POLICE AND STRIKERS CLASH AT HIGH POINT MILL

Expedition Begins Search for "Flying Hutchinsons" Missing In East Greenland

LITTLE HOPE OF RECOVERY

American fliers on way from New York to Europe reported missing in ice floes of North; 'SOS' followed by silence; rescuers entertain little hope of finding father, mother, two children and four others.

Copenhagen, Sept. 12.—(AP)—A motor boat party from the Pan-American East Greenland expedition and a naval plane from a Danish scientific expedition joined today in the search for the "Flying Hutchinsons" along the southeast Greenland coast, radio dispatches said.

The British trawler Lord Halbot failed to find any trace of Geo. P. Hutchinson, his wife, two daughters and four other members of his party when it raced to the point where they flashed distress signals yesterday.

Fred S. Chapman, one of the leaders of the Pan-American Airways party studying another air route connections, and a man named Wylde, left Angmagssalik in a motor boat to search for the Hutchinsons who reported their position near there when forced down.

The naval flying machine No. 84 from the Danish scientific expedition headed by Dr. Knud Rasmussen took off from Julianehaab, near the southern tip of Greenland, to follow the route taken by the Hutchinsons.

The Hutchinsons had left Julianehaab bound for Angmagssalik, an earlier stage of their projected flight to London.

Angmagssalik, Greenland, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Amid ice floes that gnashed menacingly rescue vessels searched without much hope today for six adults and two small girls—the "Flying Family" of George R. Hutchinson.

Their flight from New York toward Europe culminated yesterday in frantic SOS calls—and then silence. Hutchinson reported his plane had been forced down off Eastern Greenland on its way here from Julianehaab, near the southern tip of Greenland. It was feared all eight perished in the icy waters.

The Hutchinson family, father, mother and two daughters, with a crew of four, left New York August 23 on a flight by easy stages over the transatlantic route to Europe. They hoped to be the first family to cross the Atlantic in a plane.

The British steam trawler, Lord Halbot, was twenty-five miles away when she picked up the SOS signal about 10 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time). She raced for the location given, but when she got there four hours later found nothing but ice in sight. The signals kept coming for about an hour as she sped through the floes. Then they ceased.

The governor of Greenland, Knud Oldendow, sent rescue forces to work immediately and the Lord Halbot played her searchlight over the ice for several hours, but could see nothing of the plane. A fleet of boats was sent out from here during the night with orders to starch the coast line area.

The thrushes of the floes against the pantoon would be hard for it to find. It was said in some quarters here and there was a disposition to fear the plane had sunk.

Governor Oldendow said, however, that everything possible would be done to rescue the fliers. The Danish cruiser which usually is in Greenland waters, is now at Reykjavik Iceland, however, and two other cruisers are off the west coast of Greenland, too far away to be of use. The efforts had to be limited to motorboats and the kayaks of the Eskimos.

It was thought possible the ship ran out of fuel almost within shouting distance of its destination. In his SOS Hutchinson reported his location.

Tobacco Prices Continue to Advance on This Mart

The Greenville tobacco market entered its second week of the 1932-1933 season today with prices showing an upward tendency similar to that displayed during the opening week.

With about three hundred thousand pounds of leaf on the floors of the various warehouses, sales were completed by the noon hour and warehousemen began clearing their floors in preparation for heavier offerings tomorrow.

The price climb noted virtually every day last week was evident on nearly all grades of tobacco today and farmers were reported to have made some of the best sales seen here this season.

While sales have been reduced considerably this season compared with recent years because of cotton picking and other farm duties, it was believed that offerings would show a pronounced increase this week especially in the face of advancing prices. The first week of the season saw less tags turned than any year in history of the market, and the same conditions was in evidence today at (Continued on Page Six)

SEEK FACTS ON PUBLIC RELIEF

Questionnaire Must be Answered Before Pitt County Gets Government Aid.

Complete reports of relief activities conducted by various agencies in this county must be consolidated with a state report for presentation to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation before governmental appropriations can be distributed for relief purposes this winter. It was divulged by information received here today from state relief headquarters by K. T. Futrell, director of the Welfare Department.

Two hundred questionnaires were sent to Mr. Futrell by Mrs. W. T. Bost, director of the State Welfare Department, at request of the state relief agency, for distribution among the various relief agencies of this county, for the purpose of obtaining all possible information concerning relief activities with a view to consolidating it with the state report for information of the Reconstruction Corporation.

The questionnaires will be sent to all public and private relief bodies in this county with an urgent request that they be filled out and returned to Mr. Futrell immediately. The appeal for immediate attention to the questionnaires is made for the reason that it will be impossible to obtain government aid until the complete state report is in the hands of the Reconstruction Corporation which has charge of distribution of funds through State agencies.

Governor Gardner, it was stated, is hopeful of being able to present the needs of North Carolina to the government agency not later than September 17th. It was said that the date of receipt of the complete report would determine the date upon which funds will be made available to the various states. The letter regarding the questionnaires (Continued on Page Six)

BLAST KILLS CREEK FISH

Hundreds of Fish Reported Killed by Dynamite in Blount's Creek.

The dynamiting of a section of Blount's Creek, one of the favorite fishing grounds in Beaufort County patronized by lovers of the rod and reel of this community, has caused the death of hundreds of fish, according to reports brought back to the city over the week-end by local fishermen. Dead fish by the hundreds were reported floating along the creek and scattered along the banks below Tolar's bridge yesterday and the stench was described as almost unbearable. The fish were said to range in size from two inches to two feet or longer, and fishing along the stream has been virtually paralyzed by the condition. While some expressed belief that death of the fish was caused by salt water flowing into the creek from nearby stream, others, however were (Continued on page four)

FOUR WOMEN ARE DETAINED

Tear Gas Bombs Used by Officers in Attempt to Clear Stehli Silk Mill Driveway of Pickets; Effort Under Way To Declare Peace in the Strike of Furniture Factory Workers at Thomasville.

High Point, N. C., Sept. 12.—Eight pickets, including four women, were arrested here today as twenty police brushed with 400 Stehli Silk Mill strikers who attempted to prevent the clearing of a driveway to the mill grounds.

Those taken in custody during the disturbance were Mary Riley, Chas. Walker, Myrtle Cardon, Ruth Carson, Fulton Furr, Grace Wilson, Joe Stephens, and Lenton Robbins.

The rush followed a request by officials of the mill that police clear a driveway leading into the plant grounds.

Members of the High Point police department, responding to the request, attempting to make a way through approximately 400 picketing strikers who recently walked from their posts in protest against a wage cut.

The strikers refused to move in compliance to police orders and the officers threw a tear gas bomb.

As the fumes spread, the crowd backed away slightly while one woman ran to the bomb and picked it up. By that time, however, its force had been spent and the picketers disregarded the orders to vacate the section about the gate.

Police then moved about the crowd and arrested seven. They were charged with obstructing a driveway, allowed bond and released.

Thomasville, N. C., Sept. 12.—(AP) Representatives of Governor Gardner, striking Thomasville Chair Company employees and their employers conferred here today in an effort to end the month-old walk-out.

Governor Gardner, in Raleigh, announced that he would not attend, but would be represented by Capus M. Waynick, editor of the High Point Enterprise. Waynick came here yesterday, accompanied by E. B. Jeffers, chairman of the State Highway Commission and Col. J. W. Harrelson, director of the State Department of Conservation and Development who was described as the governor's "observer."

Last night Waynick issued a statement saying contacts he had made convinced him there would be no more disorders such as those of Saturday, when two State highway patrolmen were stoned and a child was overcome by a hurled tear gas bomb.

All of the outside intermediaries have expressed confidence that today's conference will go far toward procuring a settlement of the dispute. The chair workers walked out four weeks ago in protest against a wage cut.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Strikers of some employees in two departments of the Hanes Hosiery Mills, which employ 1,300 persons, left all departments closed today.

Approximately 200 workers were officially on strike when the decision by the management to close the mills was reached, but there were reports they would be joined by 400 others. Although the first walkout occurred Thursday the mills operated through Saturday.

In announcing the mills would not open this morning, James G. Hanes, president, said they would be closed indefinitely. The workers are demanding a return to the wage scale in force last September, less 20 per cent. The mill owners contend the wage scale is higher than that of any other seamless hosiery mill in the United States (Continued on page six)

Manufacturing Picks Up in N. C.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 11.—(AP)—During the last census year 179 manufacturing plants in North Carolina produced goods valued at $894,310,530, or almost two-thirds of the total output of the 3,800 Tar Heel plants reporting, the Department of Conservation and Development announced today.

Based on Federal Census figures, an analysis by the State Department shows that a small number of establishments furnish a very large portion of the total output and a relatively small number of medium-sized factories furnish employment to the greatest number of workers.

Eighteen plants turned out products worth more than $5,000,000 each, with an aggregate value of 546 million dollars, or 43 per cent of the total; 244 plants did business of $500,000 to $1,000,000; 752 produced from $100,000 to $500,000 worth of stuff each; 944 from $20,000 to $100,000, and 1,578 from $5,000 to $20,000 each.

The average Tar Heel plant did an annual business of $100,000 and employed about two hundred workers.

In thirty-five of the reporting establishments the owner did all of the work, and in 1,912, or more than half the total, five persons, or less, were employed. In other words, in 51 per cent of the establishments about 35 per cent, or about 7,000 workers, were employed.

Seize Cargo Of Liquor and Crew

Boston, Sept. 12.—(AP)—The captain and crew of the 122-foot yacht Prudence were to appear before a United States Commissioner today following seizure of their craft and a cargo of 1,500 barrels and sacks of liquor.

The seizure, made yesterday, was the largest recorded in New England on a boat.

The yacht, palatial in its appointments, was registered to Mason Dillaway of (304 East 42nd Street) New York.

Customs men said the Prudence left the bay of Funday, N. S., last Wednesday and put into Boston Saturday night. The seizure was made as the yacht was about to depart for New York.

Customs men had searched once and were about to give up when one of them found a peculiar electric light fixture in the saloon. The bulb fell in his hand as he touched the fixture and two cords were disclosed inside the socket.

Officers said a tug at the cords caused a panel to open at a hatchway, which revealed a secret passage leading to a forward hold, where the liquor was found.

Prepare For Storm in Texas

Port Arthur, Texas, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Residents of Texas coastal towns and farming communities prepared today for the arrival of a tropical disturbance reported moving in from the Gulf of Mexico.

Weather observers said if the blow kept its course it would strike near Port Arthur late tonight or tomorrow. A month ago a hurricane on the Texas coast killed more than forty persons, most of them in small towns south of Galveston. The intensity of the new disturbance was uncertain. No vessels in the area it had covered had more reports.

So far the weather in this section was normal. Barometers were little below average levels. Near Galveston last night island ranchmen drove cattle to high ground and campers were warned to move from the beaches as a precaution against possible high tides.

ABOUT TOWN

City schools were thrown open for the 1932-33 session today and there was many a crestfallen youngster who looked upon opening with distaste.

Youth has always looked upon schooling with more or less disfavor, considering it a great hardship to have to sit in school the greater part of the day to digest enough of the hundred and one different problems to get him a passing mark.

In the Greenville system, the child of rich and poor alike have advantages equal, if not superior, to those in much larger cities of the state.

It is hard to have to get down to the monotonous grind of this business of getting an education after so many weeks filled with diversion and recreation.

The Greenville tobacco market opened its second week of sales today and from all indications there will be decidedly more tobacco offered here than last week.

Farmers have been handicapped recently by cotton picking and farm operations and were not able to market their crop as rapidly as usual during the first week of sales.

More of the most pleasing things in connection with the first week of sales here was the fact that less tags were turned than any other week in history of the market.

With continued increase in prices this year, growers accepted the prices offered without dissent, and hope to be able to receive good prices for the remainder of their crop.

This part of the state has been hard hit in recent years by declining prices for the principal money crops, but if prices for cotton and tobacco should continue to mount they ought to be in better condition at the end of the year.

Leading economists believe the turning point has come in the economic situation of the nation and that the next year will see a continuance of the improved conditions evident in all parts of the nation at this time.

Jimmy Walker has gone to Europe at suggestion of his physician to recover from the strain of the investigation leading to his resignation as mayor of New York City.

Nothing Venture

By PATRICIA WENTWORTH

SYNOPSIS: Fearing that she and Jervis were being followed by Rosamund Carey and Robert Leonard, Nan Weare goes to her husband's country place with him.

Chapter 19 A TRAGEDY IMPENDS

The day came up in a sea fog which lifted before eleven. It left the grass grey with dew and every tree and flower hung with tiny brilliant drops which made rainbows in the sun.

Nan had slept late. She came downstairs an find that Jervis had breakfasted and gone out. When the fog lifted, she took a book out on to the terrace and sat on the old balustrade looking over to the ravine.

Nan looked up at her window and wondered if she had really stood there in the dead of night and seen Robert Leonard by a flash of lightning. A little shiver went over her.

"Would you like to come and see the waterfall?"

She looked over the balustrade and saw him below her, bareheaded, looking up. A drop of three feet on the terrace side was a good ten to the path below.

"You'll want thick shoes—everything's sopping." "These are the thickest I've got. I don't mind getting wet."

"You'll get drenched. Why on earth don't women have decent shoes? You'll get absolutely soaked."

"I don't mind. I haven't got country shoes, because I don't live in the country."

"You'll have to get some." Her heart jumped. Would she? What did he mean? Did he mean anything? Did he want her to live here? And if he did want her to, could she do it? She didn't know.

She looked up at him with a faint smile which became suddenly tremulous. She felt like a child at a party where the other children were playing a game she did not know.

"The sound of falling ater came nearer every minute. On the terrace it was an undertone; but as they went down the slope, it swallowed every other sound and rose to a dominant roar.

Then the path widened, and they came out upon a flat open space. From the right the headlong stream came hurrying down a steep rocky channel.

Nan stood by the railing which guarded the edge and looked over. A mass of foaming water fell forty feet sheer to a black pool.

The ravine narrowed to a cleft, and within this cleft the water fell. The sides of it were dark and slippery. And beyond the black pool, which lay in shadow, the sunlight glittered on the sea.

"It's high tide, so you're seeing it at its best. Watch that wave come in."

Nan watched, and saw a big wave rear itself and come driving through the mouth of the ravine, to break in foam and spray against the spray and foam of the fall.

"You get the best view from the bridge," said Jervis.

completely dissipated the Democrats can go into the campaign expecting to receive even the support of Walker's friends, who like the former mayor, were opposed to Roosevelt when his nomination was hanging in the balance.

Whether Walker ran the government of New York for the benefit of his friends is a matter of little significance at this time, but that there was room for reduction in expense of government was shown in recent action of the new mayor cutting expenses several millions of dollars.

Walker was popular, had many friends who made demands upon him, and if he went wrong in the handling of governmental business it was probably because of a desire to hold his popularity and the influence of those who helped him gain the high office.

Many a man has gone the same road only to learn as Walker as learned that honesty above all else is one of the greatest requisites of American government.

Does the sea always come up to the pool?"

"Yes—except at the ebb of a spring tide. A high flood tide will break half way up the fall. It's a fine sight. Come and see it from the bridge. Here, Bran! Hi over!"

Bran cocked his ears, lifted his head, an draced ahead of them to the bridge, where he turned with a joyful wwoof and then ran forward. But as he came on to the bridge, he checked so suddenly that the slid a couple of feet on the wet planks before he could stop himself.

"What's up, Bran?" said Jervis. "What is it, you old fool? Hi over!"

The hair on Bran's neck stood up. He backed gingerly, lifting his feet as if he were on ice, and growling all the time.

Jervis strode forward and caught him by the collar. "Hi over!" he said. "What's the matter with you?"

"He's frightened," said Nan rather breathlessly. "There's something wrong with the bridge."

"Jervis' eyes flashed. "He's going over if I've got to drag him!"

"Don't said Nan. "There's something wrong."

"Shall I show you there isn't?" Jervis let go of Bran with a sudden contemptuous movement and turned to the bridge.

Nan felt the agonizing certainty of danger. Her heart jumped, and before she knew that she was going to do it, she found herself on the bridge ahead of him.

What happened after that was a horrible confusion.

Although no investigation had been started up to yesterday, it was expected some action would be taken by game wardens as soon as news of the condition had been disseminated throughout the state.

The situation was deplored by fishermen visiting the creek yesterday, who declared they were able to catch only two or three fish after several hours of fishing.

NO LIGHT ON BERN DEATH

More was expected from Los Angeles, where Bern shot himself a week ago today, with the probable opening of his last will and the promise of a statement from Mendel Silberberg, attorney for Miss Harlow.

Authorities of Sacramento and San Francisco sought Miss Millette or her body. She was believed to be drowned either in the muddy Sacramento river between the two cities, herself a suicide, or if still alive, fleeing from possible recognition.

Bern and Miss Millette were definitely linked in four letters found as police opened baggage left at a San Francisco hotel from which the woman checked out the day after the producer's death.

Three of the letters were from Bern, the other from his secretary, Irene Harrison.

The letters revealed Bern had been solicited by Miss Millette's welfare and was interested in supplying her with funds. He sent "love and best wishes" in a letter written to "Miss Dorothy Millette" in New York City six months before he shot himself and four months before he married Miss Harlow.

"If you do change to another place," he wrote, "we will find some way of supplying you with funds in a manner convenient for you."

The letter was addressed on Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer stationery, to "Hotel Algonquin, West 44th street, New York City."

He said in a preceding paragraph he had read with "great interest" she was "contemplating a trip to San Francisco," and added: "Of course, I can not give you any advice because you yourself can be the only person to know what is best."

He recommended the hotel at which she registered last May. In one of the other letters written two years ago Bern discussed business and financial conditions briefly adding "consequently, I don't think you should come out here now."

The third letter, dated two weeks previously, said: "I was really very happy to get your note of the 16th, because it is so very long since I heard from you. Particularly I am happy to know that you are in relatively good health."

SAYS SOLDIERS ASK NO FAVORS

Josephus Daniels Is Speaker at National Convention of Legion at Portland.

Portland, Oregon, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Fighting men in the World War "asked no favors" and "they ask none now," Josephus Daniels, of Raleigh, N. C., war-time Secretary of the Navy, told the National Convention of the American Legion here today.

"More than that," he added, "they wish all administrative policies, which have been justly criticized, repealed and discontinued to the end that this generous nation's policy to the veterans will not be tainted by either extravagance or favoritism."

The solution of national economic problems rests alike upon Legionnaires and all other citizens, Daniels declared, asserting extravagance in appropriations "is not confined to veteran legislation."

"It has been rampant in almost every line, and in ways without justification," he said. "The knife should be applied wherever waste exists."

Declaring that legislation for benefit of veterans is under fire, the war-time Navy Secretary said "the answer to criticism is an examination by our proper officials, who should take the lead to demand an end to all expenditures by which veterans secure both pensions for disability and salary service rendered, and every dollar for veterans that may be touched by favoring discrimination."

Daniels urged Legionnaires "to go into politics."

"The admonition," he said, "has no suggestion that the Legion creed against participation in party politics for individual advantage should be violated."

"Quite the contrary. Politics needs your freshness, your courage, in order to lift it to the high plane it must occupy to serve mankind."

The former Secretary of the Navy recalled what he termed the "high idealism which marked America and its millions of men in arms at the time of the World War" and contrasted it "with the failure of the post war world to secure the ideals for which the war was waged."

He contrasted the promises to the men who entered the country's service in 1917 to the epithets of "looter of the Treasury" and "Communists" which he said been leveled at war veterans.

BILLY'S UNCLE

MAJORS WILL DECIDE FLAG RACE SOON

(By the Associated Press)

The major league flag race is still in fourteen days away but with a little luck, both pennant races may be decided this week.

The New York Yankees are almost certain of winning the American League flag within the next few days. They need only two victories to eliminate the sole remaining contender, the Philadelphia Athletics and Washington Senators.

In the National League, Chicago Cubs are confronted with a sterner task. They need ten victories to eliminate the Pittsburgh Pirates or any combination of victors, which, coupled with Pittsburgh defeats, totals ten.

The odds are against any definite decision in the National League this week but it can be done if the Pirates hit the skids.

The Cubs stretched their lead over the idle Pirates to six full games yesterday by trimming the Brooklyn Dodgers, 3-1. The defeat all but eliminated the Dodgers from the race. They automatically will be out of it as soon as the Cubs win four games, or when any combination of Cub victories and Dodger defeats totals four.

The only other team with a mathematical chance to win are the Phillies, but they will go out as soon as the Cubs win three games.

The Boston Braves beat Cincinnati Reds in both ends of a double-header, 13-3 and 10-1, and drew a within a game and a half of the fourth-place Phillies.

The St. Louis Cardinals retained their hold on sixth place by beating the New York Giants, 3-2, in the second game of a double-header, taking a 7-3 beating in the opener.

The Yankees made no progress in their march to the American League flag for they were stopped by Wes Ferrell and the Cleveland Indians, 5-4.

Ferrell, making his first appearance after a ten-day suspension, held the Yankees to eight hits and won his 21st game of the season. Johnny Allen suffered his first defeat in eleven starts.

Jimmy Fox's 52nd homer with one on was the margin by which the Athletics beat the Detroit Tigers, 5-4. Washington made it 23 victories in 27 games by tripping the Chicago White Sox twice, 2-1 and 9-4, and moved to within one game of the Athletics.

The St. Louis Browns, after breaking an eight game losing streak in the first game, 7-1, dropped the second to the Boston Red Sox, 2-3.

PIEDMONT TO BEGIN FLAG RACE TONITE

Greensboro, Sept. 12.—(AP)—A battle of right-handers was in prospect today for the opening game of the Piedmont pennant series between Greensboro and Charlotte.

The Pats and Hornets will tangle in the opener at 8 o'clock tonight. Guy Lacy, taciturn skipper who led the Hornets to the finish line ahead of the pack in the second half, indicated he would start his ace hurler, big Jim Lyle.

Ed Chapman was the choice of Freddy Myers to do the mound work for the Patriots, who garnered the first half honors.

Despite a lot of talk last week about beanballs, the prospects are that there will be no mayhem as a side attraction to the main show.

From Judge W. G. Bramham, the Piedmont proxy, the word has gone out that beaners will not be tolerated. He wrote managers warning against such tactics.

The league president's communication resulted from a protest by Oliver French, the Patriot business manager, that the Hornet hurlers were "dusting off" his players in the last Greensboro-Charlotte series.

Most of the trouble has centered about Ab Wright of the Patriots who hurled his bat at Lyle during the series in Greensboro last week.

Judge Bramham will attend the opening game. The clubs will play here again tomorrow and then will go to Charlotte to continue the series.

Sell Your Tobacco in Greenville FOR MORE MONEY

Several new grades were started on the market today and prices were stronger. Medium and better grades, in fact all grades continued to climb in prices.

The government report received yesterday shows the border markets are averaging 28c less per 100 pounds than last year, while Greenville is averaging from 40 to 50 per cent more.

Some of the markets continue to carry in the newspapers misleading and incorrect information. We urge all the growers to come and see for themselves rather than be influenced by false propoganda sent out by publicity bureaus.

No market has keener buying competition than Greenville. Keep your tobacco dry and market it in best possible condition.

"I NO LONGER HAVE TO TAKE LAXATIVES OF ANY KIND.... SARGON SOFT MASS PILL'S HAVE ENTIRELY FREED ME OF CONSTIPATION"

The commonest curse of mankind is constipation. It poisons us, breaks down youthful strength and vigor, saps us prematurely, and leaves us an easy victim of countless diseases. Millions are slaves to the laxative habit. The effect of ordinary cathartics is only temporary; they weaken bowel action and lose their effect. The more we take the more we have to take.

A New Discovery
Bills, prepared by the liver, is Nature's great weapon against constipation. It is a natural laxative, anti-septic and antacid. Pills is also a digestant without which sound digestion is impossible.

Until the discovery of Sargon Soft Mass Pills, we have been blasting out the intestines with cathartics and purges, believing that they stimulated the liver. Science now knows that calomel, salts, oils and other ordinary laxative drugs have no effect whatever on the liver.

Sargon Soft Mass Pills contain an amazing substance which highest medical authorities agree is the only effective stimulant to the liver.

New York Cotton

COTTON New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady 12-14 lower on easier Liverpool cables and under southern hedge selling.

Continued selling for southern account and general hesitation of buyers due to the easier stock and wheat markets resulted in a further loss after the opening. Favorable weather last week for picking and moving the crop was thought to have brought out more cotton from the interior and a sharp reaction in the Liverpool market from a steady opening served to undermine confidence among local buyers.

The weather map indicated continued favorable weather in the west but showed cloudy conditions with light rains along the Gulf and in southern Georgia while the weather bureau reported a Gulf disturbance south of Galveston.

The textile statistics for August showed the lowest mill stocks ever recorded and a very sharp increase in sales and unfilled orders, but the figures were in line with predictions made last week and had comparatively little influence. December sold early at 8.15, declined to 8.06 and rallied to 8.07. At the close of the first hour the entire list was 16 to 19 points net lower.

Grain Market

Chicago, Sept. 12.—(AP)—All deliveries of wheat tumbled today to the lowest point touched in nearly three weeks.

Another increase of the United States wheat visible supply emphasized assertions that despite virtual failure of the domestic winter crop, North American has had a larger wheat production than last year, with a prospect of feeding 100,000,000 bushels less. Export demand today, confined to Canadian wheat, was disappointing.

Wheat closed unsteady 13-4 to 2 under Saturday's finish; corn 13.3 to 17-8 down; oats unchanged to 5.8 off and provision 12 to 27 decline.

Table with columns: High, Low, Close. Rows include WHEAT (Sept, Dec, May), CORN (Sept, Dec, May), OATS (Sept, Dec, May), RYE (Sept, Dec, May), LARD (Sept, Oct, Jan), BELLIES (Sept, Oct, Jan).

Stock Market

New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Selling poured into the stock market from all sides today, sending prices skidding in the most violent manner since the market turned upward more than two months ago.

While business and trade news continued to reflect seasonal improvement on decisively than at this period in either of the preceding two years, traders evidently felt that the 100 per cent appreciation in values had fully discounted the better tone in general business, and there was a rush to lighten commitments.

Rails broke widely, with losses of 5 to more than 7 points appearing in Southern Pacific, A. C. L., Delaware & Hudson and Lackawanna. Issues off 3 or more included United Pacific, Pennsylvania, N. Y. Central and others. Elsewhere in the list, losses of about 3 to 4 points appeared in U. S. Steel common, Case, International Harvester, Westinghouse, American Tobacco, B. American Telephone, American Smelting, American Can, Johns Manville, North American, United Aircraft and others. Losses of 2 or more appeared in such issues as General Motors, General Electric, Radio, Anaconda, Kennecott, Consolidated Gas, Columbia Gas, Woolworth and others.

Railroad bonds turned heavy at the state and appeared to drag stocks after them. Despite the pronounced upswing in freight car loadings in the past two weeks, and indications that carrier earnings generally improved somewhat in August, selling of these issues evidently reflected fresh realization that many prominent carriers are still falling to earn their fixed charges, and are leaning heavily on the Reconstruction Corporation.

PEOPLE OF TEN STATES TO BALLOT THIS WEEK

In some of tomorrow's voting national issues and national figures are involved. In others, interest concentrates upon State affairs. All are being watched by National Republicans and Democratic leaders to see if they may not give some indication of what November holds.

Maine has been the immediate forum of orators for the two major parties. Secretary Mills of the Treasury wound up the campaign for the Republicans Saturday night. Senator Walsh and Governor Ely extolled the cause of the Democrats Friday.

The Republicans, through their State Chairman, forecast victory for Burleigh Martin, their candidate for governor, by "more than 25,000 votes." Louis J. Brann, the Democratic candidate, believed he would win by 20,000. Brann favors repeal of the prohibition amendment. Martin was non-committal in his campaign talks.

Among tomorrow's primaries the prohibition issue arises in Michigan in the efforts of two former Congressmen, Cranton and Hudson, to win Republican nomination. Each was a active prohibitionist, and each was defeated two years ago by an anti-prohibitionist. Candidates for State offices and seventeen House seats also will be named by Michigan voters.

Prohibition echoes also from the State of Washington where Senator Jones, author of the "Five and Ten" law which put new teeth in prohibition enforcement, is opposed for renomination by Adam Beeler. Two Seattle men, Stephen Chadwick and Edwin Brown, want the Democratic nomination.

Senator Huey Long figures sharply in Louisiana's primary, although not himself a candidate. He has campaigned vigorously against the renomination by Louisiana Democrats of Senator Broussard and in favor of Representative Overton for the place.

In Vermont, Senator Porter H. Dale, Republican, is unopposed for renomination. Fred C. Martin, also unopposed, will be his Democratic opponent in November. Prohibition has been a topic of the campaign of Congressman Ernest W. Gibson and Loren R. Pierce for Republican nomination for Vermont's single seat in the House.

New Hampshire's senior Senator, George H. Moses, has spent little time campaigning for renomination. He is unopposed save by Joseph L. Richards, new to New Hampshire politics, who has asked voters to write in his name on the ballot. He failed to file in time to have his name appear.

CITY SCHOOLS START WORK

(Continued from page one) At a joint session of the Board of Trustees of City Schools and the Board of Aldermen in July it was decided to run the schools for nine months, if possible. In order to do this, it was said, it will be necessary for the people to settle their taxes promptly and to co-operate with the schools in every way possible.

The action was taken following the reading of resolutions adopted by Parent-Teacher organizations at the conclusion of last session, requesting that the regular nine months' term be resumed this year. Schools operated for eight-and-a-half months last session. The majority of teachers arrived during the week-end and all were on hand to begin work when the gongs sounded this morning. A few changes have been made in the faculty, especially in the high school where two or three departmental heads started to work.

Only a few changes were in evidence in the remainder of the schools.

DARING THIEF GETS AWAY

(Continued from page one) It was one of the boldest gas station holdups reported in the Washington section in sometime, and officers of both Beaufort and Pitt counties were continuing their investigation today in the hope of bringing the culprit to justice.

Another automobile belonging to Leon Fleming was stolen Saturday afternoon and had not been recovered today. The car was taken while parked near the Flanagan Buggy Company on Fourth street and while officers immediately began investigating the theft, no information concerning the stolen car had been received today.

THINK ROBINS HELD IN DIVE

"The man looks like pictures of Colonel Robins," the police chief said. "That is all we have to work on."

He described the man as not critically hurt. Detective Lieutenant Wilbur Miller said he is investigating a report that the man police are watching may be Captain Raymond Griffin, of the St. Louis fire department.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—(AP)—A hint that Mid-west underworld members may have been responsible for the

SEEK FACTS ON RELIEF

(Continued from page one) Through Mrs. W. T. Bost, state superintendent of public welfare, there has been transmitted to the welfare officer of your county the request for certain information required by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Copies of forms to be filed giving this information are enclosed.

"Amount of money to be allotted North Carolina to aid in meeting emergency relief needs depends absolutely upon this information. The promptness with which this information is supplied will determine the date upon which funds will be made available. Governor Gardner is hopeful that he will be able to present the needs of North Carolina not later than Sept. 17.

"Two things are essential: 1. Complete and accurate information; 2. Speed in gathering information and returning it to Raleigh so that tabulation for the state as a whole can be made.

"The job is too big for the county. I urge that you make available all possible help, and that you assist by urging all private or volunteer agencies to immediately furnish the required information to the welfare officer. The cooperation of all interested persons is urgently needed."

UPHOLDS USE OF SOLDIERS

The 4,000 word document covering findings in the investigation ordered by President Hoover was made public by the chief executive with a short statement that it "should correct the many misstatements of fact as to this incident with which the country has been flooded. Mr. Hoover added:

"I wish to state emphatically that the extraordinary proportion of criminal, communist and non-veteran elements amongst the marchers should not be taken to reflect upon the many thousands of honest, law-abiding men who came to Washington with full right of their views to Congress."

Mitchell reported that 877 of the first 3,656 men named on the B. E. P. roster could not be identified as ex-servicemen and that of the 4,723 applying for transportation home, 1,069 had police records and 829 of these had been convicted. Communists, he said, "promoted the march on Washington and then sought to incite the marchers to disorders."

ROOSEVELT TO INVADE WEST

The first stop will be Cleveland tomorrow. From there the campaign special will roll down through St. Louis, Jefferson City, Mo., Kansas City, and on to Topeka, where Mr. Roosevelt will make the first major speech of the tour Tuesday, speaking on farm relief.

More than 8,000 miles will click beneath the wheels of the candidate's private car. After Topeka, Mr. Roosevelt will deliver major campaign addresses at Portland, Sioux City and at one other point yet to be designated.

DEMOCRATS SET FOR DRIVE

(Continued from page one) Point, which is expected to draw Senators, Congressmen and other party leaders from all parts of the State, is sponsored by the Guilford County Young Democrats Club.

The echoes of the oratory expected to be heard there will hardly have died away when J. C. Ehringhaus, the party's candidate for governor, will open his campaign with an address at Rutherfordton on Monday, September 19.

This preliminary barrage will be followed five days later by the opening of a general bombardment of the entire front.

Bob Reynolds will launch his campaign for the United States Senate at Boone on the 24th, and numerous lesser lights will take up the cudgel for State and National tickets in practically every county immediately thereafter.

Just what part Cameron Morrison, defeated by Reynolds for renomination to the State, will play in the campaign was not definitely known, although he said recently he would make an active fight for the party ticket.

CIVIL COURT OPENS HERE

Although civil court never draws crowds like criminal court, fairly large attendance was expected this week by reason of the small number of cases disposed of in the first fall session here three weeks ago. Due to work on the farm and continuance of cases scheduled for hearing at that time, court concluded its sitting the middle of the week. Several compromise actions, however, were reported.

This is the first time Judge Prizelle has held court here in some time and he was given a cordial welcome by members of the bar upon his arrival here this morning. As usual, he is expected to do every thing in his power to speed up disposition of the calendar, and the bulk of cases probably will be completed by the concluding session the end of the week.

Twelve passengers were killed, 47 injured, and 600 robbed in the first wreck when the bandits derailed the regular Changchun-Harbin train at Shwangcheng. The train left Harbin late Saturday night.

Six passengers were killed, fourteen injured and 100 kidnaped in a second wreck of a passenger train bound for Harbin in the neighborhood of Chengkaotze, on the eastern Chinese Eastern Railway.

Six Japanese were killed, several wounded, and several others missing following the derailment and wreck by bandits of a Japanese hospital train near Shwangcheng, a short distance away from the spot where the first train was wrecked. This train was carrying fifty Japa-

Before coming to Duke in 1920 Dr. Cotton was at various times a member of the faculties of Temple University and high schools at Camden, N. J., Wilmington, Del., and Germantown, Pa.
