Tobacco Prices Steadily Moving Upward; Sales Heavier Today

ALL GRADES SHOW LIFE

Market Average Continues to Climb Steadily Here in the Face of Continued Offering of Inferior Grades; Demand Strong With Competitive Buying Keen On All Floors

Tobacco prices continued to move upward on the Greenville market today under strong demand from speculative buying companies. Sales, which were decidedly heavier yesterday, were completed shortly before the noon hour and warehousemen turned their attention to preparations for still heavier offerings tomorrow. The price gain was reported as being reflected on virtually all grades. Offerings, as on the first two days, consisted of a considerable amount of black tips and other inferior grades, but the general market average continued to climb despite this handicap. With the coming of cooler weather and improved prices, offerings, which have been lighter than in years, were expected to show a pronounced gain beginning tomorrow and continuing until the bulk of the crop has been disposed of.

Raleigh, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Buying of tobacco on Eastern North Carolina's new bright belt markets went forward quietly today, the third of the belt's season, and prices maintained a slight but steady climb.

Approximately 500,000 pounds were offered on the first half dozen markets' reporting and prices were even with or slightly above yesterday's average of about $12.

The weed opened steady to higher at Rocky Mount, where prices averaged approximately $12.50 for 25,000 pounds. More common tobacco was offered.

At Wilson an average of $12 was being paid for around 300,000 pounds. The quality there was inferior to that of yesterday that brought about $11.25, however, and common grades were in brisk demand.

The highest price at Tarboro was $40, where 46,000 pounds sold at an average of $13. Farmers marketed their product in orderly fashion.

Wendell tobacco prices averaged about $12.50 today compared with $10.75 yesterday. Sales were light, however, with only about 25,000 pounds on the floor.

At Williamston, 47,358 pounds sold for an average of $10.60.

Prices at Smithfield averaged $12.50 cents more than yesterday, while sales were unusually light. Only 40,000 pounds were sold compared with 200,000 last year.

Offerings at Kinston were estimated at 250,000 pounds, consisting principally of common lugs. The average price appeared to range between $11 and $11 per hundred, or fractionally higher than yesterday's average of $9.96.

Man Disgusted With Thieves

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Russell F. Hall was disgusted today.

Thieves stole two of his automobiles in one week and Hall decided to buy another.

"I'll shame the thieves," he said, and inserted an advertisement in the papers, saying:

"I am disappointed in contemplating buying a new car today and will appreciate suggestions from thieves regarding make and body type desired. Please write or wire for spare the key for last car stolen."

Hall signed his name, the ad was published, and Hall's phone started ringing. Suggestions poured in. Today he wondered how he could undo what he had done.

SEE SIGNS OF BETTER TIMES

Improvement in New Fields of Business Reported in September Survey

New York, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Several business indicators, not ordinarily included in the computations of business forecasters, have shown improvement in recent months, a study of figures in the September U. S. survey of current business indicates.

Shipments of machine tools, for instance, increased in July definitely contrary to the usual trend, according to this survey, issued by the Department of Commerce. The increase was small, as was the volume.

Similarly, foundry shipments increased, as did new and unfilled orders. Unfilled orders of machine tools gained in June and maintained the gain in July.

A continuous increase in these figures would indicate a greater amount of retarding by industry, either to meet new business demands or to prepare for anticipated demand.

The improvement still leaves the figures far below last year, but on small volume small changes have a great effect.

Delinquent accounts in the electrical trade were at the lowest point in a year. Goods in warehouses after increasing for many months, fell in June.

REPORT SIX CASES FEVER

Health Department Warns Against the Spread of Scarlet Fever in County

A warning against the spread of scarlet fever on the eve of the opening of city and county schools was issued today by Dr. R. S. McGeachy, director of the Pitt County Department of Health.

The health director stated that six cases had been reported in this county the last few days, and urged parents to be on their guard against further spread with the opening of schools just a few days off.

Four of the cases reported to the department are in the Ayden community and the other two are in Greenville township.

Dr. McGeachy stressed the importance of parents being on their guard against sore throats, the early sign of scarlet fever and diphtheria, and not to permit children to enter school suffering from such a cause until their condition had been fully investigated.

The health director pointed out that it is against the law for any child living in a home where there is a case of scarlet fever to attend school, and stressed the need for full attention to the legislation.

Launch Intensive Drive Increase In The South

Washington, Sept. 8.—(AP)—An intensive campaign for congressional control is being launched in the wake of the quadrennial presidential drive.

It included today consultations with leaders of both major parties over the contested command of Capitol Hill.

Senator Swanson of Virginia, chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, was in New York for conferences with James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic National Committee. His next scheduled stop was Albany, where he said presidential and senatorial campaign plans will be reviewed with Governor Roosevelt. Only yesterday, Senator Watson, the Republican leader, and Senator Hatfield, chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, conferred with President Hoover and reported that senatorial contests had been surveyed.

Where the two parties will direct their principal efforts for the congressional elections still was a matter of speculation to Capitol observers. But Watson, a candidate for re-election in Indiana, has it as his opinion that senatorial campaigns could be coordinated with the presidential drive.

Henry Bern Confers With Jean Harlow Concerning Suicide of Paul Bern

Los Angeles, Sept. 8.—(AP)—A conference between Jean Harlow, platinum blonde screen actress, and Henry Bern of New Rochelle, N. Y., ended at 1 a. m. today without a statement concerning the apparent suicide of Paul Bern, husband of the actress and brother of Henry Bern, who arrived by airplane late last night after a dash across the continent, said there would be a statement "soon enough." He expressed a desire to confer first with relatives.

From the airport Bern went directly to the home of Miss Harlow. Their conference was unattended by any other relatives, friends or police officers who have been investigating the death of the 42-year-old film executive who was found in his home Monday with a bullet wound in his head, a discharged pistol in his hand and nearby a note signed "Paul," addressed to "Dearest Dear" and confessing a "frightful wrong."

Bern was given medical and police records of the case, together with personal effects of his dead brother, before leaving the conference. He said he wished to study the records.

"It is my wish to confer with relatives here and in New York before agreeing to a statement of any kind," Bern said.

"I am simply a man come to the funeral of his brother. There will be a statement made soon enough." (Continued on page six)

FOUR MEN IN MURDER CASE

Jury Begins Closing Six Year Gap in the Mystery Death of Eagle Rose

Robbinsville, Sept. 8.—(AP)—A jury chosen from 200 Graham county citizens today began closing a six year gap that has separated the death of Eagle Rose and the trial of four men charged with murder.

Early one morning during the first part of 1926 Rose bid his daughter goodbye at their home near here, saying he would return a short while later.

But Rose did not come back and his decomposed body was found after 42 days in a heap brush on Yellow Creek, his skull crushed and a gunshot wound on the body.

One of the defendants, John Gladden, was said to have called Rose from a field where he and his daughter were planting corn. Rose left, saying he would "be back soon."

Gladden was arrested and held in Graham county jail until September 1928, when his case was not pursued.

Time went on and the death of the 46-year-old farmer who left a son and daughter began to slip from memory.

Cotton Crop Estimated At 11,310,000 Bales

Washington, Sept. 8.—(AP)—A 1932 cotton crop of 11,310,000 bales was forecast today for the United States by the Department of Agriculture's Crop Reporting Board, based upon conditions of September 1.

This represented little change from the total of 11,306,000 as forecast last month. The production in 1931 amounted to 17,096,000.

BREAKS INTO HOME; JAILED

Negro Captured After Breaking Into Home of Kid Tyson Near Greenville

Charged with breaking and entering the home of Kid Tyson, about three miles west of Greenville, Noah Harris, colored, was held in the county jail here today awaiting trial at the next session of county court.

The negro was said to have broken into the Tyson home while the family was away yesterday afternoon. He fled when Mrs. Tyson returned but was later captured by two motorists who happened to be passing along the highway at the time and assisted in the chase.

County officers were notified and Harris was brought to jail to await hearing.

After a number of leading stocks had sold at losses of $1 to $2, however, the decline was checked, and some issues recovered partially.

U. S. Steel dropped $2.50 to $50, and Santa Fe, which had been up $2 to $4, reacted to close at $60. American Telephone, after rising $1.50 to $121, fell back under $119. Dupont slid back about $2, going under $45. Rails strong during the morning, retraced part of the gains.

Norfolk and Western rose $6 to $114, and lost but a small part of its gain the midday vacillations.

Trading was at such a hectic pace that the ticker fell a few minutes in arrears at times. The turnover of the first two hours was at the pace of 6,000,000 shares for a full session.

No Damage From Storm Expected For State Coast

Manteo, N. C., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Although advisory storm warnings were still up from Wilmington to the Virginia Capes, a hurricane moving up from tropical waters today appeared to have advanced too far north to do damage on the North Carolina coast.

Winds that blew from 50 to 62 miles an hour off Hatteras yesterday afternoon dropped to 45 miles an hour after dark. No ships had been reported in distress between Hatteras and Cape Henry, Virginia.

Reports that the State sand road, being built between Oregon inlet and new inlet, had been damaged in several places by the high tides were received here.

High winds were blowing on the coast, but they were gradually diminishing as the tropical disturbance moved north at an estimated rate of fifteen miles an hour, with the center at sea.

Portland, Oregon, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Henry L. Stevens, Jr., National Commander of the American Legion, said today he would recommend to the National Legion Convention opening here Monday, action in courts, if necessary, against "unfair opponents and critics" of the organization.

The National Commander said he also will recommend changing the constitution and by-laws to provide for "summary and disciplinary action" against "critics of the organization who have infiltrated themselves into places of leadership and office in the Legion."

These recommendations, Stevens said, will be contained in his report which also will show that membership this year exceeded the quota assigned, and the 1930 total, but "... is below the high mark made last year when 1,053,000 members paid dues, some 90,000 being unable in this time of economic depression to find the $3 or $5 to pay their dues, but who, when the financial sickness of the country is over, will be back in the Legion ranks."

Startling Discoveries Reveal New and Amazing Facts About Disease

Human Body Composed of Only 16 Elements. Deficiency of Any of These Destroys Health.

As it may seem, the wonderful bodies of our country consist of a very limited list of fundamental chemical elements. Contrary to age-old theories, it is now known that only eleven minerals and five gases are needed by Nature in building the strongest man or the most beautiful woman.

OUR BODIES ARE ROBBED
All of these essential Minerals and gases are present in natural foods but improper cooking and an unbalanced diet rob us of these vital elements. The system becomes changed with acid. Indigestion and Constipation follow. We become nervous and irritable; subject to headaches, fail to get the proper rest at night, become weak and listless and good health deserts us.

NATURE DEMANDS HELP
When any of the essential Minerals are deficient, Nature demands help. Harsh laxatives, "patent" medicines and "pain killers" won't do. You must feed into the body those missing elements that Nature demands. LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND, the new scientific formula, contains a balanced supply of Minerals, in combination with vitamins and it is surprising how quickly the system responds to this Natural health building formula.

LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND
With Vitamins
SWEEPS THE SYSTEM CLEAN OF IMPURITIES
Drives Out Dangerous "Toxic" Poisons, Eliminates Excessive Acids That Destroy Health. Supplies the Body With Essential Minerals, Builds Rich, Red Blood, New Strength and Energy. Restores the Appetite and Aids Digestion. Helps You Enjoy Life to the Fullest.

Make This 10 Day Test Convince Yourself!
Stop dosing yourself with "patent medicines," harsh purgatives, oils and cathartics for just 10 days. Go to your nearest Druggist and secure a bottle of LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND. Take it regularly, and watch the results. You'll be amazed at the feeling of renewed strength and vigor that soon appears. No narcotics or alcohol to "boost you up" but a natural method of restoring health and energy.

For Sale by Warren Drug Store, Greenville, and other good dealers everywhere or, send $1.25 to Lee's Laboratories, 167 Forsyth St., S. W. Atlanta, Ga., for large bottle, postage paid.

Nothing Venture

By PATRICIA WENTWORTH

SYNOPSIS. Nan Weare at last has secured Ferdinand Francis as her husband. Jervis Weare, from the murderous designs of Robert Leonard. She explains to Francis, who has recognized her as the girl who ten years ago saved Jervis from drowning, that what Francis had thought an accident, really was Leonard's first attempt on Jervis' life. Jervis does not believe Leonard desires his life. He has asked Francis to join Nan and himself at Weare, his country place.

Chapter 16
"WE'VE MUFFED IT!"
"Well?" said Robert Leonard.
He splashed a small amount of soda into a good deal of whiskey with a jerk of the hand, picked up his glass, and turned to Rosamund Carew. She was standing by the window of the drawing-room looking out into the cloudy darkness of the August night. Her right hand held back the green and gold curtain, her left hung at her side. There was something in the pose that suggested strain. Without turning, she said:
"It's frightfully late."

Leonard drank half the contents of her tumbler at a gulp. Then he sat down the glass sharply.
"Hospitable creature—aren't you?"
"It's too late to be hospitable, Robert. You oughtn't to have come in."
"Rubbish!"
She looked rather wearily over her shoulder.
"I have to be careful when I'm here alone—doubly careful just now. It's been tough and go over this business." She dropped the curtain and turned round. "I've squared Janet Tetterley."

"She seemed to be all over you."
"I confided in her," she said in a dry, toneless voice. "She was dying of curiosity of course, so I told her that when I found out by accident that Jervis was in love with this girl, I didn't feel that I could stand in their way. She simply lapped it up."
She came up to one of the big chairs and leaned against it.
"What about Jane Manning Temple?"
"I got off the same piece to her. She said it was a saint."
"Well, that's all right," said Leonard. "I noticed she made a bee line for old James Mulroy as soon as you left her, and between 'em they'll do all the broadcasting that's necessary."

All at once he turned to the table and put down the empty glass.
"I suppose—" he said in a considering voice. "I suppose you could not work off that piece on Jervis, could you?"
Rosamund stared at him.
"Jervis married this girl to save the cash. He wasn't in love with her."
He blew a cloud of smoke.
"Now you're being high falutin'. What's wrong with your making him believe—" He paused, frowning.
"Well? What am I to make him believe?" Her voice mocked him.
"Hold on—I'm getting there. Suppose the girl had told you he was in love with her—that they were in love with each other?"
"What are you getting at?"
"It would let you out—noble self-sacrifice, broken heart, and all that. And it would turn him against the girl if he believed he'd been tricked into marrying her."

"It!" said Rosamund.
"Well, he might. These things slick, and when a man's been led down by one woman he's generally ready to believe the worst about the next one. You think it over. But don't take too long about it. What's separated at the present moment is a wedding that has been arranged between Mr. and Mrs. Jervis Weare, to take effect immediately. We don't want any little Weares, you know. That would put the kibosh on the whole affair."
Rosamund turned sallow eyes upon him. The blue seemed to have gone out of them leaving them bleak and grey.
"I wish to heaven I'd come through with it and married against!"
"Do you?" said Robert Leonard.
"Yes, I do," she said. "What's the good of pretending? We've muffed it, and we're in the soup. You know it as well as I do."
Robert Leonard came deliberately over to her and put heavy hands on her shoulders.
"That's enough about that!" he said roughly.
"That's for me to say."
"No, it isn't! You'll do what you're told!"

He slid one hand behind her head, tilted up her face, and kissed her three years.
He may not be amiss to warn the growers of the inadvisability of increased acreage, but it's hardly necessary to tell them, not to neglect attention to food crops which prevented widespread suffering in recent years.
You may feel the farmer part of the time, but not all the time. He knows how fickle is the market for cotton and tobacco through past experience and is hardly likely to be caught napping again. The extra crops which saved him from ruination the last two years will be continued in the future and any extra revenue he receives from cotton and tobacco will go to the settlement of back debts and improvement of farms. Outhouse will never be neglected again and each season will find them filled with foodstuffs to provide against unfavorable market conditions for principal crops.

Parents should heed the warnings and keep their children out of school at the first signs of illness, and especially until they have determined its nature. By this action they should contribute largely to the health of the various communities and enable the health department to obtain better results from its campaigns to improve public health and increase longevity.

Fear has been expressed by a Department of Agriculture worker that improved prices for cotton and tobacco will result in increases of acreage next year and neglect of diversification program brought about through low prices the last her. She did not cry out, but he felt her stiffen. Her lips were hard and cold against his. He released her and stood back.

"New listen to me!" he said. "Jervis and his girl haven't been going together, but she's going to Weare with him tomorrow—well, by now it's today. I'm going down too. You can stay here if you like."
"The Tetterleys asked me down."
He seemed to consider that.
"Quite a good plan. We had better not be seen together again for the present."
Rosamund put her hand to her head. She pushed back the heavy gold of her hair and let her hand drop into her lap again. Then she said without looking at him:
"What are you going to do?"
"Mind my own business."
She stood up at that.
"I think it's my business too."
She went to the table under the lamp and, jerking open a drawer, pulled from it a sheet of papers.
"Bill!" she said. "Today's little let! Would you like to have a look at them?"
"No thanks—I've plenty of my own."
"Exactly. And what are we going to do about it? I've got this house till the end of August. I've been paying the rent in advance on the first of the month. I'm overdrawn at the bank. And the minute the notice of Jervis' marriage is in the papers everyone I've ever dealt with sits down and sends me a bill! And Jervis flings me a few dimes!"
"Well, I haven't got them."
"What are we going to do?"
"You are going to stay with Janet Tetterley—and I am going down to Croyston," said Robert Leonard.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and snaky and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a more movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes three good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

REVISIT OLD HOME SITE

Higgs Family of This City Make Annual Pilgrimage to Historic Halifax

On Wednesday the Higgs family, originally of historic Halifax county, but now residing in Pitt, made an annual pilgrimage to their old family home in Edgecombe and Halifax counties.

In Tarboro, Mr. E. B. Higgs, of Greenville, acting as spokesman for the group, called attention to the monument erected in the "Common" to the honor of the distinguished statesman and soldier, Gen. Louis Dickens Wilson who was the son of Elizabeth Dickens, daughter of Benjamin Dickens, one of the largest landowners in that section, and who was a lineal ancestor of the members of the party.

From Tarboro the caravan proceeded to the old Savage place built about 1800. Here lived the grand-aunt of Benjamin Dickens, Susanna Savage, one of the most picturesque figures of her day—left a widow with four small children when she was only twenty-one. She carved out an enviable career for herself, adding to her inherited property, she became known for her business sagacity, and at the time of her death she was known as one of the three oldest landowners of Edgecombe.

The Whitehead homestead, which was next visited, held its interest for the party because it was the scene of the marriage in 1861 of Willie Jones Higgs, who was educated at Princeton University and William Ann Savage, parents of several of the group. William Ann Savage was the granddaughter of the above Susanna, and on her paternal side was descended from William Jeger's who settled in Williamsburg, Va., with other Huguenot immigrants.

The next stop was made at the Higgs place nearby where Willie Jones Higgs and his family lived for several years following the Civil war. This house and most of the fine old trees were burned several years ago, and there is little left now save memories of childhood days.

Passing on the road turned aside at the beautiful old Lowry place where Willie Jones Higgs and his family lived before he built the above mentioned home. It was originally the property of his wife's great-great aunt, Anne Dickens Lowry, the aunt of Susanna Dickens Savage. This house has added interest for the members of the party as it is one of the finest examples of colonial architecture. It is a replica of the Bassett house in Williamsburg, Va., having the same classic portico and detailed molding trim. It has one of the few Chinese Chippendale stairways in this country, and its fine paneling and carved mantels bespeaks the culture of the Federal Era.

The next stop was made at the present Keel place about three miles from Scotland Neck. This was the ancestral home of the Higgs of Halifax county, as it was the site of the home of the first Higgs to move into Halifax from Bertie county—Jacob Higgs, who in 1790 married Sarah Bishop, the daughter of a large landowner living nearby. The grandfather of this Jacob was John Higgs of Bristol County, Gloucestershire, England, who settled in Virginia in 1650. His grandson, John, moved into Bertie county and there married Judith Harrell.

It was appropriate that the next estate visited was that of Sarah Bishop Higgs' father, now owned by Mr. Charles Cotton, a Bishop descendant also. It was once a part of the property of William Bishop whose ancestor, John Bishop, settled in Virginia about 1640 and was a member of the House of Burgesses in 1644.

Detouring at noon, the party turned from the main road at Mr. Surry Dunn's plantation, and spread a delicious picnic lunch at his lodge which is located in a beautiful natural park. Afterwards there followed an hour of happy association during which traditions and reminiscences and current family happenings linked days of the past with the days of the ever-changing present.

Following this delightful relaxation, the caravan again took up the trail, this time stopping at the home of Ambrose Pittman whose great grandfather was Ambrose Fielding, owner of Wickomoco Hall in Northumberland County, Virginia. Coming into Halifax about 1735, Ambrose Pittman built the fine old house with its great brick chimneys and wide clapboards. It still stands surrounded by ancient trees on a gently sloping knoll overlooking hundreds of acres of farm and timberlands. Passed down through the generations, it is now owned by Mrs. Lawrence, a lineal descendant.

It was from this family of Pittmans Jacob Higgs II chose his wife, Adeline Frances. They were married at the home of her sister Sarah Pittman Dawson. The house which is still standing is somewhat similar in style to the Anne Lowry place before mentioned. After marriage they made their home a few miles away at "Shady Rest." Here was born a large family, among whom were Joseph Benjamin and Willie Jones Higgs, the father of the Higgs of Pitt county.

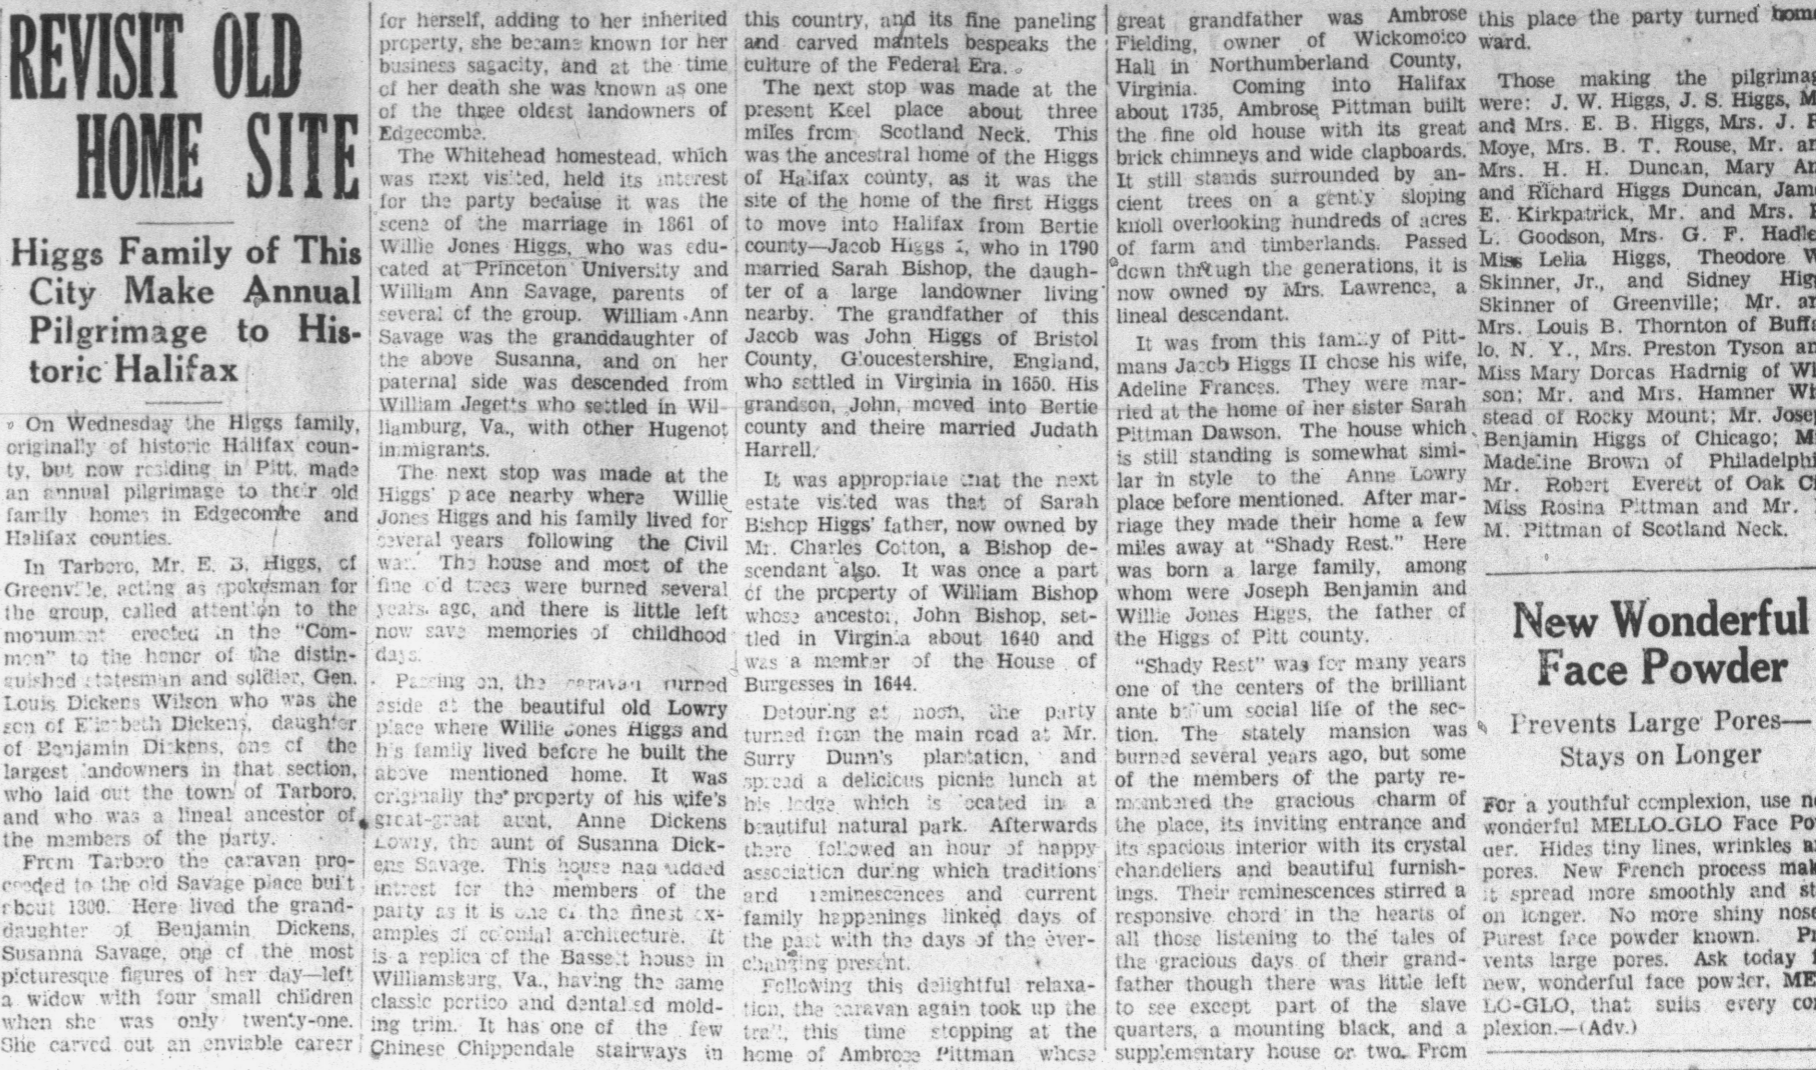

"Shady Rest" was for many years one of the centers of the brilliant ante-bellum social life of the section. The stately mansion was burned several years ago, but some members of the party remembered the gracious charm of the place, its inviting entrance and its spacious interior with its crystal chandeliers and beautiful furnishings. Their reminiscences stirred a responsive chord in the hearts of all those listening to the tales of the gracious days of their grandfather though there was little left to see except part of the slave quarters, a mounting black, and a supplementary house or two. From this place the party turned homeward.

Those making the pilgrimage were: J. W. Higgs, J. S. Higgs, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Higgs, Mrs. J. R. Moye, Mrs. B. T. Rouse, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Duncan, Mary Ann and Richard Higgs Duncan, James E. Kirkpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Goodson, Mrs. G. F. Hadley, Miss Lella Higgs, Theodore W. Skinner, Jr., and Sidney Higgs Skinner of Greenville; Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Thornton of Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. Preston Tyson and Miss Mary Dorcas Hadmrig of Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. Hamner Winstead of Rocky Mount; Mr. Joseph Benjamin Higgs of Chicago; Miss Madeline Brown of Philadelphia; Mr. Robert Everett of Oak City; Miss Rosina Pittman and Mr. L. M. Pittman of Scotland Neck.

The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". # STRONG SQUAD BEING BUILT UP AT STATE

Charlotte, Sept. 8.—(AP)—The impression is growing in a rather quiet way that this football team Coach Clippie Smith is building at North Carolina State college is going to be a pretty good job.

For instance, take the matter of a fullback. When it appeared that State's yearly fullback, eligible for another year, would not be back this season, Smith started grooming three young men for the job.

Among the arrivals in the Wolf-pack camp yesterday was none other than Mope Cumiskey, State's yearly fullback.

Then again, take the case of filling Charlie Cobb's shoes. Cobb, captain last year, saar tackle and also eligible another year, has gone to work with the New York state police. A search for a successor to Cobb went forward with doubtful results.

Then into a State practice session walked James "Red" Uley, under-study to Cobb last year. Smith put him to work and announced he had found the man to take Cobb's place.

On top of all that, State has more than 15 lettermen in its squad of 45 and two others are expected to report. They are Willie Duke, guard, and Hank McLawhorn, halfback.

State, however, is not the only Big Five school with an optimistic pre-season outlook. There are worries, of course, but these won't be met face to face until opening games.

It's no secret at Duke that Coach Wallace Wade is working hard on that line. Any coach would if he had to build a forward wall with hardy more than one letterman on it.

That's what Wade is doing. He has turned his backs over to assistants, moved them to another part of the field and he is working on that line. He's not as worried, however, as he might be because he has in hand a group of sophomores trained to his style by his own aides who came to Duke a year before he did.

From the looks of things at Wake Forest, Coach Pat Miller is going to be able to order an air attack any time he might choose.

The Deacon camp is literally full of good passers with Shinn, Russell, Wilson, Peters, Holton and Slayton being the head men in this department. Hack Malloy, reserve end on last year's squad, has been shifted to center on the Deacon club.

North Carolina's Tar Heels are still taking things rather easily. Conditioning this year's squad, made up of the hardest work for the 53 candidates and Coach Chuck Collins announced heavy equipment wouldn't be handed out until early next week.

The search for a punter of ability is going forward at Davidson with Morgan appearing in the stellar role. Punt and kick-off formations are also being taught by Coaches Doc Newton and Gene McEver.

BULLS FIGHT CAPS FOR LOW CELLAR POST

Charlotte, Sept. 8.—(AP)—With the leadership definitely hung on Charlotte's shoulders, interest in the Piedmont League today shifted to the other end where Durham and Raleigh are fighting to keep from winning the cellar post.

Unless the lawf averages takes an awful jolt, the rather dubious honor is going to land right in Raleigh's lap.

The Caps took it on the chin twice last night, losing to High Point by scores of 7-3 and 8-2. Durham, meanwhile, was tripping Wilmington 9-3 and the result was the teams swapped places at the bottom of the standings ladder.

To add to Charlotte's misery, the Caps have to play their last three games against the league leading Charlotte Hornets so that the possibility of making up the 1-2 game deficit by which they hold the cellar post is definitely remote.

The Caps take a holiday today, however, along with High Point. The clubs played a double header last night in order to get a day off.

Charlotte made a poor showing against Greensboro, the club it will play in the post-season series starting September 13 for the league pennant.

The Pats banged Shaney around for 14 hits that netted as many runs while the Bees were being held to safe safeties and three runs by Chapman. The present Charlotte-Greensboro series is being watched closely as an indication of how things will go in the pennant fight.

CIVIL COURT BEGINS MON.

Judge W. C. Harris to Preside Over One-Week Term of Superior Court Here

A one-week term of Pitt County Superior Court for the trial of civil cases will convene in this city next Monday morning with Judge W. C. Harris, of Raleigh, presiding.

The calendar contains forty-three cases of more or less interest to the people of this part of the country and fairly large crowds were expected to be in attendance each day.

Virtually all of the cases are of a minor nature, and the calendar was expected to be virtually completed by the end of the session.

The calendar and jury list follow:

The great American circus must present a brand new feature each year—and it must be of a thrilling nature; savages with big lips; sea cows, a man shot out of the mouth of a cannon are some of the features of late years. The feature of features is a problem that the circus management must face each winter. Something new, something thrilling and something different must be presented. What will it be?

The Barnett Bros. Circus this year are presenting a feature that leaves the spectators spellbound. P. T. Barnum in his heyday, could not approach this season's feature of the Barnett Bros. circus.

The three rings, the elevated stages, the hippodrome course, aerialists high in the air, are astounding the audience. The auctioneer blows a whistle and everything is cleared. The big tent is as silent as a hermit's dell. The announcer steps to the center ring: "Ladies and gentlemen," he says, "The Barnett Bros. circus presents the greatest feature of all time, past or present. With pleasure I introduce to you Delphia, a baby elephant, trained by Thomas Burns of Terra Haute, Ind., Delphia, the only elephant on earth or anywhere else who walks a tight wire."

The wild west show of the Barnett Bros. third year is in charge of Victor Cody, nephew of the original Buffalo Bill.

REDS LOSE 5-3 GAME TO GIANTS

By HUGH S. FULLERTON Jr. (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Even though the Cubs and the Pirates are keeping the National League pennant race steamed up so that they almost monopolize the fans' attention, there still is time to consider the case of Charles Fred (Red) Lucas of Cincinnati.

In his seventh season with the Reds, Lucas appears to have reverted to the days when a pitcher was expected to play almost as often as an outfielder and there was no big corps of relief boxmen waiting around ready to go in the minute he showed signs of faltering.

The husky redhead, who has fallen below the 500 mark in games won and lost only once in his six seasons with a usually weak club, may repeat in that respect again this year but he seemed certain to lead them all in the matter of finishing what he starts.

Lucas has started 29 games so far and he has been in there at the end of 27 of them. He ran up a string of 18 complete games in a row, failed twice in a short time in mid-July and since then has made a new string of eight. Unfortunately for his record, he has won only 13 games and lost 15.

Lucas took it on the chin again yesterday although he hurled a fairly good game against the giants. He had a 5-3 margin in the seventh inning then ran into a bone ru assault that brought three runs and cost him the decision.

The woes that usually greet the leading clubs of the west when they start their final trip of the season turned up on schedule time. Chicago's league leading Cubs ran into grief in Boston and took a double defeat from the Braves 11-4 and 2-0.

Stock Market

New York, Sept. 8.—(AP)—The bull market in stocks encountered some decidedly rough going today...

Speculators for the rise fought with determination against a large volume of profit taking...

Trading was in huge volume, but a number of prominent issues, notably U. S. Steel, had failed to make notable progress on the upside...

Greensboro, N. C.—(AP)—Frank Smith and P. L. Evans went fishing near here and caught a 36-inch eel that was seven inches in circumference.

LAUNCH INTENSIVE DRIVE FOR CONTROL OF CONGRESS

(Continued From Page One) said he believed Indiana, Illinois and Ohio should be a major battleground. In the first two states, Republican senators are up for reelection. In Ohio, the Democratic seat of Senator Buckley is on trial this year.

Watson also told newspapermen that whether a Republican Senate majority would be maintained after November was "a very close question." To the same query Hatfield replied affirmatively, adding: "Conditions are getting better right along."

Congress today is divided by the closest margin since the restless period of the war-time change from Democratic to Republican rule. Democrats hold the House by a narrow edge. Republican control of the Senate has been cut to actual equality by the recent death of Senator Waterman of Colorado.

With Congress so evenly divided it is regarded as a possibility in discussions of Capitol observers that whoever is elected president—Hoover or Roosevelt—may have a Congress under domination of the opposite party.

Both parties have lost some of their old standbys in both the Senate and House in the primary contests already held. The election finds many more of the elder statesmen on trial.

The decline in prospective yield per acre during the month was entirely offset by the fact that abandonment of acreage is estimated to be somewhat below average.

In the August report the Crop Reporting Board used the ten-year average of 3.1 per cent abandonment; in the September report the Board used the abandonment of 1.8 per cent indicated by the reports made by crop correspondents as of September 1. The acreage remaining for harvest is estimated at 36,611,000 compared with 40,693,000 acres harvested.

"The indicated crop is 5,786,000 bales less than the 1931 crop and 3,348,000 bales less than the average production of the last five years."

"During August prospects declined in practically all States in the eastern and central portions of the belt, where weevils have been quite active and weather conditions were mostly favorable to the crop. The forecasts for Texas and Oklahoma are considerably above the forecasts of August 1, due largely to favorable moisture conditions in the western portion of these States."

MAY CALL NEW GERMAN VOTE

(Continued From Page One) ernment, the Chancellor will invoke the decree, already signed by President Von Hindenburg, to dissolve the Reichstag, and another election will be held, probably November 6.

The president announced he would receive representatives of the proposed Nazi-Centrist coalition at 10:30 a. m. Saturday.

Newspaper comment generally held this reception will be merely a formality, after which the president will reject the coalition proposal tooust the Von Papen cabinet.

Then the Nazis and Centrists will have until the Reichstag convenes Monday to decide their course. Most political commentators expressed the belief Von Papen would allow a day or two to debate the government's announcements, but that he would promulgate the dissolution decree before an opportunity arose to vote on a question of non-confidence.

The government's willingness to face another election is based on its belief that the Von Papen Ministry is much stronger with the public now than it was at the last election when Hitler's Nazis polled a tremendous vote, securing one-third of the Reichstag seats.

Hitler continued his attacks on the government in a speech at Munich last night, declaring he looked forward joyfully to the dissolution. He expressed scorn over the offers of a few ministerial seats to him, declaring he cared nothing for "titles or chancellorships" as long as the leadership was in his hands.

BANK CASES FACE INQUIRY

(Continued From Page One) in a fight to escape two prison sentences growing out of his acts in connection with the Central bank, heads the list of defendants in the pending action. He was president of the Central, and was convicted of publishing a false report of its condition, and of conspiring with Luke Lea, Tennessee publisher, to defraud it of more than $1,000,000.

LEVEES STAND FLOOD CRUSH

(Continued from page one) National Railways was submerged. Reports of a new rise on the Rio Grande and some of its tributaries came from Re Rio and Eagle Pass, where enormous damage from flood waters was suffered last week.

Rehabilitation work went forward at Nuevo Laredo. The Mexican government allotted 10,000 pesos for relief and Governor Francisco Castellanos of the State of Tamaulipas, Mexico, surveyed the situation.

CONSTRUCTION WORK ON INCREASE IN THE SOUTH

(Continued from page one) month in awards for new church buildings. Miscellaneous awards last month totaled $11,186,000, and included new levee and revestments in the Mississippi Valley.

Contracts totaling $1,325,000 were let in the South in July and August for new store buildings and extension of existing structures.

Representative projects let to contract or regarding which preliminary announcements were made last month include: Three hundred thousand dollars for a building at the University of Florida; $1,925,000 for a Federal building at Norfolk, Va.; and $1,245,000 for a sewer system at Lexington, Ky.

COUNTY COURT FINISHES WRK

was found not guilty, it being shown no criminal intent was intended, employe of the convict camp involved Young Brown, who was painfully injured in the accident, as well as having his automobile virtually demolished, was also adjudged not guilty of reckless driving.

Judge W. L. Whedbee presided over the session and approximately thirty odd cases were disposed of during the two-day sitting.

Charlie May, colored, was ordered to the roads for sixty days in case he should fail to pay one-half cost on a charge of assault.

William Johnson, colored, was sentenced to the roads for six months on a larceny charge.

No! pros was taken in the case of Willie Oakley, Greenville young man, charged with stealing gasoline from an automobile. Marvin Honeycutt, prosecuting witness, could not positively identify Oakley as one of two men seen leaving the car with gas in their possession.

Elmer Whitley, second defendant in the case, asked that trial be transferred to Superior court for jury action.

DR. BEN LACY TO SPEAK HERE

The meeting of the organization will be held in the basement of the Presbyterian Church and in view of the fact that the North Carolina Synod of the Presbyterian Church will be in session here at that time the largest attendance in years is anticipated.

Dr. McGeachy today urged all alumni desiring to attend to notify R. E. McClure, president; Jean Booth, secretary, or himself, and accommodations would be provided for them.

The coming of Dr. Lacy will be received with general interest throughout the community. He is well known in Greenville, having delivered the Armistice Day address before the Pitt County Post of the American Legion here about three years ago. He later held a series of evangelistic services at the Presbyterian Church here and was heard by hundreds of people.

Dr. Lacy is general president of the Davidson alumni and has exerted a powerful influence for the school for many years.

PUSHES CASES OF RED PARTY

He said the Forsyth County Clerk of Court would be asked to summon the members of the Board to show cause why the request should not be complied with. He said the Board had not right to require 10,000 signatures to a petition before placing the names on the ballots, as it recently ruled in the case of the Socialist party.

Flowers said he was suing in behalf of C. Ray Swain, of Forsyth County, and his fellow-electors, all of whom are parties to the suit.

They are: Fred Lucas, First District; John Thigpen, Third District; Buster Moore, Fourth District; R. H. Hanner, Sixth District; E. M. Roberts, Seventh District; M. E. Aldridge, Ninth District; Henry Crane, Tenth District; Carl Jacobs, Eleventh District; and J. W. Garmon, Alamance County, and William Hodges, Charlotte, electors-at-large.

REPORT SIX CASES FEVER

(Continued from page one) Attention was also called to vaccinations for smallpox and parents were requested to see that their children are properly immunized as early as possible.
