Texas Town Is Swept by Flood

Eagle Pass, Texas, Sept. 2.—(AP)—A surging yellow torrent overflowed the banks of the Rio Grande today inundating streets in the Eagle Pass business district...

Several two-story buildings in the Eagle Pass business district collapsed as flood waters weakened their foundations.

Hundreds of residents of the low-lying section were carrying their household belongings to high ground and merchants were moving goods out of their stores.

The entire population of Piedras Negras was evacuating the town as water continued to rise in the business district.

Adobe buildings were crumbling and falling in ruins. The lives of their inhabitants, trying desperately to save household goods, were endangered.

About a dozen people were reported missing in Eagle Pass, but it was probable that all were safe. In the confusion families became separated.

The steam plant of the Central Power and Light Company at the mouth of Devils River, on the Rio Grande, was damaged extensively.

HOLD AUTOPSY ON REYNOLDS

Findings may Figure in Trial of Libby Holman and Ab Walker

Winston-Salem, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Officials entrusted with the prosecution of murder charges against Libby Holman Reynolds, former Broadway actress, and Albert Walker Winston-Salem youth, today had before them the findings of four physicians who conducted a formal autopsy over the body of the former's husband, Smith Reynolds, heir to tobacco millions.

The autopsy was held secretly on the night of August 23, the same day on which R. J. (Dick) Reynolds Jr., reached Winston-Salem after a 48-day trip by steamer, airplane and automobile from the Canary Islands where he was cruising when his brother was fatally shot early on the morning of July 6th.

Reynolds did not attend the autopsy news of which has just leaked out. Authorities declined to discuss the report of the physicians but the Winston-Salem Journal said today it was learned that the bullet was fired from close range, penetrating the right temple and emerging from the back of the left ear after ranging downward.

But Sheriff Transon Scott continued to investigate the circumstances with the result that a formal inquest was held resulting in a verdict of death at the hands of unknown persons. Three weeks later, the Forsyth county grand jury indicted Mrs. Reynolds and Walker.

Testimony given at the coroner's inquest was that the bullet entered the right temple and left slight powder burns, such as would be made if the muzzle of the pistol were pressing directly against the flesh.

MAYOR WALKER RESIGNS

"Jimmie" Walker, dapper mayor of New York City, who rose from obscurity to a world figure, last night handed in his resignation, and Joseph V. McKee, president of the Board of Aldermen, was automatic ally named mayor.

STOCK MARKET TURNS UPWARD

Several Leading Stocks Reach New High Price Levels of the Year

New York, Sept. 2.—(AP)—One of the most comprehensive buying movements in the past fortnight developed in the Stock Exchange today.

Trading was in moderate volume, but the list moved steadily forward, several issues reaching new highs for the year. A renewed strength in cotton, which pushed up about $2 a bale, and improvement in the recently reactionary bond market, were evidently stimulating to the market for shares.

Steels, Rails and Utilities were particularly strong. U. S. Steel Common advanced $2.25 to a new high for the recovery above $49 a share. Gulf States Steel advanced $4 to above $18, a new high for year, and other steel shares, including Bethlehem, Republic, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and National Steel were up $1 or more.

American Telephone advanced $3 to close to $118 a share, and Public Service of New Jersey more than $2 to around $53. In the rails, the Eastern Anthracite carrier issues were again buoyant. Lackawanna rose more than $4 to new 1932 high at $45, and Reading advanced $6 to close to $52.

Other strong spots included Illinois Central, up $3 to about $25, a new high for the year, and Santa Fe, up $3 to above $60.

Sentence Commuted Berlin, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The five Fascists who were condemned to death at Beuthen last week on a charge of murdering a Communist during a political brawl, received a commutation to life imprisonment when the federal commissioner reviewed their case today.

Presidential Campaign To Get Into Full Swing

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Presidential politics now is largely at the "in conference" stage, but the prospect of real out-in-the-open skirmishing by late September is increasingly promising. President Hoover is listening to advisers who think he ought to make more speeches than he had planned to leave in ten days for a swing on the coast. Republican Chairman Sanders announces plans for an intensive speaking tour as the G. O. P. ever has undertaken. In several important states local politics is shaping up toward crises which may mean much to the national situation. With all of this stirring, it is a time of busy get-togethers. Most of the coming and going signifies nothing beyond the usual mechanics of lesser details, but some of it is directed toward much more interesting problems. The Republicans have discovered and corrected, after much discussion, an acknowledged mistake by which Colonel Theodore Roosevelt was to have been brought home from his governorship in the Philippines to add his name and ability to the anti-Franklin Roosevelt campaigners. President Hoover himself cancelled Colonel Theodore's sailing orders. The desirability of offsetting somehow any hailing power that may inhere in Governor Franklin's last name remains a matter, nevertheless, very much under consideration by the Republicans. BARNHILL CASE IS CONTINUED UNTIL OCTOBER

Conspiracy Case Consumed Court's Time During Yesterday and Today

The murder case against T. H. Barnhill, aged farmer of the Bethel section of the county, scheduled to come up for hearing at the present term of criminal court, has been continued until the October term according to announcement made today. The case against Barnhill grew out of the death sometime ago of his ward Jesse Barnhill, whose body was found near Flat Swamp Church with two bullet holes through the head and chest. After lengthy investigation by the sheriff and detectives from insurance companies, Barnhill was arrested on a charge of murdering his ward to collect the life insurance. Since his arrest several weeks ago, Barnhill has remained in jail here awaiting trial. Early this week it was announced that he would be tried on a charge of second degree murder or manslaughter if the jury so found, and when case was continued until the October term the bond was reduced to $2,500 which Barnhill has furnished.

Yesterday afternoon the court took up the conspiracy case against John Williams, Less Wilson and John Henry Simmons, negroes, charged with conspiracy to murder the wife of Williams. Wilson, one of the two alleged to have been employed by Williams to help kill his wife, has pleaded guilty to the charge and the state accepted a nolo proes in the charge against Simmons in order to use him as a state witness against Williams. According to the evidence, Williams was to give Wilson and Simmons $100 to kill his wife for him and having agreed to the bargain they set out with gun in hand to commit the crime and then lost their nerve and did not complete their undertaking. The case occupied the entire time of the court yesterday afternoon and this morning and was not expected to go to the jury before sometime this afternoon.

SLIGHT BREAK IN HEAT WAVE

One Death and Prostration Reported in This State Yesterday

Rain in some sections and cooling breezes, today brought an end to excessive heat which swept the two Carolinas for four days.

In North Carolina one death and one prostration were attributed, at least in part, to yesterday's heat. A negro woman dropped dead in the Durham county courthouse while the thermometer stood at 104. In Greensboro a heart attack was said to have been brought on by a temperature of 105, the second straight day the city had felt this 40-year record.

South Carolina was dealt with more gently by the sun's rays. High temperatures in South Carolina cities reporting were: Columbia 93, Florence 96, Spartanburg 94, Greenville 90, Charleston 91.

Other North Carolina marks included Winston-Salem 99.5, Charlotte 94, Raleigh 101, Fayetteville 101. Heavy rains were reported in the Farmville section, and rain and hail visited Wendell.

Another Strong Sermon Heard at Red Oak Revival

Using as his subject "Confession of Failure or the Busy Man," Rev. L. B. Scarborough delivered another strong sermon at Red Oak Church last night where he is conducting a revival through this week. Taking his text from I Kings 20:40, Mr. Scarborough's message in part was as follows: "This is part of a parable spoken by a prophet to King Aham (Some of the richest and greatest moral lessons that are human or like us are taken from the Old Testament). A manly, proud, and responsible soldier was given charge. He was busy here and there, thus letting the prisoners pass out. The guard was in bonds, in shame, and disgrace. How did it happen? Was he overcome, outnumbered, or what? No, he was too busy to watch this kind of sin just as dangerous as aggressive positive sin. Some men (Continued on page three)

Mayor Walker Quits Job; Charges Governor Roosevelt Unfair

McKee Becomes Mayor New York

New York, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Joseph V. McKee, born in the Bronx 43 years ago, wanted to be a fireman but became mayor of New York instead.

In between those boyhood years when he loitered, fascinated around the old fire house on East Tremont avenue, and today when, because of the resignation of James J. Walker, he became mayor, McKee was in turn an instructor in Greek, Latin and Literature, a part-time newspaperman, an assemblyman, a city court justice, a lawyer and president of the Board of Aldermen.

They call him "Judge," not so much because of his years as a city court justice, as because of his dignified bearing and appearance. He dresses neatly but conservatively. He is good humored but does not possess the facility of quick, witty rejoinder which was so noticeable in Mayor Walker. His nature is retiring and he is a comparatively stranger to the Broadway places so familiar to the man he has succeeded as mayor.

MRS. FORBES LAID TO REST YESTERDAY

Final Rites for Beloved Woman Conducted at Methodist Church

Funeral services for Mrs. Clara James Forbes, 84, were conducted at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church at four o'clock yesterday afternoon followed by interment in Cherry Hill cemetery. The funeral, conducted by Rev. E. L. Hillman, pastor of the church, was largely attended and a tremendous floral tribute bespoke the love and esteem in which Mrs. Forbes was held.

Mrs. Forbes was a native of this county and was the oldest member of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. In 1871 she became the wife of the late Mr. Alfred Forbes and several children of that union survive.

Always faithful to her church and active in religious, social and civic affairs, she was widely known and greatly loved throughout the community. She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Hortense F. Moyer, Mrs. George B. W. Hadley, Mrs. W. L. Best and Mrs. S. T. White, and two sons, F. J. and C. S. Forbes, all of this city. She is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Nan Tucker, and a half brother, Joe Williams.

THINGS QUIET STRIKE AREA

Thomasville Strikers Would Return to Work on Certain Conditions

(By The Associated Press) North Carolina's strike front was quiet today after a brief flare-up at High Point yesterday and submission at Thomasville of a set of proposals under which 1,000 employees of the Thomasville Chair Company have agreed to return to work if accepted by plant officials.

S. T. Spoon was reported recovering from injuries received when he and six others were struck by the automobile of Ernest Albertson as the latter sought to pierce the strikers' lines and return to work in the Stahl Silk Mill, where approximately 800 employees struck Tuesday. Company officials immediately posted a notice the mill would be closed indefinitely, or until the wage dispute can be settled. All was quiet in Rockingham where 800 Hannah Pickett Cotton Mill employees walked out and for- (Continued From Page One) ed to go with them 9:15: 133 En- whistle mill employees. Inquiry Into Walker Administration Brought to Sudden End by the Resignation

By RAMOND CROWLEY New York, Sept. 2.—(AP)—James J. Walker is mayor no longer—and the bitter words of his "au revoir" rang through the political world today.

Looking like a wraith of the former sparkler "Jimmie," the man who rose from Greenwich Village obscurity to world notice handed in his resignation last night while Governor Roosevelt prepared to call him again tomorrow for another session of his long hearing on removal charges. Joseph V. McKee, president of the Board of Aldermen, automatically became mayor.

Almost as sensational as his abrupt resignation and his more than hint that he would seek vindication by running again was the Tammany mayor's undisguised assault on the manner in which Governor Roosevelt, national leader of the Democratic party, conducted his hearing. "On-American"—"extraordinary inquisition"—"travesty"—"mock trial"—"perversion of the executive power"—"studiously unfair"—"biased judge"—were some of the phrases that studded the statement he gave out on his resignation.

"He announced the purpose of his resignation was to 'change the venue.' 'I can change it to the supreme authority, the people themselves,' he said. 'I can change the place of trial so as to take it away from a biased judge acting illegally and in an assumed usurpation of power, with a personal interest in the outcome that disqualifies him as a matter of common decency from acting as a judge in the matter.' 'Nothing at all to say,' was Governor Roosevelt's only comment last night. But from Samuel Seabury, counsel for the Forstader legislative investigating committee which due up the material on which the unfitness charges were based, came this statement:

"The charges against the mayor were fully proved and corroborated in many instances by documentary evidence which was not disputed and by the admissions of the mayor. 'The mayor's resignation in the face of this record is equivalent to a confession of guilt. 'No intelligent person will be misled by the mayor's attempt to substitute for a defense an assault upon the good faith and the motives of the legally constituted authority to review his acts while in office. 'It is highly significant that his excuse is availed of by the mayor on the eve of the governor's inquiry into the relations between the mayor and his fugitive agent, Sherwood. Seabury has charged that Russell T. Sherwood, accountant, handled nearly a million dollars in transactions for the mayor before vanishing. Walker denies the charges. The mayor, who has become pale and ill, spent part of his last day in office at the funeral of his brother, George F. Walker, St. Patrick's Cathedral. His frail shoulders shook and tears streamed down his cheeks. He was no longer the chipper, gay youth of 51 that New York and a large part of the world knew. After the funeral he dropped from sight for hours, while rumors that he would resign flew. At 10 p.m. he returned to the Mayfair House, where he lives, telling reporters he felt 'great.' 'Get down to City Hall,' he told reporters, with a laugh. 'There's a statement waiting there for you.' Half an hour later City Clerk Michael J. Cruise announced the mayor's resignation. Walker had submitted it after conferences with political leaders reported to include John F. Curry, leader of Hamman Hall, and John H. McCooey, Democratic leader in Brooklyn. The mayor's chief counsel, John J. Curtin, who battled for him before Governor Roosevelt, had written him a formal letter in which he said there were two courses open to him: (1) To continue to submit to the illegal and unfair proceedings before the governor, in which may eventually an illegal order of removal which would be void from its entry. (2) To submit your case to the people of the City of New York, who, after all, are the ones most concerned. Walker chose the latter course, declaring he was 'submitting my case to the people who made me mayor, the people of the City of New York. 'Shall I permit myself to be lynched to satisfy prejudice or political ambition?' he asked. He called the proceedings at Al- (Continued on Page Six)

WOMAN RUNS TEXAS SMITHY

The village blacksmith of Borger, Tex., is strikingly different from the brawny character popularized in American folk lore. Mrs. J. M. Bradford, who is five feet, eight inches tall and weighs 115 pounds, took over the job when her husband died last winter. A former milliner with five children to support, Mrs. Bradford said she would "rather shoe a horse any day than try a new hat on a finicky woman." (Associated Press Photo)

ANOTHER STRONG SERMON AT RED OAK REVIVAL

(Continued from Page One) bers of the church are just as the guard. We are too busy here and there with those seemingly necessary social functions which cause one to slip. We think we are pious when we do no wrong; to be lost is not absolutely necessary to be guilty of crime.

"So he failed. Why? Not because he didn't know or was lazy or idle. He lost his hold upon God—his responsibility. He was too busy here and there.

"It isn't necessary to know all about the Bible. We need to live up to what we know; everyone knows enough to do his duty. God has a task for all, we may not know it but we are responsible for not finding it. There are no miss-fits in Christ's Kingdom, but there are some in the world. We may not be able to do everything we want to do, but we can do all God wants us to do.

"Are you busy here and there until you do not have time to find the peace of God and keep it in your heart? Has the love of opportunity and service escaped and are you bound by age and failure? Have you lost interest in the family altar, in the Sunday school, in the church and in your soul? God is calling for ones who have responsibility. Hear the challenge of the church. Get on a positive basis, be afraid of your soul right and don't be afraid to confess. Put the first thing first—that is—the salvation of the soul.

Uses Lap For Nest. Rock Hill, S. C., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Two days in succession V. B. Blankship, Jr., chicken fancier near here, sat on the porch of his home with his brother Marshall and on both days a pullet jumped in Marshall Blankship's lap and laid an egg.

Each time, before the laying process, the brother took the chicken from his lap, but she returned immediately.

Predicts Own Death. Goldsboro, N. C., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Twenty years ago J. S. Worrell said he would die in 1932.

The latter part of August he became ill and died Wednesday at the age of 73. He was a land-owner of near Pikeville.

Highway Employee Killed. Tarboro, N. C., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Nathan Gooding, employee of the State Highway Commission, was killed instantly today on the Tarboro-Rocky Mount highway when struck by the automobile of K. M. Collier, of Louisburg, who was exonerated.

Both have very powerful friends in the immediate vicinity of the White House and it is possible a way may be found to settle the contest by negotiation before it reaches a stage which might imperil Mr. Hoover's own prospects in the State.

On the Democratic side, the Mayor Walker ouster case has greatly complicated matters. The ultimate political effect of the mayor's sudden resignation cannot be foretold, but in any event the case has attracted a great deal of attention and taken considerable time. The New York Democrats, too, are having their troubles over the governorship, with Mr. Roosevelt and Former Governor Al Smith apparently in one camp and the Democratic old guard in the other.

If the alignment continues until the October State convention, that gathering will present an opportunity for Smith more directly to associate himself with the present Roosevelt campaign. Whether he will take that opportunity remains to be seen.

The question of the soldier bonus and the evictions from Washington attract increasing notice. Next month's National American Legion Convention now seems certain to pass a bonus resolution.

The Democrats have chosen Ralph T. O'Neil, of Kansas, to direct party work among veterans, and Hanford MacNider, of Iowa, has accepted a similar mission for the Republicans after resigning as Minister to Canada. Both are former national commanders of the Legion.

SEES BETTER BUSINESS FOR UNIVERSITIES. Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Business is looking up for the colleges and universities.

Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory University, says there has been a rush of applications for admission to institutions of higher education in the Atlantic district and that he considers an upturn in business conditions responsible for the increased registration.

Reservations were delayed during the summer, he said, probably because of uncertainty of parents over funds but since the middle of August there has been a distinct change indicating new courage with improved business.

Farmers Urge Full State Support of Six Months School

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Heavier taxes on the "gains of chance, gift or inheritance," and lighter levies on the "gains of thrift, toil and enterprise" are favored by the North Carolina Farmers' Convention in session here.

The convention adopted a resolution setting forth its views on the general subject of taxation in these words: "Luxuries should bear a larger burden than necessities; unearned incomes a larger burden than earned incomes."

A resolution was approved demanding that the State support the entire cost of a six months' school term, and another called for full recognition of North Carolina State College "as the supreme and fully equipped technical college of the commonwealth."

A suggestion that unemployed be used in the development of a system of "fire-breaks" throughout the State for transmission to Governor Gardner.

L. H. McKay, of Henderson County, was elected president; L. O. Moseley, of Kinston, first vice-president; George Sockwell, of Gibsonville, second vice-president, and Charles A. Sheffield was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. Dewey Bennett, of Forsyth County, was elected president of the Woman's Federation; Mrs. Gordon Reed, of Rutherford County, was made first vice-president; Mrs. Brooks Tucker, of Pitt County, second vice-president; Mrs. Hubert Boney, of Duplin, third vice-president; Mrs. T. J. Fletcher, of Richmond, recording secretary; Mrs. J. B. Phillips, of Alamance, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. T. M. Woodburn, of Martin, treasurer.

Fire Damages Hospital; Patients Safely Removed

High Point, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Although fire badly damaged the Guilford General Hospital here last night, 23 patients were removed before the blaze had gained much headway.

The patients were quartered temporarily in the adjacent nurses home and in nearby residents. They are to be removed later to the undamaged rear of the hospital.

the commonest curse of mankind is constipation. It poisons us, breaks down youthful strength and vigor, ages us prematurely, and leaves us an easy victim of countless diseases. Millions are slaves to the laxative habit. The effect of ordinary cathartics is only temporary; they weaken bowel action and lose their effect. The more we take the more we have to take.

A New Discovery. Bile, prepared by the liver, is Nature's great weapon against constipation. It is a natural laxative, antiseptic and antacid. Bile is also a digestant without which sound digestion is impossible.

Until the discovery of Sargon Soft Mass Pills, we have been blasting out the intestines with cathartics most remarkable of all, their directions call for a gradual reduction of the dose until the point is reached where you no longer require a laxative of any kind.

BECAUSE THEY WERE PATRIOTS

Because they went to war when their country called them, 55 Wake county ex-service men with dependent families were called to Goodwin's Store at the junction of State highway routes 21 and 9 yesterday morning. From this group, the highway contractor, Nello Teer, selected 50 for immediate work.

They will work 30 hours a week, clearing a right of way for a section of the Raleigh-Durham highway. For this they will receive a wage payment of $6.00 a week to support themselves and their "dependent families."

This is not a charity. This is employment. And the men given the work receive it because they offered their lives in 1917 and 1918.

A generous government, remembering their patriotism, takes 30 hours of hard physical labor from them and pays in return $6.00 to buy food and shelter for themselves and their families during a week in which if they do not work but three days they will wish to eat on seven. — (News and Observer).

Rescued After Spending Night On the Water

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Three health officials, one an official of the State, were rescued today from a sand-bar three miles off shore where they ran aground last night after becoming lost while on a fishing trip.

The party was made up of Dr. John H. Hamilton of Raleigh, epidemiologist with the State Board of Health; Dr. A. H. Elliott, New Hanover County Health Officer, and J. B. Edwards, County Assistant Food and Dairy Inspector.

They disappeared yesterday after leaving on a fishing trip to Masonboro inlet near here. Instead of going there, however, they went to Mason's inlet and, in attempting to make shore in the small outboard motorboat last night, lost the channel.

Grouping their way about, they ran aground on a sandbar on Topsail Island where they broke their propeller. The fishermen spent the night there and today a passing boat discovered their plight and towed them to the mainland. They landed at Buena Vista some miles from here.

A short while earlier Warren Pennington, Wilmington aviator, had put his plane into the air to aid in a general search for the three, and after cruising about reported he had sighted a boat believed to be that of the trio. The sighted boat was that of the returning party which landed a short time later.

306 Bandits Killed Tokyo, Sept. 2.—(AP)—A Rengo (Japanese) News Agency dispatch reported today that 306 Chinese bandits had been killed in a two-hour battle with Japanese troops at Ahta, a station on the Chinese Eastern Railway northwest of Harbin.

Dry Informer Shot Morgan City, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Felix Olivier, known to police as an informer for prohibition agents, came home from a political rally last night, turned on the light and was shot to death through an open window by an unidentified assailant.

Nothing Venture

By PATRICIA WENTWORTH

SYNOPSIS: While buying a gown for the dinner which Ferdinand Francis is giving herself and Jervis Weare at the glittering Hotel Luxe Nan is haunted by the fear that Jervis will be killed. She has overheard Robert Leonard plotting death for a man she believes to be Jervis. Although Nan and Jervis are married and Nan loves her husband dearly, she knows she represents to him only the means by which he has saved his property from the schemes of his former fiancée, Rosamund Carew. Nan waits fearfully for Jervis, who is late.

Chapter 11 IS HER SECRET SAFE?

The last stroke of eight died away and left Nan shivering. She could not go on standing on the doorstep. She must do something, but she didn't know what.

She moved, and just as if her movement had broken into a set pause, a car drew up at the curb. Jervis jumped out, and at the sight of him Nan knew how frightened she had been.

"I'm sorry to have kept you waiting. I'm frightfully late, but I had to go back—"

She said something—she had no idea of what it was—and then they were in the taxi, and she was staring out of the window and trying to quiet the beating of her heart. Just for an instant she caught sight of the edge of a bandage where his left cuff slipped back. She was ready to swear that it had not been there this afternoon.

She got herself quiet and turned round on him.

"What made you so late? I thought something had happened."

"Well, something did happen." She took a breath. "My tie wouldn't tie."

Nan looked at the tie. It had a very ordinary appearance. Her eyes, suddenly bright, gave him the lie.

"What has been happening?" "Happening?" His eyes met hers with a hint of distance and a hint of mockery.

"Yes." The distance went; the mockery remained.

"First news bulletin, copyright reserved?" "Yes."

"Barometric pressure—" said Jervis.

"Is your wrist broken?" "Certainly not. Why should it be?"

"Barometric pressure," suggested Nan.

"Nothing so original." "Please tell me."

"There's nothing to tell." "How did you hurt your wrist?"

Jervis leaned back into his corner of the taxi.

"You might say I had bumped it up against a coincidence."

"What sort of coincidence?" said Nan in a whisper.

"A very neat one," said Jervis—very neat and pat. You warn me against a villain in a taxi. I proceeded to old Page's by subway—not, I'm afraid, on account of the warning, but because our agreeable conversation didn't leave me time to walk. I see Page. I walk uneventfully to the house and put on my best tail coat. I then stroll along the street to the cab-rack, and just as I'm turning the corner a car swerves to avoid a dog and sends me spinning. If I hadn't seen him out of the tail of my eye and jumped for it, I'm afraid you'd have had to dine tete-a-tete with P. F."

"Are you hurt?" said Nan quickly and impressively.

"The tail coat is a wreck. That's what made me late. I had to fall back on my reserve, which really don't stand daylight."

"Your arm—" said Nan.

"A messy cut, efficiently bandaged by Jenks, who would be perfect, if only I would arrange to have a minor accident once or twice a week to keep his hand on. He was a great performer with a first aid kit in the war and complains that he's getting rusty. He battles rather under protest."

"Did you see the driver of the car that knocked you over?" "I did not," said Jervis. "I saw nothing except a lot of very fine colored stars and when I stopped seeing them, there was no driver to see."

"He didn't stop?" "He did not."

"And you call that a coincidence?" "I think we will both call it a coincidence," said Jervis. His tone was light, cool, and even.

Nan took a breath and sat back. She felt easily, coolly, airily put in her place. Her place was a long way off. But by the time they reached the Luxe she had herself in hand. Jervis talked pleasantly and lightly all the way; she had only to sit in her corner and listen.

Ferdinand was waiting for them in the lounge. He looked very odd in evening dress. His tall coat was not only an archaic model, but it looked as if he had made a habit of sleeping in it for years. His white tie was ready-tied. Beneath the electric light his hair was like a newly-scraped carrot. A prolonged hand-shaking attested his enthusiasm.

"This is topping," he said, and went on saying it at intervals as he piloted them to the famous Gold Room.

He had an eager, affectionate manner that was pure balm to Nan. For the first time, she could see herself as Jervis' wife. P. F.'s admiring gaze approved her. It darted from her to Jervis, and told Jervis that he was a lucky man.

"If you aren't hungry, you can go home. I'm going straight through this menu—and I shan't say that I mightn't have a second helping here and there."

"I've felt hungrier, but I've never felt greedier."

He skidded off into the story of how he once walked from Vienna to Berlin without a cent.

Nan enjoyed her dinner very much. It was rather like a dream to be wearing a pretty frock and dining at the Luxe. In a dream there is no past and no future. She gave herself up to the dream, and a reviving tide of happiness rose in her and blotted out everything except the present.

She watched a new Jervis. She had never seen just that amused sparkle in his eyes or heard that warm, bantering note in his voice. She listened in a smiling silence whilst they capped stories and reminded one another of ridiculous or strenuous adventures shared. She learned by piecing scraps of their talk together that they had knocked about Europe and the Near East for the best part of a year in one another's company.

"I was doing awful articles on Great Men's Hats, and Brigands' Shoes—that's why we had trouble in Anatolia—and What Criminals Like for Breakfast. The biggest rip of the lot began the day on pink and milk—in a bowl with bread roses round the edge."

"You were writing articles. And what was Jervis doing?" said Nan.

"Jervis was mending a hole in his head," said Ferdinand Francis.

Was it fancy, or did he hold her eyes with his for a moment? She repeated his words mechanically.

"A hole in his head?"

With a wrenching sensation she looked away and saw Jervis frowning.

"I'd had a fall," he said. "I came down on some slippery rocks and broke my head. I was just home from Harvard, so I got a year's holiday and went racketing round with P. F. He picked me up just as the tide was going to finish me off, and has stuck to me like a burr ever since."

"Do burrs pick people up?" said Nan. "I thought it was the other way round." She laughed to cover the faint tremor in her voice, and was aware of Ferdinand's eyes upon her.

"Miss Weare, don't take any notice of him. He's rotten at telling a story, and I'm a whale at it. Besides, he was unconscious, and if the tide had drowned him, he would not have known a thing about it."

His restless, curious eyes trust questions at her: "Am I going to tell this story? Do you want me to tell it? If not—why not? Yes—why, why, why?" The high light in the brown eyes was like a bright elusive question-mark.

Jervis' voice broke in on them.

"There's nothing to tell. P. F.'s a professional yarn-spinner."

"Don't you want the story, Mrs. Weare—exclusive tale of eye-witness? Or—do you know it already?"

Panic knocked at Nan's heart. (Copyright, 1932, Lippincott)

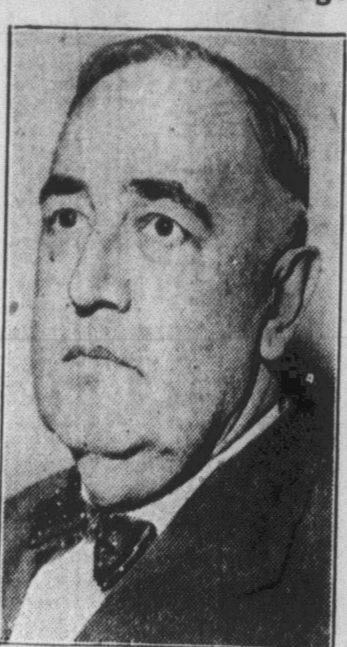

Nan meets a rival tomorrow, whom she must fight on her own ground.

DURHAM MEN ARE CALLED TO BIG LEAGUE

Charlotte, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The major league's never-ending search for "diamond ivory" has penetrated again into the Piedmont circuit. This time to give three Durham players a try-out with the Philadelphia Nationals.

The Phillies yesterday exercised their option on Durham players, recalling Hugh Willingham, third baseman and selecting Pitcher Charles Butler and Outfielder George Brown, the man who threw the Bulls into the hands of a receiver last week.

Willingham is to return to Philadelphia at the end of the Piedmont season while Butler and Brown probably will not be called until spring training next year.

The Philadelphia club had first call on two players on the Durham team in exchange for $5,000 advanced the club during the season.

The fact that they are going to get a chance in faster company had little apparent effect on Brown and Willingham in the Bulls' 4 to 3 victory over Charlotte last night. Brown failed to connect in four times up while the best Willingham could do was a single in five tries.

U. S. WALKER CUP TEAM IS HOLDING LEAD

By BILL KING
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Brooklyne, Mass., Sept. 2.—(AP)—The well-blended American Walker Cup team lacked early today but three points for its seventh consecutive victory over Great Britain's greatest amateur golfers. It had eight chances to obtain a winning margin in the 36-hole singles matches at the country club.

The Britons, who have not been successful in this international play since it was inaugurated in 1922, suffered their most humiliating setback of the series in yesterday's 36-hole Scotch fouroms.

Although Francis Ouimet, national amateur titlist and team captain, was experimenting with new blood, he and his men completely routed the challengers.

George Vogt and Jess Sweetser, the lead-off men, drubbed the Hartley brothers, Rex and Lister, 7 and 6, and Ouimet who combined with young George T. Dunlap Jr., of New York was equally effective against John Stout and John Burke, the long hitting Anglo-Irish pair.

SENATORS TAKE ONE FORM YANKS

By HERBERT W. BARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
To the Washington Senators may fall the honor of being the only club in the circuit able to take the season's series from the New York Yankees, heirs-apparent to the American league throne.

The Yankees already have clinched the 22-game series with Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis, Chicago and Boston and can get no worse than a tie with the Philadelphia Athletics. But with 20 games already in the records, they have gained no better than a draw with Washington at 10 victories apiece.

Sing's games today and tomorrow will close the season's competition between the two clubs and give the Senators a chance to win the series.

The Yankees are almost certain of winning the series from the Athletics. They have won 11 of the 18 games so far played and need only one more victory in the four games remaining to gain a decisive edge over the 1931 champions. Their record against the other clubs is: Cleveland, 13 victories and six defeats; Detroit, 14 and 3; St. Louis, 14 and 5; Chicago, 15 and 4; Boston, 14 and 4.

Washington won its tenth decision over the Yankees yesterday, 6-2, and came within two put outs of becoming the first team to blank Joe McCarthy's sluggers this year. Alvin Crowder gave up only five hits until one was out in the ninth. Then he handed walks to Ben Chapman and Lyn Lary. A pinch single by Charley Ruffin sent one run over and a fielder's choice accounting for the other.

The Senators meanwhile had hit Herb Pennock and Ed Wells at opportune moments, a triple by Joe Cronin and a home run by Ossie Bluege accounting for four of their runs in the third and seventh frames.

In the only other game played in the major leagues, the Athletics based out the Detroit Tigers, 5-4. Al Simmons and Bing Miller counted home runs off Tom Bridges in the sixth frame, each time with a man on base, to provide the winning margin.

You cannot expect to make friends socially or in business if you have halitosis (bad breath). Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

New York Cotton

New York, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened very steady 23-28 higher in response to firmer Liverpool cables and crop complaints from Texas.

Southern selling and realizing was readily absorbed, while buying was stimulated by a private report placing the indicated yield at 10-11,000 bales. This combined with fears of insect damage following the rains in western and central belt sections, brought in covering or re-buying by recent sellers and by the end of the first half hour December was up to 8.82 with the general list showing net advances of about 40 to 43 points.

Liverpool cables attributed the advance there to covering and continental buying, but said business in cotton goods was becoming more difficult with more mills closing in Manchester. A report from Dallas said rains in the western late cotton territory of Texas would most likely increase insects in the areas which hitherto have had best crop prospects and which are beginning to show appreciable damage from weevils and boll worms. The early advance met considerable realizing and some southern selling but offerings were absorbed on reactions of 10 or 12 points and the market held fairly steady later in the morning. December contracts after selling off from 8.82 to 8.71 were ruling around 8.75 at midday or about 36 points net higher. Another private report was published placing the condition at 56.6 and the indicated yield at 11,098,000 bales.

Grain Market

Chicago, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Wheat prices fluctuated erratically today within a range of about one cent, but the average closing prices were higher. Strength of stocks had considerable influence on wheat. Scattered liquidation of the September delivery was noted early, but this was absorbed by cash buyers. Traders showed little disposition to commit themselves too deeply since Monday is a holiday.

Corn generally followed wheat. Oats were quiet. Provisions were somewhat unsettled, reacting with hopes after an initial gain.

A last minute rally pushed wheat higher and the close was at or near the top for the day and 7-8 to 13-8 cents higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1-8 to 3-8 up.

Stock Market

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER (Associated Press Financial Editor) New York, Sept. 2.—(AP)—A broad advance, centering in the steel and railroad issues, swept the stock market steadily higher in moderately active trading today.

Many traders had already left town for the week-end, and bulls might mark an important turning point when they were convinced that Labor Day point in general business activity evidently had the market largely to themselves.

The hard coal railroads were again buoyant, gains of 4 to 6 points appeared in Lackawanna, Lehigh, Reading and Delaware and Hudson. Issues up 2 to 4 points included U. S. Steel Common and Preferred, Gulf States Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Crucible Steel, Inland Steel, Illinois Central, Santa Fe, Louisville and Nashville, American Telephone, American Can, Public Service of New Jersey, Allied Chemical, Dupont, Union Carbide, Case, Coca-Cola, Hershey, and others. Advances of a point or so appeared throughout many groups, including Motors, Coppers, Oils, Utilities, Rails, and more particularly, the Steels. Such issues as Gulf States, Inland, Republic, Bloss Sheffield and American Steel foundries reached new highs for 1932.

The week-end mercantile reviews contributed to the bullishness, reporting further seasonal improvement in wholesale trade, and continued spread of optimism. Breadstuffs said that drygoods and men's clothing remained below last year at this time, both have seen some quickening during the past week. Continued strength of commodities, notably cotton, also aided the bull case. The annualist weekly commodity price index showed a sensa-

THINGS QUIET STRIKE AREA made toward ending the strike of 400 Amazon Cotton Mill and 100 Boylen Veneer Plant employees.

1.—Return to work at scale paid before latest wage reduction. 2.—A promise by the company of no further reductions as long as present conditions obtain. 3.—Granting of officials of the right of employees to be called into conference should market conditions make further reductions seem necessary, including a return promise not to strike in the future on such a week's notice.

4.—Recognition of the newly formed local union, and no discrimination against strike leaders when they return to work. T. Austin Finch, president of the company, said officials had not had sufficient time to study the strikers' document to render a decision.

It was pointed out that the steering committee of the disarmament conference has been planning to make an eventual treaty substitute for the military, naval and air parts of the Versailles treaty, and it was even said that France might agree to this if the other Versailles signatories fell into line.

The opinion was voiced in League of Nations circles here that Germany, aware of this program, desires to negotiate an armaments arrangement with France before hand.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 2.—(AP)—The trial by Governor Roosevelt of James J. Walker's fitness to hold office had been brought to an abrupt end today by the resignation of the New York mayor.

Word of Walker's sudden withdrawal from office reached the governor last night as he sat in the Executive Mansion, mapping with his advisors his latest presidential campaign plans. Today Mr. Roosevelt was to have presided at the capitol over the fourteenth day's session in his hearing of ouster charges against Walker.

Mr. Roosevelt read in silence Walker's bitter denunciation of his hearing at Albany, which the mayor termed "a travesty, a mock trial, a proceeding in comparison to which even the practice of a drum-head court-martial seemed liberal."

Walker's statement, accompanying his brief letter of resignation to Michael J. Cruise, New York City Clerk, accused Roosevelt of bias, and said: "I did not believe that in this day and age any man in this country would assert the right to act above the law."

"He has exhibited discomfiture and displeasure as the unproven charges have been disproved..." The governor said he had "nothing at all" to say.

For Roosevelt the resignation meant the termination of a highly complicated judicial case which in the last three weeks has required much of his time to the exclusion at times of State business and his Presidential campaign.
