

Hard Hitting Gives The Braves Victory Over Brooklyn

BILL TERRY HITS HOMER TO TIE MARK

By Gayle Talbot
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Boston Braves, who couldn't hit the side of their collective hats last season, apparently have found a much needed punch in their two prize young infielders, Art Shires and Bill Urbanski.

The great Shires is proving he is a first baseman, and Urbanski looks like a real star at short.

With the veteran Rabbit Maraville to balance things at second base, they have made a smart combination and have had much to do with planting the Braves out in front of the National League race at this stage. Both Shires and Urbanski were hitting at a 370 clip through yesterday, and they have been getting them where they count.

Fritz Knoché, another rookie whom Manager Bill McKechnie has installed at third, hasn't shown any indication he will burn up the league at bat, but his fielding has been first rate.

Between them, Shires and Urbanski accounted for four runs to help beat Brooklyn, 6-3, before yesterday's opening crowd of 20,000 at Boston. Urbanski drove in a pair, while Shires knocked a run across and scored another. "Red" Worthington knocked in two more than a double.

The day's best individual feat was witnessed at Philadelphia, where Bill Terry of the Giants slapped his fifth home run in three days to tie the major league and provide a 5 to 4 victory over the Phillies. Pitsimmons held the Phils to six hits.

The Chicago Cubs collected only four blows off Si Johnson, but two walks, a sacrifice, an error and Bill Herman's single scored two runs in the eighth and gave them a three to two win over Cincinnati. The last place St. Louis Cardinals took it on the chin again at Pittsburgh, this time by a score of 7 to 6 in 10 innings. Lloyd Waner's double scored Grace with the decisive run.

Mickey Cochrane's ninth inning home run with the bases loaded was the blow that sank the Yanks 8-6, in the American League's main attraction. Al Simmons hit one in the fourth with Cochrane on to further aid the Athletics' cause.

Detroit's surprising Tigers took over first place all by themselves by defeating Cleveland, 5 to 3, while the Washington Senators were dropping a tight one to Boston 4 to 0. The Tigers made only six hits off Mel Harder, but bunched four of them in the fifth for three runs.

Oliver's double and McManus' single after two were out in the seventh provided the Red Sox with the run that sank the Senators. It was a tough loss for Alvin Crowder who allowed only four hits. The losers collected 10 hits off Jack Russell's delivery, but couldn't ring the bell in the pinches.

The White Sox were rained out at St. Louis.

Baseball Fans Treated To 2 Games Here Today

Lovers of baseball today had the opportunity to witness two games on home lots and it was indicated the best attendance of the season would be in evidence.

East Carolina Teachers college, playing on home territory for the first time this season, was to meet Campbell college at 4 o'clock, and Greenville High was scheduled to clash with Roanoke Rapids at the Third Street school grounds at 3:45.

Campbell was to have played here Thursday but the schedule was interrupted by unexpected developments and the game was delayed until today.

Having lost the only two games played this season, the teachers were expected to make a strenuous fight for victory, and if the strong right arm of Tucker is in anything like proper form, the visitors are going to have the time of their lives connecting.

The game will be played on the college diamond, the first time in history of the institution that a real exhibition of his kind has ever been staged.

First, after capturing two out of three games of the most formidable aggregation of the season, Roanoke Rapids enjoys the reputation of winning every game so far played, and they felt confident of sending Greenville sliding toward the cellar when they arrived here this afternoon.

Coach "Soup" Porter, however, was confident his boys would put up one of the most spectacular fights of the season, and placed great faith in the powerful right arm of Roger Taylor, whose twisters have proved the undoing of two other strong aggregations this season.

Roanoke Rapids may win, but the victory will be the most dearly fought of the season, was the final ultimatum of the coach as he gave his boys final instructions before the game.

DYKES THINKS A'S WILL WIN THE PENNANT

By Edward J. Neil
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, April 22.—(AP)—Depression all along the business fronts may have the nation worried but to Jimmy Dykes it provides one big reason why the Athletics will triumph again in the American League and set a new record with four straight pennants.

"It goes like this," reasons the happy third baseman of Connie Mack's team, "times are so hard the boys can't afford to fail. It isn't any longer a question of temperament, over-confidence, it's a matter of getting in there and playing your head off, for that important world series money."

Jimmy was very serious as he laid down his argument. He is certain Philadelphia will float another pennant from the flag pole in Shibe Park, but the way, he admits, will be long and hard.

"Those Yanks—boy they are tough. The Babe hits and Lou Gehrig hits and Sam goes your ball game. If they ever get some more pitching to go with that Lefty Gomez, Ruffing, Penneck and Pippas—

"Somehow I can't figure Washington quite so dangerous. Maybe their pitching will hold up and feel us, but toward the end of the season they always seem to fold up."

Jimmy, like everyone else on this ball club that has jammed its way to three straight pennants behind the rubber arms of Lefty Grove, George Earnshaw and Rube Walberg, laughs at the idea that depression, self-satisfaction, will creep into a great outfit and ultimately break it up.

"Why these fellows are all individualists," he insists. "They're all types. They play their ball games. And when one falls another comes through. That's their type of baseball."

Atlanta, April 22.—(AP)—The fun of checking Chattanooga's winning marathon in the Southern Association ends to the Memphis Chickasaws.

The Indians turned them over 5 to 3. The Lookouts' record of nine consecutive victories, however, stands as quite an achievement in the south.

The Atlanta Crackers lost their fourth straight to the New Orleans Pelicans. The score was 7 to 2. Birmingham beat Knoxville 8 to 2. Little Rock and Nashville were rained out.

Jackson made its two straight over Mobile in the southeastern league by winning 8 to 2. Columbus beat the Mason Bees 11 to 7. Selma and Montgomery split a double header. The latter won the first 3 to 0 and the latter the second, 4 to 3.

PIEDMONT ON PARADE

Raleigh—The Capitals, backing up Pitchers Francis and Jim Harris with 6 hits, got a 4 to 2 revenge on Bridgewater's Eastern League team yesterday. Harris blanked the Bears in the last four frames.

Durham—Coming out of their slumber, the Bulls pounded on Jim Griffith and Paul Edwards for 13 hits yesterday and defeated the University of North Carolina Tar Heels 8-2. Lefty Wilson, who went the route for the locals, yielded 11 scattered hits, five of which were taken by Peacock, the Collegian centerfielder.

Asheville—Having defeated Mars Hill College 13 to 4, the Tourists put in a regular practice today in preparation for the House of David invasion Saturday.

High Point—"Hooks" Cotter, former Minneapolis star who was a hold-out from the Fort Worth club this season, has been signed by the Peppers and is expected to report before the season opens.

Cornelboro—The Patriots turned on their twinning mates from Elmira and banded them a 14 to 10 beating. Manager Fred Brown of the Bulls turned loose Fred Forsburg, veteran catcher.

DR. LUCILLE TURNER NEW A. A. U. W. PRESIDENT

Dr. Lucille Turner was chosen unanimously at the meeting of the American Association of University Women, Thursday, April 21, to serve as president of the Greenville branch of the Association for the next two years.

Dr. Turner, who has been chairman of the program committee during the past year, and who has kept in touch with the activities of the local, the state and the national A. A. U. W., enters the office with a good grasp of the work.

The retiring president, Mrs. E. L. Hillman, was given a vote of thanks by the group for her able leadership and unselfish devotion of the past two years.

Mrs. Hillman accepted the responsibility when the branch was first organized, and to her is due much of the credit for the high rank that the Pitt county organization has among the branches in the state.

Miss Turner, Mrs. Hillman, and Mrs. Winslow reported a highly successful state meeting at Winston-Salem.

The program for the next year which will concern itself with a study of America's contribution in the field of the fine arts during the last fifty years, was presented by Miss Cassidy, chairman of the program committee.

The following is the tentative schedule for the year:

October—Music—Miss Annie Newell; November—The Dance—Miss Mary Ellen Powell; December—Painting—Mrs. E. L. Hillman; January—Sculpture—Miss Clem Bridges; February—Architecture—Miss Lella Higgs; March—Literature—Miss Mamie Jenkins; April—The Drama—Miss Emma Hooper; May—The Movies—Miss Loraine Hunter.

The study of universities was rounded out by the program of the afternoon. Mrs. R. B. Lee discussed the origin and meaning of cap, gown, hood and other university regalia. She explained that the idea of a definite code for such insignia, with a particular meaning for each item, is American, that it originated about 1892, and was then chiefly a student's movement.

Miss Rachel Scarborough gave a most interesting resume of Abraham Flexner's new book "Universities," giving his requirements for an ideal university, and his criticism of these of today in the light of his ideal.

The group met at the home of Mrs. S. J. Everett, where they were pleasantly entertained by Mrs. Everett and Miss Lella Higgs, joint hostesses for the occasion.

Mrs. Everett greeted the guests, and Miss Higgs and Mrs. C. C. Christian of Urbane, Va., a guest of Mrs. E. B. Higgs, served refreshments, assisted by Elizabeth and R. O. Everett.

The refreshment table had as its most attractive decoration a punch bowl in the form of a block of ice almost covered with pansies and ferns, with their stems frozen in, and a tray of pansies of unusual size and color.—Reported.

CAR RED CROSS FLOUR RECEIVED IN FARMVILLE

Farmville, April 22.—A minimum carload, 210 barrels, of Red Cross flour was received by the Farmville Relief Association on Monday morning, and distribution was begun on Tuesday morning. The town trucks are being used to unload it and Pender has permitted the use of the store if merely occupied by him for the storage of the same.

The flour was bagged in 98-lb. sacks, but for the purpose of distribution it is re-sacked in paper bags, 10 lbs. to the bag. Local officials think that it will be better to distribute it in this manner.

MISS JONES ON WAY AROUND THE WORLD

Miss Amy Hemmingway Jones, who directs the Division of Intercourse and Education of the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace and who selects the International Mind Alcove books that are placed in selected libraries, is now on a tour around the world.

Recently she has sent to Sheppard Memorial Library six books for boys and girls and with them came a letter to the children who should read the books.

Miss Jones is now leaving India, where she has seen boys just like Monks in "World on a Farm," plowing with buffaloes, and is now on a boat in the Indian Ocean on her way to Arabia, the land of "Arvisha."

Before Miss Jones comes home she will go to southern France and see natives making olive oil, perfume and silk, as it is done in "Jean and Fanchon."

She hopes to be able to guess what is in a German store by the iron signs such as are shown in "Milly and Her Village." In Italy she may see a little girl named "Nicolina," and she will see houses like that which Elma and Greta helped to build in "Building a House in Sweden."

DR. GRAHAM ADDRESSES D. A. R. CHAPTER

Farmville, April 22.—In an enlightening and constructive address, delivered to the Major Benjamin May chapter, D. A. R., and other interested citizens of the community on Thursday afternoon at the Christian Church, Dr. Frank Graham, head of the University of North Carolina, presented the cause of "The Emergency Student Loan Fund" and of the State University in general, with a terseness and clarity of expression that left no doubt in the minds of his hearers but that the interest and purpose of the people of this state, should lie in preserving his record achieved by her sons in establishing and promoting the first state University in America, which is among the six great institutions of its kind in the country and which has been the means of bringing her honor and influence, the estimation of which is impossible.

Dr. Graham cited many instances of heroic sacrifices made by students and faculty members in recent months and said that the problem is not a question of cutting salaries but the issue is the child, and equality of opportunity for every child in North Carolina.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. J. Q. Beckwith Jr., patriotic music being rendered with Mrs. M. V. Jones at the piano. Mrs. T. C. Turnage, regent of the local Daughters, outlined a splendid plan of cooperation between the D. A. R. chapters and various alumni of the community and action was taken with a view to the execution of these plans at this time.

The speaker of the afternoon was introduced by R. E. Boyd, superintendent of the Farmville High School, and John T. Thorne, John E. Lewis and John Hill Paylor spoke in behalf of the alumni of Farmville and Fountain, pledging their support in raising the University Emergency Fund for Students.

A WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—Senator Brookhart, independent Republican from Iowa and a man who says what he thinks when and where he pleases, seems to look at the game of politics rather cold-bloodedly.

He is an expert rifle shot and has spent years teaching men how to hit the bulls-eye. His glint along the sights of a rifle is somewhat akin to that which he turns to politics.

The Senator comes up for reelection this year. He must first win the Republican nomination and then defeat a Democrat in November if he hopes to remain in the Senate after next March.

Among those opposing him in the primary is an old friend from Shenandoah, Iowa, by the name of Henry Field.

Field owns a radio station in Iowa over which he has repeatedly invited Brookhart to speak. When he decided to make the race against the Senator, he wrote him suggesting that since they had been good friends why not make of their campaign a "friendly affair."

Brookhart objects. Fields told Brookhart that he could use his radio as before. More than that he could eat "chicken stew with Mrs. Field and myself at the cottage."

"Let's have a campaign," Field suggested, "conducted on a high plane of courtesy and good fellowship."

Brookhart balked. That is not his way of campaigning.

He wrote Field that such a thing was impossible. Political enemies of them both, he said, had been responsible for Field coming out against him.

He thanked him for the tender of his radio station, but said that after all it was not necessary. The law entitled equal opportunity in this respect to all candidates.

No, he couldn't agree to such a proposition—even with a friend. As far as he was concerned it would have to be every man for himself.

He had had a stiff fight to get to the Senate. He was prepared to put up a stiff fight to remain there.

Not Kidding

Brookhart wasn't kidding about having to put up a stiff fight to

Brown Renews His Campaign for Solicitorship

Harry M. Brown, Greenville attorney, returned from Washington this week and renewed his campaign for solicitor of Pitt County court. Mr. Brown was called to the capital city about three weeks ago to serve as one of the attorneys for the U. S. Department of Agriculture in the crop production loan office, and during his absence the report became current that he would not continue his campaign for the county office. He stated today he was still in the fight and would appreciate the support of his many friends throughout the county.

get to the Senate. The memory of that struggle lingers with him and still rankles.

Back in 1922, he was elected to fill an unexpired term. Two years later he claims that he was re-elected for a full term, received the certificate of election certified by the Executive Council of Iowa, but was refused his seat by the Senate.

It was a prolonged contest which ended in Steck, a Democrat, being seated. However, Brookhart turned around and defeated Iowa's other Senator in the primary, a Democrat in the general election, and got a seat anyway.

With that experience yet in mind, a campaign "conducted on a high plane of courtesy and good fellowship" seems not his idea of the best campaign at this time.

YOU CAN'T MARRY

By Julia Cleft-Addams

SYNOPSIS: A late evening call from her eccentric employer, Gratton Matching, takes Georgie Revell away from a dinner party with her cousin Jenny, Garth Aveney and Ryder Vale, but her interest in her work keeps her from minding the interruption. She is so fascinated by her job that she cannot decide to marry Eddie Townsend, whom she loves, because Matching will fire any woman working for him who marries. Georgie does not know that she is under suspicion of being the source of continued leakage of information about the business. Matching and his manager, Croze, separately have been trying to run down the guilty person. When Croze suggests Georgie as a possible suspect, to Matching, his employer retorts that he is attending to investigating her. Arriving at Matching's house, Georgie rings the bell in a special code and the door is opened.

Chapter 5 YES OR NO?

The footman greeted Georgie de-ferentially and went to pay the driver, while she took the steps of the main staircase, tug at a time. She did not slow down until she gained a bedroom at the back of the upper hall and was throwing her cloak on to the bed.

On the back of the door hung an overall of dark linen and this Georgie whisked over the gleaming apricot of her dress. The overall was made long but a gleam of velvet still showed round her ankles—that was, however, unavoidable. She changed her brocade shoes for dark leather and at the dressing-table wiped all make-up off her face and passed a comb through her hair. Then she swung out of the room and entered the one next to it.

This, as richly carpeted and curtained as the bedroom, was one of her many working-rooms. There was a desk with telephones, typewriter, and next to the typewriter a dictaphone transcribing machine. On the desk, just under the curved, green-shaded lamp, a cylinder of black and shiny wax awaited her. She slipped it on to the transcriber, pulled a pair of ear-phones over her head, poised her hands upon the keyboard of her typewriter and presently was typing at great speed while the cylinder, slowly turning on its roller, transmitted the faint voice of Gratton Matching into her ears.

Entirely concentrated, she typed, paused, listened, typed again. From the maddening indistinctness of the record she knew that the document she was typing was a highly confidential one. The Old Man almost grunted into his dictaphone when the matter was secret. He knew that, in the end, she would be able to make it out. Even if she could only hear an occasional snatch of words, her experience of him and his affairs, her quick-wittedness and that brilliant, half-telepathic intuition that rarely failed her, would manage the rest.

The task, though immensely exacting, was not lengthy. In less than half-an-hour, she took off the ear-phones and re-read what she had typed. Fixed into the surface of her desk was a ball, which she rang; three short whirs. Then she got up and walked over to the hearth.

The door opened and a young brown giant of a man came in. "Eddie!" she cried. "Hullo, girl!" He stood there, smiling at her, very light on his feet for all his huge bulk. His deep-set, slightly blood-shot eyes held that hunger for her that she adored because it so profoundly disturbed her. His leather helmet made his head smaller but his leather coat, flung open, added width to his already massive shoulders. The room vibrated faintly as he bore down upon her.

"No, Ed—not in office hours, dear boy!" She put the desk between them but her eyes hung upon him, glorying in his height that, tall as he was, overtopped her by some inches. "I wondered if you'd be here tonight. I suppose you're flying with that?" She touched the finished typescript.

"Daresay. My orders were just 'a packet.' Old Man's in a devil's games and let the boys know the fans are behind them. Nothing spurs athletes to activity more than large crowds and the two top teams here should be able to mop up with most any club if given proper support.

Watch your cigarette butts, Mr. Smoker!

The fire at the old Model School Wednesday afternoon was attributed to a lighted cigarette being carelessly tossed into a pile of rubbish in the basement.

If this had occurred at night it is impossible to say what the loss would have been. As it was the blaze was discovered before it had made much headway and was extinguished before damage resulted.

Fire is indispensable in the daily life of people in all parts of the world, but when carelessly handled it becomes one of the most destructive agencies known to mankind.

Watch your abandoned cigar and cigarette butts, Mr. Smoker, and contribute your bit toward eliminating as many hazards as possible.

THEY'RE GUNNING FOR 'ACCIDENTS'!

A new accident prevention bureau has been organized in Chicago's police department, with a special squad detailed to photograph as many accidents as possible, with a view to determining causes of smashups. Policemen Arthur Peterson (left) and John Carlson are shown waiting for something exciting to happen.

ABOUT TOWN

If "short-selling" is necessary to stimulate the stock market, then some of the boys who have been bitten by the bears wish the Senate would find a way to stop it.

Testifying before the Banking committee investigating activities of the New York Stock Exchange, Richard Whitney, president, declared short-selling necessary to the general conduct of business.

In other words he believes artificial stimulation of stocks is of benefit to the thousands of people who invest their money in this field of finance, forgetting perhaps the enormous losses suffered by those unacquainted with such tactics.

Short selling may be beneficial to the boys higher up, but to those holding the bag, it is nothing more than a baneful nightmare that has caused this country the worst economic eruption experienced in the history of high finance.

Veterans of Foreign Wars are perfecting an organization in Greenville. This news will be welcomed by the numbers of Pitt county men who have seen service in foreign countries, and that they will support the organization is assured.

Veterans of Foreign Wars have led the fight for payment of adjusted compensation certificates, and plan an unrelenting campaign until they have accomplished their purpose.

This is the first time they have attempted to organize in this immediate part of the state, and it is gratifying that Greenville should be among the first cities to get a post.

In a few days now musicians of Greenville high school will go to Greensboro to participate for statewide honors in the contest there. The distinction of going to the Gate City was won in the district contest here last Saturday when the high school walked away with a majority of honors. The district race has been captured by Greenville for the last three years, and this is indicative of the splendid training which the youngsters are receiving under direction of Miss Ona Shindler and Prof. Eugene Robeson.

Development in this field of culture has been a source of much gratification to patrons of the school who will do all in their power to continue the good work in years to come.

Getting on better terms with citizens in other parts of the county is the object of meetings which the Kiwanis club is holding out of the city from time to time.

Sometime ago the club went to Fountain and it is planned to go to Grimesland next week.

Gatherings of this kind should do much towards bringing the people in closer touch with one another and other organizations should adopt a similar plan of contact.

If ever there was a time when the people needed to pull together for their mutual advancement that time is now, and the closer they set to one another through meetings of this kind the better they should be able to cooperate for recovery from the unusual economic situation confronting all sections.

Greenville, in spite of the fact that league ball has been impossible the last two years, is having the opportunity of witnessing some mighty fine games because of the splendid organization developed by the high school and college this season.

Coach Ralph Deal, in spite of the two defeats his team received, believes he has one of the tastiest clubs in this section, and holds out hope of winning the majority of games played.

Coach "Soup" Porter, high school coach, not only believes he has a good team, but he knows it. His boys have captured two out of three conference games played this season and will be put to a crucial test this afternoon against Roanoke Rapids, generally credited as the strongest team in this immediate part of the state.

Blue Mold Hits Falkland Hard

(By J. F. PARKER, Jr.)
 Falkland, April 22.—Blue Mold has struck Falkland township full blast. It has already been discovered on many of the tobacco beds in the community, and due to the fact that many people do not understand exactly what Blue Mold is, its damage to the tobacco crop in this township can hardly be estimated.

Old Haywood Williams, a typical southern negro, and champion barbecue cooker of Falkland, expressed the vague idea that some people have about Blue Mold, yesterday. "I hears 'em all talking 'bout dese here Blue Moles," said Old Haywood. "I ain't never seen none myself. I allus hearn talk 'bout de groun' hog too, an' I been here gwine on seventy years an' I ain't never seen none uv dese here grey moles, dat de white folks sets traps fo' in de garden, an' I believe de only sho' way dey goin' to git rid o dese here Blue Moles is to set some er dem traps on de backer beds and ketch 'em."

EDITORIAL
AN APPRECIATION
The close contact existing between the citizens of Greenville and the student body of the high school has again been proved. During the week approximately one hundred dollars was raised through efforts of business men to equip the Greenville high school ball club. So far this year the team has won each of its conference games, but has appeared to disadvantage because of a lack of equipment. In the immediate future the team will appear in grey uniforms trimmed in green, and will make a more creditable appearance. The ball club and every student of the high school genuinely appreciates this fine piece of work, and hereby wish to express appreciation to Mr. K. W. Cobb, who initiated this splendid movement, to the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs—and to every individual who made the new equipment possible. We thank you for your wholehearted cooperation and interest.

ON GOING TO GREENSBORO
Greenville high school has proved her superiority in the realm of music. Our town and those of us who are not particularly musical are proud of our school's record. Miss Shindler and Mr. Robeson have been creditably rewarded for the hard work which they have put forth for many months. In a few days our representatives will go to Greensboro to compete there in the state-wide contest. We hope, of course, that they will come back having won first place in every number in which they compete. We know our representatives are capable of giving fine music, and we feel that they are also capable of conducting themselves, while they are visitors in another town, in a manner which would not reflect on the school.

That, in its way, is quite as important as the fact that they are competing in music. Surey we shouldn't like the word to come back that students of our school had conducted themselves improperly. Elizabeth Musselwhite—11.

Senior Play Tonight
The senior class play, "Sky Train," will be presented tonight in the Greenville high school auditorium at eight o'clock. This melodrama has been in rehearsal for several weeks under the direction of Mrs. Jessie Picklesimer and Miss Mary Ellen Powell, and promises a splendid performance.

Mystery permeates the entire play, and the excellent interpretation of character along with the physical paraphernalia which tends to the mystery make this possible. A storm at sea, a seizure, and a death add to the tenseness created by the author. A very effective set has been constructed, and onlookers will get the illusion of a ship moving in the air. The cast includes: Samia Blair, leading lady and secret service agent, played by Elizabeth Ferguson; Larry Henley, leading man and intelligence officer, John Blanchard; Mr. Lawlor, first mate, Dan Wright; Nita, French maid, Rex Allen; Mrs. Ashley, passenger, Margaret Bostic; Bernice Ashley, her daughter, Janice McGowan; Rawson, telegraph operator, James Harris; Slade, spiritualistic medium, Stanley Seago; Hartigan, second mate, Perry King; Dennison Wolf, secret service agent, Clarence Whichard; Pennyacker, world wide banker, Marlon Blount; Captain Minor, captain of Sky Bird, Aubrey Etheridge.

Greenville Delegation Visits Kinston
On Thursday, April 21, Greenville high school representatives journeyed to Kinston, where they were the guests of the Kinston high school throughout the day. Those who made the trip were: Ed and Louis Skinner, seniors; George Willard, Jr., and Harold Sugg, juniors; Tom Wilson and Helen McGinnis, sophomores; and Rosamond Vandye and Helen Foley, freshmen.

These delegates will make an oral report in the near future on their observations. A similar delegation from Kinston and Goldsboro has already visited the local school. The purpose of these intra-city visitations is an effort to improve each school system.

list of marshals for the high school was picked out by Mrs. Luther Herring, custodian of grades at the high school. Marshals are chosen on a basis of scholarship during the first semester. Their duty is primarily that of ushering at all school occasions, particularly at commencement. Marshals are always admitted free to any school performance at which they serve.

From the junior class nine members were chosen. Two of these, Martha Scoville and George Willard, Jr., who will act as chief marshals, have made 1's on all their work for the past year. Other junior marshals are Harold Sugg, Ada Hearne, Charles Shuff, Mildred Herring, Jim Slay, Laurine Skinner, Ruth Wood. The five sophomore marshals are Ben Herring, Tolle Williams, Berta Arnold, Margaret Eakes, Lewellyn Thornton.

Chapel Program Wednesday
During the chapel program Wednesday the senior play cast gave a sketch of the senior play, "Sky Train," to give the students some idea what it would be like.

Since our school was honored Wednesday by the Kinston delegates for the visitation, Mr. Rose introduced them and gave them a hearty welcome. He also congratulated them on their piano solo in the district musical contest. Besides his congratulations to the Kinston school, he added his congratulations to the Greenville high school for their successful efforts in the music contest in which they won eleven out of eighteen first places.

He stated that the Greenville high school had made much progress in its musical department since last year and that he hoped it would progress as much next year.

Greenville Loses Golf Match.
On Wednesday, April 20, the Greenville high school golf team, sponsored by Mrs. Luther Herring, journeyed to Rocky Mount to play the superior team on their course. The final count was 11 to 9 in Rocky Mount's favor.

Those who played for Greenville made a splendid record against Rocky Mount's more experienced team, and one of the best high school golf teams in the east. The Greenville team is composed of Ben Herring, Neal Herring, Frank Parks, Howard Summerell, Louis S. Ficklen, Billy Morton, and Thornton Meeks.

New Uniforms for Ball Team
Coach Porter announced Wednesday in chapel that the high school baseball team would appear in new uniforms very shortly.

The new outfits which will replace overalls, rags, and other makeshifts of apparel, will be powder-blue grey trimmed in Irish green. The caps and stockings are also green, and Greenville is written across the front of the shirt in green letters. This "ensemble" will add prestige and pep to a team which bids to be a championship aggregation.

These uniforms were made possible through the efforts of Mr. K. W. Cobb, the Rotary and Kiwanis club and other business men of Greenville.

First Place in Music Contest
At the district music contest, held in the high school auditorium Saturday, April 16, the local high school music departments under the direction of Miss Ona Shindler and Mr. E. T. Robeson, again won first place among the B class schools in this district by taking eleven of eighteen first places.

First places won by Greenville were: Mixed chorus, Girls' Glee club, girls' trio, mixed quartet, soprano solo, baritone solo, boys' un-changed voice solo, band, orchestra, clarinet and trombone numbers. Greenville placed second in alto solo, bass solo, and boys' quartet. The Boys' Glee club was given honorable mention.

Perhaps the most perfect number presented Saturday was "Fairy Folk" by the local Girls' Glee club. The precision and interpretation of this number was superb. The first place in each case was a number of considerable merit, and schools winning first places are to be congratulated.

The judges of the contest were Mr. Frank Hufty of Wilson and Miss Eugenia Thomas of East Carolina Teachers College.
Those winning first places will enter the state contest on April 28-29 at Greensboro. Girls' trio, all soloists, and the mixed quartet will leave for Greensboro next Wednesday, the 27th, and will be followed the next day by the other winning groups.
Last year Greenville placed second in the state contest, and this year every effort is being made to better that record.

Kinston Delegates Visit Greenville
Wednesday morning, April 20, representatives of the Kinston high school arrived for the proposed visitation between the two schools. They represented the various classes of their high school and were shown around and entertained during the day by one student from each of our classes. The delegates were: Carl Dupree, senior, Herbert Garbis, junior, Sam Sugg and Amre Hood, sophomores, Catherine Mewborne and Virginia Simmons, freshmen. They were accompanied by Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Booth of Kinston. The hosts and hostesses of Greenville were: Louis Skinner, Harold Sugg, Berta Arnold, Helen Foley, and Helen McGinnis.

A special chapel program was featured in their honor in which a part of the senior play, "The Sky Train," was shown. After this Mr. Rose introduced the representatives to the school from the stage.

BLUE MOLD Situation Serious In Pitt County

During the past week we have sent one of our representatives in every section of the county to ascertain what damage has already been done, and to remind the growers of the seriousness of this disease.

The effect on and destruction of tobacco plant beds by BLUE MOLD in practically every section of Pitt County is far more serious today than ten days ago, and unless the tobacco growers follow instructions of the State and County Agricultural Departments in their methods of cure and prevention of BLUE MOLD the situation will become even more serious and result in the greatest loss to the farmers of the county than they have ever experienced in any one year.

Directions for Control of Blue Mold as Recommended by the State Extension Service and E. F. Arnold, County Farm Agent:

"The best known control measure is to spray with Bordeaux mixture. Spray every four days and spray thoroughly. If the disease is present, spray every two days. Begin spraying NOW before the disease gets started in your plant bed.

"Use a sprayer that will put out as fine mist and under as high pressure as possible. Direct the spray downward and toward the plants at such an angle that the mist will roll upward from the soil and reach the lower sides of the leaves. The entire plant must be covered. Approximately one quart of spray material will be required for each square yard of plant bed where the plants are large and thick.

"TO MAKE 50 GALLONS OF BORDEAUX MIXTURE: Dissolve 2 pounds of copper sulphate (Bluestone) in 2 gallons of water. This can best be done by placing the copper sulphate in a thin cloth and suspending it in the top part of the water. Use only wooden earthenware, glass, or copper vessels for the copper sulphate solution. Next, mix 3 pounds of high grade hydrated lime (Plaster's lime) with 3 gallons of water. After the copper sulphate has dissolved, add about 38 gallons of water to the copper sulphate solution. Strain the 3 gallons of lime water through two or more thicknesses of plant bed cloth and add slowly to the copper sulphate solution, stirring well at the same time. Add enough water (about 7 gallons) to bring the entire solution up to 50 gallons. It is now ready to use and should be used immediately. If any is left over, pour it out and do not use the next day as it will lose strength on standing.

"Poison for flea-beetles may be added to this Bordeaux solution where needed. Mix together 1-4 pound of Paris Green and 1-4 pounds of Arsenate of lead and add to the 50 gallons of the Bordeaux. This is the most effective flea-beetle control we know of. CAUTION: Do not use this poison for flea-beetle more than once per week.

"Remove covers from plant beds on warm sunny days to keep the plants as dry as possible. Put covers back on at night if there is danger of frost."

We have ordered a second shipment of BLUESTONE which will be received within the next few days, and which we are offering to our friends at cost in an effort to assist them in checking this disease.

We urge and suggest that the farmers act now as tomorrow may be too late.

Yours to serve,
Greenville Fertilizer Co.

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, April 22.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 4 to 7 points on trade and commission house buying. July sold at 6.32.

Houses with Liverpool connections were among the buyers here at the start, while there was also some buying believed to be for the far east, but the demand was supplied by southern and local selling and offerings increased slightly right after the call on the lower opening of the stock market. Active months reacted within a point or two of yesterday's closing quotations but offerings were well enough taken on the setback to give the market a steady undertone at the end of the first half hour. Liverpool cables reported local and continental buying in that market on the easier sterling and said there was an improved demand for cotton cloths from India but that many offers were unworkable.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, April 2.—(AP)—Stop loss selling gave a lively tumble to grain prices today, with corn and oats both reaching new bottom records for the season.

Part of the selling of wheat appeared to be liquidation of a large line for a leading speculator. Export business in North American wheat was again of disappointing volume.

STOCK MARKET

New York, April 22.—(AP)—A fresh relapse in the stock market virtually cancelled the recovery of the previous session during the earlier trading today, but the list steadied after midday.

Selling was in meagre volume in the early trading, but the list dropped abruptly. With professionals apparently cowed by the Washington investigation, and the public almost completely on the sidelines, the market was thin affair.

Declines of 2 to 3 points carried such issues as U. S. Steel, American Can, Standard of N. J., Air Reduction and case to new lows for the bear market. American Telephone, Union Pacific and Norfolk and Western lost about four points, and issues off 2 to 3 at the lowest included Public Service of N. J., Consolidated Gas, Eastman, Allied Chemical, Coca-Cola, American Tobacco B, Liggett and Myers B, and others. Pressure subsided by early afternoon, however, and recoveries of from fractions to a point were numerous.

Wall Street was somewhat encouraged by the weekly bank statements, showing further results from the credit expansion program. The fact that the expected reduction in the New York rediscount rate failed to materialize, however, while not regarded as important in banking quarters, may have prompted some quick profit taking. Furthermore, the slight gain of $2,000,000 in currency in circulation was regarded as indicating some fresh tendency toward hoarding in certain localities, which made speculators for the rise curious. Some of the early selling looked like further liquidation of collateral loans and when such selling appears, speculators for the rise are quick to retire.

Wall Street was somewhat uneasy over the approach of next Tuesday's dividend action on U. S. Steel, and forecasts that the 50-cent quarterly payment on the common would be omitted were widely circulated.

market since the summer of 1921. "When I first started it was pretty skinny," he continued in a low voice. "I had on the long side about 125,000 shares at one time."

"You trade on both sides?"

"Yes."

"What volume did you ever have on the short side?"

"Approximately the same," said Brush referring to the 125,000 share total.

Gray asked the maximum value of Brush's holdings.

"The trader consulted an assistant and then testified that in August, 1929, the "liquidating value" of his holdings was $15,000,000.

"Were you ever short during the peak of 1929?" Gray asked.

"I don't think I was ever short at that time," he replied.

Brush drew laughter as he explained a short sale which he conceded "depressed the market" and added "I am going to get shot when I get back to New York anyway so I might as well tell you."

The factor Brush pointed out was where a short sale is made when some other operator is liquidating a large block.

"Suppose," he said, "his sales have sent the price down from 30 to 29, and he has only disposed of part of his block."

"I come in and offer 5.00 at 29.7-8. The chances are that makes the supply greater than the demand and I've had an influence on depressing the price."

Committee members left their seats to lean over the table as Brush took a chart to explain trading operations.

He said there were times when the short interest increased even on a rising market.

"There are so many ratifications I don't think you can apply any rule," he added.

The chart did show an increase in the short interest from November 1 to January 7 on a declining market.

"If there is twice as much supply as demand," Brush said, "then the market goes down."

market since the summer of 1921. "When I first started it was pretty skinny," he continued in a low voice. "I had on the long side about 125,000 shares at one time."

"You trade on both sides?"

"Yes."

"What volume did you ever have on the short side?"

"Approximately the same," said Brush referring to the 125,000 share total.

Gray asked the maximum value of Brush's holdings.

"The trader consulted an assistant and then testified that in August, 1929, the "liquidating value" of his holdings was $15,000,000.

"Were you ever short during the peak of 1929?" Gray asked.

"I don't think I was ever short at that time," he replied.

Brush drew laughter as he explained a short sale which he conceded "depressed the market" and added "I am going to get shot when I get back to New York anyway so I might as well tell you."

The factor Brush pointed out was where a short sale is made when some other operator is liquidating a large block.

"Suppose," he said, "his sales have sent the price down from 30 to 29, and he has only disposed of part of his block."

"I come in and offer 5.00 at 29.7-8. The chances are that makes the supply greater than the demand and I've had an influence on depressing the price."

Committee members left their seats to lean over the table as Brush took a chart to explain trading operations.

He said there were times when the short interest increased even on a rising market.

"There are so many ratifications I don't think you can apply any rule," he added.

The chart did show an increase in the short interest from November 1 to January 7 on a declining market.

"If there is twice as much supply as demand," Brush said, "then the market goes down."
