Roosevelt Is Headed For California After Speech To Crowd At Portland

GIVES VIEWS ON UTILITIES

Democratic Nominee for Presidency Outlines Views on Government Ownership, Public Utility Regulation; Charges Mr. Hoover with Doing Nothing to Enforce Regulatory Section of the Federal Water Act.

By WALTER T. BROWN En Route to San Francisco, Sept. 22.—(AP)—After writing into the record of this presidential campaign his views in a speech at Portland on the regulation and control of public utilities dealing in electricity, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt today was in California, whose swing from John N. Garner assured Mr. Roosevelt's nomination at the Chicago Democratic convention.

William Gibbs McAdoo, who announced the swing during the fourth roll call last July 1, had flown to Peeding to meet the nominee and escort him through the state. McAdoo is the choice of California Democrats for the United States Senate.

Mr. Roosevelt, in the Portland address last night, the third of four major utterances he will make on his 21-day tour of the west, outlined his views on government ownership, public utility regulation and the Federal Water Act.

"Since 1928 my distinguished opponent has done nothing to enforce the regulatory sections of the federal water power act."

"He has done nothing to block the financial operations incident to the great post-war development as planned by its promoters."

"My distinguished opponent is against giving the federal government in any case the right to operate their own power business."

In his peroration, which the crowd frequently interrupted him with cheering, Mr. Roosevelt said: "To the people of this country I have but one answer on this subject: The natural hydro-electric power resources belonging to the people of the United States or the several states shall remain forever in their possession."

Opposes Joint Review of Men Of Civil War

Memphis, Sept. 22.—(AP)—General Charles A. Desaussure, whose twinkling eyes and military bearing belie his years, says he can't even imagine Confederate and Union veterans marching arm in arm.

The General is a retired commander-in-chief of the United Confederate veterans, and he said today he was opposed to a joint review as proposed to delegates to the sixty-sixth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

"I hold no bitterness in my heart towards the brave soldiers of the North," he said, "but I am stoutly against the suggestion that the men of the South and the men of the North join in a grand review before the President of the United States.

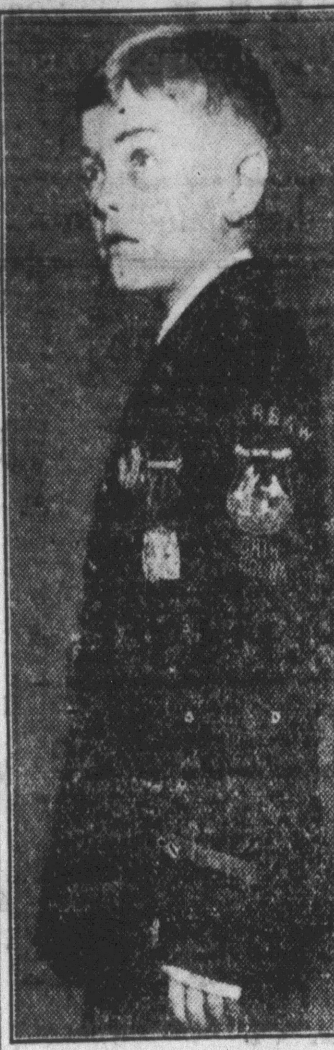

"I speak as an individual, but I believe I speak the sentiment of the majority of the Confederate veterans.

"There is no need for such a parade. It would only serve to revive unpleasantness. Things should remain as they are. There is no advantage to be gained by attempting such a step."

A Union veteran, an editor, proposed the grand review in a letter sent to the 2,000 veterans at the encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Springfield, Illinois.

The G. A. R. commander snorted at the suggestion, but dispatches said some of the other delegates give it more favorable consideration.

PUSH EFFORT TO AID GANDHI

the depressed classes, the cause for which the Mahatma entered upon his starvation fast Tuesday.

In the "condemned" cell of Yeroda jail, to which Gandhi was moved yesterday because it offered more commodious quarters for the many visitors who came to see him. The spare and emaciated leader of India's millions continued to squat cross-legged on a webbed cot, but his voice was growing weaker when the last of his callers left him last night.

The committee was putting forth every effort today to bring about a compromise agreement which would satisfy Gandhi.

Whatever agreement is reached must then be submitted to Prime Minister MacDonald for the approval of the government. Gandhi's friends fear that in his present condition he will not last long if his fast is continued.

The government indicated it was likely to limit the number of Gandhi's visitors in the future because of his growing weakness. Among those who came to see him yesterday was Mme Sarojini Naidu, India's most famous woman, and once his chief lieutenant, who is a prisoner in the women's ward at Yeroda.

She also showed evidences of her imprisonment. Once looked and with flashing eyes, she looked haggard and worn yesterday.

She was accompanied by Gandhi's second son, Devadas, who later went to visit his brother, Ramdas, who is interned in a prison camp in the rear of the jail.

Gandhi continued today to drink a great deal of water. He also kept on with his spinning, as well as saying his regular morning and evening prayers.

Reclining at ease on his cot, beneath a mango tree, Gandhi talked for two hours to leaders of the groups of the depressed classes which favor a joint electorate.

The Mahatma did most of the talking. Occasionally he paused to drink a few swallows of water which he poured from a bottle on a stand beside his cot, adding a pinch of soda. As the day grew warmer he increased the frequency of his drinks.

On another table were his favorite books, including one on astronomy.

three days before the opening of the thirteenth regular session of the league assembly, will be presided over by Eamon De Valera, president of the Irish Free State and native of New York. The council will continue with occasional sittings during the assembly sessions and after its adjournment.

The immediate questions which the Lytton report, forecast as unfavorable to Japan, will raise are:

(1) The problem of whether the council or the assembly will proceed to employ the concerted international action described in the league covenant for enforcing the League's will.

(2) Whether Japan will withdraw from the league if the league takes a firm position against her military policy in Manchuria.

In the opinion of many authorities these questions are of the greatest importance for the future of the league and for the peace of the world.

The United States Government is keenly interested in the way the league will meet this critical test, which has been postponed many times during the past year. The position taken by Henry L. Stimson, America Secretary of State in criticizing the Japanese policy in Manchuria here as being in advance of the league's present policy, but designed to encourage the league powers to take a bolder stand.

At this session the council also will discuss preparatory work for the World Economic and Financial Conference. The question of the time and place for holding the conference will be taken up by the league assembly with the council's advice.

Berlin, Sept. 22.—(AP)—It was indicated in official quarters today that Germany will not send a written reply to a letter from Artur Henderson, chairman of the World Disarmament Conference, urging Germany's continued participation in the conference.

Suggestions of a compromise were denied. It was emphasized that Germany did not withdraw in a fit of pique, but was fully conscious of the importance of its move. The government intends to await developments and to shape its course accordingly.

Mr. Hillman's message was greatly appreciated by those present, and we hope to have him with us again.

The business meeting, presided over by the president, was short and interesting. Mrs. George Gardner, principal, brought before the association the outstanding needs of the school. Committees were named to make immediate plans in order to meet these demands.

After outlining our work for the term, a very enthusiastic meeting was brought to a close.—Reported.

SYNOD URGES OBEDIENCE TO NATIONAL PROHIBITION

The Synod of North Carolina of the Southern Presbyterian Church in session here today adopted unanimously and without discussion resolutions appealing for strict obedience of the prohibition laws but at the same time stressed that the Synod did not wish to bind its members' consciences in the use of alcoholic liquors.

Eight resolutions, coming up on a point of special privilege during a hearing of reports from committees were adopted.

They were the same as adopted recently by the Synod of Virginia and were introduced by Dr. J. S. Foster of Winston-Salem.

The resolutions follow in substance: That the Synod "had no right or it had no desire to bind the conscience of its members in matters of reference to the use, distribution and control of alcoholic liquors. This statement was issued by way of suggestion and guidance "only."

That the Synod recognizes that the Presbyterian Church's position with reference to political issues is non-partisan and that the religious body does not take sides in controversial political questions.

That in facing these questions, Christians "should endeavor to determine what Jesus would do under similar circumstances and what He would now have His followers do."

An appeal was issued for strict obedience to the prohibition laws as well as all other laws of the state.

That Christians "in deciding what their conduct and views are to be should consider not only their own physical and spiritual welfare but also that of their weaker brethren." This resolution also recommended total abstinence from alcoholic drink.

The sixth resolution called attention to "present conditions" and the widespread use of automobiles and pointed "with grave alarm to the possible return of the saloon and the removal of restriction in the distribution and use of intoxicating drink."

The Synod went on record as recognizing the "sincere difference of opinion that exists among Christians as to the best method of promoting temperance."

The last resolution asked that Presbyterians vote on prohibition and all other matters "in accordance with their own genuine Christian convictions."

Dr. Foster in making a plea that these resolutions be passed, asked that the North Carolina Synod "stand beside the Synod of Virginia" and pointed out that these two are the largest in the south.

The Synod voted down a resolution to overturn the General Assembly to adopt a rule requiring the signatures of two "solvent endorsers" to notes to students applying for loans from the Assembly's student loan fund.

The session opened with an address by Dr. W. M. Brown of New York, representing the American Bible Society, who told of the distribution of the Book.

Dr. H. H. Sweet of Louisville, Ky., the Assembly's director of ministerial relief and religious education, pleaded for aid for unemployed and retired ministers and their families.

The Synod will come to a close this afternoon with the selection of a 1933 meeting place and the election of a new stated clerk.

The synod met last night in the Presbyterian church to hear Dr. B. R. Lacy, president of the Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, speak on "Evangelism" and the campaign to be launched by the denomination in 1933.

After the address, the synod adjourned until this morning, although an important committee meeting was held at the college in preparation for today's final session.

Referring to the action of the General Assembly at Atlanta, calling for a general evangelistic campaign, Dr. Lacy said the actual planning for the revival would be left to each synod, although publicity will be directed from Atlanta.

The campaign will consist of prayer in all churches and a general awakening of the people to the cause of christianity.

He declared the destiny of every department of all churches was bound up in this organized effort to revive interest in the work of the denomination.

Referring to the dire distress confronting the world at this time, the distinguished educator and orator, impressed upon his hearers that the obligation rested not only upon the churches, but must be seen as an individual problem.

Bride Of Kaye Don

He deplored the lack of parents' interest in the spiritual welfare of their children, and that they were not touching and reaching those who needed their aid.

He appropriately illustrated his lecture with instances of neglected children and implored that American childhood be given a chance to develop spiritually as well as along other lines.

Mentioning the numerical strength of the State synod, he asserted it was strong enough to accomplish more than those with less membership and not as great financially.

The sacrificial giving to the cause of evangelism is necessary before God will give freely to His people, Dr. Lacy declared.

Mentioning great ministers of the past, he said they preached God and righteousness, and that a resurgence of spirituality could not be hoped for until the clergy brought the people face to face with the underlying foundation of christianity.

The lecture was heard by a capacity crowd and was followed by a general session of prayer after which the synod was adjourned until today.

ment of colored people, described conditions "without exception unspeakable" with "brutality the rule."

"Women were beaten for not having meals ready on time," Miss Boardman was quoted as reporting "Two men were beaten and discharged for refusing night work after having worked all day."

"Some of the contractors and foremen were armed with rifles. I saw them myself. The heat was terrible. The men were driven in a temperature of 120 degrees in swamps filled with mosquitos."

Miss Boardman described the workers as "terrified and afraid to talk," the statement said. She blamed the contract system used by the war department for the worst abuses.

"The men work from 12 to 16 hours a day," she was quoted. "On the outskirts of some of the camps were groups of hungry unemployed men waiting for any vacancy, a condition of which the foreman took full advantage. Wages amounted to from $1 to $2.50 a day but by the use of a trick commissary system, even that amount was seldom paid."

"The workers were forced to pay a weekly fee of $4 or $5 whether they traded at the commissary or not. In addition they were charged according to the whim of the commissary agents for all sorts of necessities, such as 50 cents a week for drinking water, 1 a week tent rent, $1 a week coke fee, 25 cents for 15 cent cigarettes."

"The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which asked for the hearing, stated that Senator Wagner, of New York, had promised to introduce a resolution for a senatorial investigation of conditions."

Two Men Held In Extortion Case are Allowed Bail

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Parker Quince Moore and J. J. Furlong were at liberty under bond here today, under a stay of execution following their conviction yesterday of attempted extortion.

The former Wilmington mayor was released under $5,000 bond. Furlong, who is former chief of police here, was admitted to 1,000 bond. The former had been sentenced to three years' imprisonment and Furlong to two years.

The stay of execution is effective until the next term of criminal court, when the defense will have an opportunity of making any motion it wishes.

The former officials were convicted of attempting to extort money from Mrs. Jessie Kanan Wise, wealthy widow. The State charged they sent Mrs. Wise, whose philanthropies have been many, notes demanding $20,000 and $25,000.

Charlotte, N. C.—(AP)—R. R. Reynolds, U. S. Democratic senatorial nominee, will speak to Mecklenburg Young Democrats here tonight.

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know.

Nature's Own Secret of Health Revealed

Science Discovers That Good Health Depends on Supplying the System with Necessary Minerals and Vitamins.

Medical Science has discovered that the human body is made up of a very limited number of essential elements. All of these are found in the Mineral Kingdom and in foods in their natural state. To be exact, the healthy human body is composed of eleven Minerals and when these are present, in balanced proportion, we enjoy good health.

ABOUT TOWN

Too many unprepared men are trying to get into the ministry, Dr. Ben Lacy of Richmond, Va., president of Union Theological Seminary told ministers and laymen attending the Presbyterian Synod here yesterday. The distinguished North Carolinian said his institution is providing certain restrictions for admitting ministerial students and hoped the action would obtain good results.

Preachers, live teachers, should have the foundation necessary to beginning the study of their profession, and it is nothing but right that institutions should take proper precautions to prevent the entrance of the unprepared.

Ministers not only preach but they teach great truths that are having a powerful effect in the life of the world, and if they are not prepared academically, they cannot hope to accomplish what they would if they had the proper foundation.

As a preacher and teacher, Dr. Lacy has had an opportunity to observe the progress of men in this great field of human endeavor and his expression on the subject will receive wide attention throughout the country.

Dr. Lacy is doing a wonderful work toward advancing the kingdom of God, and realizes that to make the work more effective only the best equipped men should enter this great field of service.

The Democratic campaign in this county is going to be the most vigorous of years, if plans of the executive committee meeting here yesterday count for anything, and they most assuredly do.

One of the most outstanding of the committee's plans is the carrying of a Victory fund drive into every precinct. The object is to raise funds to help in the national election, and if everybody would give even a small sum, a goodly amount would be realized.

The ignominious defeat of the party in the last presidential election will not be forgotten in May a day, and it is to counteract the effect of that battle of ballots that the campaign is being pushed with such vigor in the county and throughout the nation.

W. E. Hooks, who has guided the destinies of the party in this county for many years, predicts pronounced success in a national way and firmly believes Roosevelt will be the next President. He says he sees a constant drift toward policies of the Democratic party and believes the voters, hard hit by high tariff and poor policy of government, will swing concordantly to the Democrats.

The election of Dr. White of Mooresville as moderator of the North Carolina Synod of the Presbyterian Church, was received with satisfaction throughout the state.

Dr. White has for years been one of the leaders in the denomination's activities of the state and the honor conferred upon him was fitting and appropriate.

He is one of that vast army of men attempting to implant the teachings of Christ into the hearts of humankind, and as head of the greatest body of the denomination of the state, will be able to accomplish more than ever.

He is a worthy successor to Dr. Olinmour of Wilmington, and if given the support of the entire Synod, should be able to cause the denomination to reach new heights of usefulness in its effort to carry light and understanding to civilization.

Young Democrats of this county are arranging for a rally day here during the early part of October and it has been suggested that a "prosperity parade" be staged in connection with the celebration.

The idea is a good one in view of the fact that other parts of the country seem content with Hoover buggy rides and pageants. What we want to do is get away from Hoover and depression and to get

Nothing Venture

By PATRICIA WENTWORTH

SYNOPSIS: A reason why the bridge which nearly dropped Jervis and herself to their deaths rotted so suddenly is suggested to Nan Wren by Ferdinand Francis, friend of her husband and herself. She is sure Robert Leonard, mysterious friend of Rosamund Carew, Jervis' shifty former fiancée, tampered with the bridge. But how can it be proved?

Chapter 28

VEILED THREATS

The path under the rhododendrons was cool and dark; a faint breath of damp rose up from between the twisted stems. There was water not very far away. Jervis walked beside Rosamund Carew, but he didn't look at her; he looked into the green gloom ahead of them. When they came to the place where a couple of planks crossed a brook, he stood still and said: "What do you want to say to me?"

"Quite a lot of things," Jervis looked at her in order to insure the direction of a portentous frown.

"If you've really got anything to say to me, I think this would be a good place to say it, and then we can go back and join the others."

"Won't she let you speak to me? Poor old Jervis!" There was a light drawing contempt in her voice.

Jervis smiled, that sudden, dangerous smile of his.

"You are too attractive," he said. "You always were. A man must defend himself."

Rosamund drew at her cigarette. "I've been wondering where on earth I'd seen her before. She used to dance at Solano's, didn't she?"

Jervis nodded. "I believe she did. Have you anything to say about it?"

"No—I just wondered whether you knew."

"Certainly I knew. Is that all you wanted to say to me? Shall we go back and have our coffee?"

"It isn't nearly all. Your coffee will have to wait. I've got a lot of things to say to you."

"Say them," said Jervis. She threw away the end of her cigarette. It fell into the water and with a little hiss went dead. She drew rather a long breath, and turned away from Jervis.

"Did you wonder why I broke off the engagement?"

"Oh, no—it was perfectly obvious."

"You think I did it to get the money?"

Jervis' eyes met hers for a moment. Their expression was one of amusement. It stung her into a hot protest.

"What a foul mind you've got! No wonder you were livid, if you thought I'd done a beastly thing like that!"

Jervis laughed. "Perhaps you'd like to explain why you did do it."

"I can't. But it wasn't anything to do with the money. You can't possibly believe a thing like that!"

"Can't I?"

"No, you can't. It's not true anyway. And if you hadn't rushed off and married the first girl who vamped you, everything would have been all right."

"It must have been a nasty job for you. Pretty good team work—wasn't it?"

Rosamund swung round and stood with her back to him for a moment. Then she said over her shoulder: "You needn't rub it in."

"I don't want to talk about it," said Jervis—"I never did. Don't you think we might go back to the others?"

"No."

"Is there anything else you want to say to me? Because if not—"

"Of course there."

"Let's get on with it then."

Rosamund turned round. Her face never varied from its even pallor, but a still paler line seemed to have been drawn from nose to mouth.

"You're as hard as nails," she said. "It's no use trying to work on your feelings, because you haven't got any."

"Yes?"

She made a slight gesture with her cigarette.

"Jervis—I've got to have some money. I can't go on—the situation's impossible—I owe about twenty-five hundred."

Jervis frowned at the running water.

"You can send the bills to me. I'll settle them this time, but not again. After this you'll have to make do on your allowance."

"Nonsense?"

He looked at her, and looked away again.

"If I raise it a thousand, will you keep with it?"

"No—I can't. It's no good pretending that I can. If Uncle Ambrose had known you were going to marry someone else, he'll have left me properly provided for. He talked about it once before we were engaged, and he said he'd leave me a hundred thousand."

"What's the good of talking like that?"

"Give me that hundred thousand and let me clear out. I don't bring you very good luck—do I? Well, let me clear out. I've got a good opening that I could take if I'd some capital. Let me go, and I've an idea that it'll be better for all of us."

"My dear Rosamund," said Jervis. "I'll see you at Jericho before I'll give you a hundred thousand dollars!"

"Jericho?" Rosamund said. "You won't get rid of me as easily as that. You'd better think again—second thoughts are best."

Jervis laughed. "I'm afraid I might think for ever

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. See at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co without your getting any nearer that hundred thousand. And now I think we'll go back to the others."

He turned as he spoke, and set a brisk pace back along the path. Rosamund walked beside him in silence. Just as they came to where the shade ceased, she laughed and said:

"It would have saved a lot of trouble if we had married each other—wouldn't it?"

Jervis stepped out into the sunlight.

"Do you think so?" he said. She could not see his face.

"Nature in the Raw" is seldom MILD

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies ... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked
WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.
"It's toasted" That package of mild Luckies
If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, the he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door.—RALPH WALDO EMERSON. Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

SOX CAPTURE DOUBLE BILL FROM TIGERS

By GAYLE TALBOT (Associated Press Sports Writer) Among the unsung heroes of the closing baseball campaign is Manager Lew Fonseca of the Chicago White Sox, who has not fared so well as the other illustrious neighbors from the other side of town.

Fonseca, in his first full season as pilot of a big league club, not only has been forced to struggle along with a chronic loser, but probably has had the biggest turnover of talent since the game began. Unless he used a card index system, he must have experienced many a difficult moment trying to remember what players were on hand at any given time.

On pitchers alone, the records disclose, a total of 25 have graced the Sox lineup since the season opened. The average for the other clubs in the two major leagues was around 13 pitchers, first and last, giving an idea of Fonseca's problems. The figures prove, however, that the Sox owners have been going out and getting them in an effort to build up their fences.

Two veterans of the Sox staff, Mill Gaston and Paul Gregory, turned in sparkling work yesterday in beating Detroit twice 11- and 3-1.

Babe Ruth returned to the lineup of the Yankees still slightly wobbly from his illness, but the league champions were given an 8-4 drubbing by the ex-champion Athletics. "Red" Ruffing, regarded as the logical choice to face the Cubs in the first game of the world series, was pounded for 10 hits, including Jimmie Foxx's 54th homer.

The Babe got a single in four trips. Washington took both ends of a doubleheader from Boston 1-0 and 3-2. The double win clinched third place in the American League for the Senators, as Cleveland was dripping a 4-3 decision to Walter Stewart of the St. Louis Browns.

The New York Giants continued their great stretch drive in the National League by shading the Boston Braves 2-1 in a 10-inning duel. Pittsburgh sewed up second place by defeating the champion Cubs 9-6. Dazzy Dean pitched his 17th victory as the Cardinals shut out the Reds 2-0. Brooklyn and the Phillies were idle.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press) Jizzy Dean, Cardinals—Blanked the Reds with five hits and struck out five.

Carl Hubbell, Giants—Allowed but six hits in ten innings and started the rally that beat the Braves, 2 to 1.

Ralph (Red) Kress, White Sox—Hit a home run, four doubles and two singles to help beat Detroit twice.

Merritt Cain, Athletics—Stopped the champion Yankees with seven hits.

Dale Alexander, Red Sox—Made four of his team's thirteen hits in double-header with Washington.

Fights Last Night

(By The Associated Press) Chicago—Young Stuhley, Kewanee, Ill., knocked out Dick McCawley Houston, exas (8).

Pittsburgh—Joe Marcus, New York, outpointed Johnny Datto, Cleveland (10).

Dallas, Texas—Johnny Wallace, Oklahoma City, knocked out Eddie Slovin, Trenton, N. J. (5).

San Francisco—John Henry Lewis, Prescott, Arizona, outpointed James J. Braddock, Newark, N. J. (10).

St. Louis—Harry Fierro, Chicago, outpointed Dave Barry, St. Louis (10).

RAIN HALTS FINAL PLAY IN PIEDMONT

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 22.—(AP)—The question of who is cock of the walk in the Piedmont League, Greensboro or Charlotte, is to be settled once and for all tonight, weather permitting.

With three victories apiece, the clubs enter the deciding game of the post-season series tonight, postponed from last night because of rain.

The game may bring together dramatically the two pitchers who have won all of their team's games and lost one, Eddie Chapman, of the Pats, and Chester Martin of the Hornets.

It seemed a settled enough fact that Chapman will do the hurrying for the Pats, but Manager Guy Lacy, of Charlotte, may call on Jim Lyle, who has had more rest than Martin.

Sports writers claim if Chapman wins tonight's contest he will have established a world's record by winning all four games in a seven-game series.

The chief Hornet worry appeared to be whether Blackie Carter, heavy-hitting outfielder, would be in the game. Carter got leave from his football coaching duties at Furman University long enough to come here last night, but was not sure he could get an extension of his leave of absence.

Raleigh, N. C.—(AP)—The North Carolina Highway Patrol arrested 734 persons for road law violations during August and 564 were convicted.

High Point, N. C.—(AP)—Indictments against seventeen persons in connection with disorders during the recent strike at the Stehl Silk Mill here were not pressed by Prosecuting Attorney J. B. Lovelace in court here.

So Hart Schaffner and Marx put 72 of their fine $65 to $75 Bench-Tailored Details into New Fall Suits $25.

And that wasn't all Hart Schaffner and Marx did. Besides the fine soft comfortable handwork — they improved the fabrics — spent month after month testing and rejecting and strengthening already good woolsens.

Now you get greater wear, better weaves and patterns along with the smart new authoritative style. $25 never did more.

GRID SEASON BEGINS TODAY AT HICKORY

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 22.—(AP)—They open up the football season in North Carolina tomorrow night, and although the Lenoir Rhyne-Wofford game at Hickory is not a Big Five contest, it signifies the king of autumn sports has ascended to his throne.

The real fireworks will come on Saturday when all members of the Big Five trot their 1932 gridiron hopes out for inspection of the fans. The Duke-Davidson game at Durham and the North Carolina-Wake Forest contest at Chapel Hill, having considerable bearing on the State championship, will overshadow the N. C. State-Appalachian struggle in Raleigh, but rabid fans can see at least three Big Fivers in action if they so desire for the Wolfpack will play at night.

Something more than Big Five rivalry should feature the Duke-Davidson game. The Wildcats, last year when they were greatly the underdogs, held the Blue Devils to a scoreless tie. This season, with new coaches, Dock Newton and Gene McIver, anxious to break in with at least a tie, and with Duke, under Wallace Wade, anxious to go places, there's no telling what may happen.

Duke, in preparation for the game and season, yesterday elected Lovell Mason, of Charlotte, its football captain. Mason was elected at the end of the 1931 season, but later resigned. He is a back.

At North Carolina and Wake Forest, coaches were polishing off their squads in preparation for the opener.

The Demon Deacons scored often against freshmen in the last hard workout of the week, but looked sluggish at times on offense. Their defensive work looked good, but the frosh had little to offer.

North Carolina continued to concentrate on an aerial attack. Tom White appeared to be the best heater in the lot. The Tar Heels get their final heavy work-out today.

Coach Clipper Smith put the State club through another night practice as he sought to get his men used to the artificial lights.

Results Yesterday

PIEDMONT LEAGUE (Championship Series) Greensboro, Charlotte, rain.

AMERICAN LEAGUE Chicago 11-3; Detroit 3-1. Philadelphia 8; New York 4. Washington 1-3; Boston 0-2. St. Louis 4; Cleveland 3.

NATIONAL LEAGUE X Pittsburgh 9; Chicago 6. St. Louis 2; Cincinnati 0. New York 2; Boston 1. Others not scheduled.

Ayden Tornados To Play Windsor

Ayden, Sept. 22.—The Ayden "Tornados" will open the 1932 gridiron season here Friday of this week at 3:45 with the Windsor "Lions." Windsor has boasted fine teams for the past several years, and advance hope has it that plenty of opposition will be encountered here Friday from Coach Gooch's eleven.

Ayden has put out great football teams for the past several years, and last season only one game was lost in twelve starters. Another creditable team is expected to emerge from Coach McBane's squad of this year, although seven regulars are missing. Taylor, Dodd, Cox, Jolly and Brunson were lost by graduation. Pierce has passed the age limit for participation and Gaskins has moved.

Rogerson, Hooks, Mumford and Johnson will probably be the starters in the backfield which will average around 160 pounds. The line will probably average 165 with Cox, Sumrel, Highsmith, Turnage, Cannon, Pittman and Tripp the likely starters.
