MUSIC MEET TO BE HELD HERE ON SATURDAY

Annual District Contest to Be Staged at High School Tomorrow Morning

The annual district music contest of the North Eastern North Carolina will take place in the Greenville high school auditorium tomorrow morning, beginning at nine o'clock. This contest will be staged under the direction of Junius H. Rose, who is chairman of this district. This even will bring to Greenville approximately four hundred boys and girls who will compete in the various musical events. The winners of the events, tomorrow, will be entitled to go to Greensboro, April 27, 28 and 29, for the final contest for state honors.

Since the inauguration of the district contest in Greenville, four years ago, the Greenville high school has taken most all the first places in the Class B school. The pupils of the local school are determined that this record shall be maintained in the contest tomorrow. Last year Greenville high school won second place in the state contest.

In this contest, schools are divided into three groups; Class A, schools with a high school enrollment of more than six hundred; Class B, schools with an enrollment of two to six hundred; Class C, schools with an enrollment less than two hundred. There will be no Class A schools in the contest in Greenville tomorrow, but there will be Class B and C schools. The program will open at nine o'clock with the piano solos. This year there are only two piano solos, one from Farmville and one from Kinston. These two contestants will meet for the third time to determine which is the better. Following the piano solos, there will be other instrumental solos, which, with the chorus numbers, quartets and trios, will make up the program of the day. There is no charge for admission and the public is invited to come and see and hear this program. Much progress has been made in the music of Eastern North Carolina in the past five years, and those who are directing this work, are anxious for the general public to feel that music is just as essential a part of the educational scheme as any subject taught in the schools.

The program will be completed around one o'clock. The judges for the contest are Prof. Frank Huffy and Miss Eugenia Thomas. The complete list of events to be given in the contest for tomorrow is as follows:

Mixed Chorus: Class B—Greenville, Morehead City; Class C—Trenton, Snow Hill.

STIMSON AND TARDIEU TALK

Secretary of State to Proceed to Disarmament Conference Tonight

Paris, April 15.—(AP)—Premier Tardieu and Secretary of State Stimson had a brief private talk today after a formal luncheon at the Quai d'Orsay. This afternoon they were to meet again.

It was understood that they had touched briefly upon several outstanding problems, including disarmament, the situation in the Far East and the economic position of Europe.

Mr. Stimson arrived from Havre this morning and will go on to the disarmament conference at Geneva tonight.

He was greeted at the station by Premier Andre Tardieu, former Premier Pierre Laval and a large crowd.

Former Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg and Mrs. Kellogg were among those who greeted him here.

Commenting for the first time on the proposals presented to the disarmament conference by Hugh Gibson, chief of the American delegation, Secretary Stimson said they were a logical sequence to the trend of the conference and a symposium of the harmonious points of previous speeches by delegates of several nations.

He said it was a misnomer to call them "An American plan."

Asked whether a report that he was carrying additional proposals was true, he declined to reply directly.

"The American delegation will continue as in the past," he said. "Ambassador Gibson carrying on his fine work as chief of the delegation. I am going to get behind and push things, but I also intend to inform myself. I do not expect to interfere with the routine."

Asked whether he would participate in the disarmament debate or merely observe from the hilltop house where he will live at Geneva, he said he could not answer.

Aheville, N. C.—(AP)—Members of C. M. France Post, American Legion, at Oteen, government hospital near here, voted overwhelmingly in favor of immediate cash bonus payment by the government.

Hopewell, N. J., April 15.—(AP)—The Lindbergh baby hunt developed today into a search for a swindle-proof scheme to get Chas. A. Lindbergh Jr. back.

Working secretly again, negotiators did not overlook the possibility that a second ransom attempt might lead to a repetition of the $50,000 hoax in which Col. Lindbergh was mulcted without getting the kidnapped infant.

The colonel, it was learned, is considering a plan whereby a committee would pass on any further negotiations. The committee probably would comprise the aviator, Col. Henry Breckinridge, his attorney;

MASSIE MAY ADMIT KILLING AT HONOLULU

Insanity Plea Expected to be Injected into the Murder Trial in Hawaii

Honolulu, April 15.—(AP)—Defense intimations that Lieut. Thomas H. Massie would name himself as the killer of Joseph Kahahawai and plead insanity came a step nearer materialization in the murder trial of the young naval officer and three others today.

As the prosecution closed its case, Clarence Darrow, generalissimo of the defense, called Massie to the stand and said one of the defendants would admit shooting Kahahawai in a fit of insanity. By his questioning he indicated Massie would be the one.

While his mother-in-law and co-defendant, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, wept, Massie testified his wife, Mrs. Thalia Massie, had identified the young Hawaiian and three others as her attackers. The assault, he said, had preyed not only upon her mind but also upon his own.

Also he said that it had been necessary for Mrs. Massie, suffering from fractures of the jaw, to undergo an operation after the attack to avoid becoming a mother.

ASSURE HOUSE VOTE ON BONUS

Democratic Leaders Concede Their Opposition is Unavailing

Washington, April 15.—(AP)—Success in obtaining a House vote on cash payment of the entire soldiers' bonus now is substantially certain, even the Democratic leaders being disposed to concede that their opposition will be unavailing.

They are not yet ready to admit that the House will actually pass a bill carrying the outlay of more than two billion dollars in cash, but are making no definite claims about being able to defeat the measure.

Representative Rainey of Illinois, the floor leader of the Democratic majority forces, said of the bonus sponsors' claims of enough votes: "Maybe they have them, but I believe the opponents are making headway."

Failure of the bonus advocates to agree so far among themselves on the means by which the enormous sum is to be raised, has lent some uncertainty to the proceedings. Normally the committee holding hearings on legislation would bring a bill from the numerous proposals submitted, but the prospect is that the ways and means committee will turn thumbs down on the bonus, and its sponsors will have to resort to a petition to force action on one of the bills in the House, amending it, if necessary, on the floor.

However, the prospect is strong that the bonus payment plan will proceed at least to the second line, the Senate, and possibly as far as the third, where President Hoover holds ready a veto in an attempt to kill it.

Swindle-Proof Scheme Planned In Kidnapping

Gov. A. Harry Moore of New Jersey, Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, and others.

Col. Lindbergh and his wife appealed last night for secrecy in the attempts to deal with the kidnap gang. In Norfolk, Va., two negotiators who have been in close touch with Lindbergh for days, returned home after a prolonged absence with a non-committal statement.

"We are continuing to work on the case," said Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage and John Hughes Curtis, boat builder. "During our absence from Norfolk we have contacted several other large cities, among them the slaying of..."

SEND TROOPS TO MINE AREA

Order Restored Following Rioting Among Strikers Near Adena, Ohio

Cadiz, Ohio, April 15.—(AP)—With a military atmosphere prevailing, all was quiet in the eastern Ohio bituminous mine fields today, where yesterday two men were shot, one fatally, as a large group of men, said to be striking miners, attempted to keep diggers from going to work in the Somers mine, near Adena.

Ohio national guardsmen, under command of Col. W. L. Mastin of Cleveland, arrived during the night and today 75 of the guardsmen had been stationed at the Somers operation.

As the soldiers marched to the mine they were greeted with "boos" and "cat calls" by a crowd estimated by officials to number...

HEART ATTACK CLAIMS BURNS

Noted Detective Dies Suddenly in Florida After Entertaining Guests

Sarasota, Fla., April 15.—William J. Burns, the detective, is dead.

The 72-year-old founder of the Burns detective agency was the victim of a heart attack at his St. Armand's Key winter home here last night. A few hours earlier, apparently in the best of health, he had assisted his family in the entertainment of guests.

He was stricken shortly after they left and died without regaining consciousness.

Friends said funeral services would be held here and the body probably placed in a vault for removal to New York for burial later in the spring. The widow and four children survive.

William John Burns' career was the realization of a boyhood dream to be a great detective. He grew up the merchant tailor trade of his father back in 1885 to enter the business of crime detection.

The detective was born in Baltimore but his family moved with him to Columbus, O., where he spent most of his early life. His father, Michael Burns, served as police commissioner of Columbus at one time.

The first big case of the detective's career was the solution of the Ohio tally sheets fraud by which a group sought to place a senator in office. He entered the secret service when 28 years old and in 1896 gained national recognition by solving the "Costa Rican" case in which a group of Central American revolutionaries tried to discredit their country and raise funds by counterfeiting in the United States.

Counterfeiting cases were almost a hobby with Burns and it was he who led the smashing of the Bill Brockway gang of currency forgers in Philadelphia.

Burns resigned from the secret service in 1903 and took charge of western land fraud investigations in Oregon, Washington and California for the Department of Interior. He worked on graft cases in San Francisco, Atlantic City and Detroit and took part in outstanding murder investigations in several large cities, among them the slaying of...

STATE JURIST AND DAUGHTER GO ON TRIAL

Judge Harwood and Miss Lola Harwood Face Embezzlement Charge

Raleigh, April 15.—(AP)—Judge John H. Norwood of Bryson City, and his pretty daughter, Miss Lola Harwood, went on trial in Wake Superior court today, the girl charged with embezzlement of state funds and the father with being an accessory after the fact.

Start of the trial was delayed considerably by a series of last minute conferences between counsel for the defense and the state. A hinted agreement was not reached, and the trial started with the selection of a jury.

Start of the trial was delayed considerably by a series of last minute conferences between counsel for the defense and the state. A hinted agreement was not reached, and the trial started with the selection of a jury.

The regular jury panel, with one exception, satisfied the state. The regular panel included W. T. Best, Raleigh newspaperman, was passed by the state. The defense was given eight peremptory challenges and the state four.

Judge Harwood, graying slightly, sat calmly beside his attorneys. Immediately behind him were Miss...

SEVEN KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Several Also Injured as Blast Wrecks $6,000,000 Office Building at Columbus, O.

Columbus, O., April 15.—(AP)—The theory that a bomb explosion was responsible for the loss of seven lives, injuries to more than two score, and heavy damage to Ohio's new state office building, was uppermost in the minds of state, county and city officials as they launched investigations into the disaster today.

Authorities were investigating the theft of 300 pounds of "high powered" dynamite from a powder company near London, O., last week, in the belief it might have been used to bomb the $6,000,000 structure, which was in the final...

American Ambassador to Britain Again Disappoints English in Public Address

London, April 15.—(AP)—That portion of British officialdom and the British public which looked for some indication that the mission of Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon was to arrange a revision or perhaps a canceled today.

At the annual dinner of the Pilgrims Society last night Mr. Mellon drank champagne toasts to the kind and the President of the United States and reaffirmed his faith in capitalism, "or whatever name may be applied to the system which has been evolved in adapting individual initiative to the machine age," but he said nothing about war debts or reparations.

Referring to the financial situation, he said he did not believe in "any quick or spectacular remedies for the ills from which the world is suffering."

He recalled that during his lifetime he had passed through many crises which invariably, he said, followed wars.

"The downward movement begins and the whole structure seems to topple about our heads. Yet we know by experience that such catastrophes never completely wipe out the progress which has been made, and that when the world begins to mend, the many gains of recent years will not be lost, but consolidated."

"Even while we meet here tonight adjustments are taking place the world over and these will continue until the balance has been restored."

Referring to American problems, he said his country was facing its difficulties and that "while conditions there are serious, they are neither so critical nor so unprecedented as..."

America Led The World In Exports During 1931

Washington, April 15.—(AP)—Secretary Lamont said today the United States, instead of having lost any of its foreign trade prestige in 1931, led the world in exports during that year of economic stringency.

The secretary made the statement in announcing a commerce department tabulation of 1931 exports by states, showing that only seven states and the District of Columbia exported less than $1,000,000 of goods.

He said every state in the union had a vital interest in the maintenance of foreign trade and that a payroll of a billion and a half dollars to 1,400,000 workers depended upon it.

"Even in a year of profound depression and drastic price declines such as 1931," Lamont said, "the value of our domestic exports amounted to $2,377,981,786, to which total every state and territory contributed its share. Only seven states had exports valued at less than $1,000,000, while thirty exported merchandise to a value of $10,000,000 or more and 12 of the latter did an overseas business of more than $60,000,000 each."

"The significance of export trade to American labor is clear when one realizes that more than 1,400,000 workers, receiving more than $1,500,000,000 in wages were directly engaged in producing goods for..."

FIVE STORES ARE BURNED

Only One Building is Left Standing by Fire Discovered Back of the Postoffice at 4 O'clock; the Loss Amounting to Thousands of Dollars Not Covered by Insurance; Store Stocks Complete Loss

Practically the entire business district of Bell Arthur, small town, eight miles west of Greenville, was wiped out by fire of undetermined origin early today, it was revealed by reports reaching the city this morning.

The blaze, originating in an old building back of the postoffice, destroyed five stores before finally being brought under control.

Although it was impossible to estimate the full extent of the damage, it was said the loss amounted to thousands of dollars which was not covered by insurance.

Two of the buildings were not occupied, but the remainder were operated as general supply stores and both stocks and buildings were a complete loss. It was said.

Stores destroyed were R. A. Willsoughby's, Mack Smith's and John Henby's. The owner of the other buildings was not determined. The postoffice was located in the S.M.P. store, and it was said the entire contents of the office was a complete loss.

The blaze was discovered by a negro man about 4 o'clock and the time the alarm was sounded virtually all of the buildings were a mass of flames.

Only one building in the business district was left standing. That was Strickland's store, which was also reported to have been badly damaged.

The fire was one of the most disastrous in the history of the town and hundreds of people from the surrounding neighborhood were attracted by the flames which shot high into the heavens and lighted up the countryside for miles around.

The town is without any fire-fighting equipment and bucket brigades were said to have rendered spectacular service in controlling the fire.

Luke Lea Trial Again Delayed!

Nashville, Tenn., April 15.—(AP)—The cases of Col. Luke Lea, Luke Lea Jr., and four others, who are charged with conspiracy to defraud the now defunct Liberty Bank and Trust Company, originally set for Monday, will be called for trial at the May term of criminal court here.

Judge Charles Gilbert granted a continuance yesterday after physicians testified that Lea Jr. was in "imperative" need of certain X-ray and radium treatments, and his trial at this time might seriously impair his health and chances for ultimate recovery.

In granting the continuance, Judge Gilbert said he would set no definite date for the trial, and that if young Lea's condition still prevented his being brought to trial at the May term of court, trial of the other five defendants would be held without him.

COLLEGIANS DEFEAT HIGH IN GAME HERE

Greenville high school baseball team dropped its first game of the season to East Carolina Teachers college at Third street school grounds yesterday afternoon by the score of 12 to 2. The game was a feature of the Rotary day program and was well attended in spite of overcast clouds which promised to give forth showers at any time.

The Collegians emerged victorious after piling up eleven hits and by taking advantage of 7 errors in the high school bats. Dale and Wells did the mound work for the high school and Hearne and Hunter for the college.

Five of the Collegians connected for two hits each. Gaston led the high school with the stick obtaining two of the six hits annexed by his teammates.

UMPIRES GO AFTER RADIO ANNOUNCER

Chicago, April 15.—(AP)—Radio announcer Ted Husing, barred from Harvard's football games last fall because he implied with an adjective that Crimson's style of play was not up to snuff, today faced an American League investigation prompted by a complaint of two umpires.

The umpires, George Moriarity and William Dinneen, who officiated at the opening league game at Washington last Monday, voiced formal protest with league officials yesterday, at Husing's reported description of their decisions during the game's broadcast.

President Will Harridge of the league, commenting on the protest, said he would investigate fully and "take whatever action is necessary." "It's a big job umpiring baseball games without their blaming the umpire for his mistakes," he said.

Dan Howley, the sartorially correct manager of the Cincinnati Reds, already is playing in tough luck and the National league season is just three days old.

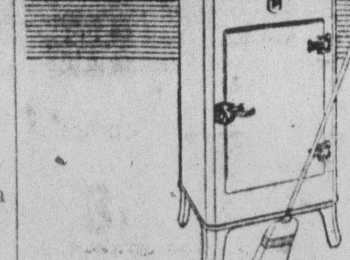

The Reds' second game of the campaign cost the mite services of Ernesto Lombardi, the catcher with the rifle arm and the massive Schmezzola, and of George Grantham, veteran second baseman whose chief baseball virtue is his timely hitting.

Lombardi stopped a foul tip with his right index finger and the broken bone that caused will keep him on the bench for at least ten days. Grantham twisted his ankle and probably won't play for a week.

But even with these two cogs out for repairs, the Reds punched out a 5-3 decision over the Chicago Cubs yesterday and made it two out of three in the series. They did it by the simple expedient of batting around in the first inning.

Doubles by Wally Gilbert and Clyde Maulon and triples by Babe Herman and Mickey Heath, plus a hit batsman and a walk gave the Reds five runs in that frame. Behind that leaded Lucas worked easily, holding the Cubs to eight hits.

In the only other national league struggle of the day, the Pittsburgh

Pirates pounded Paul Derringer for 15 hits and trimmed the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4. The Cardinals bunched hits off Bill Morris for three runs in the fourth inning but Larry French held them virtually helpless thereafter.

In the American League, the St. Louis Browns and Detroit Tigers broke into the winning column for the first time.

Sam Gray allowed only five hits as the Browns turned back the Chicago White Sox, 3-0, the second shutout of the major league season.

Whitlow Wyatt had the better of a pitching duel with Willis Hudlin and Detroit defeated Cleveland, 3-1. Wyatt allowed four hits and struck out seven.

Weather conditions held other American league clubs idle but at Philadelphia Connie Mack, venerable manager of the Athletics announced Roger Cramer would replace the veteran Bing Miller in the outfield. Cramer is just starting his second term with the A's.

Opened in 1899, this hospital has cared for over 18,000 patients in the institution proper, and in its out-patient department and clinics. No patient pays, in accordance with the hospital's motto—"None May Enter Who Can Pay—None Can Pay Who Enter."

all creeds, since the hospital is non-sectarian. Last year patients came from forty-two states.

"Since the start of the depression two years ago, the National Jewish Hospital has been able through strictest economy to maintain its service for the poor and sick without curtailment," said Dr. Schultz. "However, as the only income is from contributions and since these have decreased considerably during the past two years, the hospital may be compelled to close several of its sixteen buildings, depriving hundreds of patients, who have no means to pay for treatment, of a chance for life. It is being asked that special help be strictly non-sectarian, contributions from non-Jews as well as Jews will be welcome."

Following urgent appeals from the hospital, Dr. Schultz has volunteered to raise a special fund here for the benefit of the free, non-sectarian, nation-wide service for the tuberculous poor maintained by the hospital.

ABOUT TOWN

The people of North Carolina must stick together during the financial depression experienced at this time if they hope to win out.

Mr. Graham said the state had made rapid advancement in the field of education during the past several years, and that they must see the economic situation bravely and unflinchingly if they hope to come out with colors flying.

Republicans in convention at Charlotte yesterday scored member of the Democratic party for rank extravagance in this state, forgetting probably that this is the accession which Democrats are opposing against the national administration.

Charges of this kind will fly thick and fast from now until the Presidential race has been settled, but Republicans will not be able to penetrate the armor of the Democrats because they are short of material.

cialist in his chosen field of endeavor. Several certificates of this kind were issued the last few years, but as there are other growers in the county entitled to such recognition it is hoped all of them will submit required information and attempt to gain this recognition.

Rotarians who attended the inter-city meeting here yesterday had the opportunity of acquainting themselves with the reason why Greenville has been able to forge to the front as the greatest bright leaf tobacco market in the world.

This is an honor which Greenville and Pitt counties people are proud of and Rotarians were glad to give the visitors all information possible relative to the market's achievement.

Situated in the largest bright leaf producing county in the world, natural resources necessary to this Greenville is endowed with all the honor, and future years promise to see even great development.

MASSIE MAY ADMIT KILLING

(Continued from Page One) Since Massie, Mrs. Fortescue and E. J. Lord were arrested January 8 when police overtook their motor car containing the body of Kahawai, no word has come from them or the other defendant, Albert O. Jones, regarding the killing.

Massie testified he was 27 years old and was married when he was 22 and Mrs. Massie, 16. He told of attending a dance in an outlying inn the night of September 12, when Mrs. Massie was attacked after going for a walk in a nearby thoroughfare.

"Was there any drinking?" asked Darrow. "Yes, Sir," Massie answered. "Did Mrs. Massie care for drinking?" "No."

The lieutenant said he missed Mrs. Massie when their party was preparing to go home and did not locate her until after he telephoned several friends and finally rang his own home.

"Mrs. Massie answered the phone," he said, "and recognizing my voice, said 'come home at once; something horrible has happened.' I jumped in a car and rushed home. I could hear her sobbing before I could get into the house. She collapsed in my arms. Her lips were bruised, her face swollen, her clothes torn and her lips bleeding.

"I thought a truck had run over her. She said it was too horrible to tell and could only sob. "She said she wanted to die. Finally she told me some men had taken her in a car and carried her into the bushes and ravished her. I then called the police and told them my wife had been assaulted."

"Did you ever get advice from a doctor about your wife's condition?" asked Darrow. "I got that at the hospital," Massie said, "after Mrs. Massie's mother informed us an operation would be necessary to prevent pregnancy. It was performed in October."

Structure was shattered. Great marble slabs were tossed into the air, ponderous metal doors were wrenched from their hinges and concrete and twisted steel were knocked loose by the force of the blast.

The known dead were: W. B. Ryder, 57, superintendent of the Alabama Marble Co.; Donald E. Chusey, 40, decorator for the Ram-bush Co., New York; William Dokken, 32, Detroit, a bronze worker; Clyde R. Neal, 35, Columbus electrician and Frank Baker, Columbus plumber.

The building, located on the western edge of the business district, is 360 feet long, 80 feet wide and 13 stories high, with walls of white Georgia marble. Dedicatory ceremonies had been set tentatively for May.

State officials estimated the damage to the structure was $500,000 and said they believed the state was protected by a $3,000,000 bond given by the Struck Construction Company of Cincinnati, general contractors, and by a $400,000 insurance policy of the architect.

There was no attempt to open the Somers operation, company officials announcing that work would be resumed Monday morning. All telephone connections leading from the mine were cut about midnight last night. The wires had been severed in about 25 different places.

HEART ATTACK CLAIMS BURNS

As chief of the Bureau of Investigation for the Department of Justice, he became involved in repercussions from the Teapot Dome oil reserve graft trials and the Harding administration. He was closely associated with Attorney General Harry M. Since retirement from government service and his private agency, he had been engaged in writing magazine stories about his biggest cases.

Columbus, O., April 15.—(AP)—Experts in high explosives were summoned today to investigate the blast which wrecked the interior of Ohio's new $6,000,000 office building, leaving six known dead and scores injured.

C. P. Carter, about 30, of Nashville, Tenn., who died several hours later from internal injuries. The explosion, late yesterday, demolished the central interior portion of the building from the basement to the 11th floor, and tore away most of one of its sides. Workmen dug into the tons of debris today, searching for additional dead or injured.

At first, the explosive was laid to accumulate, sewer gas in the basement. Later, however, officials including T. S. Brindle, state superintendent of public works, theorized high explosives were the cause and that it was an act of sabotage.

Brindle's theory was strengthened by a statement from H. E. Nold, head of the department of mines at Ohio State University, that "it would have been impossible for enough gas to collect in the building without being detected."

Investigators also pointed out that the focal point of the explosion appeared to have been immediately beneath a room occupied by Charles Martin, superintendent of construction for Harry F. Hake, of Cincinnati, the architect. Martin's duties included the handling of labor disputes.

There were 125 men at work, applying finishing touches of construction inside the building, when the structure was shattered. Great marble slabs were tossed into the air, ponderous metal doors were wrenched from their hinges and concrete and twisted steel were knocked loose by the force of the blast.

The known dead were: W. B. Ryder, 57, superintendent of the Alabama Marble Co.; Donald E. Chusey, 40, decorator for the Ram-bush Co., New York; William Dokken, 32, Detroit, a bronze worker; Clyde R. Neal, 35, Columbus electrician and Frank Baker, Columbus plumber.

The ambassador's health was proposed in a toast by Sir John Simon, who said none of Mr. Mellon's distinguished predecessors had wanted a warmer welcome than he received last night. The tumultuous cheers with which the crowd of 400 at the dinner greeted the ambassador gave point to the foreign secretary's statement.

SWINDLE-PROOF SCHEME PLANNED IN KIDNAPING

The Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, the third of the Norfolk men who have been dealing with a person they believe represents the kidnapers, was still optimistic. He said that prior to the futile ransom payment he and his colleagues had arranged a plan for the child's return without danger of double-crossing.

"It is still of the utmost importance for us and our representatives to move about without being questioned and followed," said Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh's statement, which also expressed appreciation for past co-operation by the press.

Dr. John F. Condon—the "Jafsie" who, as Lindbergh's emissary, arranged the recent $50,000 payment, made several trips from his Bronx home yesterday, and said the kidnapers were an extremely shrewd band of criminals.

(Continued from Page One) export in 1931. "Many of us do not appreciate the fact that these benefits from foreign trade are by no means confined to the larger eastern seaboard states. Texas, for example, had larger exports than any other state except New York. Its total exports of $24,000,000 represented nearly $200,000,000 in wages paid to labor directly engaged in producing cotton, textile products, wheat, flour, crude sulphur and other commodities shipped from Texas to foreign countries.

Indiana, Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi, Iowa, Missouri, and Kansas, to mention only a few of the states which are not commonly believed to be vitally concerned in foreign trade, had exports of from $10,000,000 to $30,000,000 in the depression year of 1931. In the aggregate these seven states exported goods valued at $141,000,000.

"Although the value of exports in 1931 were 37 per cent smaller than in 1930 this falling off was due in large part to the drastic price declines during the year. In actual quantity, exports declined 39 per cent or only slightly more than the decline in domestic business."

MAN RECOUNTS MURDER CASE

Sole Surviving Witness Tells of Slaying at Logging Camp 29 Years Ago

Bakersville, N. C., April 15.—(AP)—A logging-camp fight 29 years ago in which George Presnell killed Lewis Buchanan was recounted today by the sole surviving witness in Presnell's trial for murder.

Obediah Butler, 62, of Johnson City, Tenn., who saw the fight as a youth of 23, was the witness. Now grayed by age, he swept aside the intervening years and gave a picture sharp with detail of the fight. Presnell, who fled from his home after the killing and established himself as a substantial citizen in the mid-west, sat quietly as the story was told. He was arrested in Pratherville, Mo., last February.

Butler said the working crew had gathered early the morning of August 28, 1902, but did not start to work immediately because repairs were being made to machinery. In the crew were Presnell, Buchanan, Butler and Mann Garland, who is now dead.

He heard harsh words passed between the two. "Whoever says that is a damn liar," Butler quoted Buchanan as saying.

"Don't you say that," he said Presnell replied and drew a knife. "Don't let him kill me boys," Butler said Buchanan called.

Then, he said, Presnell grabbed Buchanan and slashed at his thigh. He and Garland interposed and gave Buchanan first air treatment while Presnell left the scene. Half an hour later Buchanan died from loss of blood.

"I never saw Presnell again until he was brought back here for trial," Butler added. He said he did not know what led to the quarrel between the two men.

Presnell went to the mid-west and lived under the name George Miller. In Askaloosa, Ia., he married and later moved to Pratherville, Mo., and established himself as a substantial citizen. He had left a wife in North Carolina.

Later a sister came to live in Pratherville and one day in a fit of anger after a quarrel with her brother she told officers he was wanted in North Carolina for murder.

FARM LEADER FAVORS BONUS

John W. Simpson Advocates Payment of Soldiers at Committee Hearing

Washington, April 15.—(AP)—The two billion dollars cash payment of the soldier bonus was endorsed today by John A. Simpson, president of the National Farmers Union.

Representative Condon, (D., R. I.) told the committee that the American Legion convention "dodged" the bonus issue and that a majority of the rank and file of the legion are behind the payment.

Use of a beer tax to raise the fund for cashing the bonus was advocated by Representative Cochran (D., Mo.). Cochran's statement was brief and simply urged consideration of his bill to accomplish this. Simpson then was called. As he testified, uniformed policemen strolled about the committee room. Yesterday they were called by Acting Chairman Crisp to maintain order when a delegation demanded a hearing out of order.

Simpson was the first of the national farm leaders to endorse the bonus payment. "I don't care if it means making those who made money while the boys were in France pay taxes to pay our debts," he said. "The Farmers Union is for it." Simpson was loudly applauded.

Kitty Frew

By Jane Abbott

SYNOPSIS: Kitty Frew is awakened in the middle of the night by the nurse in charge of her husband, Gar, who has been hurt in an automobile crash. The accident has brought Kitty and Gar together, after Gar's mother fought against Kitty, just as she estranged her step-son, David.

Chapter 39

HE'S MINE

"She didn't have time to call you—" Miss Bixby mumbled.

Kitty pushed her aside; she caught up a negligee and threw it over her shoulders as she ran to Gar's room. To her agonized senses it seemed as if there was a crowd around Gar's bed, the night nurse, two internes—she pushed them savagely out of her way. How dared they stand so between her and Gar?

Miss Bixby came up behind her, but shaking hands on her to draw her back.

"There wasn't a minute, Mrs. Frew! He just went to sleep like—" "You mean?" The words came shrilly, unbelievably.

"It was embolus, Mrs. Frew. It happens, sometimes—" "You'd better come away, Mrs. Frew."

Kitty put out her hands. "Go—go, all of you. I'm—I'm all right. Oh, go, please—He's mine, I tell you!"

On an afternoon four months later Ketchum Street had baked under the August heat. But in late afternoon a little breeze sprang up to bring a saving freshness to the heavy air. It stirred the curtains at Dorcas Taber's open window.

Kitty lifted the shades which she had drawn against the merciless sun. It was six o'clock. Dorcas would be home soon. Supper was ready—iced tea in the big glass pitcher, fragrant with mint, a big bowl of green salad, thin slices of chicken.

She set a table close to the windows where they could feel the little breeze. Three places—David would come.

Perhaps he'd had some word from his publishers. When she heard a step on the stairs she ran to open the door.

"David, have you heard?" He laughed at her eagerness. He drew a long breath. "Say, this is cool here!"

"But, David, have you heard?" He took a yellow slip of paper from his pocket and put it in her hand.

"Little Lady" is all that we expected. We are in luck." She read the telegram aloud.

"Oh, David, I'm so glad! But I knew it was good."

"Well, that's that. What have you been doing to day?"

He was regarding her with close anxiety. Her face, thinner now, was colorless, her eyes, with their sober, hurt look, seemed wider, deeper set and the long lashes made little shadows against the transparency of her cheeks. Her steady smile stabbed David's heart.

"Oh, I'm fine! I've stayed in today and it hasn't begun bad here at all. I've been very busy." She nodded toward a sewing basket.

Kitty had been living in the house on Ketchum street since that day in April, when, bewildered, her heart a dead thing, she had put her hand in David's. "Take me away." The heavy fragrance of flowers had filled the empty rooms of the Frew house. Jones had been moving things in the drawing-room. Miss Bixby had been running up the wide stairs, a glass in her hand. A door had shut somewhere.

David had taken Kitty to Dorcas. Dorcas had given her her own room, using another room on the floor for herself.

"I'm all right!" Kitty had said, bravely. "Just tell me something to do."

And Dorcas had found small tasks for her. "If you'll get my scrap book into shape you'll save my sanity." She'd dumped an accumulation of clippings into Kitty's empty hands.

Kitty had refused David's urging to go back to Bridgewater.

"Oh, no, David."

She never talked of Gar; what of longing and sorrow and loneliness she suffered she hid behind her steady smile, her sober, hurt eyes.

The Frew house was closed. Mrs. Frew, after weeks of prostration, had gone to California, taking Miss Bixby with her. Dalton Frew was living at his club. Carol and Paul Somerset were occupying the rooms over the garage on Elmwood Terrace. David had told Kitty all this but she had listened indifferently as if those people of whom he spoke were strangers to her.

She never thought of her brief resentment against Dorcas, or of what had been its cause; if she had thought of it she would have put it with the things that did not matter.

All these weeks David had watched her with deep concern. He'd seen her grow thinner, paler.

"If I could reach her—" he'd think, torn himself, suffering for her.

Now he helped her put the finishing touches to the supper. "I saw Dorcas at the Times office. She said she might be a little late."

He went to the window and stood there, his back to her. "I had a long talk with Dad, today, Kitty. He's terribly low. He's had a letter from—Mrs. Frew. She's not coming back here."

"I think it would make him happy—Kitty, he wants you to take an allowance. It's in the bank, any-doubled, you are married twice and you're re-doubled, you start a large club with your children by that time. If she hurts her ankle during the honeymoon, you rubber. If she leaves you to go to Reno for renovation, you get set.

While you are courting and making your bid, it's auction. When you reach the golden anniversary, you've fulfilled your contract. If you go on a boat for a honeymoon, you have a nice deck. If your marriage is unsuccessful, you've gotten a bad deal; and if you've married a gold digger, the cards were stacked.

vey before you place your bid—Miss No-Nox.

Harwood and the jurist's wife, both dressed in blue.

Miss Harwood, a former license clerk in the department of revenue here, was indicted last June for the alleged embezzlement of $4,823 in state funds. Her father was indicted several weeks ago as an accessory after the fact for the alleged "manufacture" of evidence which the state claims would prove his daughter innocent.

The courtroom was crowded with numerous witnesses, including about a dozen girl clerks from the revenue department.

Many friends of the indicted jurist were in the courtroom, including R. A. Doughton, former revenue commissioner and former chairman of the highway commission, and T. D. Bryson of the Duke University law school. Assisting Solicitor J. C. Little in the prosecution are Attorney General Dennis G. Brummitt and his assistants, W. D. Siler and A. A. P. Seawell. Judge Harwood was an assistant to Brummitt before being appointed to the superior court bench as special judge.

Willis Smith, speaker of the 1931 House of Representatives, L. S. Brassfield, former solicitor of the district, and W. D. Jones are counsel for the defendants.

Judge Harwood, the first superior court judge in North Carolina to be indicted on a felony charge, is temporarily under suspension.

jected federal wage cuts and elimination of certain activities.

On the other hand, hundreds of messages came demanding sharp cuts that would result in savings up to $350,000,000. As the committee met to agree on a program, J. C. Reop, the budget director, conferred with President Hoover at the White House on the administration's proposed $200,000,000 economy omnibus bill.

Reop said he hoped to have the draft of the measure ready to submit to the economy committee by tomorrow.

The suggestion of Frank T. Hines, veterans administrator, to reduce hospital and compensation costs in the Veterans Bureau to save $80,000,000, as was considered by the committee.

The proposal would provide that no person, excepting those affected from combat disability, making an income tax return of $1,500, if single, and $900 additional for each dependent, would be entitled to any allowance of pension or free hospitalization regardless of where his illness is attributable to service.

Our Baseball Team

The depression, if we dare mention it again, may still be depressing. Our football and basketball teams may have been too light, too short, too young or too what-not, but Coach Porter and the student body as well, may praise their Allah for the way our baseball team is getting along. The season has barely begun and the team shows signs of making a strong bid for the conference championship. Extraordinary pitching material has been shown and we think our batting line-up much stronger than of years gone by. We have the players, the coach, the grounds, but believe us, the Greenville high school baseball club is in dire financial straits like every thing else in Pitt county.

If you're too near-sighted to catch or too cross-eyed to play in the field at least come out and root for the team. If your beau is not on the baseball team, invite him to the stands—its perfectly delicious up there.

Come on out and lose some energy—if you can't play, you can at least tell the other team they can't either.—Harold Sugg—10.

Visitors From Goldsboro Thursday

On Thursday, April 14, Greenville high was honored to have as visitors six representatives from the Goldsboro high school. These students, McArm Best and Emmett Spicer from the senior class; Evelyn Simon and Edward Cartness from the junior class; Dorothy Pearson and Billy Griffin from the sophomore class, came to visit our school with the intention of finding out something that will be of benefit to their school. We have been asked to send a like delegation to Goldsboro in the near future.

These pupils had a host of hostesses, who took them to regular classes and assembly. At the noon hour the home economics classes, under the supervision of Miss Maddox, served a most delightful luncheon.

This is the first time such a thing as "student observation" (criticism) has been tried in this section and if the plan proves successful, it may become an annual event.—Elizabeth Carr—11.

Music Contest Saturday

On Saturday morning, April 15, the thirteenth annual high school music contest will be held in the local high school auditorium by the B and C schools of the Northeastern section of the state.

Greenville high will enter with the mixed chorus, Boys' Glee club, Girls' Glee club, from Miss Ona Shindler's music department. The special numbers from her department are, the mixed quartet, boys' quartet, girls' trio, soprano solo, baritone solo, bass solo, and alto solo.

From Mr. Robeson's department of instrumental music the band and orchestra will enter numbers and there will also be a trombone and clarinet solo.

The judges will choose the best of the competitors in each case to represent this district in the state music contest which will be held some time in the near future at Greensboro.—Elizabeth Musselwhite—11.

May sold off to 6.26 and October to 6.29 or 3 to 4 points net lower, but the widening of the difference between New York and Liverpool brought in some buying here for Liverpool account and prices fairly steady within a narrow range during the first half hour.

Liverpool cables reported covering, continental and Bombay buying in that market and said there was an improved cloth demand from India and the continent.

The financing problems of Middle West Utilities and the other Insull holding companies had injected an oppressive element of uncertainty into the financial markets for some time. Sweeping declines in the securities of these holding companies had already discounted receivership, so that actual news of the action in Chicago brought considerable relief. Furthermore, the steps taken by Electric Bond & Share to scotch rumors about its financial position, including announcement of a one-year extension of subsidiary loans, tended to fortify the utility list generally.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, April 15.—(AP)—With a few showers in Kansas and Texas dampening bullish enthusiasm, wheat prices averaged lower today.

A rally of 13-4 cents from an early decline proved transient, although accompanied by reports of dust storms over wide areas. Bulls gave stress also to an authoritative crop summary indicating 250,000,000 bushels less wheat production this season than last year in Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska.

STOCK MARKET

New York, April 15.—(AP)—The securities markets generally developed a distinctly better tone today.

Both stocks and bonds extended the recovery which started toward the close of the previous session. The receivership for Middle West Utilities was regarded in brokerage circles as having cleared the atmosphere considerably, and financial quarters were encouraged by the vigorous credit expansion indicated in the weekly Federal Reserve statement.

The utilities make striking gains in the stock market, particularly some of the thinly traded preferred issues. The list wobbled somewhat for a time in the morning, but turned distinctly strong by midday. North American preferred gained 5 points, and the Electric Power & Light senior issues, about 8. Peoples Gas continued its climb with an advance of several points. Gains of 2 to 3 points appeared in Consolidated Gas, Public Service of N. J., American and Foreign preferred, Pacific Gas, Santa Fe, Allied Chemical, Union Pacific, National Biscuit, American Tobacco B and Colorado Fuel, while advances of a point or so were numerous, embracing U. S. Steel and other leaders. American Telephone recovered an early drop of nearly 3. Auburn dropped 5 to a new low, and failed to come back much.
