BONUS MEETS CRUSHING DEFEAT IN THE SENATE Seeks Repudiation of the Republican Prohibition Plank

Bill Seeking Cash Pay For World War Veterans Is Voted Down 62 To 18

GREAT CROWD HEARS VERDICT ASK BREAK ON ECONOMY BILL

Motion to Reconsider Tabled, Making It Impossible for Measure to be Brought up Again this Session; Tremendous "Boo" Greeted Action; Veterans Plan to Carry Fight Through.

Washington, June 18.—(AP)—The soldiers' bonus will not be paid this summer.

Definitely, crushingly, the Senate late last night defeated the bill by which thousands upon thousands of veterans of the World War had hoped to draw immediately almost two and a half billions in cash from the federal treasury.

The tremendous margin of 62 to 18 was rolled up against the measure despite an amazing day-long siege which nearly ten thousand clamorous ex-service men laid down upon America's capitol. It was evident that the decision turned principally on the issue of safeguarding the nation's financial stability.

Senator after senator gave an explanation for his adverse vote this reason, divorced entirely from the merits of giving aid to the veterans.

The fateful roll call was counted out under galleries packed solid with former soldiers. Hundreds more pressed up to the Senate doors, and from the outside were plainly audible the songs, cheers and boos of thousands who swarmed over the broad plaza, blocking all traffic but causing no disorder and voicing no threats.

To make double sure that the bill would not come up again this session, its opponents resorted to strategy which is as rare in the United States Senate as it is effective: Tabling a motion to reconsider passage. This extinguished the last hope of sponsors to bring the question up later.

To the sea of upturned faces outside the capitol a spokesman for the veterans announced the defeat.

"We have received a temporary setback," he shouted. "The Senate has refused to pass the bill."

A half stunned silence, and then a tremendous boo.

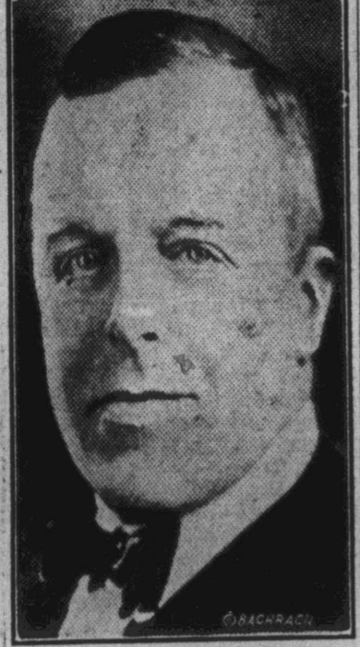

"But we will stay here until the bonus is paid," he roared again, and cheers reverberated against the stately walls of the ancient domed building. Quickly then the blare of a band started them singing a chorus of "America." Their leaders pleaded with the men to return, not home, but to their billets for the night leaving further campaign plans for the morrow.

Full realization of the extent of their defeat apparently had not sunk in as the men yielded to persuasion and trudged off, a few at a time. Additional thousands who remained in the several camps went to bed believing that the final vote was still to come.

The veterans had started assembling even before the Senate came to work in the morning and their number swelled steadily. It was an anxious time for police but members of congress and leaders of the bonus army kept up a steady series of talks for order, entertainers led the men in song, and all was peaceful.

In the evening police blocked roads leading into the city from the outlying camps, keeping several thousands more from reaching the capitol. They raised a bridge span across the Anacostia River to keep several hundred men out, while other bridges were blocked by patrol cars, causing terrific traffic tangles.

Another Wounded In An Attempted Robbery of Store in Sanford Community.

High Point, June 18.—(AP)—The slaying of Tom Beal and the critical wounding of N. H. Perry in the latter's general store at Cumnock, near Sanford, by two men believed to have been planning robbery was reported in a message received here today.

Meager details of the shooting were communicated to Grover H. Jones, High Point attorney, whose wife is a daughter of Perry.

Beal, described only as a prospective customer, was said to have accompanied Perry from the latter's home to his store when he (Continued on Page Four)

BEGIN DEBATE ON RELIEF BILL

Senate Tackles Last Major Legislative Battle in Unemployment Aid Measure.

Washington, June 18.—(AP)—The Senate today tackled the last major legislative battle of the session as it began debate on the $500,000,000 Democratic unemployment relief bill which has been substituted for the $2,300,000,000 Garner measure approved by the House.

The Democratic bill carried provision for a $500,000,000 bond issue for public works, to which President Hoover is opposed, but sponsors of the measure were confident they had the votes to put it through the Senate.

Senator Wagner (D., N. Y.) chairman of the special Democratic committee which drafted the bill, opened the fight for the measure.

The New Yorker said the Labor Department estimated that more than 1,000,000 families are now "eating the bread of charity" in cities in this country having a total of less than one-third of the nation's population.

The Party's Executive Committee Announces Dropping Webb as Candidate.

Omaha, June 18.—(AP)—Roy M. Harrop, chairman of the Farmer-Labor party's executive committee, today announced the group has dropped Colonel Frank E. Webb of San Francisco, as its presidential candidate, and offered the place to Senator Huey Long of Louisiana.

Harrop said the committee took action against the Californian when its members became convinced he was a secret service man and "a (Continued on Page Four)

BONUS ARMY OFF FOR HOME

Discouraged Veterans Begin Moving Out of Washington After Defeat of Bill.

Washington, June 18.—(AP)—Discouraged war veterans who came to Washington in hope of receiving cash for their war service certificates struggled homeward today as their leaders vainly strove to hold their ranks intact.

The Senate's overwhelming defeat of the bonus payment measure by a vote of 62 to 18 last night took its toll of the ranks and soon after daylight the roads leading away from Washington were dotted with groups of weary, rain-soaked veterans leaving the nation's capital behind them.

Police and leaders of the bonus marchers differed as to the cause of the departures. The former said the veterans were leaving in large groups with their cash payment hopes dashed, but the veterans' leaders declared that only about 150 had gone home to recruit more men for their army.

The veterans' executive committee issued a statement condemning the Senate's action as prompted by "special interests" and called for recruits to the ranks.

The committee also asked for food and money donations from veterans in all parts of the country (Continued on Page Four)

GANGS SEEK CAPONE TITLE

Another Victim claimed by Gangland Bullets at Chicago Last Night.

Chicago, June 18.—(AP)—Gangland is speaking again and, as usual, its words are the language of death.

George "Red" Barker—"Barker the Immune" they called him—who was the first major figure to die in Chicago's newest gang fight, was mowed down, police believed, in the same underworld strife that accounted for the death earlier in the week of Fred Paellli. Paellli was slain in a dance hall in suburban Morton Grove last Wednesday. The following night, machine gunners, concealed in a North Crawford avenue apartment, accounted for Barker.

Extortionists Threaten Rich Wilmington Woman

Wilmington, June 18.—(AP)—A series of extortion notes to Mrs. Jesse Kenan Wise, wealthy society woman of Wilmington and Northampton, one indicating the extortionists sought to connect their activities with the Lindbergh baby kidnapping, were being probed today by police who kept their movements shrouded in silence.

The notes were shown to newspapermen by J. O. Carr, attorney for Mrs. Wise, shortly after John J. Furlong, Sr., former Wilmington police chief and first county recorder here, had been arrested and charged with attempting blackmail (Continued on Page Four)

Father of Kidnapped Child Willing to Testify at Trial of Norfolk Hoaxer.

Flemington, N. J., June 18.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh has expressed willingness to accept service of a subpoena by the defense for appearance at the trial of John H. Curtis, kidnap hoaxer.

Lloyd Fisher, attorney for Curtis, said constables seeking to serve principals in the case during the past ten days were informed at the Morrow home in Englewood last night that Colonel Lindbergh would be available there today.

Betty Gow, nurse to the murdered Lindbergh baby, was served last night and Ollie Wheatley, Lindbergh's butler was presented with a subpoena several days ago.

Shaping the defense for Curtis' trial a week ago from Monday on charges of obstructing the search for the Lindbergh kidnapers, Fisher said a number of friends of the Norfolk boat builder had expressed willingness to appear in his behalf. Among them was Admiral Guy L. Burrage, Curtis' associate.

The Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, another of the Norfolk intermediaries, who has refused to come to New Jersey for police questioning, was reported willing to appear at the trial.

Fisher said he had asked the Navy Department to make available (Continued on Page Four)

EHRINGHAUS MEN TO MEET

Campaign Managers from 21 Counties to Plan Campaign at a Meeting Here tonite.

Ehringhaus campaign managers from twenty-one counties in this part of the state will meet at the Sheppard Memorial Library here tonight to outline plans for the run-off primary between the Elgabath City man and R. T. Fountain, candidates for governor, to be held Saturday, July 2.

J. C. Lanier, Pitt county manager for Ehringhaus, was notified of the general meeting and was making plans today for entertainment of the guests.

Ehringhaus led Fountain in a three-cornered race for governor in the primary June 4, but his vote was not sufficient to insure nomination. Fountain several days ago announced he would ask for a second election, and like Ehringhaus, is beginning to push plans for the final battle of ballots.

STARTS FIGHT IN THE NORTH

Advocate of Repeal of Dry Law Says If He Succeeds, Hoover will Have "Sporting Chance," and If He Fails, the Republican Party "Will Go Over the Dam."

New York, June 18.—(AP)—The New York World-Telegram today states that Nicholas Murray Butler, who led the fight for a repeal plank in the Republican national platform, will lead a movement in bringing about repudiation by New England and Middle Atlantic Republican state conventions of the plank finally adopted in Chicago.

If he succeeds, Dr. Butler said, President Hoover may have a "sporting chance" of reelection. If he fails, he predicted, the Republican party will "go over the dam."

Adoption of the present plank by the Republican national convention in Chicago was described by Dr. Butler as "the most shocking exhibition of patronage control of a convention since 1872, when Ulysses S. Grant won his second nomination."

"I was told," he said, "that six cabinet members were at the convention. That 37 of the 97 delegates from New York and upward of 400 of the convention's membership were office holders."

"That is repugnant to Republican traditions. In 1904 Roosevelt declared against the election of federal office holders as delegates. And in 1924, in February, Mr. Coolidge gave a stern statement to the press deploring the sending of postmasters and other office holders to the convention which nominated him."

"But this year the postmasters were actually whipped up by the post office department as we saw by that scandalous incident in Missouri."

He referred, he said, to an appeal made in behalf of Hoover's candidacy by an assistant postmaster general at a convention of postmasters in Missouri.

Dr. Butler said he had been told that the plank regarding prohibition as adopted by the convention was written by Ogden L. Mills, secretary of the treasury, Ray Benjamin of San Francisco, E. A. Van Valkenburg of Philadelphia, and Charles F. Scott, of Iowa, Kas.

"But every word was passed by the White House," he added.

Dr. Butler said his plank, embodied in the Bingham minority report, would have won had the convention been "let alone."

"We had 610 assured votes on Monday night," he said. "Estimates that we could muster 700 votes were made. In any event, we had a majority. And then the administration leaders, taking orders from Washington, got busy."

"They knew we had been beaten; that the convention, if influenced by the White House, would go for repeal."

Predicts Democrats Will Try Resubmission Plank

By W. B. RAGSDALE (Associated Press Staff Writer)
Chicago, June 18.—(AP)—Prohibition, the word that spelled roaring dispute for the Republicans now straggling homeward, was first on tongues today of convention-bent Democrats.

Candidates, economic issues, even organization, took second place in the discussion of newly arrived leaders to the question: What will the Democrats do about prohibition?

Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee, puffing at a black briar between answers to the two score newspaper men at his first press conference, believed the party would adopt a plank favoring submission of prohibition to the people to determine whether they want the 18th amendment repealed.

He called the Republican plank impossible of interpretation and said that of the Democrats would be specific and brief. He expected that it would denounce conditions under prohibition in its preamble.

ABOUT TOWN

Franklin Roosevelt, candidate for the Democratic nomination for president, appreciates the pledge of support from the North Carolina convention.

Referring to the state as "Good Old North Carolina," the New Yorker wired his appreciation to Raleigh immediately after receipt of information regarding action of the convention.

The state has only a few votes to the national gathering compared with some of the other states, but they should be sufficient to turn the tide of victory in favor of Roosevelt in case competition should be keener than anticipated.

While it is impossible to say what the boys are going to do, it is generally conceded by one school of thought that the New York governor stands a mighty good chance of winning the nomination, and should he do so the united support of the party ought to enable him to provide plenty of entertainment for the Republicans in the November election.

No. 2 Carolina delegates to the national convention at Chicago will go there with dry sentiment behind them, the state convention having decided not to take any action in the controversial question which is splitting party ranks wide open.

Action of the Republican party had not the slightest influence on this state and it will not influence them when they go to attend the country-wide gathering of Democrats in the Windy City.

Should other states do like North Carolina there would be no need to put prohibition to another vote. In fact, as far as the convention was concerned, the situation is all right as it is. Still, there are others who look at the question from a different point of view and it will be this faction which will wage eternal warfare when the consideration of a prohibition plank is begun.

Members of Pitt County Post of American Legion will meet here Tuesday night to consider election of officers and appointment of delegates to the state convention in Asheville in July.

This will be one of the most important gatherings of the former veterans of the year and it is the hope of officials that attendance will be representative. In other words, they want as many members as possible on the job to voice their opinion for officers as well as delegates.

The local Legion has held up wonderfully well during the economic depression, and if members will rally to the cause in the future as it has in the past, their chance for success is brighter than it has been in years.

Proponents of the bonus put up a magnificent but unsuccessful fight in the Senate yesterday and showed the world they believe that payment of this debt to the veterans is nothing but fair.

They asserted the administration has supported measures having as their purpose the furnishing of money for big industry, but that when it came to paying an honest debt to the men who sacrificed the best in them for their country they had nothing but opposition to offer.

Senator Robinson, long one of the outspoken advocates of paying off the former service men, declared these men had just as much right to demand payment of this debt as others who had rendered the government any service.

That he was right will not be questioned, although there are those who will say that this is no time to incur further expense for the government. This is a poor argument in face of the fact that Congress has spent millions of dollars since the bonus bill came up. Other causes were taken care of but these men who offered their life on the altar of war have been deserted at a time when financial clouds hang

Gambler's Throw

By EUSTACE L. ADAMS

SYNOPSIS: Calling himself Mr. Peabody, Jerry Calhoun comes to the tropical island where a Limpy Ashwood, gang leader, is holding prisoner Nancy Wentworth and four men. He expects Emory Battles and a detective to follow him by plane. Ashwood asks him if he knows a Captain Jerry Calhoun.

Chapter 18 A FRIENDLY WARNING "Certainly," replied the flyer unblinking. "He was our commanding officer in the 190th Pursuit Squadron. Did you know him, too?"

"I met him at the Claridge bar in London," acknowledged Ashwood, his eyes regarding a newly-healed scar on the pilot's forehead. Jerry would have given a lot to have been able to study the other's face, but he dared not betray too great an interest in the conversation. He devoted himself to his breakfast.

"I was with the British," continued the cripple, "and Captain Calhoun, with three of his companions who were on leave from the front, wandered in to the bar and before long we had joined forces for a bit of a binge. I have remembered him ever since because he wore his medals modestly, held his liquor like a gentleman and was one of the handiest men I ever saw with his two fists in a brawl. I learned with sincere regret that he was impossibly enough to interfere when Miss Wentworth was being given her invitation to this houseparty and that he was slightly crooked in the ensuing melee."

"Jerry could feel the other's keen blue eyes boring into his own. "That was tough," he murmured, pushing back his well-scraped plate. "I wish you would congratulate your chef on these sausages and bacon. They were delightful."

"Fortunately," said Ashwood, toying with a strip of broiled bacon. "our electric light plant also serves our refrigerator, so we are able to enjoy many of the comforts of civilization. With a fast plane at our disposal, we are able to purchase fresh meats, vegetables and table delicacies at three or four cities within a hundred miles radius without attracting undue attention to ourselves, so despite the heat, we are able to live in moderate comfort."

"I have had the entire building lined with insulating material and still the guests complain somewhat about the heat. I scarcely blame them. I was led to believe that the climate would be much cooler in September. Indeed, Floridians assure us that it is very unreasonable, but it is just possible that they are biased in such matters."

"So I've heard," said Jerry. "Jerry's trained ears caught, again, the sound of an airplane motor. One motor? No, there were two! It rided him much to keep his face as Ashwood lighted a cigarette and squinted shrewdly at him through blue wisps of smoke. With an effort Jerry forced his attention back to the table."

"Mr. Ashwood," he ventured blandly, "your island certainly has its attractions, but I imagine that your guests will become restive before long. The climate here seems conducive to frayed nerves. When are you planning to break up the party?"

"That's a fair question," confessed the other with a glint of amusement in his eyes. "I'll be frank with you. If you have read the newspapers, you will recall that I was forced to collect a board bill from the friends and families of each of my guests. The cost of entertaining them is high. I may collect one, even two more such bills before I can bring myself to allow this delightful little group to depart."

"Then, too," he continued, pouring himself a second cup of coffee from a silver percolator, "your arrival has complicated my future plans. Up to this moment, my guests have not learned the location of our island. Beyond the fact it is in the tropics, they know nothing. The tropics covers a large area. If I were to release them tomorrow in Chicago and New York, dark and heavy and have brought destitution and poverty to thousands of the soldiers who marched so proudly off to foreign battlefields believing their sacrifices would be appreciated.

Another member of the Capone gang has been claimed by gangland bullets at Chicago. George Barker, racketeer, had muscled his way into many branches of business in the Windy City the last several years, but retribution in the form of bullets from the guns of enemies overtook him at the height of his career.

It is the same old story of crime and terror in the second largest city in the country, and promises to cut sharply into the ranks of Capone, the greatest leader of the underworld the nation has ever known.

Gangland is constantly busy raking in millions of dollars annually from the public, and when they are not doing that they are carrying guns preparing to destroy their own members. A dangerous life is this, and one that will eventually destroy itself throughout its own ruthlessness and unbroken warfare with the public.

they would not have the slightest idea where to send the officers of the law. "I would feel perfectly safe in inviting another group of guests to spend a few pleasant weeks here. I am hoping that I can persuade you not to reveal the location of the island. Otherwise, I should have to consider this houseparty my last."

Jerry blew rings of smoke through the heated air. "What if you can't persuade me to keep the location from your guests?" he asked.

"It is quite possible that you might contract mumps, or the itch or some such contagious disease," replied Ashwood calmly. "Then, out of regard for my guests' health, I should have to quarantine you."

The two motors, whose increasing din had made the cripple's voice almost inaudible, were suddenly shut off. Jerry could hear the singing of the wind through their struts as the ships glided to earth. Unless Ashwood possessed two planes, one of which was just arriving after a long flight, the very worst had come to pass.

Ashwood was speaking again. "I am delighted to have you join us as a non-paying guest, to remain until we all leave. Just let me put this one thought into your mind. You bear a marked resemblance to one who, although admittedly courageous, had the besetting sin of impetuosity in seeking physical conflict. I sincerely hope that you do not follow him in that respect as closely as you do in his features. I urge you, moreover, not to mention the location of this island, or even hint of it, until we discuss the matter again later in the day. And now, Mr. Peabody, I think we may as well stroll out to meet our new guests. It is possible that you may know them."

The cripple's voice had been matter-of-fact, but Jerry was acutely conscious of an undercurrent of friendly, sincere warning. He knew, now, that he had met this remarkable man before. There was an expression around his vivid blue eyes that was familiar, a twist to his mouth that reminded him of someone he had once known. Jerry had flown over to London a number of times and had indulged in some notable sprees, he and Emory, with the British fliers. But he could not place Ashwood. Reference to his own prowess with his fists did not help a great deal. Celebrations which had ended in fights had been the rule rather than the exception.

There had not been a white-haired cripple present at any of their parties. This man, perhaps, had changed, since their meeting. Jerry gave up the problem for the moment. As the two emerged into the hot, glaring sunshine, the pilot felt as though a bottomless pit had opened before his feet. (Copyright, Dial Press)

Remodeling Of Funeral Home Completed Here. Work of remodeling the building occupied by S. G. Wilkerson & Sons Funeral Parlor on Dickinson avenue has been completed and workmen were busy today putting furnishings in order.

Although the formal opening of the new establishment will not be held until the next several days, Mr. Wilkerson said they were in position to take care of the demands of the public with one of the most complete stocks and equipment of any similar business in this part of the state.

The building, formerly known as the Wayne House, has been completely remodeled inside and out and has been so arranged that work of each department may be taken care of with dispatch and efficiency.

Mr. Wilkerson has seen long years of service in this field, and prior to leaving Greenville several years ago to become connected with one of the largest coffin manufacturing concerns in the country, operated a similar establishment here.

Report Damage from Earthquake in Mexican City. San Francisco, Calif., June 15. (AP)—The Mackay radio station here reported receipt of a message from the boat Chicken-of-the-Sea saying buildings were knocked over at Manzanillo, Mexico, by a sharp earthquake early today. The city was in confusion the captain's radio said.

The ship was forced by port restrictions to close down its wireless before giving details of the reported disaster. The Chicken-of-the-Sea arrived at Manzanillo on the Pacific coast due west of Mexico City simultaneously with the quake, which the captain said lasted two minutes.

H. A. Bost Grows Fine Lettuce Crop

H. A. Bost, Greenville tobaccoist who for several years has made agriculture a special hobby, has produced a crop of lettuce this year that would bring joy to the heart of a vegetarian.

He brought to the office of the Daily Reflector today a head of lettuce which measured about 15 inches across and tipped the scales at 13.4 pounds. It was the finest product probably ever produced in this immediate section and as growing vegetables is his avocation, naturally, Mr. Bost was highly elated over the enormous size of this special head.

The lettuce is of the Big Boston variety and was grown by Mr. Bost on a piece of land known as Cooper Field, on the outskirts of the city.

Seeing Through My Windshield. (By ETHEL NICE, H. D. A.) 4-H Camp. Pitt County 4-H girls will camp this year with Beaufort, Martin, Edgecombe and Northampton club members. This excursion will be held at Neuse Forest the week of July 5-19. There will be classes in handicraft, grooming, manners, first aid, recreation and swimming. Arrangements will be made for all to start from Greenville. Of course only 4-H members who have kept up this work are eligible. Application should be in this office by June 21. Letters have been mailed but in case any club member has been overlooked other copies will be sent. Ford lists also will be mailed to all who expect to attend.

Health Contest. The district health contest was held in Washington, N. C., last Tuesday. Miss Velma Cutler of Beaufort county, succeeded in winning first place. Girls were present from eleven counties. We are still proud of our champion.

New Club at Fountain. A new 4-H Club was organized at the home of Mrs. Yelverton in Fountain last Monday. The girls elected "Room Improvement" as their summer project and will meet every Monday from 3 to 7 p. m.

Cake Contest. The Royal Baking Powder Company has offered a scholarship of $100 to the girl in North Carolina who bakes the best plain cake. Several girls have entered this contest and the county elimination will be made June 21. The girl who wins in the county will enter the state contest which will be held during the 4-H short course.

Canning. Several hundred jars of canned goods have been put on the pantry shelves this summer. Five canning demonstrations have been held in the county. This will be continued through the months of June and July. The organized home demonstration clubs are being met first. Following their meetings each club will sponsor a canning demonstration in at least one unorganized community. All requests for canning demonstrations will be met in so far as it is possible.

Mr. J. R. Worsley of Greenville has equipped a cannery near the Rainbow pressing club and is canning products brought to his place. His offer to can for those who do not have a pressure cooker is a splendid one and many should avail themselves of this opportunity. Mrs. Mabel Randolph is in charge of the cannery and is carefully following state regulations.

Pressure Cookers. Pressure cookers are still being placed by the merchants of Greenville. They are buying the cookers and will be repaid this fall either in canned vegetables or cash. This is making it possible for the cookers to pay for themselves.

State Short Courses. The State 4-H Short Course will be held in Raleigh the week of July 25-30. The expense of this trip is $425 plus transportation. Club members who are fourteen years old by July 15 are eligible to attend. All girls will wear the club uniform which can be made for less than fifty cents and they are not allowed to take other dresses. This cuts down expense and makes a good group appearance. The boys wear white trousers, white skirt and black tie. Pitt county will be allowed 11 delegates. Let's have a full representation. When we know who is going a chorus will be trained. We have also been asked to give a fall dance as a part of the health pageant. If you can go send in your name immediately.

Farm and Home Convention. Farmers and their wives will meet for their annual short course the week of August 29. Several are already making plans for this week of study, recreation and inspiration. You are invited to join this group whether you are a club member or not.

GYPSY SMITH JR. CLOSES MEETING IN FARMVILLE WITH FAMOUS SERMON. Farmville, June 17.—With his farewell sermon based on his father's life under the subject, "From Gypsy Tent to Pulpit," Gypsy Smith Jr. held a congregation of a thousand men, women and children spellbound for an hour and a half Thursday evening, bringing to a close a series of meetings held under auspices of the Protestant Evangelistic churches here for the past sixteen days. The service lasted two hours, with more than two hundred people turned away during which time a love offering was presented to the evangelist. The new log filling station being divulged by Mr. Smith according to his usual custom, but which is supposed to be reasonably large. Gypsy Smith made his final appeal to non-Christians to accept Christ and to confessed followers to keep in the straight and narrow path with a text taken from the account of the Prodigal Son. He began his sermon with a statement of the prevalent idea of the Gypsy being a wild man of a race of fortune tellers and thieving marauders, which he declared was false, relating only to the refuse of the earth swept into America before her immigration laws became stringent enough to prevent it, consequently according to Mr. Smith Americans call every dirty tramp a Gypsy.

He stated that the origin of the Gypsy as a race cannot be traced but he believes that they are akin to the Jews, among other good reasons being "35 per cent of our people have Bible names though entirely ignorant of the Word of God, being unable to read it and being the only race that has never had an accredited missionary or teacher sent to it by evangelistic churches."

In reviewing their good points Mr. Smith stated, "Though my people have lived in England for hundreds of years there is yet to be found a murder case registered against them, no suicides, never a bank robbery, not an inmate of a poorhouse or orphanage and not a Gypsy girl roaming the streets of vice. These facts stand in the face of their being without a religion, schools or teachers."

Their undesirable characteristics he designated as the use of profanity, drunkenness, pilfering and fortune telling or lying. He then traced the lives of his grandfather and father to the conversions and told of his father's work under General Booth of the Salvation Army in London, beginning at the age of 17, of his preaching career on five continents, of his visit to America and concluded with a short sketch of his own life.

Farmville needed just the ringing message of abiding optimism that Gypsy Smith brought to it and he has doubtless rendered a positive and valuable service to the community. The old simplicities of faith, the grand truths of redemption and the doleful effects of sin, presented under new and familiar texts have apparently whipped the people into more than a languid interest in their soul's salvation.

Mr. Smith left Farmville today for Greensboro where he took a plane for San Antonio, his next series of meetings to be held in Texas.

To Have Day at Camp Leach. Farmville, June 17.—Thursday, June 23, is to be Woman's Auxiliary Day at Camp Leach, Episcopal assembly grounds near Washington, with a short program beginning at 11 o'clock including a message from Bishop Darst and the president, Mrs. Fred L. Outland of Washington.

The event will give the women of the diocese an opportunity to see the diocese functioning as senior camp was opened on Monday, June 13, in all of its various activities and to see and enjoy the comfort of its own Auxiliary Hostess House, one of the additions of this spring.

Literary Club Entertained. Farmville, June 17.—Mrs. W. M. Willis delightfully entertained the Farmville Literary Club Wednesday afternoon at her home on Wilson street, which was most attractive with its arrangement of summer flowers.

Mrs. J. W. Joyner, vice-president presided and appointed a book committee, composed of Mrs. G. A. Jones and Mrs. W. M. Willis and the club voted to assist two charity cases brought to its attention by Miss Tabitha DeVisconti, chairman of the welfare committee. One of the best programs enjoyed by the club during the year, and which was in charge of Mrs. G. S. Vought, was developed by her mother, Mrs. G. W. Bunn of Spring Hope, with a lecture on "Sidney Lanier, Poet and Musician;" a poem, "My Springs" by Lanier, read by Mrs. Vought and others set to music of favorite composers, "Into the Woods My Master Went" and "Love in May," were rendered as trios by Mrs. J. W. Joyner, Mrs. John Dwight Holmes and Mrs. J. L. Shackelford, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Vought.

A delightful frozen fruit salad with iced tea was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Annie Riggsby and Mrs. Paul E. Jones. Out of town guests included Mrs. E. Bruce Beasley, Mrs. George Jefferson, and Mrs. Boswell of Fountain and Mrs. G. W. Bunn of Spring Hope.

BIBLE SCHOOL TO HOLD COMMENCEMENT. Farmville, June 17.—The Daily Vacant Bible school being conducted at the Christian Church for children of the community during the past two weeks under the direction of Miss Ruth Spitzer with six assistant teachers, will hold its commencement exercises at the church on Sunday evening at 8:00.

New York Cotton

N. Y. Stock List

New York, June 18.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 6-7 lower under increased July liquidation and more favorable view of the weather. July sold down seven points to 5.08, July 5.10; October 5.32; December 5.49; January 5.56; March 5.71; May 5.86.

The demand for July was less active than recently but offerings were light and sufficiently well taken by trade buying or covering to hold the market fairly steady around the opening quotations. The weather map was in line with expectations, showing less rain in the eastern belt, and local map readers were looking for fair and warm weather over Sunday except for possibly scattered thunder-showers. Liverpool cables reported local and foreign liquidation in that market but said British home trade in cotton goods was improving. Cotton on shipboard at U. S. ports awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 86,000 bales against 67,000 last year.

Grain Market

Chicago, June 18.—(AP)—Wheat prices established new all-time bottom records today, showing a fall of 14 cents a bushel inside of a month, more than 20 per cent loss.

Low levels reached were in the face of one of the shortest crops of domestic winter wheat the United States has ever had. Opponents of the farm board said that wheat would be selling at $1 a bushel were it not that the United States Farm Board surplus has discouraged foreign buying.

Wheat closed nervous, 3-8 to 1 1-4 below yesterday's finish; corn 1-8 to 3-8 up... oats 1-8 to 1-4 advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10 cents.

Stock Market

New York, June 18.—(AP)—The stock market vacillated idly in today's week-end session.

The best that could be said for it was that yesterday's selling flurry appeared to have dried up. Maintenance of a good undertone in bonds and a better tone in wheat were evidently helpful to shares, but there was scant inclination to resume the advance.

The list sagged a little at the start, rallied coincident with improvement in wheat, eased off again toward the close, but stiffened in the last few minutes, evidently under the influence of short covering. The close was steady, and save for a few isolated soft spots, net changes were negligible. The turnover was only about 300,000 shares, making it one of the duller Saturday sessions in recent years.

Sears Roebuck broke 3 points in response to omission of its dividend, announced after the close yesterday. Lambert was also a soft spot, dropping 4 points, although tangible developments in the company were lacking. Auburn tumbled more than 6 points, then recovered partially.

Neither business or political news of character to influence the list developed at the close of the week. The decisive defeat of the bonus measure by the Senate had been anticipated, and brokerage quarters were still chiefly interested in when Congress would adjourn. Week-end reports from the steel industry indicated little change next week from the current low levels. There was some expectation that freight car loadings would show seasonal improvement usual in June.

The stiffening in the last few minutes carried a few shares up about a point net, notably American Telephone, American Tobacco B, Johns Manville, Consolidated Gas, Coca Cola, and Allied Chemical. Fractional net gains appeared in Union Pacific, American Can, North American, Public Service of N. J., and General Electric. U. S. Steel, Standard of N. J., and most of the rails held notably steady. The rails were helped by further reports of possible loans to the carriers to permit them to purchase bonds at present depressed prices for retirement, as a measure to reducing fixed charges.

May 30 and was addressed to Mrs.

J. K. Wise, 1713 Market street. It bore six two-cent stamps, was marked "special delivery" and "personal."

The text of the letter ran three typewritten pages. It said in part: "Read carefully—follow directions on next page and all will be well with you—fall to do absolutely what we say and it means you go on a long ride. Remember the Lindbergh baby—if he had not called in the police, he would have his baby today, but he thought he could trap them (here the word "us" was x-ed out and "them" typed below)—you know the result. "Remember every move you make is watched, the first treacherous move on your part and you seal your own doom. Any move to inform police or any source and we are through. Carry out our instructions, tote fair and we pledge you no harm will come to you or yours but fail and the book is closed so far as you are concerned. It may take a week or month or year, but it will be coming to you, but any attempt to trap us means death.

"Our plan was to get you but we do not want any blood on our hands nor trouble if we could help, so we decided to give you the chance of coming clean with us...."

The remainder of the note said

the addressee had been watched for weeks, that "our wires are tapped" and that "every move you make will be watched."

intention on his own part to bolt, but he adjured the Democrats to "submerge private feuds and nominate their wisest man."

He then turned over a list of

"Franklin and I are friends," he said. "His father and mother and my father and mother were friends. He is the governor of our state, and I prefer not to discuss him in this category."

Through the Republican meeting, there was never a poster to indicate that there was a fight for either of those major honors that are in the power of a party to give.

He added the Senate and House

confered had agreed on all other provisions of the $150,000,000 economy bill save that dealing with federal employees' salaries.

The report of the conferees was submitted to the House today. It proposed that the House insist upon a provision levying a 10 per cent pay cut on all salaries over $1,200. It is this proposal that will be acted upon Monday.

Republicans, at the urging of President Hoover and Representative Michener of Michigan, acting Republican leader, will advocate the furlough plan which calls for a month's vacation without pay. They expect enough Democratic votes to assure its adoption.

If the flat pay cut is rejected,

McDuffie and other House conferees plan to propose that the furlough plan be amended so as to apply an 8 1-3 per cent reduction to the salaries of all federal employees who can not be furloughed.

FOX CHECK IS USED IN PROBE

The witness testified the check was made out to himself for the purpose of "concealing from the clerical force the fact that Mr. Fox was dealing in this stock."

Gray asserted it was a means of concealing from the public as well as the clerical force the fact "that Mr. Fox was in a short pool in his own stock."

VIETNAM TO GO ON STAND

DAWES SEES BETTER TIMES

(Continued from Page One) business situation in the country. "It is the smaller business enterprises with low overhead expenses which seem to be showing improvement," Gen. Dawes said, "but in time the larger ones must necessarily follow. The recovery in the depression will start from the bottom up, not from the top down. That is what experience shows."

As Mr. and Mrs. Dawes stepped from a Washington train, he declined to discuss politics, brushed aside rumors that he would become chairman of the Chicago Civic Opera Company. But he was all ready for the depression question, and handed a typewritten statement to reporters.

FLIER PLANS NEW ATTEMPT

(Continued from Page One) for the British government to send a training ship to salvage his plane, which was abandoned at the spot where he was rescued. He said it would keep aloft for a week or more.

Mausner revealed that he flew

28 hours before he was forced down into the ocean.

"I was forced down at 7 o'clock

Saturday evening, June 4, after 28 hours of flying. My greatest suffering is the loss of my plane. "I hope to fly to Warsaw this year."

"I was not injured and have now recovered completely from my experiences during the week I was adrift on the ocean. I will send full details when I reach New Orleans."
