Morrison Leads For The Senate PITT COUNTY GIVES FOUNTAIN SPLENDID MAJORITY

Whitehurst Wins Four-Cornered Sheriff's Race

James Victorious Over Harris For Judgeship of The Recorder's Court

SPAIN WINS THE SOLICITORSHIP

A. B. Corey Defeats F. M. Wooten for the State Senate and E. G. Flanagan Again Captures Seat in the House; Second Primary Indicated Between Holmes and Edwards.

Sheriff Sam Whitehurst emerged victorious in a four cornered race for the office of sheriff of Pitt county in the Democratic primary conducted in this city yesterday.

His vote was 4,280 against 1,962 for L. W. Tucker, 594 for A. C. Jackson and 752 for Earl James.

Dink James won by nearly a two to one count over Chester Harris for the judgeship of County Court. His vote was 4,471 against 2,548 for Harris.

In the race for the office of solicitor of County Court Jack Spain emerged with the crown of victory on his brow. His vote was 3,772. Harry Brown, running for the same office, obtained 828 votes and W. J. Bundy 2,885.

A. B. Corey won out over Jude Frank Wooten for the State Senate with a total vote of 4,581. Wooten's vote was 2,548. In the six cornered race for the House of Representatives, E. G. Flanagan, incumbent came out as winner, and there was indication of a second primary between Jack Edwards and J. W. Holmes, of Farmville, incumbent.

The vote was: Flanagan, 3,750; Holmes, 2,675; Edwards, 2,951; W. H. Laughinghouse, 2,102; C. K. Blacklock, 265.

The commissioners vote was. All precincts: Williams 4,288, Dudley 4,209, Harris 3,078, McLawhorn 3,586, Porter 2,829, Cox 4,329, Joyner 3,291, Smith 3,513, Sumrell 3,508, Venters 3,132.

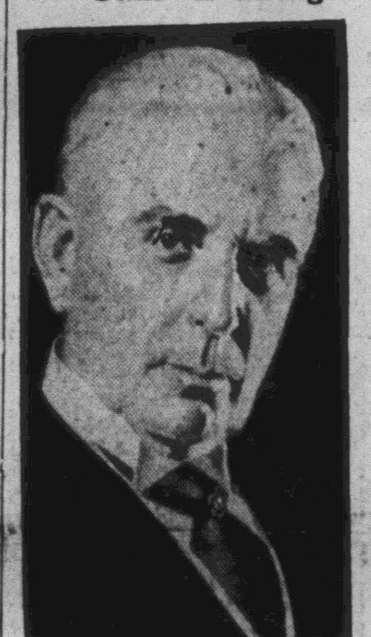

The largest vote in the history of the county was polled in the fourteen precincts of the county, and election officials were tested to their capacity to take care of the demands of the voters. In Greenville township where the largest vote of the county was cast it was estimated that a least five hundred people failed to vote because of the congested polls. It demonstrated the need of two polling places in Greenville in order to expedite the handling of the enormous vote registered here each election.

The final votes were counted this afternoon at 3 o'clock after a count which continued without interruption from 9 o'clock last night. Over 2,400 persons were voted here and when the polls closed at sundown hundreds were turned away because of their inability to reach the polls in time.

The next heaviest vote was cast in Chocod township, the count of the county ticket being completed this morning about sunrise, and the state ticket being deferred until the over-taxed election officials were able to obtain some rest. The county vote for every township is complete. (Continued on Page Three)

Curtis, who pleaded not guilty despite his own confession to police, entered court dressed in a dark blue suit. He seemed entirely unconcerned and there was a faint smile on his face as he looked directly at the judge. He waived reading of the indictment and was remanded to jail in lieu of bail. MRS. SAVAGE PASSES AWAY

Funeral Services Conducted from Late Home Saturday At 5 P. M.

Funeral services for Mrs. Laura Savage, 72, were conducted from her late home in the eastern section of the city Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock and interment was made in Greenwood cemetery. Rev. E. L. Hillman, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, assisted by Rev. W. S. Harden, pastor of the Elizabeth City man to a second primary. The Associated Press tabulation of the vote in 1,051 precincts gave Ehringhaus 90,370; Maxwell 54,538, and Fountain 54,042. Most of the races for state offices were close, but A. H. (Sandy) Graham, of Hillsboro, former speaker of the House, was well out in front of his two opponents for the Lieutenant-Governorship on the basis of returns from 443 precincts. The vote for Graham, 38,651; D. F. Giles, of Marion, 12,178; D. P. Dellinger, of Cherryville, 14,297. The vote in those precincts for other Democratic nominations: Secretary of State—J. H. Hartness, incumbent, 28,940; Stacy Wade, 30,486. Auditor—Baxter Durham, incumbent, 25,734; Chester Bell, 16,748; George Adams, 15,830. Attorney General—D. G. Brummitt, incumbent, 39,009; Peyton McSwain, 16,047. Commissioner of Labor—W. Henry Davis, 6,206; John D. Horton, 7,122; R. R. Lawrence, 13,669; Fritz (Continued on Page Four)

GRAHAM LEADS FOR LT.-GOV.

J. H. Hartness Trailing Slightly Behind Stacy Wade for Secretary of State; Baxter Durham Leading in Race for Auditor; Brummitt Looks To Be Next Attorney General; Winborne and Boney are Leading.

Charlotte, June 5 (Sunday) —(By AP)—Robert R. Reynolds, Asheville attorney who attempted to beat four opponents for the Democratic nomination as Senator with a prohibition repeal plank, was less than 2,000 votes behind Senator Cameron Morrison, long-time friend of prohibition, when approximately 175,000 of Saturday's primary votes had been tabulated early today. The votes were counted in 960 of the state's 1,823 precincts and represented all sections of the commonwealth, at which time both Morrison and Reynolds were far ahead of the other three contenders.

Morrison, 63-year-old former governor, who was appointed senator by Governor O. Max Gardner upon the death of Senator Lee S. Overman, had a total of 71,970 from the 960 precincts. Reynolds' total was 70,467. The other vote was distributed in this manner: Tam C. Bowie, former Superior Court judge, 20,317. Frank Crist, former State Commissioner of Labor, 15,407. Arthur Simmons, of Burlington, poultry fancier, 1,060.

With no candidate holding a majority, either Reynolds or Morrison was in a position to call for a second primary if the remainder of the vote should leave him in second place. Under state law, a second primary, if held, will come on July 2.

J. C. B. Ehringhaus, of Elizabeth City, lawyer and former legislator, ran well ahead of A. J. Maxwell and Lieutenant-Governor F. T. Fountain in the returns from a little more than half the precincts, but lacked a majority. The vote was so close between Maxwell, who is State Commissioner of Revenue, and Fountain, that it appeared it might be necessary for the official tabulation to be made before it could be determined who would have the right to challenge the Elizabeth City man to a second primary.

The Associated Press tabulation of the vote in 1,051 precincts gave Ehringhaus 90,370; Maxwell 54,538, and Fountain 54,042.

Most of the races for state offices were close, but A. H. (Sandy) Graham, of Hillsboro, former speaker of the House, was well out in front of his two opponents for the Lieutenant-Governorship on the basis of returns from 443 precincts. The vote for Graham, 38,651; D. F. Giles, of Marion, 12,178; D. P. Dellinger, of Cherryville, 14,297.

Toy Band Gives Radio Concert. The toy band of the first grade of West Greenville Schools broadcast from the radio station at Raleigh Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Twenty odd children participated in the concert which was also featured by piano numbers of Little Edna Earle Corbett, local musical prodigy, whose playing has attracted considerable attention among music lovers.

The band was organized by Miss Grace Hunter, first grade teacher, and made its initial appearance at State theatre here about a month ago. Miss Olga Shindler, director of public school music, accompanied the orchestra at the piano.

Two Fires Do Slight Damage. Two fires in Greenville last night and this morning did damage which firemen estimated at about $100.

Grease catching fire on a gas stove at the home of E. P. James on Fourth street last night caused considerable smoke damage to the building.

The kitchen at the home of Henry White, colored, in the Bamber, did about $50 damage. The fire originated from an unknown cause in the kitchen, but was extinguished before much headway was made.

The damage resulted mainly from smoke.

Room 27 Wins Attendance Race. Room No. 27 of Greenville High School won the attendance prize for last month, it was announced today.

The victory entitles students to be guests of State Theatre Monday afternoon to see John Barrymore in "State's Attorney."

Room 27 is the assembly room of C. W. Porter, director of high school athletics.

The Greenville primary was held in the court house and was marked by complete harmony. J. Con Lanier presided and George Woodward acted as secretary.

The following were elected members of the executive committee: Mrs. J. B. Spillman, Mrs. H. S. Ragsdale, Bryce Sigmon and S. J. Everett, with J. C. Lanier as chairman.

Delegates and alternates to the county convention were also named and will be printed in the columns of this paper at a later date.

W. E. Hooks, chairman of the Pitt County Democratic Executive committee, issued a statement on the eve of the primaries urging the people to attend the meetings in large numbers and in that way lend their influence in the naming of delegates.

June 11, at 12 o'clock, and to name executive committees of five members. The county convention will

FOIL KIDNAP PLOT IN N. C.

(Continued from page one) ceived the extortion note, written in longhand, through the mails and ended last night when police arrested two men who they said confessed.

The men were Howard Dean and Joe Lucas, both farmers of Roseland. They told police they needed money because they were in dire straits and that they had no intention of carrying out their threats.

The letter, postmarked at Pinehurst, directed Reed to leave the money at 9 P. M. last night at Deep Creek church. Reed immediately sent his children a boy and girl, and his wife toward New York by automobile and then informed police.

Deputy Sheriff F. C. Currie and other officers went to the church and hid themselves. Then Reed and Tod Nedderfield, Pinehurst polo player, drove by the spot and dropped the money in a package at the church.

Lucas appeared and, as he stooped to pick up the package, the officers arrested him. He offered no resistance and was taken to the county jail at Carthage where specimens of his handwritings were found to differ from that of the extortion note.

Police questioned him and finally he said Dean had written the note. Dean was arrested at Roseland and, after specimens of his handwriting were taken, police announced they talked with the note sent to Reed.

Sheriff Charles J. McDonald today said no charges had been made against the pair but that they probably would be arraigned here Monday and, in addition to the charges relating to the threatened bombing and kidnaping, charges of using the mails in an attempt to defraud also would be preferred.

Reed, formerly from Denver, Colo. has been a leading figure in winter sports here for several years as captain of the Sandhills Polo team and master of hounds of the Sandy Run Hunt. He plays polo at Newport during most of his summers, but returns to his half million dollar home here in the winter.

CIVIL COURT CLOSES HERE. (Continued from page one) Two hundred cases set for hearing the first day of the term were definitely disposed of. A few cases were continued until the next term but those in which defendants failed to show interest in pushing were non-suited. It was the largest number of cases disposed of in a single day in the history of court circles.

Many of the actions had been hanging fire since 1925 when court conducted a similar weeding-out process. About sixty of the 100 cases set for the remainder of the term were completed, leaving only a minor number for consideration at the next term.

Judge E. H. Cranmer, of Southport, presided over the term, and did much toward speeding up completion of the calendar. It was the last time he will preside here in five years, and he was the recipient of considerable praise for his ability to speed up hearing of the hundreds of cases during his visits to the county.

REVOLUTION AT SANTIAGO. (Continued from page one) Afoot and by air, officers and men of the Air Corps started on Government House to overthrow President Juan Esteban Montero.

Planes flew low over the government building, but they dropped no bombs. Volunteer troops said to be 75,000 strong were organized rapidly to resist the attack.

At noon the rebels sent a man up to the presidential palace with a warning that if President Montero did not resign in twenty minutes the palace would be bombed.

The president did not resign and at 12:45 there had been no bombing.

The march began at about 11:00 a. m. when cadets of the aviation school at El Bosque, a suburb to the south of the city, joined with several army regiments and a number of sailors and started for the capital.

The military police, whose numbers total about 18,000, refused to join the movement immediately, but it was uncertain which way they would throw their support.

As the march progressed its numbers increased. The commander of the Santiago garrison, General Carlos Vergera who sometimes is called the strong man of the Montero government, hurried out to meet the advance to prevent an actual assault on the capital, but the rebels warned him to keep clear or he would be taken prisoner.

Carlos G. Davila, one of the leaders of the revolt which started in Chile today, was popular in Washington when he represented his country there as ambassador. Last year he retired and came back to Chile. Last March there were reports of a conspiracy to make him president. He was arrested and almost immediately released, but an inquiry into his activities was ordered.

HOUSE ADOPTS REVENUE BILL. (Continued from page one) conference rules forbid insertion of items not approved by one branch of Congress or the other, the conferees were free to adopt any tax approved by either House, modifying it within maximum limits previously set.

Except in details, however, the bill was substantially as passed by the senate. The most marked change was alteration of the three per cent electricity tax so that it will be paid directly by the consumer on his monthly bill. As the senate had passed it, each utility company would have paid probably without being able to pass on the tax until new rate schedules were approved by local regulating commissions.

TWO NATIONS DEFER DEBTS

(Continued from page one) ment of $14,706,000. The postponed debts are to be repaid over a period of 10 years the first payment to be made on December 15, 1933.

The signing of the formal agreements, which are to repay the postponed debts at four per cent interest, carries out the agreement reached last June by the nations which were parties to the postponement.

CURTIS SAYS 'NOT GUILTY' (Continued from page one) M. (EST). Besides the prosecutor and an assistant attorney general Curtis had two attorneys, W. C. Pender of Norfolk and Lloyd Fisher of Flemington were at the counsel table.

Judge Robbins announced from the bench that "a matter of importance was to come before the court and warned that no demonstration of any kind would be tolerated.

As soon as the brief proceedings were over Curtis was told that he was remanded to jail to await trial he nodded his head.

"Thank you very much," he said, speaking directly to the judge.

Although he did not otherwise show any emotion Curtis' ruddy complexion paled slightly as he stood before the bar of justice.

But he seemed entirely composed as he walked out of the courtroom, past the judge's bench, on his way back to jail.

Curtis was in the courtroom less than three minutes. The indictment, reading of which was a preliminary to his plea he waived, charged that he willfully gave false information "for the purpose of preventing and hindering" arrest of the kidnapers.

It recited that he perpetrated his part of imaginary negotiations for return of the murdered baby "with force and arms." This was understood, however, to be a merely customary legal phraseology and not to indicate any belief that Curtis had actually carried out his oath by physical force and threats rather than by deceit.

Court proceedings were interrupted almost a whisper by Curtis himself.

During the time he was in the courtroom were comprised in his statement of thanks to the judge.

Judge Adam O. Robbins nodded to Curtis' local attorney who rose and said, "we plead not guilty."

"I move that the prisoner be remanded to jail until bail is provided," the prosecutor said. Bail previously had been set at $10,000.

ABOUT TOWN

The uncertainty prevailing during one of the most colorful election campaigns in the history of the state is at an end, and candidates aspiring for the various state and county offices know just how they stand as a result of compilation of the vote early today.

While there is plenty of disappointment among defeated candidates who emerged victorious with rejoice in the support of their hundreds of constituents.

Tax reduction and slashing of government expenses were among the principal issues involved and the voters feel satisfied that they have elected the men they believe will carry out this purpose.

It has been many a day since North Carolina has seen so much interest in a primary, and now that the neurotic condition existing on the eve of the balloting has been relieved, the general run of people will return to work relieved of the suspense and uncertainty.

The election was orderly in Greenville and devoid of ill-feeling or personal enmity, and those nominated for office will assume their responsibilities at the proper time attempt to lift the state out of the economic morass into which it has fallen along with virtually every other part of the country.

Women's organizations should continue to sponsor campaigns for beautification of the city during the summer months and in that way help make the community among the most beautiful in this part of the state.

Flowers and shrubs planted in recent months have converted several districts into things of beauty and splendor, and in the course of another year the condition will be greatly improved.

The planting of running rose bushes along the sidewalks bordering ravines has done much to improve the appearance of such locations, and it is hoped the movement will continue until every place of an eye-sore nature has been made appealing to public view.

Work along this line has been of a most commendable nature and the clubs responsible for it are to be congratulated upon what they have been able to accomplish.

Sunday will be a big day at East Carolina Teachers College with the delivery of the annual baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class. The speaker will be Dr. Clyde Turner, one of the leading Baptist ministers of the state, who presided over the centennial celebration of the State Baptist convention held in this city over a year ago.

Another feature of the day will be Y. W. C. A. services at the twilight hour. This will be inspirational as usual and is expected to draw a big crowd.

Final exercises will be held on Monday when Rivers D. Johnson, of Warsaw, will deliver the literary address.

The college has enjoyed a successful year in spite of the reduction of funds, and the administration is to be congratulated upon the fine way they have measured up to the situation.

The institution is not only a credit to the community but is one of the most valuable assets in this part of the state, affording, as it does, an opportunity for young people to obtain liberal education at the teaching profession almost at their very doorsteps.

The administration, in addition to heaping coals of fire upon the Democratic relief program, has issued a program of its own providing six hundred millions of dollars for the Reconstruction Corporation.

That means big business will continue to enjoy fruits of the government treasury in spite of the insistent appeal by Mr. Hoover that economy be the watchword of the country.

The Democrats desire to put money in circulation through a public works program, believing this would put money into the pockets of people in every avenue of life and help business recover from the

Gambler's Throw
 By EUSTACE L. ADAMS

SYNOPSIS: A "new racket in kidnapping," the holding of Nancy Wentworth, musical comedy actress, and two millionaires by a coolly operating gang, while they demand "board money" for their captives, rouses widespread indignation. Apparently, the relatives must pay whatever is demanded, and perhaps keep on paying, with no surety of the return of the captives. The money has been placed, as demanded, in a rowboat ten miles southeast of the Montauk point lighthouse. All boats must stay eight miles away. But Jerry Calhoun, who was with Nancy when she was captured, and his friend, Emory Battles, fly over the scene in an airplane. They hope to remain unobserved. Another plane appears and heads for the rowboat. "They're after the money," Jerry shouts, gliding down toward the strange plane. He must get near enough to watch for himself and remain unseen.

Chapter 6 PURSUIT BY PLANE

Jerry measured as best he could the speed of his own craft against that of the other. It was quite evident that the stranger was not expecting aerial pursuit since he was loafing along at barely three-quarters the rated speed of his ship. With his own engine wide open, Jerry was able to keep pace. So he sat comfortably back in his seat, hoping that the other pilot would not see him and leave him far behind.

The descent of the amphibian had been noted by observers in the crowd's nest of the guarding vessels. Jerry and Emory saw destroyers and picket boats get under way, heading on a forlorn chase after the two airplanes. Jerry could imagine their radio operators busily hammering at their keys, trying to summon army planes from Mineola and navy flying boats from Par Rockaway to head off the escaping criminals.

The low-lying shore of Long Island gradually slid astern. The amphibian was edging out to sea, taking no chances of being observed and reported by the vigilant coast guard lifesavers' stations which dotted the shore line. Sandy Hook appeared just ahead the straggling right wing, followed by the Highlands, Sea Bright, Deal Beach and the other Jersey resorts.

With every mile covered Jerry's spirits sank lower and lower. He now glanced more often at the gasoline gauge than at the steadily flying amphibian. The old training ship was not equipped for long-distance flying.

Two miles beneath him and slightly ahead was the plane.

For a few desperate moments he considered the possibility of diving upon it, trying with his own expertness in maneuvering to force it to a landing. But he knew that it would be followed by the mere act of showing his tarrotle forward the other pilot could out-speed him.

Just as the irregular sky line of Atlantic City began to loom up in the haze to the southwest, Jerry with bitterness in his heart, banked over on his right wing tip and headed inshore. The amphibian, continuing her straightaway course rapidly dwindled to nothing in the southern sky. Jerry cut his motor and nosed down.

"Hardly enough gas to make shore!" he shouted.

Emory nodded silently.

On Tuesday morning, five days after the kidnapers had made a successful escape with the "board" money, the newspapers announced a new series of outrages.

Huge headlines across the front pages proclaimed that the kidnap-period of depression.

The plan is directly contrary to that of the Republican party seeking to turn over more money for big interests with slight consideration for the men and women who pay taxes just like anybody else and who have been seriously crippled and handicapped by the unprecedented economic situation.

The government is making an admirable effort to protect moneyed interests from failure, but it can't afford to go too far and let the little man be crushed to death in the relief rush.

Traditionally dry Dixie is faced by a concerted effort to force prohibition to the forefront in the forthcoming elections, and the public is destined to hear more charges pro and con than it has heard since prohibition went into effect.

The controversy quite naturally will cause people to give more consideration to the dry law than they have ever given before, but it will hardly be instrumental in causing former supporters to vary from the avowed policy of fighting wet forces at every turn in the road.

While it cannot be disputed that sentiment for resubmission of the Eighteenth Amendment has gained impetus in recent years, it has affected very little the attitude of those who believe that poorly enforced dry laws are better than legalized sale of whiskey.

Proponents may eventually be successful in obtaining a vote on resubmission, but that is as far as they will get. Prohibition is here to stay and the wets might as well make up their minds to the fact.

Congressional Races

Charlotte, June 5.—Voters of three North Carolina Congressional Districts yesterday sought to nominate candidates, with but one of them apparently safe as the ballots were tabulated at 3 a. m.

W. B. Umstead, of Durham, district solicitor, led the race in the Sixth district on the basis of tabulations from 57 of the district's 116 precincts. Umstead received 5,807 votes from these precincts, while the other candidates received votes as follows:

Charles L. Van Noppen, of Guilford, 1,070; J. Clyde Ray, Hillsboro, 1,556; C. T. LeViness, Greensboro, 289; Norman C. Boren, Greensboro, 2,148; Bruce Caraway, High Point, 899.

In the Tenth Congressional District, Zebulon Weaver, incumbent, apparently has won the nomination to succeed himself, having a majority over his two opponents.

The vote in this district was as follows:

Weaver, 6,226; C. S. Davis, of Asheville, 1,447; J. Q. Gilkey, of Marion, 3,401.

Representative Charles L. Abernethy, asking renomination by the Democrats of the Third District, led Rivers Johnson, of Warsaw, when 40 of the district's 164 precincts had reported.

These precincts gave Abernethy 6,888 votes to 5,995 for Johnson.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

New York Cotton

New York, June 4.—(AP)—Cotton opened firm today at an advance of 1/4 to 11 points on covering and trade buying. Influenced by firmness in stocks. July sold at 5.20.

There was more or less local buying early as well as week-end covering but the demand proved comparatively small and subsequently the market lost part of the initial gains under moderate liquidation. A favorable view of weather conditions seemed to discourage general buying, although week-end reports on the textile situation indicated some improvement both in regard to the volume of business and the stability of prices.

A private report made the condition of the crop as of May 25th 74.9 per cent and estimated that the acreage planted had been reduced 7.2 per cent. The July position advanced early to 5.24, a gain of 14 points and eased to 5.17.

Liverpool closed that the market there had advanced on covering, trade calling and an absence of pressure and stated that Manchester business was slow with buyers cautious.

Grain Market

Chicago, June 4.—(AP)—Wheat dropped today to a new low price record for the season.

Pronounced dearth of buying support for wheat, rather than any notable pressure to sell was the cardinal feature. Strength shown by securities had a little bullish influence temporarily, but the price upturns were half-hearted, and the market gave way again, affected by a late sharp break in values at Winnipeg.

Wheat closed nervous 5-8 to 1-4 under yesterday's finish, corn, 1-8 to 3-4 down, oats 3-4 to 7-8 off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 2 cents.

Stock Market

New York, June 4.—(AP)—A further substantial restoration of quoted values brought the week in the securities market to a close today.

Stocks pushed up 1 to more than 4 points for many of the leaders, and bonds scored impressive advances for the second successive day. Stocks closed near their best levels, falling to yield in the late dealings as they did yesterday. Late profit takings were easily absorbed, and the final tone was strong. The turnover for the short session was about 800,000 shares.

Formation of the American Securities Investment Corp., officially announced after the close of yesterday's markets, was still the dominating influence in the markets, although the corporation has not yet started operations. Furthermore there was nothing to dampen the high hopes of prompt enactment of the federal taxation measure.

Rail shares forged rapidly ahead, in sympathy with the improvement in railroad bonds, and such recently depressed groups as the utilities, tobacco, foods and chemicals made notable progress. For a number of issues the rebound from the mid-week lows has been striking, totaling from 10 to 20 per cent of their value.

Issues closing about 2 to 4 points higher included Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, New York Central, Norfolk & Western, New Haven, U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Peoples Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, American Tobacco and Liggett & Myers class "B" shares, National Biscuit, Wrigley, Woolworth, Case, Hershey, Auburn, Macy and others, while advances of a point or so were numerous, embracing General Electric, Westinghouse, Bethlehem, Southern Pacific, United Gas Improvement, Union Carbide and others. Oils and coppers were the only groups failing to make notable progress.

"subsidiaries." Logan (D. Ken.) asked Blaine what ordinance he placed in a report that certain business interests have been asked what political fund contributions they could make and have replied they could make none unless they cut wages and that they could not do that until the government had done so.

Blaine, in reply, said "it is a well known fact that when these large contributions are made to a political party they are made as an investment and those who make them expect to derive dividends in the nature of special privilege from the government under the domination of the successful party."

THREE QUESTIONS STAND BEFORE PARTY LEADERS

ers of Franklin D. Roosevelt might seek revocation of the two-thirds rule if a deadlock over the Democratic nomination threatens.

James R. Garfield, the administration's choice for chairman of the Republican convention's platform-drafting committee, continued his conference here today with Republican leaders, including Senator Borah of Idaho, in an effort to arrive at a solution of the vexing prohibition question.

The Idahoan, who drafted the bone-dry plank for the Republicans four years ago, insisted that any plank binding members of Congress to favor a referendum would be futile and that if a referendum is desired by the people the platform should call attention that they can achieve this by electing members of Congress holding their views.

Garfield has received scores of suggestions for a prohibition plank but it is doubtful if an agreement will be reached before the party chiefs leave for Chicago for their convention June 14.

Assailing "political sniping" and "back-passing," Gov. Roosevelt has demanded that the Hofstadter legislation committee and Samuel Seabury, its counsel, take the initiative in bringing charges against Mayor Walker if the evidence warrants a transcript and analysis of testimony before the committee to the governor next week, but Roosevelt's friends say this would be of line with the precedent established when Seabury asked for removal of Sheriff Thomas M. Farley and presented formal charges.

Observers agree that if the Walker matter comes to a head soon Roosevelt, on the eve of the Democratic convention, will face the prospect of incurring uncompromising opposition from Tammany by acting affirmatively on a Walker ouster demand and of increasing his strength outside New York where Tammany, is held in low repute.

COLLEGE HAS ALUMNAE DAY

some interesting facts and figures about the Class of '22. Among the reminiscences were events that made the younger ones present feel the contrast between then and now. She referred to the fact that in their first year they did was service by picking cotton.

Miss Annie Kittrell, of Goldsboro, gave some interesting statistics about the class. Thirteen of the eighty-seven who graduated have continued their college work and received A. B. degrees from this college. Several of the class are working for their Master's degree in various places. Forty of the members of the class have received their "Mrs. degree". There are twenty-six children of members of the class.

Music was furnished at the beginning and end of the program by the E. C. T. C. ensemble. A special song, written to President Wright, was sung as a toast to him. The annual message from President Wright is always looked forward to with great interest. This year he seemed to be especially inspired. He told of a dream that he had had and from it emerged his message.

In the dream he seemed to see a cloud spread out and darkness envelope the world, when a leader suddenly stepped forth and led the way into the sunlight. The vision of the ideal leader lingered in his mind, and he found himself later thinking through the qualities that this dream leader must have. A world view is one essential of this leader, and he must be filled with a love of humanity rather than a love of riches. He must be able to feed the hungry, the naked and heal the sick in mind and spirit as well as cure physical ills.

The world must be ready for such a leader. He then showed how the by-products that come from the type of training that the graduates of a teachers college must have, trained for good leadership and for good following of high-class leaders. In a democracy the most ignorant man can cancel the vote of the most intelligent citizen, so the only hope is through raising the intelligence of the masses, and teachers have the best opportunity to do this. They may leave the classroom, but the training for efficient teaching also trains for good citizenship, makes them good home-makers, and good community workers, and this three-fold equipment for life should enable them to help make the world a better place in which to live.

Between the program and the luncheon there was a social half-hour. The two dining halls were beautifully decorated, the new one in sweet peas, roses, and larkspur, and in the other yellow flowers. In each dining room was a long central table for guests of honor and leaders among the Alumnae. The classes of '31 and '32 were in one dining room and all preceding classes in the other.

The same officers continue for another year and they are as follows:

President, Deane Roper Heskett. Vice-President, Lilla Mae Dawson Thompson. Secretary, Grace Smith. Treasurer, Lucile Britt.

"The Chain of Friendship," the professional by the senior-normal graduating class was never lovelier than it was yesterday evening. The plot on the West Campus marked off by the class color, a rich shade of blue, was the scene of the march and the figures. At 5:30 o'clock the girls filed out, in two lines, bearing the blue chain on their shoulders, led by Irma Dell Phillips and Laureta Howard. The four figures formed were a diamond, a butterfly, a heart, and the figures "32", which were left lying on the grass while taps sounded and the college life of the class ended. The quotation introducing the chain is as follows: "Joy so seldom weaves a chain Like this (today), that oh, 'tis pain To break the links so soon."

At the close of the march, the presidents of the two classes of 1932 presented to President Wright the joint gift to the college, money for the fountain that is being placed in the center of Wright Circle, in front of the Social-Religious and Campus Building. President Wright, in accepting the gift, expressed the appreciation, not only of the board of trustees and the college, but also of all those who love the college.

At six o'clock the crowd moved across the campus to the scene of the next attraction.

"The Fountain of the Modern Muses", a pageant written by Miss Lelle Ellen Belk, a member of the senior class, the theme of which was suggested by the gift, was presented on the island in the middle of the lake, by the members of the Four-Year class. The pageant attempts to interpret the fountain as the spirit of learning through all ages and the inspiration of East Carolina Teachers College for world-wide service. Miss Belk representing the "Spirit-of-All-the-Years" was "Keeper of the Fount of Learning"; Miss Nannie Smith, represented the class of 1932, and Miss Marjorie Flythe, "Apollo," the leader of the Muses. Then followed the nine muses of the Ancient World, each offering her gift, all in unison, dancing around the fountain.

Then the nine modern muses and their followers, each group rendering some distinctive service to mankind, these represented what the college offers in the field of knowledge.

The costumes were Grecian robes in the rainbow colors, designed by Miss Myra Seull, a member of the class.

The effect of the lovely costumes, in the midst of the green, reflected in the lake, was beautiful. Most of the class took part.

Mrs. Picklesimer was director of dances, Mr. R. C. Deal, class adviser, rendered valuable assistance in staging the pageant.

Music was furnished by a group of students.

SENATE COMMITTEE HEARS OF HUGE EARNINGS MADE ON N.Y. STOCK EXCHANGE

William A. Gray charged that John D. Ryan, chairman of Anaconda; Cornelius F. Kelly, president; H. F. Guggenheim, a large stockholder in the Chile Copper Company, and the National City Bank, made a "million and a quarter dollars" by buying up the stock in the Chile company when they knew it was to be converted into Anaconda stock.

Ryan, on the stand, contended he had taken a "serious loss" because he is still holding Anaconda stock and it has gone way down. Guggenheim sold his stock and made $404,000, Gray said.

Ryan acknowledged if he had been smart enough to sell, he would have made the same.

Gray said the same group, with W. E. Thornton, president of Green Cananea Copper Company, in place of Guggenheim, made $2,800,000 in the same way on transfer of Green Cananea stock for Anaconda.

The hearing was interrupted at one point when Kelly sitting next to Ryan but not a witness, charged that Gray was "trying to ride the witness for the benefit of the gallery."

Members of the committee quickly resented his charge and threatened to put him on the stand for questioning.

Gray brought out that on February 14 an option was given the Block Maloney, brokerage firm, for 70,000 shares of Anaconda.

"Did you know every share of this stock went through Block Maloney and into the Anaconda pool then being operated by W. E. Hutton Company?" Gray asked.

"I did not," Ryan said, speaking emphatically for the first time, "I had no interest in either pool and didn't know the stock was going into the pools."

James A. Payne, of Hornblower & Weeks, members of the stock exchange, was called to the stand and testified that Ryan kept his accounts with that firm.

"You did not know any one was interested except Ryan?"

"No, we knew him to be responsible and accountable."

Gray charged that on March 20, 1929, Payne executed a "Wash Sale" for Ryan's account on 35,000 shares in Green Cananea stock. Payne agreed it was a "Wash Sale" but contended it was the result of a mistake.

He agreed that within three minutes an order was issued through one broker to sell the 35,000 shares and an order through another to buy the same amount.

Herriott Forms French Cabinet

Paris, June 4.—(AP)—Former Premier Edouard Herriot, radical socialist, succeeded in forming a new cabinet today, made up of members of his own party and the parties of the liberal left.

It followed unsuccessful efforts of the radical socialists and the socialists, the next strongest party in the new chamber, to reach a coalition agreement.

M. Herriot himself will serve as foreign minister as well as premier, and direct the French delegation at the coming Lausanne conference on war debts and reparations.
