FOUR AMERICANS ARE CONVICTED AT HONOLULU

Police Stand Guard As Many Countries Prepare To Celebrate 'May Day'

PLANS GIVEN FINAL TOUCHES

First Scare is Registered at Vancouver, B. C., When Police are Informed That Communists Had Broken Into Powder Magazine; Russia is Prepared for Giant Celebration; Police Augmented at New York.

By the Associated Press
Plans for May day celebrations were given their final touches today.

In many lands police were watchful. Vancouver, B. C., registered the first scare. Police there said they were informed a raiding band of Communists and unemployed had broken into a powder magazine at Ashcroft, 175 miles away, stolen 1,000 pounds of dynamite and started for Vancouver to celebrate May Day tomorrow.

Royal Canadian mounted police started an intensive hunt for the radicals. For some days hundreds of men, defying police, have been traveling by railroad toward Vancouver without paying fares.

Railroad police were stirred to activity on receiving word of a possible demonstration at Kamloops, 300 miles east of Vancouver. They said they were warned demonstrators might commandeer trains on two main lines to reach the demonstration scene.

Russia, preparing for a rousing celebration, read a greeting from the revolutionary war council at Moscow, which urged that "the iron revolutionary discipline of the Red army" be strengthened. It warned against neglecting the nation's defense at a time when cannons are roaring in the Far East.

In France, where Sunday is election day, the minister of interior issued the customary order to guard against May Day disorder, but he said he expected no trouble.

New York police, 18,000 strong, will be on duty continuously from this morning till Monday morning. Mass meetings and parades were scheduled for today because police banned Sunday parades.

Socialists and trade unionists, with Norman Thomas speaking, planned a giant New York meeting May Day—the international Labor Day—is celebrated by many organizations.

Roosevelt Will Vacation in Ga.

En Route With Governor Roosevelt, Charlotte, N. C., April 30.—(AP)—Refreshed by a full night's sleep, the first in several days, Gov. Roosevelt of New York was back in Dixie today, on his way to a three-weeks vacation at Warm Springs, Ga.

The governor was tired when he left New York, having for five days been on the go at the governors' conference in Virginia and Washington. Before leaving New York City yesterday he appeared as a witness in the trial of his banking superintendent, Joseph A. Roderick, who was indicted for neglect of duty in connection with the failure of the Bank of the United States.

With the Governor and Mrs. Roosevelt is Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, a bride of a few months. The former Elizabeth Donner, Philadelphia society girl, is the wife of the second Roosevelt boy. He will join his wife and parents at a Warm Springs on Sunday.

Before the governor retired last night, 30 or more passengers came back to his stateroom to shake hands with him. Today Robert Lassiter, North Carolina manufacturer and father of a Yale football star and two University of North Carolina gridiron players, dropped in to see Mr. Roosevelt before leaving the train at Charlotte.

Wins At 1,000 To 1

Jack Kennedy of the Nassau county, N. Y., police, took a 1,000-to-1 chance in a gamble with death, and won. He agreed to amputation of his right leg which physicians hoped would cure septic poisoning resulting from paralysis caused by a bullet wound. He is expected to recover.

INJURY KILLS HIGH OFFICIAL

Japanese Succumbs to Wounds Recived in Bomb Explosion at Shanghai.

Shanghai, April 30.—(AP)—One of the five Japanese officials severely injured by a bomb explosion in Hongkew park yesterday, Y. Kawabata, president of the Shanghai Residents' Association, died today.

Of the other four, Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese minister to China, was in the most serious danger. Thirty-two pieces of the hand grenade alleged to have been thrown by Yin Kitsu, a Korean revolutionary from Manchuria, entered M. Shigemitsu's body. He passed a fairly good night at the hospital, however, and was said to be bearing up as well as could be expected.

The other victims, General Yoshinori Shirakawa, Major General Kenkichi Ueyeda and Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, were recovering. General Shirakawa, commander-in-chief of the Japanese land forces here, lost all his teeth and was suffering from severe bruises on the upper part of his body. Admiral Nomura lost an eye and was seriously wounded in the head.

Many extravagant reports, most of them unfounded and the rest impossible to confirm, kept Shanghai in a state of excitement during the day. Following the announcement of the death of M. Kahabata there was a report that Minister Shigemitsu's right leg had been amputated and that his condition was growing increasingly serious. The Japanese denied this.

Another report which was widely believed was that the bomb thrower was a Japanese, and not a Korean. The report said the Japanese military officials were keeping it a secret. They and the consular officials refused to discuss the matter and would only say that a statement would be issued after the completion of the man's examination, which was continuing.

Greenville was awarded first place in girls' glee club, mixed chorus, and orchestra, and took second place in soprano solo, baritone solo, bass solo, girls' trio, and mixed quartet. In the other three events, namely: clarinet and trombone solo, unchanged boys' voice solos, the Greenville contestants had to come.

Spectacular Statesman From Louisiana Rebels Against Rob-inson Leadership.

Washington, April 30.—(AP)—In contrast to his outbreak on the Senate floor yesterday, Senator Huey Long (D., La.), today judicially expounded his bill to strengthen the anti-trust laws before a Senate committee.

Laying a new straw hat, cane and half smoked cigar upon the committee table, he cited court decisions to bolster his argument.

Washington, April 30.—(AP)—Huey Long constituted today a one-man independent, Democratic bloc in the Senate.

LATHAM TALKS TO KIWANIAN

Belhaven Agricultur-ist Speaker at Farmers' Night Program at Grimesland.

Music, oratory, gaiety and a spirit of fellowship marked the meeting of the Greenville Kiwanis club in the high school building at Grimesland last night.

Kiwanians attended the session nearly one hundred percent strong and had as their guests numbers of prominent business and professional men of the Grimesland community, in addition to attractive young women of the Grimesland public school faculty.

The principal address was delivered by Fred Latham, of Belhaven, former member of the State Board of Agriculture, who expressed hope that some plan looking to the recovery of agriculture would be worked out within the next few years.

President G. V. Smith presided and the program, designated as "Farmers' Night," was in charge of J. C. Galloway, prominent Grimesland agriculturist.

Secret Inquiry Begins On N. Y. Stock Exchange

Washington, April 30.—(AP)—Secret investigators were set to work today for the Senate Banking committee to find Senate Banking may exist in the operations of the New York stock exchange.

William A. Gray, committee counsel, was proceeding carefully in his selection of agents, but he already had some of the mass of evidence and leads which have accumulated. Fray will go to New York next week to supervise the investigation of brokerage and stock exchange records.

Information on more than a score of big pool operations will be studied together with the transactions of many known big traders. (Continued on Page Four)

TEACHER LOAD TO BE REDUCED

Leroy Martin Says Number of Pupils Per Teacher Will be Less in N. C.

Raleigh, April 30.—(AP)—Leroy Martin, secretary of the State Board of Equalization, today expressed belief the teacher load in the public schools of the state will be decreased next year.

There has been a widespread belief, Martin said, that the average number of pupils per teacher next year would have to be more than it was this year, or more than 31.6 pupils per teacher.

The reverse, however, he said, will probably be true. There is every indication the number of pupils per teacher will be less.

Martin said an addition of 400 to 500 teachers for the next term by the Board of Equalization and a "normal" attendance year will bring this about. The past year was abnormal in attendance, he said, as the average daily attendance.

COURT CLOSES SESSION HERE

Over Hundred Cases Disposed of in Two-Week Term of Criminal Court.

After Frank Edmundson had pleaded guilty to five charges of giving worthless checks, Judge E. H. Cramer adjourned the two-week term of Criminal court here yesterday.

Judgment was suspended in the cases against Edmundson providing he should pay the amount of the checks involved and cost of action.

Several other cases against the defendant, involving charges of assault on his wife and larceny, were continued until the next term of court.

Over one hundred cases were disposed of during the term, it was revealed by a check of records today, and only a small number were left hanging fire for the next term.

Judge Cramer inaugurated night sessions this week in order to expedite consideration of the docket and it was due largely to the night work that so many cases were completed.

The highlight of the session came Thursday when the six-month grand jury reported to Judge Cramer that all departments of the county government were found to be in the best of condition. Only two minor recommendations.

HOOVER OFF FOR WEEK-END

President and Party Go to Rapidan Camp For Short Spell of Diversion.

Washington, April 30.—(AP)—President and Mrs. Hoover and a party of friends left the White House by automobile shortly before 8 o'clock this morning for a week-end of rest at the President's Rapidan camp.

White House aides termed the expedition his first "vacation" in seven months. All save one of the men in his party were members of the famous recreation group known as the "medicine ball cabinet."

Dr. R. A. Millikan, of Pasadena, California, Nobel prize winner and chairman of the executive council of the California Institute of Technology, was the other. He is an old friend of the President's.

Mrs. Hoover and most of the wives of the "medicine ball cabinet" went along.

It was the President's plan to return late Sunday afternoon but if favored with good weather, however, the party may remain over Sunday night.

The guest list included Justice Stone of the Supreme Court and Mrs. Stone, the Attorney General and Mrs. Mitchell, the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Wilbur. (Continued on Page Four)

GOVERNORS IN LONG FLIGHT

James Rolph and Fred Balzar Attempt "Dawn to Dusk" Trip from Capitol to Cal.

Washington, April 30.—(AP)—Governors James Rolph, of California, and Fred B. Balzar, of Nevada, took off at 4:25 a. m. EST today from Bolling Field for a dawn to dusk flight to Los Angeles.

Piloted by Colonel Roscoe Tur-annual governors' conference at Richmond, Virginia, they planned to reach Los Angeles between 6 and 7 p. m. PST.

Although the western state executives hoped to make the first gubernatorial dawn-to-dusk trans-continental flight, with four brief stops, Turner said he would take no chances, and that in the event of bad weather the flight would be interrupted.

Cincinnati was the first scheduled stop with weather conditions but apparently favorable. Other stops were projected at Springfield, Mo.; Amarillo, Texas; and Winslow, Arizona.

The two governors breakfasted with their pilot at 3 o'clock and were in gay spirits as they climbed into their seats. They carried a packet of Associated Press photos to Los Angeles.

Jury Asks For Mercy Of Court In Returning Manslaughter Decision

REVENUE BILL STILL SHORT

Measure Short Millions in Spite of Stiff Raises in Many Schedules.

Washington, April 30.—(AP)—A quiet campaign within the Senate Finance committee to force the general sales tax back into the revenue bill has stripped it of many millions of dollars.

As the much altered House bill stands today, it is far below the approximate billion dollar total that is needed, despite stiff raises that have been written into many schedules. Senator Reed (R., Pa.) has led the drive under which special excise taxes have been mowed down like ninepins, admitting he seeks to compel use of the sales tax which the House rejected so vigorously.

Yet older heads on the finance committee give him no chance. This goes for Republicans and Democrats and apparently represents majority sentiment in the Senate itself.

Wearied and more or less baffled after a hard week spent at altering the measure, the committee is in recess for the week-end, its members individually studying further money raising possibilities.

CURTIS STILL SEEKING BABY

Norfolk Intermediary Reported at Sea to Contact Lindbergh Kidnappers.

Norfolk, Va., April 30.—(AP)—Rapidly shifting moves in negotiations by three Norfolk intermediaries to recover the Lindbergh baby indicated today that John Hughes Curtis had again put to sea to make contact with the kidnappers.

The yacht Maroon, used by the Norfolk boat builder on previous trips to sea, was gone today on a third mysterious voyage. It was reliably reported that Mr. Curtis was aboard, accompanied by Lieut. George L. Richards of the naval air station here, and Edwin B. Bruce of Elmira, N. Y., a friend of Mr. Curtis.

The sailing of the yacht, which had been held in readiness at the naval base during the last few days, presumably followed immediately after another trip made by Mr. Curtis since he was reported absent from his home Tuesday. The departure of Lieutenant Richards, pilot for the negotiators, the Sunday led to the belief that Mr. Curtis had traveled by air.

It was on a previous trip abroad the Maroon, placed at the disposal of the intermediaries by Charles H. Consovo, of Baltimore and Norfolk, that Mr. Curtis accomplished results which he said eliminated a number of obstacles in his work. On his other trips by water the Maroon passed through the Virginia Capes. On the last trip, however, it could not be learned if the boat had been sighted at the Capes.

Acquitted On Slaying Charge

Newland, N. C., April 30.—(AP)—An Avery county jury today took only a few minutes to decide that three men, charged with slaying J. M. Carpenter a year ago, were innocent.

Carpenter was fatally stabbed on February 14, 1931, at his home in Newland. The three men, W. W. Wiseman, 75, and Adolph Frank, 45, were charged with the crime.

The three were tried for second degree murder. Defense witnesses said Taylor stabbed Carpenter self defense. Shortly after taking the case at 8:30 a. m. the jury returned an acquittal verdict.

WINS TROPHY WITH LENOIR

Local School, Along with Lenoir, Scored Total of 82 Points to Take First Place for Class B Schools in State Music Contest at Greensboro; First Place Captured in Three Events.

Honolulu, April 30.—(AP)—With a recommendation for leniency, a racially mixed jury has convicted four Americans of manslaughter for slaying of an Hawaiian.

The jury reported a verdict late yesterday after more than 48 hours deliberation. The defendants are Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N.; Mrs. Granville Fortescue, mother-in-law of Massie; Albert O. Jones and E. J. Lord, navy enlisted men.

The verdict was read in a court room tense with silence. First to break it was a sob from Mrs. Thalia Massie, wife of the naval officer, who allegedly was criminally attacked by Joseph Haha-hawa, the slain native.

Conviction set all Honolulu astir with excitement and rumors. Governor Lawrence M. Judd denied the national guard had been summoned but said precautions had been taken against possible emergencies. The governor declined to say what his precautionary action had been.

It was no secret the navy element of the population was not only indignant but angry.

The racial factor continued to remain in the background of the many ramifications of the case. Some Hawaiians and Orientals were outspoken in favor of the verdict, which was returned by a jury of eight Caucasians, three Chinese and a native.

With varying reactions the quartet received the findings of the jury. Lieutenant Massie, who admitted killing the native after Haha-hawa allegedly had admitted taking part in an attack on Mrs. Massie, stood with rest, white lips as his fate was read by the court clerk.

In the jury's findings, the insanity defense set up in behalf of the lieutenant was disregarded. This and the unwritten law had been pleaded by Clarence Darrow, aged leader of the defense.

Darrow, who came out of retirement to defend the four, said of the verdict: "I am very much disappointed." Prosecutor John C. Kelley's only comment was: "The verdict meets the ends of justice."

Notice of appeal was given by George S. Leisure, defense attorney. In the course of procedure the case would go to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in California.

Washington, April 30.—(AU)—The administration-sponsored proposal to create an administration of public works was approved today by the House as a part of the measure reducing federal expenditures.

Under the plan, all government public building and public works activities except rivers and harbors and military and naval construction would be supervised by one administration paid $10,000 a year. Its proponents contended it would eliminate many duplicate activities of various departments.

MICHAUX-POINDEXTER.

The suburban home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Chesterfield Arthur was the scene of a pretty marriage this morning at nine o'clock, when their youngest daughter, Mrs. Nancy Arthur Poindexter, became the wife of William Walthall Michaux Jr. A white car artistically carried out in the living room with ferns, lilies, snapdragons and cathedral candles, the ceremony being performed before an improvised altar. The bride wore a charming gown and white crepe sport accessories and her shoulderette was made of gardenias. She was unattended. The groom was attended by his eldest brother, James Madison Michaux, of Greensboro, as best man, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, assisted by the Reverend C. P. Shelton, rector of the Episcopal Church in Michaux, Va., the bride's and groom's pastors, officiated at the ever beautiful ring ceremony.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Chesterfield Arthur of this city. She is a young woman of rare charm and personality and possesses a wide circle of friends throughout the state, as well as in her native town. She is a member of the Colonial Dames and vice-president of the Greenville German Club. For the past two years, she has held a secretarial position with the Greenville Tobacco Company.

The groom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. William Walthall Michaux, of "Michaux Grant" Michaux, Va. He holds a responsible position with Carrington & Co., Richmond, Va. He is inventor of the Michaux Tobacco Blending Machine and is president of that corporation. For two seasons he was identified with the Greenville Tobacco Company here, where he won a host of friends.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Michaux left for New York and on May 6th will sail on the S. S. Westernland. After a tour of European countries, they will be at home at "Buck Hill," Richmond, Va.

The marriage was attended by only relatives of the bride and groom. The out-of-town guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Michaux of Greensboro; Jake Michaux of Wilson; Rev. and Mrs. C. P. Shelton of Powhatan, Va.; and Mrs. R. C. Vaughn of Winston-Salem.

On Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur entertained the members of the family and out-of-town guests at a beautifully appointed buffet supper.

Mrs. White Club Hostess. Mrs. J. J. White was a charming hostess to her bridge club Wednesday afternoon. The home on East Tenth street was attractively decorated with colorful spring flowers.

Mrs. Bruce Williams was awarded bridge cards for high score and Mrs. Francis Bowen a bridge cover for low score.

Mrs. Nancy Arthur Poindexter, bride-elect, was remembered with a lovely gift. Mrs. Bruce Williams and Mrs. R. C. Vaughn of Winston-Salem, guests of the club, were given dainty handkerchiefs.

Mrs. Winnie Barnes assisted the hostess in serving a delectable salad course.

NATIONAL ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES The F. Clark Co., Inc. New York, Chicago, Indianapolis, Philadelphia, Kansas City.

It would not be surprising to see them make even a more pronounced showing in years to come.

New uniforms of Greenville high school baseball club have arrived and the next game will find the boys rated as probably the best dressed of the conference.

The lads started off almost as ragged as a robin, but citizens rebelled against such a condition and raised sufficient money to purchase new clothes and better equipment.

The club has been able to capture four out of six games played so far this season, and the inspiration from public support is expected to cause them to strive to win still a greater number.

Coach Porter is of the opinion that the club is the strongest the school has had in years and may set a new record for high school ball clubs.

It is gratifying to note that the grand jury found conditions to exist at the poor house and county convict camp.

Picturing the upkeep of both plants as away above the average, the jury expressed appreciation to superintendents for the consideration shown to the people coming under their supervision.

The jury recommended, however, that the menu be changed at the county home in order to give the inmates a better balanced diet.

More eggs and cereals instead of so much meat was believed to be in demand and if this proposal is met as it most assuredly will be the home will be as near a model as any in this part of the county.

In addition to passing on business before the court, the grand jury renders a splendid service to the community through its investigation of various departments of government.

If a jury finds anything wrong that means the condition will be improved. What it says goes and inquiries conducted from time to time help keep affairs of the county moving in a proper way. Colleges of the state are suffering from lack of money at this time and dare launching campaigns to improve their condition.

The latest to launch a drive of this kind is Elon college, which announced yesterday the formation of a committee to raise $20,000 to prevent the closing of the institution.

Now is the time for former students who have gone out into the world and made a success to rally to the cause of their alma mater.

The splendid training which many prominent men of the nation received through college education has been largely responsible for their success, and they should be sufficiently appreciative of this fact not to stand by and see the schools suffer for lack of money.

Men in high finance could give $5,000 or $10,000 and never miss it and what an important part such gifts would play in the life of hard-pressed institutions at this time.

Only yesterday it was announced that faculty members of the University of North Carolina would receive another salary cut.

This is the second cut which they have received the last several months, and places them far below what faculty members of other leading universities are receiving.

In fact, it has been stated that a number of University professors have been offered nearly twice as much as they were receiving before the cut by other colleges of the country.

Yet, they are sticking to their jobs, hoping the time will come when they will be properly remunerated in this state.

This loyalty is going to prevent the educational field from suffering in this state, but there is danger of reductions being carried too far.

The state occupies a place in national education that must not be impaired and men of finance who appreciate this rating should respond to the appeal for aid and help relieve the unprecedented situation.

sound; amused, baffled, impatient. Jenny supposed that she should not have mentioned Eddie. She slid into the seat next to the drivers and he took his place beside her.

"Were you hurt, Jenny?" "Oh no."

"Frightened?" "Yes." She admitted it with a sting of tears in her eyes. It weakened her to lean back against these heavenly leather cushions and be skimmied along the street that had seemed so long.

Why, here was the corner already! Beckoning to the boy Aveney bought an armful of papers.

"There's a whole bundle on the back seat already—I got them when I heard of the accident," he remarked. "But they gave so few of them that I was racing along to find out for myself about you—both. The pause before the 'both' was as enigmatic as his laugh."

"Now I know there's no serious damage done, will you come for a drive—just round the Park?"

She stared down at the papers he had tossed on to her knees. No, repeated her heart, and no and no. "What you meant to say," he suggested gravely, "was that you much regret you can't accept for this evening but that it is obvious, going to be a very fine Sunday tomorrow and you will come picnicking with me anywhere in the country if I call for you punctually at ten."

"That's what you meant, isn't it?" She shook her head. The tears were rising in her throat. No, she would not go. Why did he ask her? Because he had been so badly hurt by George that he couldn't face a day alone. Why else?

"No use for me at all, Jenny Revell?" She was silent; and it was as though all the street became silent with her. The newsboy had darted away around a corner and the noise of the traffic lulled and dropped; a radio was suddenly switched off in a nearby house. It was as though someone had said to the world—"Hush! Listen! Listen to Jenny Revell, who is going to say 'no'."

She looked up into Garth Aveney's eyes. She saw the color of them deepen and darken. She heard him draw an uneven breath. "At ten, then," he said softly. "And now I'll take you back to your apartment, D'you mind if I just drop you there and go straight along? I'm supposed to be dining with my uncle at eight and I see it's a quarter past already. And anyway—I don't want to have to talk to your cousin tonight."

Well, George wouldn't have wanted him to talk to her tonight! Or tomorrow either for the next ten days, when Eddie would hold all her thoughts. But one couldn't explain that, it would be unkind. Besides—Jenny put a hand to her head—it would be giving away the secret. She said timidly—

"Have you time to drive me to my hotel? It's just round this corner, I'm staying there; I'm not at the apartment now."

"Is that where I call for you tomorrow morning?" "Please."

He nodded. He seemed absorbed now in the rhythm of his engine, indifferent to her presence. Miserable, at war with herself, she stared down at her hands clasped upon the papers. One thumb partly observed a column.

"Mr. Eddie Townsend, who was at the wheel when his car came into collision with a bus—"(Jenny moved her thumb and read on.)

—had left City Hall after his marriage to Miss Georgia Revell. Mrs. Townsend, who was sitting in the back of the car, was quite unharmed and accompanied her husband to the hospital where—"

The car slid into speed. Jenny could read no more.

Bad news about Eddie threatens George's plans, on Monday.

TEACHER LOAD TO BE CUT (Continued from Page One) Since showed the unusually high increase of nearly 20,000 to 71,000. Mild weather, absence of epidemics, and virtually the full effects of the depression's influence in separating children of school age from jobs contributed to the attendance.

LONG STARTS SENATE BLOC

Robinson, without loss of time, turned on the rebellious member and employed his most sarcastic oratory in a challenge to contest for the leader's post.

He called Llog's committee resignation a 'comic opera gesture that does not do justice to the comic talents and power of the Senator from Louisiana.' He referred to Louisiana's "King Fish" as that "great genius in statesmanship." But neither this nor other sallies floored the Louisiana, who LATHAM TALKS TO KIWANIANS (Continued from Page One) Several selections were rendered by a quartet composed of Mrs. Dink James, Miss Agnes Pullilove, J. H. Rose and Sprull Spain, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ray Tyson. Two duet numbers were also sung by Mrs. James and Miss Pullilove.

B. B. Suggs, prominent Greenville tobaccoist and banker, told of Greenville's recognition as the largest bright leaf tobacco market in the world. Commenting on the crop shortage affecting the tobacco belts, he said he believed this would be a blessing in view of the glutted condition of the world market.

He expressed belief a short crop would result in better prices and a general improvement on the world market.

R. L. Little, of Grimesland, declared he had been inspired by the spirit of fellowship prevailing during the meeting and thought it would benefit the communities involved.

Introduced by Mr. Galloway as one of the greatest farmers in this part of the state, Mr. Latham declared that in spite of unprecedented conditions affecting this part of the state, the economic future was deeply ingrained in the section, and while temporarily disturbed, could not be definitely destroyed.

He failed to paint any rosy picture of pending improvements, but asserted he believed the section would rise to greater heights of achievement and that things would work out all right in the future. The day of gambling at farming must come to an end before the section will find its rightful place, the speaker said, and he pictured a revolution in industry that would care for production and consumption and enable the growers to find financial independence.

A delightful supper was served by ladies of the Methodist church and they were given a rising vote of thanks at the suggestion of J. F. Harrington.

HEAVY VOTE FORECAST IN ELECTION HERE MONDAY (Continued from page one) candidates have been making spectacular bids for support the last several days, and like the Third, it was expected every available vote would be mustered for service in the battle of ballots Monday.

While the number of candidates in the First and Second Wards is not as great as in the other two, it cannot be said that the campaign is lacking in interest. J. N. Williams, incumbent in the First Ward, is not seeking re-election but his post is being sought by Joseph E. Johnson and Closs Hearn. In the Second Ward, J. L. Hassell is opposed by W. H. Dail Jr.

The incumbents are running on the record of economy established by the present board during the last year, and those seeking to upset the aldermanic applicant have also stressed economy in government and interest of the people.

The election will be held at the courthouse, beginning at sunrise and closing at sundown. Ballots will be cast under the Australian system and booths will be placed in the corridors of the courthouse to enable voters to prepare their ballots in complete privacy.

Election officials were named by the board of aldermen several weeks ago and will be ready to take their position at the polls at the proper hour. Registration books were to close late today and people who have moved to the city since the last election or who have changed wards will not be able to vote if they fail to register.

GREENVILLE TIES FOR STATE MUSIC HONORS (Continued from Page One) ete against contestants from the class A schools, as well as, B and C schools. This put these three contestants at a disadvantage because all the class A schools have twelve grades, therefore, their contestants are usually a good deal older than those from the class B schools. Then, too, the class A schools furnish free instruments and free instruction.

This is the fourth year the Greenville high school has entered the state music contest. The first year a total of ten points were scored by the local school, the second year the local school was awarded third place; last year they won second place. This year they tied for first.

This state of progress and advancement in the field of music is something of which the school and community are thoroughly proud. The City of Greenville, today, is proud of its high school and, particularly the work that is being done in the field of music, and the student body of the local high school is, today, prouder of this accomplishment than anything that has been done during the whole school year.

Sixty-five members of the Greenville high school student body journeyed to Greensboro for this contest. Cars were provided by the local citizens in a most generous manner.

The vocal work was under the direction of Miss Ona Shindler, and the instrumental work under the direction of Mr. E. T. Robeson. These two instructors have succeeded in making music an integral part of the lives of most of the pupils in the local schools. In addition to the work in the high school, these two instructors are carrying on their work throughout the lower grades. At the close of the schools this year an orchestra of fifty pieces from the lower grades will play.

Perhaps the most signal honor which came to the local school in the state contest in Greensboro was the invitation extended the Glee club and mixed chorus to sing at the grand concert given last night in Greensboro after the contest was over. Out of the hundreds of numbers rendered during the contest the judges picked approximately ten numbers for the grand concert. The fact that the Greenville group was extended this invitation is proof of the high quality work done and offered.

At the first high school assembly next week, Monday morning at 10:45 all the Greenville contestants will be given a rousing reception by the student body. The public is invited to attend this assembly.

NEW HEARING FOR CALDWELL (Continued from Page One) for a new trial. "Thank God for this Supreme court," said Caldwell.

Caldwell, president of the one-powerful financial house of Caldwell and Company, was convicted last July 6 of violating a trust agreement with Hardeman County, Tennessee, which had deposited proceeds from a $200,000 road bond issue with the company.

It was alleged that, in violation of the agreement, industrial bonds were substituted for Tennessee municipal and federal government bonds in collateral pledged with the Bank of Tennessee, a subsidiary, to secure the county's deposits with Caldwell and Company.

At the time the bank and its parent company failed in November 1930, the deposits amounted to approximately $132,000, the rest having been withdrawn.

COURT CLOSES SESSION HERE (Continued from Page One) mendations for improving conditions at the county home and the jail were submitted.

Court officials were gratified at the splendid progress made from day to day and believed something of a record was set for speedy handling of cases.

Names of the special investigators were being guarded but it was learned that Esil Manly, veteran investigator for Senate committees, is under consideration as one.

The committee yesterday authorized Gray to retain his accounting firm of George K. Watson and Company, of New York, Philadelphia and Chicago, to back up the investigators.

Two Men File for Pitt Board Commissioners

Two additional candidates filed notice of candidacy for members of the Board of County Commissioners here today.

They are W. J. Smith, prominent lumber manufacturer, of Bethel, and J. N. Williams, Greenville, member of the Board of Alderman and well-known market man.

Mr. Smith is a son of a former member of the Board of Commissioners who was killed in an automobile wreck over a year ago. He said if elected he would attempt to render the highest type of service to the people of the county.

Mr. Williams is an advocate of tax reduction and has used his influence for economy in affairs of the city.

YOU CAN'T MARRY

By Julia Cleft-Addams

SYNOPSIS: From the City Hall to the hospital: George Revell marries Eddie Townsend, and a few minutes later watches him taken away in an ambulance after he wrecks the car they're in. She sends her cousin Jenny with him while she talks to the police, because she intends to make people believe that Jenny married Eddie instead of herself.

If Gratton Matching, her employer, heard of her marriage he would discharge her, and George hopes to keep it secret. Jenny is attracted to Matching's nephew, Garth Aveney, but misunderstands his manner toward George and thinks he likes George and not herself. She has reluctantly agreed to let George involve her in the marital deception, because George arrives at the hospital, after a long delay, and Jenny asks her what she told the policeman.

Chapter 12 IN THE PAPERS "Oh, I gave him our names of course!" Carelessly George led the way out into the hall and Jenny could not see her face; but she thought there was a suspicion of hurry in her voice as she chattered on. "I phoned Rochester Gate, too, but the Old Man hasn't wanted me; I said I'd be back by four. We can just do it. I've got a taxi waiting."

"A taxi?" Jenny was at a loss. "But we—can't leave Eddie." "Of course we can!" "Without even asking how he is—how much he is hurt?" "You goose!" George's gloved fingers flicked against her cheek. "I've been upstairs, talking to the head nurse and the doctor. While you went on sitting obediently where they'd put you, I made all arrangements. It doesn't pay to wait till people remember you, you know—you do better to be a bit of a nuisance sometimes."

"But how is Eddie?" "Full of cuts and bruises and a bit dazed—oh yes, quite conscious, very much alive; excited, in fact." Guiding Jenny into the waiting taxi, George giggled softly—the giggle Jenny didn't like. "He was talking loudly about getting back to 'my wife's apartment'—I heard him from the hall. So I slithered away before the nurse's curiosity overpowered her altogether. Eddie's to join us tomorrow. You'll see, he'll be none the worse. Everything will go according to my plan—my plan—after all!"

Jenny was silent. The taxi had moved off and a cool wind was on her face. It seemed to be blowing right into her heart. She was conscious of immense fatigue—very near collapse—a terrible longing to cry and cry.

"I suppose I'm an alarmist," she admitted. She tried to forget that glimpse of the inquisitive clerk from the office dropping with ears pricked, off his bus and mingling with the crowd on the pavement.

George had lit a cigarette and was smoking it, rather fast. All the amber gleams were dancing in her eyes and under the rouge her color was returning.

"Don't worry, Jen! You know, I always have luck!"

Evening again. Long shadows at the street-corners and, high up in a green-walled sky, the white little moon. This time yesterday Jenny had bowed to that little moon. She closed the house-door behind her and turned left down Boyle street. At a distant corner a boy was crying the papers. "Get them on your way to your hotel, Jenny—"

George had commanded her, triumphantly brandishing those already brought upstairs by the superintendent—"get any I haven't here, will you?—and phone me if you find details given that aren't in these. There's not a word here beyond 'Mr. Eddie Townsend, driving with friends.' I knew it'd be all right! I always have luck!"

Jenny went slowly along the pavement. She was almost limping; perhaps her feet had been bruised in the collision or perhaps she was now really so tired that they simply would not obey her any more.

A quite interminable pavement, this. Jenny was sure she had been walking along it for hours and yet the newsboy's corner was not appreciably nearer. She stumbled, clutched at a lamp-post and stood still, afraid that she was going to faint; or just fall down and be too absolutely worn out to get up again.

Then a hand caught at her elbow and steadied her and a voice said "Jenny—Jenny Revell—" for a moment, as she looked up at him, yesterday and today merged in her tired mind. Mill's red-plush fayer was round her again; she stood in silver and green and jade with music sounding faintly; and somewhere, George was laughing.

The confusion passed. "I was going to buy a paper at the corner," she said.

Garth Aveney still held her elbow. He shook it lightly. In the falling dusk it was not possible to tell whether or not it was laughter that was lurking in his eyes. He drew her round so that she saw his car drawn up at the curb.

"Get in," he directed. "I'll take you to buy all the papers at all the corners in town if you'll tell me." His voice roughened suddenly and she thought she knew why.

"George has a very bad bruise," she said, "and a headache, but that's absolutely all. We've been wonderfully lucky. Even Eddie, Aveney laughed. It was an odd

HOW DO THEY DO IT?

ABOUT TOWN

Greenville high school established an enviable reputation at the state music contest at Greensboro. This is the second time the school has attracted state-wide attention as result of its endeavor in this field of activity, and the participants are to be congratulated upon their fine showing.

Training in public school music has made wonderful progress here the last several years, and this was responsible for the excellent showing the youngsters were able to make at Greensboro against some of the largest schools of the state.

Greenville also captured district honors for the last two years and

PATS GIVEN LOVING CUP IN PIEDMONT

Charlotte, April 30.—(AP)—On the basis of unofficial returns from the eight Piedmont league precincts, the Greensboro Patriots, by vote of the cash customers, were elected to receive the loving cup offered by President W. G. Bramham for the best opening day attendance.

The Greensboro club celebrated, under the arch, by making five hits and one Raleigh error good for four runs and its third straight victory. The score was Greensboro 4, Raleigh 3. Raleigh, however, tapped Ostermueller for two more hits than were allowed by Petty.

The Winston-Salem Twins, continuing their terrific slugging, beat the Charlotte Hornets 8 to 5. The Hornets rode Pollard for seven safeties, and four runs, in the first three innings, and got to Selveston for another run in the fifth, and were leading 5-0 as the seventh began.

Lyle was sent to the showers in that frame, followed quickly by Martin, and the Twins tallied all eight of their runs before Shaney could stop the slaughter. The Twins brought their season total of extra base hits to four homers, 15 doubles and two triples. Salveston, the pitcher, got two doubles and a single in three times at bat. Four other Twins got doubles, Leiber got two, and Orr got a triple.

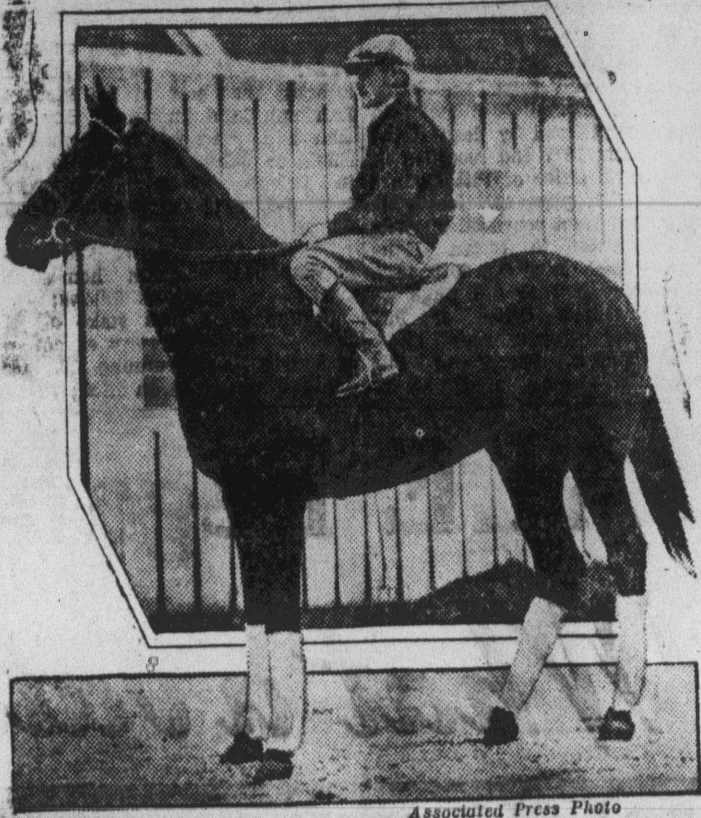

The High Point-Asheville game in the mountain city was a slugfest, with safeties divided at 13-all, and it was not until the 11th inning that High Point could win, 8 to 6. Monroe Mitchell went the route on the mound for the Tourists, and but for his team's five errors the scattered Pointer hits would not have seriously damaged his record.

Asheville got to Appletton for three runs in the sixth, and he was replaced in the seventh by Dennis. The score was 5-3, Asheville as the ninth began. High Point scored twice. Neither team could reach home in the 10th, and in the 11th the Pointers pushed across three men while Asheville could count but one.

Herb Rauding was the hero of Wilmington's 6-5 victory over Durham. He got a home run in the tenth to win the ball game, after having hit safely three times in his first four trips to the plate.

Chamber allowed the Bulls seven hits and five runs before he was replaced in the sixth inning by A. Smith, who was not scored on. The Pirates tied the score off Lambert in the seventh, getting one run. Neither team scored thereafter until Rauding's over-the-fence act.

KENTUCKY DERBY CANDIDATE

Senators Take Close Game From Athletics

By GAYLE TALBOT

If Monte Weaver of the Washington Senators maintains anything like his present pace, the experts will have practically no difficulty deciding on the American league's outstanding rookie pitcher. With four consecutive victories, including three over the league champion Athletics, the slingerthunderer from Baltimore promises to eclipse the record set last season by Lefty Gomez, who won 21 on lost only 9 for the Yankees. The Senators' sensation bested the veteran George Earnshaw, 2 to 1, yesterday. In addition to holding the A's to five hits and stopping them dead in the pinches, he scored the winning run in the fifth inning when he singled and was driven in by Joe Cronin.

The win failed to regain the Senators their place at the top of the standing, however, as the Yankees were clubbing out an 8 to 7 victory over Boston.

Cleveland made it six straight over western rivals by beating the White Sox, 7 to 5. The Indians jumped on old Urban Faber for three runs in the seventh to win after Chicago had piled up an early lead on Willis Hudlin. St. Louis and Detroit were rained out.

The Boston Braves, out to prove their early pace was no flash in the pan, trimmed the Giants, 8 to 3, behind Huck Betts' steady carving. He gave up only six hits, half of them in the first inning. Urbanski hit a double and two singles for the Braves.

The win planted Boston only a half-game behind the leading Chicago Cubs, who were held up by rain.

Eppe Rixey gave up 13 hits but had only one bad inning as the Cincinnati Reds made it a pair from Pittsburgh, 6 to 4.

Chuck Klein, brilliant Phillie outfielder, gave the day's best solo performance in helping submerge the Brooklyn Dodgers, 13 to 6. His homerun with the bases loaded, a double and two singles drove in six runs.

Juniors and Seniors Entertained

On Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 the Greenville branch of the American Association of University Women entertained the Junior and Senior girls of the high school at a tea in the Y hut in the college woods. The hut was beautifully decorated, and appropriate refreshments were served.

Mrs. Clyde Milner, dean of women at Guilford college and also professor of psychology, spoke to the girls on "College and Its Honorable Substitutes." She stressed the fact that girls who are undecided whether or not to go to college should determine first of all whether they are fitted for college life. After this decision has been made, one may then begin to choose the college she wishes to attend, or to fit herself for some honorable substitute.

The high school girls attended in large numbers, and enjoyed this courtesy extended them by the A. A. U. W.

Junior-Senior Banquet

Although final plans for the annual junior-senior banquet are not ready to be announced, it has been definitely decided that Friday, May 13, will be the date; and that the high school gym will be the scene of this gala affair. The gym lends itself very easily to excellent decoration and is large enough for dancing if the juniors decide to follow the banquet with a dance.

All the junior committees are busily engaged preparing for the best junior-senior banquet given in recent years.

Details of the program will be announced later; and even though Friday the thirteenth is a hoodoo day for some, it will doubtless be the outstanding day of the year before graduation for juniors and seniors.

Representatives to Visit Goldsboro

The Greenville high school delegates will visit the Goldsboro high school in the last of our series of visitations sometime next week. The two chosen from each class are as follows: Ed Skinner and Louis Skinner from the senior class; George Willard and Harold Sugg from the junior class; Tom Wilson and Rosamond Vandyle from the sophomore class; and Helen McGinnis and Helen Foley from the freshman class. All of these delegates visited in Winston-Salem, and all will go to Goldsboro also.

Much improvement is expected from these visitations and if these prove a success they will probably be continued next year.

The Goldsboro representatives visited the Greenville high school last week, and from a short talk given by a senior representative our system pleased them very much.

"Sky Train" Splendid Success

A large and enthusiastic audience pronounced "Sky Train," senior play of this year, a splendid success. This performance was given Friday evening, April 22, in the high school auditorium under the capable direction of Mrs. Bessie Picklesimer and Miss Mary Ellen Powell.

The amateur players did themselves and the school much credit in this mysterious melodrama. Each actor knew his lines and put them over with a convincing atmosphere. Back-stage workers perhaps have never done a finer piece of work at the local school. Cooperation plus must have been their spirit.

The stage set was unusually attractive; it represented a compartment on a trans-Atlantic dirigible. Furniture, colorful and appropriate, was furnished by Tat's Furniture store. The set itself was built by the high school stage crew. Among the actors perhaps the chief praise should go to Elizabeth Ferguson, Margaret Bostic, John Blanchard, Janice McGowan, and Dan Wright. Each player seemed well chosen, and executed his part well.

The senior class is indeed to be congratulated upon such a splendid production.

Filing System Modernized

During the past week Miss Eleanor Tyson has been busily engaged perfecting the filing system of the Greenville schools.

Early in the year each student in the Greenville school system had his picture made; yet most of the students did not realize at that time that this picture was to become a part of their permanent record.

For the past several days Miss Tyson, Mr. Rose's secretary, has affixed to each student's record card his photograph. This is the latest and most modern innovation introduced in the school filing system, and makes it thoroughly up-to-date and complete.

Golf Team Wins

The Greenville high school golf team annexed its second win over Goldsboro, Saturday afternoon at the Country club course. This was a return match with Goldsboro, Greenville having won in Goldsboro also.

Each Greenville player won his match, and the team as a unit exhibited some splendid work. Those who played in the tournament were: Ben Herring, Neal Herring, Frank Park, Louis Ficklen, and Billy Morton.

Pains Stopped When Lady Got Stronger

"ABOUT a year ago, my health was not good," writes Mrs. W. F. Sivley, 8800 First Court, N., Birmingham, Ala. "I felt weak, tired. I had pains in my back. I knew by these symptoms I needed something to build me up. My mother advised me to try Cardui, which I did. I found it was what I needed, for it built me up. The pain in my back stopped, and I felt better and stronger than I had in some time. I took about 7 bottles of Cardui in all."

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Apr. 30.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 1 to 5 points on a continuation of yesterday's selling movement. July sold at 5.84.

Initial offerings were quite readily absorbed by trade buying and covering promoted by relatively steady Liverpool cables and expectations of week-end reactions following yesterday's break, but the selling continued. It was not in large lots apparently but it seemed to be coming from numerous sources and the break extended to 5.70 for July and 5.93 for October contracts with the market showing net losses of about 13 to 16 points around 10:40 o'clock.

Liverpool cables said that some local and Japanese selling in that market had been absorbed by trade buying and covering and houses with Liverpool and continental connections were reported among the early buyers here. The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at U. S. ports at the end of the week was estimated at 143,000 bales against 87,000 last year.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, April 30.—(AP)—With apparent completion of urgent selling to wind up May contracts, wheat developed a stronger tone today, and eastern purchasing of futures was a late feature.

New export business in North American wheat was of fair volume, totalling 600,000 bushels. Continued liquidating sales in corn and rye, however, brought about new low price records for both those commodities.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Apr. 30.—(AP)—The stock market ended April, another month of declining prices, with a leveling of tendency today.

The list showed signs of sinking further into new low territory during the first hour, then recovered and fluctuated narrowly in the late trading, closing with numerous gains of fractions to a point or so.

The turnover for the two-hour session was under half a million shares, but the closing tone was steady. Brokerage quarters felt that it was difficult to draw any conclusions from its action, save in so far as it reflected abatement of the selling of the past two sessions.

Some of the rails were heavy, but industrials and utilities were mainly firm. Among issues rising about a point were Bethlehem Steel, Borden, Allied Chemical, Loew's and Coca Cola, while fractional advances appeared in U. S. Steel, American Can, General Motors, National Biscuit, North American, and others. American Telephone was barely changed.

Railroad securities were somewhat unsettled by the order of the Interstate Commerce commission requiring the Frisco Railroad to effect a reduction in fixed charges before approving a Reconstruction loan. This was interpreted as forcing a voluntary reorganization of the company with a receivership as the alternative.

The situation of the Frisco road has been well understood in financial quarters, and the forcing of a voluntary reorganization was supported in some quarters as a more permanent and consequently more desirable solution of its problems than carrying it along with public funds.
