SEN. JONES CONFERS WITH PRES. HOOVER

Washington Republican Believes Chief Executive Awaits A Concrete Proposal.

Washington, May 7.—(AP)—After a conference at the White House, Senator Jones, (R. Wash.), said today he was "satisfied" that President Hoover would invite an international silver conference if Congress would present him with a concrete proposal for remonetization of the metal.

Jones, chairman of the senate appropriations committee had a member of the finance committee, said he had told the Chief Executive people on the west coast were strongly interested in the rehabilitation of silver.

He said the president seemed interested.

"I feel satisfied, although the president didn't say so," Jones said, "that if a concrete proposal is placed before him it will be submitted to the interested powers."

Asked if he had suggested any "concrete proposal" Jones recalled the speech in the Senate this week by Senator Borah (R. Idaho), pointing to the rehabilitation of silver as one of the three pathways to world recovery.

Jones suggested that Borah might have such a plan, saying the Idahoan had "given the matter a whole lot of study."

"We ought to submit something to the president," he said.

Will Dedicate Site of First State School

Elizabeth City, May 7.—(AP)—A marker erected two years ago on the spot of North Carolina's first school will be dedicated this afternoon at Symons creek.

After the ceremonies there, further exercises will be held at Weeks ville by the district organization of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, the state order of which placed the marker.

Charles Griffin started the state's first school in 1705 and two years ago the memorial to it was completed. Educational was postponed in hope Governor Gardner would be able to attend the exercises but arrangements could not be made.

MEMORIAL DAY HERE TUESDAY

Veterans of Civil War To Be Honored In Appropriate Exercises During A. M.

Confederate Memorial Day will be appropriately celebrated in Greenville next Tuesday with a parade, decorations of the graves of departed veterans and exercises at the High school.

The principal address will be delivered by F. C. Harding at the High school, and J. H. Rose, superintendent of schools will be in charge to the exercises.

The observance will be staged under the auspices of George B. Singletary Chapter, United of the Daughters of the Confederacy, and the few remaining veterans of J. Bryan Grimes Camp of the Confederacy will be in attendance.

Death has mowed down the ranks of the men who marched with Lee and Jackson in the memorable conflict between the states and the number attending the celebrations has been sharply cut each year.

The exercises last year were held on May 8 by reason of the fact that the 10th came on Sunday, and due to a confusion of dates only one veteran was in attendance. It was expected the number would be increased this year, however, and members of the local chapter were planning inspirational exercises.

The program will be ushered in with a parade forming at the high school at 10:30 o'clock and going to the cemetery where flowers will be placed on the graves of veterans. In the line of parade will be members of the U. D. C. veterans, high school children, glee club and Boy Scouts.

The parade will return to the high school where Mr. Harding will laud the men who sacrificed their lives in behalf of a cause they believed to be right.

PITT SCHOOLS TO CLOSE 13TH

Commencement Season Will Be Ushered in With Sermons Tomorrow.

Final exercises in connection with the commencement season of eight-month schools of Pitt county will be held Friday, May 13, it was revealed today in a report from the office of D. H. Conkey, superintendent of schools.

The commencement period will be ushered in tomorrow with baccalaureate sermons and will be followed by programs dealing with student activities and literary addresses Friday.

Each of the twelve schools are looking forward to the finals with more than usual interest and hundreds of patrons were expected to attend.

In spite of the reduction of funds experienced by each school the session has been quite successful and it was believed work would compare favorably with recent years when the educational program passed all previous records.

Noted speakers have been observed. (Continued on Page Six)

WILL OBSERVE MOTHERS' DAY

Special Programs To be Given in Honor of Mothers at Churches Sunday.

Mother's Day, one of the most important occasions of the year will be fittingly observed throughout the community tomorrow.

In addition to the usual expressions of love and devotion showered upon mothers of the community, appropriate services will be held in virtually all churches of the city.

Ministers, appreciating the influence of countless millions of mothers of all generations, will deliver special sermons dealing with their devotion and sacrifice for mankind, and choirs will render special musical programs.

White and red flowers denoting living and dead mothers will adorn millions of buttonholes of the country as the masculine element attempts to pay tribute to the angel of every household.

Great significance has been attached to the observance of this day for the last several years, and it is gaining in importance each year. (Continued on Page Six)

Rift Between U.S. Navy And Honolulu Increasing

Honolulu, May 7.—(AP)—A breach between the U. S. Navy and civilian Honolulu widened today, with merchants apprehensive of a threatened boycott by the naval personnel.

The rift, first caused by the Massie assault case in September and the mistrial of the natives charged with the attack, spread steadily and had its latest impetus in the conviction a week ago of the four defendants of the Fortescue-Massie murder case. They were Mrs. Granville Fortescue, her son-in-law Lt. Thomas Massie, Albert O. Jones and E. J. Lord, naval enlisted men.

The four, who subsequently obtained a commutation of sentence, were convicted of the revenge slaying of Joseph Kahahawai, suspected as one attacker of Mrs. Thalia Massie, wife of the officer.

While the boycott movement was still beneath the surface, it was understood certain personnel at Pearl Harbor naval station had written Pacific Coast firms, suggesting they open branch stores at Honolulu. It also was understood official circles at Pearl Harbor let it be known personnel making such requests could be disciplined by the navy. (Continued on Page Six)

CLOSE PROBE OF SLAYING

Death of Jesse Barnhill Remains Much A Mystery as Ever, It is Stated.

The coroner's investigation of the death of Jesse Barnhill, Bethel township farmer, was concluded late yesterday and the slaying remained as much a mystery as ever.

Coroner A. A. Elwanger said the jury had been unable to obtain sufficient information to continue the inquest and had declared Barnhill came to his death by a pistol in the hands of unknown party or parties, and closed the case.

The body was found on the side of the highway near Flat Swamp church, several miles from Bethel Saturday night three weeks ago with three bullet wounds in the head and two in the chest.

Barnhill, according to the best information obtainable, had been seen on the streets of Bethel during the early evening. His body was found at 10 o'clock and investigators expressed belief he had been killed about 8:30 o'clock.

The inquest which followed later was left open pending investigation, but Coroner Elwanger said the mystery was so baffling that he found it advisable to close the probe pending further possible developments.

Tropical Storm Moves Northward

Miami, Fla., May 7.—(AP)—A report to the Miami weather bureau today said a tropical disturbance of unknown intensity, apparently moving northward, was central near Santo Domingo this morning.

Richard W. Gray, bureau meteorologist, said first reports of the disturbance came last night. At that time it appeared to be several hundred miles east or southeast of Jamaica.

It caused excessive rains for 12 hours over Santo Domingo and the extreme eastern tip of Cuba. More than six inches of rain was reported in Santo Domingo.

Gray said the storm probably would not effect South Florida at all and certainly not within forty eight hours.

LOAN CHECKS MAILED OUT

Government Paying Second Installments to Farmers in This Community.

Government field inspector, H. E. Lane, whose territory in this state comprises Pitt and Green counties for the Crop Production Loan Office of the Washington region announces that no more applications for 1932 Crop Production Loans will be considered from this section inasmuch as the time for applying for these loans expired last Saturday, April 30.

Plenty of time was given the farmers to make applications for crop loans; in fact, the time limit for filing applications was fixed at a later date this year than heretofore.

Accompanying this information from Washington, is also the announcement that loan checks covering second installments are now being mailed to all farmers whose loans were approved, but only to those farmers who have mailed to the Crop Production Loan office, Washington, D. C., their report cards as to what disposition they made of the proceeds of the first Crop Production Loan checks received by them.

In this connection it will be interesting to learn that a large number of farmers have not mailed their report cards to the Crop Production Loan office. (Continued on Page Six) lic defender vanished.

"When he gets well enough," Captain Dulca said, "we will ask him if he now recalls anything further than he has already told us that may shed light on this case."

Prior to his disappearance, Egan was reported to have told a coroner he was the beneficiary of the will and insurance policies of Mrs. Jessie Hughes, a widow, whose body was found lying on a street here a week ago last night.

MOB DEMANDS NEGRO KILLER

Masked Men Disperse at Gastonia After Failure to Locate Their Prey.

Gastonia, May 7.—(AP)—A masked mob of 75 men early today gathered at Gaston county jail demanding two negroes charged with slaying Harold Carter, gas station operator, but dispersed when shown the pair was not in jail.

The negroes, Alec Grier and Clyde Smith, were taken to Charlotte yesterday for fingerprinting after the police accused them of beating to death Carter, 18, in his filling station here Sunday night.

The mob gathered about the jail with pistols and shotguns and two representatives demanded entrance of a trusty who showed them through corridors of the jail to prove the negroes sought were absent.

Then, apparently satisfied, the mob quietly dispersed.

Police said Grier had confessed complicity in the slaying and had confessed robbery was the motive. He said only a few dollars was obtained.

GOVERNMENT OFFICERS AT WORK ON CASE

Means Expects To Be Released on Bond If He is Indicted by the Grand Jury.

Washington, May 7.—(AP)—Justice Department investigators today began a search of safety deposit boxes in the capital in an effort to locate the $100,000 Gaston B. Means is charged with obtaining to bring about the return of the Lindbergh baby.

Meanwhile, the former Department of Justice agent whiled away the time at the District of Columbia jail by reading newspapers and talking with other prisoners. He did not seem worried.

If a federal grand jury indicts him Tuesday for larceny after trust in connection with the receipt of the money from Mrs. Edward B. McLean, wife of the Washington Post publisher, he expects to be released from jail on $100,000 bond. It was understood arrangements had been completed for making bond.

The investigation of deposit boxes was begun after a search of Means' fashionable home in Chevy Chase late yesterday proved fruitless. Officials also are contemplating a search of his brother's home at Concord, N. C.

Means, wearing a heavy blue suit and felt hat, is sharing a cell with John Kendrick, charged with assault with intent to kill.

The case against him was presented yesterday to the District of Columbia grand jury which expects to decide by Tuesday whether to return an indictment or liberate him.

MISSING MAN RETURNS HOME

Not a Cent of Ransom Paid for Release of Son of Wealthy Illinois Woman.

Joliet, Ill., May 7.—(AP)—Gustav Miller, 22, kidnapped April 29 and held for a reported $50,000 ransom, returned home this morning and his wealthy parents declared not a cent was paid his abductors.

His mother, Mrs. Fannie Miller, and his brother, Martin, met him at the Deer Park entrance of the Starved Rock State Park, about 65 miles southwest of Joliet, and drove him home after a note from the abductors notified where he could be found.

Gustav, who was kidnapped as he was leaving the home of Miss Katherine Mesrow, his fiancée, just two blocks from his own home, said he was kept handcuffed in the basement of a house within three or four hours' drive from Joliet but was very well treated.

His release culminated a relentless search carried on by his father, a wealthy wholesale grocer, independently of the Joliet police, whose profers of assistance he spurned. Mysterious telephone calls came to the Miller home from the haunts of a gang in Chicago and other localities.

Yesterday, Martin Miller received an anonymous call from Chicago instructing him to go to a certain Chicago address which he was told not to disclose. There a note awaited him with further instructions to meet his brother at the state park.

The first ransom demanded by the kidnapers shortly after the abduction was reported to be $50,000. Eventually, it was reported, the kidnapers came down to $10,000 and the family agreed to pay $7,500 but its members were emphatic today that nothing had been paid.

Miss Margaret Fleming Entertains

Outstanding among the spring social affairs was the buffet supper last evening when Miss Margaret Fleming was a charming hostess, honoring Miss Elizabeth Jones of Baltimore, and Miss Bruce Tucker, June brides-elect.

The entire lower floor of the home was effectively decorated, a color note of green and white predominating.

The dining table was especially attractive, covered with an imported lace cloth and centered with a crystal bowl, a family heirloom, filled with white snapdragons, roses and poppies. A shower of misty marine rusebuds and Southern smilax was suspended from the central light, glowing tapers in crystal holders completed the table decorations.

Seated at either end of the table Mrs. J. L. Fleming and Mrs. L. W. Tucker served a delectable supper.

As a reminder of the evening Miss Fleming presented each lady a lovely shoulderette of ruses, sweet peas and valley lilies. The men were presented boutonnières of rosebuds.

Those enjoying Miss Fleming's hospitality were Miss Bruce Tucker, Miss Elizabeth Jones and Miss Jane Emerat of Baltimore; Miss Helen Gray Jones, Miss Rose Mae Jones, Miss Mary Lou White, Burwell Temple of Kinston, Jesse Moye, Howard Moye, Dr. Hunter of Wilson, Vance Perkins, Dr. John Winstead and R. W. Gorman.

END OF THE CENTURY CLUB HOSTESS TO LITERARY CLUBS

The End of the Century Club held their regular meeting at the Woman's Club building Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. E. B. Ficklen, Mrs. L. C. Arthur, Mrs. J. L. Hassell, Mrs. Charles Laughinghouse and Miss Sallie Joyner Davis were hostesses.

They had as guests all the literary clubs in town, Sans Souci, Round Table, A. A. U. W., Literary Department of the Woman's Club and Junior Woman's Club.

The club house was beautifully decorated with Oriental poppies and Columbia roses. The Cotten and Quinerly rooms were especially attractive with the color scheme of pink and white.

The guests were greeted at the front door by Mrs. Robert H. Wright and Mrs. J. L. Little. The hostesses received them at the club room entrance where Mrs. R. L. Carr, Mrs. M. K. Fort, Mrs. Hortense Moye and Mrs. L. R. Meadows ushered them to their seats.

The club was called to order by the president and turned over to the hostesses for the afternoon.

Miss Sallie Joyner Davis, member of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College, welcomed the guests in her charming manner and introduced Mrs. George Daniels of Rocky Mount. Mrs. Daniels then very graciously took charge of the meeting and gave a most interesting review of the trilogy, Kristin Lavransdatter, by Sigrid Undset. The author, as one of the outstanding women of Norway is of peculiar interest to women over the world and her trilogy, a recent Nobel prize winner has caused widespread interest.

Mrs. Daniels' review was made doubly delightful through her understanding of the spirit of the book and her frequent use of its quaint phraseology. Kristin Lavransdatter is a story of medieval Norway, its people and customs, told in three books. The first, The Bridal Wreath, is the story of Kristin, daughter of Yavrans, through her childhood and early girlhood. The second, The Mistress of Ibsal, deals with her life with her charming but irresponsible husband, Erlend, and their children. The third, The Cross, takes them through their stormy declining years, filled with remorse for the sin of their youth, mingled with their steadfast love for each other.

The characters of this trilogy are made vivid through Miss Undset's complete understanding of human nature and the people of her country. The charm of old Norway is woven throughout the books and Mrs. Daniels' treatment made it felt throughout her audience.

To this unusually delightful program Mrs. Daniels' own charm and personality added wonderfully. The club and guests gave a rising vote of thanks to Mrs. Daniels and still feel indebted to her and the hostesses for this splendid entertainment.

The guests were then invited over to a beautifully decorated table, from which refreshments were served. Mrs. J. B. Spilman poured tea. Mrs. Dail Laughinghouse, Mrs. R. C. Sickles Jr., and Mrs. R. D. Harrington assisted in serving.

Out of town guests were Mrs. E. F. Dickinson and Mrs. Penn Watson of Wilson; Mrs. Lawrence Sprunt, Miss Marguerite Walker and Mrs. Marsden Bellamy of Wilmington; Mrs. Hyman Phillips, Mrs. Spencer Bass, Mrs. Henry Bourne and Mrs. Henry Johnson of Tarboro. We were especially delighted to have Mrs. Douglas Wesson and Mrs. Wiggins. —Reported.

Red Men Stage Mock Trial Here

One of the most enjoyable programs of the year was dishes out to the Improved Order of Red Men Friday night—a mock court was held and judging by the laughter of all present it will be long remembered. W. J. Bundy, Dink James, represented the state, while A. B. Corey and L. S. Spence represented the defense.

The defendant was charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated and causing a collision. A. E. Alwanger, the prosecuting witness, was unable to give an accurate description of the accident as it was brought out in cross-examination that he had "sipped" a little also.

Both sides made able and eloquent appeals to the jury. One of the most dramatic and exciting moments of the trial was when L. S. Spence, counsel for the defense, asked the court for permission to see exhibit A and to the amazement of the state's counsel he deliberately drank up all the evidence.

J. C. Galloway of Grimesland, presided as judge and his charge to the jury was both long and technical.

The defendant was sentenced to serve two years at hard labor in prison or remain at home with his wife—he decided in favor of prison.

Red Men Stage Mock Trial Here

One of the most enjoyable programs of the year was dishes out to the Improved Order of Red Men Friday night—a mock court was held and judging by the laughter of all present it will be long remembered. ABOUT TOWN

State Bank and Trust Company is to be congratulated upon its ability to pay off the first installment of deposits of the old National Bank two months before due under depositors' agreements signed before the new bank opened.

This will do much to improve the financial condition of the community at a time when every cent is needed more than it has probably ever been needed before.

The action shows that State Bank & Trust Company has enjoyed splendid growth since it began operation last year, and speaks great things for the future of the institution and the people of the community which it serves.

It is an indication of an institution attempting to render a great service to the people with their wholehearted support and should do much toward improving public confidence in the financial fabric of the state.

Greenville schools are going to run eight and a half months this session, and the gratifying part about the whole business is the fact that it is being done on a cash basis.

This means that every teacher will be paid off before she leaves the city, and the schools will close down with not a single obligation to consider from this direction.

It is in striking contrast to some other institutions of the state which have been forced to ask teachers to complete the remainder of their terms without pay, while others closed before expiration of their terms rather than ask the teachers to go unpaid.

Greenville has handled the situation beautifully and members of the Board of Aldermen and the School Board are to be congratulated upon the spirit of harmony that made this possible.

It is in striking contrast to some other institutions of the state which have been forced to ask teachers to complete the remainder of their terms without pay, while others closed before expiration of their terms rather than ask the teachers to go unpaid.

Greenville is recognized as one of the best business towns in this part of the state, and the business men are doing everything possible to hold the distinction.

Clinging tenaciously to this honor, virtually all stores and business houses are offering one of the most extensive showings of goods this summer in spite of the financial shortage being experienced in so many parts of the country.

Shoppers from a radius of many miles should find it advisable to visit the city before thinking of going elsewhere, because Greenville business men not only carry a greater variety of goods to choose from but are offering them at prices in keeping with the largest stores of the country.

Many things will be in demand for the vacation season, and it will be a wise man or woman indeed who gives due attention to the home merchant before turning attention to other great trade centers of the country.

Fire, the demon that slips on over us when we least expect it, did over two million dollars worth of damage in New York City yesterday.

Starting as a trifling affair, the blaze increased to staggering proportions and destroyed much valuable property along the Hudson river waterfront.

In spite of the fact that New York has probably the finest fire-fighting equipment in the world, the flames inflicted great loss of property before finally being checked.

The same situation would prevail in any community if fire got out of control and this brings us face to face with the importance of throwing every safeguard around our homes and business properties during the hot summer months.

The fire loss in Greenville was larger last year than the previous year, and it may prove larger this year unless every effort is taken to prevent it.

By the removal of all fire hazards citizens can improve the condition exceedingly and it is hoped they will do so before it is too late.

YOU CAN'T MARRY

By Julia Cleft-Addams

SYNOPSIS: A suspicious doctor threatens Georgie Townsend's plan to hold her job by telling her employer that her cousin Jenny—and not she—has married Eddie Townsend. Jenny finds the doctor, who has attended Eddie aier a nervous breakdown, trying to question the superintendent of Georgie's apartment house.

Chapter 18 "YOU MARRIED MY PILOT." "He's upstairs, yes," the doctor said. "Miss Revell has told you, of course, what his trouble is?"

"Yes," said Jenny. "That is, she told me there was bad news about him. She didn't give me details."

"Good!" sneered the doctor. "And neither of you at home to take charge of the poor chap. Or perhaps he doesn't live here, really? Though I remember Miss Revell mentioned she was getting the apartment ready for you and your husband?"

"I don't think," said Jenny very quietly, "that I know your name." "Tallas. Dr. Leslie Tallas."

"Thank you. Are there any instructions I should be given, Dr. Tallas, about Mr. Townsend before you go?"

"Well, he's suffering from profound nervous shock," the doctor was not flushed, now, he was pale. His eyes were hostile as they came to rest upon Jenny's hands. "They gave him a sedative at the hospital before they got him into the ambulance—they didn't want to let him go at all, at first, but I offered to take charge of him and he was rapidly running a temperature at the idea of being kept in that place. A lot of planes go over, you see, and he has the fixed idea that one will drop on him and crush him. But you'd better consult your doctor about him. He'll give what advice he can and probably recommend a specialist."

"I see. Thank you. Then I needn't detain you any longer."

Miss Georgina Revell bowed slightly. Dr. Tallas scowled, shrugged his shoulders, saluted perfunctorily and strode cut to the ambulance.

Gill gave a loud, short laugh. "You helped him get Mr. Townsend up to the apartment, Gill? Did he seem excited? Ill?"

Gill reflected. "Seemed glad to get there," he vouchsafed at last. He added irrelevantly—"Your wearing no ring Miss Jenny, that's what started that doctor chap nose-poking. Most married ladies wear rings."

The hot color flooded Jenny's face. "I don't want to—I won't!" she said vehemently. Then, as though something pursued her, she turned and fled up the stairs.

By the time she reached the door of the apartment she was composed again, at any rate outwardly; only her mind and her heart were still rebellious. She whispered, "I won't wear a ring and I won't speak of Eddie as 'my husband'." Then she unlocked the door and went in, ready to face Georgie's stinging reproaches.

But there were none. Georgie was not there. The few rooms lay compactly round the little square hall and, with all doors open, Jenny could see at a glance that Georgie had not yet returned from Rochester Gate. But where, then, was Eddie Townsend?

She looked into the room that had been prepared for him; his luggage was there—it had arrived, she remembered, twenty-four hours ago—but it had not been unpacked. And she noticed, too, that his curtains were not up after all—she was rather glad of that, they would give her something practical and immediate to see to. In Georgie's room there was work waiting as well; the bed was unmade and the chairs were heaped and littered with clothes, all new, all dreadfully expensive looking. And in the sitting room the flowers needed attention.

She turned into the kitchen and as she pushed open the door, there was the sound of a quick stumble behind it and then a crash. "Eddie!"

He was pressed back against the dresser, an empty kettle at his feet. On the stove a gas-flame flared high, and the lid of the kettle was spinning merrily in the recess under the sink. His head was bandaged and plastered so that very little of his face could be seen; but what was visible looked startlingly pale. His eyes were frightened.

"Oh, it's only you, Jen!" he cracked, tried to laugh and then collapsed heavily into a chair and held his head in his hands.

Jenny picked up the kettle, filled it, retrieved the lid and set the water on to boil. She was so afraid of saying an incautious thing that she kept silence. She found her duster and went back to Georgie's room.

Her lips as well as her hands were trembling. Bad news about Ed, Georgie had hinted. Bad news indeed! What could be worse than a complete nervous collapse to a man whose only capital was his courage, his coolness of judgment, his quickness of hand and nerve?

Jenny flicked the peacock satin larger last year than the previous year, and it may prove larger this year unless every effort is taken to prevent it.

Edward down into place on Georgie's bed and gazed in dismay at the wisps of lovely, fragile lingerie flung over the rail at the end. "Oh, Georgie, what crazy extravagance!" No; for the first time, she was amazed that Miss Revell of Matching's—methodical, balanced economical effort—was also this prodigal, clothes-mad, laughter-loving Georgie!

A hesitating step in the hall and Eddie hovered, filling the doorway. "The kettle's boiling, I say, when—when will Georgie be back?"

"Any minute," Jenny assured him cheerfully. "Mr. Matching often has some extra work for her on Sunday morning. What were you going to make, tea or coffee?"

"I—well, I thought of a cup of strong coffee. There was a shamed note in his voice that she found pathetic. "My nerves seem a bit shaky after that bang up yesterday. I suppose it was yesterday?" He leaned against the door-post and she saw he was shuddering.

"Yesterday, yes. Come and help me make the coffee."

He followed her back to the kitchen. "Has that Tallas chap gone yet? He brought me along, y'know. I was half asleep by the time we got here but I remember Gill let us in and after a bit Tallas said he'd go down and find out where—my wife was."

His words stumbled over the words. "She'll be here any minute," Jenny repeated gently. "Take the old easy chair, Eddie. You always used to declare it was the only really comfortable one in the apartment."

The wicker creaked and groaned as he dropped into it. She glanced at him anxiously. He was so pale and his bandage looked so uncomfortable. Perhaps she ought to phone for a doctor before she did anything else? But neither she nor Georgie were ever ill and she did not know where to find one.

"When I've had that coffee, I think I'll go off again for a bit," he remarked, watching her busy hands. "You won't let anyone in except Georgie, will you?"

"No one shall worry you," she promised, distressed by his hunted glance at the door. "Black coffee, you said, didn't you? Sugar?"

She passed him a brimming cup. His fingers were uncertain as they took it from her—and the next second they had loosened their grip altogether and the cup and saucer were in pieces on the floor, lapped by a tide of coffee.

"There's a plane going over," he gasped. "If it crashes—oh, Jen, don't let it crash!"

He threw up his hands and slapped them upon his head, cowering down into the old chair so that his face was hidden in its cushion. Jenny looked helplessly towards the window. The throop of engines came to her when she listened intently.

Eddie gave a groaning sigh and slid more deeply into the cushions. At the same moment there was a sound of a latchkey in the door of the apartment.

Heedless of the spilt coffee and broken china, Jenny dashed out of the kitchen. She did not know whether Eddie had fainted or not, but it was plain that he had completely broken down. Georgie must come to him at once!

"Georgie—" she began. She checked herself. Georgie was there but she was not alone. She was ushering into the little hall someone whom Jenny at once recognized as Gratton Matching. This upright, short old man, shuffling along in his gray clothes, his long gray face pushed arrogantly forward, his slate-colored eyes dull and blank, could be no one else.

"What a beautiful day!" he said nervously, looking at Jenny. "Cousin, eh? (What a rasping voice the Old Man had!) 'You married my pilot, Townsend, eh? Townsend's wife, are you? Eh?'"

If Jenny says "no," she will betray Georgie; if she says "yes," Matching may catch her in the net of her own lies. What does she answer, Monday?

Cubs Climb Back To Lead With Victory Over Brooklyn

BRAVES DROP SECOND GAME TO CINCY REDS

By GAYLE TALBOT (Associated Press Sports Writer) Heine Meine's failure to sign a Pittsburgh contract and his subsequent suspension from organized ball is proving costly to the Pirates.

Defeated in eight of their last nine games, chiefly because of poor pitching, the Pirates could find little use for the righthand ace who was in 19 games while losing 13 for a fifth place club last year.

As matters stand, Manager George Gibson has only one curve who has shown any signs of dependability. Steven Swencionis has turned in two straight three-hit performances.

In their last nine games, the Pirate hurlers have granted an average of more than six runs per game, and to make things worse, the team's offense has been weak. Paul Waner and Gus Suhr alone were hitting over .300 through yesterday's game, in which the Corsairs absorbed a 4 to 2 beating from the Phillies.

The Chicago Cubs climbed back to the league lead when they squared their series with Brooklyn, 3 to 1, while the Boston Braves were dropping a second straight to Cincinnati, 14 to 1. Guy Bush kept seven Dodger hits scattered while his mates grouped their eight off Van Mungo, Shaute and Quinn. Woody English returned to the Cubs line-up to hit a triple and score the winning run in the eighth.

"Red" Lucas pitched a four-hit game for the Reds. Heath and Gilbert led a 16-hit assault on three of McKeechie's flingers.

Tight relief pitching by Clarence Mitchell, who held the Cardinals scoreless after relieving young Harold Schumacher in the sixth, featured the Giants' second victory over the world champions, 4 to 3. Joe McCarthy's New York Yanks vaulted from fourth place to second in the American League when George Pignas set the Detroit Tigers down, 1 to 0. Pignas allowed only five hits and struck out seven.

Al Simmons and Roger Cramer provided the punch as the Athletics tripped Cleveland again, 5 to 2.

Chicago's White Sox broke a seven-game losing streak auspiciously by trimming the league leading Washington Senators, 5 to 3. It was the first loss in five starts for Monte Weaver, big Washington rookie.

Fred Schult's homerun in the seventh with Jan Levy on base gave the St. Louis Browns their second victory over the Boston Red Sox, 6 to 5.

E. C. T. C. Loses To Louisburg

Playing the Louisburg College baseball team to a standstill for the first five innings, East Carolina baseball team suddenly went into a slump and when the smoke cleared away they had the short end of an 18-7 score.

Louisburg presented a team that had played quite a bit of semi-pro baseball. West, former Duke freshman star, started on the mound for Louisburg and was promptly greeted with two scores and was taken out. Richards relieved him but was hit rather frequently by the Teachers throughout the game.

The hitting stars for Louisburg were Lowe and Richards, while Rumley led the Teachers with two hits. King and Tucker delivered a timely hit each with the bases loaded to bat across four runs.

Batteries for the two teams were Louisburg, West, Richard and Willard; East Carolina, Tucker and Thomas.

INTEREST IN DERBY MOUNTS AS RACE NEARS

By ALAN GOULD (Associated Press Sports Writer) Louisville, Ky., May 7.—(AP)—Even though the tones were somewhat more subdued, the flights of wagering on a less extravagant scale, the crowds neither so tumultuous nor numerous, this was Kentucky Derby Day, combining more color, interest and enthusiasm than any other horse race in America.

Even the favorite, Mrs. Louis G. Kaufmann's black colt, Tick On, claimed nothing like the support attracted by Gallant Fox or Twenty Grand in the last two classics of the Bluegrass, but not even the times counter-balanced the traditional flavor attached to this exciting struggle for three-year-old turf honors.

Weather conditions were dubious, crowd estimates varied from 25,000 to 40,000, and betting lagged before a prospective final rush to the mutual windows at Churchill Downs, but the derby promised to be a real horse-race, perhaps the most thrilling in years.

Twenty thoroughbreds—fourteen colts, five geldings and one filly—were nominated to start. Depending on conditions, five or six were likely to be scratched, but there was a sufficient assortment of high-class talent to make the outcome conspicuously speculative and an entry big enough to assure the victor more than $50,000, besides the roses and acclaim that go with it.

WANT ADS PAY

HEAVY STICK ASSAULTS ON IN PIEDMONT

Charlotte, May 7.—(AP)—Bash hits to the right of them, base hits to the left of them, high balls and grounders, caused Piedmont League pitchers to give up the ghost along a wide front Friday as the league apparently went in search of the world's composite batting championship.

Three teams batted over 400—Raleigh 500, Winston-Salem 479, Durham 439. Three more batted over 300—Greensboro 353, Wilmington and Charlotte 316, High Point had a 275 average, and Asheville 195. The league average for the day was .349, with everybody taking a crack at the ball except the bat boys and grounds keepers.

And all with little change in the standings of clubs. Winston-Salem retained first place with a 13 to 7 victory over Charlotte, getting next to C. Martin, Kermode and Belje, Hornel twirlers, for 23 safeties. McCrone, Twin first sacker, led the attack with 5 out of 5, including a double. Pitcher Baylin, who allowed the Hornets 12 hits, including four home runs, helped win his own game with three hits out of five trips to the plate, including a double and a triple which accounted for two runs. He scored twice himself. Culbreth, Charlotte third baseman, got two home runs out of his five times up. Pond, catcher, and Smith, center fielder, got the other circuit smashes.

Despite a 17 to 4 loss to Raleigh, the Greensboro Patriots retained second position. The Caps got 21 hits, including eight triples and three doubles, off Kleinhaus and Kelly. Francis allowed the Pats eight safeties, including two doubles, a triple and a home run by Korherr. Greensboro center fielder.

Asheville, Wilmington, Raleigh and Durham made it an even race for third place, each having an equal number of wins and losses. The Wilmington Pirates got 14 hits off Woodington and Coltrane, including four doubles and a home run, but made them good for only 12 runs, while Durham nipped Cratney and Ryan 18 times for 13 runs. Six Durham players got doubles, and Long, outfielder, and Farrell, first baseman, got two each.

While Asheville got 9 hits off Appleton and Stakach, and High Point got 14 off Sharpe, there was a paucity of scoring, and the Pointers had to go 13 innings to win, 4 to 3. High Point's hits included three doubles, while the Tourists were getting two and a home run by Luebbe.

'HEELS' FACE RUBBER GAME AT GATE CITY

Charlotte, May 7.—(AP)—University of North Carolina supporters trek to Greensboro today for the rubber game of the Tar Heel's time honored series with the University of Virginia, North Carolina having captured the second game 4 to 3.

Dunlap waked, Dixon and Powell sacrificed him to third, and he secured on Pattisall's fly to left field to win the game after the score had twice been tied.

N. C. State scored three runs in the tenth inning to defeat Davidson, 5 to 2, in the only big five face contest of the day. The Presbyterians had come from behind with two runs to tie the score in the ninth.

Duke and Wake Forest, other big five teams, which were in action on foreign soil, had tough slugging. The Blue Devils had a bad fourth inning, when Albert yielded two home runs, and Washington and Lee beat them 4 to 1.

Wake Forest was downed 7 to 3 by the Marines at Quantico.

The Carolina Tar Heels, at Charlottesville, followed the lead of their elder brothers, and beat the University of Virginia Yearlings, 4 to 3, the same as the score between the varsities at Chapel Hill.

In the minor collegiate league, Guilford beat Lenoir-Rhyne, 11 to 8. In a faculty-senior game at Chapel Hill the faculty lived up to class room tradition, maintaining the upper hand, 11 to 5.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

New York Cotton

New York, May 7.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 6 to 9 points on a continuation of yesterday's late buying movement and in response to relatively firm cables, July sold at 5.90.

This included some commission house and trade buying as well as covering promoted by the more favorable view of the Washington news, but the initial demand was supplied by week-end realizing and prices eased slightly after the call. At the end of the first half hour, July was selling at 5.84, with the general market about net unchanged to 3 points higher.

Liverpool quotations just about met the local advance of Friday afternoon. Private advices said the market there had been influenced by covering, trade calling and local buying but added that the demand for cotton cloths and yarns was quiet. Fertilizer tag sales in the thirteen southern states for the month of April were reported to be 77 per cent of last year's. The amount of cotton on shipment awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 107,000 bales against 61,000 last year.

Grain Market

Chicago, May 7.—(AP)—Guided largely by behavior of the New York stock market, grain values today reacted from advances and ended with losses.

Paris dispatches comparing the assassination of President Doumer to the assassination which started the world war failed to arouse new buying of wheat, despite positive statements that Doumer's assassin belonged to the regular Bolshevik forces. Word that the Russian government had decreed radical changes in its grain collection policy was likewise virtually ignored.

Stock Market

New York, May 7.—(AP)—The stock market paused to get its bearings today, after yesterday's sweeping upturn.

The list maintained a fairly good undertone, but further minor rallies attracted weekend selling and profit taking, and there were numerous small recessions—largely fractions to a point—at the finish. Turnover approximated 600,000 shares and the closing tone was easy.

Rails and oils acted best, but were unable to make persistent headway. The weekend brought little in the way of business or political news of a character further to stimulate the market.

Attention still converged upon Washington, as bankers hopefully looked for further signs of Congressional determination to balance the budget with equitable taxation and economies. In the meantime, foreigners still showed some signs of concern over the dollar, which again sagged in the foreign exchange market.

While dollar exchange has been under rather sharp pressure this week, bankers state that foreigners have not been active sellers of their American securities, which presumably shows that confidence in this country has not been seriously impaired.

In the rails, Santa Fe closed near a point higher, and D and H rose more than 3 in a moderate turnover. American B was again a firm spot, in oils, rising more than 2 points, as a further reflection of the purchase of its foreign properties by Standard of New Jersey. The fact that the properties in the transaction were valued on the basis of "book value" rather than the severely deflated market values, attracted attention.

The commitment read that Fall should "stand committed until such fine shall be paid," and these words were eliminated by the order of the court.

The amended petition was immediately forwarded to Warden Swope of the New Mexico penitentiary. Telegraphic orders will be sent the warden but officials did not know whether he would honor them and release Fall tomorrow, the day set by the department.

Fall, convicted of accepting $100,000 from Edward L. Doherty to influence his action in leasing the Elk Hills naval oil reserve to Doherty's company, began serving his sentence last July 20 and the department figured that under the federal prison rules allowing time off for good behavior Fall should be released tomorrow.

At Bethel the commencement sermon will be delivered by Rev. J. O. Long at the Methodist church in the evening. Senior class exercises will be held in the school auditorium Thursday evening, May 12. Taylor B. Atmore will deliver the literary address in the school auditorium Friday evening, May 13.

Case since Captain Lancaster was imprisoned on a charge of murder were subpoenaed by state attorney N. Vernon Hawthorne, to testify in a investigation of a reported "red ink" evidence presented the grand jury.

Hawthorne said the investigation had to do with the publication of excerpts from Captain Lancaster's diaries. The reporters were instructed to appear before the grand jury for questioning.

Mrs. Clarke, professor of journalism at the University of Miami, said she based her theory of murder on a statement of the physician who attended her son after he was shot.

"I believe my son was beaten about the head with a revolver before he was shot," she told newspaper men.

She quoted Dr. Carleton Deedorer, her family physician, as saying he found evidence of a fracture at the base of Haden's skull and three unnatural bumps on the left side of his head. The discoveries were made, she said, as the doctor treated a bullet wound in his temple.

Captain Lancaster and Mrs. Keith Miller contend Clarke committed suicide.

Dr. Deedorer told me Thursday he was convinced these findings

RIFT BETWEEN U. S. NAVY AND HONOLULU INCREASES

The whole city was watching meanwhile developments in the scheduled retrial of four Hawaiians of mixed blood charged with assaulting Mrs. Massie, Detroit, defended entirely by whether Mrs. Massie remains in the islands to testify.

John C. Kelley, public prosecutor, made public a statement calling on Mrs. Massie to remain as a witness. Mrs. Massie announced she planned to sail for the mainland aboard the S. S. Malolo Sunday. Clarence Darrow, chief of defense counsel for Mrs. Fortescue and her co-defendants, said Mrs. Massie had decided to remain.

AGED FRENCH PRESIDENT SUCCUMBS TO INJURIES INFLICTED BY BOLCHVIK

When the end came the entire French cabinet was assembled in a room at the hospital next to that occupied by M. Doumer. At his bedside were his wife, his two daughters, Mesdames Eymerie and Fournier, and several of his physicians.

The funeral will be held Thursday, it was decided shortly before noon today. An election to select a new president will be held at Versailles next Tuesday.

It was a pathetic death scene. M. Doumer lay on a simple iron bedstead in the huge, bare room. Throughout the night the physicians worked over him. They gave him a number of transfusions of blood and used oxygen to spur his failing heart.

For a time hope for his recovery was held. Shortly before midnight, after oxygen had been used and a narcotic was administered to ease him, Dr. Louis Mourier, director of public health, said the president's condition was slightly improved.

At 12:45 a. m., however, Francois Pietri, minister of the budget, announced that he was not doing as well as he had been. At 1:30 a. m. Premier Andre Tardieu arrived at the hospital and this was taken as an indication that the president's condition had taken a grave turn. A minute later the physicians issued a bulletin saying his condition was becoming more and more grave. "Cerebral symptoms are arising," the bulletin said "and the lesion at the base of the skull is becoming more marked."

A short time later the procurator-general, a number of police officers and Dr. Paul, official medical expert, arrived at the hospital and this was taken by the waiting crowds to mean that the end was near. A male nurse, leaving the room, said that some time before midnight M. Doumer had expressed astonishment at finding himself in a hospital bed and he was told: "You have had an automobile accident."

At 3:45 A. M. Pierre Cathala, one of the cabinet under-secretaries, announced that the president had lapsed into a coma and had suffered a period of delirium. His pulse had grown imperceptible and his breathing spasmodic. Hope was given up.

At 4:15 the cabinet assembled in the room next to that in which M. Doumer lay. A few minutes later the presidents of the Senate and the chamber of deputies arrived.

A few minutes before 4:37 a. m. M. Doumer came out of the coma and recognized his family. He made a pathetic effort to bid them farewell, but was unable to speak and fell back exhausted. A moment later he was dead.

The body was taken immediately to the palace. It was placed in the green room, where it was to lie in state and where the French people would have their last opportunity to look upon him kindly, white-bearded face to the man who was one of France's most Democratic presidents, and who rose from poverty, the son of a railway section boss, to become Chief Executive of the republic.

MARK TIME IN PROBE OF DEATH OF S. C. OFFICER

Asheville, May 7.—(AP)—Investigation of the fatal shooting of Policeman A. B. Hunt in a gun battle at Greenville, S. C., last Sunday, marked time here today while Judge H. Hoyle Sink held a habeas corpus hearing in the case of Osborne Briggs, one of the four men under arrest in the case.

Briggs, Vernon Bailey and Reese Bailey, the latter found sleeping, heavily armed, in a barn near Burnsville yesterday, were being held here, while Ray Bailey was in a hospital at Sylva where he was said to have a chance for recovery from five bullet wounds which officers allege he received in the Greenville gun battle.

Meanwhile, officers were seeking James Peek Royston, with a warrant charging him with being the fifth member of the band which killed Hunt when he started to investigate two taxi passengers after the driver had reported he feared they intended to rob him.

Authorities were also investigating a report that Reese Bailey was wanted in Iowa for a bank robbery in which two policemen were killed.

CONTROL FIRE AT NEW YORK

minor mishaps. With all leaves cancelled and every fireman in the city on duty, fire fighters struggled all day and all night to quench the flames, which swept great pine pilings from underneath the concrete dock and steel super-structure.

The last section of the 1,000 foot pier collapsed last night, leaving only a bulkhead standing. The fire apparently started in a boiler room underneath the pier about 7 a. m. yesterday.

Soon choking clouds of smoke rolled out over the Hudson river from the pier, which is at West 13th street, and alarm after alarm sounded. Apparatus from all over the island massed, while seven fireboats played many streams of water on the pier.

Because the builders had striven to make the structure fireproof, the flames were hard to combat. Standing on scorching cement, the firemen had to chop holes in the floor and descend into terrific heat to bring their hose lines into action on the pilings.

The liners California and De Grasse were removed from piers nearby to save them from destruction. No liner was at the burning pier, over which thousands of passengers have passed for European trips aboard such ships as the Berengaria, Mauretania and Aquitania, but much merchandise was lost.

Chief John J. McElloght, was among those who collapsed from smoke and exhaustion. His assistant, Thomas F. Daugherty, announced this morning that the flames were under control.

The man killed was a bystander. A hose line broke, snapped and fractured his skull.

FAKE PRINCE LOOSE AGAIN

morning, Gerguson was to have been sent back to France, where he boarded the boat.

Explanations of the manner in which he escaped from the island were somewhat vague. James Drury, a guard, was seeming to the mainland on business, and the "Prince" not permission to accompany him, saying he wished to get his luggage—consisting, it was later determined, of a walking stick.

The "Prince" and the guard were in a restaurant and Gerguson asked permission to wash up. He went to the washroom and kept right on going.

Once before, the "Prince" who at that time was posing as a lesser nobleman—a duke of some kind—escaped from Ellis Island by swimming.

The Daily News, in a copyrighted article, says a reported met Gerguson on Fifth avenue late yesterday following the escape. Gerguson said he intended to leave town and get a job on a farm, explaining he enjoyed work of that kind.

During his stayover on the Ile De France Gerguson concealed himself in a kennel during the daytime. Under cover of darkness he changed into evening clothes and mingled with passengers, many of whom frankly confessed they never had seen a "Prince" before.

There are some circumstances in connection with the affair which immigration officials hinted today they would investigate.

SICK HEADACHE From Constipation

HERE is a purely vegetable medicine which has benefited thousands of men, women and children, and which you should try when troubled with constipation, or biliousness. Mr. H. H. Rogillo, of Lake Charles, La., writes: "When I let myself get constipated, I feel dull and sluggish and all out of sorts, not equal to my work. When one has this feeling it is time to take something before he feels worse. I certainly have found Black-Draught quick to relieve. I used to have severe headaches and suffer a great deal. I found this came from constipation, and that Black-Draught would correct it. That is why I began using Theford's
