End of Century Club Meets.
The End of the Century Club held a most delightful meeting Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 at the home of Mrs. R. L. Carr.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. L. Fleming, who presided over a short business session, after which some most interesting current events were given by the members and guests. This part of the program is always most enjoyable and instructive, and brings out much interesting discussions.

The program of the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Jennie Howard. Her subject was Easter Customs in different lands. Mrs. Howard gave a most delightful paper on this subject, telling in a graphic way the celebration of Easter in Jerusalem, in Rome and their coming to our own country. She told of the lovely Moravian service held every year in Winston-Salem. Her description of the Easter time in the Holy Land was most interesting and the magnificent and colorful celebration in Rome was described in a wonderful manner.

Mrs. Howard used some beautiful pictures to illustrate her paper and this helped to impress the scenes on the minds and hearts of her hearers.

At the close of the program the hostess served a salad course.

The guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Marianna Murphy and Miss Eunice Pearsall.

The club adjourned to meet May at the Woman's Club. This will be the last meeting of the club year.

After a discussion of many important matters it was decided that we meet again at an early date and have a program on Citizenship. There is no civic question that deserves more careful and prayerful consideration by the church women of America than this subject of citizenship. Vision and prayer are indeed indispensable but they are not sufficient. God does not do for us what we can do for ourselves. There must be organized co-operative work as well as prayer. Women, come join us, we need your help.

AYDEN NEWS

Have Narrow Escape.
Last Monday a party composed of Messrs. Bill Moore, John and Eugene Smith, and Stancel Hodges were fishing in the waters of Gardner's Fords where the water is both deep and black. Mr. Hodges was standing on the trunk of a fallen tree that projected far out over the water, when a specimen of the finny tribe struck his mind, the shock was so sudden and while winding him in during the excitement he lost his balance and fell overboard where the water was very deep. He was about ready to go down the last time when rescued by his comrades, who took him to the banks and rendered first aid. Eugene Smith who is his younger days belonged to the Boy Scouts, gave valuable assistance. The fish was of the striped bass variety and would have weighed twelve and a half pounds.

Heavy Loss By Fire.

Sallie Bryant, a very industrious barber, was out joy-riding in her new Chrysler last Tuesday night, accompanied by her neighbor Aunt Hattie Gardner. While on the highway near Cannon's Cross Roads the car caught on fire and in a few minutes was enveloped in flames. The occupants had a narrow escape for their lives. The car was a total wreck. Aunt Hattie said forever hereafter she would walk or prefer driving a mule. We understand there was no insurance on the car.

Store Presents Window Display on Washington

An attractive display in connection with observance of the anniversary of the inauguration of George Washington as president of the United States has been arranged in one of the display windows of Blount-Harvey Co., Evans street department store.

The window is appropriately decorated with a background of bunting in bicentennial colors and contains several pictures of Washington. Bicentennial flags are used in profusion throughout the window, conveying a keen reminder of the nation's celebration of the birth of the first president.

In the center of the display is a miniature reproduction of Mount Vernon, beautiful home of the first president. The architectural style of the house is faithfully portrayed in miniature and adds contrast to the effectiveness of the display.

The decoration in hats and dresses is artistically interspersed with the decorations. The display was arranged by W. L. Nesbit and Roy Coburn.

The nation will celebrate the anniversary of Washington's inauguration tomorrow, and the display will do much to remind the hundreds of people visiting the business district of the important event.

Millions of bottles of "pop" and imitation "fruit drinks" are actually flavored with chemicals! They don't contain one drop of real fruit juice! When you drink them, you drink mixtures of chemicals, synthetic concoctions made in imitation of pure fruit juices. Do you want to drink chemicals? Do you want your children to drink them?

ABOUT TOWN

Pitt county has a plethora of candidates for the forthcoming primary and the public should have little trouble choosing favorites.

Some mighty fine material is represented in each group and the race promises to be the tightest in years.

Voters should not forget to check up on the qualifications of each candidate and see that he measures up to their conception of what a representative of government must be.

Men have oftentimes been placed in office without due consideration of their mental and moral qualities, and this has been largely responsible for wholesale corruption of office reported from one part of the country to the other.

Members of the Kiwanis club go to Grimesland tonight for the second out-of-town meeting of the year.

The first meeting of the kind was held in Fountain several weeks ago and resulted in a better understanding of conditions affecting the two sections of the county.

It is the purpose of the out-of-town gatherings to bring the people of other sections in closer personal touch with the capital and enable them to pull together for economic recovery.

Other clubs should find it to their benefit to adopt this kind of program. This is the time when a thorough understanding of conditions is needed by all the people, and when that has been accomplished it should not be many years before Pitt county again finds herself in the grip of better times.

The compulsory school attendance law makes it a crime for people to keep their children away from school, and this has done much toward furthering the end of education in this state.

Pitt county is not troubled with this kind of violation to any great extent, but recently parents have been brought into court to explain why their children were not permitted to attend school.

In the majority of cases, the parents were released under agreement that they would abide by the law in the future and their children were again given a chance to improve their mental condition.

In cases where children are not properly clothed or are handicapped by bad health, the law deals leniently with the parents, but where there is no excuse for the violation it is not so easy to get out of the toils of the law.

Improvement in the field of education has been largely responsible for the high position which North Carolina has found in the public life of the nation at this time, and if this honor is held, it is necessary that all public school laws be fully enforced.

It is to be hoped not a single violation of this kind will be reported in the county in future years, and that the schools will continue to enjoy this high rating in the field of education.

First plans in connection with the Democratic presidential drive have been perfected in Pitt, and W. E. Hooks, chairman of the executive committee, is looking forward to success.

Township primaries will be held in each township of the county June 4th when delegates to the county convention will be elected.

The county convention will be held June 11 at the court house in Greenville. This will be for the election of delegates to the state convention at Raleigh June 16 and for the transaction of any other business that may come up for consideration.

The people should make it a point to attend the primaries in each part

YOU CAN'T MARRY

By Julia Cleft-Addams

Synopsis: A crash—and Eddie Townsend's car crumples against a bus. He has just married George Revell, and she and her cousin Jenny get out of the back of the car, to find him lying on the pavement. Besides alarm over Eddie's condition, George is worried because the accident will call attention to her marriage, which she hopes to keep secret because she will lose her job if her employer hears she is married. Her only hope is to pretend that Jenny is the bride, which she may be able to do successfully, since they both have the same name. Jenny has agreed to let George use this deception if necessary, as she is indebted to George for kindness and support and also because nothing matters much now that she believes Garth Aveney is in love with George instead of her. But she dislikes to be in a false position.

Chapter 11 JENNY FEELS MENACE "Is he dead?" Either she or George, just behind her, asked it. She couldn't honestly say which. "Oh, Lord, no!" The kneeling man sounded so professional she guessed he was a doctor. "Cut about a lot, of course, but no bones broken. Concussion, probably. Isn't he Townsend, the pilot? Eddie Townsend, the star flying-man?"

There was a ripple of interest in the swelling crowd as Jenny nodded. A policeman thrust his way into the center. He peered at George and at Jenny, both down in the dust beside the doctor, helping him with rough first-aid, tearing George's silk scarf into strips. "You two ladies with the gentleman?" he inquired. "Mr. Eddie Townsend, did I hear? I've sent for the ambulance." He pushed toward the street, and the doctor followed him.

George twitched at Jenny's sleeve; her rich color had gone and the bruise above her eye stood out balefully.

"There's still a chance, Jen!" "Honestly, Eddie, it's not so terribly bad if Eddie has no bones broken. Concussion isn't dangerous!" Then something in George's look checked her. "Good-bye to my job!" rang in her memory. And now "still a chance?"

Jenny, flushing, bent again over Eddie. "There is the ambulance!" announced the doctor, returning. "Now we'll soon get him put to rights!" He glanced from George, who got to her feet, to Jenny, still huddled down by Eddie. "I take it you'll go with the patient, Miss—or—Mrs.—?"

"You go, Jenny, will you? I'll have to give our names and addresses to the policeman."

"That's right, miss." The policeman had returned and was opening his note-book. "The ambulance will look after the gentleman."

"You'll go with Ed, then, Jenny?"

Jenny bit her lip. She was not unwilling—left alone, she would have offered, anyway; for although of the county and in that way give expression to their desires in the forthcoming political battle.

With the county into the throes of one of the most severe economic situations in the memory of the oldest inhabitants, the Democrats hope to sweep opposition from the White House and attempt to restore better conditions.

This can be done only through the loyal support of each member, and it is the desire of leaders that everybody rally to the cause and help it come out victorious.

With tobacco production cut almost in half by the shortage of plants, farmers are going to find it necessary to give their attention to the cultivation of more of the kind of crops they consume at home all the year around.

It is impossible to estimate the outcome of the tobacco crop at this time, but if the situation is as serious as farm experts believe the shortage is going to be probably the most pronounced in years.

Growers could do nothing better than store their outhouses with food crops and thereby insure themselves of plenty to eat in spite of money shortage.

Still, the money crop may pan out better than expected and if they should, well the man that produces food crops will have just that much to the good. The experiment will hurt nobody and will certainly do everybody some good.

Can George keep her secret with out involving Jenny? Garth meets Jenny, tomorrow, and adds to her worries.

Raleigh—Henry Stevens, Jr., national commander of the American Legion, during a brief visit here complimented the work of the North Carolina Department in its war against unemployment. The drive in the state has found jobs for 20,518 to date.

Respectfully yours, DAL COX

Eddie was still unconscious, she had the fancy that he needed one of them near him. Only, of course he must want George. . . . But George was withdrawing into the background of this business just as she had withdrawn into the rear of the car, and she was pushing Jenny—oh, very gently, but it was pushing!—into a limelight that was not hers. . . . George touched her arm.

"Jenny!" pleaded her voice, very low. "Honey! Please!" Jenny nodded. Impossible to refuse. She made her way out of the crowd towards the ambulance, now drawing up against the curb. By the open door she stood waiting for them to carry Eddie in. She looked along the side of the ambulance—the bus was being moved away, and another was coming up into its place. On the rear platform was the young clerk who had watched Eddie and George being married.

Jenny recognized him at once—he had followed them out of the building and had stood staring while Eddie started the car. Even while she hoped that he would not get off, she saw him drop alertly off the step and mingle with the crowd.

"Now then, move along, please!" The crowd was being forced apart to make a passage for the ambulance-men who were carrying Eddie out. George and the policeman had withdrawn to a doorway and Jenny noted the turn of George's head as she followed the official pencil moving across the official page. The clerk was not to be seen but he was no doubt among the loiterers.

Would he gossip, wondered Jenny miserably? And then, more miserably still she wished he would. If he did, surely all this secrecy would be at an end!

The waiting-room had cool green walls and green sunblinds. The walls matched Jenny's dress so exactly that she felt as though she were a fixture in the room; it was as if she had always been there.

They had taken Eddie straight out of the ambulance and upstairs and a kindly woman had ushered her in here. Since then she had seen no one.

She dragged her thoughts to Eddie. The doctor who had come with them in the ambulance had been immensely reassuring—had laughed aside her fears, Eddie, he said, was much too tough a customer to be permanently damaged by taking a header through a windshield! And the same, Jenny was afraid. Something menaced—she knew it even though she could not name it.

The door was flung open. Jenny started to her feet, expecting news of Eddie or even Eddie himself, patched and bandaged. But it was George who swung in.

"Here I am, pet. . . . Don't gape! You look as though you'd thought never to see me again!" "I'd sort of forgotten you," stammered Jenny. But it was George's appearance that astonished her so.

George, whom she had left disheveled and hatless, had provided herself from somewhere with another hat, a light summer coat, new gloves and stockings; except for the bruise on her temple and the rouge laid over her unusual pallor, she looked—entirely herself.

"Yes, I whisked round a bit!" she laughed, deftly straightening Jenny's hat. "I had to dash back home to get these clothes—someone very decently gave me a lift and as soon as I was presentable I slipped over to the City Hall and asked him to keep quiet about the marriage. He was quite sympathetic—said his clerks were sworn never to gossip, anyway, and he thought they were all reliable."

"But what did you tell the policeman?"

TO THE GOOD CITIZENS OF PITT COUNTY

My conduct as Superintendent of the County's Prison Camp, during the years that I occupied that position, has been fully vindicated in the Superior Court of Pitt County. At all times and under all circumstances, I have endeavored to faithfully perform the duties of my position to the end that people of this good county might receive the most benefit. In the performance of these duties it was but natural that I should incur the enmity of those who, in the line of my duty, it became necessary for me to discharge, and that they should attempt to besmirch my good name. A factor beyond my control, for as has been truly said, "If we do not yet watch the hour, There never yet was human power which could evade, if unforgiven, The patient search and vigil long, Of him who treasures up a wrong." I beg to express my deep appreciation and since thanks for the expressions of good will and the co-operation which I have had from those of you who have tendered your aid and assistance in my behalf. Your faith strengthened me. It is my utmost desire that I continue to be deserving of your confidence. Respectfully yours, C. B. FANCHER.

Reds Take Pirates for Ride in Hard-Fought Battle

DODGERS WIN FROM PHILLIES

By GAYLE TALBOT
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Seven of the eight National League clubs double-shuffled their outfields before the start of the current race, and there is reason to believe the Cincinnati Reds picked up the winning hand.

In Babe Herman, Chick Hafey and Taylor Douthitt the Reds appear to have the greatest combination in the circuit, barring possibly the holdover outfield of the Wander brothers and Comorosky at Pittsburgh.

None of the six other contenders thus far has been able to place a trio in the field to compare in effectiveness with Dan Howley's big three. Herman and Hafey are knocking the cover off the ball, as was to be expected, and Douthitt is upholding his reputation as one of the greatest fly hawks in the game an important item in the spacious Cincinnati park.

They were the big guns yesterday as the Reds opened at Pittsburgh with a 7 to 6 victory. Herman knocked in three runs with a homerun and a single. Hafey smacked a double and two singles and Douthitt came up with a pair of singles. Between them, they accounted for seven of the team's twelve hits off four Pirate pitchers.

The Brooklyn Dodgers broke a five-game losing streak at the Phillies' expense, 11 to 5. Max Carey's pupils finally got their batting eyes and pounded four pitchers for 14 safeties, including home-runs by Frederick and Rosenfeld. The celebrated "Dizzy" Dean made his maiden start for the St. Louis Cardinals and went out after five innings under a hail of hits as the league leading Chicago Cubs won another, 12 to 7. Lance Richbourg, substitute outfielder, drove in four of the Cubs' runs with his double and two singles and scored twice.

Cold weather held up the Giants' opener at Boston.

In the American League, the Washington Senators inflicted more casualties on Connie Mack's pitching staff in scoring a 10 to 4 triumph. Rube Walberg was punched for 11 hits and seven runs before he retired in the seventh, and Deshong had little better luck.

The Yankees fell on Danny MacFayden, ace of the Boston staff, for 10 hits to take the opener with the Red Sox, 5 to 1. Lefty Gomez pitched a brilliant game, allowing only three singles, to achieve his third straight victory.

Cleveland ran its winning streak to five straight with an 11 to 2 decision over the luckless Chicago White Sox. Earl Averill featured the Indians' assault on three hurlers with a homerun and a single. Detroit's prize rookie, Whitlow Wyatt, met his first reverse when the St. Louis Browns jumped him for seven hits and five runs in the first four innings and the nield on behind George Blaesholder to win, 5 to 4.

PATRIOTS AND TWINS AHEAD IN PIEDMONT

Charlotte, April 29.—(AP)—The Piedmont League today settled down to the long pennant grind, with Winston-Salem and Greensboro holding an early edge by reason of their initial slugging acts.

Today and tonight the home town openings will be settled, the winner of Judge Braham's attendance cup will be known, and the boys will get down to a routine of base hits and pitchers' duels.

Fresh from two victories over Durham, the Greensboro Patriots inaugurate the night season with their first home stand against Raleigh. With warmer weather in prospect than was available opening day, and the night advantage, they were expected to better the attendance mark of 1,232 set by Charlotte Wednesday.

Other games today sent Durham to Wilmington, Charlotte to Winston-Salem and High Point to Asheville.

As on the opening day, the second day of the season saw more base hits than big league pitching. The Charlotte Hornets, smarting under a 2-1 defeat Wednesday, took the field with Bass and Campbell for 11 hits, combined them with 11 bases on balls and beat the Asheville Tourists 13-3. S. Ettemire allowed the mountaineers eight scattered hits and two walks.

Yesterday's Stars

Johnny Frederick, Dodgers—Collected home run, double and two singles against Phil's pitching.

Babe Herman, Reds—Aided in defeat of Pirates with home run and single, driving in three runs.

George Watkins, Cardinals—Found Cub hurling easy and collected double and four singles.

Vernon Gomez, Yankees—Held Red Sox to three hits.

Fred Marberry, Senators—His relief pitching featured victory over Athletics.

Winston-Salem again liked the offerings of High Point hurlers. The Twins got 13 safeties off Armour, Walker, Marshall and Benson, Takacah being the only Pointer able to hold them, and won their second straight, 14-4. Four Pointer hurlers went to the showers in the fifth, when Winston tallied eight times.

Greensboro hit Dudley eight times and Borgman, Patriot short stop, did it four times by himself, as they defeated Durham the second straight time 8-1. Kleinhan prevented the Bulls from bunching their nine safeties.

There was less work for the official scorer at Raleigh, where the Caps turned the tables on Wilmington, 5-1. Ray Francis, veteran pitcher, held the Patriots to seven hits, all scattered. A bunt which Lindley ran out, a double by Noman and an infield out gave the Pirates their lone run in the second. Raleigh got but 6 hits off Frank Bennett, but put them together better.

Fire Destroys Whitney Hangar

Roosevelt Field, L. I. N. Y., April 28.—(AP)—Fire destroyed one of seven hangars and ten airplanes at this field today with a loss totaling $185,000.

The hangar, formerly known as the John Hay Whitney hangar and later designed as hangar "A," was consumed by flames in less than an hour following an explosion of undetermined cause at 9:10 a. m.

Carl Schneider, former German air pilot, was taken to a hospital at Mineola badly burned. He and John D. Egurre, who was slightly burned, were the only persons in the hangar at the time of the explosion. Both are mechanics.

The hangar, supposedly fire proof with concrete walls, quickly crumbled.

Schneider was working at the time on the $50,000 amphibian plane Pegasus owned by Whitney. It and another smaller plane owned by Whitney were among those destroyed.

Rush Probe of Rudisill Death

Charlotte, April 28.—(AP)—Charlotte police, although blocked in their effort to solve the mystery surrounding the death of Albert Rudisill, expressed belief today they are on the right track and shrouded their activities in more secrecy than customary since the investigation began.

Rudisill's body, dressed like a woman, with rouged cheeks and painted lips, was found hanging from a beam in the warehouse where he worked last Saturday morning. Over the eyes were heavy goggles, and a large piece of woman's underclothing had been crammed down his throat, forcing his tongue backward and completely eliminating, police said, possibility of suicide.

Three persons, seen with Rudisill about the time Friday evening when physicians said he must have died, were the principal objects of the police search.

King Levinsky to Meet Walker in Windy City

Chicago, April 29.—(AP)—Mickey Walker and King Levinsky, a pair of boys striving toward the top of the heavyweight division will collide in the most important fight of the indoor season tonight at the Chicago stadium.

The bout, a ten-rounder, means everything to both fighters, for a chance at the championship of the world may be the victor's reward. But whatever is decided by the outcome, the customers were more than usually certain of completely satisfying amount of rough and tumble fighting. Neither one knows anything but the socking method, and each has predicted a knockout victory for himself.

The engagement, critical for both, is vital to Walker. He has passed the 10 year mark, has held two world titles, and is throwing everything into one more drive toward the peak. If he is defeated, it may mean the end of his presence in the top flight.

Defeat for Levinsky, although he is only 21, with plenty of years ahead of him, would be a demoralizing setback.

The prospect of a blood and thunder battle has so steamed up the fans, that a crowd of 20,000 today seemed certain and a sellout was not out of the question. Receipts of around $70,000 were expected—splendid business for the Stadium Corporation and the fighters themselves. Each will receive 30 per cent of the net receipts, which in the even of a $70,000 gate would mean about $18,000 each.

Levinsky will have the physical advantages, including around 25 pounds in weight and nearly four inches in height. Even so, Mickey today was the favorite. He is the more polished and experienced, packs plenty of socks in each hand, and is equipped with boundless courage.

Writer Boosts Family Ideal

New York, April 28.—(AP)—Dorothy Parker would rather have babies.

Her reputation as a writer, her cynicism, her withering wit and biting sarcasm she would trade for a family of kids.

"There is something ridiculous about a woman who writes," she said.

"The only full life for a woman is married and babies... really! A woman can bear physical pain, but she can't bear mental pain."

Moreover—"A woman's life must be wrapped up in a man, and the cleverest woman on earth is the biggest fool on earth with a man."

Even in writing, Mrs. Parker insists, a woman can only write to a man.

"So," she adds innocently with her big eyes wide open, "what have I to write for? Only the wolf that you must have stumbled over at the door."

The answer to those who wonder and ask why she doesn't write more than she does in that she hates to write, that it is a lot of work for her and that she is never satisfied with what she writes—plus the conviction that a woman ought to leave writing alone.

She lost her first job as a dramatic critic because three theatrical producers—complained about her on the same day.

Her chief devotion is to Robinson, a deshed now in a hospital, having lately been chided by a larger dog.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, April 29.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 3 to 7 points on liquidating, promoted by the easiness in cables. July set at 6.05.

The decline brought in some covering and trading, but selling increased after the opening on reports of beneficial rains in the western belt and the easier ruling of the stock market.

The decline extended to 6.04 for July with all active months except May making new lows for the month and with the general market showing net losses of about 8 to 10 points at the end of the first half hour. Liverpool cables reported hedge selling and liquidation in that market and said there was a bearish sentiment in Manchester with no improvement in the demand for cotton goods or yarns.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, April 29.—(AP)—Active buying on the part of houses with eastern connections rallied the wheat market late today overcoming losses which had preceded.

Word of good export business in hard winter wheat from the United States, the first in three weeks, had a strengthening effect. Announcement of a reduction of Germany's import duty on wheat was also a late element of strength.

Wheat closed irregular 1-4 off to 1-4 up compared with yesterday's finish; corn 3-8 to 3-4 down; oats unchanged to 3-8 lower, and provisions varying from 12 decline to a rise of 2.

STOCK MARKET

New York, April 29.—(AP)—The stock market slid back to around the bottom level in 1929-32 decline today.

The list showed a little better resistance to pressure than it did during the flurry late yesterday, but losses of 1 to 2 points or more were numerous by early afternoon. Tangible news developments to account for the latest slump were lacking.

Among issues declining 1 to 2 points to new minimum levels for recent years were American Telephone, American Can, Allied Chemical, DuPont, Union Carbide, Eastman, Sears, Case, Electric Autolite and New York Central. The decline embraced all important groups including the rails, which had acted somewhat better of late. Bethlehem Steel preferred reached 11-2 to 22, a new minimum, despite maintenance of the 7 per cent dividend rate. National lead and Brown Shoe dropped several points in a thin market.

Wall Street was somewhat mystified as to the source of the latest selling, which in two days has wiped out virtually all of the gains of the preceding four days. Bankers were inclined, however, to regard the continued uncertainty surrounding the matters of federal taxation and budget balancing as bringing out further discouraged selling. Furthermore, some quarters detected institutional selling.

Suspension of the St. Louis stock exchange firm of Mark O. Steinberg and Co. was presumably an adverse factor, but there was an inclination to minimize its influence in view of the fact that it was explained that a receiver was sought merely to wind up the business.

The Federal Reserve credit expansion program failed to reflect any further loosening of credit in the part of the New York members in the weekly statement.

MIXED JURY DEADLOCKED IN HAWAII MURDER CASE

(Continued from page one) yesterday after the case had been in the jurors' hands nearly 24 hours. The seven jurors of Anglo-Saxon blood left the deliberation room to stand on a balcony while light rain was falling. The other five, three Chinese, a Portuguese and an Hawaiian, remained inside.

For a few moments the seven conversed but they could not be overheard by the watchers. Except for the racial aspect of the act, observers found nothing significant in it. Thereafter the jurors could be seen from a distance going to and from the room and moving to and from the balcony, but they exhibited no signs of heated debate and generally leaned listlessly against the balcony rail.

Late in the day Montgomery Winn of defense counsel, expressed the belief the jurors were standing either 11 to 1 or 10 to 2 for the defense and suggested to Public Prosecutor John C. Kelley that he agree to a verdict on that basis. Kelley atly rejected it.

Subsequently it was understood Winn's statement regarding the balloting was not based on definite information but on his belief that a majority of the jurors favored the defendants.

Kelley said he had learned the result of the first ballot but he declined to share his information with newspaper men.

STABS GUARD AT EXECUTION

Holmes then brandished an iron pipe, broken from a water connection, and defied the guards to take him. After efforts to conciliate him proved of no avail, Warden Tom Logan ordered the officers to use tear gas bombs to dislodge the prisoner.

Three tear gas bombs were hurled into Holmes' cell before he capitulated. As he walked out into the death row corridor he smiled faintly and puffed at a cigarette.

Yesterday Holmes inflicted a slight wound on Claude Ramey, a guard, when Harry J. W. Baldrice, another guard, and Deputy Warden W. P. Cochran took him his breakfast. The prisoner hurled at Baldrice with an unprovoked knife. Baldrice stepped aside and Ramey was wounded in the stomach. The wound was not serious. Authorities later learned the knife had been made from the handle of a water bucket and used on the stone floor of Holmes' cell. Holmes surrendered it when the guards with a tear gas

HOOPER DINES POLITICAL FOES

The 22 governors who attended with the first ladies of their respective states, emerged in high good humor, full of quips for building and inquisitive newspapermen.

Did they talk politics? "Not a pol and not a tick," said Pinchot, was spoken all night. Roosevelt and Ritchie admitted of having talked national affairs with the man they hope to supplant as White House host.

"But you know, one cannot disclose his conversations after being at the White House," observed Mr. Roosevelt. "I've been there before, you know."

All did not go off quite smoothly, however, for one of the guests failed to arrive and the remainder were kept waiting 15 minutes. It was Governor Olson of Minnesota, who when found at his hotel explained he had sent his regrets from Richmond and could not attend because he had to catch an early train. He excused himself again and the dinner proceeded without him.

After dinner, and the men's coffee and cigars in the president's study, there was a musicale presented by the scarlet coated Marine Band.

Two killed in gun battle. Thompson barricaded herself in her home. She defied more than 50 officers, taking occasional shots at them from the windows. A crowd looked on.

The police finally threw tear gas bombs into the house. Screaming the red-haired woman fled, firing a revolver. She fell mortally wounded under the fire of more than a dozen police guns.

The woman clasp a photograph of J. V. Baldwin, automobile dealer, who was sued for $12,500 for alienation of affections last October by Luther Alger, Mrs. Thompson's former husband. She formerly was secretary to the dealer.

Mrs. Thompson had been under the care of a nurse, whom she had asked to leave the house shortly before the police arrived. She had been suffering from a nervous breakdown. The pistol she used was the property of F. A. Fisher, Lincoln Heights jailer, who had been impounded by the police department (Continued)

JURY PRAISES COUNTY HOME

(Continued from page one) good. All prisoners were satisfied as to the food, and the bedding was clean and in fair shape.

Conditions at the County Home and at the convict camp could hardly have been improved upon; and we especially wish to commend Mr. J. O. Harris for the splendid up-keep of the County Home and by Commissioners that the inmates of the County Home should be given a lighter diet, such as eggs, cereals, etc., in preference to such meat.

We wish to thank the presiding Judge, the Solicitor, and other court officials for the courtesies extended to us in our work as Grand Jurors for this term.

We especially commend Judge E. H. Cramer for the expedient manner in which he disposed of the business of the court and the fair and impartial manner which he deals out justice.
