Farm Leaders Predict Better Times for Their Industry in The Future

CONVENTION AT RALEIGH

Thousand Growers Packed Into Pullen Hall at State College Hear Warren Watson of Hyde County, Assert That Growers Are Looking To Several Agencies For Relief; Lauds Federal Farm Board

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—More than 1,000 persons packed Pullen Hall at N. C. State College today for the opening session of the thirtieth annual State Farmers' and Farm Women's Convention.

W. Warren Watson, of Hyde County, president of the State Farmers' Federation, asserted in his address that farmers "are optimistic and are looking to several agencies during the coming year which can give relief." He listed prospects of better markets for products, Federal and State employment relief, and possible tax relief by the 1933 North Carolina General Assembly.

Mr. Watson lauded the Federal Farm Board and urged its support by North Carolinians.

The president asserted "it is generally understood, that the personnel of the 1933 General Assembly will favor a repeal of the 15 cent ad valorem tax now levied to aid the State run the six months' schools and advocated the State taking over the less-than school building debts to further relieve the tax burden on local units.

E. C. Brooks, president of State College, welcomed the meeting to Raleigh.

Other speakers were D. A. McCormick of Robeson County, president of the State Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs, and W. A. Graham, State Commissioner of Agriculture.

Seek Stand Of Candidates on Prohibition

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Candidates for the United States Senate and National House of Representatives in North Carolina will be asked by Mrs. Louise M. Bourne, of Asheville, how they stand on prohibition.

Mrs. Bourne, North Carolina chairman of the women's organization for National Prohibition Reform, has been appointed by Mrs. Charles H. Sabin of New York, to query candidates in this State.

The question she will ask is: "If elected will you support a resolution for straight repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and the restoration to each State of its power to regulate the manufacture, sale and transportation of intoxicating beverages within its own limits, such resolution to be submitted to conventions in the several States for ratification or rejection?"

'Ma' Ferguson Forges Ahead of Gov. Sterling

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson's lead over Governor R. S. Sterling in the Democratic gubernatorial race was increased to 1,297 votes on the second compilation of votes made today by the Texas election bureau.

The returns from all 254 counties, 224 complete, gave Ferguson 474,530; Sterling 473,233.

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Revisions in vote compilations and reports from distant or isolated precincts today placed Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson 404 votes ahead of Gov. R. S. Sterling for the Texas Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

CRISIS LOOMS IN GERMANY

Meeting of Reichstag Expected to Bring About Complications in Govt.

TRY TO EXTEND FARM STRIKE

Officers Promise Early End of Picketing on Eve of the Grand Jury Probe.

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Farm produce was brought unhindered into Des Moines today with the collapse of the last strong farmers' holiday picket line.

Shortly before noon Sheriff Chas. A. Keeling, a force of deputies, and truck drivers, all armed with clubs, massed on highway 65 north of the city and forced their way through members of the Farmers Holiday Association, who seek to force higher agricultural prices by keeping produce from the markets.

The "big push" against the blockade, after starting at a point five miles from Ames, resulted in the free movement of produce into this capital city.

State Sheriff Michael Endres of Nebraska demanded that Iowans who enter Nebraska to urge further participation in the holiday should be arrested on charges of inciting to riot.

Governors of South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa, received a statement from the Sioux City, Iowa, Chamber of Commerce saying the situation there was beyond control of local authorities and recommending help by state officers. (Continued on page three)

EXPLAINS SIN AT REVIVAL

Discussing "The Unpardonable Sin," Rev. L. B. Scarborough last night delivered one of the most impressive messages of the series of revival services at Red Oak Church.

The service was largely attended and congregational singing was the most inspirational of the campaign.

Taking his text from the fifth verse of the first chapter of St. John, the minister said people have been taught that if they commit some sins they will never be forgiven or get right with God.

Quoting St. John who said that we should not pray for one who sins into death or until death, that there is no hope after the spirit leaves the body, Mr. Scarborough pointed out that if one commits a sin on this side of death, keep praying for him and there is a chance of saving him.

Declaring death is the dividing line, he stated that a man's destiny is fixed after he passes on the other side. The preparation must be on this side of the grave.

DEMAND FOR LOAN SHARES

Chairman Fort Says Interest Grows In Sale of Home Loan Bank Stock.

Washington, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Chairman Franklin D. Fort, of the home loan bank board today said already there had been substantial demand for the purchase of capital stock in the 12 district banks to be opened about October 15.

While some of the pledges to purchase stock are contingent upon enabling legislation in various states, Fort said the demand for shares by building and loan associations eligible for membership was strong. He said the subscription books would be opened before September 15 in all of the districts to assure opening of the banks by October 15. Under the law the subscription books have to be open 30 days.

Meanwhile the board is going forward with plans to pick eleven directors for each bank.

All five members of the board plan to attend the fortieth annual convention of the United States Savings and Loan League at French Lick, Ind., the latter part of this week. Fort will be one of the speakers. (Continued on Page Two)

MAN FREED IN ASSAULT CASE

Grand Jury Releases Herman Haddock in Alleged Attack On Mrs. Dora Fornes.

Held in jail here for the last several weeks on a charge of criminal attack on a woman in the Shelmerville community, Herman Haddock, of New Black Jack, was at liberty today.

He was freed by the grand jury in the criminal term of Superior Court yesterday afternoon when insufficient evidence was found for a true bill.

Haddock, young farmer, was arrested nearly two months ago, given preliminary hearing before Magistrate Clark at Black Jack and ordered held in jail without bond.

Mystery shrouded the death of Jesse Barnhill, whose body was found on the highway near Flat Swamp Church last April with bullet wounds in the head, and officers were without the slightest clue until investigation resulted in the arrest of the aged man, who, witnesses said, was seen in an automobile with his ward only a short time before the crime was committed.

Barnhill was denied completely from the day of his arrest, declaring he knew nothing of the slaying.

Mack Fleming was arrested and jailed the day after the Pookey home was burned to the ground by flames of incendiary origin. Officers found footprints leading from the Fleming home to the Pookey's and arrested Mack Fleming for investigation. (Continued on page three)

FRAUD CASES NEAR END AT WILKESBORO

Nine Men On Trial For Alleged Conspiracy To Defraud 1930 Election

North Wilkesboro, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The trial of nine defendants charged with conspiracy to defraud the 1930 general elections in Watauga county continued here today and court attaches said they believed the state would rest late today.

The nine on trial today are residents of Cove Creek in which precinct they are charged with changing Republican ballots for Democratic ones during the counting of votes.

WALKER LOSES COURT ACTION

High Court Justice Holds Roosevelt Has Right to Probe Mayor's Activities.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Governor Roosevelt's right to remove Mayor Walker, of New York, has been established by a court decision.

Supreme Court Justice Ellis J. Staley ruled the governor had the authority to sit in judgment on the mayor and that the courts could not interfere in an executive act of the governor.

The courts could not act, he said, until after the governor had given his decision on the Walker ouster charges, and then only if three constitutional defenses of the mayor's had been violated.

These safeguards, the court said, were: That the mayor must have been given a "fair trial" by the governor a fair trial, Justice Staley explained, gave the mayor the right to cross-examine the witnesses on whose testimony the charges against him were based.

That the removal was "only for some act or omission which amounts to official misconduct or violation" (Continued on page two)

TRUE BILL FOR T. H. BARNHILL

Grand Jury Also Returns True Bill In Arson Case Against Fleming Boys.

The grand jury of the criminal term of Superior Court has returned true bills against T. H. Barnhill, aged farmer of the Bethel community, charged with the slaying of his ward, Jessie Barnhill, and Mack and Bob Fleming, young men of Fleming's Cross Roads, charged with starting a fire which destroyed the home of A. C. Foskey, resulting in the painful injury of Foskey and several members of his family.

The cases were expected to come up for hearing the latter part of the week, and the courtroom which has been well filled for the sections in which the crimes originated attempt to witness the trial.

Barnhill, 73 years of age, was jailed by county officers at Williamson nearly two months ago. He was later moved to Greenville, given preliminary hearing and remanded to jail without bond. Barnhill was believed to have slain his ward to obtain $10,000 insurance money.

Mystery shrouded the death of Jesse Barnhill, whose body was found on the highway near Flat Swamp Church last April with bullet wounds in the head, and officers were without the slightest clue until investigation resulted in the arrest of the aged man, who, witnesses said, was seen in an automobile with his ward only a short time before the crime was committed.

FINISH THREE MURDER CASES

Defendants Sentenced to Terms in State Prison in Criminal Court Here.

Three persons, a white man and two negroes, were sentenced to terms in State's prison on charges of second degree murder in the criminal term of Superior court yesterday and today.

Jasper Cherry, Greenville negro, charged with fatally stabbing Lonnie Waddell, also colored, in the western section of the city about three months ago, was sentenced to not less than 6 nor more than 15 years at hard labor by Judge W. C. Harris today.

Cherry was alleged to have stabbed Waddell to death when the latter asked him for a cigarette. Waddell, with another negro, who was driving the car, keeled over and died before they had gone more than two or three blocks.

Ollie Hodges drew fifteen years for the slaying of Walter Hardee, colored, in the Grimesland community, several weeks ago. Hodges, World War veteran, was said to have shot the negro in a dispute over some whiskey. The negro, it was alleged, cursed Hodges and was fatally shot.

Pleading guilty to second degree murder, George Asa Carr, colored, was sentenced to fifteen years for the slaying of Isaac Brown, colored, sometime ago Carr, it was said, killed Brown while shooting at another negro.

Jesse Foreman, colored, charged with stealing a horse from Leslie Turnage of Farmville, was sentenced to four months on the roads.

Ed Fleming, colored, was fined $25 and cost each in two separate charges of handling liquor.

John Robert Jenkins, colored, found his way to six months on the roads for breaking and entering.

Discussion of classification marked the regular meeting of the Rotary club last night.

The program was in charge of J. B. Kittrell, chairman of the club's classification committee, who reviewed classification of the past and presented some new ones for future consideration.

Solar Eclipse Will Be Visible In This State

Raleigh, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The eclipse of the sun tomorrow afternoon will be plainly visible to North Carolinians if the weather is fair and will be at its greatest in this section about 2:40 p. m. (EST).

Charts describing the eclipse indicate that it will be 84 per cent visible here, meaning that more than eight-tenths of the sun's surface will be obscured from North Carolinians by the passage of the moon between it and the earth.

In sections of New England and Canada the eclipse will be total.

The partial eclipse visible here will start about 2:40 p. m.

Tropical Storm Sweeps Over Florida Everglades

Miami, Fla., Aug. 30.—(AP)—The tropical disturbance that blew in from the Atlantic last night, bringing heavy rain and brisk winds to the lower east coast, swept westward today across sparsely inhabited swamps of the Everglades to the Gulf of Mexico.

Richard W. Gray, government meteorologist here, said the storm was central this morning between Fort Myers and Key West and would pass into the Gulf if it continued its present course.

Disruption of telephone communication to Everglades and Naples on the southern Gulf Coast, prevented an accurate chart on the progress of the storm that caused only slight property damage on the eastern shore of the peninsula.

Fort Myers reported a 24 to 30 mile east wind and Key West a southwest wind of 32 miles an hour. Heavy rains are falling.

Reports from inland Everglades communities indicated no damage been caused to rich farming communities that fringe the eastern shore of Lake Okechobee.

K. C. Alston, of Belle Glade, said all convicts at State Prison Farm No. 2, near there, were moved to Okechobee City during the night and lodged in jails there.

At Pahokee Chief Police F. R. Harrison said more than 2,000 negro farm laborers, abandoning their trail homes, gathered at that town last night and slept at that townings. They were dispersing this morning. (Continued on Page Two)

CALIFORNIA VOTES TODAY

Political Fortunes Of William G. McAadoo at Stake in Primary Election.

San Francisco, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The political fortunes of William G. McAadoo, general of the Democratic Roosevelt nomination on the western front, and of Senator Samuel Shortridge, Republican and friend of the administration, were at stake along with many others in California's state primary election today.

Throughout the campaign, both sectors where the firing was the hottest—the many-sided contest for the United States senatorial nominations.

Echoes of the rivalry in the Democratic national convention sounded within the Democratic ranks, with McAadoo and Justice W. Wardell, the candidates for the Democratic senatorial nomination, heading the factions.

Unusual interest was manifested in the Republican senatorial race because Shortridge is the first senator to go before the voters seeking reelection since the launching of the presidential campaign.

Opposing Shortridge for the Republican nomination are Rep. Joe Crall of Los Angeles, who has the support of the Anti-Saloon League; State Senator Tallant Tubbs of San Francisco, a wet; the Rev. Robert P. Shuler of Los Angeles, militant dry; and Leo V. Youngworth of Sulver City, a repealist who opposes the return of saloons.

OSCAR GREEN GIVES FACTS

Head of New Orleans Concern Says Organization Financed By Federal Farm Board Slandered Private Firm To Obtain Business; Moser To Present Testimony in Defense Of Farm Board

New Orleans, Aug. 30.—(AP)—A cotton co-operative reputedly financed by the Federal Farm Board and the American Cotton Co-operative Association was accused of slandering a private firm to secure business, in testimony presented, the Shannon congressional committee today.

Testifying at the hearing of the committee that is investigating government competition with private business, Oscar P. Green, president of Putnam & Norman, Inc., New Orleans cotton factors, made the slander charge.

He first read into the record a letter from J. H. Lynch, administrative officer of the Farmers' Feed Loan Office, complimenting and thanking his firm for co-operation; and then displayed a letter which he said Sam Bass, secretary of the Louisiana Cotton Co-operative Association, wrote W. T. Bell, Sabin, La., farmer, slandering his company.

O. Moser, vice-president of the American Cotton Co-operative Association, appeared today at the hearing and announced he intended to present testimony in defense of the co-operatives and the Farm Board.

Under his arm was a bulky document which he said summarized the testimony he would offer.

Still Airing Fraud Charges

North Wilkesboro, N. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—More charges concerning the 1930 election in Watauga County were being aired in Federal Court today as the trial of eight Cove Creek citizens got underway.

Eight citizens of Laurel Creek, charged with violating election laws in this county two years ago, were acquitted by a jury yesterday. The eight now on trial are charged with conspiracy to defraud the voters of the precinct of their votes and the ballots had been cast, it being charged Republican ballots were exchanged for Democratic ones during the counting of the votes.

The defendants are: J. B. Horton, J. S. McBride, J. L. Wilson, Ed. S. Williams, A. P. Perry, Henry J. Hardin, C. B. Moody and John E. Brown.

Seek Record Of Ray Bailey Case

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—The North Carolina Supreme court today took under consideration the petition of the State of South Carolina that it order a writ of certiorari to bring before it the full record of habeas corpus proceedings at Sylva in June at which Ray Bailey, alias Ray Keith, was granted his freedom while under arrest on a murder warrant issued at Greenville, S. C.

John M. Daniel, attorney general of South Carolina, was present when A. A. F. Seawell, tax deed assistant attorney general, presented the petition to the court. No oral arguments were made.

Clyde Hoey of Shelby and Charles Hutchins of Burnsville, counsel for Bailey, immediately filed a motion asking the supreme court to dismiss the petition.

No indication was given as to when a ruling may be expected.

Bailey was charged with the murder of A. B. Hunt, Greenville policeman on last May 1. He was arrested while suffering from gunshot wounds at a Sylva hospital.

Gov. O. Max Gardner honored requisition papers for his brother Judge Walter E. Moore granted him his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus.

The South Carolina petition sets forth that Bailey was identified as the slayer of Hunt by several eye witnesses.

ABOUT TOWN

Members of the new six months' grand jury sworn in here yesterday were urged by Judge Harris to delve deeply into public affairs of the county and to determine if they are being properly attended to.

The duty of a jury, Judge Harris declared, is to protect the citizens of the various communities of the county, and this cannot be done if the jurors do not familiarize themselves with county affairs and conditions of all communities.

A grand jury occupies an important part in the life of the section which it serves, the jurist declared and it should be the purpose of its members to render the best of service and to see that conditions are what they should be.

Loans to home owners through the government agency are going to enable many a man to hold his home who would have lost it had not this relief been available.

While countless thousands have already lost their property because of abnormal financial conditions, those who are able to hold on to the government relief organization began functioning will be able to avoid being sold out.

If this organization had been set up two years ago, it is impossible to say what the condition of the country would have been at this time. In fact, if government leaders had had the vision to gauge the seriousness of the depression, much of the suffering, hardship and loss of property could have been averted by action such as that recently begun.

Acquittal of eight Democrats on charges of election fraud in Watauga county will be received with interest throughout the state, especially in view of the general clamor about irregularities in voting received from all parts of the nation from time to time.

While it is not doubted that mistakes are made in the handling of ballots in some sections, this may be attributed not so much to intention to commit fraud as to inadequate provisions for receiving the vote and lack of information concerning elections laws.

Inadequate accommodations for conducting the first primary in this county produced a deplorable situation but the condition was remedied in the second contest and the most efficient balloting ever seen here was the outcome.

Tobacco prices continue to move upward on the border markets, bringing joy to the hearts of the growers not only of that section but in other great bright leaf producing areas hard hit by the low price situation in recent years.

While the average is far below what it should be, it is considerably above last year and should it continue to go up, the growers ought to find themselves with a few debts off their hands at the end of the year.

What the nation needs now is money, and if additional millions are poured into the pockets of the growers this season general business conditions ought to show a pronounced improvement when the money begins making its rounds in settlement of debts.

Pitt county people are more sanguine today they have been in a long time and everybody is hoping the price situation will measure up to expectation.

Farmers of Pitt county will attend the farm convention at State College in Raleigh this week and glean as much information as they can as to the latest methods of farming.

These conventions are held each year and growers have always returned home with their heads full of new ideas concerning improvement of their farms. In addition to exchanging opinions and rubbing elbows, the growers have the opportunity to hear some of the leading agricultural leaders of the nation and making contacts which will prove of great benefit to them.

Nothing Venture

By PATRICIA WENTWORTH

SYNOPSIS: Nan Weare stumbles into knowledge of a plot between Robert Leonard and a taxi driver to run down an unnamed person she is sure is her husband, Jervis Weare. She also believes it is Leonard who attempted Jervis's life ten years before, when she saved him. Since the day of the rescue she has loved Jervis deeply, but he has married her only as a means of saving for himself the fortune which Rosamund Carew, his former fiancée, tried to secure for herself by jilting Jervis. The departure of Nan's sister Cynthia, with her husband, for Australia makes Nan bitterly lonely.

Chapter 8 ENTER "F. F."

Nan did not know that she was going to run, but she found herself running breathlessly, blindly on. When at last she stopped running, she had no breath in her and she was shaking from head to foot. She had turned a corner and was in a street she did not know.

She stood still—not thinking—getting back her breath. Then she began to walk again mechanically, her mind pulled this way and that by her clamouring thoughts. She set to work to quiet these thoughts, to make them speak reasonably. It was very difficult, because, instead of being calm and judicial, she was quivering with fear not for herself, but for Jervis.

Robert Leonard had come out of the house. He had spoken to the driver of the taxi. She tried to put together what he had said. The more Nan thought, the more an anguished fear took hold of her. For ten years she had believed that Robert Leonard had struck down Jervis Weare and left him to drown on Croyston rocks. Now she believed that there was to be another attempt upon his life. Robert Leonard had said: "He is sure to walk—he is crazy for exercise." She was quite sure that the "he" was Jervis. The driver was to "drive dangerously." If "he" took a taxi, he was to do the best he could. He was to risk prison, and he was to earn twenty-five hundred dollars.

An accident. The word sprang into her mind. It seemed to make a loud noise there. Nan felt as if someone had fired a gun close to her ear. The word deafened her. An accident—to Jervis. That was what they had been planning. As the noise of the word died down, she found herself walking quickly and thinking clearly. The train got in at four-fifteen. She must meet Jervis and tell him what she had heard. She looked at her watch. It was five minutes to four. If Jervis was coming up from Weare she could catch him at the Twenty-third Street ferry. Of course he might be coming from anywhere else.

She reached the ferry with two minutes to spare. She wasn't frightened and more. She would see Jervis, and everything would be all right. He came striding up. Nan ran after him, let him clear the crowd, and touched his arm. He turned, stared, took off his hat. The ferry house became a place where anything might happen. It had the true atmosphere of romantic adventure. Nan was so inspired by it that a dimple came out on either side of her smile as she said: "You didn't expect to see me?" "Did you expect to see me?" he asked. "I came to meet you." Nan nodded. "Did Page tell you I was coming up?" She shook her head. "Nobody told me." "Then how did you know?" said Jervis Weare. Nan saw the dark colour rise in his face, and wondered what had brought it there. Her dimples trembled away. She said quickly: "I'll tell you how I know. I've got things to tell you—important things."

They were standing still, with a stream of people flowing past them. A fat man swung a bag of golf clubs within half an inch of Nan's ear, and as she ducked and stepped aside, she heard an exclamation, and out of the stream there burst a small thin man with ginger hair and bright twinkling eyes. He had a Gladstone bag in one hand, a tin hat-box in the other, a samara slung from his shoulder, and an extremely ancient rucksack bound like a hump upon his back. He burst from the stream, cast the hat-box clanking upon the pavement, bumped down the Gladstone bag, and caught Jervis by one hand and the wrist of the other—the second hand being occupied with his suitcase. He pumped both arms up and down with enthusiasm. "Well, if this isn't the best thing that ever happened!" Nan looked on breathlessly, and saw Jervis break into a smile. "Francis!" he cried. The little man puffed harder. "Rather! This is the best thing I've struck since—well, there isn't any since about it. I'd rather have run up against you than have gotten an invitation to tea with Mussolini with carte blanche to print every word he said and photograph in their effort to make themselves financially independent. Oastings of these kinds have done much toward improving the farm life of the state and that they will continue to do so is the belief of those who have attended the meetings and know what they are talking about.

Kiwanians and Rotes to Clash Again Wednesday

Kiwanians and Rotarians made final preparations today for the play-off of their annual baseball classic at the Third street school grounds tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

At the regular meeting of the Rotary Club last night it was decided that every member of the organization should go out for practice this afternoon and be in fine fettle for the second engagement with their ancient rivals. Already limbered up after three games the last several weeks, the Kiwanians were expected to do some practicing also in anticipation of what is generally conceded will be the most spectacular performance of the last several years.

The annual classic was played last Thursday, and while the score showed the Kiwanians won by a 16-2 count the Rotarians protested the game and charged the Kiwanians with failure to abide by an agreement providing for the use of players. The protest was accepted without comment by the Kiwanian Club and members showed a willingness to meet their rivals again at any date they desired. The date was definitely decided upon yesterday at a conference of leaders of the two organizations.

There will be a complete change of lineups this time and K. W. Cobb, president of the Rotary Club, and Guy Smith, president of the Kiwanian Club, will do mound honors. Then there is also a strong probability that Claude Gaskins and Frank Harrington may be used in relief roles if such should be found necessary. All members of each club will be used at different stages of the game in keeping with a previous agreement and this means that in addition to some mighty good ball, the several hundred spectators expected to attend will be treated to plenty of comedy.

Dr. Robert H. Wright, president of East Carolina Teachers College, Dr. R. S. McGeachy, director of the Department of Health, and many others prominent in the financial.

There today indicated property damage had been slight. A. L. Chandler, manager of the American Fruit Growers' Association, said the storm "hardly put a dent" in the Redland and Homestead fruit crops.

DEMAND FOR LOAN SHARES

(Continued from Page One) Fort said eight more states had agreed to carry out the board's request for a moratorium on foreclosures of mortgages held by receivers of closed state banks. The additional states included Arkansas, North Carolina and South Carolina. The banking commission of Delaware informed Fort there were no closed state banks in that state.

WALKER LOSES COURT ACTION

(Continued from Page One) of public trust, or one that involves "moral turpitude." That the "act or neglect" justifying the removal must have occurred "during the term which the officer is serving." Walker's attorney, John J. Curtin, hailed the three points raised by the court as a "great victory" for the mayor. He said "in brief, Justice Staley has approved judicially all the things we have been contending, except the constitutionality of Section 122 of the Greater New York charter (the right of removal), which contention was a mere incident in our position." Governor Roosevelt said he would have no comment on the decision until he had studied it with his counsel. What effect the court's outline of the mayor's rights will have on the hearing likely will not be indicated until it is resumed Friday. The governor postponed it yesterday until that hour because of the death of Mayor Walker's brother.

NEW COTTON FUND READY

(Continued from Page One) devised by the Farm Board and financed by the Reconstruction Corporation. Jesse H. Jones, director in the corporation, announced the program last night in a radio address over the National Broadcasting System. He said: "We have authorized $50,000,000 for cotton cooperative and cotton stabilization corporations to enable them to hold their cotton until 1933." This statement was added to an advance copy of his address on general policies of the corporation just before Jones began to speak. He did not elaborate on it and in a later interview would say only that the loan was requested by the Farm Board. The $50,000,000 fund aggregates loans of $25 a bale on up to 2,000,000 bales of cotton and will be advanced as needed to meet finance, carrying and other charges.

Berlin, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Germany reached today another of the bewildering cross-roads that have marked her history since the World War—and this time the fate of parliamentary government hung in the balance. The capital fairly bristled with police for the occasion, the gathering of the sixth Reichstag since the nation embraced democracy in 1919. The Landtag or Prussian Diet, also was assembling, and each had an organizing session before it. Even before the 608 members of the Reichstag took their seats there confronted them the threat of a dissolution decree, a contingency at tested by Chancellor Franz von Papen's absence. He was in Neudeck, East Prussia, with President Paul von Hindenburg. He had with him his Minister of Defense, General Kurt von Schleicher; his Interior Minister, Baron Wilhelm von Gayland and the Presidential Secretary, Otto Meißner. It is no secret that if the Junker leader can convince President von Hindenburg that the welfare of the country is at stake, he will return to

Bear Reported Killing Stock Near Red Oak

A bear roving around in the Red Oak and Bell Arthur communities was reported today to have destroyed considerable livestock in addition to throwing a general scare into the two neighborhoods.

The animal has been seen by several people, including Albert Allen, a farmer residing at Red Oak. Two or three hogs have been killed on the Charles McArthur farm and between ten and twelve on the Jim Sutton place, according to reports reaching here today.

Residents of the two communities are keeping a keen lookout for the bear, hoping to put an end to his depredations with a well timed load of shot.

ORGANIZE TO TAX CARRIERS PROPERLY

Wilmington, N. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—The organization of the Railroad Employees and Taxpayers Association of North Carolina with a membership goal of 150,000, the cardinal purpose of which will be a "proper regulation an taxation" of all carriers, was announced here today.

J. Humphrey, chairman of the Atlantic Coast Line unit for the State, made the announcement and said a meeting would be held in Raleigh about September 20 for purposes of perfecting the organization.

At that time representatives from every railroad in the State are expected to be present, officers will be elected and by-laws will be adopted. Formation of the association was begun in March, Humphrey said, and was the outgrowth of the work of the Wilmington District Employees Service Club of the Atlantic Coast Line which was organized in 1929.

Humphrey said all railroads in the State had assured full support and that the drive for membership, started a week ago, had reached about 5,000.

New Bern, N. C.—(AP)—Funeral services were held at Dover for Herman B. Clivis, 43, mayor of Dover, who died Saturday.

RUDY VALLEES TO SEPARATE

Mrs. Vallee Reported Going to Reno in the Near Future to Seek a Divorce.

New York, Aug. 30.—(AP)—A sour note sounded today in the matrimonial music of the Rudy Vallees. "Yes, there is a rift. They just can't seem to get along together," said a statement by Hyman Bushel, attorney who said he represented both the orchestra singer-leader and Mrs. Vallee.

The lawyer said Mrs. Vallee, the former Fay Webb whose father is police chief at Santa Monica, Calif., would leave New York at the first of the week. Reports that her destination would be Reno were without confirmation. Bushel said the domestic difficulties had reached the point of divorce. He added: "While neither has started divorce proceedings as yet I cannot answer for Mrs. Vallee's plans. If I can't patch things up—and I am not sanguine of my ability to do it—divorce will follow. I cannot discuss what the grounds for divorce may be."

"They just haven't been hitting it off well. He is away much of the time. He is on tour now. He will return Thursday. And I expect to make a further announcement the following day.

"There is no other woman and no other man in the case."

Mrs. Vallee is at the Vallee apartment with her father and mother. The Maine Yankee who sang and saxophone his way to stage and radio high place, met Miss Webb in 1930 when she was making a talking picture. They were married July 6, the following year in West Orange, N. Y.

At the time of the marriage Vallee was quoted as saying: "Fay is the one woman who can make me happy and whom I can make happy."

Seven months ago when reports on an imminent estrangement were circulated, Vallee said: "My love for my wife has grown stronger every day until she has come to mean more to me than life. I say this unashamedly."

Vallee, one time soda clerk in a Maine village, later a saxophone player in various orchestras and finally the head of his own band and widely known for his songs through the megaphone and microphone, is especially well known for ballad and love song numbers. "A Little Kiss Each Morning" and "This is the Missus" are two numbers especially associated with his public appearances since his marriage.

Senator Davis was indicted by the federal grand jury on Aug. 18 with six other men and the Western Union Telegraph Company. All but Davis and Miller pleaded not guilty before today.

TRY TO EXTEND FARM STRIKE

(Continued from Page One) (By The Associated Press) While the sheriffs were adding to their forces of deputies and county attorneys were preparing for grand jury investigations—both steps designed to end picketing—leaders of the farmers' holiday movement, seeking higher prices for produce, today were endeavoring to extend their lines.

At Des Moines, Iowa, County Attorney Carl Messidine and Sheriff Charles F. Keeling promised an early end to picketing, following the arrest of 13 men. Sheriff P. A. Lainsou of Pottawattamie county announced he would present evidence Tuesday against men who were arrested recently after disturbances near Council Bluffs.

Today the movement was spreading into southeastern Iowa.

Eleven Woodbury county special deputies were hurt in a fight with several hundred holiday sympathizers near Cushing, Iowa. The argument followed the escorting of five trucks of hogs from Merville to the Iowa county line. The injured were taken to a Sioux City hospital, where most of the men were treated and then discharged.

Sheriff Keeling said he would deputize 100 men if need be to curb picketing activities. He purchased safe conduct today to 52 trucks of a co-operative association.

Picketing was expected to start today near Sioux Falls, S. D., and Clinton, Iowa.

Three persons were hurt in Webster county, Iowa, as a result of picketing disturbances.

Messages endorsing the movement were received by holiday officials from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and others.

WEATHER SETS NEW RECORD AT RALEIGH

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Urged upward by a relentlessly hot sun, the official temperature at the United States Weather Bureau here this afternoon at 1:30 had set a new all-time record for heat on an August day in Raleigh with a reading of 101.1 degrees. The mercury surged upwards over two degrees between 12:45 and 1:15. Weather Bureau attaches said.

TRUE BILL FOR T. H. BARNHILL

(Continued from Page One) Two or three days later, Fleming confessed and implicated his brother Robert, who was said to have had an equal part in the firing of the house.

The destruction of the building grew out of resentment of the Flemings against the Foskeys, this reaching its climax when Foskey appeared as a witness against the Flemings in a magistrate's trial a few days before they decided upon revenge.

FRAUD CASES NEAR END AT NORTH WILKESBORO

(Continued from page one) today to give testimony tending to bear out state contentions that there was a conspiracy to defraud during the elections two years ago but the main testimony was given by Arlie Wilson.

Wilson told of a conversation in which John E. Brown, one of the defendants, is alleged to have said he (Brown) was the "brains of the Democratic party in Watauga county" and that Brown said he "would take this affair (the alleged illegal operations of the Democratic party) into court."

The witness said Brown gave as his reason for the intended action an assertion that the Democratic party had named Will Lovell for the legislature in 1930 instead of Brown who was a candidate.

British Textile Strike Success

Manchester, England, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Estimates of the extent of the Lancashire textile strike ran as high as 90 per cent today as the ranks of the strikers increased due to the intensity of picketing at operating mills.

In their effort to make the walk-out 100 per cent among the 200,000 weavers in the manufacturing section of the industry, the union leaders asserted that by tomorrow northeast Lancashire will show a united front.

In some quarters the strike was characterized as "half-hearted and not successful," but the consensus appeared to be it was generally a success.

A number of important meetings were taking place in Manchester today, but neither the unions nor the employers had made a move for peace. There was little hope, it appeared, that they would get together this early in the bitter test of strength.

Although no serious disturbances had occurred, several threatening situations brought out the mounted police today. A minor clash came at Barnoldswick, where 2,000 strikers hooded and taunted 200 workers leaving the mills. A demonstration developed until sixty police arrived and charged the crowds with their truncheons. Extra police were rushed to the town and the streets were patrolled.

HOPE FOR MORE AID JOBLESS

(Continued from Page One) mills in New England and other sections report a rush of orders. Large numbers of employees have been recalled and, in several instances, operating schedules have been stepped up to a 24-hour basis.

The firming trend of textiles is being reflected in various wholesale dry goods organizations in the east. One large New York firm has announced an 8 per cent increase in wages and salaries. During the past week officials of this company said between 10,000,000 and 15,000,000 yards of goods were moved.

Raw silk has shown the greatest upturn. It has appreciated in value more than 90 per cent in three months. Raw cotton is up more than 80 per cent above the year's low. Wool and rayon are running close together in the upward race.

Illness Claims Naval Official

Charleston, S. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—An illness, which suddenly became critical, closed the career of Commander William C. Owen, 46, commandant at the Charleston Navy Yard, on a train en route to Washington where he was being taken to the Naval Hospital.

The commander died near Selma, N. C., the Navy Yard announced, and the body was taken on to Washington.

Yesterday afternoon Commander Owen's condition became serious, but death came a few hours later as the train bore him through North Carolina.

The officer was a native of Fayetteville, N. C., and came here last February. He once was stationed at the Boston, Mass., Navy Yard, had served in the World War, and had been a member of the staff of the commander of the destroyer Battle Force. He was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1908.

His widow and two daughters survive.

Elkin, N. C.—(AP)—Clinics held in this section in the last two weeks by the county health officer assisted by Dr. C. D. Thomas of the state sanatorium staff show tubercular complications are increasing, they reported.

Receives 5 Cents from Government

Washington, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Alonza L. Keefe planned to settle up his rent with some money the government owed him, but when it came today he decided a nicked cup of coffee would be a more appropriate purchase.

For four years the retired watchman waited to receive the unknown sum due him out of the Federal retirement fund. His fingers shook when he opened the official envelope today—to find a check for five cents.

Keefe figures that counting car fare, stamps and the 11¢ meat considerable "in the hole" collecting this debt from Uncle Sam.

DIES OF INJURIES

Smithfield, N. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—F. J. Guilford, 66, of Aurora, died at noon today in a hospital here of injuries he suffered Sunday afternoon in a motorcycle-automobile collision at "death curve" near Selma when two persons were almost instantly killed.

Victor Motz and G. Holland Clute, both of Fayetteville, were riding the motorcycle and were killed.

J. C. Fulford, 29, of Aurora, who was riding in the automobile with Guilford, was also injured.

Re-Enact Battle Of Revolution

Currie, N. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—A sham battle, re-enactment of the fight between revolutionary and loyalist forces in the battle of Moore's Creek, was the main attraction at Moore's Creek National Park today in the annual celebration of the battle.

Soldiers from Fort Bragg rallied their ranks for the battle over a bridge which still contains some of the original timbers.

The principal address of the day was to be given by Col. James A. Morse of Fort Bragg.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

New York Cotton

New York, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady, 47 to 58 points lower on weak Liverpool cables and heavy liquidation.

The market was extremely active and excited on the break which carried the price of December off to 8.82, or 49 points below yesterday's closing quotation and 48 points below yesterday's high level.

Trade interests were reported active buyers at the decline, while there was a good deal of covering and also re-buying of long lines by local traders who were credited with having sold out recently. This was sufficient to absorb the early selling, and here were sharp rallies before the end of the first half-hour with December selling up to 9.07, or 25 points from the lowest.

Liverpool cables reported general liquidation and Indian selling in that market and said the goods market in Manchester was disorganized with the turnover unimportant.

Grain Market

Chicago, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Wheat reflected the reactionary tendency of cotton and stocks today and the general trend was downward. Fairly heavy selling at the start was later overcome by purchasing from professional operators and at one stage the market was steady with yesterday's finish, but the market was not stable. Routine news was disregarded, as was strength at Liverpool. Corn trade was the largest in several months.

Stock Market

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
 (Associated Press Financial Editor)

New York, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The stock market again acted a bit weary today. While a fair assortment of coppers, rubbers, motors and oils moved forward, most of the traditional leaders were loggy.

A rather pronounced decline in some of the commodities, notably cotton, in the early trading, was not particularly disturbing to the share market, but bullish efforts failed to attract an important following, and trading was comparatively quiet.

Goodyear, reflecting the sharp upturn in rubber yesterday, advanced about 4 points to a new high for the year, and other issues up 1 to nearly 2 points to new peak levels since 1927 included Firestone, U. S. Rubber, Chrysler, American Woolen, National Cash Register, Anaconda Copper, Kennecott, Noranda, Granby, and Calumet and Arizona. Similar advances appeared in such issues as Nash, Bendix, Electric Autolite, Borg Warner, United Fruit, Westinghouse, Standards of New Jersey and California, and Atlantic Refining. Losses of a point or two in the first few minutes were largely regained, but by early afternoon Union Pacific, Case, American Can and International Harvester were down about a point, and American Telephone and U. S. Steel were off fractionally.

Having gotten wind perhaps of the rumor that their manager is in active danger of losing his job at the close of the current race, the Washington Senators have started a belated drive that promises to do Walter Johnson a lot of good.

In winning 11 of their last 14 games, the Senators, at least have gained a re-heating for the "big train," and if they sustain that clip up to the last day it is doubtful owner Clark Griffith would give further thought to a change of pilots.

Up to the time they began their onslaught on the western clubs, the Senators had made a disappointing race of it. Picked to finish at or near the top, they barely were clinging to the first division a fortnight ago. Those on the inside confidently predicted Bucky Harris would be back next season to manage the club he led to two flags and one world championship. Right now, however, it looks like Harris will remain at Detroit.

By defeating the St. Louis Browns yesterday 7-6 in 13 innings while Philadelphia was dividing a double-header with Detroit, the Senators climbed within five and a half games of second place. If they catch the A's and land the runner-up berth, Johnson will need to make no apologies when contract time rolls around.

Singles by West and Kerr and Maple's sacrifice fly gave the Senators the winning run in yesterday's long contest, their second 13-inning victory within a week. Walt Stewart went the route for the Browns while three moundmen worked for the winners with Bill McAfee eventually receiving credit for the triumph.

The Yankees stepped a little further ahead of the field by trimming Chicago twice 10-3 and 4-3. Lefty Gomez breezed to his 22nd victory but Charley Ruffing had a close scrape before chalking up No. 16 in the nightcap. Red Kress' homer with one on in the eighth came within a run of tying the count.

The Athletics staged a six-run rally in the eighth round to beat Detroit in the first 8-3, but the Tigers came back to win the second game 10-7, with a three-run outburst in the ninth. Ray Hayworth, Detroit catcher, made his first error of the season in the second game.

Although they made only five hits off Rhodes and McNaughton, the Cleveland Indians cashed in on 12 passes to defeat the Boston Red Sox 6-3. Earl Averill drew five free trips.

National League turnstiles were idle for the day. Only one game was scheduled, between Boston and Pittsburgh, and that was erased by wet grounds.

Reggio, Calabria, Italy—Brought to trial on a minor charge, Giorgio Manari, didn't like the way the judge was conducting the case. He took off his shoe and flung it at the justice, who ducked and said: "Four years."

LAWYER WILL RUN BOVINES REST OF YEAR

Charlotte, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Many things have happened in the Piedmont League since the circuit got under the wire at the opening of the season but today, for the first time, a lawyer was running one of the teams and doing it by order of a North Carolina Superior court Judge.

The Whitted Exhibition Company, operators of the Durham Bulls, were relieved of that responsibility, temporarily at least, when Judge M. V. Barnhill yesterday appointed William T. Towe, Durham attorney, receiver for the company and the club.

The receivership was brought about by George Brown, Bull outfielder, who alleged in a petition that the club is "hopelessly insolvent" and that players were not being paid their salaries.

Towe, in taking charge of the club, announced he expected to operate it until the season ends or until the court instructs him differently. He retained George Whitted as active manager, although he will receive no stated salary, being compensated along with the players, by a portion of receipts from each game.

The receivership apparently had little effect on the Bulls for they split a double header with High Point, winning the opener 7-4 and losing the nightcap 6-2 shortly after it was ordered.

Neither was Tom Wolfe, league leading slugger, visibly affected. He garnered a home run and two doubles in six trips up in the twin bill. Greensboro, after playing Wilmington until early today in a 12-inning battle, won by the score of 11-9. If Brittain, Wilmington right fielder, had not dripped Caldwell's soft fly with two out, they may have been playing yet.

Raleigh tamed the league leading Charlotte Hornets 3-2 in the closest battle of the day and night. The Caps rolled up their advantage in the sixth inning when four sigles and a base on balls accounted for the tri of markers. Except for that one inning, Ker-mode; Bee twirler, had the situation well in hand although he was touched for eleven hits.
