STRIKERS QUIETLY RETURN TO WORK IN THIS STATE

Prohibit Big Question As Three States Prepare To Go To Polls Tuesday

MAKE FINAL BALLOT BIDS

New York, Massachusetts and Wisconsin End Campaigns Today in Preparation for March to Ballot Boxes Tomorrow; Prohibition Issue in Two Eastern States; LaFollette to Measure Strength With Other Wings of The G. O. P.

(By The Associated Press)

Primary campaigns close today in New York, Massachusetts and Wisconsin, and tomorrow's balloting will end most of the state intra-party contests for congressional and gubernatorial nominations.

In several districts of both the two eastern states prohibition figures prominently. Wisconsin's voting will measure the strength of the LaFollette and anti-LaFollette wings of the Republican party there.

With these three contests over, only the Democratic and Republican conventions in New York; party conclaves in Rhode Island and New Mexico, and a few run-off primaries remain before all candidates square off for the November election. They will be disposed of by the middle of October.

In Wisconsin, the LaFollettes and Senator Blaine have waged a fight against former Governor Walter J. Kohler on taxation and other economic issues. Governor Philip LaFollette, aided by his brother, Senator Robert M. LaFollette, have advocated "redistribution of wealth" by taxation.

Senator Blaine is seeking renomination against John B. Chapple, Republican editor of Ashland, who charged him with radicalism.

There is no election of a senator from Massachusetts this year. In New York, the Democratic convention is to decide whether Senator Robert F. Wagner will be renominated.

Lieut. Gov. Herbert H. Lehman is strongly supported by Roosevelt friends for the gubernatorial nomination.

William H. Donovan, former assistant attorney general, and F. Truette Davidson, assistant secretary of war for aeronautics, are the outstanding contenders for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in New York.

Governor Joseph B. Ely, Democrat, has no opposition for renomination in Massachusetts. Four Republicans including Lieut. Gov. William Youngman, are seeking their party's support to oppose Ely.

The contest between Rep. Robert Luce of the ninth Massachusetts district, who is standing on the National Republican prohibition platform; Ralph W. Hobart, a repeal advocate, and William H. Murphy, has attracted much attention in the Bay state.

Former Senator James W. Wadsworth, a repealer, is without opposition for the Republican nomination for representative from the 29th New York district. Rep. Frederick M. Davenport, a prohibitionist, and Daniel P. Strobel, an anti-prohibitionist, have conducted a strenuous contest for the Republican nomination from the 33rd district.

SEES REVIVAL FOR RELIGION

Dr. R. H. Wright tells Baptists World Is Faced by Great Spiritual Awakening.

The world is on the threshold of the greatest spiritual revival in history, declared Dr. R. H. Wright, president of East Carolina Teachers College, addressing the congregation of Memorial Baptist Church yesterday at the 11 o'clock hour.

Asserting that darkness is always followed by the dawn, the distinguished educator saw in the present troubled condition of the world a blasting of superstitions and disbelief and the paving of a way to a day when spiritual values will be greater than the material.

The address was heard by a fairly large crowd and was preceded by inspirational congregational singing.

Taking the Biblical story of the prophet Elijah, who lost his nerve and prayed that he might die, Dr. Wright brought to the congregation one of the most forceful sermons heard in sometime. He described the great wind, the earthquake, and fire which swept the mountain, and God was in neither.

People of today, he said, are mistaking the winds of the earth for the voice of God, and failing to realize the true values of life.

He recounted the ills of the world—the suffering and hardships in a land of plenty, and said the condition was caused by lack of faith.

God is not speaking through abnormal economic conditions, the speaker said. He is to be found in the still small voice that speaks to

Disarmament Question Is Discussed At Paris

Paris, Sept. 19.—(AP)—International political circles today viewed as of the greatest importance a luncheon given by Premier Herriot for United States Ambassador Edgo. Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, and Theodore Marriner, the new counselor to the American Embassy, who is a disarmament specialist.

Joseph Paul-Bonscourt, the Minister of War, and other government officials were present.

Before the luncheon it was admitted unofficially that the subjects to be discussed informally would be the Hoover plan of disarmament and the situation created by Japanese recognition of Manchukuo.

It was learned that Senator Reed has been doing helpful spade work on both matters, especially in Great Britain where he talked with Prime Minister MacDonald.

SLOW UPWARD TREND IS SEEN IN BUSINESS

Business and Industrial Magnates Of Nation Say They See Improvements.

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Business and industrial magazine editors throughout the country, reporting trade trends during the early part of this month to the Associated Business Papers, Inc., observed a slow upward movement in many lines.

It was reported building contracts increased substantially, mid-summer advances in cement prices were holding steady, car-loadings showed a better than seasonal rise, credit was more readily available for railway improvements and labor troubles showed a tendency to decrease.

North Carolina Political Leaders Begin Drive For Votes In November.

High Point, Sept. 19.—(AP)—With glowing predictions of an overwhelming Democratic victory left in their minds, thousands of the members of the party in North Carolina today prepared for an intensive campaign between now and November.

Saturday afternoon at municipal lake near here, the war-cry of Tar Heels' democracy was sounded by Gov. O. Max Gardner, Senator Josiah W. Bailey, and the party's senatorial, gubernatorial and sixth district congressional nominees, Robert R. Reynolds, J. C. E. Eringhaus and William B. Umstead.

A crowd estimated at over 5,000

NEGRO KILLED IN GUN FIGHT

Officer Dangerously Wounded in Run-In with Darkey in Watauga County.

Boone, N. C., Sept. 19.—(AP)—A negro was dead and an officer was desperately wounded today as a result of gun fights in this section Saturday night.

The wounded officer, J. C. Farthing, 21, Watauga County deputy sheriff, and son of Sheriff Farthing, probably owes his life to a book in his coat pocket which absorbed part of a shotgun load he received.

Farthing was shot when he went to the home of Ralph Horton, negro, to arrest him on a warrant charging him with disorderly conduct. Horton was killed by a posse later in trying to escape over the Tennessee line.

Two negroes are under arrest in

Minnesota Highways are Blocked By Farm Strike

Worthington, Minn., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Four hundred farmers swarmed over ten highways leading into Worthington today, determined to halt shipments of non-perishable farm products in an effort to boost market prices.

Two trucks of livestock were turned back soon after the pickets had filled the public highway.

M. B. Miller, vice-chairman of the Nobles County unit of the State Farmers' Holiday Association, said the association has not approved picketing.

TWO KILLED IN OLD FEUD

National Guard Called Out Following Disorders at Manchester, Ky.

Manchester, Ky., Sept. 19.—(AP)—National Guard troops were on duty here today following the killing of two men and the wounding of another yesterday in the outbreak of a feud that started during the Civil War.

The dead were Commonwealth Attorney H. Baker, 39, of London, Ky., and John Brockman, about 25 years old, formerly of Breathitt County and Southern Indiana. Frank Young, 40, was shot in the left hip and was in a serious condition today.

Rifle shots fired by men barricaded in the Clay County courthouse killed Baker as he stepped from the home of his uncle, Wiley Baker, 62, as Brockman went to Baker's aid, he, too, was shot down and killed instantly.

During the next four hours the two bodies laid in the street while the snipers in the courthouse fired intermittently at the Wiley Baker home. One bullet pierced Wiley Baker's shoe but did not wound him. Another whizzed over the head of the dead official's mother as she went to a door. The fire of the snipers was not returned.

As suddenly as they had started shooting, the men in the courthouse slipped away and escaped. Troops, sent by Governor Ruby Laffoon at the request of Circuit Judge William Lewis, of London, searched the courthouse, but could find no trace of the assassins.

The shooting climaxed a series of killings which Clay County authorities have attributed to ill-feeling between

ROOSEVELT ON WAY TO BUTTE

After 3-Hour Stop The Nominee Will Leave for State Of Washington.

By WALTER T. BROWN (Associated Press Staff Writer)

Enroute to Butte, Mont., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Sweeping northward through the mountains of Idaho, the home state of Republican Senator William E. Borah, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt today brought his presidential candidacy into Montana with a 3-hour stop at Butte.

At 1 p. m. the Roosevelt special was scheduled to resume its journey into the Pacific northwest with the next prolonged halt at Seattle, Wash., Tuesday morning.

Entering upon the second week of his three weeks swing through 21 states, stretching from his home state of New York to the Pacific coast, the Democratic nominee last night made platform appearances at Ogden, Brigham and Cache Junction, Utah and McMonon, Pocatello and Idaho Falls, Idaho.

Crowds ranging from a few hundred to a cheering throng of 5,000 to 6,000 at Pocatello, gathered at the stations to meet Mr. Roosevelt. The train stopped at the Idaho city for 30 minutes.

In his journey from Salt Lake City, where the Roosevelt party spent the week-end, the candidate had a supporting cast of national figures. They were U. S. Senators William H. King of Utah, Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, and Key Pittman of Nevada; Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley and National Treasurer Frank C. Walker. Senator Walsh chair-

Dr. Fred Morrison, executive officer under the governor for the Federal relief program in this State, has wired K. T. Futrell, director of Pitt County Welfare Department, to push the collection of information on questionnaires sent out last week to obtain all possible data concerning relief activities in this county.

Mr. Futrell has requested that all agencies, such as churches, lodges, civic agencies, community relief agencies, towns and any other organizations doing relief work last year to collect this information and send it to his office immediately.

Eighteen white schools were thrown open for the 1932-1933 session today with prospects for one of the best terms in years in spite of decreased appropriations and reorganization of the transportation system. Three of the schools will operate for six months and the remainder for eight months.

VISITS LOCAL LEAF MARKET

J. L. Jackson of Wake Makes First Trip to Leaf Center in Nineteen Years.

J. L. Jackson, of Wake County, a former resident of Greenville, made his first visit to the Greenville tobacco market today in nineteen years. He sold a load of tobacco for his mother-in-law, Mrs. Martha Cobb, 84, of Conejoe, who operates a farm in Pitt County. It was the first time a load of tobacco had been sold in her name, Mr. Jackson said.

Mr. Jackson is a native of Winterville, and attended the East Carolina Teachers College when that institution was in its infancy. He moved to Wake County about twenty years ago, and since that time he has been making his home there.

Today Marks Opening of Drive For More Readers

The eight weeks subscription effort of The Daily Reflector officially opens today and will continue for a period of eight weeks. At the expiration of this time there will be awarded to the men and women of Pitt and adjoining counties who enroll nearly $1,500 in prizes and commissions.

The cash prizes number five in all topped with the big award of $600.00. Then comes second award of $300.00; $150.00 for third; $100.00 for fourth and $50.00 for fifth.

About $300.00 has been estimated as the maximum amount that will be needed to pay the non-winners a cash commission of ten per cent on all their subscription money returned in. The campaign slogan is a "Prize or Commission To All," thus making it possible for every one participating to be rewarded in some way.

Those who have already sent in their names and signified their intention of taking an active part by working for renewals and new subscriptions to The Daily Reflector have sent their receipt books. Others who send in their name may have a book also and those wishing to call in person at the campaign office upstairs in The Reflector building may receive their book and secure other details first hand.

Early entry into the affair is advised by the campaign department. Although the drive runs eight weeks in all it will be the ones first enrolled who will have the best opportunity even though they don't

Walkout At Thomasville And High Point Ends As 700 Workers Go To Mills

COLOMBIA FOR WAR WITH PERU

Tens of Thousands Clamor for War As Peruvians Seize The Port of Leticia.

Bogota, Colombia, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Tens of thousands of Colombians clamored today for war with Peru, and went down into their pocket-books and their jewel cases to provide funds to finance it.

The Senate passed a bill authorizing the government to arrange a credit of $10,000,000 for national defense.

The action followed a report on the seizure September 1 by Peruvian citizens of the Colombian port of Leticia on the Amazon. Leticia was ceded to Colombia in the boundary treaty with Peru in 1922.

Although the Peruvian government informed Colombia that as far as it knew no Peruvian soldiers were involved in the seizure and that it was merely a regional affair, the milling crowds which filed the streets here throughout the night shouted for war and yelled, "Down with Sanchez Cerro!" Luis M. Sanchez Cerro is president of Peru.

Women offered their jewels to the government and large subscriptions were pledged by various organizations. Among these was an offer of $50,000 from the Jockey Club, $10,000 from the Students' Association, $50,000 from a lottery association, $50,000 from a lottery, and $1,000 from the newspaper, El Tiempo.

Dispatches from various parts of the country reported patriotic demonstrations in other principal cities.

FIVE HUNDRED ARE STILL IDLE

Breaking of Strike Follows Conference Between Governor Gardner and Mill Operatives Last Saturday; Officials Say Remainder of Idle Workmen Will Be Absorbed as Early as Possible.

Thomasville, N. C., Sept. 19.—(AP)—A total of 677 idle operatives of the Thomasville Chair Company ended their three weeks' old strike today and returned to work while one hundred others prepared to follow their footsteps tomorrow.

High Point, N. C., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Approximately 700 strikers went quietly back to work here and at Thomasville near here, today, breaking up lengthy strikes but leaving at the same time some 500 workers still idle.

Officials of the Stehli Silk Mills here and the Thomasville Chair Company at Thomasville yesterday announced their plants would reopen today following conferences Saturday with Governor Gardner.

At the silk mill, approximately 300 went back to their posts, after quitting several weeks ago following a wage reduction, leaving about one hundred operatives still out of work.

Stehli officials said the remaining workers would be absorbed as soon as conditions permitted, and that a night shift would be resumed where orders permitted. Only the day shift was in operation today.

Between 300 and 400 workers returned to work at Thomasville, but a similar number remained on strike, somewhat disgruntled still because of a more definite settlement that would appear to them had not been made.

Governor Gardner Saturday came here to hold conferences with strikers and mill representatives for the second time in the past few months. As a result of the last conference, the two companies agreed to re-employ all the strikers as soon as conditions permit, but said loss of orders while the mills were closed would prohibit immediate capacity operations.

MRS. J. D. DAVIS PASSES AWAY

Mother of Mrs. R. L. Humber of Greenville Dies at Kinston Home.

News was received here today of the death in Kinston of Mrs. John D. Davis, mother of Mrs. R. L. Humber of Greenville.

Mrs. Davis died last night after several months' illness, although she had been critically ill only for the last two weeks.

The body will be taken to Beaufort tomorrow at 12:30 and funeral services will be conducted from the Baptist Church at 3:30 by Rev. W. H. Moore, former pastor of the Kinston Baptist Church. Burial will be made at Beaufort.

Mrs. Davis, one of the most beloved women of Lenoir county, was born and reared in Beaufort and moved to Kinston about twelve years ago. She was a devoted Christian character and was a faithful member of the Kinston Baptist Church.

Mrs. Davis was well known in Greenville, having come here from time to time in recent years to visit in the home of her daughter. She was 85 years of age.

She is survived by three daughters and two sons, Mrs. R. L. Humber of Greenville; Mrs. Maude Dean, and Miss Lucy Davis of Kinston; and Leslie Davis of Beaufort, and Charlie Davis of Raleigh.

ABOUT TOWN

Pitt county people will be interested in the announcement of W. E. Hooks, chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee...

If present plans carry, such men as J. C. B. Ehringhaus, Bob Reynolds, Lindsay Warren and Clyde Hoey will speak in Greenville some time in the near future.

These men have preached the Democratic doctrine from many platforms in this state and will do much toward pulling up a great victory for their part in the forthcoming campaign.

With a meeting scheduled for the courthouse next Wednesday, the campaign will get under way at full blast here and from then on until the day of election arrives the people will be able to gain much information concerning the principles involved.

Vice-President Curtis told a gathering of voters in Pennsylvania that Roosevelt in his Topeka speech didn't present any definite plan for relief of farming although he talked quite a bit on the subject.

That is where we disagree with the vice-president, even as thousands of others will do.

Roosevelt presented one of the most far-reaching plans for relief of the farm probably ever before presented in this country and if he is given a chance to put it in operation relief should be evident in a mighty short while.

The Democratic nominee would throw the same tariff protection around products of the farm as enjoyed by products of the industrial world. If that is done the farmer will have the same protection as the manufacturer and everybody knows how industrial America has flourished in spite of depression and contributory causes.

In parlance of the street, Roosevelt "said a mouthful" and is nearer a solution of the ills of the farm than anybody so far mentioned.

The depression people have been complaining about the last two years hasn't dimmed the desire for an education in this state.

Colleges opening in various sections the last month report larger enrollments than last year and probably the most successful sessions in years.

The reason for the influx to school is the fact that education has been made available to the people at a cost within the reach of anybody desiring mental development. Thousands of self-help students are graduated from our schools each year.

It would have been impossible for the same pupils to have gotten through school years ago because tuition fees were too high and no provisions had been made for pro-

SYNOPSIS: Nan has taken fearful refuge in her room from her husband's cruel doubt that she is the daughter of the famous explorer, Nigel Forsyth, and from his suspicion that she accuses Robert Leonard of mercenary designs upon Jervis from mercenary motives. He is brought to his senses by a packet of letters from Nan's father, and goes to her room with apologies.

Chapter 25

F. F. SCENTS A THRILL

Ferdinand Francis came down next day, arriving in time for dinner with an extraordinary assortment of luggage, including the yellow Gladstone bag, a canvas holdall, a uniform-case scraped and battered down to the bare tin, a typically British wash-basin with a leather top, and some assorted parcels. All except the parcels were plastered over with labels of every shape and color.

When dinner was over, they had coffee on the terrace, with the heat dropping out of the day and a breeze blowing in from the sea. Mr. Francis' bright brown eyes looked appreciatively from his coffee to a bed of flame-colored snapdragons, from the snapdragons to Nan in a green frock, and from Nan to Jervis.

"No more accidents?" There was a little dragging silence before Jervis said in casual tone: "Only the old bridge above the fall."

Ferdinand jerked round in his wicker chair.

"Not really. And it fell?"

"What a dramatic mind you've got, F. F.! The timbers were rotten with a spray."

"Rotten were they—and with the spray?"

Jervis nodded.

"The bridge fell. And was there anyone on it when it fell?"

Jervis got up and stood half turned away, looking down towards the ravine.

Nan had a narrow escape," he said. "She'll tell you about it if you want to know."

Ferdinand certainly wanted to know. He looked at Nan, and found her changing color.

"There's nothing to tell, Mr. Francis."

"Oh, I imagine there's something."

"No, there isn't." Then, as Jervis looked over his shoulder with a sardonic gleam in his eye she colored and said stumbingly, "I ran on to the bridge, and then it fell. Jervis pulled me up."

"My eye!" said Ferdinand. "Can't someone do better than that? Have not you got a few extra syllables about you, Mrs. Jervis? I feel as if I could do with them if you have."

"Bran wouldn't cross it, said Nan only just above her breath. "I knew there was something wrong when Bran wouldn't cross it."

"I'm an inquisitive man," said Ferdinand, "and I'm feeling the strain of this conversation pretty badly. If someone doesn't tell me what happened soon, I'm going to be a first-aid case."

Jervis had been listening in a careless attitude, one knee on the balustrade. His sudden smile came and went again. It gave his face an extraordinary charm. He looked at Ferdinand with affection.

"Very nicely put, F. F. I'm afraid I only deal in dry facts—that's why I'm not competing for you."

Nan's cheeks burned with a sudden reaction violently from the moment when she had stood with the door open. Everything in her was between herself and Jervis and had not had a word to say.

That was last night; but it might have happened in another world. She had felt drained and dumb, a sort of ghost in the dark. She did not feel in the least like that now. She wanted to convince Ferdinand to get him on her side. She felt warm, and alive, and sure. She leaned towards him with her elbow on the arm of the chair.

"I'll tell you what happened."

"That's better," said F. F. Jervis got up and strolled away.

"When the thrills are over you can wander down to the ravine and view the remains," he said. He went down the steps and on down the grassy slope.

"Now, Mrs. Jervis," said Ferdinand.

"Jervis doesn't believe—anything."

"Well no—he wouldn't. Suppose you try me—I'm good at believing."

"There's so little to tell. There's nothing that I can prove—there's only the feeling, the frightfully strong feeling."

Ferdinand nodded.

"As you say, you've got a hunch. Well, I take a good deal of stock in hunches myself. You tell me all about this bridge business."

Nan told him about waking up in the night and looking out of her window and seeing Robert Leonard by a flash of lightning.

"I saw him," insisted Nan.

"And what does Jervis say to that?"

"He says I couldn't possibly have recognized him all that way off."

"Well, there's something in that."

"I saw him," insisted Nan.

"Right. Now what about the bridge?"

"Jervis took me down to see the fall, and when we came to the bridge Bran wouldn't cross it—he wouldn't go onto it at all. He knew."

Ferdinand nodded.

"I've seen an elephant do that in Burma—it just stood there and rumpeted. Go on."

"Jervis was angry with him. He tried to drag him on to the bridge—"

Se stopped abruptly. Ferdinand laughed a little. "Keep right on," he said. "Well, the bridge went—and I'd have gone too, only Jervis grabbed hold of me and pulled me up." His bright brown eyes mocked her a little.

"I never did care for an expurgated edition—it puts too much strain on the imagination."

"That's all," said Nan hastily. "Nonsense! All? And how did you come to be on the bridge? Bran wouldn't cross, and you knew there was something wrong, and so you went onto the bridge yourself just to see what would happen."

He had the satisfaction of seeing her cheeks burn.

"Well—that is true, isn't it?" he said.

Nan jumped up.

"You'd better go down and look at the bridge."

"If I'd got a hat on, I'd take it off to you Mrs. Jervis!" said Ferdinand.

No market has keener buying competition than Greenville.

Flashes of Life
(By The Associated Press)
Asheville, N. C.—(AP)—John H. Bramlett has gone to law to prove a man's straw hat is nobody's business but his own. He said that just because he appeared in a straw lid after the close of the traditional season for such headgear, several loiterers and others called it "goat feed," knocked it off his head and broke it. He asked 95 cents for the hat and $1.25 punitive damages.

Rochester, N. H.—A bull moose with a lonely heart drew a large crowd of Sunday sightseers. G.O.P. SPEEDS UP CAMPAIGN

Intensive Drive Outlined at WhiteHouse Conference Last Night.
Washington, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A campaign keyed to the "stronger effort" President Hoover said Maine election results made necessary today was definitely charted by Republican party chiefs.

It was formulated in detail at a White House conference last night, will be built about "the most vigorous possible speaking campaign" between now and November's balloting and will be concentrated on policies outlined in the President's acceptance speech.

This much was disclosed by Chairman Sanders of the Republican National Committee, who, with Secretaries Mills and Hurley, was closeted with Mr. Hoover more than three hours.

But no statement was made by either of the three regarding what part Mr. Hoover personally will play in the new campaign plans. Sanders said only that he expected the Chief Executive "to adhere to the original plan" and deliver three addresses.

The Republican chairman said it still was undecided what cities Mr. Hoover will visit, and when asked specifically whether the President would travel as far as the west coast, replied:

"I don't know. There has been no plans formed so far for him to go to the west coast."

Sanders said this statement as he and Mills stood on the White House steps just before midnight. His presence in Washington generally was unknown, and he returns to his Chicago headquarters today to start the more intense campaign on his way.

Mills and Hurley have conferred with the President repeatedly during the last two days.

Sanders said the Treasury head will speak in Detroit at the Michigan State Convention September 29 and then travel to Los Angeles for addresses there October 3 and 4. The last is scheduled before the American Banking Association. Two more speeches also are planned for Mills.

Second Week Of Extortion Trial Gets Under Way

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Trial of two former Wilmington officials on a charge of attempted extortion from a wealthy widow entered its second week here today with the march of State witnesses not yet completed.

Thirty or more witnesses have already testified in the attempt to convict P. Q. Moore, former Wilmington mayor, and J. J. Furlong, was once chief of police here, of the extortion charge.

One of the witnesses was Mrs. Jessie Kenan Wise, philanthropist, and whom the State contends was sent two extortion letters by Moore and Furlong demanding a total of $45,000, threatening her with bodily harm if she did not pay.

Mrs. Wise testified she turned the letters over to her attorney, J. O. Carr, giving him power to act for her. The money was not paid.

The widow denied on cross-examination she was paying the expenses here of State witnesses.

Testimony that defects in the typewriter used to write the notes were similar to defects in a typewriter Moore used on his former weekly newspaper was given by Herman F. Wolfe, local typewriter dealer.

Two Men Admit Robbing Gaston Bank Last Year
Gastonia, N. C., Sept. 19.—(AP)—A bold bank robbery which took place in Gaston County more than a year ago appeared solved today with the arrest and confessions of two men.

Officers said Eban Carpenter, of Lincoln County, now in jail here, and R. B. Smith, held at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., confessed they participated in the robbery of the bank of Dallas, July 21, 1931.

The robbers got $2,096.

Carpenter and Smith, the officers said, named Will Lingerfelt, of Lincoln County, Carpenter's brother-in-law, as an accomplice in the crime. Lingerfelt is sought.

Carpenter's arrest followed identification of his automobile as the one used by the robbers. He was arrested at his home Saturday.

Carpenter admitted, Solicitor John G. Carpenter said, that he drove the automobile and Smith and Lingerfelt entered the bank. The robbery occurred at noon. A. J. Mauney, the cashier, who was the only person in the institution, was held up and painfully beaten.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

New York Cotton

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 5 to 7 points higher in response to better Liverpool cables and reports of a Gulf storm south of Galveston.

Houses with both Liverpool and Continental connections were among the early buyers while there was considerable covering and trade buying, but the market met Southern selling and liquidation. This was sufficient to supply the initial demand and send prices off from 6.89 to 6.78 for December right after the call or back to about yesterday's closing quotations.

Trade buying increased on the dip, however, and the market was steady at the end of the first half hour with the active months showing net gains of about 8 to 10 points.

Liverpool cables attributed the firmness in that market to Bombay buying and covering on apprehensions that the tropical storm might cause damage to the crop, and said that the cotton mills were hopeful of re-opening next week, as a compromise on the wage dispute was anticipated.

Grain Market

Chicago, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Faced by 1,461,000 bushels increase of the United States wheat visible supply, and by persistent big Canadian receipts, wheat prices dipped sharply late today.

Strength earlier was largely due to Argentine wheat crop prospects which were reported to be causing anxiety. There was talk too, that Nebraska and northwest Kansas wheat crop acreage would be cut 25 to 50 per cent.

Wheat showed nervous 5-8 to 1 under Saturday's finish; corn unchanged to 1-2 lower; oats 1-8 to 1-4 off to 1-4 up and provisions unchanged to 7 down.

Stock Market

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER (Associated Press Financial Editor)

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The stock market moved sluggishly today, but showed strong resistance against an early selling flurry. The list turned upward as trading entered the afternoon hours, with most rails and many industrials moderately higher.

Railroad securities appeared to furnish the backbone of the market. They yielded a point or so at one time, but quickly retraced their steps, holding steadily above the final prices of Saturday. Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Southern, and Louisville and Nashville, among others, were a point or so up on the day.

U. S. Steel issues were under some early pressure when a break of 6 1/4 points occurred in the company's preferred stock, presumably based on a change as to dividend continuation. Later, the common shares rallied to Thursday's close after a dip of more than a point, and the preferred remained about one-quarter of its loss. Case, Harvester, Montgomery Ward, Sears Allied Chemical, American Telephone, National Cash Register and Consolidated Gas were up 1 to 2 points. Trading was the dullist in several weeks.

Strength of cotton, which advanced on weather news, and firmness of wheat appeared to help the stock market. Wall Street has been paying close attention to the action of commodities.

Most market operators appeared to be weighing evidence on recent price gains and to attach major importance to the question of weather. The upturn was actually exceeding seasonal scope, or was barely up to seasonal measure. Electric power production figures have been considered as furnishing strong support for a reasonable amount of optimism. Ordinarily, production during the Labor Day week falls about 4 per cent below the preceding week. This year, however, the decline was held to about 2 per cent. This, coupled with the trend of freight rates, was taken as a hopeful sign that business was picking up ahead.

VISITS LOCAL LEAF MARKET

(Continued from Page One) Many changes have taken place during the last nineteen years, but none of greater importance than those on the tobacco market here. Although he had been keeping in constant touch with development of the industry, Mr. Jackson said he was greatly impressed with the magnitude of the auction system here and was amazed at the rapidity of the sales operating at the same time on the floors of five different ware- houses.

He said the growth of the ma- jority as well as the community was very pronounced and he was gratified over the evidence of progress noted on all sides.

After getting in touch with a num- ber of old acquaintances, Mr. Jack- son returned to Wake County but with promise that he would not be as long returning to Greenville next time.

COTTON ADVANCES $2 BALE ON NEW ORLEANS MARKET

New Orleans, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Cotton advanced $2 a bale in early trading today as a tropical disturbance off the Louisiana coast promised heavy rains in the western belt and the official weather map indicated unsettled weather elsewhere in the growing area. After absorbing hedge selling and some realizing on an early rally of 13 to 15 points, the market stiffened again on the trader's advice and December weather up to 7.14, exactly 40 points or $2 a bale above Satur- day's close.

TODAY MARKS OPENING OF DRIVE FOR MORE READERS

(Continued from page one) continue to work hard right up to the end. The truth of the matter is that the early entrants will not only line up a lot of renewals and new subscriptions but they will succeed in securing many promises of subscriptions to be cashed in on at a later date. The large number of readers now enjoying the Reflector are going to renew some time soon, for the most part, and there are a lot of folks not taking any daily paper at this time who are soon going to be in the market for a subscription. The presidential election is beginning to wax warm, the old world series is about to start, football in all its glory is just around the corner and the bulk of money coming to this section is to start making the rounds.

So if you are one of those ambi- tious souls anxious to make some real money during the coming weeks don't fail to come or call the cam- paign office of The Reflector for more detailed information. Don't wait until others have covered the field and then say that you would like to take an active part, but some one else has already been around. Get in now while the territory is new and no one has hardly had time to scratch down a subscription let alone canvass the field.

Awards will be made on the votes earned from paid subscriptions. Each subscription from a $2.50 six months one up to three years will be due votes that determine the award winning. Renewals count the same as new subscriptions. Com- missions will be paid on each report as made, making it possible for con- testants to have part of their prize money as they go along.

SLOW UPWARD TREND SEEN IN BUSINESS

(Continued from Page One) Pig iron demand and ingot produc- tion were found to be rising some- what slowly, while machinery orders were a trifle ahead of July; oil producers and refiners were slowing down production customary to this period; chemical consumption con- tinued to rise while the country's stocks were declining; the paint trade exhibited improved demand from both industrial consumer resources; wood-working plants were doing moderately better, but mill- work building continued low.

The editors especially stressed the improvement in the textile industry. Cotton stocks, it was said, were the lowest on record with unfilled orders the highest since March, 1929; wholesale dry-goods buying was found to be heavy. Printers reported increasing re- quests for estimates, particularly in the large Eastern cities. The hotel business showed some improvement and meat packer stated that con- sumption was maintaining a normal level.

SEES REVIVAL FOR RELIGION

(Continued from Page One) every individual even as it spoke to Elijah and told him to go out and create new kingdoms to God's glory. Describing the present age as one of extreme materialism, Dr. Wright called attention to the fact that fifty per cent of the state's revenue was diverted to the building and maintenance of improved roads and that much less than this was going to education.

As long as the nation worships the material it cannot hope to hear the still small voice of God, he de- clared. Worshipping the material causes a reaping of earthquake and fire.

He urged his hearers not to let gloom and despondency dominate their lives, but to go to God and that He would give them life abundantly. Referring to the uncounted suffer- ing and despair prevailing in vir- tually all parts of the world, he ex- pressed belief this was the awaken- ing period preceding the greatest spiritual revival of all history. Super- stitions are being abandoned in this dark hour before the dawn, he said, and eventually the glory and beauty of righteousness will burst forth with all its radiance impart- ing new life to a sorely pressed peo- ple.

(Continued from Page One) heard President Hoover and the Republican party flayed and Frank- lin D. Roosevelt and the Democrats praised. Bailey and Reynolds pre- dicted election of Roosevelt by a popular vote majority in excess of 10,000,000 and election of a state ticket by a majority of 100,000 while Gardner said he did not expect more than six states to cast elec- toral votes for Hoover.

From here the Democratic fight was taken to the west today by Eh- ringhaus and both he and Reynolds will seek votes in that section this week. Today Ehringhaus went to Rutherfordton to speak, tomorrow afternoon he will be at Marshall and Wednesday at Spruce Pine. Reynolds will speak in Charlotte Thursday and at Boone Saturday.

TWO KILLED IN OLD FEUD

(Continued from Page One) tween two clans. Last February al- fred Neal, negro, was slain on a street here, and two months later Police Judge C. P. Silvers, a wit- ness in the Neal case, was shot to death at the same location. Four members of the Baker family were indicted as a result of these two slayings, and State troops were on guard when a special term of court was held last month for the trial. Frank Baker did not serve as pro- secutor during the special term of court. He was cleared at that ses- sion of charges of malfeasance, mis- feasantance and arson, the latter grow- ing out of the burning of his home,

When Farthing went to the Hor- ton home, accompanied by another officer, he was fired on, allegedly by Norwood Horton. George Hor- ton had previously been arrested, but Norwood and Ralph fled into the mountains.

A posse of more than one hun- dred men set out in pursuit. Repu- tably headed the negroes off near the State line. They said the neg- roes opened fire. Ralph was killed and Norwood was wounded. The latter was brought to jail here.

Young Farthing is in a Lenoir hospital.

He had sought to arrest the neg- roes on a warrant charging them with creating a disturbance at a road construction camp because of the discharge of a negro employee.

ROOSEVELT ON WAY TO BUTTE

When he reaches Seattle, Mr. Roosevelt will have completed one leg of the 8,900 mile triangle his campaign is tracing in the west. Leaving there Tuesday night, his train will move southward through Washington, Oregon and California with the week-end stop at Los An- geles. The third of Mr. Roosevelt's four major speeches on the trip will be at Portland auditorium on Wednesday night.

Public utilities, a subject that has occupied much of Mr. Roosevelt's attention as the New York governor will be discussed at the Oregon city. The two other major speeches of this trip were at Topeka, Kas., and Salt Lake City.

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rin' in to Go

If you feel sour and snaky and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

Unlike ordinary cathartics Sargon Soft Mass Pills do not shock or upset the system. They do their work by gently stimulating the liver to cleanse itself by increasing its pro- duction of bile—a more natural and thorough laxative than can ever be devised by man. Sargon Soft Mass Pills are not like any laxative you have ever taken. They are so gentle and thorough in action that there is nothing about them to remind you that you have taken a medicine, and most re- markable of all, their directions call for a gradual reduction of the dose until the point is reached where you no longer require a laxative of any kind.
