MEANS INDICTED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT OF $100,000

Charged With Diverting Huge Ransom Fund For Return Lindbergh Baby

TWO BILLS OF INDICTMENT

Former Convict and Government Detective Admits Accepting Money But Claims It Was Given to Mysterious Stranger Believed to be Authorized Representative of Washington Women

Washington, May 10.—(AP)—Gaston B. Means, native of Concord, N. C., and self-styled intermediary in the Lindbergh kidnaping case, was indicted today for larceny and embezzlement of $104,000 from Mrs. Edward B. McLean, estranged wife of the Washington Post publisher.

The District of Columbia grand jury returned two indictments charging the spectacular ex-convict and former government detective with having fraudulently diverted and secreted a $100,000 ransom fund and $4,000 for expenses of the kidnapers.

Means had been employed by Mrs. McLean to effect return of the kidnapped Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr. He has admitted receiving the $100,000, but maintains that after Mrs. McLean demanded it, he gave it to a mysterious stranger who he believed was an authorized representative of Mrs. McLean.

The indictments were read before Justice James M. Proctor in the District of Columbia Supreme court. Prosecutors are ready for trial, but some delay is expected to be sought by the defense. Means was jailed last week after a secret investigation by the Justice Department following complaint by Mrs. McLean.

Means alleged misappropriation of the $100,000, the indictments charged, took place on March 7, a week after Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., was kidnapped. The $4,000 was obtained allegedly on March 18.

Government investigators are still without a substantial clue to what actually happened to the money. They have been unable thus far to find any one associated with "negotiators" for which Mrs. McLean says he led her, on wild-goose chases to South Carolina and the Mexican border. He says the man to whom he gave the money identified himself by whispering, "Eleven," the number by which Mrs. McLean was called throughout the affair.

Each indictment was in two counts, covering the ransom and expense money separately. The first count of the larceny after trust indictment charged that on last March 7 Means "did have in his possession $100,000 in lawful money," which Mrs. McLean had "delivered and entrusted to him" for her use, and that means "did then and there feloniously, unlawfully and fraudulently convert the same to his own use."

The second count of this indictment charged Means had $4,000 delivered to him by Mrs. McLean on March 18, and that he converted this sum to his own use.

American Women To Be Presented at English Court

London, May 10.—(AP)—Whether Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon will or will not wear knee breeches at the first royal court at Buckingham palace tomorrow night when a number of American women will be presented to King George and Queen Mary was a question embassy officials could not answer this morning.

Chief among the American presentees is Mrs. David Bruce, daughter of Ambassador Mellon, who has chosen a beautiful gown of white georgette with an overdress of lace, lightly embroidered with rhinestones and silver, and a lace train to match.

NEW TRIP FOR MISSING BABY

Mystery Surrounds Work of Intermediaries; Shelby Baby Case Dropped.

Norfolk, Va., May 9.—(AP)—The latest phase of work undertaken by John Hughes Curtis, principal Norfolk negotiator in the Lindbergh kidnaping case, formed today another angle of mystery in the secret negotiations of three intermediaries here to bring about the return of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr.

REBELS CLOSE IN ON HAILUNG

Powerful Chinese Troops Reported as Threatening Japanese Consulate.

Harbin, Manchuria, May 10.—(AP)—Powerful Chinese rebel forces were reported in dispatches to the Rengo News Agency today to be closing in on Hailung, an important railway town northeast of Mukden. The Japanese consulate there was believed to be endangered. Meantime, the League of Nations Manchurian inquiry commission was working here, protested by heavy police guards.

The entire force was called out last night when the commission arrived and all streets through which the party passed on its way to its hotel were closed to traffic to prevent the possibility of trouble.

Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese assessor with the commission and former foreign minister of China, was heavily guarded by detectives as he rode to his hotel.

WOMAN RUNS SENATE A DAY

Mrs. Caraway Presides Over August Assembly During the Absence of Curtis.

Washington, May 10.—(AP)—Not even a tremor shook the Senate walls yesterday as that august and select chamber was ruled briefly and for the first time in its great history by a woman.

It was "Madam President" for the dignified representatives of the 48 states when Vice-President Curtis decided to take a rest, and invited Mrs. Hattie W. Caraway to take his place on the rostrum.

Her rule was uneventful, with no difficult questions to settle and since one member held the floor throughout it was not even necessary for a senator to address her by the strange title which was hers.

TELLS OF PAYING MONEY TO MEANS

A federal grand jury in Washington investigated charges that Gaston B. Means, former government agent, received $100,000 on false representation that he could return the kidnapped Lindbergh baby. Mrs. Edward B. McLean, estranged wife of a Washington publisher, testified she paid the money to Means. Mrs. McLean is shown with her attorneys, Nelson T. Hartson (left) and Albert W. Fox, after appearing as a witness.

Ohio And West Virginia Select Delegates Today

(By The Associated Press) Governor George White of Ohio, steps officially into the Democratic party's presidential running today through the primary selection of his state's convention delegates, 46 of the 52 being, assured him. Simultaneously West Virginia Democrats selected 16 delegates, confidentially counted for Franklin D. Roosevelt. In both states virtually the entire Republican delegate vote of 55 and 19 respectively, was assigned to President Hoover, although he stayed off the preference (Continued on Page Six)

CITY HONORS MEN OF GRAY

F. C. Harding Delivers Address in Observance of Memorial Day Here.

Greenville joined the remainder of the Southland today in paying tribute to the men who fought with Lee and Jackson in the titanic struggle between the states. The exercises were just as inspirational as any of past years but there was a touch of sadness about the celebration due to the fact that only two of the three or four surviving members of J. Bryan Grimes Camp were in attendance.

They were James M. Turnage, of Winterville, and David Roberson, of Martin county. In spite of the fact that 89 summers have passed over the head of Turnage, he said he was " hale and hearty as ever and felt like fighting a whole bag of wildcats." Mr. Roberson also appeared vigorous and entered into the activities in a spirited way.

FALL IS GIVEN HIS LIBERTY

Former Interior Secretary Resting At Beautiful Ranch He Formerly Owned.

Tres Rios, N. M., May 10.—(AP)—Released from prison, Albert B. Fall today rested at the beautiful Tres Rios ranch he formerly owned.

The aged former secretary of the interior was sped here from the New Mexico state penitentiary at Santa Fee and arrived at dusk last night in the same ambulance that took him there last July 20 to serve a year and a day sentence on conviction of accepting a bribe while in office. Only nine months and nineteen days were served, there being a deduction for good behavior.

Tres Rios ranch was Fall's prized possession. It is now owned by E. L. Doherty, oil man and lifelong (Continued on Page Six)

Washington, May 10.—(AP)—Lieut. Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, reported to the navy at El Paso this afternoon by way of midday that the crossing of mountains in Texas by the Akron had been impeded by an "impenetrable" line of thunder storms last night and zero visibility so far today.

INDICT FLIER FOR MURDER

True Bill Returned Against Former English Aviator for Killing Hayden Clarke.

Miami, Fla., May 10.—(AP)—Captain W. N. Lancaster, former British army flier, has been indicted for first degree murder in the strange shooting of Haden Clarke, fiance of his flying partner, Mrs. Jesse M. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix.

The true bill against Lancaster was returned by the Dade county grand jury yesterday a week after his arrest on a murder warrant and Judge H. F. Atkinson ordered the flier held without bail for trial at circuit court term opening today. The accused man accepted nothing (Continued on Page Six)

BOYD TO TRY OCEAN FLIGHT

Canadian Flier to Use Monoplane Columbia in Trip to Rome in May.

New York, May 10.—(AP)—The Daily News says that the seven-year-old monoplane "Columbia" is to be used in another attempt to fly the Atlantic. Captain J. Erroll Boyd, Canadian flier who already has made one successful flight across the ocean, plans a New York to Rome solo flight starting probably May 20, the News says.

The Columbia was the plane in which Clarence Chamberlin and his "stowaway" backer, Charles Levine, flew to Germany and in which Boyd, in 1930, flew safely to the Sicily Islands, England.

Boyd is making the flight to attend the Royal Italian Aero club conference May 23 to 30, as the representative of Canada.

Three Officers Indicted For Part In Gaming Ring

Miami, Fla., May 10.—(AP)—Three Dade county officials—Solicitor Fred Pine, Sheriff M. P. Lehman and Chief Deputy Sheriff Jack Gruss—are under grand jury indictment today on charges of having membership in a big gambling syndicate that made $66,000 per month in profits from the operation of slot machines.

Three indictments referred to the gambling operations and three others were returned against Pine individually, charging malpractice in office, obstruction of justice and failure to prosecute criminals.

Solicitor Pine was placed under $3,000 bond and the sheriff and deputy made bail of $1,500 each. Pine denied he had violated his oath of office. Aside from that brief statement, he refused to comment.

BOMB RENEWS GAMING WAR

Chicago, May 10.—(AP)—A bomb was tossed in the doorway of a racing news service office on the third floor of the Loop-Edge Congress Trust & Savings Bank last night and police said its blast signalled resumption of a race track gamblers' war ended by truce two years ago.

King of Bombers Arrested at Chicago in Anticipation of New Trouble.

The explosion jarred the vicinity of the ten story bank building at Congress Street and Wabash Avenue and shook occupants of Michigan Avenue hotels but two men working in the office of the news service, the Program Publishing Company, escaped injuries.

Admittedly anticipating trouble among the race track gamblers due to alleged efforts of Capone gangsters to wedge into control of the lucrative business, the police yesterday twice arrested James Belcastro, 36, known as "king of the bombers," on charges of vagrancy.

After the first arrest, Belcastro was released on $1,500 bond and told to appear for arraignment today but another squad found him (Continued on page six)

PLAN TO PUSH ASSAULT CASE

Prosecutor Kelly Will Attempt to Bring 4 Men to Retrial in the Massie Case.

Honolulu, May 10.—(AP)—Hew Public Prosecutor John C. Kelley, lacking the complaining witness in the case, would proceed May 25 with the scheduled retrial of four men accused of attacking Mrs. Thelma Massie, provided a subject for public speculation today.

With Mrs. Massie and those in-mended their immediate removal from office.

The indictments referring to the slot machine syndicate charged the officials and a group of five Dade county residents with two conspiracies to violate gambling laws and accused them of operating lotteries in violation of the law.

One paragraph of the grand jury report charged that Pine, Lehman and Gruss are "without question allied with organized racketeers and have been engaged for some time in assisting and protecting them."

The presentment quote professional gamblers of Miami as admitting they had no fear of molestation from Sheriff Lehman, the solicitor or police of Miami and Miami Beach.

One of the individual indictments against Pine charged he allowed four gambling house operators to spread guilty to gaming, a misdemeanor, rather than hold them for trial for operating gambling houses, which is a felony in Florida.

Another indictment accused him of failing to prosecute these cases and still another charged he tried to suppress movements against vice in Miami.

'Ideal College Man'

Walter H. Vanderburgh of Dover, N. J., was selected by students and faculty of Lafayette college as the "ideal college man." He captained the 1931 football team.

Versailles, France, May 10.—(AP)—Albert Francois Lebrun was elected fourteenth President of France today by a vote of 633 out of 747 cast to succeed the assassinated President, Paul Doumer.

Paul Faure, noted Socialist leader, received 114 votes and 49 were blank.

BOOST STATE RUM CONTROL

John Morehead Seeks Modification of 18th Amendment and the Swedish Plan.

Washington, May 10.—(AP)—Modification of the 18th amendment to permit a form a state liquor control similar to the Bratt system now in force in Sweden was recommended today to a Senate judiciary subcommittee.

John M. Morehead, minister to Sweden advanced the plan. He said a thorough study of the 15 years operation of the Bratt system since his appointment to the post in 1930 had convinced him it was satisfactory and successful.

"Not since slavery," he said, "has there been so vital a question before the country as that of prohibition. In spite of the many benefits which it has unquestionably conferred upon us, the unforeseen evils which have followed in its (Continued on page six)

Rotarians Hear Raleigh Man and Discuss Opening of Local Swimming Pool.

Discussion of opening the Westbrook swimming pool during the summer months, appointment of a committee and a short talk by Dr. J. Y. Joyner, of Raleigh, former superintendent of public instruction, marked the regular meeting of the Rotary club last night.

The club decided to confer with the committee in charge of the swimming pool and to urge operation along the same plan as last year when thousands of children took advantage of the recreation afforded on the Westbrook property.

SENATE HEAD ELECTED ON FIRST BALLOT

Defeats Paul Faure, Socialist Leader, and Visits Bier of Late Paul Doumer.

Paris, May 10.—(AP)—Premier Andre Tardieu presented his resignation this evening to the new President, Albert Lebrun.

The President asked him to remain in office and M. Tardieu said he would on the understanding that a new cabinet be formed by June 4. The new Chamber of Deputies meets June 1.

Versailles, France, May 10.—(AP)—Albert Francois Lebrun was elected fourteenth President of France today by a vote of 633 out of 747 cast to succeed the assassinated President, Paul Doumer.

Paul Faure, noted Socialist leader, received 114 votes and 49 were blank.

In the interest of harmony there was virtually no opposition to the veteran statesman whose service as president of the Senate had put him in line for the presidency of the nation.

After the brief ceremony of investiture, M. Lebrun's first act was to pay his respects at the bier of his slain predecessor.

Then he was to go to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier and later in the day to the Luxembourg palace to receive the diplomatic copy and high officials of the nation when they made their calls of congratulation.

Albert Francois Lebrun is an old hand in French politics and something of a protégé of Raymond Poincare.

At the age of 69 he becomes the fourteenth President of the French republic, stepping up as did Paul Doumer from the presidency of the Senate.

Only a few days ago M. Poincare, battling what may be his last illness, declared that he would refuse to doom himself to perpetual retirement. In a way M. Lebrun's election to the Presidency carries the wartime President's influence into the Elysee palace.

Albert Lebrun was "Poincare's man" many times during the thirty years of his political life.

The new President was elected to the Chamber of Deputies in 1900. Subsequently Poincare placed him at the head of the sinking fund commission, an institution for reducing the national debt and one of Poincare's favorite projects.

With Poincare's backing, M. Lebrun became the president of the General Council of the Department of Meurthe and Moselle, a province which he has represented so long in parliament.

Seek to Escape Trial in So. Car.

Asheville, May 10.—(AP)—Three men, charged with participating in a gun battle in Greenville, S. C., May 1, in which Policeman A. R. Hunt was killed, today sought to escape by means of habeas corpus proceedings, execution of extradition papers granted South Carolina authorities by Governor O. Max Gardner.

A hearing before Judge H. Hoyle Sink for Osborne Briggs, which was continued yesterday, is to be completed this afternoon just prior to similar proceedings scheduled in behalf of Vernon and Reese Bailey, brothers-in-law of Briggs.

The trio has been in jail here, and Ray Bailey, another alleged member of the gang, is under heavy guard in a Sylva hospital where attaches said he had a chance to recover from five bullet wounds which authorities claim were received during the Greenville gun fight.

Baldwin Appears in Recital Here
Dr. Minor C. Baldwin, world-famous concert organist, gave the music lovers of Greenville a rare treat when he appeared in an organ recital before a capacity audience at the Immanuel Baptist Church last night at eight o'clock.

Dr. Baldwin, long solo organist from the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Letters, and soloist at practically all the World Fairs, has played in all the music centers in Europe and is widely known in the world of music.

Dr. Baldwin opened the program with an Italian scherzo and then gave one of his own compositions, "A Reverie," full of pensive sweetness.

Perhaps the most brilliant of his selections was Rossini's "Overture from Semiramide," though Schubert's "Ain Meel" was well received by the audience.

After a short intermission, Dr. Baldwin gave his closing numbers, the principle one being Beethoven's "C Major Symphony."

Following is the complete program of the evening:
Scherzo, an Italian composer.
Reverie, Baldwin.
Return of Spring, Haberer.
Overture from Semiramide, Rossini.

A Hymn (Softly and Tenderly).
Am Meer, Schubert.
A Selection, Bach.
C Major Symphony, Beethoven.

Through the Rev. W. H. Covert, Dr. Baldwin was secured for the concert here between an engagement in Southern Pines last week-end and one later in the week in Washington, D. C.

In spite of his advanced age—he has been over fifty years on the concert stage—and a hard day of travel, the organist charmed his listeners with the vigor and life of his playing.

A free-will offering was made as a slight recompense to the great organist for his generosity in inserting this engagement in his schedule.

Red Men Meet.
Washington, N. C., May 10—(AP)—Members of the state council of the Improved Order of Red Men gathered here today for their annual three-day convention. More than 1,000 were expected to attend.

Commits Suicide.
Winston-Salem, May 10—(AP)—A man who registered at a hotel here as Joe C. Koonce, of Raeford, N. C., killed himself with a pistol a few minutes after going to his room.

Coroner W. N. Dalton said no inquest would be held.

MRS. BRADSHAW SPEAKS TO MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The article below was delivered by Mrs. Mamie G. Bradsher before the Missionary Society of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, on Monday, May 9:

"Madam President and members of the Missionary Society:—As you know our topic for the monthly discussion is Prohibition.

"In thinking on this subject we are reminded more than ever that what we need is Prohibition that will prohibit.

"Twenty-four years ago we went to the polls and cast our vote for prohibition in our state. We thought then we were doing right, and now we know we were. At that time the young men who now are established in business all over the land and in many instances are married and have children of their own, were small children around our fireside and if they have been victims of drink then we are to blame. You and I have done our full duty. We have cast our vote for unholy and unscrupulous men and have allowed them to get into office.

"What is the use of a law that does not function or carry out its real intent and purpose?

"The prohibition law was designed to help people and make it easier for men to live sober lives, and we know that although we are a long way from a perfect system of laws for prohibition yet we have taken many steps in the right direction.

"I have recently read each of the testimonials given in the Missionary Voice by several Deaconesses of the Southern Methodist Church and quotations from Jane Adams of Hull House fame and Evangeline Booth of the great Salvation Army, and the incidents which they give coincide with my own views and experiences, and the things which I have observed for a number of years.

"Why do officers of the law fail to carry out the law? There are several reasons why. Sometimes they have been put in office by men who are interested in bootlegging so they must always protect their interests and in many cases they are allowed to get by and to carry on their nefarious business and thus they go on trafficking in the cargo of human souls.

"So this brings us to the point that we are determined to put into office men who are not to be bought or sold, men who do not fill their cellars with fine wines and costly whiskeys and then on Christmas day or some other sacred holiday spread their tables with these sparkling and alluring drinks and invite weak men and women in to partake of the accursed stuff.

"Shall a man of this type receive your vote and mine and thus go into office under the guise of being an honest officer and be in a position to wink and nod at the wiles of the devil? I declare unto you NO, a thousand times NO. Let us as women rise up and say down with such a man, let us keep him from getting into office by casting our vote against him. Keep such a man from serving on our local boards, county boards, and more than anything see to it that he is not allowed to go to the legislative halls where he will be sure to help enact laws which will be anything else than for the interests of prohibition.

Prohibition has not been a failure in North Carolina. We have all seen districts and streets which were once filled with open saloons and dispensaries transformed into business houses of every type and even churches and places of worship have sprung up there.

"A few years ago women dared not walk alone on the streets where saloons operated, doing so would have been the price of her character and perhaps her life.

"No woman is permitted to walk alone on these same streets without fear of attacks by drunken brutes.

This talk of prohibition being a failure is political propaganda given out by the wets. They tell you that all men want the prohibition law repealed, this is not true as has recently been proven by the report of The Literary Digest's poll giving North Carolina as having sent in a good majority for continuance of the prohibition law. I then speak with authority when I say that North Carolina wants the prohibition law to continue.

"So in view of these facts let us not be discouraged. Let us continue to pray and as we pray cast our vote for the man or woman whose position on the prohibition question has been clearly defined.

"Prohibition has come to stay and with the help of the Ruler of the Universe we will yet live to see our beloved nation and state a better and safer place in which to live and rear our children.

"My beloved sisters as the mothers of men and as yours is one of the gentle hands that rock the cradles of this world let me entreat you be not dismayed, pray and work and as you pray you will be lifted beyond the sorrows of a sinful world to Glory and to God."

Mothers Enjoy Program Given at State Theatre

Thirty-eight mothers beyond the age of 55 years were guests of The Daily Reflector and State Theatre at a picture program at the theatre yesterday afternoon.

The occasion was one of the main features of the observance of Mother's Day, generally celebrated throughout the nation the day before, and proved to be a delightful one.

The program consisted of the showing of "Scarface" and other reels, and the mothers expressed appreciation of the production. Mothers beyond the age of fifty were entertained at a similar program last year.

Each mother was given a flower as she entered the building, this coming as a courtesy from the Greenville Floral Company.

Fountain to Speak in City Tonight

Lieut.-Gov. R. T. Fountain, of Rocky Mount, will speak at the court house here tonight in behalf of his candidacy for governor. He will discuss some of the principal problems affecting the people at this time and attempt to clear up all indecision connected with such issues.

Mr. Fountain is a forceful speaker and his coming was being anticipated with much interest by his supporters.

This is the first time he has visited the city in the last several months, due largely to his pressing business in Raleigh in connection with the government, and it was hoped he would be greeted by a capacity audience tonight at 8 o'clock.

Indict Postmaster for Embezzlement

Asheville, May 10—(AP)—C. E. Boone, former postmaster at Blue Ridge, has been indicted by the Federal grand jury here for embezzling postal savings and falsifying government records.

Boone fled from Blue Ridge several months ago, but surrendered to authorities here two weeks later. A member of a well-known Black Mountain family, he was formerly manager of the airport here. He is at liberty under $4,000 bond.

Fountain Raps Gardner Effort for Ehringhaus

Raleigh, May 10—(AP)—Gov. O. Max Gardner was charged with attempting to "dictate" that J. C. B. Ehringhaus, of Elizabeth City, be his successor by Lieut.-Gov. R. T. Fountain, a candidate for governor, in a campaign address here.

Saying that Gardner had "padding" estimates of land tax reduction effected by the state taking over county roads, and increasing the gasoline tax, Fountain declared himself for abolition of the department of personnel and the post of executive counsel.

Miss Boone Honored.
Bethel, May 7—Mrs. L. H. Ward delightfully entertained at five tables of bridge at her home Friday afternoon, honoring the first grade teacher, Miss Emma Boone.

The home was artistically decorated with beautiful vari-colored summer flowers which formed a lovely setting for the players.

At the conclusion of several progressions of bridge Mrs. S. C. Ives was awarded a beautiful gift as high score prize, while Miss Boone, the honoree, was presented a box of powder.

Strawberry cream and Sunshine cake was served by the hostess.

FOR WOMEN

Woman Acquitted of Killing Hubby

Concord, N. C., May 7—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Bennett Widenhouse, who killed her husband when he beat and threatened her at their home near here March 5, was acquitted yesterday by a Cabarrus county superior court jury which deliberated murder charge against her for slightly more than an hour.

Mrs. Widenhouse testified at the trial that she warned her husband Donald, not to approach her before she fired, and the defense offered testimony that he was of a violent nature and addicted to drink.

The state's case consisted mainly of evidence that she had threatened to kill Widenhouse on several occasions because of his drinking and "running around with other women," and that he was not attempting to beat her at the moment the fatal shot was fired.

ABOUT TOWN

Baptists at Stokes are to be congratulated upon the erection of the beautiful new church building. The structure is the consummation of the long dream of the part of the men and women who have labored so long and lovingly in behalf of the cause and their effort is to be highly commended.

The fact that the church has been paid for should be a matter of great pride to the congregation. Not many churches of any denomination are able to make such a claim, and Stokes really has something to be proud of.

Churches, like other organizations, should make it a point to operate on a cash basis in the future, and save the enormous sums of money that have to be paid out for interest on credit projects.

Fire again visited the Greenville business district Sunday morning and had it not been for the fact that it was discovered in an incipient stage, it is impossible to say what the loss would have been.

We have been fortunate so far in the matter of preventing staggering losses in the business realm, but unless more care is observed we will wake up one of these nights to find a blaze away out of control.

By eliminating all hazards possible, property owners will reduce the risk which they run from day to day, and it is hoped due attention will be given to the matter.

The billion dollar tax bill has been reported by the Senate committee and if the hopes of party chieftains materialize the measure will be passed in the near future.

The fight over the bill has been one of the most spectacular in years because of the opposition incurred from various interests at every turn of the road.

Which sales taxes affecting the little man were proposed none of the big industries were heard from, but when they were touched themselves, the halls of Congress resounded with verbal clashes which attracted nation-wide attention.

Everybody wants to get off as lightly as possible, but Congress should see that sources able to bear the burden are touched and not the average citizen who is having the time of his life making ends meet.

South Carolina is planning to hold its annual cotton festival this week with a view to increase interest in more widespread use of the staple. Every state in the southland should hold similar attractions in an effort to impress upon the people the need of more extensive use of cotton products, thereby helping relieve the congested market.

Increased demand is the only thing that will bring about an improvement in the price situation, and this may be aided greatly by emphasizing the use of the staple more extensively by all sections of the country.

Greenville and Pitt county today paid tribute to the men who fought with Lee and Jackson in the memorable conflict between the states. Death has cut sharply into the ranks of the grizzled heroes, and only a few remain in this county to take part in the annual reunion and celebration of their deeds of heroism.

The dauntless spirit of these men has been responsible for the advancement of the southland and during that long period since the Civil War. Returning to the south, crushed and broken from warfare, with homes and lands ravaged by sword and fire, the men who gather here today placed their shoulder to the wheel and converted that scene of ruin and desolation into one of the most powerful agricultural and industrial sections of the nation.

Welcome, Men of Lee and Jackson! The memory of your deeds of heroism will live on and on, lending strength and inspiration to the young people of other generations and firing their imaginations for greater achievement.

Delinquent taxpayers should make an effort to square accounts with the city and county governments during the next three weeks.

Both the city and county have postponed advertising 1931 taxes for thirty days in the hope of saving taxpayers the expense of court action.

Every government in the country is hard pressed at this time by reason of the unusual financial situation confronting the world, and as taxes are the only source which they depend upon for meeting expenses, it is very necessary that collections be made.

YOU CAN'T MARRY

By Julia Cleft-Addams

SYNOPSIS: The courage of Jenny Revell, when she firmly lies to Grattan Matching and tells him she has married Eddie Townsend, catches Matching's interest. If the marriage of Jenny's cousin, George, to Townsend were admitted to Matching, openly, he would discharge George, his secretary. Townsend has had a nervous smash-up.

CHAPTER 20

"I'm just remembering that I am supposed to have got married yesterday—that's what Mr. Matching meant, of course," Jenny said. "That's what he did when he was 24 and a day."

"Doesn't matter," answered George. "I'm not being jealous now honestly—but I don't think he knows—somehow, it was me."

"But then—" "He knows it was I. (Thank I'll have to take a special grammar course again. Remind me, will you, when I get back?) But he's content to accept our statement that it was you, provided the statement is sufficiently water-tight. When he used to say to me—'Don't let me hear of your getting married!' he meant it quite literally. And we won't let him hear it. That's flat."

George's old energy had returned to her. She swept Jenny out of the way and began to burrow in the huge wardrobe for her suitcase.

"It's only for a few days, this trip, though I expect it'll be for longer than Wednesday. None of that lingerie, it's all new. It oughtn't to be, but it is." She laughed without merriment. "My trousseau, Jen. Wasn't I a fool? I haven't even tried it on yet. I haven't had the heart."

Jenny could not find anything to say. She watched the quick hands folding and packing. They shook suddenly and stopped.

"You think I don't really care much for Eddie, don't you, Jen?" "I think you love him but—in your own way, Jenny said."

"But you think I love my job more. Well, that isn't so. I would choose Ed, now, before my job; I realized it when I was being married to him. I knew it wasn't a solemn ceremony, exactly, but—it was solemn to me. I wish now that it had been in a church instead of in that fussy office. I felt that I needed a blessing. I should have liked someone—sounds sloppy, doesn't it?—to bless us both."

"I blessed you both in my heart, George."

"I know it, lamble; I can always reckon on you." But again George paused in her task and sat back to peer up at her cousin, perched upon the gorgeous new bed. "Except this morning at the hotel, Jenny. What happened? Where were you? They couldn't find you anywhere and I knew how desperately important it was that you should see the Old Man at ten. I told him that you were the sort of dreamy child who probably thought he meant ten at night; but I'm pretty sure he didn't believe me either. Anyway, he insisted on coming here and seeing you for himself. But what happened that you weren't at the hotel?"

"I was selfish. I wanted a day to myself." Jenny gripped the lace of the coverlet and tried to say that she wanted to spend the day—had hoped and dreamed that she was going to spend the day with the man who loved George and who meant nothing to George at all. But the words lay like bitter aloes upon her lips and would not be uttered. "I'm terribly sorry. I can't explain."

George pressed down the lid of the suitcase and clicked the locks shut. She seemed to be satisfied with the halting words.

"Well, all's serene for the moment: You won't let me down again, I'm confident of that; not now that you've tackled the most difficult part of the scheme, the Old Man himself." She returned to the guessing-table, powdered hastily, and combed her hair. "It's most extraordinarily fortunate that he should have taken a liking to you. Perhaps you remind him of his long dead wife or something!"

Jenny was jarred by the laugh. "Perhaps he likes me because I like him," she said. "Yes, I like him very much. Why shouldn't I?"

"Only because everyone has always found him absolutely unendurable!" "Then it's no wonder he is lonely."

you that Eddie was so thankful to get home. George's face was set. She hurried words back at Jenny as though she stones to hurt her. "And you object to being called chissel! You silly child, you talk about my never leaving Eddie again—will you tell me, please, who is to keep him and me in this charming little home if I lose my job? What do you think Eddie's savings are? Enough for a year, perhaps. What do you think mine are? Nothing at all. Actually, I'm heavily overdrawn at the bank and I've more bills to meet than I've ever had before!"

"Don't—don't look like that, Jenny! Don't look so shocked!" She tried to laugh. "I'm going to turn over a new leaf, I swear it. But in the meantime, get out of my way and let me do the only thing I can and earn, earn, earn!"

The summons at the door was repeated and George pushed her way out. Jenny, gazing after her, saw that outside the front door stood a short, slightly stooped man with close-cropped hair. He took the suitcase and the door closed. Presently, from the street below, came the sound of a big car sliding into speed.

Jenny picked up the key from where it had fallen to the kitchen, and went slowly to the kitchen. A key need not be locked in any longer. The next moment she heard his voice.

"George? Girl, darling, is it you?" (Copyright, Julia Cleft-Addams)

When Eddie finds that George is gone to-morrow, he makes a surprising proposal to Jenny.

French Towns Threatened By New Landslides

Lyons, France, May 10.—(AP)—Landslides, similar to those which demolished two apartment houses here Sunday and buried two score people in the wreckage, threatened the 1,600 inhabitants of St. Genis-sur-Guiers, 30 miles east of here, today.

Several slides, in which more than 1,000,000 tons of earth and rocks tumbled down, sent the people scrambling down the mountain side. Three houses and 1,000 trees were flattened and more threatened.

Reports from Chambéry said the farmers were taking their families down the slopes into the Guisiers valley, leaving all their household goods and cattle behind.

Meantime, 24 tenants of the buildings destroyed here Sunday were still missing today. They were believed to be buried.

McArthur Gives Views on Salary Slashes in Army

Washington, May 10.—(AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, army chief of staff, was hurriedly summoned by the House Military committee today to testify in secret session regarding proposed slashes in army personnel contained in the War Department supply bill.

MacArthur, who filed a vigorous protest yesterday with Representative Enell, the Republican leader, against the proposal to reduce the number of officers from 12,000 to 10,000 was called on motion of Representative James (R., Mich.), former chairman of the committee.

Chairman McSwain (D., S. C.) said MacArthur would discuss not only the cut proposed in commission strength but also the recommended suspension of Citizens Military Training camps and reserve officers training camps for the next fiscal year.

The War Department appropriation bill was slated for consideration in the House today.

DO YOU INHALE?

Why are other cigarettes silent on this vital question?

Do you inhale? Seven out of ten people know they do. The other three inhale without realizing it. Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? Remember—more than 20,000 physicians, after Luckies had been furnished them for tests, basing their opinions on their smoking experience, stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes.

Reynolds Helps Senators to Trim Cleveland by Score 3-0

CARDINALS SLIP DEFEAT TO DODGERS

By GAYLE TALBOT (Associated Press Sports Writer) It hasn't taken Carl Reynolds long to convince his new employers the Washington Senators, that they drove a very brisk bargain when they obtained him from the Chicago White Sox in one of the winter's most discussed deals.

The speedy outfielder, who joined the Senators in a trade involving the two veteran pitchers, Sam Jones and Irving Hadley, is in no small measure responsible for the fact that Walter Johnson's outfit is leading its closest American League rivals by three full games today.

He's hitting at a .420 clip, the highest average in either league, is second in total hits notwithstanding a late start, and is as brilliant as ever afield. If he holds his present pace, he might easily make the difference between the pennant the Senators want and the third place they won last year.

Reynolds virtually was the whole show offensively as Washington won yesterday's opener from Cleveland, 3-0. He scored the first run off Wes Ferrell in the seventh, when he singled, eased his way around to third and went home on an infield out. His home run in the next frame with Joe Cronin aboard settled any doubt of the issue.

Lloyd Brown continued to pitch sparkling ball for the leaders, allowing only four hits and walking three. The victory was Washington's ninth in ten starts.

Three other American League contests gave way to rain and mud, but the idle Yankees slipped into second place as a result of Cleveland's loss.

The St. Louis Cardinals put on the day's best act in the National League when they scored three times in the last of the ninth to hand the Brooklyn Dodgers their fourth straight defeat, 7-6. With one away, the champions jumped on old Jack Quinn, Brooklyn relief hurler, for four hits to turn the tide. Jimmy Collins' single, his third hit, scored Sparky Adams with the deciding counter.

Something similar was seen at Cincinnati, where the Reds pushed across a run in the ninth to down the Phillies, 4-3, and break up a pitcher's duel between Owen Carroll and Ed Holey. Wally Gilbert's sharp single brought in his old Brooklyn playmate, Babe Herman, who had doubled. Another ex-Brooklyn, Ernie Lombardi, also starred at bat for the Reds with a home run and a triple.

Fritz Knoch's single in the 12th knocked two runs across and the Boston Braves staggered out with a 6-5 victory over Pittsburgh, their first in five starts in the west. At that, it took three pitchers to put down a Pirate rally in the last of the twelfth. The bases were full of Pirates when Cantwell finally retired the side.

The Giants were rained out at Chicago.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press) Jimmy Collins, Cardinals—His third single in ninth drove in winning run against Dodgers. Ernie Lombardi, Reds—Clouted a triple and home run against Philadelphia.

Fritz Knoch, Braves—His lone single in 12th drove in two runs and beat Pirates. Lkyd Brown, Senators—Held Indians to four hits and blanked them 3-0.

This sale is made on account of default in payment of the indebtedness secured by said deed of trust. A ten per cent (10) Cash deposit will be required of the highest bidder at the sale. This the 8th day of April, 1932. Jefferson E. Owens, Substituted Trustee. Apr. 16-17w-4wk.

U. N. C. WINS CONFERENCE GOLF HONORS

Athens, Ga., May 10.—(AP)—The University of North Carolina has captured the Southern Conference golf team championship by a one-stroke margin and today its four links representatives started out to see what they could do about individual honors.

Opposed to realization of further ambitions, the Tarheels found representatives of five other schools, survivors of yesterday's qualifying round.

Duke, the pre-tournament favorite, North Carolina nosed out for team honors with a 36 hole score of 639 for the four Tarheel golfers, qualified its full team and presented a formidable hazard. Tulane was in the running with three players, Georgia and Georgia Tech had two each and Florida one. None from Louisiana State qualified.

One of the two upon whom Georgia Tech relied for representation in the play-offs which run through tomorrow afternoon was Charles Dannels, Jr., medalist who went around the par-73 course with 73-118. It was his par second round that gave him his advantage over Jesse Rainwater of Tulane, the runner-up. Rainwater completed the first 18 in 71 but ran into trouble on the next round and shot a 79 for a total of 150.

Dannels, Rainwater, Alan Smith and Adams of the University of North Carolina and Caldwell of Duke were among the individual players who drew attention as the play-offs were called. McWilliams of Georgia also was considered among the strong contenders for the title left vacant by graduation of Albert Wheeler of Vanderbilt, 1931 Southern Conference champion.

HOW DO THEY DO IT?

Only the NEW NuGRAPE Has Their Delicious Flavor

You'll admit there is a goodness in the flavor of grapes—and that's why the New NuGrape is different from all artificial flavors—different as gold and brass. In a certain valley, made rich and productive by reason of the moisture, in season, from surrounding hills—a famous brand of grapes is raised. The vineyards are renowned for the rich, wine-like flavor of the great purple clusters of fruit. And it has been our obligation to YOU, to transport that natural delicacy of flavor—to your home—to places where soft drinks are sold.

The New NuGrape — made exclusively with Welch's Grape Juice — costs no more than any artificial grape substitute. It's now on sale everywhere for 5¢.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

New York Cotton

New York, May 10.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 2 to 4 points on selling, influenced by the easiness in cables. July sold at 5.63.

Houses with Liverpool connections were reported sellers here, while there was a little selling by the south and further scattered liquidation which was absorbed within a range of 3 to 4 points by trade buying and covering. The market at the end of the first half hour was only moderately active with the active positions ruling about 2 to 5 points net lower.

Liverpool cables said there had been local and foreign liquidation in that market, and that buyers of cotton cloths and yarns were cautious. Egyptian cotton futures in Alexandria were 25 to 40 points lower.

Grain Market

Chicago, May 10.—(AP)—Evening up of operations to prepare for the government crop report and famine reports from Russia gave firmness to grain markets today.

There were intimations of more Canadian wheat export business to Vladivostok on the Pacific. Other North American export dealings were in fair volume, and Liverpool prices showed the widest difference with Chicago in several weeks.

Wheat closed irregular 1-8 to 1-4 off to 1-2 up compared with yesterday's finish; corn unchanged to 3-8 higher; oats 1-8 to 1-4 advance, and provisions varying from 10 decline to a rise of 12 cents.

Stock Market

New York, May 10.—(AP)—The stock market took on a slightly brighter hue today, although it failed to manifest anything in the way of impressive strength, as trading remained extremely sluggish.

The list managed to push ahead a point or two after early hesitancy. An upturn in U. S. Government Bonds, less pressure against the dollar in the foreign exchange markets, and a less gloomy report of weekly freight car loadings than anticipated in some quarters, more than counterbalanced U. S. Steel's unfavorable tonnage report. Oils remained a conspicuously firm group. Food shares were somewhat heavy for a time.

Among issues advancing 1 to 2 points were American Telephone, American Can, American Tobacco B. Allied Chemical, DuPont, Atlantic Refining, Consolidated Gas, Eastman, Liggett and Myers B. Ohio Oil, Standard of California, Sears, Woolworth, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Westinghouse, Case and others. General Motors advanced a major fraction in fairly active trading and other issues making similar gains including U. S. Steel, Standard of N. J., and Southern Pacific. Royal Dutch was somewhat heavy. Best & Co. weakened on the dividend omission.

U. S. Steel's drop of 145,487 tons in its unfilled orders during April to a new low since its monthly records have been kept, at 2,326,926 tons, may have been somewhat worse than expected in some quarters, but the slack business in that industry appeared to have been well discounted.

STORM IMPEDES PROGRES

OF AIRSHIP AKRON IN TEX. (Continued from Page One) to zero due to low clouds which forced the ship to reverse its course previously set for El Paso. The ship was experiencing radio difficulties due to high static and the low power of the Fort Worth radio transmitter, he added.

The Fort Worth station was complying, however, with requests for weather reports.

Dallas, Tex., May 10.—(AP)—Doubt as to whether the Akron would be able to reach El Paso today was expressed by American Airways officials after a survey of weather conditions in the stormy mountain area over which the giant dirigible is cruising.

A dangerous low ceiling apparently prevailed over much of the rugged terrain east of El Paso. The airways radio station at Guadalupe reported a ceiling of 2,500 feet. Almost 300 miles away at El Paso a ceiling of the same height was reported, obscuring the mountain tops.

It was believed that the dirigible might be "pocketed" because of poor visibility and storms. The forecast for the extreme southwest Texas region was for thundershowers most of today.

OHIO AND WEST VIRGINIA SELECT DELEGATES TODAY (Continued from Page One) vote list. A party convention in Tennessee was expected to give him a solid 24.

Governor William H. Murray of Oklahoma, sought the preference vote in both states, unopposed in Ohio and in contest with Roosevelt in West Virginia. In neither case as the preference binding, however.

Yesterday Roosevelt built his list of pledged and claimed delegates to 345, taking six in Wyoming and Arizona. His supporters received with pleasure a statement from Thomas P. Donovan, chairman of the Illinois Democratic committee that Roosevelt would get more than half of his state's 58 if and when Senator J. Hamilton Lewis' name was dropped from the roll call.

Lewis is the state's favorite son candidate. Supporters of John N. Garner announced that campaign headquarters would be established in Chicago this week on behalf of the Speaker of the House.

CITY HONORS MEN OF GRAY (Continued from Page One) to honor their "buddies" were unable to be present on account of illness and infirmities of age. Franklin Jackson was reported as sick and Hardy Stokes was unable to attend on account of slight illness also.

The usual meeting of the camp was abandoned and exercises were opened with a parade, forming at the high school and going to the cemetery where graves of departed heroes were decorated with flowers. The prayer was delivered by Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor of the Memorial Baptist church.

In the parade were the high school band, veterans and members of George B. Singletary Chapter, United Daughters of Confederacy, Boy Scouts, and High School Glee club. The parade returned to the high school where the principal exercises were held.

The address was delivered by F. C. Hardine who paid a splendid tribute to the men who came back after the war to lands ravaged by fire and sword to rebuild one of the greatest sections of the world.

He lauded the intrepidity of the men who fought against overwhelming obstacles, in want of food and clothing, and whose ideals will forever sustain the people of coming generations in their battle to reach greater heights of achievement.

J. H. Rose, superintendent of schools, who introduced the speaker, was in charge of the program, which also consisted of numbers by the high school orchestra and glee club, and awarding of military cross of service to A. B. Corey by Mrs. J. L. Fleming.

FALL GIVEN HIS LIBERTY (Continued from Page One) friend who obtained it by foreclosure but, has instructed that Fall still regard it as his home. It was conviction of accepting a bribe from Daheny in connection with the leasing of Naval oil reserves that Fall was sentenced. Doheny was acquitted of charges of bribing the secretary.

Members of Fall's family, who met him at his release yesterday and accompanied him here, said he stood the trip well and was overjoyed to be again at the ranch.

Mrs. Fall said the trip on to Fall's El Paso Tex., home would be made today.

Dr. E. W. Fisk, prison physician said Fall left the penitentiary as he entered it, an invalid. He served his term in the prison hospital, much of the time in bed.

BOMB RENEWS GAMING WAR (Continued from Page One) loitering on a West Side street corner and took him into custody again for investigation.

Another bombing was added last night to the long list of recent blasts in cleaning and dyeing establishments when a flying powder missile was thrown into the Western Suburban Cleaners' and Dyers shop in Calumet Avenue and caused damages estimated by police at $2,000.

J. Y. JOYNER SPEAKS HERE (Continued from Page One) parents and his own intimate knowledge of the splendid progress made by the county.

This was his first visit to the community in sometime and he received a cordial welcome from members of the club and scores of other citizens with whom he came in contact during his stay here.

Morehead appeared with consent of the State Department. A considerable time ago he laid his views before the Wickersham Commission, but the department objected to his appearance before congressional committee. The Senate group took the question up and succeeded in having the objection withdrawn.

To make possible adoption of the Swedish system here, Morehead recommended another amendment to the constitution, permitting the states wishing to license liquor to do so through legislation, and permitting dry states to remain that way.

The minister labelled unwise or impossible all proposals for nullification of the liquor laws, repeal of the 18th amendment and modification of the Volstead act. He also concluded that satisfactory enforcement of the present liquor laws was virtually impossible.

Turning to the Bratt system, he testified that its success rests upon the provision that all personal interest and profit is removed from the liquor business, all profits accruing to the government, with the trade put on a "scientific basis."

Companies under strict government supervision, he said, had a monopoly of the Swedish manufacture, purchase and sale of liquor.

He cited decreases in crime, drinking and deaths from alcoholism as proof of the benefits of the Bratt system and said there was practically no enforcement problem in the country. Since the adoption of the liquor control system, he testified, the number of prohibition members in the Swedish House had declined from 101 to 23.

"Prohibition," he said, "is no longer considered a live political or social issue in Sweden."

BOWIE RAPS PARTY HEADS (Continued from Page One) peat anything but destruction as long as a condition of this kind prevailed. He said the time had come for America to adopt a tax system similar to that in force in England where homes and lands are protected from taxation and the average man given a chance to live and be happy. He described the English system of taxation as the best in the world and asserted that this government must transfer the taxes to incomes and other sources before an improvement will take place.

Organization of Democratic hosts of the country was urged in an effort to lift the burden from the people and place it on the shoulders of the millionaires who annually earn millions of dollars and fully capable of bearing the load.

"Well, I'm innocent until I'm proven guilty," he told a deputy sheriff after refusing to see newspaper in his cell.

Clarke, 26-year-old author, was fatally shot with a pistol owned by Lancaster April 21. He and Mrs. Keith-Miller, whose life story he was writing for publication, and at whose home he lived, became engaged while Lancaster, formerly her fiancé and for five years her flying partner, was in St. Louis on business.

They wrote Lancaster of their WED. and THUR.

plans to marry, but he telegraphed them to delay the ceremony until he could arrive to be best man.

He came here by plane and 12 hours later Clarke was fatally wounded. Lancaster and Mrs. Keith-Miller were held in custody for three days, but she was exonerated of all knowledge of the shooting.

Lancaster likewise was released, but was rearrested on a murder charge when a handwriting expert branded as forgeries two suicide notes found beside Clarke's bed in the room he and Lancaster occupied. The flier later admitted writing them, and said he did it to remove blame from himself and Mrs. Keith-Miller.

Both stoutly maintained Clarke took his own life.

PLAN TO PUSH ASSAULT CASE (Continued from Page One) volved in the sequel to the attack case—the abduction and slaying of Joseph Kahahawai—on their way toward San Francisco. Kelley asserted yesterday he would proceed with the trial, Kahahawai allegedly confessed participation in the attack.

The prosecutor said he understood Honolulu police had been successful in their effort to serve Mrs. Massie with a subpoena for the attack just before she sailed Sunday. This contradicted statements of Clarence Darrow, attorney and adviser of Mrs. Massie, who had said the subpoena had not been served.

Kelley said if Mrs. Massie did not appear in court the morning of May 25 he would request a warrant for her arrest. The prosecutor acknowledged the warrant would have no legal force on the mainland.

The prosecutor said he had instructed Policeman Tom McCalm, one of those who figured in the scene at the sailing, not to use force in attempting to serve the paper because "we want to avoid any further rows with the navy."

Captain Ward K. Wortman, the commander of the submarine base here who clashed with Dewey Mookini, another policeman seeking to serve the subpoena, said there had not been any "confusion" on the ship which bore Mrs. Massie and the others away. He said a corridor was so crowded he could not help bumping into Mookini.

NEW TRIP FOR MISSING BABY (Continued from Page One) Mr. Curtis and Lieutenant Richard following the abandonment of cruises to sea aboard the yacht Marcon, led to the belief that the negotiator left to re-establish contact with the go-betweens for the kidnapers.

It all started with reports from Shelby that a Concord couple had offered Victor Camp $50,000 for his baby, which is said to bear a striking resemblance to the missing baby Lindbergh.

Mrs. Fannie Hill and Joe P. Fisher, Concord real estate man, said they apparently were the couple to which the Camp report referred, but denied they offered to buy the child. They said they merely stepped at Camp's home and mentioned that he could charge admission to see his baby because of the resemblance. Camp adopted the child in question about two months before the Lindbergh kidnaping.

However, Department of Justice officials, who are investigating Mrs. McLean's charge that Means appropriated $104,000 to his own use which she had given him in an effort to secure return of the Lindbergh baby, launched an investigation of the Shelby affair, but did not say how they thought Means might be connected with any plan to buy a baby resembling the Lindbergh child.
