MILL STRIKERS REFUSE SETTLEMENT AT HIGH POINT

Five Point Relief Plan Outlined For Nation By The Federation of Labor

DRIVE ON FOR 5-DAY WEEK

William Green, Federation President, Also Announces A Movement for Six Hour Day and Unemployment Relief; Recommended That Relief Agencies in All Cities be Strengthened.

A five-point relief plan, drawn up by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, was before the nation's leaders today as William Green, Federation president, began a drive for a five-day week and six-hour day and unemployment insurance.

The council, before adjourning after a two-weeks' session yesterday, issued a formal statement outlining its relief program and directed Mr. Green to prepare an unemployment insurance plan.

The council recommended: (1) That relief agencies in all cities be strengthened and supplied with funds adequate to meet the situation. Drives should be made locally in an effort to secure relief funds.

(2) The municipal governments should exercise all power at their command to raise funds to appropriate city funds for the relief of the unemployed.

(3) State government should also draw upon the resources of the state and through their taxing and borrowing power supplement the work on local relief agencies and city governments.

(4) The Federal Government must do its part. While the relief bill passed by Congress will serve to help in a very large way, the executive council is of the opinion it does not represent the full service which the Federal Government must render in the trying situation which all families with the facts know must arise when cold weather comes.

(5) The call of the hour is for co-operation and assistance on the part of all groups and all individual citizens. The executive council directs organized labor to co-operate with all organizations.

GLORIFIER DEAD

ZIEGFELD DIES IN HOLLYWOOD

"Glorifier of American Girls" Succumbs to Heart Attack in California.

Hollywood, July 23.—(AP)—Florenz Ziegfeld, "the glorifier of the American girl," has come to a sudden death when thought recovering from a lung congestion.

The originator of the Ziegfeld Follies died of a heart attack at 10:31 p. m. last night in a hospital while his wife, Billie Burke, was rushing from a motion picture studio where she was working. She arrived at his bedside, still in make-up, two minutes after his death.

Patricia Ziegfeld, daughter of the 64-year-old producer and his actress wife, was at the palatial home in Santa Monica which Ziegfeld had leased for his Southern California visit. She reached the hospital soon after her mother.

The lung congestion resulted from an attack of pneumonia suffered nearly a year ago. Ziegfeld was brought to the hospital last Sunday from a New Mexico sanitarium where he had been confined for several days. He was reported on the verge of a nervous breakdown after a strenuous season with his Follies in New York. When he entered the hospital his physicians described his condition as "serious but not critical."

"Mr. Ziegfeld had seemed to be (Continued on Page Six)

SHOWERS ARE ON TAP TODAY

Light Rainfall Carries Relief to Several Sections of North Carolina Yesterday.

(By The Associated Press) Showers, which brought some relief to heat-scorched North Carolinians yesterday, were again in prospect for today on the basis of the U. S. Weather report.

A light rainfall was welcomed in Charlotte after the temperature had touched the 100 degree mark early in the afternoon. Greensboro enjoyed an eight degree drop of the mercury from 99.5 after a shower.

Fayetteville set the pace for the State with an official temperature of 105.5, but New Bern was not far behind, having a maximum of 104 and breaking a 25-year record.

Raleigh reported the official records showed that the last three days, with two readings of 100 and another of 102, were unequalled in the 45-year history of the Weather Bureau.

PRISON HEADS EXONERATED

Florida Board Frees Men Held in Connection with Death of Two Convicts.

Raiders, Fla., July 23.—(AP)—The Board of Commissioners of State Institutions composed of the governor and cabinet members, has exonerated completely Florida state prison officials in the questioned deaths of two convicts.

After an exhaustive inquiry, during which some 80 convicts were examined separately, the board held prison camp officers blameless in the killing of Harold Bradley, a convict from Pennsylvania, and cleared state farm authorities from suspicion in the death of Frank Powell of Miami.

Further, the commissioners decided to disregard a Duval county Jacksonville grand jury presentment recommending dismissal of a convict camp captain for alleged cruel and inhuman treatment to prisoners and voted to keep him in his present position.

The case of Arthur Mallefert, young New Jersey prisoner who was found strangled to death in a road camp sweat box with a heavy chain about his neck and his feet in wooden stocks was not considered at the investigation.

That, the board said, was a matter for the state courts to decide. Two submarine camp officers, Captain George Courson and Guard Solomon Hixenbotham are at liberty under $5,000 bail each awaiting trial on first degree murder indictments in Mallefert's death. Nathan Mayo, commissioner of agriculture and in charge of the state prison department, is going to push the inquiry next week as to the shooting of two convicts in an attempt to escape from a road camp near Kenansville.

In the Bradley case the board accepted a grand jury finding that the convict's death was "justifiable homicide." He was shot by a guard when he tried to escape.

Powell died at the prison hospital here shortly after being stricken in the wash room of the shoe factory where he worked. His death was officially pronounced due to "acute dilatation of the heart" and convicts testified he was administered (Continued on Page Six)

SLIGHT BREAK IN HEAT WAVE

Cooling Breezes bring Respite from Blistering Weather in Pitt County.

Cooling breezes swept mercifully over this immediate part of the State today bringing temporary relief from the terrific heat wave which yesterday shattered local weather bureau records.

Readings at the Government Bureau here this morning at 11 o'clock gave the temperature as 94 compared with 99 for the same period yesterday and 103 yesterday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock.

The blistering heat was interrupted by clouds which swept over the community late yesterday afternoon and last night. Although rain was reported in other sections of the State, only one or two communities in this county experienced precipitation.

While fair weather was predicted for today and tomorrow, temperatures are expected to be milder than Friday when heat records were blasted in several parts of the State. The mercury was expected to be lower in the northern and western parts of the State and this area probably will be affected.

The 103 degree temperature reported by T. B. Clark local government weather observer yesterday afternoon, was not only the hottest of (Continued on Page Six)

Major Points of Hoover Aid Program Approved

Washington, July 23.—(AP)—With $125,000,000 home loan bill just put on the law books, President Hoover today could find that most major points in his economic program were granted by a Congress which may approve others next winter.

Democrats who controlled the House often found fault with his suggestions, but finally accepted many of them with the reserved explanations that the country's condition demanded harmonious action whenever possible.

Mr. Hoover's signature on the home loan bill provided another cue in the machine recommended last December. He found an objectionable feature in this measure through the Glass currency expansion rider.

In a statement, the President said he did not think that rider "is such as would warrant refusal to approve the measure which means so much to hundreds of thousands of home owners, is such a contribution to their relief; such a con- (Continued on Page Six)

HEAT ABATES ON SEABOARD

Rains in the East Send Temperatures Down to Eighties; Many Fatalities.

(By The Associated Press) Near-normal July weather was resumed today on a large scale, but fatalities continued undiminished.

Rains concluded their eastward lurch last night, bathing most of the seaboard and lowering temperatures to the eighties.

Thermometers in Minnesota, the Dakotas, Nebraska, and Kansas, only recently subsided, began to rise again, but week-end prospects generally were for fair, warm weather typical of current calendars.

SECRET TRIP IN DEATH PROBE

Sheriff Scott is Silent Regarding Visit To Roanoke in Reynolds Inquiry.

Winston-Salem, N. C., July 23.—(AP)—The Twin-City Sentinel says today that the office of Solicitor Carlisle Higgins is definitely behind an investigation into the fatal shooting two weeks ago of Smith Reynolds, heir to the tobacco millions, and husband of L'by Holman, New York theatrical star.

Higgins recently issued a statement that his office is not participating in an investigation since under the North Carolina law the burden of the case would fall on Sheriff Transon Scott.

Despite this, the Sentinel says it learns that R. Eric McMichael, chief aide to Higgins, is daily advising with Sheriff Scott as he pushes his search for clues that may reveal how and why the young millionaire was shot.

Winston-Salem, N. C., July 23.—(AP)—Sheriff Transon Scott kept silent today on his trip to Roanoke, Va., yesterday, reported to have been in pursuit of his investigation into the fatal shooting July 6 of Smith Reynolds, heir to a tobacco fortune.

PICNIC HELD FOR THE POOR

Four Hundred Mothers and Children Enjoy Outing Given by Salvation Army.

Yesterday was a red letter day for the poor people of Greenville. The occasion was the annual town picnic given under auspices of the Salvation Army, assisted by the various church organizations of the city.

The picnic was held at Westbrook swimming pool and over four hundred mothers and their children were treated to beautiful spreads of food in addition to three hours of swimming and a picture program at State Theatre.

Co-operating in the movement to make the picnic the greatest affair of the kind ever conducted here were Mayor R. C. Flanagan, Chief of Police George Clark and heads of church organizations.

The outing was conducted under direction of Miss and Mrs. Jesses Willett, who today were loud in their praise of the splendid spirit of co-operation exhibited on all sides.

Ensign Willett stated this morning that he had never seen a group of people have such a thoroughly good time, and expressed his appreciation of the co-operation shown him by officials and organization heads.

WALKOUT AT MOUNT AIRY

Three Hundred Employees of Mantle and Table Company Leave Mills demanding "Living Wages in Exchange for Services"; Meeting Expected to Bring Out Definite Announcement.

High Point, N. C., July 23.—(AP)—The 6,000 hosiery workers on strike here refused today to accept the mills' proposed strike settlement.

Mass meetings of the strikers and the central strike committee both voted to refuse the proposal.

The mills had proposed to pay the boarding-room workers $2 per hundred dozen pairs of hosiery. This was the rate most of the mills were paying when the strike began, precipitated by announcement of a reduction in pay in some of the mills to $1.50 per hundred dozen pairs.

The central committee voted, however, in favor of accepting $2.12 1/2 per hundred dozen pairs if the mills are agreeable.

High Point, N. C., July 23.—(AP)—D. V. Bradley, central strike committee chairman, today proposed to 6,000 striking hosiery mill workers of twenty-four pants that they return to work and offered an agreement under which resumption of work would be effected.

At the same time Bradley submitted his resignation to be acted on by the strikers. He indicated he would resign and that the strike would end, or, if they desired, that he would remain and the strike be continued.

As Bradley's proposals were presented, police reserves were organized following reports that a large minority of strikers would refuse to return to their posts, declining to accept the will of the majority should it agree to resumption of work.

Police said they believed such a status might lead to violence and that they were preparing themselves as precautionary measures.

In this statement, Bradley said owners of the mills—after lengthy negotiations—had agreed to offer to end the strike by restoring the wage scale in effect July 1, "which was before the latest cut."

He said the Slane and Mos Mills were not included in this agreement, but that these two plants "offer to reopen their mills at the same wage scale applying at the time of the walkout, but with a notice to the workers at the same time that the scale will be revised to bring it into line generally with that of other local manufacturers."

Bradley said: "Although realizing we have won but a partial victory, I now recommend that we accept these terms and signify our readiness to go back to work on these assurances."

He said he made the recommendation for several reasons, and named the first as a realization that "we cannot carry on a prolonged test of strength now without suffering for men, women and children."

"We have gained some ground," he said, "and I want to see us end the strike as an orderly group without losing the benefit of our bargaining. There is danger, also, of the breaking down of our own spirit in this local organization of ours so that radical and dangerous advisers can get in their work."

Mount Airy, N. C., July 23.—(AP)—Approximately 300 employees of the Mount Airy Mantle and Table Company were on strike here today demanding a "living wage" in exchange for their services.

The workers walked out yesterday in orderly fashion, putting everything in order and cleaning their machinery before leaving their posts. A meeting was being held today between representatives of the strikers, headed by John L. Johnson, and mill officials following a conference yesterday. The result of today's meeting was expected to bring (Continued on Page Six)

The number of State prisoners decreased from 7,428 on the first of the month to 7,299 on the last. The farm colony for women at Kinston had forty-six inmates, representing a decrease of one; the State Highway prison, 4,445, a decrease of 91; and the State Prison, 2,808, a decrease of 37.

Creator of New Garden of Eden Dead in Kansas

Lucas, Kas., July 23.—(AP)—When Samuel P. Dinsmoor completed his cement Garden of Eden after a score of years' work, he said: "When Gabriel calls, I'll take the responsibility for it all." Gabriel called Thursday and took Dinsmoor at the age of eighty-nine.

Starting in 1907 at his home on the outskirts of this little town, Dinsmoor, unexperienced in sculpture, began reproducing Biblical characters in cement. There are figures of Cain, Abel, Gabriel, the Devil, and others; birds, animals and trees.

In one corner of the yard is a mausoleum guarded by a cement angel. Dinsmoor's first wife, who died in 1917, is buried here, and in a crypt above her, his body will be placed in a cement coffin he constructed.

In 1924, at the age of 81, he married Elsie Brozek, at that time 20. Two children were born to them, a son and a daughter. He also is survived by four sons and a daughter born of his first marriage.

At his death, Dinsmoor was virtually blind, his sight having been lost for three years ago, at which time he discontinued work on his garden.

Thousands of tourists visited the unique creation in the last quarter century.

The Faithful .:. Cheat .:. By Ruby M. Ayres

SYNOPSIS: "Would you marry John Anderson if he were free?" Sondra Kent Merriman's sister Flora asks her, not knowing that Sondra had secretly married Mark Merriman before he sailed for the Congo. Sondra is fond of Anderson, who has held almost the attitude of a guardian toward her for many years. But her love for Mark was strong enough to break down her decision not to marry him because of his poverty, she realizes. Flora would tell Sondra she could not live with her, if she knew Sondra were married. And so Sondra adds a secret to the burden of her five-year separation from Mark. She has been brought up to expect luxury and make a wealthy marriage, by her father. Now she wonders whether she will change in her feeling for Mark before he comes back again. She also wonders whether Anderson suspects she is a secret.

Chapter 12
"DON'T FORGET ME"
"Why wouldn't I marry John?" Sondra laughed, wondering what Flora would say if she spoke the truth and said: "Because I am married already."
"Because I don't care for him—in that way," she said instead.
"In what way?" Flora demanded irritably. "Any way is good enough in order to secure a rich husband, isn't it? I thought it was anyway." She sighed. "Life's such a muddle."
"Why?" Sondra wished she would go; she was longing to open that wire and read its content; she knew well enough that it must be from Mark.
"It's such a muddle," Flora said again rather pathetically. "Nothing ever seems quite right—nobody ever has what they really want."
"I should have thought that you had everything," Sondra said in a hard voice. "Or if you haven't—you're rich enough to get it."
"There are some things you can't get—just with money," Flora answered, then she laughed, as if to dispel her seriousness. "Well, hurry up for goodness sake."
"I shan't be a moment."
"But Flora did not go."
"Did you see Mark Merriman off this morning?" she asked.
"Yes."
"I don't suppose he'll ever come back," Flora said bluntly.
"Why not?"
"Oh, I don't know... men who go abroad for years never seem to—or if they do they don't stay, they can't settle down again, I suppose he was in love with you, wasn't he?"
"What makes you think that?"
"Well, I've got eyes, and I'm not exactly an imbecile," Flora said tartly. "It's a good thing you didn't happen to care for him."
"Why?"
"Why?... good lord what a question! Because there are a thousand reasons why you're unsuited to each other of course. He'll never be rich enough for you, for one—and he's not your sort for another."
Sondra said faintly: "It would be interesting to know what kind of man you imagine is my sort as you call it."
"Anderson, or someone like him," Flora answered promptly. "Mark's too narrow-minded for you—too conventional—too goody-goody."
"I never noticed it."
"Because you didn't know him well enough. What do you imagine he would think of your friendship with John, for instance,—if he knew about it?"
"He does know."
"He does know?" Flora echoed in amazement. Then she shrugged her shoulders. "Well—hurry up." She went out of the door behind her.
Sondra arranged her hair, but her hands shook and her face was burning. She felt as if someone had insulted her—and yet Flora had only spoken the truth, when she said that Mark would disapprove of her friendship with John Anderson—if he knew.
If he knew—what? There was nothing except that he sometimes gave her presents—handsome presents. Why shouldn't he? He was a wealthy man, and if he chose to give some of his money to a girl who had nothing, it was nobody else's business. He had been almost her guardian ever since she was a little girl. People were so hateful, she had read Flora's thoughts in her eyes—and surely it was a little incongruous for Flora to condemn her, no matter what she thought.
There was very little difference in them if it came to that, for Flora had only married for money, without a spark of affection for Ben Lomax. Still, it was from her husband that Flora took money, while she... Sondra took up the yellow envelopes and opened it.
"Bless you always—don't forget me. All my love, Mark."
The flimsy paper fluttered to the floor, and Sondra covered her face with her hands.
"I'm not worth loving, Mark—," she whispered desolately. "I'm not worth loving."
For a moment a wild impulse came to her to find Flora and tell her the truth. What was the use of keeping her marriage a secret? It would have to be known some day, so why not now?

Impulsively she took a step towards the door, then stopped.
What would become of her if Flora knew? She could visualize the scene so well.
"You've got a husband—let him keep you."
Ben also would be only too glad to seize upon such an excuse to be rid of her, and then—where could she go? What could she do?
A maid came to the door.
"The car is waiting, Miss."
"I'm coming."
Sondra took up her wrap and went downstairs.
"Anyone would think this was your own house, the casual way you behave," Flora scolded her as they drove away. "You know how I dislike being kept waiting."
Sondra said nothing; she pressed her lips tightly together to keep back the angry words that rose to them.
She and Flora often quarreled, but tonight Sondra realized that she could no longer afford to quarrel—that she was more dependent upon her sister than ever before.
If only some miracle would happen that could send Mark back to her—send him back a rich man.
She thought suddenly of his eyes. He looked at her gravely.
And his smile, and the close pressure of his arms.
"Or send him back to me—anyhow," she thought desolately, and the tears burned her eyes.
At dinner she sat next to John Anderson.
As a rule, she liked his company, but tonight it irritated her because it seemed to be taken for granted that his place was at her side.
"Aren't you tired to death of my company?" she asked.
He looked at her gravely.
"Does that mean that you are tired to death of mine?" he asked.

Employment of a visiting nurse to render aid to indigent families of the county unable to obtain medical services has been suggested by Dr. R. S. McGeachy as a means of relieving the serious situation existing among the poor at this time.
The health director believes civic organizations would find a splendid field for rendering distinct service to humanity here as well as helping the battle to prevent illness.
Scores of serious cases of illness to be found among the poor in various parts of the county, Dr. McGeachy pointed out, and it is impossible to say what the outcome will be in view of the fact that the officials lack proper medical assistance.
The duty of the proposed nurse could be of an advisory nature, it is pointed out. She would work in co-operation with the health department. Her main duty would be to give advice on disease prevention and administer directly to those afflicted by illness.
The suggestion no doubt will receive attention of organizations living as their purpose the improvement of humanity and alleviation of human suffering.
Hogs and chickens have brought 9,000 to growers of Pitt county during the present year and the price is expected to be increased during the remainder of those on hand have been sold.
This extra source of revenue has been in mighty good at a time when the price condition for main crops is worse than it has been in years, and if the growers will give as thought to the industry it is possible they will be made to make for the shortage in money from other crops.
While hog raising has not been so good here but a few years it is gaining in scope each year until has reached that point where it is rendering real assistance to farmers. The same is true of poultry-raising and the future is bright both.
The new plan for consolidation of the railroads at least had a salutary effect on the stock market which showed a pronounced upward trend yesterday. It is impossible to say what effect the proposal will have on the various roads, but authorities on the question seem to think it will do much to revitalize them.
Troubled by lack of passengers and freight, the railroads are suffering more acutely today than ever one and if the consolidation does go through it is impossible to say what will be the outcome.
Consolidation is the order of the day with depressing business conditions prevailing throughout the world. It not only requires less money for operating expenses but also saves the roads to run with far fewer employees.
It is not at all conducive to improvement of labor conditions, but one of those emergency measures bound to come about when business shows such a pronounced upturn.
With the new relief bill signed by the President, the nation now has the first results from the two billion dollar measure recently passed by Congress.
The bill has as its purpose the raising of appropriations available for the various states for construction work, thereby affording a way to relieve the unemployment situation.
Over thirty states have already applied for aid and it is expected the remainder will seek their share of relief money before the President's signature actually drives the bill into effect.

PATS BLANK HORNETS BY SCORE 8 TO 0

Charlotte, July 23.—(AP)—The Greensboro Patriots today held the distinction of being the outfit to put a check under the old band wagon on which the Charlotte Hornets had rolled up a string of nine straight victories.
Ted Kleinhaus, southpaw ace of the Pats, held the league leaders to five hits, while his mates rapped out 14, including a homer, a triple and three two baggers, to triumph by the decisive score of 8-0.
After trailing for five innings, the Raleigh Caps went on a rampage in the sixth, seventh and eighth frames to pile up a total of 12 runs against the three garnered by the Winston-Salem Twins all in the third inning.
The Wilmington-Durham game at Wilmington was postponed on account of rain, but the Pirates climbed out of the cellar they were sharing with the Twins, leaving the Winston-Salem lads unconquered holders of last place.

A homer by Joe Martin, with one on base, and doubles by Malay and Leiber, gave the Twins their three runs in the third inning. They looked big enough until the eighth when the Caps unlimbered their heaviest artillery. Luebke slammed out a triple with the bases full and at one blow, put the Caps in the lead. He scored on a hit by Kilpat. Rick. Two more runs were scored by Raleigh in the seventh, and to climax the big night, five more were added in the eighth.
DeWitt Perry, Raleigh hurling star, cashed in his 13th victory of the year. He yielded 11 hits, but kept them scattered except in the third inning and struck out five batters while giving three free passes.
The Pats took a one run lead over Charlotte in the second inning and increased it to two in the fourth. But the Hornets fought gamely and were threatening until the seventh when Greensboro sewed up the game with three more tallies, to which another trio was added in the 8th. Jimmy Sanders' circuit clout featured the seventh inning attack of the Patriots. He also got a double off Settlement, while his teammate, Batterton, poled out a triple and two singles.
In stopping the rush of the Hornets, Kleinhaus, struck out seven batters. He was given errorless support, but was a trifle wild, passing seven men.

CUBS WILT UNDER FIRE OF PIRATES

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Where there have been league champions—notably the Philadelphia Athletics of last season—who ran up their winning percentage over the weaker clubs while getting no better than an even break against their leading adversaries there can be no such charge against the Pittsburgh Pirates if they capture the current National League race.
The Pirates, in fact, have done their best work since they started their sensational climb a month ago against the team generally regarded as their strongest rival, the Chicago Cubs.
In their last night engagements with Rogers Hornsby's club, the Pirates have turned in seven victories, more than sufficient to account for their three and one-half game lead over the field today. Only one club has been able to beat the Pirates up to this point. The fourth place Phillies, with seven victories in eleven bouts with the leaders, have the distinction.
George Gibson's men demonstrated their ability to beat the Cubs for the fourth straight time yesterday with a 3-1 victory at Pittsburgh. Steve Swetonic did the pitching, hanging up his eleventh victory against two defeats, and assisted in the batting chores.
The National League's only other contribution to a dull day along the baseball front presented the Phillies in a 9-5 victory over Brooklyn.
Mickey Cochrane's robust hitting featured the Athletics' 8-4 win over Washington in the American's lone attraction. The slugging catcher tagged all the bases with a home run, a triple, a double and a single, driving in three runs.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

New York Cotton

New York, July 23.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 4 to 5 points lower under commission house selling, generally favorable weather and indifferent Liverpool cables.

Initial offerings were fairly well taken by covering and trade buying, but selling became slightly more active after the call, including further offerings of early new crop positions by the so-called co-operative brokers. Prices worked off another few points with October selling down to 5.74 and December to 5.88, the general market showing net losses of 9 to 10 points at the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables did not fully meet the advance here after the close of the English market yesterday, but it was slightly higher on scattered buying and trade covering. Huges with Liverpool connections were among the early buyers here, while there was some scattered selling attributed to the Southwest and commission houses. The amount of cotton on shipboard at U. S. ports at the end of the week was estimated at 76,000 bales against 68,000 last year.

Stock Market

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Editor)

New York, July 23.—The stock market managed to absorb week-end profit taking and at the same time maintain most of its gains of the week in today's short session.

The list eased off somewhat in the first hours when a number of the leaders lost from fractions to a point, but this was largely regained later. A professional demonstration in the higher stocks carried those issues higher in the late trading, and the general list closed with a steady tone with net changes largely of negligible proportions. The turnover for the two-hour session was only about 300,000 shares.

The outstanding item of business news was the report of total freight car loadings for the week ended July, showing a gain of 87,144 cars. This was approximately 15,000 cars larger than the decline of the preceding week, when the movement was curtailed by the Independence Day holiday. Rails, however, were not disposed to extend their gain of the previous session, since the freight movement must expand much more, before any large number of the carriers will be restored to a profitable basis.

Losses of about a point in such issues as U. S. Steel Preferred, American Telephone, Westinghouse, Johns Manville and Union Pacific were virtually cancelled. U. S. Steel Common and American Can regained 7 1/2 point losses. Coca-Cola, however, was a soft spot, closing lower about noon.

Rails and Oils held about steady. In the alcohol group, National Distillers, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and American Commercial Alcohol were each bid up about a point, which appeared to be a professional maneuver, in view of the lack of fresh news dealing with the position of these companies.

General Motors dipped 3-8 of a point, in response to the overnight news of its second quarter earnings of only 7 cents a share, but the recovery to close virtually unchanged. Commodities eased a little in spots, but bonds held up well. Cotton lost about 45 cents a bale.

ZIEGFELD DIES, HOLLYWOOD

(Continued from Page One) much improved," said Dr. Marcus Padwin after the producer's death. "We looked for him to gain a complete recovery and did not expect the heart attack, although he has suffered from heart trouble for many years."

The death of Ziegfeld ended his plan to bring his Folies to Los Angeles during the Olympic games. Reports also were that Ziegfeld contemplated producing a picture in Hollywood. Miss Burke recently said she hoped it would be possible for her husband to retire to a California farm.

Friends said funeral services probably will be held in Los Angeles.

Ziegfeld was born in Chicago on March 21, 1868. He made his debut at the age of thirteen years, and in his career was reputed to have amassed a fortune. His first venture into the show business was with Buffalo Bill's shows. His parents objected to this, and he left the show to become general manager and director of the Chicago Musical College, of which his father was conductor.

During the World's Fair in Chicago in 1892 he gained his first experience as an impresario. His first important step in the producing world came when he introduced Annia Held to America a few years later. In 1907 he became identified with his Folies. So great was his care in selecting the beautiful girls for these shows that this feature soon became a watchword among theater-goers.

Among the stage productions Ziegfeld produced were "Showboat," "Rio Rita," "Whoopee," "Smiles," "Sally," "Louie the Fourteenth," "Kid Boots," and "Hot-Cha."

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
New York, July 23.—(AP)—Broad way, where sentiment and hard cash are twin kings, shook its head sadly over Florenz Ziegfeld's death and said: "Isn't it too bad he had to die broke?"

For the impression along the lane of gossip and glitter is that the grand glorifier, who garnered millions only to fling them forth in new ventures, was virtually a poor man.

He might, the Times Square bright lads said, have tucked away some insurance against the day when beauty and glamorous stage-craft should encounter sales resistance—but that was probably all.

Ziegfeld, who turned thumbs down on nudity half a dozen years ago and announced his trend was toward the old-fashioned, crimson-clad-girl-on-white-horse sort of stuff, with spectacular modern trappings, had run into some grief toward the end. After years of striking successes such as the "Follies," "Rio Rita," and others, he produced "Hot-Cha," recently—and the critics swung on him with hammers in both hands. A new type of show—sophisticated, satiric—such as "of thee I sing" and "face the music," was packing them in.

Ziegfeld, always a fighter, hit back. After spending the afternoon at the pool, the participants went to the State Theater where they were entertained at a matinee through courtesy of the management.

QUIZZED IN 'OMEN SLAYING' CASE

Epps Re-elected As Principal Of Colored Schools

C. M. Epps was re-elected principal of colored schools at a meeting of the board of trustees of city schools here this week.

Epps, who has been with the school system since its organization in 1903, is the oldest educator from the standpoint of service connected with the system at the present time.

He has been active in cementing a closer relation between the white and colored races, and his keen insight into conditions affecting his own race has been instrumental in continued advancement both in the field of education and industry.

Members of the board were heartily in their praise of the splendid service rendered the community by the colored educator and expressed belief he would be a vital force in solving the perplexing problems affecting his race as result of the radical changes in the economic field.

Epps looked forward optimistically to the new school year and declared he hoped to be able to continue to impress upon his people the necessity of their effort to advance the cause of the white race as well as their own.

MAJOR POINTS OF HOOVER'S RELIEF PROGRAM APPROVED

He asked economy; Congress voted to cut expenditures $150,000,000 by a special bill and the Senate set up a committee to study the question during the summer. All appropriations were reduced under the budget estimates.

TWO SLAIN IN AN OUTBURST OF VIOLENCE

Police asserted the slay man had a criminal record dating to 1913, and had been paroled from Pontiac reformatory after serving three years for manslaughter, perpetrated in a robbery. A notebook listing assistant prosecutors, judges and underworld characters, found in his pockets, was examined by police for a possible clue to the slayers.

At Dolton, Tony Burba, 18, who said he finished a sentence at Pendleton, Ind., prison a month and a half ago, admitted, police said, he shot Officer Koehnke. Burba was wounded three times, and asserted, police said, "the cop shot me before he died." He was apprehended when he asked a physician to dress his wounds. Held also were Frank Printin and Peter P. Keles, twenty-two.

SLIGHT BREAK IN HEAT WAVE

A new heat record for the summer was set Thursday of last week with a reading of 101. This was repeated again Thursday of this week, but it was as if nothing compared with the sweltering weather yesterday.

The drought which existed last week was broken by a torrential downpour last Saturday afternoon, and crops since that time have flourished in spite of the high points of the week. More rain is needed, however, to retain the progress made by the crops, and the populace was looking forward hopefully to showers after the week-end.

STRIKE LEADER URGES MEN TO RETURN TO JOBS IN MILLS OF HIGH POINT

The strikers asked an increase in their wages, saying they received a 10 per cent cut two weeks ago which followed a cut of 12-1-2 per cent two weeks before that.

They said they have been cut five times during the past eighteen months, and that the wage scale for workers in the plant has been reduced by about 50 per cent, or to between 80 cents and $1.40 a day.

Hoskins Williams, superintendent of the plant, said the company is unable to increase wages at present. He indicated the factory probably would be shut down until the men agree to return at the prevailing wage or until "times get better."

Iowa reported no fatalities for the first time in twelve days. St. Paul and Minneapolis, after ten consecutive days of 90-degree heat for a twenty-two-year record, had a cool 75.

Exceptions were Fayetteville, N. C., with a reading of 105.5 degrees; Salina, Kan., and Charlotte, N. C., with 100, and Phoenix, customarily hot, with 112. It was 99 in Frederick, Md.; 98 in Lincoln, Neb.; 96 in Kansas City; 95 in Des Moines and Washington and 94 in Dallas.

INDICT POLICE IN N.Y. DEATH

The grand jury, however, disregarded the second degree murder charges. It indicted five for first degree manslaughter, seven for second degree assault and one as an accessory to first degree manslaughter.

There was considerable secrecy about the reason for exhuming the body of Stark, which was buried on Staten Island after an autopsy had been performed which showed that he had suffered numerous contusions, apparently inflicted by a rubber hose, and that his Adam's apple had been fractured.

Trial of the policemen was set today for August 15, but it was expected that the defense would demand postponement and move for separation of the trials of the defendants under different charges.

SECRET TRIP IN PROBE

(Continued from Page One) ficer of Forsyth County who refused to accept an original finding of suicide and later announced he did not believe the 29-year-old Reynolds, husband of Libby Holman, the actress, had taken his own life, would only say he went to Roanoke "on a business trip."

A dispatch from the Virginia city, however, said Scott carried with him a section of timber taken from Reynolds, the family estate where the tragedy occurred, and conferred with Roanoke officers for more than two hours.

The timber was said by Scott to show finger-prints. He said here several days ago that the prints did not match those of any occupants of the house the night Reynolds dropped on a sleeping porch bed, dying with a bullet through his head.

Finger-prints were taken of Mrs. Reynolds, Albert Walker, 19-year-old son of her husband and Blanche Yurka, a New York actress who was a guest, Scott said.

A short time before news of the sheriff's visit to Roanoke became known, W. N. Reynolds, uncle and co-guardian of Smith Reynolds, revealed he had been requested by his nephew's widow to seek appointment as administrator of the estate.
