Lindbergh Baby Brutally Slain

President Orders Wide-Flung Search For Baby Slayers

LOU REICHERS BEGINS PERILOUS FLIGHT TO PARIS

GOVERNMENT OFFICERS TO TAKE PART

No Relaxation of Search "Until Those Criminals Are Implacably Brought to Justice"

Washington, May 13.—(AP)—President Hoover today directed the law enforcement agencies and secret service of the federal government to set out upon a hunt for the murderers of the Lindbergh baby, "never to be relaxed until those criminals are implacably brought to justice."

The President, employing strong language, directed the federal police authorities "to make the kidnaping and murder of the Lindbergh baby a live and never to be forgotten case."

The federal government does not have direct police authority in the present case, he pointed out, despite its brutality and the nationwide horror it has caused, but federal agencies will be "unceasingly alert" to bring the murderers to punishment.

The President issued the following statement: "I have directed the law enforcement agencies and the several secret services of the federal government to make the kidnaping and murder of the Lindbergh baby a live and never to be forgotten case, never to be relaxed until those criminals are implacably brought to justice."

"The federal government does not have police authority in such crimes but its agencies will be unceasingly alert to assist the New Jersey police in every possible way until this end has been accomplished."

The statement was handed to newspapermen early this morning by one of the President's secretaries.

He read it aloud, slowly and with emphasis, before handing the brief lines over.

The President, who has followed closely since the night of the baby's disappearance the developments in the famous case was at his desk meanwhile.

The sleeping suit Dr. Condon said is in the possession of Colonel Lindbergh. Two other bits of evidence supposed to be in the possession of the Lindberghs were also mentioned.

PRAYER FOR LINDBERGH'S

Washington, May 13.—(AP)—Before the House went to work today, it heard a prayer by its chaplain, the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, asking comfort for Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh. "O Thou Eternal God," it went, "our words falter as the shadows of the nation's sorrow fall and deepen.

"Yonder home today is a world shrine, at whose footstool we tarry. The night winds of sorrow murmur as tears fall and sink on the curls of gold, matted and damp.

"Merciful Father, may the parents be fed no longer with the bread of affliction; do Thou give them rest which the world can nevermore defile.

"Consider and hear us, O Lord. Ours is national humiliation as we

Measure Given Favorable Report by the Senate Agricultural Committee

Washington, May 13.—(AP)—The Frazier bill for a bond and treasury note issue to refinance agricultural indebtedness at low interest rates, was reported favorably today by the Senate agriculture committee without a record vote.

The committee did not act on the McNary resolution to finance foreign sales of Farm Board wheat and cotton with $100,000,000 from the Reconstruction Corporation or on other farm relief measures.

The Frazier bill, sponsored by the National Farmers' Union, would permit loans at 11-2 per cent interest, to be retired at 11-2 per cent yearly.

Loans would be limited to funds for liquidating and refinancing farmers' debts, estimated by various farm organizations to aggregate between $6,000,000,000 and $9,000,000,000.

LINDBERGH BULLETINS

New York, May 13.—(AP)—Five years almost to the hour from the day he landed at Curtiss Field on Long Island, an obscure young mail pilot, to complete preparations for the flight that was to make him the most famous of all fliers, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was told that his kidnapped son was found, dead.

Lindbergh landed at the old Curtiss Field, now a part of Roosevelt Field, at 5:33 p. m. on May 12, 1927. The baby's body was found yesterday shortly after 3 p. m., and Col. Lindbergh, aboard a yacht that was searching for the baby and the kidnapers off the New Jersey coast, was told as soon as he could be reached.

Trenton, N. J., May 13.—(AP)—A permit was issued at city hall today for the cremation of the body of the Lindbergh baby.

Two Men In Limelight For Finding Baby Body

Hopewell, N. J., May 13.—(AP)—slight negro of 43 years who was the first to see the body of the baby at the edge of the wood yesterday afternoon, posed in his work clothes for pictures and the "talkies". "I don't know any more to say than that."

WIDESPREAD HUNT BEGINS

All Law Enforcement Agencies Called to Take Part in Running Murderers to Earth; Skeleton Remains Found by a Truck Driver Five Miles From Lindbergh Estate; Wound in Forehead and Crushed Skull Indicate Terrific Attack

By FRANCIS A. JAMESON Hopewell, N. J., May 13.—(AP)—The search for the kidnaped Lindbergh baby was at an end today—for the baby is dead.

But the search for the slayers was intensified a thousand fold, and by order of President Hoover himself will never be relaxed until the criminals are brought to justice.

The body was found by mere chance near the Lindbergh home yesterday afternoon and though little more than a skeleton, was definitely identified as that of the missing child.

There was a wound above the high forehead and the skull had been broken by the murderers who stole the ailing child from his crib on the night of March first.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife, soon to become a mother for a second time, were sequestered in their home today, their unflinching hope brought to an end at last by the sad certainty of death.

Pending completion of funeral plans the body of the baby remained at the undertaker's premises in Trenton where the autopsy was performed which made identification doubly sure.

As President Hoover in Washington was ordering the federal law enforcement agencies to begin relentless and unending pursuit of the slayers, state and county officials gathered in Trenton to plan concerted action to bring the criminals to justice.

Among those at the conference were the attorney general of New Jersey, prosecuting officials of two counties in which the Lindbergh estate lies, and Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of state police who has had general charge of the investigation ever since the baby was kidnaped.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL. And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go. If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned. It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL. And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go. If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned. It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute, 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

ABOUT TOWN

President Hoover has reiterated his faith in Republican high tariff principles in spite of the fact that the world faces ruin because of the tariff wall erected by the various countries.

The last two years have proved beyond doubt that high tariffs are detrimental to every branch of industry and instead of improving business conditions as Republicans claim, literally drives it away.

Trade between the various nations is absolutely necessary to the welfare of the world at large and if the times comes when Democrats get a chance at cutting down the tariff barrier it may well be assumed that conditions will soon show signs of improvement.

Members of the three Parent-Teacher Associations of the city have adopted resolutions calling on the school board and the city alderman for a regular nine months' term next year.

The demand was made in view of the tremendous reduction made in operation of the schools the last two years, believing that the children are entitled to the full term. No criticism was made of the eight and a half months' term this year because it was realized the financial situation has made it difficult for the city to defray expenses as long as it did.

That both the school board and the aldermen will be delighted to run the schools the full term next year goes without question, and if there is the slightest improvement in condition they will do it too.

The training of young men and young women for life is one of the most important problems affecting the community, because upon their shoulders will rest the responsibility of running the affairs of the city in future years and they should be well prepared to handle the perplexing problems which most assuredly confront them.

Greenville has done much better for its children than the majority of towns of the state, and that officials will continue to uphold the high rating the schools enjoy is the belief of those who have been closely associated with them and know their desires, aspirations and ambitions in this direction.

The highway tree planting program started by different organizations of the county several months ago has met with pronounced success and it should be continued until all main arteries of travel are lined with young trees.

After planting, the trees should not be forgotten. They should be inspected very few weeks, especially after unfavorable weather conditions, to see that they maintain their symmetrical arrangement.

In future years these long avenues of trees will be the pride of the community and the state generally and will reflect credit on the foresight of the people of the present generation.

Better prices are anticipated next harvest season in view of the shortage anticipated in the principal crops produced in this section, and if this should happen growers will be able to recover somewhat from the long period of depression through which they are passing.

YOU CAN'T MARRY

By Julia Cleft-Addams

SYNOPSIS: Jenny Revell persuaded Eddie Townsend not to tell anyone he has married her cousin George, for if George's employer learned of it he would discharge her. George's plan of saying that Jenny has married Eddie is endangered by a doctor who attended Eddie after an automobile accident.

Chapter 23 DANGEROUS INVESTIGATIONS

"Mis-Jenny!" She turned, gasping, her hand on her heart; but it was only Ryder Vale. "Started you nearly out of your skin?" he remarked cheerfully, his funny smile, puckering up his cheeks. "I was just going round to your place. Get in?"

"I'm afraid George isn't at home," she explained. "Mr. Matching whisked her off with him on some business expedition." "You've got an inferiority complex," Vale told her. "Always think George is the magnet, don't you? Help in there's a good girl. I've got a lot of little questions to ask you. The first—is what did you want to go and get married for without asking Uncle Ryder's blessing?"

"I suppose," said Jenny, after a cautious pause, "that you read about our accident in the paper?" "You suppose quite rightly. And you may further suppose that when I read that Townsend had just married a Miss Revell of Ely Street, I said to myself—'That must be our Jenny, for the reason that never in this world could it be our George! No, no, never would our George check that job of hers for the sake of any little house of dreams!'"

"No how at all," she answered as casually as she could. "Perhaps you remember I told you that George's wasn't specially interested in Eddie. And you're quite right about the job. George is determined to keep it at any cost."

"The last was so true that she had uttered it almost vehemently and she felt him shoot a quick glance at her. She added, somewhat hastily: "What other questions do you want to ask?"

"What—and how—poor old Townsend is? I hear he went through the windshield." "That didn't really matter," said Jenny with unconscious humor. "The real damage was done to his nerves. He has quite broken down and it's doubtful whether he will ever be a 'bird-man' again. At any rate, he will seem to have a long holiday."

Vale seemed sincerely concerned. He drove easily along, talking as easily of cures and treatments, and cases he had known, where recovery had been miraculously prompt and even more miraculously permanent.

"Eh—where did you say he was now?" he interjected. "He made me promise not to tell any one," answered Jenny firmly. She had been prepared for this. "He has a terror of seeing any one for the time being, and so he has gone into hiding, as you might call it." She laughed, a pleasant, firm laugh. "I shan't let him out until he is absolutely himself again."

"I see. Very wise! Good job he has got you to look after him." But Vale sounded dubious. "Do you know a man called Tallas, a doctor?"

"He gave Eddie first-aid just after the accident. And he brought him up from the hospital today. Why do you ask?"

"Oh, well, I know him slightly. As a matter of fact, I came across him an hour or so ago, and he stopped me. Apparently he's heard I knew you and George. He talked a bit—he's an odd sort of fellow. Bit of a gossip. Inquisitive. I should say."

Jenny considered this in silence. Was it a warning?

If Ryder Vale were warning her, what could she do to avert the danger of Tallas' investigations? She decided that she could do nothing, but she felt grateful to Vale for his hint, and grateful to him, too, for accepting a version of the facts which she instinctively felt, he did not believe. She sighed.

is with provisions contained in the relief measure. It is the object of the new program to combine all proposals in one and if this is done some good may yet be achieved.

Members of both parties apparently are doing the best by the plan and if harmony continues to prevail some relief may yet be experienced by the various states.

American adherence to the proposal of the World Court will be delayed until the next session of Congress, and whether we will be able to adhere then is purely problematical.

Adherence has been recommended by the Senate committee, but whether the senate will act favorably upon the recommendations remains to be seen. This question has been hanging fire for some time and it is about time it was disposed of.

The World court can be made an important factor in the life of the world if it is properly supported, and America should see to it that she has her say in the various problems which most assuredly will confront the body in future years.

Apparently it was not nearly so simple as it seemed, this making people think you had married Eddie Townsend when you hadn't!

"You're all alone in that apartment?" queried Vale, cocking an eyebrow at it as he drew up gently before its door.

"Yes," Jenny hoped that he would not suggest coming up. Her head was beginning to ache. "Then why not come for a run?" he invited. "Come and have a canner of cream somewhere. I'll take your mind off—things."

She had fully meant to decline when he began to speak but his voice sounded genuinely friendly and she wavered. The empty apartment, with its unfinished chores, suddenly repelled her.

"I—I should like it. But I must be back by—well, quite by six." "Six it shall be. Any place you'd like to go to? No? What about an inn at a little place up the river. It's what they call a world-world place. Like old-world places?"

Yes, Jenny liked them. She liked also, setting back in this jolly little car and not having to make conversation. It rather surprised her. Ryder Vale did not want her to talk to him. He had struck her as a man who would prefer a ripple of absurdities to nothing at all. However, he appeared to be preoccupied, and she could rest. She watched the traffic idly and idly looked for the first gleam of the river.

"Fraid I'm a dull dog today," he said finally. "Must be the heat; I can't remember a hotter August. There's the inn."

Jenny descended into a courtyard full of white geraniums and cool green smilax trails. All along one side ran a tea-room with windows thrown wide to the air and electric fans humming. It looked cool and attractive and there was a table vacant near a window. She walked in and took possession. Slipping the little coat from her shoulders on to the back of the chair, she glanced around.

Facing her, directly in line with another window at the opposite end of the room, sat Carlus Aveney. (Copyright, Julia Cleft-Addams)

Aveney is with a woman. Will he speak to Jenny tomorrow?

BODY OF CHILD FOUND NEAR HOME OF PARENTS

(Continued from page one) A description sent out immediately after the kidnapping said the child was wearing a white flannel sleeping suit—a garment that would cover him from neck to feet. Under it he wore a little flannel shirt his nurse had made and put on him late that afternoon to protect his chest and keep him from catching more cold.

On the body yesterday there was no sleeping suit; only the soiled and tattered remnants of the little shirt and a flannel band around the waist.

It has been reported several times that both Dr. Condon and the Norfolk intermediaries turned over to the Lindberghs an article of clothing or a piece of cloth that convinced them contact had been established with the actual kidnapers.

And so the theory had to be considered that the kidnapers, believed by many officials to have been crazed killers their tiny victim almost immediately stripped off the sleeping suit and after the body had been cast aside in the hidden hollow where it was found, set about obtaining ransom for a child they knew could never be returned to its parents alive.

Discovery of the child's skeleton was made by William Allen, negro truckman. His truck, driving the Hopewell-Mount Rose highway, had halted and Allen had left it to enter the woods.

Brush and undergrowth blocked his path. He stopped and pushed it aside.

Beneath the brush, underneath a layer of rotting leaves lay the body of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., only child of Ann, daughter of the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow, and Charles Lindbergh.

Clinging to the decomposed body was a weather-worn flannel that had kept the baby warm that night of March 1 when his nurse tucked him into his crib. These shreds of baby clothing were identification enough; these, and the matted curly blonde hair.

Close friends said Mrs. Lindbergh, who is preparing for another baby in the late summer, had accepted the news with her "usual equanimity."

One of the strange, weird facts of the horror that for 73 days had turned the Soudland estate of the Lindberghs into a tragic heart-break house was the discovery of the body virtually at its doorstep.

Running through within 75 feet of the baby's burial place is a telephone wire. It was strung hurriedly, to carry to the world news of the baby hunt—and its excited messages of hope, of new clues, of imminent discoveries passed hard-ly more than whisper distance from the object of the hunt.

The spot where the body was found is thick grown scrub. The brush now is heavy-leaved, infilled with a heavy grass. The dead leaves of a happier autumn form a patch, carpet over the ground.

Shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon a truck hauling timbers to be used in a moving job stopped beside the road. Allen left the truck and went into the bushes.

Horried at what he saw Allen ran back to the road and called Orville Wilson. When Wilson viewed the body he said: "What are you going to do?" Allen said: "I am going to notify the state police."

The police found the shallow grave on a slight slope. The body had been concealed with leaves, dirt and brush. The child's form lay face down, and the depression in which it rested as so slight as to indicate that efforts to conceal it had been very hurried.

County Physician Charles Mitchell examined the body. "The baby was struck a fearful blow on the head," he said. "The skull was fractured—clear across the top. There is a hole over the right ear. The lower left leg is missing."

Trenton, N. J., May 13.—(AP)—The broken little body of "the Eagle" will be laid away without his parents having seen it.

Anne and Charles Lindbergh will always remember their last son as a handsome little chap, with yellow curls and blue eyes and a radiant smile.

Frank W. Swayze, the undertaker in charge of the body, said today he had been informed that neither Colonel nor Mrs. Lindbergh would see it.

It will be placed in a sealed coffin before it is delivered to them, he said. He did not know when the burial would take place or what the funeral arrangements were.

Hopewell, N. J., May 13.—(AP)—Two baby shirts clinging to the tiny form found in a Mt. Rose thicket were the first means of identifying the child as Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

Other means of identification were: Overlapping toes on the right foot; strands of hair which, when washed, were found to be blond and curly; eight molar teeth; the skull formation.

Trenton, N. J., May 13.—(AP)—After a lengthy conference with officials of Mercer and Hopewell counties, in both of which the Lindbergh estate lies, Attorney General William A. Stevas left the state house today on a mission he indicated might prove developments.

"When we come back," he told reporters as he left with several other officials, "we will have something for you."

New York, May 13.—(AP)—Assistant Chief Inspector John J. Sullivan, head of the New York detective bureau, expressed the belief today that the Lindbergh kidnapping was the maniac.

"This apparently lets the kidnapers out," commented the inspector who has worked on many kidnapping cases in New York. "To me, it looks like the work of a maniac. I have no direct knowledge of the case, but that's the way it appears to me now."

Trenton, N. J., May 13.—(AP)—The report of the autopsy performed upon the Lindbergh baby by Dr. Charles Mitchell, county physician, was as follows: "May 12, 1932, report on unknown baby.

dominal organs except liver missing. Thoracic organs except heart missing. Eyes softened and decomposed. Skin of head, face, portion of chest and right foot discolored and decomposed.

"Autopsy findings: General decomposition of the muscles of the entire body and other soft tissues except the face, but marked discoloration and some disfigurement of this part of the body existed due to the softening of the eyeballs and a swollen condition of the lips and tongue.

"Special characteristics: Unusually high and prominent forehead and cranium, apparently greater in circumference than would be found in a child of this age. First toe of the right foot completely overlaps the large toe and the second toe of the right foot partially overlaps the large toe.

"There are eight upper and eight lower teeth. The upper incisors are well formed and rather prominent but do not protrude. The two lower canines tend to divert inward and the incisors are below the line of the adjacent teeth.

"Height 33 1-2 inches. Light curly hair, about 3 inches in length and a section of skin on the right foot which had not become discolored indicated a child of white race. The facial muscles, the only ones of the body that had not deteriorated, would indicate a well-developed child.

"There was also a fracture of the skull extending from the fontanel down the left side of the skull to a point posterior to the left ear, where it bifurcated into two distinct fractures. There was also a perforated fracture of half an inch in diameter on the right side of the skull posterior to the right ear.

"There was evidence of a hemorrhage on the inner surface of the left side of the skull at the point of fracture but the scalp was so badly decomposed that it was impossible to find any contusions or hemorrhage conditions external to the skull.

"The fontanel was not closed, the opening in the skull at this point being about one inch in diameter. "Diagnosis of the cause of death is a fractured skull due to external violence.

"Charles Mitchell, county physician."

Start Work on New Constitution

Raleigh, May 13.—(AP)—Members of the commission engaged in studying recommendations to be included in a possible re-writing of the state's constitution met here today to discuss taxation, education, the executive department, the Supreme court, public welfare and Justice of the Peace courts.

It was expected that the discussion sessions of the commission today and tomorrow would complete that phase of its work and that actual re-drafting of the constitution would start at the next meeting.

The commission has held several meetings to discuss proposed changes in the basic law of the state and as a result of the decision to ask law schools of the state to aid in research work has received a great deal of data relating to taxation and courts.

When the commission's work is completed it will report to the 1933 General Assembly.

Under a constitutional amendment to be voted on at the general elections in November provision is made that thereafter amendments may be submitted to the voters at either general or special elections. The present constitution requires that all amendments be submitted to the people for approval at general elections only.

Members of the commission are: W. P. Stacey, Chief Justice of the State Supreme court; George E. Butler, of Clinton; J. O. Carr of Wilmington; Burton Craige of Winston-Salem; Allen J. Maxwell of Raleigh; John J. Parker of Charlotte; Clarence Poe of Raleigh; Michael Schenk of Hendersonville; Lindsay Warren of Washington.

Braves Take Advantage Of Cub Errors To Win 8-3

DODGERS WIN FROM CINCINNATI

By GAYLE TALBOT (Associated Press Sports Writer) Bill McKee's Boston Braves may not win the National League flag this year, but they promise to establish a lasting record for demoralizing the opposition.

In 22 games the battling Bostonians have been helped along by 48 opponents' errors.

The Giants have suffered most from the flunk. In six engagements with the Braves they committed 17 bobbles, eight in one afternoon and five in another. Brooklyn made 10 in five games, Philadelphia seven in five.

Now come the league leading Chicago Cubs with a threat to surpass anything previously done. Facing Boston for the first time yesterday, they managed to compile seven errors, more than sufficient to give the Braves an 8 to 3 victory behind Ed Brandt.

The Cubs' young infielders, Bill Herman and Bill Jurges, divided most of the hard luck between them, Herman with four bobbles and Jurges with two.

Brandt had the Cubs baffled until the last of the ninth, when Johnny Moore nicked him for a homerun with two on. The loss cut Chicago's lead over the Braves to two games.

The Brooklyn Dodgers won first blood in their long awaited series with Cincinnati, 5-2.

Jess Haines made his initial start of the year for the St. Louis Cardinals and beat the Phillies 8 to 2. The Cards knocked Jim Elliott from the hill in the second and plastered his three successors.

The Giants' opener at Pittsburgh was rained out, and only one American League engagement escaped the elements. Cleveland nosed out the Boston Red Sox, 5-4, when Dick Porter's double scored Ciesiel after two were out in the ninth. Earl Webg lost the ball in the sun.

POINTERS WIN FORM SAILORS

Charlotte, May 13.—(AP)—The weather, which had already eliminated five games from this week's Piedmont League activity, did its stuff again yesterday, only Wilmington and High Point taking the field, and that for what turned out to be a base running exhibition which ended Wilmington 11, High Point 18.

Four Wilmington pitchers and an outfielder yielded 21 hits and 16 free trips to first. Herb Rauding came in from the right garden in the seventh to succeed Burns, Veach, Sennett and F. Loftus on the mound, but fared no better than they, yielding 7 hits and walking two.

Wilmington got 15 hits off Durham and Appleton.

The clubs chanced today, Charlotte goes to Wilmington, High Point to Durham, Raleigh to Winston-Salem and Greensboro to Asheville.

Change Helps Jim

Switching from the righthand to the lefthand side of the plate has worked wonders for the batting average of Jim Levey, St. Louis Browns shortstop. He wound up last year hitting .209, but this season, swinging from the other side, he has been up around the .353 mark.

CATS TRIM BLUE DEVILS BY 1-0 COUNT

Charlotte, May 13.—(AP)—In a brilliant pitching duel which saw both teams get a total of only five hits, Davidson defeated Wake Forest 1 to 0 for its first Big Five victory of the season, and the Deacons' first loss.

Charlie Pearce, Wildcat southpaw, allowed Bunting and Hicks to single, and issued two passes. Jimmie Barnes, also a left hander, had held the Wildcats hitless for seven innings, but Peabody and Bradsher doubled in succession in the ninth to win. Barnes walked but one man, and neither team erred. Barnes struck out six men, Pearce two.

The University of North Carolina, only other Big Five team in action yesterday, fell on Porter, Virginia Poly hurler, for six runs in the eighth, and defeated the invaders 11 to 3. Edwards allowed the Virginians 8 hits, and kept them scattered except in the fourth and sixth. Land held the Tar Heels fairly well for seven innings, but North Carolina made life hard for his successor.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

New York Cotton

New York, May 13.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today, unchanged to 2 points higher by buying, promoted by the steadiness in cables. July sold at 5.64.

Trading was quiet but the initial demand was supplied by some local selling and liquidation with the selling becoming a little more active after the call owing to the lower opening of the stock market. July eased off to 5.59 and December to 5.92, making net declines of about 3 points on the more active months, but there was enough trade buying or covering to give the market a fairly steady undertone at the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables said that Japanese buying in that market had been supplied by Bombay selling and reported a good turnover in Egyptian yarns.

Grain Market

Chicago, May 13.—(AP)—Overseas purchases of north American wheat including considerable United States hard winter wheat from private holders, gave a little upturn to grain markets late today.

Speculative interest in the wheat pit was unusually light and at no time were prices much altered from the finish of the previous day. Crop developments were mixed, word of improvement coming from some sections, but other sections reported deterioration.

Stock Market

By CLAUD A. JAGGER
 (Associated Press Financial Editor)
 New York, May 13.—(AP)—Scattered tricks of liquidation met with little resistance in today's stock market, an were sufficient to wash the general price level down close to the depression bottom recorded last week.

Rails again were conspicuously soggy, although nothing particularly new in the carrier outlook materialized. Brokers felt that much of the selling still represented hangover liquidation of collateral loans, falling upon a market all but devoid of buyers.

After selling off 1 to 3 points in many of the principal shares, the list stiffened a little at midday, with recoveries of as much as a point in some places, then eased again. Santa Fe declined 2 and Union Pacific 3 to the lowers for those issues since the year 19,000. Miscellaneous issues losing 1 to 2 points including U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can, Allied Chemical, Drug, Inc., United Aircraft, Coca Cola, American Tobacco "B", Eastman, Western Union, Safeway and others. Some of the preferreds were again depressed, commonwealth and southern dropping 4 points and New Haven, 5.

With continued uncertainties over taxation, Wall street did not as yet appear to be ready to take an unqualified bullish view of the proposed federal relief measures, but hope was expressed that the compromise between Republican and Democratic leaders would expedite legislation and open the way for adjournment before the June political conventions.

While the latest slump in prices, virtually cancelling the recovery of last week, has given rise to some rumor-mongering, usually well-informed quarters expressed the view that in the main it merely reflected scattered necessities selling of accounts of persons short of cash. The weekly brokerage loan figures, showing a drop of $61,000,000 in a week of light trading, clearly indicated that much of the selling reflected jettisoning of marginal holdings.

MEANS PAYS COURT $65.00

Washington, May 13.—(AP)—Gaston B. Means today was allowed to forfeit $65 collateral instead of appearing for trial on charges of assault, drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Michael F. Keogh, assistant U. S. district attorney, announced in police court this morning that Means would be permitted to forfeit the collateral and the case would not be pursued.

A little later in the day Means was to be arraigned in District of Columbia Supreme Court on charges of embezzlement in an alleged Lindbergh ransom fraud. The indictments in this case charge him with taking $104,000 from Mrs. Edward B. McLean, estranged wife of the publisher of the Washington Post, under the pretense that he could recover the Lindbergh baby.

Th smaller charge against Means a former convict, grew out of his rough treatment of Lee Somers, a Washington newspaperman, yesterday. Means said he had mistaken Somers for an undercover agent and preferred charges of disorderly conduct against the reporter.

These charges were dismissed in police court today after the policeman who made the arrests testified he saw no evidence of disorderly conduct on the part of Somers.

SHOW BOAT IS OFF ON CRUISE

James Adams Floating Theatre Leaves Elizabeth City for Season

Elizabeth City, May 13.—(AP)—The James Adams floating theatre, Edna Ferber's inspiration for the writing of "Show Boat" is off for another summer cruise along the inland waterways of the Middle Atlantic states.

All last winter the bulky craft, which looks like an army barracks built on a barge, was tied up at a wharf here. But the first spring-time chirps of the crickets found it resplendent with fresh paint and throbbing with the drama of dress rehearsals.

And now it is away again on its 19th annual mission of pleasure to the remote hamlets of the coastal country. Aboard are the gentle heroine, the mustached villain and the manly hero who arrives just in time to save the old farm from mortgage holder.

Seven years ago Edna Ferber spent several days on the floating playhouse as it nosed its way thru rivers and sounds along the North Carolina coast. Above all things, the novelist was eager for conversation with Captain Charles Hunter, leading man, director, scene shifter, composer, playwright and general boss of the outfit.

But the captain was a busy man and couldn't find time to talk. Finally however, Miss Ferber cornered him on the deck as the James Adams played Belhaven, N. C.

For some reason foreign to his nature, he was in a talking mood that particular afternoon and for hours he sat there on the deck and chatted.

Tales of the rivers, of show boat life, tales of adventure in lonesome waters. Tales of troopers, their likes, dislikes and superstitions.

Miss Ferber has been quoted as saying of that interview: "And as he talked, I repeated a silent prayer, 'Oh Lord, don't let him stop talking.'"

Those who have read or seen "Show Boat" can find much of the story incarnated aboard the James Adams. The old melodramas are given preference, for the country folk delight in such as the fair-haired hero smiting the villain a mighty blow and saying through gritted teeth: "Lie there you scoundrel and die like the cur you are."

And there is Negro Joe and his wife Agnes who preside with great skill over the James Adams kitchen. They were among the characters Miss Ferber described unmistakably in "Show Boat."

This summer's cruise will take the James Adams by a route extending from the Neuse and Pamlico rivers in North Carolina to the headwaters of Chesapeake bay. But when the wild geese honk again in Albemarle sound, the bit ark will return to Elizabeth City and tie up for another winter.

ETERNAL VIGILANCE RULES PREPARATION OF FRESH ORANGE JUICE DRINK

Visitors to the Orange-Crush plant in the midst of the sunny orange groves are amazed at the care that is taken at every step in the preparation of this popular fresh orange juice drink.

Before the fruit leaves the trees, the vigilance begins. As the oranges are ripening, inspectors test them for acid and sugar content. Then, just as the fruit reaches the peak of flavor and richness, swarms of pickers rush into the groves.

During the picking, human hands are never permitted to touch the fruit. All pickers wear fresh, clean cotton gloves. At the plant, the oranges are washed twice, brushed and rinsed—all by machine. Then they go onto the endless belt where they get a final inspection and the button of the orange is cut off. Then another washing and the fruit is ready for the secret process which transforms it into Orange-Crush syrup.

Years of experimenting with a food expert went into the development of the Orange-Crush process. Laboratory methods, machine design, special equipment had to be perfected before he solved the problem of bottling a fresh orange juice drink without destroying the natural flavor or the precious vitamins.

From this process the Orange-Crush syrup runs into glass-lined tanks. For shipment to local bottlers the finished syrup is put into kegs lined with paraffin to protect it from contact with the container itself. These kegs are rushed into cold storage, and kept cold in transit by shipment in refrigerated cars. From tree to bottle no safe-guard is omitted to keep Orange-Crush as pure when it reaches the buyer as orange juice in the fruit as it hangs on the tree.

PROBE NORFOLK ANGLE OF BABY CASE; NO SUSPECTS

Two of the intermediaries here, Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage and the Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, were in Norfolk today but were non-committal. The third of the trio, John Hughes Curtis, who was with Colonel Lindbergh in an effort to renew contact with the supposed kidnapers yesterday, was in New Jersey today.

Colonel Borland and Chief Iron-monger refused to reveal any details, and would give no indication of whether or not they had definite clues. It is known, however, that the two officials have been closely following the case and presumably gathering information since early in March when the three Norfolk men entered the world-wide search as intermediaries.

Agents of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice have also been working quietly in Norfolk from time to time during the last few weeks.

While the negotiations were under way the Norfolk police department adopted the policy of "hands off" in the hope that the intermediaries would be less hampered in their work.

BOTH PARTIES STILL ARGUING

Other members are Wagner of New York, Walsh of Montana, Patman of Nevada, and Bulkeley of Ohio.

As a result of the last night's conference at the White House between the president and Republicans of the Senate banking committee, Republican leaders were confident of a general agreement in their ranks on the proposal to extend federal aid to the states for unemployment relief and to finance public and private construction by means of the reconstruction corporation.

Washington, May 13.—(AP)—The pre-convention curtain-raiser to the 1932 campaign is ending, as it began, with the Republicans still arguing what to do about prohibition, and the Democrats still disputing what to do about a candidate.

Governor Roosevelt continues to press strongly for the Democratic nomination, and so do his rivals. The Ohio primary has stiffened the hopes of wet Republicans, and the resistance of dry Republicans. And so it goes, just a month and a day before the big two-act convention thriller begins in Chicago.

Roosevelt not only added three states to his column, but he did it impressively, with an unquestioned display of driving power. Arizona and Wyoming instructed for him, despite previous pledges of primary in the West Virginia primary he overcame "Alfalfa Bill" Murray ten to one. At the same time two favorites were receiving the formal pledges of their home states, and he whole paddock of dark horses was paraded again before the eyes of the voters.

In gathering in Ohio, Governor George White has a delegation whose ultimate destination, no one knows. Maryland's instructions for Governor Albert C. Ritchie were coincident with revived activity for him as second choice in many states.

On the Republican side, President Hoover continues to pile up delegate strength long after he has passed the number needed to nominate, but life as a candidate is not all roses for him, at that. The pressure on him to approve this or that prohibition plank grows more and more insistent as the convention date approaches.

Within the week Republican modifications have swept Ohio's primary for senator and governor; the American minister to Sweden, John Morshead, has appeared with state department approval before a committee of Congress to advocate the Swedish system of liquor control, and a somewhat similar scheme has been given public approval by Senator David Reed of Pennsylvania, a stalwart of the stalwarts.

FRAZIER BILL IS REPORTED

To obtain funds the treasury would issue bonds bearing interest at 11-2 per cent, as needed. If the bonds were not sold they would be given to the Federal Reserve Board for issuing notes against them, equal to their par value.

The note issues would be retired when the amount of money in circulation exceeds $75 per capita, but could not be retired at a rate of more than 2 per cent yearly of the aggregate amount of notes issued.

Loans would be limited to 80 per cent of the realty value of the farms and 50 per cent of the value of insurable buildings.

NEGRO KILLS SWEETHEART

(Continued from page one) According to the evidence of a nine-year-old girl, the shooting was the coldest blooded murder committed in the community in years. She said the man and woman had a quarrel at the home of the woman and that the woman went up town to summon the police. The officer did not return with her. In the meantime, Gorman had gone to his home and returned with a pistol.

Coming upon the woman in the back yard where she had gone to hang out clothes, "Gorman, the child said, shot her five times, two bullets taking effect in the abdomen, two in the chest and one in the heel.

The woman was said to have gone to the home of a nearby neighbor and asked that she be rushed to a hospital. She dropped dead in the yard immediately after making the request.

Deputy Sheriff Herbert Harris assisted Farmville officers in the search for the slayer last night. Bloodhounds were obtained to aid in the search but a storm prevented them from being able to take the trail.

Jealousy was believed to have been the cause of the crime. Gorman, it was reported, was jealous of another man who had been paying the woman attention for some time, and this led to the dispute and subsequent shooting.

TO MAKE STOP AT DUBLIN IN SPEED TRIAL

Harbor Grace was the Arlington, N. J., speed flier's first scheduled refueling stop on a three hop flight from Newark, N. J., to Paris. From Harbor Grace he proposed to fly to Dublin, Ireland, where he will pick up a second supply of fuel and continue to Paris.

It was at first believed that repairs to a stabilizer he had broken in landing would hold him here for several hours but mechanics began work on the broken part immediately and repairs were completed within two hours. The plane was refueled in record time.

Reichers made the hop from Newark to Harbor Grace in six hours and 22 minutes.

The speed flier is attempting to halve the time of Colonel Lindbergh's non-stop flight from New York to Paris in 1927. Reichers expected to make the flight in about 16 hours.

The weather was considered favorable as Reichers headed his plane eastward and began the most perilous flight of his journey. The 550 gallons of fuel in the tanks of his machine was believed sufficient for 12 flying hours. The aviator hoped to make 200 miles an hour.

BABY'S SLEEPING SUIT IN HANDS OF LINDBERGH

(Continued from page one) possibly establishing the authenticity of the alleged kidnapping group that dealt with Dr. Condon, also are in the possession of Colonel Lindbergh, the paper said. Dr. Condon told the prosecutor, they are two diaper pins. A diaper which the baby wore when it was kidnapped is missing.

Dr. Condon told Prosecutor Marshall, the Times said, that early in the negotiations with the supposed kidnapers the diaper pins were sent to him to prove the men he was dealing with had actually stolen the baby. In the final negotiations, when the $50,000 ransom money was turned over, the baby's sleeping suit was given as the final bit of evidence of the kidnapers' identity.

Two undershirts, found on the body, bore the same maker's name and number as a stock of similar clothing in the baby's little wardrobe at the Lindbergh home. One of the shirts had been cut down to small size and the piece that was cut off by Miss Betty Gow, the baby's nurse, was matched with the shirt found on the body and was identical. Further, Miss Gow had sewed a hem around the bottom of the shirt, using blue thread and she produced identical thread at the Lindbergh home last night.

Trenton, May 13.—(AP)—District Attorney Edwin Marshall announced that nothing had been found to implicate Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jafsie" of the search for the Lindbergh baby. "He has been released and has come back to New York," Marshall said.

The prosecutor of Mercer county, where the baby's body was found, said he had not yet seen Charles Curtis, Norfolk mediator in the Lindbergh case, and did not know where he was.

Both Dr. Condon, who paid the unavailing $50,000 ransom, and Curtis, who was on another trip to meet the supposed kidnapers when the body was found, made formal statements to police last night, and were further questioned today.

Marshall said that Dr. Condon became an intermediary in the Lindbergh baby search because "he was an ardent admirer of Colonel Lindbergh and thinks him an ideal American."

Condon, he said, offered $1,000 reward in his first "Jafsie" advertisement. He got into communication with persons purporting to be the kidnapers by letter. The first letter contained no piece of clothing but later, ones did and these bits of cloth, taken to Colonel Lindbergh by Condon, convinced the aviator that the aged educator was really in touch with the kidnapers.

The prosecutor disclosed that he had been in conference with Colonel Lindbergh until three o'clock this morning, going over all details of the case and mapping out a plan of campaign against the kidnapper-murderers.

PARTY LEADERS SEEKING SUPPORT FOR RELIEF PLAN

Robinson and Senator Watson, the Republican leader, again this morning called the steering groups of their respective parties into separate meetings to push the matter to a conclusion. After the Democratic steering committee met with Robinson last night, he reported "general sympathy" for the proposal, but no conclusions.

Administration Republicans on the Senate banking committee, who would handle the necessary legislation, met with the President at the same time in a meeting described as "harmonious" and which apparently yielded general approval although it was announced formally that no final decisions were reached there either.

After the parley, Mr. Hoover gave out a statement outlining the compromise plan. By legislation, the present borrowing power of the reconstruction unit would be doubled, to a total of $3,000,000,000. The President made it plain he was in no wise abandoning the policy that relief of distress rests primarily on local efforts, but said "since fear has arisen that existing relief measures and resources may prove inadequate" it was deemed wise to empower the Reconstruction Corporation to make relief loans to the states if necessary. He advised limiting these loans to between $250,000,000 and $300,000,000.

The remaining monies would be loaned for both private and public construction projects, provided they are "economically sound and self-
