GOVERNOR MAKES NEW ATTEMPT TO END STRIKE

Charge War Department With Effort To 'Hush Up' Story Of Negro Slavery

WHITE MAKES ACCUSATIONS

Secretary of Association for Advancement of Colored People Declare Government Secretive as to Report of Peonage Existing Among the Workmen on Mississippi Flood Control Project; Seek Publication of Facts.

New York, Sept. 23.—(AP)—A statement charging the War Department with an effort to hush up accusations that negro workers on the Mississippi flood control project "were treated like peons and slaves" was issued today by Walter White, Secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, on his return from Washington D. C.

White, who accompanied the association's investigator, Miss Helen Broadman, when she testified yesterday before Brigadier-General Pillsbury, sharply scored exclusion of the press from the hearing and the honor of General Pillsbury's questions.

"It was plain that the War Department in closing the hearing to the press tried to keep from the American people news of the horrors now going on in Mississippi," said White.

"Also, General Pillsbury in the questions he asked of Miss Broadman plainly showed that the War Department was more interested in defending itself than in getting at facts which are a matter of common and general knowledge throughout the district in which flood relief is going on.

"For example, General Pillsbury asked Miss Broadman whether she had reported insanitary conditions prevailing to local health authorities.

"This question is laughable to anyone who knows the conditions in that area. Furthermore, General Pillsbury inquired how the totally inadequate food given negroes in the contract labor camps compared with the diet of colored people living in that region. The War Department being ready, apparently, to adopt any standard of living no matter how low, where negroes are concerned.

"It is to be hoped that public opinion will not permit conditions which are a national disgrace to be hushed up with the customary War Department formality, called an investigation and white-washed.

"There are enough negroes in Mississippi, Arkansas and Louisiana who have experienced conditions described by Miss Broadman to make a whitewash impossible, if the War Department really wishes and will publish the facts."

Dogs Important Factor in Drama Of Kidnapping

Newchwang, Manchuria, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Two faithful dogs, constant companions of Mrs. Pawley, an English woman who was kidnapped by Chinese bandits nearly two weeks ago, have become important characters in the drama of her kidnapping.

One of them is a big Alsatian and the other a mahogany-clad Irish setter. They were with her when the bandits captured her. The Alsatian escaped and found its way back to the home of her father, Dr. Phillips, today. It barks incessantly as though trying to indicate that its mistress is in trouble.

Letters from Mrs. Pawley, carried by an intermediary, have told that the setter remains with her, sleeping beside her at night and eating from her bowl although the bandits repeatedly chase it away.

Spruce Pine, N. C.—(AP)—Jake Newell, U. S. Republican senatorial candidate, pledged support of a protective tariff in a speech at the Maryland Fair here.

Prizes And Commissions Attract Good Prospects

The outlook for a successful subscription campaign on the part of The Daily Reflector is exceptionally bright at this writing, due to the fact that many splendid workers have enrolled in the enterprise from both here in Greenville and from other sections throughout Pitt county.

CONTEST VOTE IN TEXAS RACE

Gov. R. S. Sterling Charges Fraud in the Election of Mrs. Miriam Ferguson.

Austin, Texas, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Governor R. S. Sterling has filed a suit contesting the gubernatorial nomination of Mrs. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson at the Democratic run-off primary.

The new petition carries the names of about 55,000 persons claimed to have voted illegally at the August 27 primary and charges illegal practices by numerous election officials.

It also asserts Mrs. Ferguson is ineligible for the governor's office because she is the wife of James E. Ferguson, a licensed attorney, entitled under the Texas community property law to share in his earnings and alleges that when Mrs. Ferguson was governor in 1925 and 1926 she received about $20,000 from fees paid her husband by various persons.

ONE WOUNDED IN MINE AREA SEES SNAPPING OF PARTY LINE

Militia Drives Pickets Back with Tear Gas and Smoke Bombs in Illinois.

Taylorville, Ill., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Tear gas and smoke bombs of the militia burst in the streets of Laneyville today, clearing the way for union miners to go to work through pickets of a few miners' union who refuse to abide by the new $5 wage scale.

Through a jeer, jibing crowd the National Guardsmen pushed their way.

Machine guns looked menacingly down the street from each end of the village. In platoons of six, bayonets fixed, the guards marched in to town, tossing gas bombs ahead to clear the way.

The pickets converged in small numbers overnight from nearby towns. Many residents joined them in the streets. As dawn came, the soldiers marched in, warning that by night San Francisco troops last (Continued on Page Two)

Bandits Kidnap Bankers and Escape with $35,000

Redwood Falls, Minn., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Six bandits kidnaped the cashier and assistant cashier of the State Bank and Trust Company today and fled with about $35,000 of the bank's funds.

NEW STATES IN FARM STRIKE

Farmers of Georgia and North Dakota Move to Join Strike Selling Movement.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Farmers at points as widely scattered as Atlanta, Ga., and North Dakota moved today to join the selling strike under way in Iowa for more than a month.

Milk producers in New York and parts of New Jersey, Vermont and Pennsylvania were reported to be considering holding their products from the metropolitan market and at Atlanta the Georgia Milk Producers' Federation ordered its members in twenty counties to stop shipments.

CONTEND DRY LAW INVALID

Test Case Presented To the U. S. District Court by Violator in Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 23.—(AP)—The argument that the Eighteenth Amendment is invalid because it never was submitted to the States for ratification was prepared to be submitted to the United States District Court here today by local attorneys defending an alleged dry law violator.

The attorneys, Morris S. Snyder, John S. L. Yost and Joseph McCormick, have filed a demurrer and motion to quash indictments against their client who is charged with sale and possession of liquor and maintenance.

Prosperity Parade May Feature Big Rally Here

Wearied with talk of Hoover cart parades, backwash of Republican prosperity claims, and acute reminders of the depression, leading Democrats here today suggested a "prosperity parade" as a feature of the Democratic rally to be staged here the early part of October.

Promoters believe such a pageant would be a big drawing card of the rally to increase interest in the effort of the Democratic party to gain control of the government in the Presidential election in November as well as taking the public mind off of hard times and its attendant ills.

One of the features of the parade, it is suggested, would be "Old Man Depression" himself, fettered in a cage, and denoting the end of the reign of a season of financial stringency which has reached to all parts of the world, carrying incalculable suffering to millions of people unable to obtain employment.

"There would also be floats representing prosperity and depicting some of the changes expected to eventuate in improved conditions. The rally is being sponsored by the Young Democratic organization recently organized in this county with Dink James as president, and will bring to the city some of the leading politicians of the country. Effort is under way to obtain Bob Reynolds, Democratic nominee for Congress, as chief speaker. Although Reynolds has not signified whether he will be able to attend, supporters believe he will do so.

NEW EVIDENCE IN DAVIS CASE

Government Establishes Fact that Box of Lottery Tickets Went to Davis.

By MORRIS WATSON

New York, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The government established the fact today that a package alleged to be one of 102,300 containing lottery tickets was sent in 1930 to J. J. Davis and that the receipt was signed by Fred W. Jones, who has been described as secretary to United States Senator James J. Davis.

Highway Accidents Claim 76 Lives During August, Highest Record Since 1929.

Raleigh, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Automobile accidents claimed a toll of 76 lives in North Carolina during August, the death reaching a monthly high mark for the year and being surpassed by only six months since 1929. L. S. Harris, head of the Motor Vehicle Bureau, reported today.

There were 410 persons killed in automobile accidents in the state during the first eight months of the year and 3,039 injured, the record showed. There were 482 injured in August.

The death toll of 76 compared with 68 the same month last year and only 54 in July this year.

Children playing in the street fell victims to more accidents than usual, with seven fatalities and 10 injured reported.

Two pedestrians were killed as they walked from behind parked machines into the path of approaching motorists, two others were killed crossing between intersections and five were killed walking on highways. Two intoxicated pedestrians were killed and three injured.

ASKS LEADERS TO ASSIST HIM

Chief Executive Calls on Mill Owners To Let Him Know their Attitude Concerning Settlement of Walk-out; Situation Ominous as Result of Declaration of Strikers that They will Block Effort to Re-open the Mills Monday.

Raleigh, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Gov. O. Max Gardner took new steps today to try and bring an end to textile strikes at Rockingham today by telegraphing presidents of the mills involved "again" offering his services in arbitration of the labor disputes.

"The governor said in his telegram that he understood the strikers were willing to arbitrate and asked the mill presidents to immediately advise him of their attitude.

"My sole purpose in recommending this," the governor's telegram said, "is to do all I can to relieve a situation that gives me grave concern and which seriously affects the property and lives of many citizens of North Carolina."

W. B. Cole, president of the Hannah Pickett Mills, and George P. Entwistle, president of the Entwistle mills, were sent the wire. The governor said he understood Cole, who has been out of the state for some weeks, returned to Rockingham last night.

Some 1,300 employes in two plants of the Hannah Pickett Mills and the Entwistle Manufacturing Company have been idle a month following a strike which started in one of the Hannah Pickett plants.

Following conferences between strikers, Dr. Julian S. Miller, personal representative of the governor, and others at Rockingham yesterday, it was said the three mills would probably re-open Monday morning whether a settlement of the strike had been reached or not.

Garland Kanite, leader of the strikers' organization, and Robert C. Spencer, leader of the Entwistle strikers, served notice the strikers would probably try to prevent workers from entering the mills.

With the situation admittedly ominous in view of the continued disagreement between the mills and their employes, the governor's telegram was dispatched shortly after noon.

It said he had received no report from Dr. Miller on the result of the conferences but had read press reports. The executive declined to discuss plans if the mill executives and their disgruntled workers cannot be brought to agreement but made it clear he expected to protect life and property if trouble occurs should the mills re-open without a settlement of the strike.

The governor's telegram to the presidents said:

"I take this occasion as governor to again offer my services to personally assist in every possible way in bringing the strike in Rockingham to an end. Recognizing that I lack the legal authority to act by compulsion, I feel that I should again propose arbitration, provided you still find it impossible to reach an amicable agreement. Since arbitration has worked successfully in other strikes in this state I feel it offers a way for a fair and peaceable settlement of the Rockingham. I understand that the strikers have expressed a willingness to arbitrate. My sole purpose in recommending this is to do all I can to relieve a situation that gives me grave concern and which seriously affects the property and lives of many citizens of North Carolina. Please advise your attitude."

CRISINGER FREED OF FAUD CHARGE

Washington, Sept. 23.—(AP)—An indictment charging Daniel B. Crisinger, former governor of the Federal Reserve Board, with role pressed today at the instance of the Justice Department.

KING PIGSKIN READY TO HOP ON HIS THRONE

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Catholics of North Carolina were alive with anticipation today as their king, football, prepared to answer his curtain call.

Beginning tonight, the action extends through tomorrow night, ushering the season in in no uncertain manner. A couple of Big Five contests, neither doped as a walk-away, were high lights in the week-end program.

The season officially opens when Lenoir-Rhyne meets Wofford at Hickory tonight. Tomorrow the big spots are the Duke-Davidson clash at Durham and the North Carolina-Wake Forest game at Chapel Hill. N. C. State comes from under its wraps tomorrow night at Raleigh against Appalachian.

"No complaints, no alibis" was the parting comment of Doc Newton as Davidson took off for Durham and its first game in years without the tutelage of Monk Younger. Spirits have risen in the Wildcat camp the last few days, although Wallace Wade's conference eleven was doped to win. Both teams were in good shape, and the Blue Devils happy by the announcement that Freddy Crawford, star tackle who has been nursing blistered feet, would start. Fans were anxious to see what Mason Brownlee, Laney and other highly-touted Duke backs will do in action.

Wake Forest prepared to invade Chapel Hill suffering from a heavy blow. Two first-stringers, Dusty Dudley, end, and Hack Malloy, center, will not start tomorrow because of injuries received in Wednesday's scrimmage. This added to the already highly favored Tar Heel team. The North Carolina squad again practiced yesterday behind closed gates. Coach Chuck Collins predicted a heavy scoring game.

N. C. State's Wolfpack is continuing its night workouts for the Appalachian game, he team is an odds-on favorite to trounce the mountain eleven tomorrow night.

Other games involving North Carolina elevens tomorrow are Elon-Emory and Henry, at Emory, Va. (night); High Point-Lynchburg, at High Point, and Guilford-Langley Field, at Langley Field, Va.

The only man who has captained teams at the University of North Carolina and N. C. State, none other than Governor O. Max Gardner, will see them both in action Saturday. He will go to Chapel Hill Saturday afternoon, returning to Raleigh for the night contest.

A WORLD'S SERIES FIXTURE

Burleigh Grimes, veteran spit ball artist who helped put the Cards over in the last world's series, appears this year with the Chicago Cubs in the old struggle with the New York Yankees. A'S BATTLE SENATORS FOR SECOND IN PIEDMONT

By GAYLE TALBOT (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Most of the excitement to be gleaned from the closing days of the major league pennant races is wrapped up in the final three-game series between the Washington Senators and Philadelphia Athletics starting today in the capitol city.

Second place in the American League, with its attendant "cut" of the world series money, is at stake, with Walt Johnson's Senators needing to sweep the series to win runner-up honors. A single victory would clinch the spot for the A's.

Then there is Jimmie Foxx, mauling first baseman of the Mackmen, and his assault on a couple of homerun records, including that of the mighty Babe Ruth. Foxx cracked his 55th and 56th of the season yesterday as the Athletics dropped a 10-inning struggle to the champion Yankees 8-7.

The total of 56 homers ties the record for right-hand hitters, set by Hack Wilson with the Chicago Cubs in 1930. Another for the Maryland mauler would break Wilson's mark, and four more would tie Ruth's great string of 60, set in '27.

Four of them in three games is a large order, but there is an outside possibility he'll do it.

The Senators remained in the scrap for second by beating the Boston Red Sox again 4-2. General Alvin Crowder yielded but four hits to score his 14th straight triumph and his 25th of the year.

Over in the National League, the Pittsburgh Pirates continued to pour it on the champion Chicago Cubs, who are in no mood to be bothered by such trifles. Hal Smith, youngster, purchased from Kansas City, set the champs down with six hits and blanked them 7-0. Paul Waner hit his 59th two-bagger of the year, tying Chuck Klein's National League record.

Brooklyn tightened its hold on third place by taking its final from the Giants 7-2, as Glenn Wright and Joe Str pp hit the ball hard. George Pucenelli and Charlie Wilson, members of the St. Louis Cardinals newest rookie crop, hit home runs to help beat Cincinnati 8-5.

Flashes of Life

(By The Associated Press)

Copenhagen—A deep-sea diver stubbed his toe on a cannon ball on the ocean floor near the Cattedal. He looked around and found the Danish warship Prins Christian Frederick, sunk by English men of the war 124 years ago. One of the English shots, perhaps the very one the driver tripped on, blew the Danish commander's head off.

Hartford, Conn.—Kind to baby lobsters is the State of Connecticut; which hates to see big bully fish gobble them before they get their growth. During their youth lobsters float near the surface of the water, and are pie for certain fish. Experimenting at the Noank hatchery with special diving compartments, the State has reared lobsters so that they dive when they are only thirty-five days old.

in the seventh, but couldn't make the grade.

Chapman was relieved in the eighth by Sims, Lyle, Martin and Shaney did the Hornet's hurling.

Stockholm, Sweden—Peas with a strange pedigree are the proud boast of a gentleman at Ronneby. A Danish professor who helped excavate the tomb of King Tutankhamen brought home a few peas which rested 3,000 years in the tomb. They were planted, and their possessor they yielded a crop of 202 peas.

New York—It took six patrolmen and a sergeant to move Mrs. May Manning, 49, from the Bushwick to the King's County Hospital. Mrs. Manning, who weighs more than 400 pounds, lay on the mattress of her sick bed as the policemen carried her down and up six flights of stairs.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE.— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel over and sunk and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blows up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your whole system is poisoned. It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Request a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

NATIONAL ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES Thos. F. Clark, Co., Inc. New York, Chicago, Indianapolis, Philadelphia, Kansas City.

ABOUT TOWN

The Presbyterian Synod closed yesterday and the three hundred, odd ministers and laymen attending the session left for their homes in various parts of the state, highly pleased with their achievements.

The Synod adopted a resolution providing for a non-partisan stand on the prohibition question, though the members were urged to remain loyal to prohibition.

With both dominant political parties on record for a change in the prohibition law, the religious denominations of the nation are literally "on the fence" and refuse to swing to any single party. The question as to how to vote was left to the consciences of the church membership.

The Synod was high in its praise of the entertainment accorded them while in Greenville. The Presbyterians and the public generally did all in their power to make the visit comfortable and enjoy their stay to the fullest.

It was the first meeting of the Synod here in history, and commenting on the fact opening night, Mayor R. C. Flanagan said he was glad to welcome the city's guests, although he had to wait a hundred and nineteen years to do it.

Gatherings of this kind always leave the community in which they meet better off spiritually and it will be many a day before the influence of the Synod will be forgotten. Greenville was indeed glad to have the organization and hopes it will not be long before they will see it to meet here again.

Campaigning for the presidency in the west, Gov. Franklin Roosevelt of New York told the voters he would do everything in his power to protect the power rights of the nation.

He scored President Hoover for lack of attention to the water resources of the nation, resulting in a condition demanding the immediate attention of the rights of the people are to be protected.

Roosevelt is gaining in general favor in the sections he has visited and the promises he has made toward improving conditions of the country have fallen on fertile soil. He is what is popularly known as a "man of the people" and will pile up an overwhelming vote in the November election.

Realizing the attention received by the Democratic nominee, Republicans are campaigning more intensively than ever in the hope of regaining public favor. The chance, however, seems hopeless in view of their inability to live up to promises made so profusely and unreservedly at a time when they thought they had split the Democratic party wide open. Many Republicans who voted the straight ticket years ago will be found lining up with the Democrats this time in the hope that the change in government will bring about the prosperity President Hoover saw "around the corner" four years ago and which never failed to put in its appearance.

Twenty-six thousands dollars is a big sum of money these days when dollars look like cart wheels and farms of Pitt county who received this amount from the sale of hogs, chickens and farm produce the last year should consider themselves very fortunate.

Several years ago they would have had only a small sum from such purposes, but they realized the necessity of putting their shoulders to the wheel in face of declining prices for principal crops the last three years and have really accomplished something to their credit.

The total sum derived from these new industries will be greatly increased with the sale of additional carloads of hogs and chickens before the year is over, and the result will be gratifying indeed to those who had vision enough to tackle the economic problem from an entirely new angle.

The raising of hogs is a practically new industry here, but it promises to vie for first place with other parts of the state where hogs have been raised for commercial purposes for a number of years.

Nothing Venture

By PATRICIA WENTWORTH

SYNOPSIS: Rosamund Caew, Jervis Weare's former fiancee, demands $100,000 from him, offering sinister hints about "bad luck" when he refuses her. Jervis and his young wife Nan are at luncheon with the Tetterley, where Nan and Ferdinand Francis prove to their own satisfaction that Rosamund's friend, Robert Leonard, weakened the cliff that almost plunged Nan and Jervis to their deaths two days before.

Chapter 29

"ARE YOU HURT?"

Nan got up to say good-bye to a quarter to three. Her heart was like a hot burning coal. She had had to sit by Robert Leonard, to take her coffee from his hand, and to listen while he talked. Her burning anger lit a bright color in her cheeks and made her eyes brilliant. She felt as if anything she touched would be liable to scorch or go up in a little puff of smoke. It was a dreadful feeling, of course, but it made her very sure of herself.

When she got up to go, Leonard looked at his watch and exclaimed "I'd no idea it was so late! I ought to be attending to my incubators at this very moment. Give me a lift as far as my gate, will you, Jervis? My car's dead till I can get someone out from Croyston." Impossible to refuse of course. Nan wondered whether Jervis would have liked to refuse.

He said, "All right," with an air of complete indifference. At any rate she wouldn't have to sit next to the man. F. F. would have that pleasure. F. F. wouldn't mind of course. It was only she who felt like an exploding bomb when Robert Leonard was anywhere about. She got in beside Jervis, and heard the other two settling themselves behind her, F. F. full of amiable chatter.

"Did you have a car in South America? I forgot where you were. Were you ever in Mexico? Shocking roads, but not as bad as San Pedro. The Magdalena roads are pretty hard to beat. I had an old five there. She was a wonder. She jumped the holes like a habit."

They moved off, slid down the drive, and coasted as far as Mr. Leonard's gate. He got out and made his farewells.

"You must come and see my place some day, Mrs. Jervis. Thanks for the lift, Jervis. Good-bye, Mr. Francis."

"Au revoir," said Ferdinand. The afternoon was very hot. There was nothing surprising in the fact that Robert Leonard found it necessary to pass a handkerchief across his forehead. Ferdinand, looking back, admitted this, but could not understand why Leonard should have quite so shaky a hand.

Jervis wasn't thinking about Robert Leonard. He looked once at Nan, and was aware of distinct relief. She had not golden hair, sea-blue eyes, regular features, or a statuesque figure. He was feeling a strong distaste for all these things.

Nan's firm round chin, her brown hair, her steady grey eyes, and the rather childish contour of her face were as complete a contrast as could be found to the charms of his cousin Rosamund. His gaze dwelt upon his wife with approval.

They began to descend the hill, and before they came to the steepest part he put the car into low gear. For a couple of hundred yards the gradient was about one in seven, and the surface bad. They had on their right a high bank out of which the road had been cut, and on the left a narrow strip of rough grass with an occasional scrawny bush, and beyond that a low parapet of loose stones which defended a sheer drop to the sea below.

Jervis had scarcely shifted down, when amongst his clear thoughts there slid into his mind a conviction that there was something wrong with the car. The conviction became a certainty and took entire possession of him. The steering was bad; the wheel wobbled, and there was a drag to the left.

A drag to the left was a drag to the cliff. The wheel kicked in his hands. He wrenched it over and jammed on the brakes, and as he did so a number of things happened all at once. The left front wheel came off and went bounding down the hill, its scarlet and black catching the sun. The front axle came with a heavy bump on the left.

The car swung round, slid, tilted, and fell over with a crash. Robert Leonard heard the sound of it as he walked up the path from the gate to his house. He stood still. Then he walked on again.

Of the three people in the car, two were taken entirely by surprise. Ferdinand had a moment of wondering why the road should be so much rougher going down than it had been coming up. Then he saw the black and scarlet wheel go bowling down the road like a child's hoop gone crazy. And then the car turned over and threw him clear. Nan did not see the wheel or notice the jolting. She was looking over the steep edge of the cliff. She had never seen anything so blue in all her life. The tide was high, and the water came up to the foot of the cliff.

The first thing she knew of the accident was a violent jolt, and then the side of the car dropping away from her on her left. She gave a little cry and put out both her hands. Something struck her right shoulder. Then the car turned right over with a sound of smashing glass, and she was on her hands and knees on the rough grass with the leather seat pressing down upon her back.

ed crazily back to that incredible stage hypnotist she once had seen to him and his bedraggled subject whom he "buried alive" in a dirty white robe.

She didn't know how long it lasted. At last Ferdinand's voice came through the blackness. He shook her arm.

"Nan! Nan!" Ferdinand turned back to Jervis. He had dragged his inert body to the roadside and now was bent over him, his hand to Jervis' heart.

"Is he—dead?" asked Nan in a curiously small voice.

Ferdinand did not answer; he signalled her to come, and when she had sat down with the wall at her back he lay Jervis' head in her lap and quickly sealed down the cliff to the sea. He came back with his hat full of cold salt water. Nan wet Ferdinand's handkerchief, and bathed his face. There was a smear of blood mixed with dust.

"Oh, Jervis!" she cried. His eye lids fluttered. He sighed, and was still.

(Copyright, 1932, Lippincott)

Ferdinand picked himself up out of the dust of the road. He felt rather dazed. He wasn't sure whether he had jumped, but he was in the middle of the road with the knees on the rough grass with the car across the road, very neatly upside down, her bonnet hitched up on the stone parapet.

He couldn't see Jervis, and he couldn't see Nan. He felt grateful for the parapet, because if it hadn't been there, the car wouldn't have been there either, but at the bottom of the cliff like a smashed egg. He came out of his daze with a jerk and ran forward just as Nan crawled out from under the front seat. She pulled herself up by the wall and said:

"Where's Jervis?" Ferdinand ran round to the other side of the car.

She said: "Where's Jervis?" again. She couldn't run, because her legs didn't feel as if they belonged to her. She crawled round the car, holding on to it. It looked so odd upside down. The sides were smooth; her fingers slipped on the paint. She got round to the other side and saw Ferdinand dragging Jervis clear.

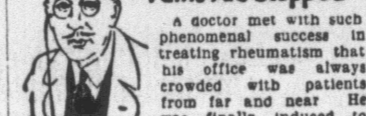

Jervis did not move or help himself at all. Then she saw his face. And when she saw his face, she forgot all about her legs not belonging to her, and she let go of the car and ran to him.

That was a most dreadful moment. Was he dead?

Everything stood still, her thoughts wouldn't move. She couldn't draw her breath, and a blackness like the chuddering darkness of a nightmare made a wall around her. It was like being buried alive; her mind switch-

Pay Your County Taxes

All unpaid real estate taxes due Pitt County for 1931 will be advertised the First Monday in October. The advertisement of these taxes has been deferred just as long as possible by the Board of Commissioners in order to give the citizens of the county an opportunity to realize sufficient funds with which to pay. There can be no further extension after this month and everyone is urged to pay now in order to avoid the advertisement of the property for taxes and additional penalties caused thereby. Please let us have your co-operation in this matter.

R. L. Barnhill Tax Collector of Pitt County.

Please make settlement before October 1st, as there can not be any further extension of time. J. O. DUVAL Tax Collector of Town of Greenville, N. C.

Look at that Baby roll 'em

YOU would be astonished too, if you could see this machine that turns out 750 Chesterfields a minute... and every one as near perfect as cigarettes can be made. But please bear this in mind. It is what happens before the tobacco goes into this machine that matters most. Rolling and packaging are important, but not nearly as important as the selection, blending and treatment of the tobacco. That's why we keep telling you about the tobaccos used in Chesterfields. They're fine, mild, and pure tobaccos. We tell you about ageing and curing the tobaccos... about blending and cross-blending them... because they are things that count. Chesterfields are milder. They taste better. Prove it for yourself... Just try a package. Chesterfield Radio Program—Every night except Sunday, Columbia coast-to-coast Network.

New Domestic Strife Reported from Hollywood

Los Angeles, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The cell of the trouper was blamed today for one of Hollywood's latest broken romances, that of Vivian Duncan, portrayer of the role of Eva in the stage and screen version of "Topsy and Eva," and her husband, Vilis Asther, Swedish born film acouncement stated Miss Duncan Asther separated ten days ago followed by revelation of a domestic split between Greta Nissen, London screen actress, and Weldon Heyburn, actor and former Alabama and George Washington Universities athlete, because they don't see things in the same light.

Miss Duncan's attorney said divorce proceedings probably will be started by the actress. She married Asther secretly in Reno, Naada, in August, 1930. They later went to Europe where their daughter, Evelyn, was born.

"They like different things," C. O. Bacon, Miss Duncan's attorney stated. "She is a trouper by nature. She loves to go places and do things."

B. L. Irvine, attorney for the Swedish actor, added:

"Mr. Asther is just the opposite. He is almost a recluse."

Miss Nissen explained her split with Heyburn, whose real name is Weldon H. Franks, as follows:

"We found after six months of sincere effort to make a go of married life that we did not regard things in the same light. We could not agree about things that you can not get along without agreeing about. Consequently we have reached the decision that we must separate, which we have done with great fondness, mutual respect and regret."

The couple wed in Tijuana, Mex. last March.

entries are being received and will continue to be received for the next two weeks. So if you want to devote part of your time in helping the paper increase their circulation and renew those already down on the list, send in your name at once.

Entry may be made simply by calling around to the campaign office for the drive, upstairs in The Reflector Building or phoning Greenville 43, which is the phone number of the special subscription office.

All any one needs to start off in the race is a subscription receipt book. These books may be had free and stationery will also be given to candidates who intend to do some writing.

Schedule showing the price of The Reflector for six months or more appears on the cover of each receipt book and also the number of votes given on each subscription. Votes given on subscriptions determine winners and the only way to secure votes is by selling the paper and being paid in advance.

In another day or two the first list of workers will appear. In order to be on the first list and in order to get out in the country and make a successful canvass before territory has been covered, the lector would request that all interested send in their name and be officially enrolled. Seven weeks on Saturday will close the campaign and as the early entrants are ally successful in this as well as other undertakings, we urge all who are ambitious to lose no further time in calling or writing the office.

ment would be reached before the day is over which would enable Gandhi to partake of food again.

he Mahatma himself slept well during the night, lying on a webbed cot under a somewhat shabby mango tree in the yard in front of the jail. When he awoke he conducted his morning prayers as usual.

Predictions were made yesterday following a long heart-to-heart talk between the conference leaders and Gandhi, that an agreement would be worked out today, but his closest friends felt tense about the situation, fearing that at the last minute he might pick out some flaw in the proposed agreement and refuse to accept it.

The compromise plan of Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru, famous before for his arbitrations of Indian troubles with the government, was the one which, it was understood, was partially accepted. It calls for joint electorates for the higher caste Hindus and the untouchables, with safeguards for the latter. The part on which agreement has been reached concerns primary and final elections for untouchable representatives in the legislatures.

The chief difficulty, however, was over the insistence of Dr. Shimrao Ramji Ambedkar, leader of 60,000-000 untouchables, for appointments of untouchables in the government service, provision of funds for educational facilities and the right to appeal to the viceroy.

than any period since the opening of the market. The condition was expected to continue during the remainder of the season in view of favorable weather conditions permitting proper grading of the leaf and catching up work in the cotton fields.

Many farmers from remote parts of the tobacco belt brought offerings to this great auction center throughout the week, and the trek was expected to show a pronounced increase next week and the intervening period between Thanks-giving.

The report of sales for the week ending Thursday, made by Mr. Cobb today, follows:

Sales for week: 3,613,048 pounds for $354,387.82, average $9.81 per hundred.

Sales for season: 5,625,456 pounds for $557,889.32, average $9.91 per hundred.

Sales for same week last season: 4,265,800 for $350,474.23, average $8.31 per hundred.

Total number of pounds handled up to the same date last season, 8,711,774.

and corporations. The State Constitution provides a governor shall practice no profession and receive no compensation except from the State.

Ferguson was impeached as governor in 1917 and his wife won election to the chief executive post the first time on a vindication platform. There would be no loitering or picketing. Roads into Langleyville from every direction were patrolled by the guardsmen to make the way safe for these two hundred miners to go back to the mine.

Langleyville is a mining town that recruits its two hundred miners from its own residents and nearby towns, notably Kincaid, headquarters of the new miners' union, and Taylorsville, where bombs last Sunday damaged the offices of the United Mine Workers and of the Taylorville Daily Breeze. Troops were sent here after the bombings.

ONE WOUNDED BY DISORDERS IN MINE AREA

Athens, O., Sept. 23.—(AP)—A mine guard was wounded critically by snipers near the No. 267 mine of the Ohio Collieries Company, near Crooksville today.

The mine recently refused to accept the amended 10 point settlement of the seven-months-old Hocking Valley strike, and has been working under the provisions of the original agreement, which provided that miners working at the time the settlement was proposed last May, should continue their jobs. The amended program called for the re-employment of old employees and the discharge of miners from outside fields who worked during the strike.

Confers On Relief Plans.
Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Dr. Fred W. Morrison, State Relief Director, is now in Washington conferring with Federal authorities in regard to North Carolina plans for relief this fall and winter. While the State relief organization is engaged here in assembling and compiling data on relief needs of each of the State's one hundred counties, no definite estimates as to what money the State will seek to borrow from the Federal government has been divulged.

MARKET REPORT

Sell Your Tobacco in Greenville FOR MORE MONEY

Market advanced again today. Prices now on the top for season. A great many patrons of our market are averaging from 25c to 30c for medium tobacco.

Very little fine tobacco has been offered. Market has been flooded with common black and green tips, which of course, affects the general average.

Those in position to positively know say we are highest market in Eastern Carolina on every grade. Hundreds of farmers from the many adjoining counties attest to this fact every day by their preference for this market.

The government report for August shows the border markets are averaging 28c less per 100 pounds than last year, while Greenville is averaging from 40 to 50 per cent more.

Some of the markets continue to carry in the newspapers misleading and incorrect information. We urge all the growers to come and see for themselves rather than be influenced by false propaganda sent out by publicity bureaus.

No market has keener buying competition than Greenville.

Keep your tobacco dry and market it in best possible condition.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

New York Cotton

New York, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady, 12 1/2 lower in response to lower Liverpool cables and increased southern hedge selling.

There was considerable liquidation through wire and commission houses while houses with Liverpool connections were among the early sellers. Offerings were readily taken around 7.35 for December and pressure subsided. There were rallies on trade buying and covering promoted by reports of rains in Texas and of increased insect damage in the northern two-thirds of that state. Liverpool was relatively firm early but eased off sharply before the local opening. The early buying was attributed to covering on the rain news, but the advance met hedging and realizing.

Grain Market

Chicago, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Selling here against purchasing in other markets tumbled Chicago wheat prices back late today, and more than wiped out previous gains.

Export demand for North American wheat was less active, new business totaling but 300,000 to 400,000 bushels. Argentina's wheat area was unofficially estimated at 2,000,000 acres in excess of last year.
