MEN OF GRAY HONOR DEAD

Fast Thinning Ranks of Confederacy take Stock of Dead At Richmond.

Richmond, Va., June 23.—(AP)—The fast thinning ranks of the veterans in gray, took stock of its fallen comrades today at solemn exercises at the mosque.

While the Roosevelt forces were taking command of the resolutions committee and endorsing the economic issues above prohibition of the campaign document, James A. Reed of Missouri and Governor William H. Murray came to town. Reed carries the 36 votes of Missouri. Murray has the 22 of Oklahoma and one from North Dakota.

Reed called for repeal of the 18th amendment and change of the Volstead act. Alfred E. Smith made a similar demand yesterday.

Murray said he did not know who would be nominated but it would be Roosevelt. Reed said he was interested in keeping himself in the picture and not in any other man. He indicated, however, he would support the nominee.

This was more than Smith did. The brown derby campaigner of four years ago said the question of supporting the nominee must be shelved.

James A. Farley, the Roosevelt campaign manager, predicted that in the other dispute before the party—the selection of permanent chairman—Senator Walsh of Montana would receive as heavy a vote as did Franklin D. Roosevelt on the first ballot. There had been some speculation whether some of the Roosevelt strength might not be diverted to J. P. Shouse for the post.

PREPARES FOR ANOTHER TRIP

Hausner Given Rousing Welcome to Miami Where He Will Plan New Flight.

Miami, Fla., June 23.—(AP)—Stanislaus Felix Hausner, Polish-American flier, today considered plans for a second trans-Atlantic hop as he recuperated on American soil from unsuccessful flight that ended in eight weary days of drifting aboard his disabled plane in the Atlantic ocean.

Hausner, rescued June 11 by the British freighter, Circe Shell, was brought here to a homecoming ceremony last night from the New Orleans bound vessel as it passed 22 miles off Miami.

As a feature of his welcome, the slight-statured flier was decorated by a representative of the Polish government with the country's gold cross of merit.

Hausner was reluctant to discuss details of his ill-fated attempt to fly from New York to Poland. Captain J. W. Wilson of the Circe Shell likewise was modest in describing his part in bringing Hausner aboard after his disabled plane was sighted about 600 miles off the coast of Portugal.

SIX CASES IN COUNTY COURT

Another Light Docket Disposed of in Regular Weekly Session Here.

An even half dozen cases were disposed of in county court here this week in another of the shortest sessions of the year.

The major part of the actions consisted mainly of violation of the prohibition and traffic laws and assault.

Willie Johnson, colored, charged with carrying a concealed weapon, drew the longest road sentence of the day. He was given six months and daily impressed with the danger of carrying a gun around with him, and especially when the law forbids such.

Charlie Stephenson, colored, was getting by without supporting his wife until he landed in court where he was sent out to the roads for four months.

Bunyon Tait, colored, was convicted of a charge of possessing liquor, and was fined $25 and cost of action.

J. G. Baker, white, charged with driving drunk, was taxed $50 and cost.

Judgment was suspended in the case of Tom Braswell, colored, appearing. (Continued on Page Six)

Roosevelt Forces Move Against Two Thirds Rule

Chicago, June 23.—(AP)—With Tammany taking its own time in deciding whom it will back for the Democratic presidential nomination the supporters of Franklin Roosevelt looked more and more favorably today upon an effort to kick the ancient and revered two-thirds rule right out of the coming convention.

With or without New York's potent 9 votes, the Roosevelt camp claims a majority of the delegates. But whether it could hold this strength in a battle—and a rousing fight it would be—to lay the old rule aside was a question that aroused much speculation.

day spurred the Roosevelt forces to a peak of activity. James A. Farley manager of Roosevelt's campaign set aside the first few hours of a busy day for a talk with John F. Curry, Tammany lord, who had just arrived to take a position smilingly at the center of the pre-convention whirl.

The situation was much to Tammany's liking. As the jig saw puzzle of convention voting was fitted together, New York's 94 ballots made up the key piece. With them Roosevelt might reasonably hope to gather behind him the two-thirds vote necessary in past conventions to nominate a candidate. But if they should go elsewhere, the anti-Roosevelt leaders were confident they could defeat the New York executive.

Previously the veterans at their morning convention had listened to old time tunes played by old time fiddlers. There were a few committee reports and several musical selections.

At the Jefferson hotel, the Confederate Association listened to committee reports and reports of national officers and state presidents while at the same hotel, the Sons were listening to the report of the executive committee.

Seek Military Alliance In France And Germany

By MELVIN K. WHITELEATHER (Copyright, 1932, Associated Press) Lausanne, Switzerland, June 23.—(AP)—Chancellor Franz Von Papen of Germany today proposed privately a military alliance between France and Germany as a means of meeting France's demand for security before disarmament.

Such an alliance, which would represent the lion and lamb lying down together in the field of European military affairs, would, he said, be the best way of solving the problems which face the disarmament conference as a result of the French fear of invasion and their security plea.

Speaking English, with a pronounced American accent—he was a German agent in the United States in the early years of the World War—the greying chancellor added that he was unable to understand the French security pleas, but that he intended to do everything in his power to foster collaboration between the two countries.

It was he who prepared the memorandum of economic collaboration which was presented yesterday to Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain by Baron Von Neurath, German foreign minister. The memorandum proposed a five-year consultative economic pact.

It summarized the reasons why Germany insists she can make no more reparations payments and suggested that all the countries at the conference here agree for five years to take no steps likely to harm the trade of others without consulting all the other signatories to the pact.

This is the first woman to speak here during the present political campaign and all the feminine element has been given a cordial invitation to be on hand to give Mrs. Cotten a welcome and listen to what she has to say in the spectacular battle for senatorial honors.

The widely read Petit Parisien of Paris said if it had been submitted last February "together with the French constructive plan, it would have elicited only applause, but today it appears as a piece of extreme demagoguery and an electoral maneuver."

President Hoover might be forgiven for addressing "an electoral manifesto to Europe." Le Matin of Paris said, "but he can hardly be forgiven for forgetting that an international conference is held to confer, and not as a registry for votes."

The widely known political writer Fernand, in the Nationalist Echo De Paris, said:

"President Hoover seeks to impress the multitude by the simplest measure which the simplest can understand."

L'oeuvre, organ of the Left at Paris said since no revision of the debts was mentioned "we are asked to make positive concessions in exchange for hypothetical advantages."

German newspapers, however, lauded the proposal as courageous and hailed it as the most significant international step since the declaration of the one-year moratorium on reparations and debt payments last summer.

The proposals created a sensation in the British press. The general attitude among the cabinet ministers remaining in London was that "anyhow, things are moving."

Lions Gather At Greensboro Greensboro, June 23.—(AP)—Two hundred and fifty delegates were expected here today to attend the annual meeting of the Lions International Clubs of North Carolina.

Past International President Ben A. Ruffin of Richmond; second International Vice-president Hodder, of Beaufort; and Lyles Ormsbee of Charlotte, were on the program of the two-day convention.

First Barn Of Tobacco Cured In Clay Root

The first barn of tobacco cured in this county was reported today from the farm of E. O. Smith, of the Clay Root section.

Mr. Smith housed his tobacco last Friday and completed curing the single barn Wednesday. He brought a sample of the leaf to the office of the Reflector today and it showed up particularly fine considering the fact that it was of the first curing.

Mr. Smith said the Clay Root section had one of the finest crops in four or five years both from the standpoint of quality and yield. This section was not as hard hit by the Blue Mold as other parts of the county and state and this was held responsible for the splendid yield.

ABOUT TOWN

Dr. J. M. Parrott, state health officer, has just issued a statement saying, "There have been two and a half times as many cases of typhoid fever in North Carolina during the first five months of 1932 as during the corresponding period in 1931. It is coming like a thief in the night unexpectedly and without warning. In fact typhoid fever is increasing so rapidly and in such widely distributed sections that the State Health Department is deeply concerned over the matter."

"This concern becomes all the more great," continues Dr. Parrott "because the funds of the State Department are very limited and the problem of tracing out and finding each case is more than ordinarily a local one. I earnestly and firmly advise all people to be vaccinated and consult their doctors and local health services concerning the proper sanitation of their water, milk, and food supplies. This is the first step in finding the answer to the question 'How many people shall we allow to die from typhoid fever?'"

Dr. Parrott goes on to say, "I am definitely of the opinion that typhoid fever has not assumed anything that approximates the proportions of an epidemic but I do feel that the situation is fraught with real danger, and that we must not fail to keep up our high standard of sanitation throughout the state. In 1930 the death rate from typhoid in five of our cities which have a standard milk ordinance and well regulated water supply, and in which there is a reasonable amount of vaccination against typhoid was 2.7, and that too in the face of the fact that those cities are medical centers to which typhoid cases gravitate and which receive the 'credit' for the death. During the same year, 1930, the death rate from typhoid in five rural counties which do not have standard milk ordinances and well regulated water supplies, and in which vaccination has not been as thorough as it ought, the death rate was 12.7."

Concluding the state health officer states, "Typhoid fever is a disease which can easily be prevented by a simple procedure—immunization. I take this occasion to urge our public officials to remember that while sickness is always a serious matter, it is a real calamity during this depression and that it is always much more important to have a low death rate than a low tax rate."

Pointing out that over 60 per cent of drownings occur in the four months from May to August and that nearly half of these fatalities are among men and boys under 25 years of age, many of whom are considered expert swimmers, Dr. Ernest H. Hines, chief medical director, New York Life Insurance Company, today cautioned good swimmers against taking risks which may result in their death.

Said Dr. Hines: "Contrary to popular belief, a large percentage of drowning cases occur among persons who are considered good swimmers. The reason for this is that these persons, self-confident and at home in the water, take foolhardy chances, overestimate their strength, and disregard ordinary rules of common sense and safety."

Dr. Hines suggested the following safety rules as particularly applicable to good swimmers: Do not go swimming alone or at night. Don't overestimate your strength. Because you have been able to swim a certain distance several times that day, does not mean that you will be able to do it again. Never swim across a lake or river from headland to island, etc., or in unknown or dangerous waters, unless accompanied by a boat and a strong level headed companion trained in life saving. A sudden channel of icy water, fatigue, under tows, cross currents or treacherous tides, may carry you to your death.

Gambler's Throw

By EUSTACE L. ADAMS

SYNOPSIS: Nancy Wentworth finds that Limpy Ashwood, leader of the gang holding her and five men for ransom, on an island, intends to marry her. Lucci, one of the prisoners, plans to escape and take her with him. Jerry Calhoun, Emory Battles and Stevens have been captured trying to arrest Ashwood.

Chapter 22 A DEATH SHRIEK

"Listen, girls," Lucci went on in a rush of words which tumbled from his lips in a torrent that she was too weary to dam, "I seen lots of women in my day, but I never give a thought to marrying one of them. You're different. There is something—there's a lot about you I ain't wise to, but I do know that you're my woman and I'm here to say that I'll bump off every guy who don't believe it. This Limpy got a good head on him and he has bossed a swell racket, but he ain't no better than the next guy when he's looking into the hot end of a gat, see?"

Nancy felt as though her heart were in a steel vise, the screws of which were being relentlessly turned by unseen devils. She wondered, vaguely, if it would not ease the difficulties here on the island were she to throw herself into the placid, silvery Gulf and sink quietly into its cool, shimmering depths. But her weary soul rejected the thought of suicide impatiently. Weary she was, but too healthy of mind and body.

But Lucci was standing by her, waiting confidently for her answer. She must find a way to refuse him which would not turn him berserk. She must choose words which would prevent murder this night. Although she knew that she, herself, might kill Ashwood were he not to carry out his threat, she could not bear the thought of this gangster murdering her forthwith.

"Mr. Lucci," she faltered, at last, "I know that you have paid me a very great honor. But before I answer you, I want you to promise me that you will not kill Ashwood."

"Why?" His voice was restrained, but vibrant with jealousy. "Do you love him?" "Stevens, no!" She laughed shortly. "But I am so sure that he will not carry me away that there is no need of bloodshed."

"He bumped off my two torpedoes in Chi. I'd have bumped him off before long, anyway," he reminded her. "Perhaps, I'm in no mood to argue the ethics of gang warfare. But I do not want him killed. Do you agree?"

"I'll go part of the way with you," he said, after a brief pause. "I'll agree not to smoke him off while we're on this island if he doesn't go after me first or if he doesn't get in my way while I'm trying to lam. Is that an even break?"

"I suppose so," she agreed wearily. "Now as to the rest, I'm going to tell you just what I told Ashwood a few moments ago. I don't love you and won't marry you. If you take me away, I'll kill myself at the very first opportunity."

door slammed. The girl covered her face with her hands and wept. Jerry, every muscle rigid, leaped out of bed. The inhuman scream that had waked him was dying out in a ghastly bubbling wail whose overtones echoed and reechoed through the darkened house. For an instant there was utter silence, more horrible than the grisly sound which had preceded it.

He reached his door in the space of a dozen heartbeats. The corridor reverberated with the sound of turning knobs and opening doors. There was the slapping shuffle of bare feet, the noisy stamp of heavy shoes. That night light which usually glowed at the end of the hall had been extinguished, the faint gleam of an approaching flashlight gave everything an eerie appearance.

"Stand still!" A cold, concise voice snapped through the hall. "I shoot at the first footfall!" The shuffling of bare feet ceased abruptly. A heavy silence fell again, relieved only by the sound of heavy breathing and the rapid tread of heavy boots approaching from the direction of the living room.

"Is that you, Mueller?" It was Ashwood's voice, crisp and metallic. "Yes, sir." "Hurry and bring me that flashlight."

The white beam progressed thru the hall until, at last, it became stationary. "Thank. Now see what's the matter with that night light. The rest of you, please, stand right where you are. Turn around to face me."

The dazzling finger of light, pointing down the hall, suddenly illuminated the short, overstout figure of the detective, fully clothed, but in his stocking feet. Stevens blinked in the glare of the light but his face was mild and inquiring. The searchlight swivelled to the man standing next to him. It was Emory, in trousers and singlet, his eyes glittering, his mouth firm and fearless. The light lingered but an instant, then darted to Hamilton, half-dressed, dishevelled, his face a study in fright and bewilderment.

Jerry's turn came next. His dark eyebrows were set in a scowl, but his lips were set in a half-smile, as was their custom in moments of stress. His little body leaned slightly forward as though ready to leap into instant action. The searchlight swung to Mallory, leaning against the wall. The night light flickered on as the man Muller screwed the bulb into its socket. The others stood revealed in the pitiless glare of the electricity. Lucci, standing in the middle of the hall, his hot black eyes darting from one to the other. His coarse black hair ruffled from contact with the pillow, his cheeks covered with a black stubble of beard, his full red lips compressed in a thin red slit, he looked what he was, a dangerous man. Martin, beyond him, pale and frightened, in flowery pajamas, staring at Ashwood with distended eyes. Nancy, bewitching in the soft rose negligee so thoughtfully provided by her host, without self-consciousness of that, had obviously shaken by the ghastly noise which had awakened her.

"Thanks, Miss Wentworth. You may go back to bed." The cripple, in Japanese kimono and hempen sandals, stood just beyond Nancy's right hand, he was ready for instant action. "Mueller," he snapped, "watch these men and don't let them move until I return."

ed me." Jerry shuddered a little as he followed the detective to the door. He could still hear the death shriek which had echoed through the dark, still hall. Ashwood, who had already entered the room, switched on the lights and stood just inside on the threshold, a set expression on his lined face, gazing steadfastly at the bed. Stevens and Jerry looked over his shoulder. The latter, inured to the sight of death during many months at the front, gasped as he met the impact of the glaring, staring eyes of the murdered man.

The body was sprawled across the bed, its head, arms and shoulders, hanging down over the side. A great crimson smear on the white sheet led from the pillow to the edge and downward to the floor, where, beneath the drooping head, was a glistening scarlet puddle. Williams' throat had been cut from ear to ear.

Stevens stepped into the room, approaching the bed in a wide circle lest he destroy telltale footprints in the fibre matting which covered the floor. "Poor devil," he muttered. "Throat slashed while he slept. Waked him up. Tried to get off bed. Never had a chance to defend himself."

Ashwood advanced, his bright eyes darting about the orderly room. Only the bed had been disturbed. Williams' clothes still hung over the back of a straight chair. His diamond tie pin and heavy gold watch lay on the dresser. "Here, Steve," called the cripple. "Here's the knife that did it." (Copyright, Dial Press)

Cost Her $4.25 To Reduce 65 Pounds "Worth It," Miss Bate Says. If you're young and fat read what Miss Bates of Beech, Iowa, has to say about Kruschen Salts—If you are middle age or old Kruschen shows you the way to lose fat the SAFE way. "I took one bottle of Kruschen Salts a month for five months. It amounted to $4.25 and I reduced 65 pounds, but it was worth it. Imagine just 22 years old and weighing what I did. I could not enjoy myself as other girls did. I could not get the clothes I wanted. I think it is wonderful the results Kruschen Salts give."

To lose fat the safe, sane way—take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—eat less fatty meats, potatoes and sweets—a jar that costs but a small sum lasts 4 weeks. Get it at any drugstore in the world—but be sure for your health's sake to ask for and get Kruschen Salts. It's the little daily dose that does it.

"Fifty million smokers can't be wrong!" "It's toasted" Young Protection—against irritation—against cough

At the first opportunity learn how to rescue drowning persons without unduly endangering your own life and learn how to administer artificial respiration. Do not attempt to swim to a drowning person's rescue in rough or deep water unless no other help is immediately at hand and you are confident you are capable of effecting a rescue without sacrificing the drowning person's, as well as your own, life. It is possible before starting to a rescue, call to someone to get a rope, or a boat. If you are dressed remove shoes, coat and trousers—an extra second or two removing clothing is time well spent. Don't swim for at least two hours after eating, and never swim beyond your depth in very cold water. Severe indigestion or muscle cramps may result. Never drink any cold beverages immediately before going swimming. Skydiving in a boat is dangerous. Learn how to enter and leave boats and canoes and how to manage them properly. Beware of sudden squalls and storms, strong winds and a choppy sea. Don't duck or "tease" your friends who are not as good swimmers as yourself. This may create a panic mind which in an emergency may result in their death.

CAPS SPLIT DOUBLE BILL WITH 'BEES'

Charlotte, June 23.—(AP)—Only half a game ahead of the Asheville Tourists in the race for the Piedmont League pennant, the Raleigh Caps stayed in their park today to entertain the third place Charlotte Hornets in the third game of their series.

After they lost the afternoon game to the Bees in the Raleigh park yesterday, the Caps lost by forfeiture last night when a fan knocked Umpire Frank Connolly down as he was talking to Odie Strain, Cap manager, in an attempt to have bottle throwing from the bleachers stopped.

The Asheville Tourists also had a little advantage today in that they were playing on their own diamond, meeting the Twins who used to be considered perennial league leaders.

Kola Sharpe of the Tourists, registered his 11th mound victory of the season when he beat the Twins in the afternoon contest, although Harry Wilkes' boys knocked him for an even dozen safeties.

The Tourists' new posttlin, however, was a perilous one since the Charlotte Bees were only a half game behind them, and therefore only one game behind the top notchers.

Greensboro, playing again at Wilmington today, had a chance to climb, unless the Twins could break their streak of bad luck.

The Bulls, Durham's clear sitting baseball team, played a poor game and lost to the High Point Pointers 10-2.

The furor in Raleigh resulted from Umpire Dick Hohlitzel's decision on a ball knocked over the fence by Charlotte's third baseman, Culbreth, in the first game.

Between games, the crowds surged about the umpires' dressing rooms, and when the second game started, bleachers continued to throw bottles at Hohlitzel.

Urges Repeal

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., lifelong and staunch advocate of temperance, branded the eighteenth amendment a failure and urged that it be repealed.

FOXX MAKES BIG BID FOR BAT HONORS

Associated Press Sports Writer Jimmie Foxx, who a year or two ago, wouldn't have been mentioned in the same breath with the great Babe Ruth as a distance hitter, threatens now to surpass anything Ruth ever has done in the matter of fashioning homers.

With 28 four-masters to his credit at this time, there seems good reason to believe the Athletics' star slugger will pass the Babe's record of 60 in 1927.

The Babe who was hitting only 312 today, is seven homers behind Foxx.

Jimmie has not let his duel with the Babe interfere with other chores. He has found time to hit a sound 381 and to lead the American league in three other departments of batting.

Victor Frasier, White Sox right hander, was Foxx's 23th victim yesterday. It was not a game-winner, however, as Frasier went right on to beat three Philadelphia hurlers, 9 to 4.

Boston, bounced into second place in the American league by making it three straight over Boston, 6 to 5, as the A's and Washington both lost to western rivals.

A ten-run rally in the sixth inning, when Danny MacFayden and Walt Brown were pummeled very freely, gave the St. Louis Browns a 17 to 10 decision over the Yankees.

In an effort to get his New York Giants back on the right track, Bill Terry socked a homerun, a double and two singles to help beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 9 to 1.

Although Hack Wilson punched two homers, his 12th and 13th of the season, Brooklyn dropped its final to Pittsburgh, 7 to 6.

Cincinnati made it three out of four over the Boston Braves, 14 to 8. Bobby Brown, who started, and two other Boston flingers were pounded for 17 hits, four by Harvey Hendrick.

Flint Rhem pitched the Phillies to an 11 to 2 triumph over the league leading Chicago Cubs. It was Rhem's fourth straight success for the Phillies.

Cincinnati made it three out of four over the Boston Braves, 14 to 8. Bobby Brown, who started, and two other Boston flingers were pounded for 17 hits, four by Harvey Hendrick.

Although Hack Wilson punched two homers, his 12th and 13th of the season, Brooklyn dropped its final to Pittsburgh, 7 to 6.

Mrs. Lyman Cotten of Salisbury Will Speak at the Court House, Greenville, N. C. Friday Night June 24 at 8 o'clock

In the interest of Sen. Cameron Morrison Candidacy for re-election to the UNITED STATES SENATE

Mrs. Cotten is well-known to the people of Pitt county and you are invited and urged to hear her Friday night.

ANNOUNCEMENT! I hereby announce my candidacy for membership in the House of Representatives from Pitt County, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary to be held July 2nd.

I believe the first and most important function of Democratic Government is the education of its youth. The state should pay the entire expense of the six month's school term WITHOUT ANY TAX ON LAND.

I am opposed to spending more for any kind of Governmental service than the people are able to pay and then issuing bonds to pay deficits, as we have sometimes done in the past.

There should be no bond issue without a vote of the people, except for refunding bonds already outstanding. I favor re-valuation of land and all real estate at its true value.

I stand for strict, though sound economy in all departments of our Government. Your vote and support will be greatly appreciated.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

New York Cotton

New York, June 23.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 1-3 higher on steady Liverpool cables which however, were partly offset by favorable weather and July liquidation.

July 5.18; October 5.43; December 5.58; January 5.66; March 5.82; May 5.97.

Except for July liquidation which was absorbed by continued trade buying offerings were comparatively light. Active months worked about 3 to 4 points net higher after the call with July advancing to 5.21 and December to 5.61. The market at the end of the first half hour was quiet and steady at net advances of 3 or 4 points. Houses with continental and Liverpool connections were said to be among the early buyers. Liverpool cables attributed the relative steadiness there to covering and Bombay buying with a cessation of pressure and reported a fair cloth inquiry from India.

Grain Market

Chicago, June 23.—(AP)—Uneasiness over signs of a heat wave northwest pointing to increased danger of black rust damage gave an undertone of strength to wheat values today.

Rains delaying harvest in the Texas Panhandle were also a bullish influence. On the other hand, wheat export business at the seaboard was distinctly disappointing.

Stock Market

New York, June 23.—(AP)—The stock market found it somewhat easier to advance than to decline today, but there was little interest in either side of the market.

Further selling in American Can in the morning wiped out early gains and unsettled the list for a time, but shares again turned upward after midday. Tobacco and miscellaneous specialties led the movement. Trading remained in extremely light volume.

National Distillers Products and Crown Cork and Seal were bid up a point or more, presumably in anticipation of a repeal plank in the Democratic platform. Similar gains appeared in American Tobacco B, Liggett and Myers B, Case, Allied Chemical, McKesson Public Service of N. J. and B. M. T. Substantial fractional advances were made by such issues as American Telephone, General Foods, Borden, Consolidated Gas, American Water Works and U. S. Steel. In the morning setback, American Can lost 13-34 to register a new low at 221-4, and a number of preferred issues were lower.

Uncertainty over dividend action next week on American Can, Allied Chemical and Santa Fe, made traders cautious. Brokerage comment reflected a confusing mixture of sentiment.

Sears Roebuck's sales for the 4 weeks ended June 18 made a little more favorable comparison with last year than the average of its 4-week reports so far this year. For the latest period, sales were up 18.8 per cent, against 20.8 per cent for the entire period since the first of the year. The May railway reports continued to reflect the unsatisfactory conditions with which the carriers are laboring. The Frisco reported net operating income of $237,505 as against $1,026,097 in the like period of last year. After charges there was a deficit for May of $892,919. Payment of interest due July 1, however, has been assured.

RELIEF ACTION AGAIN STALLED

(Continued from Page One) topic. A final vote appeared in sight. Then, as new amendments were brought up, weary senators accused their leaders of bad faith in making the limitation agreement and within twenty minutes they forced a recess until noon.

At that time, the limited debate agreement, holding an early conclusion of the struggle was in prospect. But so greatly had this break delayed starting the conference which House and Senate must hold on the bill, the date for final adjournment was tentatively moved to a week from Saturday.

The House, with nothing to do, did not even meet today, recessing until Friday.

When the $2,000,000,000 relief bill was passed, Senate leaders intended to call up for final disposal the conference report of the national economy bill, with the modified House version of the furjough plan requiring approval before the bill could go to the White House.

The extraordinarily long Senate session yesterday and last night was productive of considerable result. Despite a half-threat of a Presidential veto for the entire relief bill, the Senate insisted on keeping in issue $500,000,000 public works bond issue plan demanded by its Democratic authors. It rejected, 36 to 12, Senator La Follette's (R. Wis.) plan to increase this bond issue to five and a half billions. It rejected an amendment which would have permitted loans directly to cities, such as Chicago, to make possible payment of its school-teachers, police and firemen.

Her complaint, she said, was that Hayden Stone and Company sold her Atlantic Gulf and West Indies stock in 1920 with assurance that it was a good investment and that

New G.O.P. Chairman

Following the Chicago convention the republican machine was reorganized quickly for the 1932 campaign with Everett Sanders of Indiana as the new chairman of the national committee.

The aviatrix was arrested last night and lodged in the county jail after her failure to post $1,000 bond. She denied the charge emphatically.

"If the authorities will check up in Washington," she said, "they will find my entry into the United States four years ago this month, was entirely legal and that I have every right to be here." She added she would not attempt to make bail until her attorney, now out of the city, returns.

TIDAL WAVE KILLS SCORE ON WEST COAST OF MEXICO

Governor Salvador Saucedo of the State of Colima left today for Cuayutlan, where the wave struck hardest, to take charge of the situation. Before he left he called Mexico City to appeal for public aid.

He said the death toll at Cuayutlan, a resort town, now had passed forty with additional missing and more than 100 injured. The wave was preceded by sharp earthquake shocks.

Two relief trains left here for Cuayutlan. The first train evacuated 1,400 persons from the town.

The governor reported the tidal wave swept inland for more than a mile over an 18-mile front, leveling everything in its path.

Federal soldiers were searching for additional victims, and burning thousands of dead fish left on the beach when the waves receded. Danger of disease made necessary temporary evacuation of the inhabitants.

Two minor earthquakes preceded the heavy timber which ushered in the wave and aroused the inhabitants, many of whom fled to the beach for safety. There the tidal wave trapped them, sweeping many inland to death or outward into the sea.

MAKE EFFORT TO SIDETRACK BORAH HATTACK

(Continued from Page One) only argued strenuously the points made by the Idaho senator against the resubmission plank, but expressed regret that Borah was unwilling to continue giving "his thought and ability toward a constructive, forward looking program."

In political circles here there was a feeling the Republican high command not only is determined to counteract any influence Borah's denunciation may have had, but would even like to find a way of enlisting his impressive campaigning talents for the President.

Borah is believed by some to have left himself a way open to support Mr. Hoover, despite his declaration before the Senate that he would not aid the Republican nominee if he runs on the party platform.

LINDBERGH TO TESTIFY FIRMS CURTIS CASE

(Continued from Page One) Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck Jr., said he would call Col. Lindbergh to the stand immediately after the jury is empaneled. He expected the jury to be complete at noon of the opening day.

Among about nine other witnesses, Hauck said, will be police officers who made futile investigations on the strength of information supplied by Curtis. He also planned to introduce portions of Curtis' statement and alleged confession into evidence. The confession has been repudiated by Curtis.

Hauck said the state would be unable to complete its case in one day, but he expected the jury to be ready for deliberation by the end of the week.

Curtis claimed during the search for the Lindbergh baby, that he was in touch with kidnapers. To this end he made several trips by boat in company with Col. Lindbergh. The police said that he confessed, after the baby's body was found near the Lindbergh home, that he had never been in communication with the kidnapers.

With repudiation of the alleged confession, Curtis indicated that he would contend in the trial that the kidnapers actually made overtures to him and that he acted in good faith.

PREPARE FOR SECOND FIGHT

(Continued from Page One) fering from the hardships of his eight days of drifting with little food or water. He spoke haltingly to the audience that attended his reception at a theatre here, emphatically stating he intended to make another attempt at an ocean crossing. He said he did not know where or when he would get another plane.

Mrs. Hausner, who came here yesterday by airplane from her Newark, N. J. home to meet her husband, was radiant at their reunion.

"If he wants to make another ocean flight, he may," she said, "but I shall not encourage it."
