HUNDRED REPORTED MISSING IN SHIP DISASTER

Curtis Admits No Knowledge of Kidnapers

Norfolk Intermediary Says His Part In Case Creation Of Imagination

Gives Written Confession Concerning His Activities to Col. Schwarzkopf; States All the Persons And Boats Referred To Are Creations of His Mind; Grand Jury Probe Opens in New York.

Hopewell, N. J., May 17.—(AP)—Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of state police, announced today that John Hughes Curtis, one of the Norfolk intermediaries in the Lindbergh kidnap case, had written "a complete confession" that all the people with whom he has had to negotiate and all the boats on which he said he met them were creations of his own imagination.

Col. Schwarzkopf's statement follows:

"At 4 o'clock this morning John Hughes Curtis sat down to a typewriter and himself wrote a complete confession concerning his activities in the case.

"He stated that the boats and all the people to whom he has been referring were creations of his own mind and do not exist in fact.

"Shortly after the kidnaping Mr. Curtis told a story about having a contact with the kidnapers. A newspaper representative, according to Mr. Curtis' statement, made a very lucrative offer to him for his story to be given exclusively to that paper. Also, according to Mr. Curtis, a very lucrative offer was made by another newspaper and a film company concerning his activities. This spurred Mr. Curtis on to greater activity.

"Mr. Curtis also said that Dean Peacock could have prevented his unfortunate part of this enormous deception. Admiral Burrage merely presented to Col. Lindbergh the story as he had heard it, making no recommendations, but permitting it to stand on its merits.

"Reputable citizens and officials frequently vouched for Col. Lindbergh for the integrity of Mr. Curtis, stating that his word could be relied on. This made the deception so much easier. The story of Mr. Curtis has resulted in the very widespread activities of the coast guard and other federal agencies in seeking the fictitious boat he has described.

"It has further resulted in many official airplane trips, auto trips, as well as keeping Col. Lindbergh away from home and activities during the most important phase of the case in pursuit of fictitious clues.

"Four days ago, when Mr. Curtis came to these headquarters, the police authority at this point started questioning him and checking his story. The result of the check on his story and the questioning of Mr. Curtis was culminated at 4 o'clock this morning, with his complete confession that all the information he had given was the result of his imagination and deception as well as his desire to make a good newspaper story that would bring lucrative returns, and that there was no fact or foundation on which the story was built.

After Col. Schwarzkopf issued his statement he was asked if any action had been taken against Curtis and replied that Curtis was not under arrest.

Norfolk, Va., May 17.—(AP)—The Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, a second of the Norfolk intermediaries, when informed of the Curtis confession to Hopewell, said, "I am still relying on Mr. Curtis. He has been under a great strain for the past two months. This is the first I have heard of anything like this."

"I have never heard of any lucrative offers by newspapers, and so far as I know our efforts have been in the utmost sincerity," the churchman continued.

"My activity in the case has been in connection with that of Mr. Curtis, and I am relying on him."

When interviewed the minister requested that the Associated Press immediately communicate with Rear Admiral Guy H. Burt.

FLIER PLEADS 'NOT GUILTY'

Lancaster Arraigned in Circuit Court On Charge of Slaying Hayden Clarke.

Miami, Fla., May 17.—(AP)—Captain W. N. Lancaster, former English army aviator, pleaded not guilty to his arraignment in Circuit court today on charges of murdering Hayden Clarke, youthful writer and fiance of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, the Australian flier, and Judge H. F. Atkinson designated July 5 as the date for trial.

He appeared haggard after weeks of confinement in jail but he spoke calmly in entering his plea. A court clerk read the grand jury indictment, he displayed no emotional reaction.

James M. Carson, chief of defense counsel, asked that the trial be (Continued on Page Six)

HOLD FUNERAL FOR E. C. KING

Victim of Automobile Wreck Near Bruce Laid to Rest at Falkland Today.

Funeral services for E. C. King, prominent citizen of Falkland, who was fatally injured in an automobile wreck yesterday morning, were conducted from Falkland this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. A. J. Crane, pastor of the Tarboro Presbyterian Church, officiated, and a large crowd was in attendance.

Mr. King, who lived at Falkland all of his life, died in the hospital here at the noon hour yesterday as a result of injuries sustained when his automobile ran into a ditch near Bruce, crashed into a telephone pole and turned over two hours earlier. He received injuries of the head and chest and died in spite of every medical attention.

Miss Alice Newton who was riding with him, escaped uninjured, but was said to have suffered considerably from shock of the impact.

Mr. King was one of the best known farmers of his community and devoted the major part of his life to the advancement of this phase of industry. He was also engaged in the mercantile business for many years.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. J. L. Fountain, of Raleigh; and a brother, G. B. King, of Washington, D. C.

Nephews of the deceased were active pall bearers, and the following acted as honorary:

G. V. Smith, A. M. Moseley, B. E. Sugg, Frank Patrick, Claude Gaskins, Frank Harrington, S. A. Whitehurst, Preston Pierce, Dr. S. M. Crisp, B. S. Warren, A. J. Mcye, Robert Wooten, Henry Pittman, Charlie Bryant, Will Bryant, Hugh Smith, Lyman Brown, Abel Pierce, D. S. Spain, F. C. Harding, Richard Williams Jr., G. B. W. Hadley, C. W. Harvey.

Charge Federal Judges With 'Joy Riding' At Expense of Government

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—A Republican senate leader has charged that federal judges use government expense accounts to "joy ride" across the country and take vacations in New York, was spread today upon the sober pages of the Congressional Record.

Rep. LaGuardia (R. N. Y.) put the accusation there in presenting to the House yesterday a report from the comptroller general giving names of 29 federal judges from all over the country who had turned over (Continued on Page Six)

SUMMER TERM FOR CONGRESS

Republican Leaders Declare Another Session Required To Complete Work.

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—Republican senate leaders have advised Speaker Garner that it will be necessary to recess Congress in June for the conventions and that a summer session will be required to complete pending business.

Speaker Garner said he and Representative Snell, of New York, the Republican leader, conferred yesterday with Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, president pro tempore, and Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, and were informed they felt it would be impossible for Congress to complete its business by June 10, as originally planned.

Garner told newspapermen the House would be ready to complete its business by June 4, but that (Continued on Page Six)

FOUR STATES VOTE TODAY

New Jersey Only One To Select Delegates through the Primary Method.

Hartford, Conn., May 17.—(AP)—Connecticut Democrats today instructed delegates to the national convention to cast the state's 16 votes for Alfred E. Smith.

Selection of delegates to the national convention proceeded today in four states, New Jersey alone of them making its choices by the primary method.

Franklin D. Roosevelt who yesterday won Kansas' 20 delegates was expected to receive Montana's eight and New Mexico's six Democratic votes today. Connecticut's Democratic delegation of 16 appeared due to be instructed for Alfred E. Smith but, unbound by the unit rule, was likely to contain some votes for Roosevelt. Definitely pro-Smith the New Jersey delegation of 32 was to be named without instruction.

President Hoover stood to receive 35 unpledged New Jersey votes and (Continued on Page Six)

M'LEAN CASE BEGINS TODAY

Attempt to Remove Publisher as Co-Trustee of Father's Estate Under Way.

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—The effort to remove Edward B. McLean, Washington Post publisher, as co-trustee of the huge estate left by his father, opened for trial today in the District of Columbia Supreme court.

The suit was filed by his three minor children, John R. 20, Edward B. Jr. 14 and Emily 10, through their mother, Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, who has a suit for divorce pending.

Neither the publisher or his wife was present as a court attendant banged his gavel sharply on the entrance of Justice Jennings Bailey.

Julius Peyster, McLeans attorney, said he was in the American Hospital in Paris.

Nelson T. Hartson, counsel for Mrs. McLean said he expected to show that McLean had dissipated trust property, and that his action had particularly injured the Washington Post, a principal part of the trust. He charged McLean had been guilty of misconduct, "offenses against public decency" and had been drunk for considerable periods of time.

Gaston B. Means, ex-convict and former Department of Justice investigator, now under indictment on charges that he swindled Mrs. McLean out of $104,000 by representing he could return the Lindbergh baby if he was called as a witness by McLean's attorneys.

However, court attaches said no subpoena had been served on him. Means is at liberty on $50,000 bond.

ROTES HEAR GOOD MUSIC

Also Treated to Program on Science at Regular Meeting Last Night.

Greenville Rotarians were decidedly more musically and scientifically inclined today as result of a program dealing with science and music put on under direction of Dr. Herbert ReBarker at last night's meeting of the local club.

The club was treated to several vocal and instrumental numbers under direction of Miss Eugenia Thomas, director of public school music at East Carolina Teachers College. Sam Quinerly charmed his hearers with a violin solo, and Drewry Settle conjured more music out of his cornet than the ordinary fellow gets out of a whole band.

Miss Watson was liberally applauded in a solo number, being accompanied at the piano by Miss Thomas.

COURT GETS RECTOR CASE

Gov. Gardner Considers Cases of Two Men Due to Die on Friday, May 27.

Dalech, May 17.—(AP)—The State Supreme court today took under advisement the case of Willie Rector, Burke county youth who was "lost" on death row at state's prison for seven months and at the same time Gov. O. Max Gardner had under consideration the cases of two men due to be electrocuted Friday, May 27.

Rector was sentenced to be electrocuted last October 2nd. For seven months he has waited daily on death row for someone to come and electrocute him. His mind has appeared to be cracking badly, prison officials said.

Secretary Mills Says the Federal Reserve Board Opposed to Expansion Program.

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—Secretary Mills informed the Senate banking committee today that passage by the by the House of the Goldborough-Dollar stabilization bill "was a disturbing factor both at home and abroad" and that the Federal Reserve Board is unanimously opposed to it.

The secretary's letter was in response to a request that he comment on a Senate bill by Senator Fletcher (D. Fla.) virtually identical with the Goldsbrough measure passed by the House.

SURVIVORS ARE LANDED

Scenes of Horror As Fire Rages Aboard French Motorship Georges Philippar, Pride of Far Eastern Service; Passengers Throw Themselves Into Sea to Avoid the Scorching Flames; Many Injured and Scores Suffer From Shock.

London, May 17.—(AP)—Approximately 100 of the 900 passengers and crew of the French motorship Georges Philippar are missing after the fire which destroyed the ship yesterday in the Arabian Sea, the vessel's captain was quoted as saying today.

The captain's statement was contained in an eye-witness story of the disaster wireless to the London Evening Standard today by the master of the British steamer Contractor, which was proceeding to Aden, Arabia, with 129 of the survivors.

The story was one of horror. As the flames swept over the fine, new ship, pride of the French Far Eastern service, passengers, men, women and children, scrambled out on ropes or threw themselves into the sea in their night clothes in an effort to avoid the blistering fire.

Many were injured and scores were suffering from shock.

"At 3 a. m. Monday 10 p. m. Sunday, EST," the Contractor's captain said, "I observed flames on the horizon at a distance of about 35 miles. I arrived off the French vessel Georges Philippar and found her in flames from the water's edge to the boat deck amidship. The Soviet tanker Skiaftskia Neft was standing by.

"Approaching near, I found on the poop and forecastle head a few hundred people. I launched two boats with officers in charge and rescued 75 of the passengers and crew.

"Boats from the French vessel had been going to the Soviet ship since 3 a. m.

"The passengers report that many first class passengers were trapped in their cabins. The fire, some said, originated in an empty cabin de luxe, through a short circuit, but various other opinions were given.

"Others said the wireless room and the captain's quarters were destroyed first and the fire traveled rapidly through all the state-rooms fanned by a fresh breeze.

"I have aboard 129 survivors. One woman, a Miss Deroger, died from burns and was buried at sea.

"The weather at the time was fine and the sea moderate. My officer on the second journey reported that the captain of the French ship was last to leave her. On being asked if any more were aboard, he replied 'No.'

"Some members of the crew and some passengers who were hanging over the bow on ropes were saved by our boats. Many jumped into the sea. Wives were separated from their husbands, and children from their parents. All were anxious and wondering if the others were saved.

"The French captain reports about 100 missing all the passengers who were saved were clad in night attire. Some of them wore dressing gowns. They have lost every thing.

"We are due at Aden about 4 p. m. today (Tuesday)."

Aden, Arabia, May 17.—(AP)—Eighty to one hundred persons, most of them first class passengers, were trapped aboard the blazing French motorship Georges Philippar yesterday and some of them must have lost their lives, survivors declared when they arrived here today aboard the British steamer Contractor.

The fire, discovered when the ship was off Cape Guardafui, Italian Somaliland, spread with extreme rapidity from the aft of the vessel, driving the passengers toward the bow.

There were harrowing scenes as the passengers strove to reach their boats amid the smoke and confusion.

RIOT DEATH TOLL MOUNTS

Seventy-One Dead and 700 Injured As Moslems Clash with Hindus.

Bombay, India, May 17.—(AP)—The Royal Irish fusiliers opened fire tonight on a mob of Moslems who were looting and burning shops in the Bhendy Bazar, the center of the worst of the riots which have resulted in the death of 72 persons and in injuries to more than 800 since last Saturday.

Seven were killed and 50 injured during the forenoon in spite of the fact that the city was patrolled by British tank troops brought hastily from Poona last night.

Except for the rioters and the troops and police, the streets were virtually deserted. The rest of the population shuddered indoors as the blood continued to flow. Along the streets garbage and refuse, unattended for three days, was rotting, filling the city with an awful stench.

Burst of rifle fire broke out from time to time during the day as the troops clashed with the rioters.

Authorities this afternoon issued a curfew order which prohibits more than five persons from congregating in any spot. The rioting spread to the mill areas today, forcing the closing of the mills, which threw 40,000 men and women out of work.

INDICT BAILEY FOR ROBBERY

Man Wanted for Killing in South Carolina Faces Two Charges at Asheville.

Asheville, May 17.—(AP)—Reese Bailey, wanted for slayings in South Carolina and Iowa and for robbery in Iowa, was under indictment here today for highway robbery and assault with a deadly weapon.

A Buncombe county grand jury returned three indictments, two of which charged highway robbery.

He is alleged to have held up W. H. Webb and Jack Green and assaulted Bob Sams with a pistol. Meanwhile, he is in the county jail.

Bailey was arrested several days ago in connection with the slaying of Motorcycle Officer A. B. Hunt at Greenville, S. C., who, with three other officers, battled five gunmen in a street gun fight.

Officers said Bailey was wanted in Ely, Iowa, in connection with the daylight robbery of the Ely Trust Company and that he is wanted in the same state in connection with the slaying of a sheriff and a town marshal.

Following his arrest near here as he slept heavily armed in a barn, Bailey was freed after a habeas corpus hearing in connection with the Greenville slaying. He was arrested immediately on the local charges.

Rival Delegations Will Fight It Out At Chicago

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Washington, May 17.—(AP)—Rival delegations from five states and one territory will contest for and one territory will contest for next month.

"Lilly-Whitesism" and patronage reorganization in the south will be the issues faced by the Republicans and a Roosevelt-Smith clash involved is in one of the two Democratic controversies.

Republicans have selected opposing delegations in Georgia, South Carolina, Mississippi and Louisiana. Two delegations each to the Democratic gathering have been chosen in Minnesota and Porto Rico.

The Republican contest arises largely from President Hoover's decree, three weeks after his inauguration, reorganizing the party machinery in Georgia, South Carolina and Mississippi as a result of disclosures over the handling of federal patronage in those states. New groups were set up to recommend government appointments.

In Louisiana, a negro faction will dispute for 12 seats against a predominant white group headed by Ernest Lee Jahncck, assistant secretary of the navy and national committeeman. The negro delegation complains of white supremacy and wants the convention to pass definitely on "lilly whitesism" to avoid similar contests in the future.

The administration-reorganized factions in the four states expect to be seated, but not perhaps without $200 bond.

Slayer Nabbed Near Barnard

Marshall, N. C., May 17.—(AP)—Jonas Massie, hunted for two weeks on a charge of killing Marvin Johnson, was surrounded by officers and captured early today as he lay beneath the floor of his home near Barnard.

Mrs. Taskie Johnson, widow of the slain man, was arrested several days ago on a charge of aiding in the killing. She was released under $200 bond.

Japanese Army Seeks A National Government

By GLENN BABB
(Associated Press Correspondent)
Tokyo, May 17.—(AP)—The army swung its mailed fist upon Japanese politics today and dictated that a national non-partisan cabinet must be named to succeed that of the slain Premier Inukai.

The army's ultimatum completely upset the plans of the political leaders. During the day it had been virtually decided that Kishiburo Suki, present home minister, should head another Seiyukai party government.

Mr. Suzuki was named head of the party earlier in the day. The selection was made as a means of healing a threatened breach within the party ranks. Leaders of the organization persuaded Takejiro Tokonami, railway minister, to abandon his candidacy.

The army leaders served flat notice they would refuse to support any cabinet formed on political party lines. They demanded a national cabinet. General Nazaki, vice chief of the army general staff, visited former war minister General Sadao Araki and informed him that the army would refuse to recommend any officers as war minister in the new cabinet if it were formed on party lines.

The crisis confronting the country, he said, demanded that politics be left aside and a "truly national" government be set up.

The constitution requires that the minister of war be a general and (Continued on Page Six)

YOU CAN'T MARRY

By Julia Cleft-Addams

SYNOPSIS: Georgie Townsend has told Garth Avenue that her cousin, Jenny, married Eddie Graton Matching, won't discharge her as he does all married women employees. Jenny must keep Georgie's secret, though she loves Avenue, who believes Jenny has been flirting with him.

Chapter 26
"WHAT FRIGHTENED YOU?" It had slipped out almost without her knowing it. He shrugged again.

"Oh, but why not? After all you had said you were leaving her soon . . . You don't remember saying that?"

"Yes, she remembered it. She had meant something very different, but now, it fitted fendsly into his disdain of her. Everything seemed to be fitting in except that one strange cry of his to Georgie: "He ought to thank his stars for you!"

Whoever that had been said of, it could not have been said of Eddie. Garth Avenue was ignorant of what lay between Georgie and Eddie Townsend. He had never guessed and he did not guess now. And Jenny could not tell him, because of her promise to Georgie.

"You look depressed." He was leaning slightly towards her. The servants had left the room, the short, perfect dinner was nearly done. "I wish you wouldn't. You played such an amusing game with me, quite slick and clever—why can't you take a hiding with a smile? After all, I was bound to find you out, wasn't I? I agree it's a pity I found you out before we had our day together; but you were gambling a bit with me there, really you were!" He raised his glass to her and for the first time he deliberately touched her—his hand covered hers. "I drink to you, Jenny Revell. To the cleverest little vamp I've ever met!"

She felt as she had when Georgie had turned upon her as though the words she heard were blows. She shrank away from them in panic and then suddenly and furiously she was on her feet, his hand thrown aside and his glass overturned between them.

"I wish to go home. You are insulting—you—your opinion of me—Oh, I'm not like that!" She pushed away from him, blinded with tears. "Even if I can't explain yet you should not think such things of me!"

"Explain? Jenny, is there any explanation you can honestly give?" She caught her breath on a sob. He, too, had risen. He looked quite different. No laughter now, but an eager sternness—ah, he couldn't be indifferent to her: if he could look like that! If she said quite simply, "It was Georgie, not I," what would she see in his eyes? If he believed her, what would she expect, cool and detached. Searching in a thin case for a particular cigarette.

"No, on second thoughts, don't let's have any explanations, Jenny. They're boring things and often so painfully unconvincing."

"I should like to go home."

"Without seeing the Old Man? Now, there you have a conquest. A real one."

She held fiercely on to her resentment. When Georgie had permitted her to speak, she would hurt him for this. For every separate cruelty, she would hurt him.

"Are you sure Mr. Matching wants to see me?"

"He was most insistent. If you'll excuse me, though, I'll send you up to him under other escort than mine. I'm due to meet Vale and a party at the Crescendo."

"I suppose," said Jenny wildly, "that Brigitta Deering will be there?"

"I'm hoping so, Jenny Revell. She is very lovely. Isn't she?" He came a step nearer. "But not as lovely as you are, standing there hating me. You hate me, don't you, for finding you out?"

"Not for that," said Jenny, her lips oddly stiff. "I do hate you, but I can't tell you why, yet."

He came nearer still. His arm brushed hers. The delicate haze of the cigarette lay upon them both.

"More explanations, Jenny?"

"I will never forgive you," she whispered. "When you understand, you'll have that to endure, too—that I will never forgive you!"

"Well, and I'll never forgive you, so we can stop moralizing. If you want to go up to the Old Man, Jenny, I am not, you know, preventing you. I am not holding you

ABOUT TOWN

There is an ordinance in Greenville requiring the parking of automobiles for five minutes when the fire alarm is sounded in order to give fire trucks and firemen the right of way.

The ordinance has been violated repeatedly in the wild rush of the public to reach the scene of fires, and unless the practice is stopped the police will have to take drastic action to improve the situation.

People who rush to fires not only endanger their own lives, but those of the firemen, and it is to be hoped they will restrain themselves in the future and wait until the fire trucks have had time to reach the fires before going themselves.

The advent of good weather was accompanied by heavy death toll on the highways of the south during the past week-end.

Several persons were killed in North Carolina while an undetermined number were injured because of their failure to fully observe traffic regulations.

Life is too valuable to risk in this way, and the public is cautioned by highway officers to pay more attention to regulations and drive as carefully as possible all the time.

The death toll is not laid at the door of the unskilled driver but is charged directly to the people whose knowledge of their proficiency in the handling of their car causes them to take chances the inexperienced driver wouldn't think of taking.

The death list can be cut tremendously if everybody would regard the warning sent out by the officials, and if it is obeyed this summer the toll may be much less than that of last summer.

Owen Young has definitely removed himself as a prospective "dark horse" in the forthcoming presidential campaign by declaring he will seek no such honor.

This will cause members of the Democratic party to cast about for new material in case of a deadlock at the Chicago convention, but who that will be is a matter of much conjecture at this time.

However, it may be the convention will be able to select a candidate without the need of a dark horse, and in that case the tension existing among the leading members will be greatly lessened.

One thing the Democrats will need at that convention is harmony and if they are able to establish that they will find themselves in much better shape to win out in the election and out the Republicans on the outside for a peek in for the next four years.

The Greenville golf team seems to be headed for honors of the East Carolina Golf Association this year. They have won three out of five games of the tournament now under way and hope to capture the game with Kingston tomorrow.

Interest in this sport has picked up exceedingly here the last several years and the fine playing exhibited in the tournament is the result of long and consistent practice.

The public will watch the outcome with interest hoping the club will be able to bring the flag here for next year.

The various clubs of the city are to be congratulated upon the beautification program started sometime ago and which is showing such good results at this time.

That campaign should be kept up each year until the city is converted into the most beautiful in this section of the state.

The planing of shrubs and flowers on vacant public places will do much to accomplish this purpose and the clubs should continue to hammer away until they have fully accomplished their objective.

The raising of more chickens, hogs and food crops should result in Pitt county farmers finding themselves in much better condition at the end of another planting season.

If cash crops fail to bring satisfactory prices, the growers will have sufficient food to carry them over to another planting season and this here—yet."

He was not holding her but she gasped as she wrenched herself out of the charmed circle: faint, sweet, hazy and intoxicating nearness—

She found herself walking rapidly across the huge drawing room and out into the hall. Presently the butler was at her side and conducting her up the biggest staircase that she had ever seen.

At a bend, she glanced down. For a second she thought that Garth Avenue watched her go; then she was sure that she had been mistaken. Anyway, it was of no importance. When Georgie allowed her to speak, she would speak once and forever. After that, she need never see him again.

She had so often listened to Georgie's stories of this part of the house, that she was not surprised by it as a stranger would have been. Here was the corridor where one's feet rang a warning bell and here was the dim, strange room and the frail old form in the tent of a bed. She wondered if he would offer her a bag of sweets; she hoped not, she liked so few.

"You've come, have you?" rasped the voice from the bed. "Eh? Well, you're a pretty thing in all that silver. Come here and sit down. Quietly, if you can—people can't be quiet nowadays."

"I'm used to being quiet. Are you ill? Or just tired?"

"What's it got to do with you? You don't care how tired I get. Too tired to carry on any longer, but I don't flatter myself anybody cares. Does my young nephew care? Not he! He steps into my shoes tomorrow, takes my place, carries on my work. His boss now, from tomorrow. Answerable to me, but to me alone." The grumbling voice rose and fell. "Well, what do you think of him? Eh? Think he's shape?"

Jenny, very troubled, quite unable to answer the unexpected question, turned her head and looked from one to the others of the strange things about her. The light was concentrated upon the table near the bed, but she could make out a great deal of rich, shadowed carving and some big pictures in the sort of frames that Grandfather had liked. Except for the bed, nothing in the room suggested a sleeping apartment. It had much more the air of an antique shop!

She started suddenly. Something had moved in the deepest shadow.

"What frightened you?" asked the old man in bed. Apparently he had not taken his eyes from her. "Is there someone there?"

BEGIN REGISTRATION OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

Today and tomorrow are registration days for children entering school next year for the first time. The Pitt County Board of Health, the local doctors, the Parent-Teacher Associations, and the school authorities are cooperating in this program. In the past these clinics have proved of great value to the individual child and the school because parents have been eager to correct physical defects and thus make the child ready for the work of school.

In case any parents failed to take their children to one of the schools today where the clinics were held, they are requested to take them to the Training school building tomorrow between the hours of nine and twelve in the forenoon.

The Story Of The Poppy

Every year on the Saturday before Memorial Day millions of Americans wear little red poppies on their coats. Women of the American Legion Auxiliary are on the streets all day with baskets of poppies, pinning the little flowers on all passersby. Of course you know that the poppies are worn in memory of the men who lost their lives in the World War, but we wonder if you know how the poppy came to be the nation's memorial flower.

Take the map of Europe in your geographies and draw a way line from the Swiss border, through France and Belgium to the North Sea. Imagine this line to be a double line of trenches and picture vast armies on both sides of it locked in a four-year battle. That is the way Europe looked from 1914 to the fall of 1918. The line wavered first one way and then the other as the contending armies pushed forward or were driven back. For miles on both sides of it the ground was trampled by the heavy shoes of millions of fighting men. It was churned and re-churned by the shells of thousands of cannon, blown full of ugly craters by the explosion of mines and bleached by clouds of poison gas.

Into this area of death and destruction hundreds of thousands of American boys advanced in 1917 and 1918, determined to put an end to the horrible war. You all know how they did end the war, restoring peace to a war-torn world and bringing liberty to subjected peoples. But many months amid the desolation of the battle front, many weeks of continuous fighting and many thousands of fine young lives were required to complete the task.

As the American soldiers struggled forward through the shattered villages, across the shell-torn fields and over the blasted hillsides they saw only one touch of life and beauty in all that region where death and destruction reigned. This was the little wild poppies. Along the very edges of the trenches, about the ragged shell holes and in the fields raked by machine gun fire, the brave little poppies grew and bloomed. When comrades were left beneath the bare dirt of hastily dug battle graves, the poppies sprang up and clothed the graves with flowers. It seemed as if the gallant spirit of the dead had passed into the blood-red blossoms and that through the little flowers they were sending a message of courage and hope to those who still lived.

The poppy became the symbol of the dead—their memorial flower. It became the sign that the high ideals for which these brave young men gave their lives still live and are honored. That is why we pin on the poppy when we pay tribute to our World War dead. The poppy covers the soil of France beneath which they lie, and on Poppy Day we place the flower over our hearts where the memory of the greatest sacrifice they made for our country is forever enshrined.

Many Counties Denied Aid For Extended Terms

Raleigh, May 17.—(AP)—Twenty-nine counties of the state are to be denied $221,058.74 in state aid for extending school terms until they pay indebtedness to the states literary and special school building fund. State treasurer Steadman announced.

Some of the counties owe the state more than they are due from the extended term fund. The counties in arrears, and amounts to be withheld, are:

- Beaufort $10,176.30; Bertie $6,213.70; Bladen $4,297.25; Carteret $10,740.04; Caswell $9,481.50; Cherokee $3,395.50; Clay $4,811.50; Craven $15,850; Cumberland $11,086.31; Franklin $11,079.41; Gates $3,361.39; Graham $2,007.50; Greene $17,982.18; Hoke $2,478.40; Jackson $1,688.50; Jones $824; Onslow $7,141.82; Perquimans $6,095.50; Person $3,111.50; Polk $11,223.15; Robeson $5,402; Sampson $277.40; Stokes $2,328; Surry $30,234.50; Transylvania $16,897.73; Washington $5,134.40; Watauga $12,932; Wilks $3,082.31; Yadkin $1,724.95.

Wadesboro Man Is Found Dead

Wadesboro, May 17.—(AP)—James Dudley Horne, 82, a pioneer in Wadesboro business circles, was found dead in his bed yesterday after several days of slight indisposition which had not been thought serious.

One of the founders of the First National Bank here, and for many years its president, he had wide business interests, was the oldest merchant in Wadesboro and in 1917 served as a member of the legislature.

Funeral services were to be held today.

Among survivors are his widow, formerly Miss Sarah Divine of Wilmington; and four daughters, Mrs. George Little, Miss Elizabeth Horne and Miss Virginia Horne of Wadesboro, and Mrs. Clifton H. Sutherland, of New York.

Charlotte.—(AP)—Relatives and the company which employed him have offered a $200 reward for conviction of these responsible for the death of Albert Rudisill, whose body, found draped in women's clothing and face grotesquely roughed up, was found hanging from a beam in a warehouse here several weeks ago.

Back From Abroad

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, widow of the late president, is shown aboard ship as she returned from a trip to Europe.

LOCAL GOLF TOURNAMENT BEGINS SOON

All golfers were today invited to enter the local tournament to be held next week at the Greenville Country Club.

There will be two eighteen hole rounds played this week in order to qualify for the finals.

There will be three flights and prizes will be given to the low scorer in both men and women's division. Prizes have been donated by the local merchants for winners and runner up in each flight. Thirty six holes necessary for qualifying must be handed to Mr. Holmes and attested to by May 21st.

Match play begins May 23 and pairings will be found on the bulletin board at the Country Club and in the Daily Reflector each day.

The following prizes donated by the local merchants are now on display in the window of Blount-Harvey Co.

Quinn-Miller, card table; Eldridge Drug Store, two decks of cards; W. L. Best, gold cigarette lighter; Flanagan-Meeks Paint Co., pewter pitcher; Rock's Dry Cleaning, $2.00 in trade; Ed Batchelor, sport shirt; Blount-Harvey and Co., linen knickers; Coburn Shoe Co., sport shoes; The Vanity Box, shampoo and finger wave; State theatre, two weeks pass. Persons desiring further particulars have been requested to confer with T. A. Smoot.

Farmville High School Closes

Farmville, May 17.—The closing exercises of the Farmville high school began on Friday evening with a musical recital by pupils of Mrs. Haywood Smith followed by a pageant, "America in the Making," with a cast of 48 students of the 7th grade to whom Dr. P. E. Jones later presented elementary certificates.

The baccalaureate sermon was preached on Sunday morning by Rev. J. M. Duncan of Murfreesboro, a former pastor of the local Baptist church, who delivered a comprehensive and helpful message on the subject of "Life at Its Best," taking the three greatest maxims of philosophers of human life; "Know Thyself, Be True"—Socrates; "Control Thyself"—Marcus Aurelius, and "Deny Thyself"—Jesus, as sub-topics. Special music was rendered by members of the church choir with Mrs. Haywood Smith as accompanist.

The closing event, class day exercises, which took the form of a play, was held on Monday evening, when diplomas were delivered by J. W. Holmes, chairman of the school trustees, to 28 girls and boys composing the largest senior class in the history of the school. Miss Eva Mae Turnage was president of the class, B. S. Smith, vice-president, Richard Harris, secretary, Davis Erwin Oglesby Jr., treasurer, and Miss Mary Friar Rouse, reporter.

Annual awards were presented by Supt. R. E. Boyd to Miss Louise Harris for improvement in music, offered by Mrs. Haywood Smith; and to Miss Geraldine Gardner in mathematics, the prize being given by Mrs. J. Y. Monk. Miss Mary Thorne Tyson also received a gift and honorable mention for work in the music department.

WOODS YIELD GOOD INCOME

Value of Timberlands in Pitt County During 1930 Given As $287,730.

(By R. W. GRAEBER)

When I say, "The Farm Woods Yield a Good Income," some one is going to disagree. Yet many people will be surprised to learn just what the farm woodlands in Pitt county give the farmers in the way of income. According to the latest figures available, the U. S. Census Report for the year 1929, the harvest of farm forest products for that year was as follows: 519,000 board feet of lumber and logs, 69,300 cords of firewood, 716 cords of pulpwood, 1,552 fence posts, 404 poles and piling.

It is rather difficult to figure the value of these products because many of them were used by the farmer himself. But figured at the common market price at that time, the total value of these forest products to the Pitt county woodland owners was about $287,730 dollars.

This is quite a sizable income to receive in one year from the one portion of these farms—the one crop—which has received no care, no fertilizer or cultivation, and cost only the annual tax on those acres.

Let's give the woods an "even break." This is the only part of the farm that produces a crop without care, fertilization or cultivation. In seasons of droughts or excessive rains, it keeps right on growing. Late or early frosts, or the severest winter weather does not injure it. When all other crops fail, the farm woodland carries on its job of producing wood. And though the owner slashes it to pieces with careless and wasteful cutting, the same crop comes right back for more.

Certainly, a crop that will do this deserves encouragement and better treatment than many farmers usually give it. All it requires is protection from fire and a little more care in cutting operations. Your county agent can tell you how to give this crop a "fair chance" in its effort to produce a reasonable share of the farm income.

Yanks Stage Four Straight Shutouts To Tie League Mark

TRIM INDIANS BY 8-0 SCORE

BY GAYLE TALEOT
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Stock in the New York Yankees pitching department which up to ten days ago was selling for something like a dime a dozen on the open market and very few takers at any price had soared out of sight today.

Climaxing the most sensational streak seen in the American league in more than two decades the Yankee curvers had tied a record that has stood for 26 years.

When Vernon Gomez set the Cleveland Indians down, 8 to 0, yesterday he became the fourth consecutive member of Joe McCarthy's staff to blank the enemy. Johnny Allen started it last Wednesday by stopping St. Louis, 3 to 0. George Uppas followed with a 6 to 0 decision over Chicago on Saturday, and Charles Ruffing whitewashed Cleveland Sunday, 5 to 0.

The feat ties the league record held jointly by Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox of 1903 and 1906, respectively. If today's Yankee pitcher—probably young Allen—holds the Indians scoreless for only two innings it will better the present mark of forty one scoreless rounds set by Cleveland's 1903 staff. The Yanks still have some distance to go, however, to equal the Major league record of six straight shutouts set up by the Pittsburgh Nationals in 1903.

First place in the league standing was the prize that went with Gomez' triumph yesterday, the Yankees slipping ahead of Washington by a few points as the Senators were shutout by the second straight day by St. Louis, 2 to 0. Sammy Gray yielded only three hits. Charley Berry late of the Boston Red Sox, doubled in the tenth inning with Appling on base to give Chicago a hard earned 4 to 3 victory over his former teammates. Smedley Jolley, who went to Boston in the deal that sent Berry away, accounted for all the Red Sox runs off Red Lyons with a pair of home runs. Detroit staged a five run rally in the fourth to defeat the Athletics 6 to 4.

Two of the day's three games in the National league were featured by brilliant pitching. "Red" Lucas of the Cincinnati Reds yielded only three hits in beating the Giants, 6 to 2, and Van Mungo, Brooklyn rookie, allowed but four as the Dodgers overwhelmed Pittsburgh, 11 to 1. Lucas, pitching his sixth victory didn't let a man reach first after Koenecke nicked him for a home run in the third inning.

Riggs Stephenson's single with three aboard in the last of the ninth gave the leading Chicago Cubs an 11 to 10 victory over the Phillies. As the Boston Braves were rained out at St. Louis, the Cubs stretched their lead to a game and a half.

PIRATES WIN OFF POINTERS

Charlotte N. C., May 17—(AP)—Noonan, Wilmington shortstop, stole three bases, two of which were home plate, a baseball game from High Point and the Piedmont limelight as the league began a new week. He also contributed a two base hit to the 6-4 Pirate victory scoring a team mate.

Bennett allowed the Pointers 13 hits, but kept them scattered except in three innings, while Wilmington took advantage of its six hits off Armour and every break.

Charlotte, at the bottom of the standings, winning a ball game, and Winston-Salem, at the top, losing, proved the other features of the day's play.

The Hornets fell on Frances and Perry, Raleigh hurlers for 13 hits, while Meela and Martin yielded eleven to give the cellarites a 6 to 5 decision in the first night game of the season at Charlotte.

Averette gave the Twins but six safeties while his teammates were hammering Baylin 10 times, and Greensboro, by a 9 to 2 count, climbed over Raleigh into third place just below Wilmington.

Durham, with a 9 to 7 win over Asheville, nosed into sixth place after a long stay next to the bottom, and allowed High Point to assume that somewhat doubtful distinction. Main let the Bulls bunch hits for three runs in the fourth, two in the sixth and four in the eighth. After poor play and timely hits off Wilson had given the Tourists the lead on two occasions.

Durham announced the signing of Red O'Malley, for the past two seasons' regulars catcher for the Bulls, who is expected for tonight's game at Asheville. McCarter, who has been doing the receiving and a large amount of baiting, will work in the outfield and as relief backstop.

Washington, N. C.—(AP)—The statue in statutory hall of Charles B. Aycock, "Father of North Carolina education," is to be unveiled Friday.

BAPTISTS TRIM U. N. C.

Charlotte, N. C., May 17—(AP)—Wake Forest's Demon Deacons assured themselves of a tie and possibly of a clear claim, for the State baseball title with a 7 to 2 victory over the North Carolina Tar Heels at Chapel Hill yesterday. While the Deacons played steady ball behind Barnes, the Tar Heels committed five errors, failed to hit in the pinches and generally gave a demonstration of how not to play baseball, eaving them with only Davidson to thank for saving them from the cellar in the big five.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

New York Cotton

New York, May 17.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 3 to 6 points on southern selling, promoted by the easiness in Liverpool cables. July sold at 5.75.

The initial offerings were fairly well taken by covering and trade buying, but the selling continued and some of yesterday's buyers were said to be reselling on the faster ruling of the stock market. Prices sagged off another few points with July declining to 5.68 and December to 6.08, by the end of the first half hour, when the general list showed net losses of about 9 to 12 points.

Liverpool cables said local buying and covering had been supplied by continental liquidation in that market and complained of a small turnover in cotton cloths and yarns. Houses with both Liverpool and continental connections were among the sellers here during the early trading.

Grain Market

Chicago, May 17.—(AP)—Wheat mounted today to around 3 cents above last week's low, but the rise brought profit taking sales, and the top figures were not maintained.

Crop damage reports as to wheat, came from a widening territory, including southern selling. Winter-killing effects were reported more evident, and Hessian fly injury was likewise noted.

Stock Market

New York, May 17.—(AP)—The stock market fluttered uncertainly today but seemed more inclined to move forward than to retreat.

After most of yesterday's late upturn had been lost in the first hour, the market rallied briskly, to the accompaniment of fresh rumors of "constructive" developments in Washington, sold off again on publication of the weekly carloadings figures, but recovered after midday to around the best levels of the morning, with U. S. Steel in the lead.

Oils showed notable strength on the upturn, but even the rails which had been distinctly heavy during the morning, joined the procession. Union Pacific and Santa Fe, completely recovered early declines of nearly 3. U. S. Steel was a leader in the afternoon recovery, getting up nearly 2 points. American Can gained more than a point, as did corn products and DuPont. The morning upturn in the oils was not well maintained, but such issues as Standard of N. J. and California, and Royal Dutch got up a point or so. American Telephone completely recovered an early drop of 25-8.

The rumors regarding Washington developments appeared to be the chief factor in the better tone of the market, which brokerage quarters attributed largely to short covering. These rumors remained highly nebulous, however, and were apparently based primarily on the more cheerful attitude toward the prospects of passage of the tax measure. A better tone in the bond market, and further firmness in wheat, were undoubtedly factors also, in the improvement in shares.

The freight car loadings figures for the week ended May 7, showing a decline to more than 20,000 cars from the previous week, bore out early adverse estimates.

JAPANESE ARMY DEMANDS A "NATIONAL" GOVERNMENT

Reports circulated yesterday that the navy had decided to mutiny proved entirely groundless on the basis of an official check-up. All naval bases were found to be quiet.

Admiral Mineo Osumi, minister of the navy in the Inukai cabinet, issued an order declaring all naval personnel must observe the utmost caution to prevent a disturbance of the public mind.

Army headquarters announced that eleven cadets who surrendered to the military police Sunday night would soon be dealt with according to military discipline.

Beyond admitting that the perpetrators of the week-end terrorism were 11 cadets and six naval ensigns, the authorities kept the identities of the young men secret.

The Tokyo, Osaka, Nagoya, and Kobe stock exchanges remained closed although the rice and silk markets resumed trading. The price trend was downward.

Some served but one day at a time, others up to thirty. Two came all the way from California, others as far as Wyoming, Colorado, Texas, Florida, Tennessee, Kansas, and Illinois. A few of the accounts ran up into the thousands, bringing the total charge for 10 a day subsistence and transportation to $27,025.

Some of the judges, said LaGuardia, "come to New York, travel, sit a few days, go home, charge up their traveling expenses, come back and sit a few days more."

Then Representative O'Conner (D. N. Y.) chimed in: "There is a waiting list for a chance to come to New York for a vacation, to go to the theatre, and to go to the night clubs. That is well known."

Curtis is a boat builder here, and the Rev. Dobson-Peacock is dean of an Episcopal church. The minister, himself, a friend of the Lindbergh family, has made several trips from Norfolk on their negotiations.

The negotiations of the three Norfolk intermediaries supposedly began March 9, but the public was first acquainted with their activities March 24 on the return of the negotiators from Hopewell on an interview with Col. Lindbergh.

Curtis was said to have been the first approached by a "go-between" and that he enlisted the aid of the Very Rev. Dean Dobson-Peacock, who had known the Morrow family in Mexico City, and Rear Admiral Guy Burrage, a personal friend of Colonel Lindbergh, and in command of the Cruiser Memphis when it was used to bring the world-famous flier home from his triumphant flight to Paris.

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—The confession by John Hughes Curtis that his story concerning a mysterious vessel supposed to harbor Lindbergh extortions was untrue, bore out the belief of the United States Coast Guard.

Captain I. C. Cowell, acting commandant, asserted today that from the start the Coast Guard had believed there was no vessel such as described by Curtis, because of discrepancies and the fact that the Coast Guard had combed the coast and sea from Massachusetts to Norfolk with cutters, destroyers, patrol boats and airplanes without result.

The Coast Guard search was started before the finding of the body of baby Lindbergh.

Captain Cowell said that despite disbelief, every agency of the Coast Guard had been thrown into the search to be certain that no move might be overlooked that night aid search.

Hopewell, N. J., May 17.—(AP)—Col. Henry Breckinridge, friend and advisor of Col. Charles Lindbergh told a grand jury in the Bronx, New York City, today what he knew of payment of the $50,000 ransom for the murdered Lindbergh baby.

There was no announcement as to whether Col. Lindbergh himself would be called before the grand jury to tell how he sat nearby in an automobile while Dr. John F. Condon passed the ransom through a cemetery hedge to the supposed kidnapper.

It was generally believed, however, that Col. Lindbergh would not be called, his story being told for him by Col. Breckinridge, who has been actively engaged in the investigation ever since the child was stolen on March 1.

While the grand jury considered the case in New York the search for the kidnapers was already dead spread through all the prisons in the country.

Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of state police, asked the governors of all states to have a careful check made of all prisoners arrested since March 1 on the theory the kidnapers may have sought seclusion from the man hunt in jail.

Col. Schwarzkopf said today that the persons who will interrogate prisoners had been given a general description of one of the group being sought. This was assumed to be the alleged member of the kidnap band with whom Dr. Condon dealt and whose description he has given the authorities. The state police head declined to make the description public lest he hinder the search.

Trenton, N. J., May 17.—(AP)—Governor A. Harry Moore advocated today offering a reward for the capture of the Lindbergh baby killers "big enough to get someone to squeal."

"We must make the reward appealing," he said, "and then maybe someone will squeal."

The governor recalled that just after the baby was kidnapped the state legislature considered offering a $25,000 reward but abandoned the plan at Col. Lindbergh's request.

Norfolk, Va., May 17.—(AP)—Land and sea hunts in the Lindbergh kidnaping case continued in the Norfolk area today as a part of the widespread search for the murderers of the child.

The search here by land took the form of tracing data and clues gathered by police officials while the negotiations of the Norfolk intermediaries was being vainly pursued week after week.

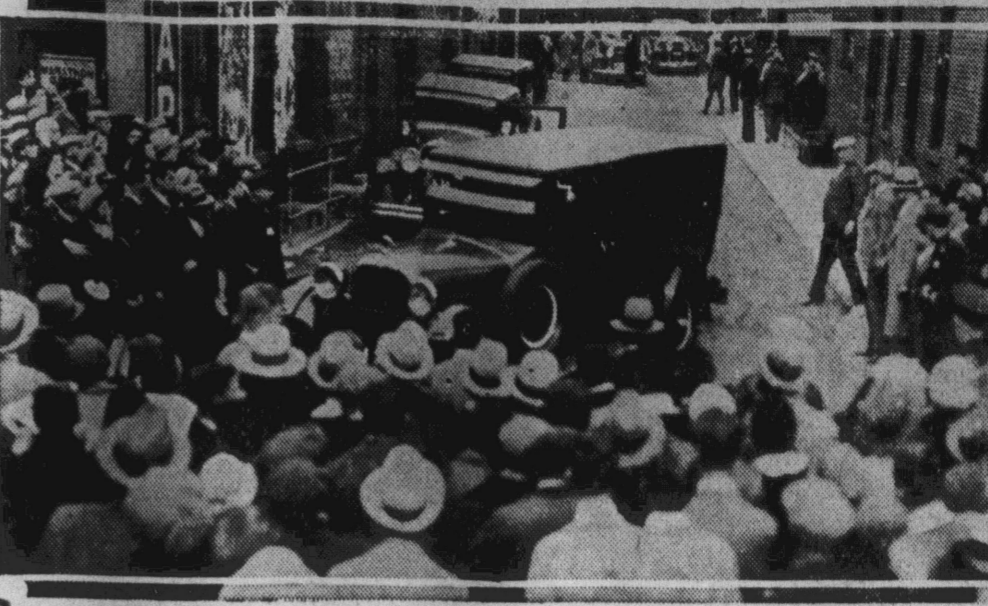

The search by water was continued by the cutter Mendota and patrol boats of the Norfolk coast guard division for the vessel believed to have carried the kidnapers as John Hughes Curtis, principal Norfolk negotiator and Col. Lindbergh sought to meet them at designated points at sea.

GIRL FREED BY KIDNAPPERS

(Continued from Page One) morning Gerson handed over $300 and two hours later the girl was pushed from the kidnapers' automobile two blocks from home.

With his daughter safe, Gerson reported the occurrence to the police last night. Miss Gerson fur-

CROWDS SEE HEARSE BEAR BABY'S BODY AWAY

Crowds thronged the streets near the morgue in Trenton, N. J., from which the body of the Lindbergh baby was taken. Above is shown the hearse leaving the building. Col. Lindbergh had visited the morgue a short time before.

nished them with descriptions of the negroes and what other information she could. She scanned the rogues gallery but was unable to pick out the abductors.

The abductors apparently were ignorant of her identity when they kidnapped her. Miss Gerson said they questioned her about her family and that she answered freely because "I didn't see what I could gain by refusing."

She was slightly hysterical after her return but otherwise unharmed.

SUMMER TERM FOR CONGRES

Garner, said however, that the Republican senators now desire that Congress recess about June 7 or 8, instead of remaining here until shortly before the Republican convention at Chicago, June 14.

The Texas Democrat said if Congress did adjourn it would probably reconvene in July or August.

EIGHT HUNDRED BELIEVED SAVED AS FIRE DESTROYS VESSEL IN ARABIAN SEA

More than 100 of the vessel's passengers, reported to total about 600, were on the Contractor, and nearly half of them were dressed in night clothes. They had lost all their clothing.

There was great distress and anxiety among the survivors as husbands, wives and children had become separated in the confusion of the last frightful minutes on the burning ship.

Men did not know whether their wives still lived. Women worried about the fate of their children. They could not learn how many of their loved ones had been picked up by other vessels.

The Contractor brought into port a child of two and a half years and a infant. Nobody knew what had happened to their parents.

ROTAS HEAR GOOD MUSIC

(Continued from Page One) to discuss current session and did it in a way that left the Rotarians in possession of more information concerning this particular subject than they had heard in many a day.

Following Miss Hunter's discussion, Robert Fleming, science student at the college, gave a scientific demonstration dealing exclusively with an ordinary hen egg, and when he finished, his hearers, and with a keener appreciation of the product that adorns the majority of breakfast tables in this country.

When the demonstration was over it was generally agreed that young Fleming knows his eggs and will never be fooled by the smartest of hens.

Rev. A. W. Fleischmann presided in the absence of Dr. Howard McGinnis. The usual supper was enjoyed.

COURT GETS RECTOR CASE

(Continued from Page One) The mix-up came when the clerk of Burke Superior court sent only a transcript of the judgment in the case of the Supreme court and also notified the prison that notice of appeal had been entered after Rector was found guilty of rape. The Supreme court, getting no record in the case, did not docket it. The prison, receiving notice of the appeal entry, did not execute the death sentence.

In effect, the state imposed a death sentence and then forgot it.

A. A. F. Seawell, assistant attorney general, presented the matter to the Supreme court this morning to get it straightened out. He made no motion but merely presented the case in order that the court might be acquainted with it so that it could order a certiorari and get the records before it if it wished to review the conviction.

The clerk of Burke Superior court told Mr. Seawell over long distance telephone today that an appeal for Rector was properly made but that due to error it was not forwarded here. He said the record would be here tomorrow.

The two men whose cases Governor Gardner took up are Plato Edner, Henderson county white man and Bennie Griffin, convicted in Orange county. Each was sentenced to be electrocuted for murder and each lost in an appeal to the Supreme court.

(Continued from Page One) They provide that the Federal Reserve Board and the secretary of the treasury restore the purchasing power of the dollar to the 1926 level by currency expansion.

"In my opinion it would not be possible for the government to carry out such a mandate," Secretary Mills wrote.

"Price levels are dependent upon a large number of factors that are beyond the control of the Federal Reserve System, the Treasury Department or any other agency of the government, and I do not believe that it would be wise to impose upon them a duty and a responsibility which they could not discharge."

FIRE SWEEPS OVER QUEBEC

Stores of families fled their homes as the waves of flame, rolling through the dense woods, broke down upon the numerous communities nesting in clearings.

The hamlet of Rosegrove, near Swastika in the Boston creek area, was virtually burned off the map, its people effected a safe exodus, carrying their personal effects with them.

At North Bay, Ont., the firefighters were more successful than at other endangering points. They reported that a timely rain had enabled them to bring almost under complete control a fire which was moving against Kirkland Lake before a strong wind.

Kirkland Lake, one of the north's principal mining towns, felt the heat of the fires which advanced nearly to its threshold before the skies opened to aid the retreating firemen.

FLIER PLEADS NOT GUILTY

(Continued from Page One) postponed for six weeks. He said he would need that much time to bring character witnesses here from other states.

State Attorney N. Vernon Hawk earlier killed Clarke in a bedroom at Mrs. Kelly-Miller's home as a consequence of a love triangle, voiced no objection to postponement.

Clarke was found in bed the morning of April 21 with a bullet wound in his temple. He died several hours later without regaining consciousness.
