COURT ORDER STALLS OPINION IN WALKER CASE

CLARKE SKULL BEFORE JURY IN FLORIDA

Slides Also Produced to Show the Pistol Wounds in Head of Slain Writer

Miami, Fla., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Using the bullet-pierced skull of Haden Clarke and the pistol that ended his life to illustrate his testimony, Arthur H. Hamilton, criminologist of Auburn, N. Y., told a jury today that he was "absolutely convinced" Clarke committed suicide.

"There is not a scintilla of evidence here to show that Clarke was murdered," Hamilton testified as a defense witness in the trial of Captain W. N. Lancaster, British aviator charged with the young writer's murder.

Miami, Fla., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The bullet-pierced skull of Haden Clarke and mysteriously slain fiancée of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, was brought into the courtroom today at the trial of Captain W. N. Lancaster for Clarke's murder.

The skull, along with slides showing the bullet hole in the forehead, were brought before the jury and spectators by Dr. M. H. Tallman, defense witness and one of a commission of four specialists who conducted an autopsy on the body of the young writer.

Two holes, one marking entrance of the bullet that fatally wounded Clarke on April 21, and the other marking the exit, were pointed out by Dr. Tallman as the twelve jurors in the case leaned forward in their chairs, their expression varying from acute interest to horror.

Spectators were equally interested. "I am charged with slaying Clarke as an act of jealous retribution after the author replaced him in the affections of Mrs. Keith-Miller, peered intently at the skull. Beverly Clarke, brother of the young author, betrayed no emotion as he sat at the table of the prosecutive attorney.

Mrs. Keith-Miller, third figure in the unusual love triangle, was not in the courtroom when the skull was shown. Neither was Mrs. Ida Clyde Clarke, mother of the dead man, who was subpoenaed as a witness in the trial, but who has not testified.

After brief argument by counsel, the skull was admitted as evidence but the slides were temporarily withheld.

This was because Dr. Tallman said it would be impossible without chemical analysis to tell whether the head tissue was powder marked, a frequent characteristic of suicide.

After the skull was displayed briefly it was placed in a square cardboard box and laid on the desk of the court clerk with other exhibits.

Dr. Tallman left the stand with the understanding that he might be recalled, and Arthur H. Hamilton of Auburn, N. Y., ballistics and criminology expert was called by the defense to describe the effects of various gunshot wounds.

Hamilton testified that in cases where a gun muzzle is held loosely against the head he had found that powder marks generally show on the outer flesh.

"When a gun muzzle is held tightly to the head powder gases will force flesh away from the skull leaving powder and gas marks on the inner tissue."

The tissue forcing process is known as "ballooning," Hamilton said.

The autopsy report, after a medical commission examined the body of Clarke three weeks after death, told of finding "ballooned" flesh about the wound.

President Demands New Type Of Liquor Control In Acceptance Address

Washington, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A startling presidential call for prohibition reform and a promise to beat down the economic "hurricane" leads Republicans into the 1932 campaign.

An astonished and tensely expectant audience of Republican leaders in vast Constitution Hall heard Mr. Hoover last night in his speech of formal acceptance of renomination go far beyond his party platform and demand a new order of liquor control.

"I cannot consent to the continuation of the present liquor laws. I cannot consent to the continuance of the present liquor laws." (Continued on page six)

Fiddler, 63 Years COMMENT ON HOOVER VIEW

Newspapers Have Varied Opinions Concerning President's Speech

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Excerpts from editorials on the Hoover acceptance speech follow: Brooklyn Eagle: Mr. Hoover's attitude on prohibition is still indefinite. It presses down harder on both sides than does his party platform but he is no less a straddler. His equivocation on this issue is all the more marked coming after his general acceptance speech.

JOHN GARNER GREET'S LONG

Speaker of the House Stops in New Orleans En Route to N. Y. to See Roosevelt

New Orleans, Aug. 12.—(AP)—John N. Garner, the Democratic Vice-presidential candidate stopped here briefly today on his way to Albany to meet his running mate for the first time since the nominations.

He declined to comment on political issues until he had talked with Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Half way through his breakfast, Senator Huey P. Long breezed in, dressed in a white suit and carrying a fancy cane.

"Hello, Jack! Thought you might wish to touch my garment to bring it up to date." (Continued on page four)

SEE NEW LIFE FOR CAMPAIGN

Presidential Battle Expected to Take on Additional Steam From Now On

Washington, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Faced by the issues of prohibition and economic recovery, the Presidential campaign has caught its second wind with last night's big Republican jubilee in Washington and may be expected to move at livelier step from now on in every section of the country.

After a period of planning on both sides, President Hoover accepts the nomination with a pronouncement for a prohibition change and a new attack on depression. Governor Roosevelt will reply a week from tomorrow in a speech at Columbus, O. Then the voters at least will have something tangible to argue about.

Mr. Hoover's prohibition proposal—to leave the question to the states but protect dry states against importation and outlaw the saloon—left no doubt of the trend of Republican strategy on that issue. In the space of the 1,000 words he devoted to the subject, the Republican nominee declared four separate times that he was opposed to the saloon. Unquestionably that word will recur many, many times in coming weeks as Republican speakers seek to brand the Democratic party as the "saloon party."

The designation, of course, is indignantly disavowed by Democratic leaders, who contend their repeal plank would mean neither a return of saloons nor any of the other ruinous results predicted by the President.

Even submission has been opposed. (Continued on page four)

Roosevelt And Hoover Views On Big Problems

Washington, Aug. 12.—(AP)—This is what Presidential candidates of the two big parties say about some of the country's problems: Prohibition: Hoover—"It is my belief that in order to remedy present evils a change is necessary by which we resumption a proper share of initiative and responsibility which the very essence of our government demands shall rest upon the states and local authorities. That change must avoid return of the saloon. Roosevelt—"I am confident that the

O'NEIL TALKS WITH FARLEY SEEK BETTER ROAD TO NORTH

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Ralph T. O'Neill, of Topeka, Kansas, former National Commander of the American Legion, whose appointment as head of a veterans' division of the Democratic National Committee was announced in Washington yesterday, discussed the political situation with National Chairman Jas. A. Farley today.

"Governor Roosevelt is the logical candidate for the veterans," O'Neill said after a conference with Farley. "The present administration has not been a particularly friendly one to ex-service men."

William T. Kemper, of Kansas City, Democratic National Committeeman from Missouri, one of a group of State Democratic leaders here to confer with Farley, predicted that his State would go Democratic this year for the first time since the World War by a large majority.

Kemper also predicted that the entire Congressional delegation of Missouri would be Democratic after the next election.

MAYOR DENIES FINANCIAL AID

New York City Executive Said He Had No Part in Influencing the Granting of Franchise to a Bus Company in Which His Friend, Senator Hastings, Was Interested; Roosevelt Asks Many Questions

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Possibility that Gov. Roosevelt's decision on the ouster charges against Mayor James J. Walker of New York City may be delayed until after next November's election developed today when Roosevelt announced he would withhold his action until after the question of his removal powers went to the courts.

Shortly after the morning session of the Walker hearing, now in its second day, the governor stated he would not pass upon the mayor's case until the Supreme Court had had an opportunity to determine the legality of a writ of prohibition, demanded by George Donnelly, secretary of the Bronx Chamber of Commerce.

Tossing the dispute over Mr. Roosevelt's power to remove Mr. Walker into the New York court machinery to the extent of the delayed final action, obscures the Tammany influence in his election. Should the removal or exonerated of the mayor go over until after the November election, the factors for and against the Democratic presidential nominee that depend upon ouster action, would be non-operative.

It is generally believed that removal of Walker would alienate some Tammany support and also the support of friends of the mayor in certain Democratic balliwicks. On the other hand, it is conceded by some party leaders, a removal order would make friends for the governor in the south and west where Tammany is not particularly popular.

Retention of Walker would have the reverse effect, it is held. Some political commentators believe that New York State's 45 electoral votes might turn on the governor's action in the Walker case.

Candidates Must Prove Value

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 11.—(AP)—If Socialists, Communists and Prohibitionists want to get their presidential candidates on the official North Carolina ballot they probably will have to prove they can draw enough votes to keep the State from wasting money.

The State Board of Elections will meet in the near future to decide upon a plan of procedure for permitting the candidates of the minor parties to get on the ballot.

In some states, Judge J. Crawford Biggs, chairman of the Board said, minor parties are required to submit petitions signed by a certain percentage of the voters in the previous election.

If North Carolina would adopt the minimum, 1 per cent, petitions with 6,500 names would have to be submitted. The 1928 vote was approximately 650,000. The maximum percentage is 15.

North Carolina has no set rule, but Attorney General Dennis G. Brummit is of the opinion the Board of Elections has authority to make one. Ten thousand voters must sign petitions for an independent candidate or a candidate of a minor party to get their names on a primary ballot under the primaries law.

The Board of Elections was to have met Friday, but the meeting was postponed because a number of members were on vacation.

At the same time Bentley said the Southern Silk Mills have orders on hand that will keep the two plants in operation both day and night, six days a week, until October.

Governor Roosevelt asked Walker if he remembered attending a party celebrating the granting of the Equitable franchise.

"I attended no celebration," Walker said. "I did attend a party, but no one who knows anything about bus transportation was there."

Q.—Was Senator Hastings there?

A.—Senator Hastings and his wife were there, but he was not there because of interest in bus transportation, Walker said. The event was a costume party, attended by "theatrical people, who didn't know any more about bus transportation than the people in Honolulu."

He didn't know, he said, whether any Equitable Coach Company officials were present. He could not remember ever in his life having seen J. Allan Smith, New York representative of the company.

Roosevelt then turned to the $10,000 letter of credit purchased by Smith.

Q.—Where was Senator Hastings' office at that time?

A.—I don't know.

Q.—Did you know Senator Hastings had an office with J. Allan Smith?

A.—I did not and I don't know it yet.

ABOUT TOWN

ABOUT TOWN

The proposed to pave the road from Bethel to Oak City as a means of creating a paved route from this section to Richmond and Norfolk will be placed before the district highway commissioner at Scotland Neck today by representatives of the Greenville civic clubs. Improvement of this stretch of road, it is said, will reduce the distance between Greenville and northern plants and save the people of both territories thousands of dollars annually. The state government is going to spend something like six millions of dollars for road improvement in this state in the near future in an effort to relieve the unemployment situation. Roads like that between Oak City and Bethel, furnishing a direct connection between two important parts of the country, should receive first consideration and it is hoped the commissioners will give the matter due attention and do his best to meet the demand.

The saving of time, which means money to busy people, is one of the greatest problems confronting the various states of the union at this time and if important connecting links like that now under consideration were to be improved throughout the nation the road system would be the most complete on earth. It is a big program the nation has before it but one which must be completed if future generations make the progress expected of them.

President Hoover has been duly notified that he is the Republican nominee for the presidency in the forthcoming election, and that means the country will hear more of the president in the future than it has heard from him in quite a while, although he has been quite active in dissemination of information concerning public welfare.

It is difficult to understand why it is necessary to notify a man of his nomination months after it actually occurred; but as it is a policy of long standing it may be considered the proper thing without too much analyzing.

When Franklin D. Roosevelt was nominated by the Democrats he appeared before the convention immediately and told the boys what he had to say and avoided notification preliminaries. It was a precedent, of course, but Roosevelt believes in shattering tradition and setting new examples, and the country will applaud him for his nerve.

The notification plan gave Mr. Hoover a little more time to consider what he would tell the country. His speech last night was a striking contrast to the former. His promises of prosperity were not quite so profuse and that was viewed with some apprehension by people who know how strong he has always been on the prosperity angle.

However, times have changed since the first notification ceremony, and Mr. Hoover has changed along with them. He has learned that it requires something more than talk to keep people in a happy, contented frame of mind, and this acquisition of knowledge may stand him in good stead in the present campaign, providing of course he can live down the effect of unfulfilled promises on the public mind.

The upward trend on the cotton market is viewed with undisguised pleasure by the millions of farmers of the southland at this time and if the change continues some of the boys who have hardly been able to keep their heads above water will find themselves floating along with the tide of prosperity in future years.

The government estimate of slightly over eleven million bales for this year compared with over seven million last year had a pronounced effect on the market, and it is believed this will be permanent a spite of the glutted condition of the world market.

That the increase of prices will be used in other fields of agriculture

The Faithful

Cheat

By Ruby M. Ayres

SYNOPSIS: Sondra Kent has been through a nervous strain, watching John Anderson save a boy from drowning in the ocean. He has held for many years the attitude of her guardian. Now he has asked her to marry him. She admits she is secretly married to Mark Merriman.

Chapter 29 SHARP EYES

"I thought you were so happy here," John said to Sondra, "only this evening you said..." "I won't be the same when you've gone," she said. They looked at one another silently, and it was Anderson who turned away. "Go and change that dress," he said in a matter-of-fact voice. She looked after him, her mouth quivering, the tears still in her eyes, then before he could reach the door, she slipped between it and him.

He laid his hands on her shoulders in a grip that made her wince. "Go and change that dress," he said again. Then he put her gently aside and walked past her out of the room. Sondra went slowly upstairs, clinging to the balusters as she went, trembling in every limb. "If John had been drowned—" the words seemed circling all about her, refusing to be silenced. "If John had been drowned—" She changed her wet clothes mechanically and tied her hair.

The little window overlooked the sea, and she shivered as her eyes fell upon it. The sun had nearly disappeared below the horizon, and the chill greyness of night was creeping up over the world. Downstairs she could hear Anderson whistling cheerily as he hunted about in the kitchen for the tea things.

She smiled tremulously, contrasting him with the man as she had known in New York. Even Cass would be amused if he could see him now in that old flannel coat and trousers. Presently she heard him calling to her. "Hurry up, the kettle's boiling."

She went out onto the stairs; Anderson was standing at the foot of them looking up. "You've taken longer to change than I did," he said. "Yes," she tried to smile, but her lips were unsteady.

She followed him into the little living-room; he had gathered some tea things together anyhow on a tray and filled the teapot. "I'm afraid I haven't made much of a job of it," he said ruefully.

Sondra was standing close beside him, but she said nothing, and he turned to look at her and his face changed. "What's the matter, my dear?" he asked, very gently.

She raised her eyes, infinitely pathetic they were, and angrily ashamed. "Do you remember—" she said slowly, "the other day you said—you said that you'd stayed away because—because you wanted me to find out if it was—you I wanted—or—some other man?"

Anderson moved, crossing to where she stood, and looked down at her with eyes that were rather pathetic. "It's not for me to preach—" he said hoarsely. "I'm many miles from being perfect myself—but it seems brutally unfair, Sondra, that you should speak to me like this, after—after...deceiving me as you have done. Don't you think I should ever have told you I loved you had I known about Merriman? I'm not fond of—of having my heart torn out and—thrown at me."

"It was a mistake...I've told you...I don't know what made me do it."

"And so isn't it probable that this—this feeling you have for me may be a mistake too? That perhaps—when you see Merriman again you may be thankful that I—I haven't taken you at your word now?"

"She turned her face away. 'I wish I could believe that,' she said fiercely. 'I'd give anything in the world to find after all that you...weren't anything to me, and he...'"

"Sondra and John wait together on the pier, tomorrow, for Mark's ship."

MONEY GONE, ASKS CHARITY (Continued from page one) out to keep the wolf away from the door, she told the officer, and the fickle winds of chance no longer provided her with a livelihood.

Chief Clark looked upon the woman as compassionately as an officer of the law is supposed to gaze upon anybody, and told her the case was held strictly for distribution among poor people.

Annie insisted she was poor and didn't know exactly where the next meal was coming from. The policeman remained unmoved, however, and firmly told the woman she would have to show him more direct signs of poverty before he would consider letting her have flour needed so keenly by the half-starved men and women of the community who have suffered the pangs of hunger and want for months.

Annie left the police department, but in a few days she and a son will appear in County court in answer to a charge of reckless driving of an automobile, and if the fine doesn't take all the $300 cash bond, maybe she will be able to hear, or feel, a little cash jingling around in her stockings-bank and keep the wolf away from the door until job becomes more plentiful and business conditions improve.

COMMENT ON HOOVER VIEW

New York Evening Post: It seems as if a new Hoover were trying to struggle out through that acceptance speech—or, perhaps the old Hoover is when so many of us thought we were voting in 1928. There was in it a degree of candor, of definite commitment and of deep feeling such as we have not seen in any speech by the president since he entered the White House.

Atlanta Constitution: The chief significance of the address is in his admission that his one time "noble experiment" of prohibition has become a ignominious failure. He seeks to garner the dry vote by an attack on the Democratic position on prohibition, while appealing for the wet vote by endorsing the Democratic position.

Charlotte News: So they notified Mr. Hoover... and he said "Boys, I am both surprised and touched" Then they said they had to have something to run on, now that necessity has run out on them, and he said "Boys, I've got something to offer these fellows—hard adiana and he said prohibition.

If by an intentional mistake we held aside Mr. Hoover's speech of acceptance and started out from the Democratic platform, aren't we doing just about what Mr. Hoover did?

Raleigh News and Observer: Yesterday the Pol'anna pledges of 1928 when he (Hoover) assumed the around the corner and good times would return in 60 days was wholly absent. Mr. Hoover does not intend upon what he bases his claim "we will succeed." Yet he sticks to the high protective tariff which has denied foreign markets and like measures which are chiefly responsible for the "fear and panic" which pervaded his administration and would not have come at all or would have been lessened if equal laws and equal administration had prevailed. He now favors submitting the 18th amendment to the people so they can vote to keep it or repeal it. Mr. Hoover has been shown the zeal or determination to enforce the 18th amendment essential to proper enforcement.

"Judging by what you said for Senator Caraway, I think I ought to do it three times," replied Garner

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks sunk, don't swallow a lot of salt, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes these good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Rasent a substitute. 25¢ at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

as he slapped Huey's lapel. Long told Garner "of course you will win," and advised the Texan to let Roosevelt to come to New Orleans for luck. "Tell him to come to Louisiana and New Orleans, if only for half an hour, and he'll get all the luck there is," said Long. "Andrew Jackson came here, and look what happened to Andrew Jackson."

Huey then sauntered out. Garner finished his breakfast and took the Eastbound train to meet Roosevelt at Albany Monday.

SEES NEW LIFE FOR CAMPAIGN (Continued from page one) by some of the more militant dry societies, although they have indicated they would concentrate their energies on electing acceptable members of Congress, rather than a President. As Mr. Roosevelt favors repeal, dries who insist on having a candidate committed to the present regime would appear to have no place to go except into the Prohibition party.

THOUSANDS OF MINERS WILL RETURN TO WORK (Continued from page one) them for operations. Many of the big operators have announced dates for the resumption of mining. When the mines are again working at capacity, it was expected by many business leaders that more than 125,000 persons in allied industries would be given employment.

DR. LAY DIES IN DURHAM (Continued from page one) Lawrence of Chapel Hill, will conduct services from the Chapel Hill Episcopal Church.

Dr. Lay is to be buried in his clerical robe. Interment will be in the family plot here. The family requests no flowers be sent.

The aged educator's last ministerial work was in Raleigh where he was acting rector in the Church of the Good Shepherd for nine months during 1930.

He is particularly well known for his eleven years of creative work at St. Mary's, Raleigh. When called there in 1907, St. Mary's was the largest school for girls of the Episcopal Church in America.

He was born in Huntsville, Ala., February 26, 1860 while his father, The Rt. Rev. Henry Champlin Lay, was a missionary bishop of the Episcopal church in the Southwest.

After receiving degrees from Yale University and the General Theological Seminary in New York, Dr. Lay was ordained a priest in 1886 and until 1888 served as assistant rector of St. George's church at Newburgh, N. Y.

That year he was made master of St. Paul's School at Concord, New Hampshire.

In 1907 he came to North Carolina as rector of St. Mary's, Episcopal school for girls at Raleigh. He took an active part in religious and educational work in his adopted state and was a member of the North Carolina Goods Roads Association.

Dr. Lay, who came of distinguished lineage, married Anna Booth Balch, a daughter of Admiral Geo. Beall Balch, U. S. N., in Baltimore, Md., in 1894. Admiral Balch served with Perry in the first Japan expedition and later was commander of the naval academy.

The widow and seven children survive. The children are: Mrs. Paul Green, wife of the playwright, of Chapel Hill; Mrs. Ella Hedgekison of Minneapolis, Minn.; Mrs. Charles White of Greenville, N. C.; Mrs. Virginia Hawkins of Binghamton, N. Y.; Henry C. Lay of Venezuela, and George Lay of Chapel Hill.

Dr. Lay was a descendant of John Lay, who settled in Connecticut in 1648.

NO CLUES IN MURDER CASE (Continued from page one) Dana, her ward whom neighbors called the "wid man," were held on charges of murder. Both protested their innocence, but admitted trouble with Miss Merrill over the trespassing of Dana's goats.

The couple, 60 and 6, years of age, respectively, were accused on comparison of their fingerprints with blood stained prints found on articles in Gienburney mansion where Miss Merrill, 68 years old, was supposed to have been shot to death, last Thursday night and her body dragged into a thicket.

Officers today re-questioned John Geiger, an unemployed logger, who claimed an overcoat left in the Merrill house supposedly by the slayer, but Geiger denied any connection with the case.

Odell Ferguson, to whose home bloodhounds trailed on the night of the killing, was also held without charge, along with Willie Boyd, a negro tenant at Gienburney.

PRESIDING ELDERS' CONFERENCE OPENS Lake Junaluska, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Formal organization of the presiding elders' conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, began here today with an open forum on various phases of presiding eldership.

Rev. L. B. Hayes, presiding elder of the Waynesville district, delivered the initial platform address last night and the Rev. Walt Holcomb, pastor of the Madison Heights Methodist Church of Memphis, was scheduled to preach tonight.

CUBS REGAIN FIRST PLACE IN NATIONAL

By HERBERT W. PARKER (Associated Press Sports Writer) Nine days after Charley Grimm took over their managerial reins, the Chicago Cubs have regained first place in the National League pennant race.

Whether or not attributable to Grimm's master-minding, the fact remains that the Cubs, under his handling, have won six of their last eight games, all on the road.

Their 3-2 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday gave them a one-game margin over the Pirates for first place and reinstated them in the pace-setting position for the first time since June 28th when they first took command.

In the battle of the two leaders, Grimm out as a pitcher's duel between Steve Swetonic and Len Sneke but neither was around to finish. Warneke went out for a pinch hitter in the eighth after the Pirates had counted twice on doubles by Gus Suhr and Earl Grace and a single by Floyd Vaughan. The Cubs tied it up in the eighth on a pinch double by Gudat, a single by Herman and Woody English's triple. As the clubs went into extra innings, Vaughan's low throw gave Cuyler a "life" in the tenth. Stephen's single sent "Kiki" to third and he scored the winning run on Moore's long fly.

The only other National League game of the day saw the Phillies end a six-game losing streak at the expense of the Boston Braves, 7-2. The Phils rocked Bob Brown for four runs in the first frame and won easily as Ray Bengie kept nine Boston hits well scattered.

Action in the American League also was limited to two games. Wes Ferrell won his 19th victory of the season as Cleveland beat Detroit 4-0. Ferrell allowed only seven hits and pitched well.

Whitehill granted the Indians only five safe blows but Cleveland made full use of them. Earl Felt's 27th homer accounted for the win.

St. Louis Browns walloped Lyons for five runs in the fifth and beat the Chicago White Sox 6-5. What turned out to be the winning run was scored off Phil Mullan in the sixth with Luke Appling's fumble a contributing factor.

"I Had To Take Some Kind of a Laxative Every Day," He Says

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills Regulated My Bowels Perfectly." I suffered with chronic constipation for twenty years. I finally reached the point where I had to take some kind of a laxative every day, but all they did was to purge my bowels and help me for the time being. Sargon Pills brought me my first and only lasting relief. They regulated my bowels perfectly. I don't believe there is another laxative like them in the world.—M. F. Harwood, 70 Lenox St., Rochester, N. Y.

"I No Longer Have To Dose Myself With Harsh Purgatives"

Will Always Bless the Day She Started Sargon Soft Mass Pills. "For the first time in six years I don't have to dose myself with harsh purgatives. All my troubles with constipation and biliousness were ended by Sargon Pills. My system has changed to a clear, healthy color. These pills are different from any other laxative I have ever used. I'll always bless the day I took a friend's advice and started taking them."—Mrs. S. Treloax, 321 Lime Ave., Long Beach, Calif.

He Never Has To Take Laxatives Of Any Description

Used Cathartics Almost Daily Before He Took Sargon Pills. "For more than ten years I suffered from constipation and an inactive, torpid liver. I never tried to do anything to take some sort of laxative or cathartic almost every day. It has now been thirty days since I took Sargon Soft Mass Pills, and I no longer find it necessary to take pills or laxatives of any kind for I am perfectly regulated."—Thomas C. Matthews, 1641 Waco Street, Denver, Colo.

Is Now Perfectly Regulated First Time in 15 Years

Was Continually Taking Medicines Without Lasting Benefits. "I was continually taking physics and laxatives but could find nothing to do to relieve my dreadful constipation. Thanks to Sargon Soft Mass Pills I now, for the first time in fifteen years, have regular and thorough bowel elimination. This is the only laxative I ever used that works naturally and healthily without the harsh purging of upsetting effects."—Mrs. Ella Warner, 541 E. 32nd St., Portland, Oregon.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

New York Cotton

Ne York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady at a decline of 7 to 14 points in response to lower Liverpool cables and under Southern selling and liquidation.

December sold off to 7.51 and March to 7.72 under the initial pressure, or about 12 to 16 points net lower, but offerings were absorbed by trade and commission house buying at the decline and the market was steadier at the end of the first half hour.

December rallied to 7.75, active months generally showing rallies of 4 or 5 points from the lowest. Houses with Liverpool and Continental connections were sellers here at the start, presumably on the differences. There was also some Southern selling and scattered realizing. Part of the early demand again came from Wall Street sources. Liverpool cables reported general liquidation influenced by the threatened strike in Lancashire and hedge selling, but there had been increased cloth sales for shipment to India and China.

The market eased later in the morning under continued realizing coupled with further Southern selling and some selling in anticipation of a week-end reaction, apparently encouraged by the action of the stock market. A few spot orders were uncovered on the decline which carried December off to 7.41 and March to 7.65, or 21 to 23 points net lower. Offerings were absorbed by continued trade and scattered commission house buying, but slight rallies met increased offerings, and the market at mid-day was within a point or two of the lowest.

Grain Market

Chicago, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Despite a late transient rally ascribed to eastern buying, wheat displayed unmistakable weakness today. Confidence recently manifested was lacking. Trade summaries indicated a large exportable surplus of wheat in North America, and good rains were reported in parts of the Canadian northwest.

Stock Market

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The stock market continued to waver today, evidently reflecting uncertainty in trading quarters as to whether the advance would be pressed further without the aid of more general improvement in business conditions.

President Hoover's acceptance speech was widely discussed in Wall Street, but there was no agreement in speculative quarters as to its influence as a market factor.

The market had a substantial set-back in the morning, but Hoover supporters said it had been entitled to it in view of the violence of the recent advance, and were inclined to praise the President's avoidance of any glowing comment on business which might have stimulated speculation.

Some of the so-called "wet" stocks were bid up, and so were some of the power issues, possibly reflecting the president's pretention of his stand against putting the government into the power business.

Flashes of Life

(By The Associated Press)

Muskogee, Okla.—Muskogee won the game, 12 to 2, but it wasn't that easy. When time for the Hutchinson-Muskogee game of the Western Association came yesterday there were no balls to play with. There were no funds to buy them. Muskogee solved the problem. It traded a pitcher to Hutchinson for four balls—and the game proceeded.

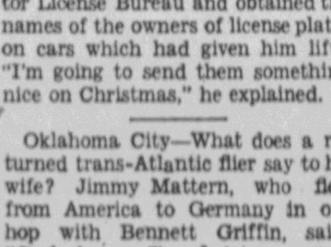

Albany—The official reporter of the Walker hearing down on Shake's spars. Counsel quoted from the bard, saying: "Mewling and puking in the nurse's arms." This irked the reporter, who made the official report read: "When (Mayor Walker) was a baby, chewing on a teething ring in the nursery."

Oklahoma City—Netx Christmas five motorists who were kind enough to give a Texas hitch-hiker rides across Oklahoma are going to get presents. The Texan, declining to give his name, visited the State Motor License Bureau and obtained the names of the owners of license plates on cars which had given him lifts. "I'm going to send them something nice on Christmas," he explained.

New York—Ruth Chatterton, returning from Europe, explained why she thought it best not to discuss reports of her intention to marry George Brent, also of the films. "It would not be good taste for me to discuss Mr. Brent," she said, "while I am still married to Mr. Forbes."

PRESIDENT DEMANDS NEW TYPE OF LIQUOR CONTROL IN ACCEPTANCE ADDRESS

ation of this regime," said the President solemnly.

There was applause. But the Republican hosts who had frequently interrupted Mr. Hoover's challenges to Democrats on their tariff and House records seemed surprised.

However, as the man whose hair was grayed considerably in four years of presidential care concluded his carefully prepared address, Senator Pease of Ohio, long a prohibitionist, a moment later gave his benediction to the prohibition suggestion.

"Each state shall be given the right to deal with the problem as it may determine, but subject to absolute guarantees in the Constitution of the United States to protect each member of Congress of the emergency reconstruction measures. He attacked the Democratic House under Speaker Garner, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, for some of its economic proposals. Obviously pointing at Governor Roosevelt, he demanded Democratic specifications on tariff reform; supported the protective tariff and "squarely" opposed the Democratic proposal of "a competitive tariff for revenue."

Mr. Hoover asked renomination on his record. The word "I" appeared frequently. Also in the phrases "I shall persist in that" or "I shall continue to oppose that" as he ran the scale of governmental problems and political issues. He apparently sought to overlook no outstanding question in the 6,000 word address.

Mr. Hoover hammered away on the economic emergency and steps past and contemplated, to meet it. He blamed over-optimism and speculation in this country as the first cause of trouble and the world wide economic collapse resulting from war evils as the subsequent and more devastating cause. Of his efforts to meet the situation, he said:

"These programs, unparalleled in the history of depressions in any country and in any time, to care for distress, to provide employment, to aid agriculture, to maintain the financial stability of the country, to safeguard the savings of the people, to protect their homes, are not in the past tense—they are in action. I shall propose such other measures, public and private, as may be necessary from time to time to meet the changing situations and to further speed economic recovery. That recovery may be slow, but we will succeed.

On foreign affairs, the President eyed favorably a general world economic conference even along lines suggested by Senator Borah of Idaho, but he emphatically warned against war debt cancellation. He did open the door for a trade on particular annual payments in the interests of American commerce.

His direct promise to the farmer was a drive for tax reduction. He saw as "the most practicable relief to the farmer today aside from the general economic recovery something to alleviate the 'unfair burdens of taxation which the current readjustment in values has brought about."

United States of America wants repeal. . . . When that happens we as Democrats must and will . . . enable the states to protect themselves against the importation of intoxicating liquors where such importations may violate their state laws. We must rightly and morally prevent the return of the saloon.

Reconstruction.

Hoover—I am today organizing the private industrial and financial resources of the country to operate efficiency with the vast governmental instrumentalities which we have in motion so that . . . we may move from defense to powerful attack. . . . Recovery may be slow but we will succeed.

Roosevelt—When we get the chance, the Federal government will assume bold leadership. . . . Our Republican leaders tell us economic laws . . . cause panics which no one could prevent. We must lay hold of the fact that economic laws are not made by nature. They are made by human beings.

War Debts.

Hoover—If for any particular annual payment we were offered some other tangible form of compensation such as expansion of markets for American agriculture and labor, and the restoration and maintenance of our prosperity, then I am sure our citizens would consider such a proposal. But it is a certainty that these debts must not be cancelled or the burdens transferred to our people.

Roosevelt—The debts will not be a problem—we shall not have to cancel them. . . . Our policy declares for payment, but at the same time for lowered tariffs and a resumption of trade which opens the way for payment.

Farm Relief.

Hoover—The most practicable relief to the farmer today aside from the general economic recovery is a definite program of readjustment and co-ordination of national, state and local taxation which will relieve real property, especially the farms, from unfair burdens. . . .

Roosevelt—The practical way to

MANY MILL SRESUME WORK

nounced operations would be resumed Monday, giving employment to 250 workers.

At the same time the Martel Mills at Valley Falls announced work there had been started and that 400 operatives are now at work.

Resumption of operations by mills in Cherokee, Union and Laurens also have been reported in the past several days.

Anderson, S. C., Aug. 12.—(PIA)—Industry in this section is picking up with alacrity.

The Anderson Mills, sheeting and print good manufacturers, will start full day operations Monday after a ten-week shutdown. About 1,500 will be given employment.

The LaFrance Manufacturing Company, plush goods and tapestry manufacturers, announce that 400 extra employees will be added with full time day and night work planned. Orders, officials said, assure several months' work.

At Ware Shoals, the Ware Shoals Manufacturing Company has added a night shift which furnished employment to several hundred after a number of weeks' idleness.

Anderson County Mills, taking advantage of low prices and slack operations for the past year, have made extensive preparations for a revival of business.

The Appleton Mills here are nearing completion of a $250,000 building program started last summer. The Anderson Mills have just completed a $65,000 building repair job.

At Honea Path the Chiquola Manufacturing Company has added

BERLIN AWAITING HITLER ACTION

Berlin, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A possibility that Germany's next government may be dominated by a coalition of Adolf Hitler's National Socialists and the Centrist Party of former Chancellor Heinrich Brüning emerged today as Berlin awaited Hitler's return to confer with President Paul von Hindenburg.

The Telegraphen Union said Hitler would not arrive today and the conferences would not be held until tomorrow.

The Centrists, although their representation in the new Reichstag will be comparatively small, occupy a pivotal position.

They have made an emphatic demand that the new cabinet be formed on strictly constitutional lines with the Nazis bearing a great share of the responsibility.

The same applies to the new cabinet which must be formed in the state of Prussia to replace the present dictatorship under Chancellor Franz von Papen.

The Nationalists, under Alfred Hugenberg, also are a factor in any such coalition, however, and they rejected the Centrists' proposals yesterday. But the offer probably will be renewed next Monday and there is some cause for believing it might be accepted then.
