Compromise Revenue Bill Becomes Law

PRES. HOOVER SIGNS GIANT TAX MEASURE

Bill Carries Greatest Range of Taxes Ever Imposed Upon Country Except in War

Washington, June 7.—(AP)—The new revenue bill is law today, bolstering the credit of the government with the greatest range of taxes ever imposed by this country except during war.

With spartan absence of ceremony, President Hoover transformed this giant legislation into statute by affixing his signature yesterday evening in the presence of only a few, less than two hours after the final legislative step had been taken by the Senate.

The majority of the new rates, excises, tariffs and stamp taxes will go into effect in fifteen days, or on June 21. The treasury will immediately prepare for their collection. The new, high income rates are applicable to the earnings of the current calendar year and will be payable on next year's returns.

The tax law is to pour $1,118,500,000 into the treasury during the fiscal year which begins July 1, and thus restore the national finances to a cash basis—pay as you go and no more borrowing—aiding to restore the country's economic life to its normal great vigor.

Its companion measure, the national economy program, by which expenditures of the government are to be cut to a point equalling the revenue was being driven forward to completion today by the senate. Its passage by evening was sought by the leaders.

The senate had laid this economy bill aside yesterday to give final approval to the tax bill, amended in the conference compromise that led to acceptance of its rates by the House last Saturday. There was a stern fight before this last legislative step was completed, centered almost entirely on one tax, that on electric power.

More than 30 senators sought to have the whole bill sent out to the conferees again because these had laid the electric tax on the consumer's monthly bill and extended it to include municipal power systems. But an unyielding majority would not be balked of the major objective, to get the bill done immediately and put to an end the long-drawn-out battling and altering of rates, and the resulting fears and hesitation of the business and industry affected by the new tax burden.

The bill went through 46 to 35. The opponents were Republicans, mostly from the independent wing, 23 Democrats and one Farmer-Labor member.

Of the new law's total expected yield, the excise taxes ranging from electric power to cosmetics from automobiles to candy, are to bring in $450,500,000.

Miscellaneous taxes which include charges on telephony and telegraph messages, admission tickets oil pipe lines, safe deposit boxes, bank checks and boats, are counted on for $152,000,000.

From income taxes, personal and corporation with many administrative changes reducing possible deductions, a total of $299,000,000 is to be drawn.

Postal rate increases, including three-cent letter postage, are estimated at $160,000,000. Stamp taxes on bond and stock issues, and on transfers, futures and conveyances are listed at $45,500,000.

Gift taxes, the four tariffs on coal, oil, lumber and copper, account for the balance.

ROTES TO MEET COUNTY WILL HERE NEXT MAY AID SERVICES

Rotarians of the 57th district will meet in annual convention in Greenville next May, it was revealed at the regular meeting of the local club last night.

The decision to hold the meeting here followed investigation of accommodations conducted by members of the Greenville club at the suggestion of Charlie Phillips of Greensboro, president of the district. Mr. Phillips indicated that if proper accommodations could be found it was the desire of officials to bring the annual meeting here, and since the committee has determined that the demand can be met, the question has been definitely settled.

The convention will bring to the city between 500 and 1,000 delegates from all sections of the district, and it was indicated that between 300 and 400 rooms would be required to take care of them. The investigating committee found that accommodations were obtainable for the majority of delegates in hotels and the remainder will be taken care of in private homes.

It is the first time the district has ever been entertained in this immediate section of the state and members of the club were looking forward to the occasion.

Public Defender Gives Up to Face Murder Case

San Francisco, June 7.—(AP)—Police announced today that Frank J. Egan, suspected public defender, had surrendered to face a murder charge.

Police under the lash of an order from Mayor Angelo J. Rossi, which included a threat of a shake up in the department, invaded the Egan home with a fugitive warrant and even tapped wall panels on the theory a secret compartment might be the hiding place.

Egan vanished Saturday, a few hours before the grand jury voted murder indictments against him, his former chauffeur, Verne Doran, and his former process server, Albert Tinning. The indictments were voted after Doran repeated an alleged confession, declaring he and Tinning crushed the life from the 59-year-old widow by running over her with an automobile and that Egan "told us to do it."

Egan was the reputed beneficiary of the will and life insurance policies of Mrs. Hughes.

Life-long 'Dry' Says He Thinks the 18th Amendment Should Be Repealed

New York, June 7.—(AP)—Jubilation reigned in the wet camp today, for John D. Rockefeller, Jr., a life-long dry, has decided that the 18th amendment ought to be repealed.

The oil magnate's change of opinion, disclosed in a letter to Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, brought expressions of amazement and sharp disagreement from supporters of the prohibition amendment, which Rockefeller and his father helped make the law of the land.

In expressing hope that both major parties would adopt repeal planks and remove the question from partisan strife, Rockefeller

THREE ESCAPE AT CARY CAMP

Prison Steward Injured as Prisoners Make Break for Liberty

Raleigh, June 7.—(AP)—Three prisoners confined at state's prison farm at Cary, four miles from here, shot and seriously wounded D. H. Brantley, camp steward, this morning and made their escape in an automobile they commandeered from a passerby.

The prisoners, James Aultry, Robert Cook and Bud Travis, all white men, shot Brantley while struggling with him over the possession of a shotgun. They had previously taken him unawares from the back, placed a pistol against his body, and ordered him to give them a safe passage from the farm-camp stockade.

Brantley complied with the order that he conduct the men from the camp and ordered a guard to put down his shotgun. As one of the escaping men, believed to have been either Travis or Cook, reached for the shotgun Brantley grabbed with him. He discharged both barrels of the gun and was then shot.

The three men continued on their way to freedom, holding guards at bay with two pistols and the shotgun, and on the county road passing the camp held up

Herriot Asks Reciprocity On French Debts of War

Paris, June 7.—(AP)—Premier Edouard Herriot today made a declaration for reciprocity in war debt and reparations negotiations at Lausanne June 16, and there was every indication he would receive a heavy vote of confidence from the Chamber of Deputies.

The entire left with the exception of the Communists, and a goodly portion of the center groups applauded the premier's cabinet speech, and his predecessor, Andre Tardieu, of the moderate right, openly accepted some passages.

Premier Herriot opened his Lausanne remarks with the statement that his government would take a determined stand against violation of treaties and contracts between nations.

He left the way open, however, for negotiations with the statement that he will be ready to discuss at Lausanne "any project which on a basis of reciprocity seems likely to lead to greater world stability and peaceful reconciliation."

The administration of the liberal left, he said, will base all its policies on a desire for international collaboration in both the economic and political spheres. He pledged his government to immediate economies in the war (Continued on Page Four)

TAM BOWIE STILL GAINS

With All But 39 of the State's 1823 Precincts Heard From, Reynolds Was 11,567 Votes Ahead of Senator Cameron Morrison; Other Candidates for Same Office Far Behind

Charlotte, June 7.—(AP)—F. R. Reynolds, of Asheville, wet candidate for the Democratic nomination to the United States senate, continued to hold a commanding lead today as belated returns from Saturday's primary were pooled.

With all but 39 of the state's 1,823 precincts heard from, Reynolds who made his campaign on a platform advocating repeal of the eighteenth amendment, was 11,567 votes ahead of Senator Cameron Morrison, of Charlotte, Arden City and Reynolds' most formidable opponent.

The vote: Reynolds, 150,049; Morrison, 138,605; Bowie, 77,898; Grist, 28,580; Simmons 75,000.

The returns indicated the complete vote in 93 of the state's 110 counties. Those from which the vote was not complete were, Carter Greene, Hyde, Johnson, Lenoir, Person and Robeson.

A second primary between Reynolds and Senator Morrison, probably will be held on July 2. Morrison indicated today he would demand another primary if the final official vote shows Reynolds in the lead.

J. C. B. Ehringhaus, of Elizabeth City, continued to pace the three candidates seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, despite his gains in some sections.

Lieutenant Governor R. T. Fountain, of Rocky Mount, who was holding second place.

Returns from 1,782 precincts gave Ehringhaus 164,674 votes; Fountain, 112,419 and Maxwell 100,560.

The figures for Ehringhaus and Fountain are 25 or 30 votes less than the last reported total. This is due to the difference between official and unofficial votes reported from several counties.

Simpson Heads Insull Chain

Chicago, June 7.—(AP)—Control of the huge Insull utility chain has passed from Samuel Insull to Joseph Simpson, one-time immigrant, hero who started his career as a 14 week messenger in a Chicago department store.

Insull, also a former messenger boy who started his business career as secretary to Thomas Edison, announced his resignation yesterday, just one month after three of his holding companies went into receivership, giving ill health as the reason. His personal fortune, estimated at $10,000,000, had weighed heavily upon him for months.

The announcement said he was retiring as chairman of the board of Commonwealth Edison Co., Public Service of Northern Illinois, and the Peoples Gas, Light & Coke Co., which serves millions of consumers in the Chicago area.

COMMISSIONERS' RACE SHOULD BE RE-RUN

With the official canvass of the vote on the county ticket in Saturday's primary completed the report indicates that Cox, Williams and Dudley have each received a majority and are nominated to the County Board of Commissioners with the two remaining seats between McLawhorn, Smith, Sumrell and Joyner, but whether or not there will be an effort to upset this official report is now in question and it is our opinion that this can and should be done.

While on the basis of our observations here Saturday during the voting and Sunday during the counting of the ballots the Greenville precinct boxes could be eliminated entirely from the count, and from the statement of the chairman of the County Board of Elections that he was at the voting place in Chicod township and that conditions there were even worse than here during the voting Saturday that box too, could be thrown out.

Leaving this phase of the matter for a time, though, we wish to call attention to the fact that the entire county commissioner ticket throughout the county can be thrown out on account of failure of the Board of Elections to comply with the law in the matter of printing the tickets. As we understand the law, each and every one of the ten candidates for the office of commissioner was entitled to have his name appear at the top of the list of candidates for an equal number of ballots and then in second place in the same manner and on down the line to tenth place.

In the printing of the tickets this law was absolutely disregarded and only two of the candidates' names appeared at the top of the list, half of them bearing the name Roy T. Cox at the top and the other half the name of J. Noah Williams. The official count reveals that these two candidates whose names appeared at the top of the list were found to be the two leading candidates when the votes were tallied and it is our opinion that each of the other eight candidates under the law was discriminated against and is entitled to recourse through another primary.

There is also a contention regarding the failure to require certain of the candidates to designate whether they sought nomination for the two or four year term and the failure to so denote on the tickets in order that the voters might know how they were voting. We are frank to admit that at present we do not have the legal ruling on this phase of the matter and are not in position to say whether or not this law applies to the primary as well as to the November election. At any rate, attention of the chairman of the election board was called to the matter in plenty of time to get a ruling and have the tickets changed to conform with same before the primary and if this law was too violated there is all the more reason that there should be some action taken.

Going back to the matter of the Greenville precinct ballot boxes, yesterday we recited enough irregularities to throw out most any election, but in addition to what transpired Saturday during the voting there is a matter that occurred Sunday afternoon during the totaling of the votes that should likewise be brought to the attention of our people.

Shortly after three o'clock we were advised that the count of the county ticket had been completed and immediately the writer went to the room where the count had taken place to get a copy of the vote. We were immediately given the vote for each office except that of county commissioner, and were informed that this was not complete and the figures did not check. Passing to the table that contained the tally sheets on the commissioner ticket we found that apparently those who had been in charge had given up in disgust and two of the candidates assisted by the representative of another candidate, were endeavoring to get the sheets together and complete the total. They were complaining that certain sheets could not be found and that others did not match and there seemed little hope of getting an accurate total. During this time the registrar was busy sealing up ballot boxes several feet away and if there was an election official near this table, we did not see him. After these candidates had finished their hunt for tally sheets and their check of same, the registrar was called to the table to help complete the total and it was handed to us revealing that four of the candidates had received an additional one-half vote. We asked how this had occurred and were informed that if added together these four halves would check out as two whole votes. To our mind, it was impossible for any candidate in the commissioner race to receive a half vote and at our suggestion, this half vote was eliminated from each of the four and the vote as it then stood was the same as that certified to the Board of Elections as the true and correct vote for the Greenville box.

Whether a true re-count of the box would change materially the standing the candidates we do not know, but we feel safe in expressing an opinion that the figure as certified to the Board of Elections is not a true and correct count of the Greenville precinct box.

Of course, we cannot run the county elections or the county, and far be it from us to try, and we cannot dictate to our people what to do, but we believe that the majority of our citizens believe in fair elections conducted in accordance with the election laws and as a

Gambler's Throw

By EUSTACE L. ADAMS

SYNOPSIS: Detective work by airplane is necessary, Jerry Calhoun and Emory Battles decide, in dealing with an ultra-modern kidnapping gang who have carried off Nancy Wentworth and a number of wealthy men and are demanding "board money" while they hold the captives in some unknown hide-away. Jerry is determined to rescue Nancy, since she was abducted while he was with her, and his plans are approved by Stevens, a government detective assigned to the case. Stevens is especially concerned with locating One-shot Lucci, a gangster among the kidnaped persons, who are besides Lucci and Nancy—Mallory, a stockbroker, Hamilton, a millionaire business man, and Martin and Williams of Chicago. No clues have been found as to the whereabouts of the gang and their prisoners. Jerry and Emory try to follow the hydroplane that collects the board money from a stipulated rowboat off the coast, but their own plane falls in both speed and fuel. Emory plans to buy an up-to-date airplane.

Chapter 8 "YOU'VE BEWITCHED ME" The implacable glare of the afternoon sun hammered down upon the low, rambling house. The blazing light, undimmed by any cloud, turned the white shell beach into a dazzling incandescence which burned its way into one's eyeballs like a white hot needle. The palm trees themselves seemed to find the oppressive heat unbearable, so dry and brown and weary-looking were their rattling leaves. Their goliwog-like clusters gave little shade and less rest to the eyes, serving only to accentuate the glare of the brassy sky and the burnished iridescence of the flattened sea.

A girl stood in a tiny patch of shade at one end of the porch, cowering from the all-encompassing heat. She was young and beautiful, with the straight, slender figure of a boy. For the thousandth time she studied the scores of islands to north, east and south, then turned her gaze toward the sharply-edged segments of horizon between two islands to the west. The flash of hope that always lighted those brown eyes when she began her frequent surveys faded into hopelessness.

She leaned against the porch railing, forgetting everything but the heat and the ever-growing tension in the house. Those little patches of mangrove-covered sand might never know the touch of human foot nor those shimmering waters the splash of paddle of boat of propeller. The twenty-acre island upon which the house stood seemed utterly lost amid an uninhabited archipelago of island-dotted sea. The madhouse of which this porch was a part might burst into flames and disintegrate under the public press we would not be doing our duty to witness these things and not bring them to the attention of our people.

Just what, if anything, will be done regarding the matter, we do not know at this time, but if we are willing to let things stand as they are, then if the consequences in the future are not to our liking we should not then lift our voices against them.

The matter is up to those who were discriminated against in the primary and to the people of our county who believe in fair play. Will you let Saturday's primary stand as it is, or will you insist that it be set aside and each of the candidates be given the equal chance to which they are entitled by law?

torrid heat, together with its company of desperate men, and the outside world might never know. She shivered, although the very air scorched her like the blast from an open door.

An hour more before the malevolent sun would drive into the sea with tropic haste. Then one would be able to breathe. The tension which bound the island like an iron band would relax. The men would become almost normal, remembering their stations in life before they were set down on this sun-ridden, hate-mad spot.

"Enjoying yourself, Nancy?" A sardonic voice came from behind her shoulder. She wheeled, her hand on her breast.

"Are you drunk, again, Mr. Mallory?" she challenged him coldly. Mallory tattered unsteadily on his feet. His close-clipped red hair was awry, his jade-green eyes bloodshot. His broad shoulders sagged wearily. Lack of exercise and too much drink was taking its toll upon a figure which had, but three weeks ago, been lithe and hard-muscled. Here there were no polo fields with spirited ponies and pretty women, no hand ball courts with showers and experienced rubbers, no golf links with frosted highballs at the nineteenth hole. Of all these, only two were left, the highballs and one pretty woman. So to both he had devoted himself assiduously, the drink without restraint, the woman to the limits of her patience. Now he stared openly at Nancy and smirked.

"No, not drunk yet," he said. "Perhaps a little later." His mood changed suddenly. His irritable voice betrayed a man whose nerves were frayed and jangling. "What else would one do to help him forget the passing of time in this hell-hole? Hamilton, with his blamed solitaire, Martin, sitting there like a bump on a log until you could smash his face in just to make him speak. Williams, stealing every chance to make calf's eyes at you.

"Lucci, the gunman, pacing back and forth like a panther in his cage. And every time we take a walk toward the beach or the hangar two or three guards watch us with their hands in their bulging pockets, hoping that we'll do something that will give them a little gun practice. If you weren't here, I'd have run amuck long ago. I will, yet, if something doesn't happen to break the monotony!"

"That will be very helpful to me." The girl's voice was heavy with sarcasm. "You fill me with admiration for your self-control."

"See here, Nancy," he complained querulously. "It's all your fault. You know I've not been myself. I'm madly in love with you and you treat me like a dog. I've loved you ever since your opening night at the Criterion, two years ago. I've tried, God knows how many times, to meet you. But you never went out on parties, never met people. And now we're together here. I can't think of anything but you."

"You've thought of nothing else" she countered scornfully, "but the heat and the liquor and the chances of escape. Have you given any thought to your wife, lately?"

"My wife? I've told you that my wife and I have been separated for years!" he declared tempestuously. "I'll have her get a divorce the moment we return to New York."

New York! A million miles away from this madness. It hardly seemed to exist.

"That might be a favor to your wife," she said drearily, "but please please, let's talk of something else!"

"Nancy!" His voice was vibrating with intensity. "I can't you bewitched me! You are—" In another instant she was in his arms, kicking, hammering with her little fists at his burly chest shoulders, squirming silently to break his hold. His kisses fell upon her cheek. A guard, strolling along the beach, stopped and watched them in frank, cynical enjoyment.

She was sick and giddy. Then, suddenly, she felt, rather than heard, a sharp, ringing crack. The straining arms sagged as his body relaxed, became limp and settled toward the floor. She was dragged down with him. Strong hands seized her by the shoulders and Formal charges were placed against Troy and Roy Dunn of the Alesia community. Sheriff Gray Albright said, and Orville Simmons, one of their neighbors, was wanted for questioning.

War on Negro Firemen Claims Sixth Victim

Memphis, Tenn., June 7.—(AP)—The lower Mississippi valley's strange war on negro railroad firemen has claimed its sixth victim. Clarence Brooker, 42-year-old negro employee of the Illinois Central, was shot to death at his post yesterday as the freight train he stoked passed through Shady, four miles from Bolivar, Tenn. Officers said two white men fled after the slaying.

Four negro firemen previously had been slain mysteriously in Mississippi and one in Louisiana, within recent months.

Officers Fined For Activities During Election

High Point, June 7.—(AP)—One thing is certain, when the next election comes around J. W. McMahon, police department identification bureau chief, won't even dare look at a mimeograph.

McMahon was fined a week's salary because he used the department mimeograph to run off a sheet of circulars listing an "approved" list of candidates in Saturday's primary.

He said he did the work at the insistence of "an organized group of men" in High Point and that he knows now that police department rules forbid its members participating in elections other than casting their vote.

HELPED MOTHER AND DAUGHTER

Cardui Used For a Weak, Painful Condition, Writes South Carolina Lady.

"About six years ago, I took Cardui for a weak condition," writes Mrs. U. S. Ard, of 209 West Hall Street, Savannah, Ga. "I suffered a great deal with my back. I was hardly able to go. I did not feel able to do my work. I thought I was going to get down in bed."

"This worried me a great deal. My husband saw Cardui advertised, and told me that I had better take it. I am glad that I did, for it built me up. I took six bottles and felt just fine."

"Since that time I have given it to my daughter, and she was helped. I am glad to recommend Cardui."

The confidence of thousands of women, in the value of Cardui, has been demonstrated by the fact that they have given it or recommended it to their daughters, after having learned from their own use of Cardui how helpful it is in the relief of many simple disorders, when due to a weak, run-down condition. For sale at your druggist's.

CARDUI Helps Women to Health. Theford's Black-Draught [26] should also be used, as a laxative, in connection with Cardui.

Gets Worst Of Election Bet

Marion, June 7.—(AP)—Seagle Halliburton, who won a 28-mile ride in a wheelbarrow on an election bet, collected half and refused the remainder because he said he was getting the worst of the affair. Halliburton and Howard Davis agreed that the loser of their bet should wheel the other from here to Old Fort and return and that the barrow-pusher should go bare-foot.

At the start, Davis was allowed to wear shoes and at the half-way point, Halliburton said he needed too many pillows and declared that, since he conceded the wearing of shoes, Davis should concede that he refuse to collect the remainder of the bet. The agreement was enthusiastic.

FIELD LEADS IN IOWA RACE

Des Moines, Ia., June 7.—(AP)—The political career of Senator Smith W. Brookhart, foe of "big business," appeared to be interrupted today by the tide of ballots cast for Henry Field in the Iowa Republican senatorial primary.

A balanced strength that indicated Field was in favor in every section of the state sent the Shenandoah seed man into an early lead which increased steadily as returns poured in.

Field and Brookhart, both "dry," sped so far out in front of the other four aspirants for the nomination, however, that there appeared to be little likelihood of the contest going to convention, for which Iowa law provides if none of the candidates secures 35 per cent of the total vote cast.

Field's share of the votes varied consistently between 40 and 45 per cent, usually trailing by a 5 to 4 margin, was near the necessary 35 per cent.

While Field and Brookhart were "farm candidates," they took most votes in cities as well, and Field, who sells groceries, dry goods, seed and plants over his own radio station, usually got the biggest urban vote.

Returns from 1,399 of 2,435 precincts gave Field 105,503 Brookhart's 78,181. Glenn Haynes was third high man in the race with George Cosson, Louis Cook and L. E. Eickelberg trailing.

The wet and dry issue did not enter into the senatorial primary campaign but both Brookhart and Field has expressed "dry" sentiment during the campaign. Cook was the only avoid "wet" in the race.

In the Democratic senatorial race Louis Murphy of Dubuque polled 17,732 votes with 692 precincts reported. His total was above the 5 per cent requirement and more than 9,000 above the second place total polled by Dan Steck of Ottumwa, former United States senator. All of the Democratic candidates favored modification of the prohibition law.

NEW BERN, N. C.—(AP)—Former Judge R. A. Nunn has been named trustee for the property of F. M. Simmons, former senator, who has filed voluntary bankruptcy proceedings.

Police Search For Hit and Run Driver at Graham

Graham, N. C., June 7.—(AP)—Police today searched for the owners of an automobile carrying license number 209398-N. C. which last night sideswiped another machine near here, killing one person and injuring two more.

J. K. Arvin 25, of Greensboro, was instantly killed and Miss Frances Thomas and Mrs. J. W. Simpson Jr., were injured but not dangerously.

The injured were taken to a Burlington hospital. The crash occurred six miles from here on highway 54. Members of the party, which also included J. W. Simpson Jr., and a negro chauffeur who were uninjured, were on their way to Raleigh.

REVOLT TAKES ANOTHER TURN

Santiago, Chile, June 7.—(AP)—The fate of Cosach, the $375,000-000 American-controlled Chilean nitrate combine, vied for attention today from the new provisional government with the religious question and reports of a counter-revolt in the southern provinces.

The finance minister early last night issued a statement in which he said the government would not take any steps to confiscate the Cosach properties until after a committee of experts had made a thorough study of the nitrate problem and the matter had been submitted to the new congress which is expected to be convened in November.

Early today, however, the government issued a retraction of this statement, and this presumably left the Cosach matter as it was yesterday when the government indicated it would proceed to take it over immediately.

In spite of a denial by the government that a counter-revolution was in progress, advisers today indicated that some naval and military units in Southern Chile were resisting the junta.

United States Ambassador William S. Culbertson conferred with Senor Davila at the latter's home last night, discussing informally the outlook for foreign interests. The ambassador said Davila was very reassuring that foreigners and their interests would be treated with the fullest consideration.

The public feeling took an anti-religious turn yesterday. Groups of persons paraded through the streets shouting "down with the nuns." A Sister Gertrudis, who formerly was Sara Villegas of Los Angeles, Calif., said she and other nuns at Santa Rosa Academy had been ejected by the government.

Damas Desnoyers, an aged resident, crouched in the window of a fifth floor room, refusing the pleas of those below to jump. Finally firemen took him down a ladder and then he explained he would not risk what he said was a $60,000 Stradivarius by leaping.

men had sighted four others. First Assistant Chief James Nimmo said he was positive two more bodies still were in the ruins.

About 30 more were burned or injured, while the rest of the nearly 200 residents were saved in dramatic escapes.

Fire Chief James E. Granger said circumstances of the blast would be fully investigated as to possible incendiarism.

There were about 200 residents in the apartments. Many ran down fire escapes, scores of screaming women were rescued by firemen and passersby, and many more jumped into fire-nets. Most of the victims were in night clothing. One woman, her nightgown ablaze, jumped from a fifth floor window and landed on the roof of an adjacent building.

The dead were: C. F. Warnicke, 68, who apparently was overcome by smoke and flames; Mrs. Anna Mitchell, 70, a char-woman, whose body was badly burned, and two unidentified women.

More than a score were taken to Charity hospital. Others were given first aid in the Hotel Hollenden, a block away, and at St. Joseph's Cathedral House across the street.

The cause of the explosion or where it occurred was not learned. Chief Granger estimated the damage at $100,000, covered by insurance.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

New York Cotton

New York, June 7.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 7 to 9 points on trade buying and covering. July sold at 5.20.

The comparatively light demand was quite readily supplied by further near month liquidation combined with some southern and local selling, however, and after advancing to 5.58 at the start, December reacted to 5.53, with active months generally showing net gains of 3 or 4 points at the end of the first half hour.

Final action on the tax bill in Washington, removing one of the uncertainties of recent weeks, was considered a favorable feature, but trading continued quiet and there was probably some local selling on reports of an easier tone following an irregular opening in the stock market. Liverpool cables reported local buying and covering in that market but said Manchester was unsettled following an indecisive ballot by spinning operatives in Lancashire on the recent strike proposals.

Grain Market

Chicago, June 7.—(AP)—Renewal of stop loss selling carried wheat values down late today to below previous bottom price records this season.

The fresh breaks in prices developed notwithstanding estimates that 7,000,000 to 10,000,000 bushels had been bought from North America in the last few days for shipment to Europe. Some of the wheat selling here was against purchases at Winnipeg.

Stock Market

New York, June 7.—(AP)—The stock market remained rather feeble today, although it offered somewhat better resistance than it did yesterday.

But the bond market continued to maintain a good tone, the dollar was again firm in the foreign exchange markets, and pressure was mostly lifted from the wheat market, so Wall street did not find the day particularly depressing. The market was firm for a few minutes in response to enactment of the tax measure but special liquidation cropped out here and there later.

Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit was again a soft spot, off more than 2 to a new low. Peoples Gas rose almost 2, then reacted to show a similar loss. American Telephone lost a couple of points, as did Auburn. The list showed some signs of rallying before midday, but special selling appeared in General Foods, off 2, and again imparted a heavy one. Drug lost as much and miscellaneous issues off a point or so included American Can, Union Carbide, Public Service of N. J., United Gas Imp., North American, Corn Products, Borden, National Biscuit, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, American Tobacco, B. Reynolds B and Woolworth. National Distillers Products and Corn Products Refining rose about 1-2 presumably reflecting developments in the prohibition controversy, but then reacted. Owens Glass gained 2 in a thin market.

SENATE TURNS DOWN HOOVER PAY CUT PLAN

Cont'd from Page One) officers and employees paid on an annual basis would have been furloughed without pay for one month of the next fiscal year.

Government workers on a per day basis would be placed on a five day week with proportionately reduced wages.

The action left the flat ten per cent pay cut on all government salaries over $1,000 in the economy bill.

Washington, June 7.—(AP)—The Senate banking committee today approved the $300,000,000 section of the Democratic relief bill for loans to states to prevent destitution.

HALF HOLIDAYS TOMORROW

Cont'd from Page One) stores and business houses will take part.

The same closing plan has been observed in Greenville for the last several years, and according to supporters of the movement, has contributed greatly to preserving the health and happiness of the hundreds of persons employed by the participating firms.

The petition providing for the closing was circulated by representatives of the business interests the latter part of last week, and the signatures of the participating business houses were affixed to it.

While the closing will not be general, the majority of leading business houses joined the movement. The number is similar to last year, and probably is slightly larger.

Proponents of the half holiday were gratified at the interest manifested by the business men and expressed appreciation of the cooperation exhibited on nearly every hand.

The half holiday will give both employees and employers an opportunity to enjoy a half day each week at their favorite diversions, and the time spent out doors was expected to contribute to the health of the participants and put them in fine fettle for the great rush of business enjoyed by his part of the state during the fall and winter.

Firms signing to observe the half holidays follow: W. L. Best, McKay, Washington, Co. Coburn Shoe Co., Blooms, Charles Stores, W. T. Grant, Co., Miller-Jones, Greenville Salvage Co., C. H. ## THREE ESCAPE AT CARY CAMP

John Mooney, Jr., of Raleigh and took his car. Prison authorities described the machine as a 1932 Dodge sedan, with a black body and red wire wheels. It carried North Carolina license 338,210 and Raleigh City tag No. 4186.

Brantley was brought to a hospital here and his condition was said to be serious, the pistol bullet having plowed close to his spine. It was not known whether he wounded any of the prisoners.

Prison officials launched an immediate investigation to try and ascertain how the convicts secured the pistol with which they first held-up Brantley.

Alarm was spread throughout the central part of the state that the men had escaped.

Autry was sent to prison from Fayetteville to serve two to three years for storebreaking and larceny. Today's was his second escape.

Cook's home is in Waynesboro, Ky., and he was sent to prison for 7 to 10 years for highway robbery in Guilford county.

Travis was listed as from Hickory having been sent to prison to serve 15 to 15 years for housebreaking.

Other prisoners caused no trouble officials said, and work was going on as usual at the farm this afternoon.

FIGHT FACES BOTH PARTIES

laration for resubmitting prohibition, split wide apart yesterday on wording of the plank. The issue was pointed for Chicago and settlement in the party assembly next week.

James R. Garfield of Ohio, who will direct drafting of the platform, planned a final talk today with President Hoover before departing for the convention city.

In the Democratic party a serious factional fight for control of the convention was made certain, J. J. Shouse, national executive committee, asserted his name would be put before the convention for the post of permanent chairman, regardless of announcement by Gov. Roosevelt's aides that they would seek to place Senator Walsh of Montana, in the chairmanship.

Shouse said the delegates would have a chance "to vote me up or down, forming their own opinion—with the public—as to the good faith of Gov. Roosevelt in assenting to the April 4 agreement (that Shouse would hold the post) and as to the propriety of the change of plans ascribed to him by James A. Farley."

Shouse returned the Roosevelt challenge in a lengthy formal statement. He said he had a statement dictated by the governor concerning without qualification to the arrangements committee agreement to commend his selection. He said the proposition was put to him at that committee's meeting without his previous knowledge of the plan, but that he withheld assent until Roosevelt's agreement had been obtained.

FIVE PERSONS DIE IN WRECK

Amby, unidentified woman about 45, believed to be Rodecker's wife; unidentified girl, about 21, believed to be a friend of Rodecker's son. The injured: Emma Bloemker, 3, Haddonfield, fractured skull; Frank B. Tucker, 26, Haddonfield, fractured skull and internal injuries.

The bodies of both women were so badly burned that identification was difficult.

The only witness, Arthur Deaver, 14, said: "Both cars were going very fast as they approached the intersection—I should say about 60 miles an hour. I saw the sedan go flying up in the air, run on its wheels about 50 feet and turn over. Then I saw a lot of men running from nearby homes to help pull the people from the car."

The ambulance, he said, turned over several times and struck an iron pole which nearly cut the body of the car in half. Knorr, a policeman, who had volunteered to drive the ambulance, was under the vehicle, his head nearly severed.

The little Bloemker girl was lying on her face about five feet from her father's body.

Bloemker and his wife were awakened by a thump and found their daughter had fallen from bed, cutting her head severely. The father and daughter were racing to a hospital in the ambulance driven

COUNTY WILL AID SERVICES

Cont'd from Page One) lighting accommodations for the union services to be held on the court house lawn each Sunday night during the summer months. E. L. Hillman, representing the Ministerial Association, sponsors of the union service movement, appeared before the board and presented the request for assistance in providing sufficient lights for the services.

He also asked that arrangements be made for conducting services at the county home each Sunday afternoon, and the board agreed to render every aid in this direction. The services will be conducted through the Ministerial Association and preachers of the various churches will have charge of the services from time to time.

Services were conducted on the court house lawn each Sunday evening several years ago but were abandoned on account of benches being burned in a warehouse fire. New benches have been provided through activities of the Ministerial Association. Mr. Hillman told the commissioners, and will be placed onto the court house square in ample time for the initial service.

Each church of the city will participate in the services, and thousands of people were expected to attend each Sunday evening.

In addition to action on these two matters, the board also decided to postpone the advertising of 1931 delinquent taxes until Sept. 1.
