroit's first game down to 15,000 and came out ahead, 6 to 5.

Cold weather stopped two games in the National League, where the Phillies were scheduled to play the New York Giants and Brooklyn was to play host to the Boston Braves, and one in the American which called for the New York Yankees to play the Athletics at Philadelphia.

Yesterday's Stars

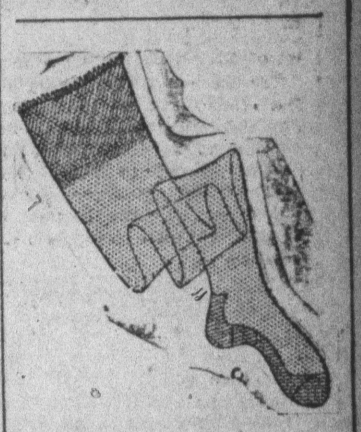

Frank Frisch, Cards — Doubled with two on in ninth to complete five run rally that beat Pirates 9-8.

Roy Johnson, Tigers — Touched Wes Ferrell for home run and three singles in six times up against the Indians.

Dick Porter, Indians—Made three hits against Detroit and scored winning run in eleventh.

Pat Malone, Cubs—Held Reds to six hits and fanned five in mound

Kitty Frew

By Jane Abbott

SYNOPSIS: After her sister-in-law, Carol, marries Paul Somerset, who is not expected to survive an automobile accident, Kitty Frew returns to her husband, Gar, in the same hospital. Gar has gone out with Marge Crosby secretly, forgive him now that he needs her, forgive him now that he needs her.

Olympic Hope

Ben Eastman, Stanford track flash who recently broke world's records in the 880 and quarter mile, looms as a bright American hope for the Olympic games at Los Angeles.

Chapter 38
MARGE'S PLOT IS REVEALED
"They're going to operate on Mr. Somerset today. Guess maybe they're doing it now," Miss Bixby whispered to Kitty.

While Gar slept, Kitty, sitting beside him, pondered on the consequences of Carol's marriage. If Paul Somerset lived, would she regret it? No—she knew Carol well enough, now, to answer that. Happiness of any sort, the simple fact of belonging to some one, would make Carol over.

Gar stirred in his sleep, muttered. His brows drew sharply together. His face had thinned, lost its boyishness. Kitty noticed little lines about his mouth. For a moment she was all maternal, leaning toward him, yearning over him. And then a great anger mounted in her heart against the woman who was his mother; every weakness in Gar—ah, she knew them, now—was of that mother's making.

"And I almost failed him!" He turned his head slowly. Kitty saw a little terror in his eyes. "I guess I was dreaming. I thought you'd gone!" He clung to her hand.

She stroked his hands, his face, his hair. She kissed him. His voice lifted, excitedly. "Kitty, I've got to tell you—"

"Gar, darling, you don't need to tell me anything now. Wait—"

"I don't want to wait. I want you to know. I'll bother me until you do. But, Kit, you've got to help me get it straight."

She held his hand in both of hers to give herself courage as well as to steady him.

Gar had turned his face away from her. She had to lean closer to him to catch his low, halting voice.

"I don't know how I got started. Kit. I do know this—I loved you all the time. Marge was always getting me up to her house about one thing and another. And she began talking about going away—staying away—It sort of got me. I'd always liked her a lot. We'd been—well, you see, before I met you I always thought she was the only girl."

"Gar, I understand—"

He shook his head, his face still averted from hers.

"It was all right until I began lying to you about where I'd been. I hated it but I was afraid to tell you. It was easier to let you think I was at rehearsals. It was so easy—God, Kit, guess I'm a rotter."

"Gar, Gar, please!" Kitty's hands shook over him as she was going away because—because of us. He was silent for an interval. And Kitty's throat went dry and stiff so that she could say no word. "She was—I thought she was terribly unhappy. It bothered me a lot. I kissed her—oh, sort of off-hand. And after that things were different. She said she didn't care what happened. And there was Somerset. She told me she might run away with him. That got me. Kit, am I making you see?"

"Yes, Gar."

"That night—when we quarreled so—I went home. I told mother we were through, you and I. You'd said so, Kit. And I was—I guess I was crazy. Mother was wonderful—she was so calm. She told me—you see Marge had told her how things were—Kit, I can't believe it, now. We talked about my getting a divorce. Marrying Marge. And the next day—Marge called me—she wanted me to come over to say good-by—and we talked—She asked me to go to Paris—she asked me to meet her there—she said if I didn't she would—I didn't say I'd go, Kit. Believe me. But I felt desperate. I thought I'd lost you. And, when I wouldn't promise, Marge got angry. She told me she was going to run off with Somerset. She called me later from the Rainbow Gardens—she's gone there with him—she called me to say—Well, it got me. It was after midnight—I drove out there and I told her I'd come for her. We got into my car—and Somerset followed us in hers. He was mad. I don't know just what happened—he tried to stop me and the cars sideswiped and that's all—"

Gar's halting voice finished on a long trailing sigh.

Kitty was shaking. She tried to make a sound but her throat, her lips were too stiff. She burned with anger at his mother, at Marge who had schemed so to play on his headlessness.

"I won't fail you, I won't fail you!" her heart was crying while her lips kept their stiff silence.

Gar drew his hand from hers.

"Did you get it straight, Kit? I loved you all the time. But I guess it doesn't matter, now. I guess, now that you know, you're through."

"But, Gar, I'm not, I'm not! We're just beginning. We're just knowing one another—now. We're together!"

His head turned slowly. There were tears in his eyes at a boyish unbelief. She laughed shakily, put her lips to his.

"Oh, Gar, that we should have been afraid of one another! There were things I didn't tell you because I was afraid, little things that didn't matter. I was seeing David often, and his friends, and dear boy," she beamed fondly down at him.

Gar smiled, boyishly.

"Home? That'd be great—to get out of here. But—" his glance sought out Kitty where she stood, straight, sober-faced, behind the others. "It's all up to Kit! She's my boss, you know. What say, Kit? Sweet words—they flooded her. She took a little step forward. She did not look at Mrs. Frew.

"We'll do whatever will make you most comfortable, Gar. I think it will be nice if we can go to your mother's house until you're all well." She wasn't afraid!

She shared Gar's boyish eagerness. They talked after Mrs. Frew and the doctor went away. "You'll stick close to me, won't you, sweet?"

She promised.

She left him at nine o'clock and went to the next room. She lay for awhile on the narrow bed, thinking over all that the day had brought—Carol's strange marriage. Gar's confession, her own sudden yielding to Mrs. Frew's wishes, with its moment of triumph when she knew she was not afraid.

It had been an exhausting day, yet, though physically, emotionally weary, Kitty was strangely happy and at peace. "I'm strong enough for anything!" she thought as she closed her eyes to seek sleep.

The TIRE That Taught THRIFT To MILLIONS!

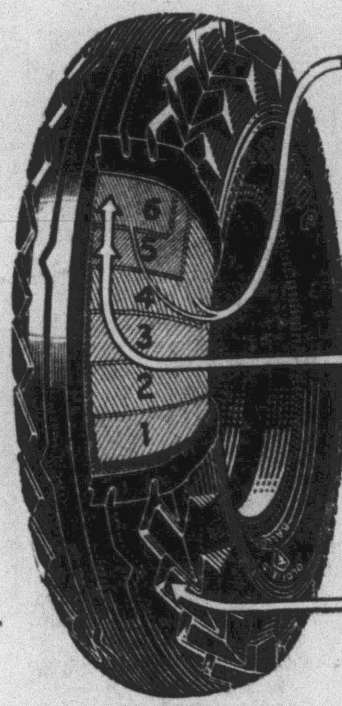

FIRESTONE tires appeal to the thrifty. They give Extra Values at the lowest prices ever known.

Firestone do not manufacture tires under special brand names for mail order houses and others to distribute. Special brand tires are made without the manufacturer's name. They are sold without his guarantee or responsibility for service.

You take no chances on Firestone tires. They are silent, safe, long-wearing—and each tire bears the Firestone name, which is a guarantee of satisfactory service.

Firestone's greater economies in buying, manufacturing, and distributing make possible these greater values and lower prices.

Stop at our store today. See sections cut from Firestone tires—special brand mail order tires and others. Take these sections in your own hands—compare Quality and Construction. Then you, too, will know why—"Firestone is the tire that taught thrift to millions!"

Extra Values GUM-DIPPED CORDS

The Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process transforms the cotton cords into a strong, tough, sinewy unit. Liquid rubber penetrates every cord and coats every fiber, guarding against internal friction and heat, greatly increasing the strength of the cord body, and giving longer tire life.

TWO EXTRA CORD PLYS UNDER THE TREAD

This is a patented construction, and the two extra cord plys are so placed that you get 56% stronger bond between tread and cord body, and tests show 24% greater protection against punctures and blowouts. It sets a new standard for tire performance on high speed cars.

NON-SKID TREAD

Tough, live rubber specially compounded for long, slow wear. Scientifically designed non-skid gives greater traction and safe, quiet performance.

A GOOD CLEANSING LAXATIVE

"For fully 30 years I have, by using it, known Black-Draught to be a great medicine," says Mr. A. L. Cone, of Perkinston, Miss. "I found it so satisfactory, I haven't seen any need to change. When I get constipated, I feel all out of sorts, and tired and sluggish I take a few doses of Black-Draught. It regulates my bowels and I get all right. I will cleanse the system and help you, if you use it as we have.

Try this purely vegetable laxative medicine which so many men and women praise and recommend.

His head turned slowly. There were tears in his eyes at a boyish unbelief. She laughed shakily, put her lips to his.
