Roosevelt to Make His First Political Speech At Albany On July 30th

MESSAGE WILL BE BROADCAST

Headquarters of Democratic Presidential Nominee Says Talk Will be Informal and will not be Considered Formal Opening Gun of Campaign; Several Other Talks are Planned.

New York, July 27.—(AP)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt will make his first political talk since he accepted the Democratic Presidential nomination at Chicago on July 30 at Albany.

Roosevelt headquarters announced today the governor would speak on that date from 8 to 8:30 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time), the address being broadcast over the WEAF-NBC network.

Although this will be the first political talk since the convention, Roosevelt headquarters said it would be "informal," and was not considered as the formal opening gun of the campaign. The subject will be the Democratic program.

The Associated Press has received information that the governor and his managers at national headquarters are considering several tours that will carry him to the Pacific Coast, into New England, a swing through the Northwest and Middle West and perhaps a journey into Dixie.

Governor Roosevelt has as a luncheon guest today Governor Joseph B. Ely, of Massachusetts, who has the name of former Governor Alfred E. Smith in nomination at the Chicago convention.

It was understood that two of the major speeches will be delivered in August with the first tentatively scheduled for the Middle West, perhaps at Columbus, during the Democratic State Convention.

No date for the convention has been set. It may be held as early as August 18. Mr. Roosevelt has accepted an invitation to talk at the New Jersey rally at Sea Girt on August 27. Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City, sponsor of the event, predicted a crowd of 100,000.

Governor Roosevelt has signified his intention to take up a specific major issue in each of the more important addresses, selecting for his theme the issue of paramount importance in that section of the country. Other cities that are being considered for the key talks include Boston, New York City, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, Kansas City, Portland, Indianapolis, Denver, St. Paul Milwaukee and Philadelphia.

The Roosevelt forces are represented as believing that all of the 48 states are battle grounds. The leaders give the governor a chance all of them.

Convinced by the trip last April to St. Paul and the later northward journey from Warm Springs, Ga., that observation car appearances of Mr. Roosevelt with brief informal talks was an effective way to let the country become acquainted with the candidate, the Democratic campaign directors are preparing plans to have him speak at as many train stops as possible. The rear car likely will be equipped with loud-speakers.

Smith Awaits Pardon From Gov. Pollard

Richmond, Va., July 27.—(AP)—Garland Smith today awaited the decision of Governor Pollard on a petition asking a pardon for the youthful North Carolinian who is serving a 20-year sentence for the slaying of Mack Truck, Mecklenburg county police officer.

The governor at the close of argument on the petition yesterday indicated that his decision would be announced soon, probably today.

Gordon Ambler, Richmond attorney, who through four trials conducted Smith's defense, led the fight for a pardon for the youth.

Tuck was fatally wounded by the same volley that killed Deputy Sheriff Bernard Puryear for whose death Smith was sentenced to die in the electric chair. At the second trial the penalty was reduced to a 20-year term and at a third trial in Danville this month the Carolina youth was acquitted.

The Supreme Court has refused to grant a writ of error in the Tuck case, however, thus leaving the final decision with Gov. Pollard.

SEEK ANOTHER TRIAL FOR LEA

Judge Clement Refuses to dismiss Petition for Second Hearing for Lea and Davis.

Asheville, July 27.—(AP)—Affidavits that attempts were made with money to influence the jury which convicted Col. Luke Lea of Nashville, to acquit him of a charge of violating the state bank laws were presented today by the state in opposing a new trial for him, his son Luke Jr., and Wallace Davis of Asheville.

Wiley Smyder Jr., son of one of the affidavits that "a Haywood county citizen" came to his home 10 days before the verdict which convicted the Leas and Davis was returned last summer and offered.

WILL ROGERS NOMINATED

Schoolmaster Wins In Run-off for Congress in State of Oklahoma Yesterday.

Oklahoma City, July 27.—(AP)—Will Rogers, the schoolmaster, swept into the Democratic nomination for congressman-at-large by an avalanche of votes, today had the laugh on the folk who asserted he made the race as a counterforce of the well known comedian of the same name.

Will Rogers, the actor-writer who left his native Oklahoma to first win fame on the New York stage with his home-spun wit, has completely engorged the congressional aspirant.

ARBUCKLE TO TRY RETURN

New York, July 27.—(AP)—Roscoe C. "Fatty" Arbuckle is returning to pictures.

Warner Brothers today announced that he was signing the one-time film comedian for a comedy—a two- or three-reeler to be made in its Brooklyn plant, with the possibility of more later.

The former slapstick star has not appeared in pictures since 1921, when he was acquitted in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe, film actress in San Francisco. However, he has directed many films. Recently he has been touring the East in vaudeville.

At the time of his disappearance from the films, Paramount Pictures Corporation announced that films featuring Arbuckle, and costing $500,000, had permanently been scrapped.

Recently Warner Brothers released an old-fashioned news reel in which Arbuckle appeared. Officials said that applause that greeted the former film player, together with the fact that there are few comedians of his type in pictures today, led to negotiations for the new film. It was indicated that no protests were expected from the motion picture field.

Burlington, N. C., July 27.—(AP)—Circumstances surrounding the poison death here May 22 of Duncan Stewart must wait until Monday to be known following postponement here of a resumption of a coroner's inquest into the case.

Meanwhile, Stewart's mail order bridge and a former roomer at their home, George McBe, are held without bond in jail here while officers continue their investigation.

BOUND OVER FOR SLAYING

Four Young White Men Held at Fayetteville for Murder of Grocer.

Fayetteville, July 27.—(AP)—Four young white men were bound over to Superior court today to fight for their lives under charges that they murdered A. C. Willis, grocer, here June 11.

A coroner's jury verdict sent the quartet to the high court and marked them all equally guilty in the death of Willis who was slain when he attempted to resist the efforts of four men to rob him in his store. The prisoners are Willie Jones, Charlie Jones, Roy Adams and Jeff Webb, all of whom admitted to the

BETHEL HOST TO THE LEGION

Post Adopts Resolutions Dealing With Health and Highway Facilities.

Adoption of resolutions dealing with health problems and improvement of highway facilities marked the regular monthly meeting of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion at Bethel last night.

The Legionnaires were guests of the Bethel members and enjoyed a delightful barbecue supper served in the basement of the Methodist Church by ladies of the church in addition to the discussion of regular business matters.

The Post adopted a resolution requesting the State Highway Commission to pave Highway 11 from Bethel to Oak City, thereby placing Bethel and Greenville on a north and south route. Arthur B. Corey was named a committee of one to draft the resolutions and forward it to the Commission.

Another resolution was adopted on the Board of County Commissioners to use every influence to protect the health of the people of the county through securing the services of a visiting nurse. J. C. Lanier, J. H. Rose, Dr. K. B. Pace, and W. A. Darden were asked to present the matter to the board which will meet in a special session tomorrow morning.

The idea of obtaining the services of a visiting nurse to help care for the indigent sick of the county was presented by Dr. R. S. McGeachy, director of the Pitt County Department of Health. He said numbers of families were suffering because of lack of medical attention at this time and that the situation was probably the worst in many years.

A visiting nurse, he pointed out, would act in an advisory capacity under direction of the County Health Department and would be in constant touch with sick families of the poor. The Health Department, he stated, finds it impossible to deal with cases of this kind because most of its time is consumed in the holding of clinics looking to the prevention of sickness.

Rev. J. A. Long, pastor of the Bethel Methodist Church, extended a cordial welcome to the visiting Legionnaires and declared the people of Bethel were always glad to have

The appointment gave Democrats four directors while designation of a Republican for the last post will bring their number to three.

VETS AWAIT EVICTION AT CAPITAL CITY

Three Thousand Men Placidly Look On, Wondering If Quarters be Wrecked.

Washington, July 27.—(AP)—The bonus army today apparently won an important victory toward retaining their camp on lower Pennsylvania Avenue when District of Columbia commissioners and Treasury officials failed to agree on means of evicting them.

Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, said after the conference that "there will be no illegal use of the metropolitan police department," adding that any action to be taken against the veterans now is up to the Treasury.

"There is no certainty," Glassford said, "when any definite course will be decided upon."

The Treasury, after several postponements, had decided upon evacuation at 7:30 this morning, but nothing happened.

Washington, July 27.—(AP) Three thousand veterans placidly occupied shacks and makeshift quarters on Pennsylvania Avenue today, and wondered when Federal authorities would try to evict them.

A wrecking contractor wondered too, while forty laborers—all drawing pay—sat around with nothing to do. On the way to the scene was a huge wrecking crane to demolish all standing structures under previously announced plans.

COL. JAMES IS LAID TO REST

Interment Made in Cherry Hill Cemetery Following Rites Held at Late Home.

Col. F. G. James, dean of the Pitt County Bar and beloved citizen, who died at his home here Monday after illness extending over a year, was buried here today.

Final rites were conducted from his home on Fifth street at eleven o'clock by Rev. E. L. Hillman, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. Walter Patten, pastor of Hay Street Methodist Church, Fayetteville. Burial was made in Cherry Hill cemetery.

Hundreds of people, many of them in the official life of the state, attended the funeral and the floral tribute was one of the largest ever to mark the passing of a local citizen.

Both ministers paid tribute to Col. James' loving service to the community, and said his life had proved a shining example for generations to come.

Mr. Hillman spoke feelingly of the long period of suffering which Col. James endured and the courage and fortitude with which he met it. His life until the end was one of patience and kindness, always with the thought of others foremost in his mind, and it was this happy faculty all through life which enabled him to command the admiration and respect of all people he came in contact with, the minister said.

A group of sinners directed by Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley, rendered numbers both at the home and the grave. The group was composed of Mrs. Paul Brantley of Wendell; Mrs. J. A. Karsnak, Mrs. E. L. Hillman, Mrs. J. H. Thorson, Mrs. E. V. Carter and Messrs. Spruill Spain, J. H. Blount, J. H. Rose and Wiley Brown of Greenville.

Mrs. Hadley acted as accompanist.

Says Hoover Can't Get By Relief Responsibility

Washington, July 27.—(AP)—President Hoover, says the House Democratic leader, "can't dodge" responsibility for the new relief law, although he has selected a majority of Democrats to run the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

That was the way Representative Rainey, of Illinois, summed up his reaction to the White House announcement that Atlee Pomerene, former Democratic Senator from Ohio, had been chosen for one of the two remaining places on the Corporation's directorate.

The appointment gave Democrats four directors while designation of a Republican for the last post will bring their number to three.

Mill Officials And Strikers Again Fail To Reach Agreement

East And Midwest Will See Intensive Campaign

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic Presidential nominee, likely will begin his drive next month with a speech at the Middle Western city

POLICE NIP A RADICAL PLOT

Michigan Officers are Seeking Geo. Rowland as Agent of Revolutionary Group.

Pontiac, Mich., July 27.—(AP)—State police sent out orders today for the arrest of George Rowland on a charge that he acted as the Detroit agent of a radical group which planned a social revolution by the circulation of rumors attacking a number of large banks in the country.

The officers said that a raid on Rowland's hotel room here yesterday revealed the ramifications of the plot.

Captain Ira H. Marmon of the state police, who directed an investigation of Rowland's activities here for several days, and who led the raid on his room, said that letters and telegrams seized in the raid established that Rowland had directed

FACES DOUBLE MURDER CASE

Clay Fogleman to Be Returned to N. C. from Cincinnati for Killing Two Men.

Cincinnati, O., July 27.—(AP)—Clay Fogleman who recently escaped from a North Carolina prison camp and who wounded a policeman here when threatened with arrest, today waited his return to the Southern State to face a double charge of murder.

Fogleman, whose life has been dotted with criminal escapades, met arrest ignominiously here a short time ago when he was apprehended as he stepped from his freight train.

In jail, he was identified by Sheriff L. M. Sheffield of Rockingham County, North Carolina, who served the warrants charging him with the slayings. Fogleman then

APPROVE NEW ROAD PROJECT

$1,000,000 Worth of Construction Work to be Awarded in N. C., August 10.

Raleigh, July 27.—(AP)—Road and bridge projects amounting to an estimated $1,000,000 and embracing more than 175 miles of highway, were in line today for the contract letting scheduled by the State Highway Commission for Aug. 10.

The projects were approved by the commission late yesterday and represent the first work contemplated under the federal emergency aid law passed by the recent session of Congress, and constitute the first large letting to be announced by the present commission, which took office little more than a year ago.

Additional lettings at intervals of about 10 days are planned until the $5,700,000 available to the state is contracted for, Chairman E. B. Jeffrey said.

Decision on a minimum wage scale was deferred, pending receipt of further information about federal requirements.

Charlotte, N. C.—(AP)—O. B. Ellis and Pat Gibbs were arrested by officers on a Catawba River bank near Beatty's Ford Bridge as they stood near a still which was ready to run. The still and 130 gallons of beer was smashed.

WORKERS CAN STILL GO BACK

Operators Say Workmen May Return To Work Under Terms Advanced Yesterday if they Desire; Idle Men Stick To Demands for Higher Wages; Three are Freed for Alleged Part in Hunger Strike.

High Point, July 27.—(AP)—Officials of 24 mills and committees representing 6,000 striking hosiery workers failed to get together here today and the strike was left hanging in mid-air.

While the majority of manufacturers refused to confer with the committees, the general attitude of the owners was that he employees, on a walkout for a wage revision, could return to work if they pleased under terms advanced yesterday.

The idle workmen, however, maintained demands for a higher wage than offered by their former employers but advanced no plans for settling the strike one way or another.

Meanwhile, 625 workers at the Adams-Mills full-fashioned hosiery mill indicated that, while they do not intend breaking away from the central strike, they would listen to suggestions concerning opening negotiations of their own looking toward an early resumption of work.

Lexington, July 27.—(AP)—Three men, one former communist candidate for Congress, were free today under a habeas corpus writ after police, who arrested them.

The trio was ordered released here by Judge W. F. Harding who injected into his remarks a statement that he sometimes wondered by what authority officers arrested citizens.

The men were Dewey Martin, the former communist congressional candidate, and two companions, David Doran and Sam Phifer. Doran said the three had been held in jail at Salisbury and had started a hunger strike Monday in protest against their imprisonment.

In ordering the men released, Judge Harding told a reporter present not to print his remarks, saying "There is not one reporter in 100 who gets accurately what is said in the proceedings of court."

Asked if statements made in open court were not privileged for printing, Judge Harding said: "You heard what I said about quoting me, didn't you?"

Then he spoke into the records, ordering the men released, and wound up with his remarks about law enforcement officers.

J. W. McMahon, detective on the High Point police force, had just delivered the three prisoners with the statement that the chief of police had no further use for them.

"Draw your order, gentlemen. I don't know where the sheriff got his authority for arresting these prisoners," said the jurist.

"It was the sheriff, Your Honor," said McMahon, "it was the chief of police."

"Well, I don't care who it was. If it was the president of the United States, he didn't have any right to hold them," said the judge, and added: "Were there any warrants issued for them?"

"No, sir," said the detective.

The judge concluded that "This is a new procedure to me. Somebody is going to get into trouble about it sometime. I am not blaming you so much. Others are doing the same."

ABOUT TOWN

Rotarians have joined the movement to can vegetables and fruits for use by the relief committee during the winter months and indicate at this time apparently plenty of food for the poor. The project is being sponsored by a local canning concern and clubs and their organizations will help defray the expense of canning. Pitt county has one of the largest food crops in years in spite of the dry weather, and if the surplus is conserved there is no reason for anybody going hungry next winter. It is gratifying to note other counties of the state are adopting a similar plan of caring for the indigent population and much of the suffering which has existed in past years bids fair to be considerably reduced this year.

Clubs should get behind the movement and do their bit to seeing that it is made as extensive as possible so that it will reach into the most remote communities. Rotarians and Kiwanians will renew their annual baseball rivalry here soon. It has been decided by the two clubs, and lovers of the national sport will be treated to one of the greatest comedy classics of the year.

The challenge this year was hurled by the Kiwanians, and no sooner had it been received than it was accepted. The notes not only made it plain they were ready to play ball, but instructed every member, regardless of age or physical condition, to report for active service. This means war—nothing but war.

Taking cognizance of the belligerent attitude of the old rivals, Joe Taft, captain of the Kiwanis club has buckled his belt just a bit tighter and confided to his followers that it is either play like the dickens or get licked.

Both clubs in variously get plenty of kick out of these annual engagements, and especially in view of the fact that some of the members used to scintillate in the old Eastern Carolina League, and others on college teams.

For instance, there's Herman Duncan, of the Kiwanis club, who dashed Greenville's hope of capturing the league championship against New Bern when he ran far back in left field in the ninth inning and speared Saxe Barnes' drive that was labeled for the circuit.

That one act cost Greenville the championship and the flag went to New Bern.

Others of similar prominence are on the roster of the two clubs and when they tie up in the interclub strife at the Third street school grounds spectators can be assured of a real exhibition of the national sport.

Proceeds from the game will be turned over to the American Legion for defraying the expenses of the tubercular wife of an unemployed former service man.

This cause alone should be sufficient to attract a large crowd to the game and it is hoped all who can will attend.

The Faithful .:. Cheat .:.
 By Ruby M. Ayres

SYNOPSIS: Sondra Kent has been sure that she could depend upon John Anderson's friendship—and is startled when Anderson's friend Cassidy tells her that John is getting back from Europe, since he has not called her as he usually does. She has been wondering whether John suspects anything about her secret marriage to Mark Merriman. She never intended to marry Mark, unless he made a large amount of money, and in fact, she is herself responsible for his absence since she asked John to give him a position in the Congo. Just before Mark sailed, she realized how she would miss him, and agreed suddenly to marry him, only to realize now that she does not love him as she thought. She lives with her sister Flora, who has married for money as her father advised her to do herself. Sondra thus is dependent upon the money of her brother-in-law Ben.

 Cass stared at her. "Didn't you know John was getting in today?" he asked blankly. She shook her head. "No—" then she laughed. "Why should I know? Anyway... I can't go to meet him. I've got an engagement."

It was not the truth, but not for anything in the world would she have allowed him to know it. John on his way home—almost home—and she knew nothing about it. There seemed to be a queer little space in her mind, and as she stood, staring at Cass's bewildered face, into that space crept a picture of a girl's face—a pretty face with a saucy provoking smile—Nathalie Symons.

Cass was fumbling with his watch. "Well... better be off then—" he mumbled. "Don't want to miss him." He looked round the room as if for inspiration. "Give him your love, I suppose?" he queried vaguely.

"Oh, yes, give him my love of course," Sondra said lightly. She went down to the door with him and waved him good-bye, but her steps dragged as she mounted the stairs again, and there was a heavy feeling at her heart.

John was home, and he had not let her know. As a rule, if he had been in Europe, he called her when he sailed. Well, it was no concern of hers, but she would take very good care to be out not only tonight, but all day tomorrow, and unable to see him if he called or rang up.

She went to her own room and shut the door. There was a photograph of John Anderson on the mantelpiece, and she went across to it and looked at it with curious eyes.

He had gone away three days after Mark sailed. Mark had not forgotten her she knew; Mark would never forget her, but John...

Supposing she had lost his friendship—for ever. Then she laughed at herself for the thought. How absurd! They had only to meet and everything would be as it had always been.

Still, it was strange he had not told her that he was coming home. Sondra was going to bed that night when Flora came knocking at her door.

"Can I come in?" "Oh, yes—" Sondra said wearily. She was feeling bored and spiritless; she had spent the evening with some dull people in order to be out of the house if John Anderson called, and after all, she need not have troubled for he had neither called nor rung up.

Of course he had only been in town a few hours; she tried hard to make excuses for him even while she could only remember that the last time he returned from Europe he had come directly to her to find out why she had not met him at the pier.

in an elaborate lounging robe and smoking a cigarette. "I've had a row with Ben," she announced briefly. Sondra said nothing; she knew of what these "rows" consisted. They were usually a burst of storming and nagging on Flora's part because she could not immediately get something she wanted, until, in sheer desperation, Ben gave way.

Flora sat down on the side of the bed and looked at her sister. "No, it's not the usual sort of row," she said, reading Sondra's thoughts. "It's serious this time. In fact... I'm going away."

"Alone?" Sondra asked without much interest, and she wondered whose hospitality she herself could ask, seeing that Ben did not care for her to stay in the house when his wife was not there.

"Alone—and for ever," Flora said quietly. Sondra turned round. "Nonsense," she said sharply. "It's quite true," Flora laughed. "I'm fed up, fed-up, fed-up," she said with a fierce note in her voice.

"So fed-up, in fact, that I lost my temper tonight and told Ben exactly what I thought of him." "And what do you think of him?" Sondra asked.

She had so often wondered; Flora never discussed her husband, though she treated him so caustically. Flora flung her cigarette into the empty grate. "I think he's a... worm," she said.

"There was an eloquent silence. "Oh, I know her kind—" Flora went on with a sort of weary resignation. "But kindness is revolting when it comes from the wrong person. I'd rather have my eyes blacked by a man I cared for, than a diamond necklace from... well, from Ben."

Sondra took up a brush and began mechanically to smooth her hair. "Well—and so what?" she asked. Flora shrugged her slim shoulders. "One word led to another, of course, and in the end the worm turned. He accused me of not caring for him—which is true—and of caring for... for someone else... which is also true."

"Meaning Jocelyn Farr?" Sondra asked. "Yes. I've often wondered if you guessed. I care for him all right and he knows it, but it's no use; he's got puritanical ideas—your friend Mark Merriman reminds me of him a little." She broke off to ask for a moment: "Well, what do you think about it?"

"I think it's a mistake to have quarrelled with Ben if you can't have anything better," Sondra said slowly. Flora laughed bitterly. "You would! You're a thousand times more worldly than I am. I had those sort of ideas too, once, but not now—" She started up and began pacing the room restlessly. "I tell you I can't stand it any longer. What do I get out of it? Clothes, and jewelry, and boring dinner parties and masses of boring friends, and nothing better to look forward to—ever! I shall get old and fat, and Ben will get older and fatter, and then some day I shall die—never having known what it means to be happy, or to have done anything worth while. I can't go on with it, Sondra, I simply can't."

"What are you going to do, then?" "I'm going away. I told Ben so, and then of course he came round and begged and implored—" she gave a little shiver of distaste. "And where are you going?" "I don't know. I've got a little money put away—not a great deal, of course, but I've got to get out somewhere—where I can breathe, and belong to myself... I suppose you think I'm mad?"

Sondra shook her head. "I think you'll be sorry—if you do this." "I shan't be any more sorry than I am now. It's like living in a cage to live in this house; a stifling cage. I'm still young, and I've got to be free, that's all I know."

Sondra stared at her sister. She had never believed Flora capable of so much feeling. For some time she had guessed that Flora and Jocelyn Farr liked one another, but then as

Flora had just said—Jocelyn had puritanical ideas. Yes, he was like Mark—Mark who had insisted that they get married. Flora went on half apologetically. "The only thing that worries me is—what will you do? You can't stay here with Ben, of course, even if he wangled you to, and he won't, you know that. I'm afraid it means cutting off your allowance—I shan't have any too much money of my own, and generosity was never Ben's long suit, as you know. You've got the little bit mother left, of course, but that won't be much use. What will you do, Sondra?"

Sondra did not answer, but her heart began to beat in a quick, frightened way. What could she do? (Copyright, 1932, by Ruby M. Ayres)

Flora tells Sondra what she really thinks of Ben, in the next installment.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL
 And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you rosy and sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned. It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel 'up and up.' They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

DOROTHY DARNIT

Bright spots are appearing on the business horizon from day to day and if indications count for anything conditions ought to undergo a pronounced improvement in the next year or so. The most encouraging thing of recent days is the number of factories resuming operation in various parts of the nation. This means that the unemployment situation will be distinctly relieved and that the payrolls will put millions of extra dollars into circulation. If there is anything the country needs it is the distribution of funds among the workmen who have been without employment for months, and some even years. When they begin cutting loose the contents of their pay envelopes the time will not be far distant when the prosperity which has been hiding around the corner for so long will reappear, bringing all the joy and comfort which it affords. America and the world are on the verge of a turning point after a long season of darkness and those who stick steadfastly to the task of trying to improve conditions will most assuredly be rewarded. An aged man was slain yesterday while arguing over a passage in the Bible. This is one of the most unusual occurrences reported in this state in many years and will cause the Christian world to ponder the motive which caused the younger man to beat the older man to death. The Bible was not given to the world for the purpose of creating strife, although religion was a source of persecution in the early life of this nation and still has opponents who would detract from the glory of its truth by false argument. The Bible is a direct expression of God and the Son he sent to earth to spread peace and goodwill among all peoples. The spirit that prompted the slaying yesterday was merely another gigantic attempt of the devil to gain supremacy over human kind, and the act furnishes a concrete example how far uncontrolled human passion will lead one when not tempered by the teachings of the Bible.

Gunner Vanishes from N. C. Coast

Beaufort, N. C., July 27.—(AP)—The "gunner," once as familiar a sight on the Carolina coast as the automobile is on the highways of today, has practically disappeared.

Once the standard means of travel about the coastal waters, the "gunner" is said by the Beaufort News to have had a large part to play in the early history of the Carolinas, and especially of Carteret County. The earliest settlers used them, and for many years afterward they were practically the only means of transportation over the water, as well as helping to earn the living of fishermen.

Sails were used on many of them, and regular regattas were held to settle the numerous disputes as to the speed and dependability of the craft.

"Gunnars" generally were made of cypress logs, and while most of them were made with only one log, two or three logs were said to have been utilized in the manufacture of some of the best canoes.

What is The Best Way to Buy

According to our way of thinking (and this is the way we have always thought), one should buy only when assured of maximum value. To buy price alone, whether low or high, is wrong in principle—and is uneconomical.

We always want you to buy by quality and value here. In the wholesale markets we reject a great amount of merchandise each day in order to maintain the Quality and Value standards of this store. We have always believed in the principle that service is long remembered long after price is forgotten.

Now, when you must get the most from every expenditure made, when shopping time must be conserved, the high intrinsic values of this store's merchandise and service will commend themselves to your sense of true worth.

TOMORROW—THURSDAY—We offer Savings Larger than Ever Before! Dresses, Coats Suits, Hats, Bags and Accessories!

Perhaps you've looked at some of these very garments—admired them—but felt they were over your budget—Well, then, tomorrow is your day—because we've been ruthless about slashing prices for this event!

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

New York Cotton

New York, July 27.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady 2-4 lower in response to lower Liverpool cables and on generally favorable crop and weather advices.

A favorable view of general trade conditions checked selling and early in the day the market developed a steadier tone. Losses were regained and prices advanced to about the previous closing level or slightly above. The return of showery weather in portions of the belt received various interpretations. Some authorities advanced the belief that showers would again promote weevil activity while others felt rain would benefit the growing plant. Houses with trade connections were on the buying side and while the market as a whole was inactive the undertone was distinctly steady, although buyers were inclined to avoid more detailed weather and crop advices.

Grain Market

Chicago, July 27.—(AP)—Late soaring of prices hoisted wheat today to the topmost point since July 1 and about 5 cents a bushel above last week's low.

Speculative buying was persistent influenced by continued unfavorable crop reports from Canada and Europe. Liverpool quotations gained steadily on Chicago. July contracts at Liverpool today being 6 1-8 cents compared with only 13-4 on July 12.

Stock Market

New York, July 27.—(AP)—After wobbling uncertainly during the morning, the stock market responded once more to bullish stimulation today.

The regular U. S. Steel preferred dividend prompted profit taking in that issue. A fairly favorable power production report, however, and the recall of workers at the RCA-Victor plant, provided speculators for the rise with fresh ammunition.

In the electric power group, gains of 1 to 2 points appeared in American Water Works, Standard Gas, Pacific Lighting, Commonwealth and Southern preferred and United Corp. preferred. Radio Corp. common gained fractionally, and the preferred B 2 points. Miscellaneous rallies were higher, 1 point gains appeared in Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Illinois Central and Atlantic Coast Line. Losses of about a point in American Telephone and Westinghouse were recovered. Standard of N. J. and U. S. Steel common suffered major fractions and failed to rally with much enthusiasm. U. S. Steel preferred dropped 4, then recovered much of its loss. Trading was moderately active.

Freight car loadings for the week, on the basis of individual reports now available, seem to be barely holding their own, but the power production report is now widely regarded as a more important index.

The strength of Commonwealth and Southern preferred followed declaration of the regular dividend. Omission of the common had been expected.

EAST AND MIDWEST WILL SEE INTENSIVE CAMPAIGN

He did obtain a general agreement from the conferees to stand on the party platform—prohibition repeal plank and all. Many other things which must after all, be decided upon by Governor Roosevelt, also were talked over.

Among them was the understanding that Republicans will work hard on the East and Mid-West, which holds a considerable and much-desired portion of the electoral votes.

The Democrats seemed willing to accept this concentration, a majority agreeing that it would be beneficial for Roosevelt to confine his speeches to that region.

Farley's explanation of these suggestions was that "the Solid South and most of the West assuredly are Democratic from the outset." He and other party leaders hope despite Republican counter-efforts to gain much support in New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts, for instance, by the time election day rolls around. The New Jersey drive is to begin at Seagriff with a Roosevelt speech on August 27.

What campaigning Speaker Garner will do, Farley said, remains to be decided after the vice-presidential candidate talks with Roosevelt within the next two weeks. Garner indicated before he went to Texas to fish that he would prefer to use the radio as much as possible but likely would go to California for one speech.

The ex-convict is charged with killing W. J. Carter, who operated a filling station near Spry, N. C., on May 8, and with slaying Deputy Sheriff J. A. Robertson at the same town a week later.

Robertson fell under gunfire here he investigated a light burning in a schoolhouse while Carter was shot to death by two men who held up his filling station.

Fogleman evaded arrest here early this month by shooting one of two Cincinnati policemen who attempted to arrest him. Later he and a companion staged a gun battle with Jackson, Ky. officer, and then he returned here where he was captured.

Lester Sheffield said Fogleman escaped from a prison camp at Fort Bragg, N. C., near Fayetteville while serving a Federal sentence on a liquor charge after being arrested.

PHILS BEAT REDS 10-5 IN SLUGFEST

By GAYLE TALBOT (Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Phillies, starting another extended stand in their own Baker bowl, may supply the big news of the next few weeks in the National League.

This club has found itself and is coming along. In a virtual tie for third place today, it promises to be higher when Klein, Hurst, Whitney and Bartell get through with a few dozen visiting pitchers.

When they opened their last home stand against the West almost two months ago, the Phils were in seventh place. They have won 10 of their last 14 starts, mostly on the road.

A typical assault, which netted eight runs off Owen Carroll's delivery in the first two innings, gave Burt Shotton's sluggers a 10-5 victory over Cincinnati in yesterday's opener. Klein, Hurst and Whitney each hit a home run.

The Pirates and Giants in their "crucial" series of seven games in four days at the Polo Grounds, split, a double header. Bill Terry's homer with two aboard helped the Giants take the first 7-3 but the league leaders came back to capture the second 7-5 in 10 innings.

The Chicago Cubs picked up a half game on Pittsburgh by trimming the Boston Braves 7-2 behind Pat Malone's five-hit pitching performance. Brooklyn's surprising Dodgers thumped the St. Cardinals twice, 12-6 and 5-4.

Two contests survived the rain in the American League, and in one of them the Boston Red Sox turned their newest pitcher, Johnny Welch, loose on the Chicago White Sox for a 6-1 victory.

George Blaholder's steady pitching, plus his timely single that scored Levey in the second inning with the winning run, gave the St. Louis Browns a 3-2 decision over Washington.

BOUND OVER FOR SLAYING

(Continued from Page One) police they were present when Willis was fatally wounded. None, however, would admit firing the fatal shot.

They sat in recorder's court room here and heard Detective C. S. Jones and Police Chief J. R. Jones repeat the confessions they said the four made after their arrest several days ago.

All four listened silently to the officers read the confession and only one of the four spoke during the hearing.

This was Webb who said: "Mr. Willis didn't leave the meat block while I was in the store." He was contradicting part of the confession as it was read.

The confession revealed Charlie Jones said Willis obtained a saw and knife and started for Adams who hit him on the head with a gun; that Webb admitted firing a pistol into the ceiling; that Willie Jones admitted the four were intent on robbing Willis.

VETS AWAIT EVICTION AT THE CAPITAL CITY

"The Treasury has its workers here ready to start," Glassford told Walters. "Do you want to evacuate?"

"I can't ask the men to vacate until there are other quarters for them," Walters replied.

"Well, I haven't any orders to vacate them," Glassford said.

Major Edward Keyes was on the job as official observer for the Treasury Department. He said the orders went from the Treasury to the district commissioners yesterday afternoon.

But they had not reached Glassford, so after trying unsuccessfully to reach the commissioners over the telephone, he returned to his office to await the delayed orders.

BEES SWEEP SERIES WITH CAP OUTFIT

Charlotte, July 27.—(AP)—Halted temporarily by three straight losses to the Greensboro Patriots, the Charlotte Hornets are seemingly off again on another sprint in their battle to sew up the second half of the Piedmont League race.

Thanks largely to a booming homer by left Eddie Wilson, the Bees swept the series with Raleigh by halting the Caps a 3-1 beating last night.

The Pats clung grimly to their second run perch by nosing out the Wilmington Pirates 5-4 in a 10-inning affray.

A 2-1 defeat at the hands of the Durham Bulls kept the Winston-Salem Twins in the cellar, a half game behind the Pirates.

The three games of last night produced a total of 55 hits which were converted into an aggregate of 16 runs.

Bud Shaney, who tossed the league leaders to victory was touched for 11 safe singles, but 10 of the Caps who reached first died on the bases.

Wilson's homer came in the 8th inning, just after the Strainmen had tied up the contest at one-all in their half of that inning. His circuit cut apparently gave his teammates whatever inspiration they needed, for they added another run in the same frame to lay the game on ice.

Two Twin errors in the first inning were blamed for what proved to be the winning tally for the Bulls. Monroe Mitchell bused Paul Follard in the pitching duel, developed by this encounter. The former yielded six hits against the eight given up by the Twin hurler.

In the Patriot-Pirate game, Lewis Greensboro catcher, stepped out of

The following numbers were rendered at the home: "Some Day We Will Understand;" "Oh, Love That Will Not Let Me Go;" and "My Faith Looks Up To Thee." At the graveside "Abide With Me" was sung after the reading of Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar" by Mr. Hillman.

Mrs. James, formerly Miss Mangie Cherry, and the following survive: Charles, James Burton, and Larry James; Mrs. W. T. Lipscomb and Miss Ada James, all of Greenville. He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. H. L. Fennell of Wilmington, and Mrs. H. A. White of Greenville, and nine grandchildren and several nieces and nephews. Charles and Louis Skinner, sons of Col. James' daughter, Mrs. Charles O. Skinner, who died in 1918, have made their home with their grandfather since the death of their mother.

Asheville, N. C., July 27.—(AP)—Judge P. H. Clement, of Winston-Salem, today denied a State motion to dismiss a petition for a new trial for Luke Lea, Jr., and Wallace B. Davis, and ordered attorneys to proceed with reading of affidavits preparatory to giving arguments.

Attorneys for the trio then began presentation of petitions, legal documents and affidavits, after which the motion for a new trial will be argued.

The allegations were read to the court by Clyde R. Hoy of the counsel for the petitioners and denied for the State by Thomas L. Johnson, special counsel for Gurney P. Hood, State Commissioner of Banks who is assisting Solicitor Zeb B. V. Nettles.

Colonel and Mrs. Lea and Mr. and Mrs. Davis were present in the courtroom with several relatives. Hoy said Lea, Jr., was ill and unable to attend the hearing because of a recent operation.

Affidavits that "Juror Flynn" had said before the trial that "all are guilty of robbing the bank and all of them ought to be in the penitentiary" were signed by Sam Plott, Mrs. C. W. Pickens, W. J. Campbell, and C. V. Bell, all of Canton.

Flynn was also quoted as saying "the Chinese law for beholding bankers in banks that fall ought to be in force in this country."

T. L. Jamison, James Gossett and John B. Mann, all of Haywood county, signed affidavits that Juror Cook was biased.

An affidavit signed by Hurt Justice, foreman of the jury that convicted the two Leas and Davis, was ruled cut without its being read when Judge Clement sustained a State objection on the grounds it was "improper."

Homers Cagle and Guder Bryson, both of Haywood County, signed affidavits saying they visited the jury while it was locked up over Sunday and played cards in the jury room.

Carter Osborne and Silar Jolley signed affidavits that Smart was a biased juror.

Affidavits that prejudice existed in Haywood County, that it was "impossible to get unbiased jurors" there and that Asheville newspapers had published "prejudicial articles" concerning the defendants, were signed by a number of Haywood County citizens.

PUSH CAUSE OF BONUS HERE

attempting to collect clothing, food and money for the thousands of men comprising the army at the Capital City. The men will remain here until tomorrow afternoon, and hope was expressed that contributions to the cause would be liberal. Persons desiring to make contributions have been requested to send them either to headquarters or telephone 150, and members of the contingent will call for them.

Two speeches dealing with the bonus questions have been delivered by Raymond Andrews, of Raleigh, during the group's stay here, and they were heard by comparatively large crowds.

Andrews will climax the tour here with a speech at the courthouse tonight at 8 o'clock. He will discuss "The Remedy for Depression," and will tell how the government can pay the bonus. He will also express his opinion regarding the visit of Ambassador Mellon, who reached America yesterday from England, for a visit of several days. In addition, he will launch a vigorous attack on the Veterans' Bureau, which he says is attempting to stop veterans' allowances through an economy bill with the aid of a diabolical scheme of a selected few.

In a speech from the Evans Street entrance to the courthouse last night, Andrews launched a vigorous exposition of the methods of the Federal Reserve Board, which he charged was organized by the trusts and operated for the benefit of the big interests.

He said today his statements regarding the method of finance were challenged on the streets by a banker, and that he would produce documentary proof for consideration of his audience tonight.

He was heard by a fairly large crowd last night, and caused occasional titters by direct jabs at the President, who was charged with turning his back on the thousands of ragged, half-starved men marching daily within view of the White House. He declared no hope for support could be expected from this direction, but that the bonus army would stock to Capital City until they were satisfied their cause had been vindicated.

"I was unable to eat a square meal without suffering tortures with indigestion. My stomach was in terrible condition. I was losing weight steadily and got so weak I could hardly keep going. I had terrible pains like neuritis in my neck, arms and back and knees. I had X-rays made and tried all kinds of medicines and treatments but nothing seemed to reach my troubles.
