Roosevelt On His Way To Salt Lake City for Another Campaign Talk

SPEAKS AT BIG DENVER RALLY

Governor Promises People He Will Go To Them Instead Of Waiting For Them to Come to Him; Attempting to Get Acquainted With Problems of The People In the West During Trip

Cheyenne, Wyo., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, pausing here for a two-hour stop on his campaign trip to the Pacific coast, told a crowd that he had had "assurances signed, sealed and delivered" in Missouri, Kansas and Colorado that those states would "do better than Maine" in the November election.

Maine elected a Democratic governor and two congressmen last Monday. "I have come here to get the same guarantee" Mr. Roosevelt added. The governor spoke from a temporary stand at the Union Pacific station. After the talk the Democratic presidential nominee and his party drove around Cheyenne and visited Fort Warren, the famous rodeo grounds and the veterans' hospital.

Tonight Roosevelt will reach Salt Lake City, where tomorrow he will deliver the second of his major speeches of the western swing. He will talk on the railroads. Last Wednesday he talked on farm relief at Topeka.

By WALTER T. BROWN (Associated Press Staff Writer) En Route to Salt Lake City, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The Roosevelt special is a campaign headquarters on wheels, complete from Presidential candidate to mimeograph machine.

For governor, Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee, the members of his family, his aides, advisors, stenographers, news writers, cameramen and railroad executives, it is a home for three weeks. Before the train returns to Albany, October 3, the home will have roiled its way 8,000 miles of plains, mountains, deserts and cities and will have changed its state residence twenty-one times.

The New York governor in an extemporaneous speech at a dinner at the Brown Palace Hotel in Denver, said the government of New York State during twelve of the last fourteen years had been in the hands of the Democrats "because under the leadership of Alfred E. Smith in the first instance its government was for the welfare of the average citizen."

"The Democratic party," said Roosevelt, "has had in the past to appeal to voters with caliber and not dollars. That's true this time. We are about to enter a new period of liberalism in the United States. People have been going back in these last three years into fundamentals and are giving serious thought to the form of our government."

"If we get the young liberals in this campaign we are going to keep them for a generation. The seeds have been sown. Go through and reap the crop—and, believe me, the price will be greater than that which is now being received for farm products."

Roosevelt made another, shorter extemporaneous talk in Denver last night. Soon after he arrived at the hotel, he appeared on a mezzanine balcony and addressed a crowd of several hundred that had gathered in the lobby below.

"This is not a campaign trip," he said. "I am making this trip to meet people in the different sections of the country and get acquainted with their problems to enable me when I go into the White House March 4 to deal with them on the basis of first-hand knowledge."

He added that "when I go into the White House, I plan to follow the same policy that I have followed as governor of New York: make frequent visits to the country instead of waiting for the country to come to Washington."

Mount Airy, N. C.—(AP)—I. O. Hauser, 43, principal of White Plains Consolidated Schools in Surry County, died suddenly at his home. Funeral services will be held today.

JOHNSON IS LEGION HEAD

National Convention Favors Prohibition Repeal at Portland, Oregon.

Portland, Oregon, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Immediate payment of the bonus and prohibition repeal were overwhelmingly demanded by the American Legion in its fourteenth annual national convention.

The 1,200 delegates voted ten to one for full adjustment of the bonus, less than 24 hours after President Hoover had declared the two billion dollar bonus bill would jeopardize economic recovery. Prohibition repeal was asked by a similar vote.

Before adjournment, the convention elected Louis A. Johnson, Clarksburg, W. Va., attorney, to succeed Henry L. Stevens, Jr., of North Carolina, as National Commander. Next year's convention will be in Chicago.

NEGRO WOMAN WINS IN COURT

Mattie Gay Awarded Verdict of $410 In Suit Against Masonic Body Here.

Mattie Gay, colored, was awarded $410 against the order of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons by a jury in the civil term of Superior Court today as settlement of a policy carried by her husband at the time of his death.

After deliberating since yesterday at 4 o'clock the jury returned a decision this morning about 10 o'clock. The case was begun Wednesday afternoon.

The plaintiffs contended the woman was not entitled to the benefit because of the fact that her husband was behind with his dues at the time of death. She contended she gave the dues to the secretary of the organization and that he had failed to give proper credit. Considerable evidence was introduced on both sides, but that of the plaintiff was more convincing than that of the defendants and she was awarded the total amount asked (Continued on Page Six)

Raleigh, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Leaders in the Democratic ranks in North Carolina, headed by Gov. O. Max Gardner and the senatorial and gubernatorial nominees, Robert R. Reynolds and John C. B. Ehringhaus, had their eyes turned on High Point today for the big party rally to be held there tomorrow afternoon.

Every candidate for state office, most of the congressional nominees and many Democratic party leaders from all parts of the state are expected to gather at a lake near High Point for a rally sponsored by the young Democrats of Guilford county.

BOTH PARTIES PUSHING WORK

Republicans and Democrats Redouble Efforts for Votes after Maine Election.

By BRYON PRICE Washington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—A new urge of activity, presaging a whirlwind finish after weeks of half-motion, has been put into the Presidential campaign by the Maine election, the Roosevelt Western swing, and renewed discussions of the bonus.

So far as the political generals themselves are concerned, it appears certain that the efforts to be exerted on public opinion from now on (Continued on Page Six)

MILL STRIKE IN A MUDDLE

Split in Ranks Of the Strikers Causes Failure of Peace Negotiations.

Thomasville, N. C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Thomasville's strike situation, in which 1,000 employees of the Thomasville Chair Company have been idle for weeks, was more muddled than ever today by a split in the ranks of the strikers.

A meeting called to effect a settlement of the strike was disrupted last night when the workers divided into two groups as a result of a statement by T. Austin Finch, president of the company, that any agreement reached with the strikers would be verbal only and that the company would not agree to take all workers back because of market conditions.

John E. Yow, president of the strikers' organization, led a large proportion of the employees from the hall, asserting no settlement would be made unless the union is recognized. His group paraded down town.

However, one hundred or more who did not join the group heard a plea by D. V. Brady, head of the Hosiery Mill Workers' Union in High Point, for arbitration. This group planned to meet again tonight.

In his statement Finch said if strikers wanted to return under conditions outlined by him, including the verbal agreement, he would employ "as many as possible."

The Hanes Hosiery Mill, at Winston-Salem, closed by a strike Monday, was to reopen its doors today. A part of the 750 strikers planned to resume work, it was indicated.

At Rockingham, the Entwistle Manufacturing Company refused to consider the offer of strikers for submission of difference to a board of arbitration. The Hannah Pickett Manufacturing Company likewise made idle by a strike, had not replied to a similar offer.

Despite the presence of strike-breakers, the Stehl Mill at High Point has been in operation since Tuesday. It was closed August 30.

PLAN GIANT RALLY HERE GASKINS SETS ROTE RECORD

Young Democrats Organize and then Decide on Monster Celebration in October.

Organization of a club of young Democrats and plans for a monster rally to be staged here during the early part of October, marked a meeting of Democrats at the court house last night.

Although no definite date for the rally was set, it was agreed that this should be decided upon later. The affair will bring to the city some of the leading party members of the state, in addition to thousands of people from this and surrounding counties.

Although only a handful attended the meeting because of incessant rainfall, tentative plans looking to carrying the Democratic campaign to all sections of the county during the forthcoming presidential campaign were perfected, and opinion was expressed that the largest vote in history of the county would be recorded in November.

Dink James, Democratic nominee for the judgeship of County court, was elected president of the new organization. Miss Clara Louise Moyer, vice-president, and Bryce Sigmon, secretary and treasurer. Congressman Lindsay Warren of Washington, who had accepted an invitation to address the gathering, was prevented from attending on account of unfavorable (Continued on Page Six)

Announcement in yesterday's Reflector of the eight weeks subscription drive and the subsequent awarding of approximately $1,500 in cash prizes and cash commissions met with instant response on the part of the ambitious public.

Already some four or five have called at the campaign office for the newspaper and signed their intent on taking an active part when the affair gets under way on Monday morning, September 19th. A few others have called over the phone to inquire further about the enterprise which provides a cash prize or a cash commission to all taking an active part.

The awards to be won by workers who enroll in the campaign and work for renewals and new subscriptions to The Reflector range from $100.00 for the leading award, down to fifth and final prize of $50.00. Other prizes include $300.00 for second place, $150.00 for third and $100.00 for fourth. Five prizes in all are to be given out on November 12th, the closing day of the drive, and in addition all who take an active part and fail to come within the first five places will be repaid for the effort put forth by a liberal cash commission of ten per cent on all subscription money turned in. In this way all will be paid in proportion to the amount of energy and ambition shown. As mentioned in yesterday's announcement winners will be determined by the number of votes each candidate earns by signing up folks now taking the paper regularly and others who are now already subscribers (Continued on Page Six)

DuBois died at the Quincy hospital a short time after he had shot himself in the bathroom of a rooming house where he had been living as "Ralph Anderson." BACKBONE OF STRIKE SNAPS

Workers Apparently Happy as they Resume their Places in Haynes Hosiery Mill Accepting Promise of Mill Head That "Past Would be Forgotten" if Work Is Resumed; Reasonable Wage Standard Assured.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Approximately 900 striking workers of the Hanes Hosiery Mills here put their dissatisfaction over a wage reduction in their pockets and returned to work, quietly and happily. Yesterday James G. Hanes, president of the mills, told the strikers they could return today if they chose, and in offering to open the mill, he promised "the past will be forgotten" and that the mill would follow its "usual policy of endeavoring to meet reasonable wage standards."

The returning workers today entered the mill quietly with expressions of satisfaction that the strike's backbone had been broken. They left approximately 300 of the company's workers still idle.

These latter still were adamant in their protests against a wage reduction that caused the strike September 8 and led to a complete shutdown of the mill September 12.

Highway Bids Are Submitted

Raleigh, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The State Highway Commission today met in executive session and approved, subject to final endorsement by the Federal Bureau of Roads, the award of contracts on 12 highway construction projects to low bidders announced late yesterday.

This afternoon the commission was engaged in setting up a tentative list of projects for which bids will be asked October 18. On September 29 bids on surfacing projects in Columbus, Franklin, Vance, Fannett, Cumberland and Rockingham counties will be opened.

Bids for twelve highway projects approximating more than $400,000 were before the North Carolina Highway Commission today for acceptance or rejection.

The bids were opened yesterday, the third opening since the State was allotted $5,700,000 in Federal road funds. Should the bids be accepted, the amount of road construction under contract would total some $2,000,000.

The present group of projects includes improvement of 106 miles of highway.

Select Jury In Extortion Case

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Selection of a jury to try two former Wilmington officials on a charge of conspiracy to extort $25,000 from Mrs. Jessie Keenan Wise, philanthropist, was to begin in New Hanover Superior Court today.

The defendants are Parker Q. Moore, former mayor, and J. J. Furlong, Sr., ex-chief of police. Judge W. A. Devin yesterday overruled a motion to quash an indictment against the two.

Mrs. Wise presented two notes, one demanding $25,000 and the other $30,000, and the other two negroes that they were hired by Moore to deliver a package containing the money was given before the grand jury which indicted Moore and Furlong. NEW SLANT ON COSMIC RAYS

Arthur Compton, Nobel Prize Winner, Says Rays May Be Electrical Particles.

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE (Associated Press Science Editor) New York, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Nobel prize winner Arthur H. Compton is returning from the Arctic Circle with one of the most surprising of all the recent alterations in conceptions of "this changing world."

From the Pas, Manitoba, he announced definitely discovery of evidence that cosmic rays may be electrical particles rather than waves.

From the lay point of view, this is somewhat as mystifying as stating that he had found a new kind of tree, whose leaves when shot out of a big gun, would penetrate steel like six-inch sheels.

Down in the realm of invisible rays, where cosmic radiation and electrical particles belong, the particles have been considerably like leaves—by comparison with "wave" rays they did not show much penetrating power.

For example, the highest power particle rays thus far announced, these from a two and one-half million volt new tube set up by the Germans Lange and Bräsch, are reported in a letter this week to the Associated Press as penetrating about one-half inch into the flesh of mice.

By contrast, the "wave" rays of radium, or what scientists call gamma rays, penetrate an inch of lead rather easily.

Cosmic Rays, which Dr. Compton's announcement seems to put in the particle class, go through a man as if he did not exist, penetrate many feet of lead, 200 feet of water and about 800 feet into earth.

If cosmic rays are particles, then the record for penetration passes from the "wave" form of radiation to this strange phenomenon which may be made of something like infinitesimally small bullets.

An explanation was sought from physical authorities today. The answer is first that so little is now known that these cosmic particles may prove to be something sufficiently different in bullet forms to account for their penetration.

A more likely explanation was that cosmic particles have tremendous energies ranging around 100,000,000 volts. Man's experience with laboratory-made particles is confined to merely two or three million volts, and his observations to perhaps 5,000,000 volt particles which are shot off by radium.

WIFE MISSING, MAN SUICIDES

The shooting occurred while national guardsmen were searching the woods surrounding the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. DuBois at Great Herring Pond in Plymouth.

DuBois had been arrested in Plymouth in connection with his wife's disappearance but was released when a district court judge refused to issue a murder complaint against him, as requested by police, on the ground that the authorities lacked sufficient evidence.

Plymouth, Mass., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Troops were expected to join the search today for the body of Mrs. Edith DuBois, mysteriously missing wife of Charles E. DuBois, former gem salesman.

Meanwhile, in Westchester County, New York, the chief medical examiner prepared to seek an order to exhume the torso and legs of an unidentified body found near Crestwood, New York, on August 28th, eighteen days after the disappearance of Mrs. DuBois.

The DuBois winter home is in Tuckahoe, Westchester County, while they had another home in Brantree, Mass. The Westchester medical examiner wishes to compare the feet of the unidentified body with shoes found in the Tuckahoe home.

The police, who lack a corpus delicti, the negro slashed at his throat, a warrant was refused by a judge. Assistant District Attorney, John

V. Sullivan, of Plymouth County, requested last night that the National Guard be called out to scour the vicinity of Great Herring pond where the woman was living with her husband at the time she vanished.

Authorities planned to get in touch with a man and a woman of Flushing, New York, who, Sullivan said, had been seen riding in an automobile with Mr. and Mrs. DuBois August 10.

Sullivan said the DuBois and the Flushing couple were seen riding toward Providence, R. I. The DuBois alone were seen to return, Sullivan said.

Although George E. Bolling, city bacteriologist of Brockton, said that hair, dragged up with a mooring line in Plymouth harbor, was "entirely consistent with the hair of Mrs. DuBois," police continued to concentrate their efforts at the Great Herring pond cottage, twenty miles from Plymouth Rock. Early today twenty-eight policemen launched their boats to continue dragging the pond.

(Continued from Page One) a telephone call reputedly coming from truckers asking assistance in running the picket lines. Upon finding no trucks to escort they started to return to Sioux City when they were met by the pickets who threw rocks and clubs at four trucks in which they were riding. Several officers received minor injuries.

Immediately after the "battle" Sheriff John A. Davenport of Woodbury county was authorized by 300 citizens, including business men and chamber of commerce officials, to call upon Gov. Turner for aid from the national guard. Gov. Turner declared he had a plan in mind to settle the affair without use of troops but declined to disclose its nature.

Between 400 and 500 joined the after demonstration. Before they straightened their hose, pinned tips in their dresses and powdered their noses in smiling token of victory, they had collected in refunds $62 more they had paid to hear the lecture that wasn't given.

Another two hundred repeated the demonstration in milder form at night but they went away without their money, having spent a half hour forming committees to visit the prosecutor today and demand that the show be stopped for not showing what it advertised. The management asserted box office clerks had warned them "the show's been changed."

The afternoon lecture—the advertisement said "for women only"—was stopped by police order because of complaints filed by the Women's Bureau.

When the Lake Erie steamer Goodtime was steaming peacefully across the screen the disturbance started.

Swine Development

The rise of the swine industry among farmers in Pitt County has been unusual. Five years ago, feeding demonstrations were added to the extension program with the idea of finishing hogs for the packer market. This week the 26th car load of such hogs for 1932 was shipped to Richmond and topped the market at $4.80 per 100 pounds. Two more cars will move next week. Other carloads will move before the end of the year. The farmer can turn money invested in hogs twice each year, giving him a spring and fall income.

However, if farmers whose corn crop has suffered from the drought do not take advantage of sowing small grains for hogs this fall—(wheat and barley)—they may find that their hogs will be an additional burden in the spring if they are forced to buy feed. Feeding hogs is the most profitable way to sell feed. Farmers can produce it cheaper than they can buy it on time.

Curb Market

The farmers are still offering a large variety of fresh vegetables each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. The market opens at 7:45 each morning. The sales continue good. Several hundred homes buy their table supplies from the market each week. This week's sales will put total sales above $6,000 for the market. This money has gone into more than 100 farm homes. When you trade at the curb market, you are definitely helping local farmers with their farm finance problems.

Hog Cholera Control

Notices of our fall hog cholera control campaign are being mailed to some 2,000 farmers. The campaign begins Sept. 26. Any farmer who falls to get a notice and wishes to have his hogs vaccinated during the campaign may do so by listing his hogs at the county agent's office. The serum and virus are paid for by the farmer. There is no charge made for the service by the county agent. Any farmer who cares to do so, can order the serum and get the county agent to do the work without any service cost whatever. In fact, it is preferred that the farmer do this.

However, it is necessary that he follow instructions on bottles for taking care of the serum.

Flames Damage Store in E. City

Elizabeth City, N. C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Fire of undetermined origin gutted the G. M. Williams store in the business district here today, destroying a $3,000 stock of goods and damaging the building about 50 per cent.

High winds fanned the flames, and for a while firemen believed other buildings might be set by flying sparks. Several nearby stores were slightly damaged.

Johnston County Sheriff Is Dead

Smithfield, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Sheriff Ruffin H. Richardson of Johnston county died at his home here early today as a result of a throat affliction from which he suffered for several months.

Fifty-one years of age, Richardson was a leader in Democratic ranks of the county. He was elected sheriff in 1930 and renominated in the June primary, and had also served as a county commissioner and in other capacities as a public officer.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon here. The widow and three children survive.

Man Buried In Coffin He Made 15 Years Ago

Goldsboro, N. C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—More than fifteen years ago William Murvin, farmer living near here, made his coffin.

He kept it in his house, sometimes using it as a seat and sometimes shoving it under the bed out of the way. The coffin was made, Murvin said, to make less trouble in burying him when he died.

Then the aged man became ill. Tuesday he died and was buried in the coffin he had made.

Lincoln Honored at Fort Wayne

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 16.—(AP)—An appeal to the American people that they "turn back to the ideals of Abraham Lincoln" was delivered here today by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde.

Addressing an audience gathered to dedicate a bronze statue of "Abraham Lincoln—the Hoosier Youth," Hyde rebuked those who "believe that somehow the government owes them a living."

"Few statements ever made by mortal man," he asserted, "have been more persistently misinterpreted than Lincoln's famous phrase at Gettysburg—'Government of the people, by the people, and for the people.'"

Gale Lashes Coast

Manteo, N. C., Sept. 16.—(RP)—A gale lashed Dare County today, preventing mail boats from leaving the harbor and causing an unusually high tide which threatened damage to waterfront buildings.

Boozer Held On Usual Charge

Winston-Salem, N. C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Robert Stone today pondered an unusual charge lodged against him while Forsyth County officers wondered if they had the correct wording on the police blotter.

Sheriff's deputies said they found Stone riding horseback, drunk and putting the animal "through the paces" at a "lively and outlandish clip."

They said they found a pint of liquor in his pocket, so they arrested him on charges of riding horseback while intoxicated.

Scales Again Indicted For Jewel Theft

Winston-Salem, N. C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—The $20,000 jewelry robbery of the A. H. Galloway home here over a year ago echoed again in legal channels here today with Wallace Scales, scion of a wealthy Greensboro family, again indicted in connection with the case.

A Forsyth County grand jury returned a true bill charging Scales, who recently was tried and acquitted on charges of participating in the hold-up, with assaulting and robbing Mrs. James S. Dunn while she was a guest in the Galloway home the night of the robbery.

The State alleged Scales and William Pryor, now serving a long term in Illinois on another charge, entered the Galloway home, held up a party engaged in bridge, took their jewelry and fled.

Subsequently Scales was returned here, following his arrest on charges of violating the prohibition law, tried and acquitted of robbing the Galloways. He then was returned to Salisbury to serve a term for the liquor violation.

Scales cannot be brought to trial here until the next term of court, which transpires some time next month.

Negro Thief is Lynched in Ark.

Cross, Ark., Sept. 16.—(AP)—A negro accused of stealing a $10 bill was taken from jail, lynched and his body left dangling from a pole in the business section here yesterday a few minutes after he slashed the throat of a guard in an attempt to escape.

The negro, Frank Tucker, 24, arrested on a charge of trying to steal from a bank teller's window, was under guard by Deputy Sheriff Henry Reed, 39, in a row of the city hay awaiting hearing when he whipped out a razor and demanded the guard's gun.

Reed tried to draw his weapon but the negro slashed at his throat, inflicting a long cut, and ran out of the building. He was captured

Find Skeleton Of Man Sought in Murder Case

Winston-Salem, N. C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—A skeleton, identified as that of Coy Goins, 17, who disappeared May 21 during an investigation of the murder of James Bellah, aged miser of near Ayersville, was found on a creek bank yesterday and a coroner's jury termed the boy's death a suicide.

Goins lived at Sandy Ridge in Stokes County and a widespread search was instituted for him after his disappearance following the finding of Bellah's body under a pile of leaves near his Rockingham county home.

Yesterday Charles Amos of Sandy Ridge, squirrel hunting, found the skeleton in a deep ravine on a creek bank. Nearby were a shotgun and a cap, both identified by the boy's parents and three brothers as Goins' property. Identified also were shreds of clothing and a pair of shoes.

Bellah lived alone in a hovel, devoid of furniture. He slept on a few rags on the floor and was reputed to have hoarded much money. One day he disappeared and a search was started. He was found shot to death and the body partially buried under the leaves a short distance from his shack.

Find Body Of Negro Wanted For an Attack

Warrenton, Va., Sept. 16.—(AP)—A body identified by officers as that of Shadrack Thompson, negro, sought in connection with the attacking of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Baxley several weeks ago, was found hanging from a tree on the Miller place, between Fiery Run and Linden, Va.

The body was badly decomposed and before officers summoned from here could reach the spot a large crowd had gathered and had attempted to set fire to the body. P. F. Hall, Warrenton town sergeant said.

Officers, however, were successful in saving the negro's head and part of his clothing, and from these the officers said they made a positive identification.

Mr. Hall, Sheriff Wolff, Dr. Geo. H. Davis and W. W. Pierson, town constable, who went to the scene, expressed the belief that the negro's death was by his own hand.

Mr. Hall said it was his opinion that when the chase became so hot immediately after the attack, the negro fled into the mountains and hanged himself.

Mr. and Mrs. Baxley were attacked early on the morning of July 12 while sleeping in their home at Hume, Va., near Culpepper.

Spider Kills Garter Snake

Pittsburgh, Sept. 16.—(AP)—A two-day battle between a spider of the ordinary household variety and a six-inch garter snake, held fast in a web spun by the spider, ended today in the death of the reptile.

The life and death struggle occurred in the basement of the home of W. F. Miller of Monroville. He said the spider skips up and down a silken cord biting again and again at the snake, unaware of its victory.

A single silken rope enmeshed the snake when it arrived in the cellar. As the snake attempted to gain freedom, the spider spun a dozen other fibers around the snake until it dangled helplessly in a net stretched from the wall to a bottle.

Party to Study Beach Erosion

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Effects of the storm of last week on the new inlets from the sea to Pamlico Sound, which have been hailed by fishermen as a boon to their industry, will be studied this week-end by a party representing the United States Beach Erosion Board and the State Department of Conservation and Development.

Members of the party will include O. R. Young, District Engineer of the War Department at Norfolk, Va.; Lieutenant L. H. Hewitt, Recorder of the Federal Erosion Board; Thordike Sewell, Professor of Hydraulic Engineering at New York University; William member of the Federal Board and formerly of the University of North Carolina; and Charles E. Ray, Jr., chief engineer of the Division of Water Resources and Engineering of the Department of Conservation and Development.

For two weeks, a field party consisting of H. K. Oxley, engineer from the Conservation Department, and Carl M. Leroy, senior in engineering at N. C. State College, has been engaged in the preparation of the beach-breached by the storm of March in the vicinity of the Pea Island Coast Guard station. Five inlets were cut by the storm, one of which was of major proportions.

Insects Cause Damage in N.C.

Wilmington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Some of the worst insect depredations in years have occurred during the current year as a result of heavy burnings of forests of the state in 1931. Charles H. Flory, assistant state forester in charge of forest fire control, said today.

Trees weakened by fires, he explained, are like human beings with lowered resistance and are therefore more subject to injury by insect pests.

A typical instance of insect ravages following a forest fire, as cited by Flory, is in Columbus county where the southern pine beetle has attacked a large area. Where the attack has been heaviest, the insect is said to have stripped the trees completely of all needles.

ABOUT TOWN

The city will extend a cordial welcome to Attorney General Dennis G. Brummitt, who will speak at the courthouse tonight on the subject of "American Citizenship."

The address marks the observance of Constitution Week by various sections of the State and was expected to be heard by people from many surrounding counties.

The State Constitution is of greater significance at this time by reason of the effort being made to have it re-written or drastically revised, and it is the duty of the people to fully inform themselves upon the question so that they may be able to act intelligently on the matter when it comes up for legislative action.

By reason of his wide knowledge of conditions of the state and nation, Mr. Brummitt should be able to impart much valuable information to his hearers and his address was being looked forward to with interest.

In spite of the plea of President Hoover that passage of the bonus would mean the wrecking of the financial fabric of the nation, the national convention of the American Legion at Portland yesterday adopted a resolution favoring immediate payment.

Naturally, as expected, the resolution was greeted by considerable opposition but when it was put to vote it won by an overwhelming majority. While the Legion voted against payment of the bonus at the last convention, it was known that sentiment had changed pronouncedly since that time and that men who opposed it favored it now because of the reception which the veterans received while camping at the capital city.

It is nothing more than complete denunciation of the order calling out troops to battle the men who a little over 13 years ago offered their lives a living sacrifice on the altar of war that civilization might be saved.

Firing upon and wounding of bonus marchers by soldiers representing their own nation may have been considered the proper thing by the President and other big boys at Washington, but not by the countless thousands of men who have given the best in them for their country and believe they should be paid for it.

With complete support of the Legion behind it, the bonus question promises to assume greater proportions for the next session of Congress, and that it will get more profound attention than it received last time, is the belief of those who know the voting strength of the Legion and the part it plays in making and breaking political aspirants.

The State Highway Commission continues to award contracts for construction of roads under the government plan to improve labor conditions, and before the year is over the unemployment situation should be much relieved—in fact, it should be much better than the past year.

Every time a new contract is let it means that scores of men will find employment. While the wages they receive is a mere pittance compared with other years, it will enable them to keep the wolf away from the door until labor conditions reflect a pronounced improvement.

Other states are doing as North Carolina and it ought not be so long before the prosperity President Hoover has seen hiding around the corner should make its appearance.

President Hoover is attempting to spread up the federal relief program in all parts of the nation. He impressed this fact upon a gathering of notables at the White House yesterday and is hopeful of seeing results in the near future.

Hopeful is right. The President knows that if he fails to get business and industrial America click-

Nothing Venture

By PATRICIA WENTWORTH

SYNOPSIS: Nan is hurt and angered to find her husband, Jervis, doubts that she has told the truth about her family to Rosamund. Jervis' former fiancée, and Rosamund's malicious friend Janet Terterley, goaded by his attitude, unnerve him by fear for his life. Nan flings at Jervis the story of her unhappy childhood as the almost forgotten child of Nigel Forsyth, the famous explorer.

Chapter 23
 A CURIOUS SURPRISE

Jervis shrugged his shoulders at Nan's passionate outburst.

"No, he thought, Nan can't pay for what Rosamund did to me when she threw me over. Neither could he forget it; no longer was it possible to trust Rosamunds sex."

"To break the tension, Jervis turned abruptly away and, picking up the volume of Whos Who, went over to the shelf and put it back in its place. He stood for a minute or two looking at first one book and then another and whistling softly to himself. The tune bothered Nan because she couldn't put a name to it. She would have given the world twice over to undo what Rosamund had done to him. She wondered whether she would ever be able to undo it. Just now when his eyes had laughed, she had seen the bitterness and the hardness that were under the laughter. He frowned easily, and it meant very little; but when he laughed, her heart ached for him.

He turned away from the bookshelves and came back to the window at full speed ahead before the next election he is doomed to ride out of the White House by one of the most overwhelming votes ever recorded.

Other members of the party realize the same thing, but none of them seem to be able to do more than talk about improvements and relief of the dejected millions who have suffered from the effects of depression under the Republican regime.

It looks like they had almost accomplished their purpose when cotton, stocks and tobacco hit the upward trail about three weeks ago, but since all but tobacco have dropped, it is doubtful whether the appeal of the Republicans had any effect on the situation.

The Democrats are watching the monumental attempt to adjust conditions speculatively, knowing that constant failure means more votes for them when the people are given another opportunity to go to the polls and express themselves with X's.

It is easy to let a nation fall into the pits of depression, but getting it out is another thing. Nobody realizes it better than the President who, despite his inability to fulfill prosperity promises when he was first elevated to the White House, is yet confident the money that used to be back of him is at it in the same place and ready to be applied at his beck and call. The colossal mistake of such a belief, however, is gradually crystallizing and the President will retire from the White House disillusioned as to fickleness of human nature.

His face wore a bantering look.

"Well, I'd like to know just why you married me, and just what's at the bottom of all this nonsense about Robert Leonard. A deaf and dumb idiot can see that you've got it in for him—and I must say I'd like to know why."

Nan tipped her head back, met his eyes, and said seriously:

"He's trying to kill you."

"Yes, you said that before—he rode me down in a taxi, and he arranged for the bridge over the ravine to rot in the spray. Come, you know it's not good enough. But what I do want to know is why. What has poor old Leonard done to be cast for the part of first murderer? It seems a bit far-fetched, don't you think? And it would interest me quite a lot to know what put it into your head."

"It's no use my telling you," said Nan—"you wouldn't believe me."

"I'm afraid I shouldn't. But you are probably of a very hopeful disposition—you might try."

She took her head.

"How can you tell if you don't try?"

A smile just touched her lips and was gone again.

"You're never going to believe anyone again. It would be waste of time."

"You might convert me."

"Could I, Jervis?"

"I don't think so, Nan. But then that makes it all the more exciting for you. There's always an off chance."

She had been standing looking up at him; now she came a step nearer.

"He is trying to kill you."

"How intriguing! Have you any notion why?"

"It's something to do with the money."

"I'm afraid that's where you slip up. Poor old Leonard's not in the running—he wouldn't get a penny. It's distinctly to his interest to let me linger on and touch me for an occasional $20 bill."

"Does he do that?" (That meant that he was hard up—perhaps desperately hard up.)

"He does," said Jervis. "So you see I'm more use to him alive than dead."

"If he killed you—" said Nan. She stopped, because it was a dreadful thing to say.

"Yes—do go on. If he killed me?"

"Rosamund would get everything."

He gave her a sharp glance. So she was working round to his will. She evidently didn't believe in letting the grass grow under her feet.

He nodded.

"You seem to know all about it."

"I typed Mr. Weare's will."

"Well?"

She looked at him in silence.

"You got as far as 'Rosamund would get everything.' Aren't you going on?"

"No—it's no use," said Nan. Jervis laughed.

"Rosamund gets everything—so in case Robert Leonard should feel an overpowering urge to remove me and marry Rosamund, it might be a good plan if I put temptation out of his way by making a will in your favor. Is that it?"

Nan felt as if something in her must break. She didn't know whether it was her pride or her love. There was a feeling of anguished strain.

There was a blister on the corner of the paper; it looked as if a drop of water had fallen there.

A pathetic story stirs Jervis. Tomorrow, to make a great change.

THE CIGARETTE THAT'S Milder Tastes Better

CUBS SNATCH 8 TO 7 GAME FROM GIANTS

By HAILE TALBOT
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler sat on the bench while the Pittsburgh Pirates absorbed four successive beatings from the New York Yankees in 1932, but it's a safe bet the fleet outfielder will see plenty of service in the world's series this year, assuming the Chicago Cubs win the National League pennant.

As the Cubs drive toward the flag, Cuyler's sensational fielding and timely hitting have been the determining factor in many a game. Particularly has he been "poison-cue" to the New York Giants. Almost single handed he beat them in two games of a recent series at Chicago and yesterday he was the hero of the Cubs' thrilling 11-inning 8-7 victory over the same club at the Polo Grounds.

The Giants had rallied to tie the score at 5-5 in the ninth only to see the Cubs blast two runs across in the 10th, but the Giants were far from beaten. The first three men to face Bob Smith in the last half of the 10th singled and Lonnie Warneke was called in to halt the stampede.

He did, but not until Hughie Critz had driven in the tying run with a double on which Joe Moore, carrying the winning run on his shoulders, was cut down at the plate by Cuyler's bullet-like throw. Having saved the game Kiki proceeded to win it the next inning with a home run of Sam Gibson, third Giant pitcher of the day.

Pittsburgh recovered from a brief slump to trim the Boston Braves, 3-2, but failed to gain an inch. They still were 5 1/2 games behind the Cubs today, with the schedule growing short. They would have to win all their remaining 11 games while the Cubs were losing six out of 10 to take the pennant.

St. Louis turned up another brilliant pitching prospect in Ray Starr, young righthander from Rochester, who held Brooklyn to two widely spaced singles and won handily 3-0. The Phillies dorned Cincinnati 7-4 to make a sweep of the series.

The Yankees suffered their first defeat since clinching the American League flag when the Chicago White Sox beat them 2-5. Walter Stewart of the St. Louis Browns came out best in a tight mound duel with George Earnshaw of the Philadelphia Athletics 3-2.

PIEDMONT TO RENEW FLAG TILT TONITE

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Kept apart two days by rain and cold weather, the class of the Piedmont League—Greensboro and Charlotte—were to renew their series for the loop championship here tonight.

Bud Shaney, Hornet hurler, is scheduled to oppose Fritz Ostermueller on the mound in the contest, which will shove one team into the series lead with two victories and one defeat.

The clubs also play here tomorrow night, shifting to Greensboro Monday night if a fifth game is necessary.

Patriot supporters anxiously weighed reports that Neil Caldwell, slugging first baseman of the Pats, would not see action tonight because of an injured finger. Caldwell's hand was hurt in the second game at Greensboro when a low throw tipped his glove.

With assurance that Blackie Carter would be in the outfield, the Hornets expected to muster their full batting strength.

Carter is an assistant football coach at Furman University and had not been expected to play in the series.

Cold weather prevented the teams from meeting last night in their first scheduled contest on Wearn Field here.

BAD WEATHER PUTS DAMPER ON GRIDIRON

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Bad weather and that deadly enemy of many a good football team—injuries—are keeping activity in most of the football camps of the State at a conservative pace.

An injury in September may cost a game in October or November, the coaches apparently surmise, and the pace they have set for their charges has been a gradual one.

Only Davidson's Wildcats came in for a heavy afternoon along the Big Five front yesterday and the exhibition left the coaches far from leashed. Two backfields looked shabby, said Coaches Newton and Mc-Aver, in scrimmage against a yearling outfit.

One set of backs was drawn from Fleagle, Dickerson, Caton, Mills, Wingfield and Flinn. Alternating in the other were Wilson, West, Wingfield, Peabody, Mackorell and Hutchins.

The Tar Heels yesterday had a long morning workout but rain forced holding of skull practice indoors in the afternoon. Phipps, letter backfield man, is nursing a strained hip.

Wallace Wade sent the Duke Blue Devils through light workouts, signals in the morning and blackboard work in the afternoon. Pop Werner, guard, will not be able to play against Davidson in the season's opener at Durham September 24, it was reported. Werner is nursing a leg injury.

Over at Raleigh the State College Wolfpack went through its paces indoors because of dripping skies. A blackboard drill and signals occupied the huskies. Coach Clipper Smith is preparing for the first game, that with Appalachian State, here the night of September 24.

Wake Forest likewise was hampered by rain, and the team worked out in the gymnasium. Coach Pat Miller hoped to get into the open for practice today, however.

MARKET REPORT

Sell Your Tobacco in Greenville FOR MORE MONEY

Prices on every grade stronger when market closed today for the week.

More New Grades have just been put on by the various buyers. Farmers from 25 counties sold on our floors today, some of them traveling over 130 miles, and were convinced that we are higher on every grade.

The government report for August shows the border markets are averaging 28c less per 100 pounds than last year, while Greenville is averaging from 40 to 50 per cent more.

Some of the markets continue to carry in the newspapers misleading and incorrect information. We urge all the growers to come and see for themselves rather than be influenced by false propaganda sent out by publicity bureaus.

No market has keener buying competition than Greenville. Keep your tobacco dry and market it in best possible condition.

Stock Market

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER (Associated Press Financial Editor)

New York, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The stock market shook off early nervousness today and turned upward led by the railroad stocks which moved up 1 to 2 points.

After early losses of a point or more, rails moved forward early in the afternoon, bringing gains of 1 1/2 to 2 points to Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, New York Central, Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio.

While current traffic reports of the roads show a decline in freight car loadings for last week compared with the preceding week, due to the Labor Day holiday, there was growing belief that the week-end statement due tomorrow would show a relatively good showing.

pushed his way through the picket line after he shooting and entered the mine. The leaders of the invaders decided to temporarily withdraw their men to prevent further trouble and led their forces to a park nearby.

Rejoining Democrats, thinking that in the Maine victory they sense a distinct advantage everywhere, are encouraged to press every opportunity to the utmost. Surprised Republicans have been called upon by President Hoover himself to rally for a "hard fight."

No one can guess at this stage whether sparks from the roaring furnaces of organized party activity will start any conflagrations among the voters themselves.

Word has come of party leaders from many sections that a large body of the people are silent and apathetic.

In general, neither campaign contributions nor attendance at political meetings shows an average high enough to indicate intense popular interest. Yet in Maine the vote was very heavy, which may mean that the public is thinking and meaning to act, even if it is not talking.

For the moment, most of the outward activity is on the part of the Democrats. Governor Roosevelt, speeding toward the West coast, is asking for the support of the voters of both parties, as he turns from the old subjects of the general depression and prohibition to speak about farm relief, power and the railroads.

It is the aim of the Democrats to consolidate no wif possible, enough Western strength to win regardless of what the East may do.

The preparations of the Republicans for an intense October drive in both East and West will bring into action every available party wheelhouse.

President Hoover's telegram to Chairman Sanders after the Maine election, asking for renewed effort everywhere, has been followed by a long string of political conferences at the White House. The President's own speaking program, calling here-fore for three major speeches, may be somewhat—but not greatly—expanded.

Subscriptions will be accepted from two months to three years. Six months sells for $2.50; a year for $5.00; two years for $9.00 and three years for $12.00.

Those who are thinking about taking an active part are urged to call around to the campaign office for the newspaper at once and receive their free supplies and other helpful suggestions. Everything connected with the affair is free. Remember Monday is the opening date and the time to map out a successful campaign is right now before anyone has started.

FLAREUPS REPORTED IN ILLINOIS MINE WAR (Continued from Page One) from entering the strip mines of the Northern Illinois Coal Corporation near here. The pickets, estimated to number 800, had marched into this district yesterday from the Peoria area, announcing they would seek to close all working coal mines.

They intercepted miners from Briardwood, Coal City and Wilmington this morning and persuaded most of them to return home. A few, however, sought to defy the pickets and run a blockade. Sticks were tossed and windshields broken. Several were injured.

Later, two of the picketeers were shot by an unidentified mine worker when they tried to keep him from passing through their lines. Flori Muzzarelli, 27, and John Monte, 32, both residents of Farmington, near Peoria were the injured men, neither of whom were seriously hurt.

The miner who did the shooting
