Gov. Roosevelt Praises Record Of Al Smith In San Francisco Address

TO SPEAK AT LOS ANGELES

Democratic Nominee Declares Smith is a Great Citizen and a Great Governor; Accuses Herbert Hoover With Evading the Principal Issues of The Campaign.

By WALTER T. BROWN (Associated Press Staff Writer) Roosevelt Special, En Route to Los Angeles, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Lauding his outstanding rival for the Democratic presidential nomination, Al Smith, before a San Francisco audience as a "great citizen and a great governor," Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt declared the challenge of "the campaign has not been accepted by the distinguished gentleman who is running against me."

The Democratic nominee concluded a 27-hour stay in San Francisco with an address to 12,000 persons last night in the civic auditorium. Later he entrained for Los Angeles where he will stop today.

The auditorium talk was the second in San Francisco. Before the Commonwealth Club, an organization of Golden Gate business men, Mr. Roosevelt asserted "we must build toward the time when a major depression can not occur again."

"If this means sacrificing the easy profits of inflationist booms," he continued, "then let them go and god riddance."

Opening his auditorium speech, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"It is good to return to these scenes. It is 12 years since I spoke in this great civic auditorium and I may as well confess to you in the beginning that on that occasion I was suffering from a bad attack of stage fright, because that was the first time in my life that I made a vocal appearance before a Democratic national convention, and the specific occasion was the opportunity to me in 1920 to deliver an impromptu five minute address in behalf of the nomination of a great citizen and a great governor—Alfred E. Smith."

Cheering interrupted him at the mention of Smith's name.

San Francisco gave the "Happy Warrior" a plurality over President Hoover in 1928 and voted again for Smith in the presidential preference primary last spring.

The 1920 convention nominated Mr. Roosevelt for the vice-presidency with former Governor James M. Cox of Ohio as the presidential nominee. They were defeated by th Warren G. Harding-Calvin Coolidge ticket.

Mr. Roosevelt, at the auditorium said: "Perhaps I am overstating the case in suggesting that the issues have been definitely joined because unfortunately between the two great national parties the debate has so far been a bit one-sided. In fact, the challenge for the defining of issues has not been accepted."

"I had hoped, and I still hope that the lines of demarcation could be sharpened and defined. Good government would be served if in our national campaign the leaders of the two great parties could agree first of all on the definition of certain problems of government. Then having defined the problems it would certainly be useful if each party could in clear terms offer their own solutions, joining debate on the advisability, the strength and weakness of those solutions. But, you can't have joint debate with only one man on the platform."

BOB REYNOLDS RAPS HOOVER

Democratic Candidate for Senate Takes G.O.P. Task At Boone Rally.

Boone, N. C., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Robert R. Reynolds, Democratic candidate for the United States Senate, today attacked the reconstruction policies of President Hoover. Addressing a Democratic rally here, Reynolds declared reconstruction measures passed by the last Congress were "imperative" and he was "inclined to applaud" the creation of a great governor—Alfred E. Smith.

MILK STRIKE IS SPREADING

Agricultural War for Higher Prices Assumes Serious Aspect in Many Areas

Chicago, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Milk strikers in some of America's principal centers, and the threat of such a movement in the nation's metropolises, today gave a more serious aspect to the agricultural war for higher prices which started in Iowa more than a month ago.

Producers throughout a large section of the country awaited with interest developments in New York, where stoppage of the flow of milk from upstate to New York City, estimated at nearly 4,000,000 quarts a day, was threatened.

The emergency committee of the New York milk shed said it had been informed that producers in New York had decided to strike unless price cutting is stabilized at "a living minimum."

The stabilization plan would give the farmer five cents a quart and a wholesale price of eight cents a quart.

"We are trying to do everything we can to prevent a strike," said George N. Allen, secretary of the committee, "but the farmers are desperate."

Conferences between Allen and delegates of farmers, and negotiations with independent dealers, were being held in an attempt to avert the strike.

LONG TO FIGHT BALLOT PROBE IN LOUISIANA

Senator Cancels Campaign Tour of West to Combat Senatorial Inquiry.

New Orleans, Sept. 24.—(AP)—A senatorial investigation of the recent Democratic primary in Louisiana in going to claim the time of Senator Huey P. Long and he has cancelled a campaign tour of the west in behalf of Governor Roosevelt's presidential candidacy. The investigation is to be made on complaint of Senator Edwin S. Broussard who was defeated for reappointment by Representative J. H. Overton with the support of Senator Long's political organization.

Broussard asked the Senate campaign funds committee to have the ballot boxes in New Orleans sealed and Sen. Howell (R., Neb.) chairman of the committee, announced yesterday that hearings would begin in New Orleans Oct. 5. They will be conducted by Senators Conally, (D., Texas) and Bretton (D., New Mexico).

JAP AVIATORS ON WAY TO U.S.

Three Men to Fly to Nome, Alaska, and Then To San Francisco, Calif.

Tokyo, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Tonight passed with no trustworthy news for twelve hours from the Japanese good-will plane in which three aviators are headed for Rome, Alaska and San Francisco.

A radio message reporting that they had passed over Paramushiro Island, northernmost of the Kuriles, was believed erroneous because of a miscalculation by the master of a small steamer which relayed a message from the plane. The fast authentic news was from Etorofu where the plane passed shortly after the take-off.

Market Handled 1,215,268 Pounds Yesterday; Heavy Sales Seen Next Week.

The largest sale of the season was recorded on the Greenville tobacco market yesterday and warehousemen turned their attention to the reception of heavy offerings next week.

In spite of the fact that warehouse floors were crowded with the golden weed, sales were completed about 5 o'clock.

The offerings again consisted of a world of black tips and other inferior grades, and this caused the general market average to drop off slightly from the day before, although better grades were said to have shown strength similar to the previous day.

The official report of sales issued today by K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales, showed the market sold 1,215,268 pounds. This brought total sales for the week to 4,828,316.

One of the most distinctive things in connection with the week's activities was the fact that the market handled more tobacco than any similar period since the opening. Million pound days, which appeared to be a thing of the past during the opening week, again came back into evidence during the week as farmers from a radius of many miles came here to sell their tobacco on one of the greatest bright leaf auction markets in the world.

With favorable weather conditions, it was expected sales would continue heavy next week, especially in view of the fact that farmers who have been busy in the cotton fields are now able to give their attention to the marketing of their tobacco. (Continued on Page Three)

RED CROSS TO AID IN RELIEF

Local Chapter Plans To Clothe School Children of the Poor During Winter

Setting as its goal the clothing of improperly clad school children of the poor in all sections of the county during the winter months, Pitt County Chapter of the American Red Cross last night outlined one of the most ambitious and far-reaching programs in years.

The session was held in the office of W. J. Bundy, county chairman, and was attended by several members of the organization interested in carrying relief to the children of the poor during the cold winter months.

Half of the money derived from the roll call to be staged at a later date will be used in defraying expenses of the organization here and the other half will go to the relief fund of the national organization.

Twenty-five thousand yards of cloth has been assigned to the local chapter to be used in the making of the clothing for children who suffer from lack of wearing apparel each year because their parents are too poor to properly clothe them. The chapter will call on the Home Economics Departments of the various schools of the county, Parent-Teachers' Association, and Home Demonstration Clubs to assist in making the cloth into clothing to meet the needs of county schools. Parker Named To the Superior Court Bench

Halifax, N. C., Sept. 24.—(AP)—R. Hunt Parker, of Roanoke Rapids, solicitor of the Third Judicial District, succeeded the late Judge Garland E. Midyette on the ticket.

W. H. S. Burgwyn, of Woodland, was nominated to replace Parker as candidate for solicitor.

Governor Gardner, in Raleigh, recently announced he would appoint the choice of the committee to fill the vacancy caused by Judge Midyette's death until the elections November 8.

The Democratic nomination in the Third District is considered tantamount to election.

MORE MEN TO GO TO COLLEGE

Hundreds Already Enrolled at E. C. T. C.; Normal Enrollment Anticipated.

Although East Carolina Teachers College has been co-educational ever since it was first opened, in 1909, it is only recently that men students have enrolled in considerable numbers.

Last year the college had the largest number of men students in its history. Approximately one hundred men are expected to register for work this fall. Many of these are entering college for the first time, though several have already had one or two years of college work. They are coming from Greenville, Wilson, Ayden, Washington, Fayetteville, Lenoir, and other cities in this section of the State. In the absence of a men's dormitory, men students will secure living quarters. (Continued on Page Four)

LOYAL GROUP PLANS WORK

Opposing Strikers Declare There Will Be No More Work at the Mills until Demands for Increased Wages and Recognition of Their Organization Has Been Met; Mill Heads Refuse Governor's Offer.

Rockingham, N. C., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Three factions in Rockingham's industrial battle entrenched themselves for a long siege today after presidents of two strike-closed cotton mills, which normally employ about 1,200 workers, had refused an arbitration offer by Governor Gardner.

W. B. Cole, head of the Hannah Pickett Cotton Mills, and George P. Entwistle, president of the Entwistle Mill, standing pat on their contention that present market conditions absolutely prohibit any wage concessions, informed the governor they could not accept his offer to act as arbitrator.

Approximately 600 workers, known as the "loyal group," were understood to have formed a hurried organization with the intention of returning to work Monday should the plants be open, as has been rumored.

The remainder of the workers, holding fast to their demands for increased wages and recognition of their organization, announced through their spokesmen there would be no working in the plants until an agreement is reached.

Governor Gardner, in Raleigh, announced last night the failure of his efforts, and those of Dr. Julian Miller, his personal representative, to secure an agreement between the strikers and the mills.

In a formal statement he said he understood the strikers were willing to submit the question to arbitration, but that the mill officials had declined his offer to act, made in a telegram earlier in the day.

He said he did not know what would be the next peace effort, but he stated his determination to probe arise from any effort to reopen the mills before an agreement is reached.

There was no official indication that an early attempt to reopen the plants would be made. Entwistle said he did not intend to make such an attempt, and there was no authoritative statement regarding the plans for two plants operated by the Cole interests.

The strike began five weeks ago in the Cole plants. Its workers then marched to the Entwistle mill, located in another section of town, and ordered its employees to drop their work, which was done.

There have been no disorders of any consequence, although feeling has run high at times between those who wish to return to work under old conditions and those who have expressed the determination that no operations will be permitted until their demands are granted.

Conference at Asheville Near Close Today

Asheville, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Ending discussions of problems facing state legislatures, representatives of five southern states were to end a legislators' conference at noon here today.

At a final morning session varied topics were discussed. Neville Bennett of Marlboro county, chairman of the ways and means committee of the South Carolina House, and R. Beverly Herbert, nominee for the South Carolina House from Richland county, explained that state's sales tax yesterday. Legislators from North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia and West Virginia are attending the conference. (Continued on Page Four)

ABOUT TOWN

The first indication of sore eyes should be reported to a doctor, in the opinion of Dr. R. S. McGeachy, director of the Department of Public Health of this county, because it may be similar to that spreading through four or five counties of the state.

Dr. McGeachy is attempting to prevent an epidemic of this kind in Pitt county but it will be impossible to do so without the complete co-operation of the public. Parents having children in school should be particularly careful in this connection, it is believed by the health official, because one child with sore eyes would be instrumental in spreading it through the entire student body.

Sore eyes don't sound dangerous, and probably isn't but it would bring a world of discomfort to the community if an epidemic was started, and the thing to do to avoid this is for everybody to remain on their guard against it.

Tammany Hall, powerful Democratic organization in New York City, is preparing to raise funds to promote the candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt. This means that the influence of this great organization, backed by some of the richest men in the world, will be used in behalf of the Democratic nominee in spite of the fact that their candidate met ignominious defeat in the Chicago convention.

Tammany may have felt some resentment over renunciation of its convention power, but its members evidently have relented and are going to give their support to the one man capable of giving Democracy an overwhelming victory in November.

The act on will cause the entire party to view the New York organization with greater favor in the future, and enable it to regain some of the prestige lost with first opposition to Roosevelt.

Rev. W. S. Harden, pastor of the local Presbyterian Church, was visibly disturbed by the news story of the Synod carried in Thursday's paper in which it was stated that "the Synod did not wish to bind its members' consciences in the use of alcohol."

The phrase was supposed to have been a part of the prohibition resolutions adopted at the annual meeting of the Presbyterian state body, and caused Mr. Harden to receive a number of inquiries concerning it.

The phrase should have read "the Synod does not wish to bind its members in the matter of regulation or control of whiskey," giving an entirely different view to the Synod's position.

It sounded like the Synod was literally giving its members a chance to drink all they want without restriction when in fact they abjured members to "abide by the prohibition law and all other laws of the nation."

Probably lots of people would have liked to take advantage of the first statement without further inquiry, while others like Mr. Harden desire to keep the garments of the church free and untrammelled by contact with liquor influences.

The Synod adopted a non-partisan stand on the question which was about all they could do in view of the tendency on the part of both dominant political parties to change the prohibition law.

Prediction of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt that many Republicans were expected to forsake their party for the Democratic party in the forthcoming election was received with interest.

Nothing Venture

By PATRICIA WENTWORTH

SYNOPSIS: Nan struggles back from oblivion to find her husband's bloody head in her lap. Jervis' car has turned over on the edge of a cliff just after they had dropped Robert Leonard at his ill-looking farm—only a short while after Rosamund Carew, Jervis' former fiancée, has dropped a hint about bringing Jervis back luck. Ferdinand works feverishly to bring Jervis back to consciousness.

Chapter 30

WHAT CAUSED THE SMASH

Nan went wildly over the body of her husband. For a long moment Jervis was still. Nan searched feverishly for her own handkerchief, not to dry her tears, but to wipe away the salt water that ran over Jervis' face as Ferdinand worked over him. Before she found the handkerchief Jervis muttered something unintelligible, opened his eyes, put his hand to his head, and sat up. He frowned at Nan, and said:

"What are you crying for? Are you hurt?" The tears ran down Nan's face. They ran into the corners of her mouth and tasted salt; they ran down on her neck and trickled away under her dress. She didn't want them to run down like that, but they just came. And she could not find her handkerchief. She complained about it out loud.

"I can't find my handkerchief." The last word was split in two by a choking sob. It was a devastating depth of misery to be sitting crying in the dust, with Jervis scowling at her, and not to be able to find a handkerchief.

"Is that why you're crying?" said Jervis. "I thought you were dead!" said Nan; and as she said it Ferdinand's hand came over her shoulder with a clean folded handkerchief.

Jervis looked at her with gloomy dissatisfaction. What was she getting at? It would be a very good thing for her if he was dead, because she would be free and quite well provided for. It was ridiculous to cry about it. But she had been crying. The wet on his cheek was blood, but the wet on his head was sweat. Had she been crying all over his hair?

"He had got as far as this, when Ferdinand addressed him. "Anything broken?" "Broken?" he said. Then he scrambled to his feet. "What made that damned wheel come off?" He stood staring at the car, with her three wheels in the air and her hood hitched up on the parapet. Her last drunken lurch had carried half of it away. The stones had gone down into the sea.

"If I hadn't yanked her round a bit, she'd have gone too," said Jervis. Ferdinand agreed. "That is so," he said soberly. "It was an extraordinarily bad moment!"

But no one was much the worse. Jervis had a scratch on the cheek and a bump on the back of the head. Nan had the feeling that she had made a fool of herself. Ferdinand had a pair of trousers which would never be the same again, and the car had a broken windshield, a buckled fender, and a badly dented hood—negligible injuries when contrasted with what might have been.

A tow car came out from Croyston, retrieving the missing wheel at the bottom of the hill. Three dusty and disreputable people walked back to the Tetterleys' to use the telephone and wash.

Leonard, who was emerging from a hen-house, saw them pass. He did not think that they had seen him. He stepped back into the house. Presently he saw Walters, the Wear chauffeur, drive past in the big town car, and a little after that again he watched him turn with Jervis, Nan, and Ferdinand.

When the fruit was on the table after dinner, and the servants had left the room, Nan leaned back in her chair and said: "Why did that wheel come off?" "I don't know," said Jervis. "Walters swears he went over the wheels with a wrench only yesterday—but then, of course, he'd be bound to say that."

Ferdinand picked up a grape, looked at it, and bit it neatly in half. "How long's he been here?" "Fifteen years." "Methodical chap?" Jervis nodded.

"But the wheel came off," he said. "A wrench can be used for loosening nuts as well as for tightening them up." "What do you mean?" "Hasn't it struck you that you've been having rather a lot of accidents lately?"

"What do you mean by that?" Ferdinand took another grape. "That you're having too many accidents. They make me ask why." "What accidents have I had?" said Jervis in a challenging voice. Ferdinand finished a grape. He pushed one of the seeds up on the rim of his plate.

"That's number one," he said. He pushed up a second seed. "Two." Then two more, and finished counting.

BRIDGE LUNCHEON FOR MISS MCGINNIS

Complimenting Miss Alma McGinnis, whose wedding will take place October 4th, Miss Mary Wright was a charming bridge luncheon hostess yesterday morning at her home in East Fifth street.

On arrival, the guests were greeted by Mrs. R. H. Wright, Miss Mary Wright, Mrs. Howard McGinnis and the honor guest, Miss Alma McGinnis.

Professors of dahlia, wild aster and zinnia made an artistic setting for the attractively appointed bridge tables which were placed in the music room and library.

After several spirited progressions Mrs. Norman Winslow was given orange glasses for high score. Miss McGinnis was presented a silver platter.

The hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. R. H. Wright, and Mrs. T. M. Watson, served a tempting two-course luncheon.

Miss Eliza Grimes of Washington, was among those present.

Pierce, president, made a short address of welcome to the visitors. G. W. Prescott acted as toastmaster and called upon T. G. Worthington, former president, for a speech in which he welcomed the teachers and assured them the support of his organization. W. N. Jenkins responded for the faculty. Several vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Sam Pierce and Miss Mavis Kinlaw. Lloyd Turnage furnished ice-breakers in the form of stunts between acts.

G. C. McBane, athletic coach, on the outlook of athletics. Professor P. B. Pollock gave a brief resume of things accomplished during the last school year and the outlook for the present session.

A. E. Whorton of Norfolk, Va., and P. C. Harding of Greenville, were out-of-town visitors.

A delicious chicken dinner was served by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian Church.

Seeing Through My Windshield

(By Ethel Nice, H. D. A.)
Grape Demonstration
Mrs. Cornelia C. Morris, extension specialist-fruit conservation, gave a most interesting and instructive demonstration before Home Demonstration Club women Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Morris used the Scuppernon grapes but could have used any of the following of the Muscadine family: Thomas Miah, Eden, James Memory, Smith, Flowers and Luola. Most of these grapes make excellent juice of fineavor. The Thomas is perhaps the best and does not require the addition of sugar. The cold pressed juice is very much superior to the hot pressed juice.

Muscadine Grape Juice

(Cold Pressed)
Crush grapes strain through cheesecloth, let stand one hour. Strain or filter through flannel. Pasteurize in jars or bottles at 185 degrees F. from 1 to 2 minutes. (That is bring to bouncing boil in water bath). Remove at once from the water bath and finish the seal. If you wish to sell the product, it must stand eight months. Syphon off the juice and repasteurize. One bushel of grapes will yield from 3 to 4 gallons of juice.

Paste Stock

Cook grape pulp until seeds separate. Put through potato ricer or colander. Process in jars for 20 minutes. Store in a cool dry place and make fresh paste as needed. The flower is the best Muscadine variety for paste.

Grape Paste.

Two pounds of paste stock, one pound of sugar (granulated or pulverized).

Cook carefully, stirring constantly until the mass will hold its shape. Use large flat pan and wooden paddle. When finished the paste if of the consistency of fudge and should be poured out on oiled platters or on a marble slab to dry. When cold cut in one inch squares, roll in granulated sugar, and pack in airtight boxes. This makes a whole, some confection for children as well as for adults.

Pruning of Shrubs.

Those who have the prettiest shrubs are remembering to prune them after the blooming season. Don't fail to do this as shrubs that are not pruned develop into dense masses. If you cut off the tops, you remove most of the bloom-producing growth. The rule for flowering shrubs is to prune just after they have finished flowering. This is a safe rule to follow, but many plants grow out of bound later in the summer, and it becomes necessary to cut them back.

It may be better to remove two or three of the thicker stems entirely, cutting them off at the ground. This will usually head the plant back as much as desired and at the same time thin out the top, thus the method of pruning will not injure the bloom for next season; in fact, it will often encourage additional flowering.

Plants that do not bloom until later in the season should not be pruned until late fall or the early spring. Plants grown for their foliage only should be pruned in the spring as a rule, and kept in condition by occasional light pruning through the growing season.

REACH AGREEMENT FOR ENDING FAST OF GANDHI
The plan was to cable the agreement to Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald at London immediately in the hope it might be accepted by the British government in time to persuade Gandhi to end his fast today.

Gandhi's condition grew weaker and his voice fainter as the day progressed. He suffered recurrent attacks of exhaustion which prevented him from drinking water, which has been his only sustenance during his fast.

Mrs. Gandhi was in constant attendance beside the iron cot on which her husband lay under the shabby mango tree in the prison yard.

Gandhi formally approved the agreement reached by the political leaders, removing the last obstacle to its submission to the British governments at London.

Among the governors who have already and who expect to be present at the dinner are Governors O. K. Allen, of Louisiana; I. C. Blackwood, of South Carolina; O. Max Gardner, of North Carolina; William Y. Conley, of West Virginia; Ruby Laffoon.

Heads of the various organizations have already been conferred with relative to the plan and have signified their desire to aid in every way possible.

Another plan is being worked out for providing shoes as well as clothing, but this plan has not been fully developed and will not be completely worked out until some time next week.

Although the Red Cross has always taken an active part in relief activities in this community, this is the first time such an ambitious plan has been outlined for any particular season, and the enthusiasm manifested by the officers last night indicated nothing would be left undone to carry comfort and cheer to the homes of the poor during the winter.

HIGH DEFEATS LA GRANGE IN PIGSKIN GAME

Greenville High School opened its football season yesterday afternoon in LaGrange with a 6-0 victory over the Lenoir county lads. It was the first game of the season for either team and the play lacked the smoothness and precision that will come with more practice.

The first half was fought on neutral ground, with neither team being able to make any appreciable gains. LaGrange received the opening kick off and reeled off three consecutive first downs—their only ones of the game. After that spurt, the game settled down to an even struggle with Taylor having the edge in kicking over the LaGrange kicker. Several times G. H. S. would gain as much as 20 or 30 yards on an exchange of punts, only to nullify the gains by fumbles.

The second half was another story. Greenville looked like a new team and showed flashes of power that augers well for later games. Three times the locals carried the ball within LaGrange's 10-yard line and each time lost it on fumbles. In the fourth quarter Greenville received a kick on the 50-yard line. Gibbs went around left end for 8 yards. McAdams hit the line for 12. Taylor made 15 on an end run and McAdams again carried the ball through the line for about 12 yards. MacAdams hit the line once more and barely went over for the touchdown. The try for extra point failed by inches.

This boy MacAdams showed worlds of drive and power and was exceptionally good in backing up the line on defense. Taylor and Gibbs made several nice runs and Taylor ran interference like Glenn Robeson in days of old. In the line Captain Tom Wilson and Pete Brewer made some nice tackles.

For LaGrange a big boy named Adams, who has played high school ball for six years, was outstanding. The conference season will open next Friday when the locals will go to Kinston. The first home game will be on the 7th of October when the strong Wilson team comes here.

The program will get under way at 11 o'clock, and the address of Mr. Ehringhaus at 2:30 will conclude the day's activities.

Mr. Hooks, commenting on the political situation throughout the county, said plans had been perfected for the most strenuous drive in years, and he expected the country would pile up the greatest vote for the Democratic party in history.

Governors Will Attend Banquet In New York City
New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Governors of all the Southern States have been invited to attend the 47th annual dinner and governor's ball of the New York Southern Society, one of the most brilliant events of Manhattan's winter season.

The affair, October 21 at the Waldorf-Astoria, will launch the 1932-1933 season of the society, one of the most important in this city.

Among the governors who have already and who expect to be present at the dinner are Governors O. K. Allen, of Louisiana; I. C. Blackwood, of South Carolina; O. Max Gardner, of North Carolina; William Y. Conley, of West Virginia; Ruby Laffoon.

of Kentucky; Harvey Parnell, of Arkansas; John Garland Pollard of Virginia; R. B. Russell, Jr., of Georgia; and R. S. Sterling, of Texas. Over 1,500 guests are expected to attend the affair which will be followed by a magnificent ball. At the dinner, the medal of distinction annually presented to the man or woman born in the South who renders the most unusual achievement in the perpetuation of the traditions and history of the South, will be awarded.

Percy H. Johnston is president of the society and John W. Davis, vice-president.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

New York Cotton

New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 3 lower to 1 higher on Southern selling and a fairly good foreign demand. October 7.18, December 7.30, January 7.35, March 7.41, May 7.51, July 7.62.

Southern selling continued after the call but moderate offerings were sufficiently well taken by covering or trade buying to hold prices steady after the call. December worked up from 7.29 to 7.34 and active months generally showed net advances of 3 to 4 points at the end of the first half hour. Houses with Liverpool connections were buyers here during the early trading and the Liverpool market made a relatively steady showing. Private cables reported that some hedging and liquidation had been well absorbed by scattered buying and trade calling in that market and said there was less buying of cotton cloth by India and China.

Cotton on shipboard at U. S. ports at the end of the week was estimated at 139,000 bales against 11,000 last year and 148,000 two years ago.

Grain Market

Chicago, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Upturns in wheat prices formed the rule today, with much of the strength based on good sized North American export business, including some domestic hard winter.

Overseas purchases of hard winter wheat at the Gulf of Mexico were presumably to fill boats recently chartered for Greece. Estimates were that export buying of Canadian wheat yesterday and today totaled 1,500,000 bushels, partly for China.

Stock Market

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Editor)
New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Stocks moved ahead quietly today, with rails providing most of the momentum.

The rise in car-loading figures, amounting to 85,478 for the week ended September 17, was regarded as more than seasonal after making allowance for the let down during the preceding week when Labor Day curtailed traffic. An improvement of substantial proportions had apparently been partly discounted, however, and so, also had the agreement reached by Eastern Railroad executives on consolidation.

From the opening, railroad stocks moved up a point or so and held most of these gains through to the close against late profit-taking. Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Chesapeake and Ohio, High Valley and New Haven were up a point or two at the best. Similar advances were made by several Western carriers including Santa Fe and Union Pacific.

Wheat and cotton prices were firm, which encouraged stocks. J. I. Case advanced more than 4 points and gains of 2 to 3 were made by American Tobacco "B," Liggett and Myers "B," American Telephone and Telegraph, Western Union and Macy. The Motors, after their advance of yesterday, were quiet, although Mack Truck jumped 3 points to a new 1932 high. The oil stocks, following their Friday slump, were quiet. American Petroleum was up a point or two at the best. Cotton advanced 1/2 cent to 70 cents a bale higher, while wheat at one time was up more than a cent a bushel.

accommodations in private homes in Greenville, or come from their homes.

The prospect is bright for the usual enrollment of approximately nine hundred, in spite of present economic conditions which might be expected to restrict college attendance.

The registrar of the college urges all local students, who have not already done so, to make application for admission in advance of registration day. Permission to register will not be given until application for admission has been made and the registration fee paid.

Freshmen will report to the Social-Religious "orium" at 2 p. m., Tuesday, Sept. 27th, for preliminary instruction. Their class schedules for the quarter will be made up Wednesday, September 28.

G. O. P. LEADER FACES ARREST

charge while Republican leaders of the State pondered a new demand by Jake F. Newell, the party's senatorial candidate, that Tillett's nomination for lieutenant-governor be revoked.

Tillett, informed during a campaign appearance in Kinston that Governor O. Max Gardner had honored a Georgia extradition request in the check case, maintained the action was an effort to embarrass him politically.

He claimed to have issued checks in Atlanta in behalf of a client who had failed in his promise to make them good in Charlotte, and maintained any action against him had no criminal, but only civil, grounds.

Newell described the situation as "disgrace to the party," and demanded that Tillett's name be stricken from the ticket and suggested nomination of Walter B. Love, of Monroe, in his place. The demand was addressed to James S. Duncan, of Greensboro, State Chairman.

A similar demand was made by Newell recently when Tillett was quoted in the press, in a statement which he later repudiated in part, as favoring modification of the prohibition laws.

Newell and Clifford Frazier, of Greensboro, the Republican candidate for governor, are running on bone dry platforms.

The senatorial candidate charged that Tillett had known of the Georgia action against him for several weeks, and had been advised to clear it up or "get off the ticket" and had refused to do either.

Tillett said: "The matter reported in the papers today had reference to a business transaction in Atlanta which I handled for a client in Charlotte. I issued my checks in behalf of my client with the understanding between my client and the party holding the checks that the former would reimburse me immediately upon his return to Charlotte, which he failed to do. I at once notified the bank to stop payment."

The case involves two checks, totaling $128, drawn to the American Newspaper Union and the Western Newspaper Union, and which are alleged to have been turned down by the American Trust Company here for lack of funds.

TEN TOBACCO MARTS TO OPEN

The nearly a score of markets in the new bright belt in Eastern Carolina have been in operation for two weeks and although sales are not as heavy as they were in 1931 the prices are better.

The first North Carolina markets to open were the seven in the South Carolina or border belt. Warehouses in that belt threw open their doors late in August.

SEEK FORTY HOUR WEEK

that any future foreign debt concessions be conditioned upon improvement of foreign exchange restrictions.

This same committee, headed by James A. Farrell, former head of the United States Steel Corporation today submitted a second report, urging legislation to protect domestic industries against the completion of products from foreign countries having depreciated currencies.

As a guiding principle in drafting such legislation, the Farrell committee recommended the levy of compensating exchange duties to offset foreign money depreciations of 5 per cent or more, with administrative reductions authorized should costs of production in the foreign country increase.

The Chamber's action on the 40-hour week followed closely after a conference between its president, Henry I. Harriman, and President Hoover. Harriman said the Chief Executive had asked the organization's aid in boosting business and employment.

"There are signs of improvement in many sections," Harriman said in discussing economic conditions, "but we are not sure how long this sweep will last. The Mid-West is the sore spot, but that will get better too."

give birth to the child of the man I loved that affords me my only gleam of happiness, that gives me any desire to live at all. The fact that within four months I will have a child—his child—makes me strong enough to fight for a complete and absolute vindication."

The interview granted the Sun's columnist was the first in which the husky-throated Broadway singer has spoken for publication since her twenty-year-old husband, an heir to the tobacco fortune of the late R. J. Reynolds, was found dying from a bullet wound at Reynolds, the family estate at Winston-Salem, N. C., last July 6.

"I didn't shoot Smith," she told Morehouse. "I loved him as I never loved anyone before or ever will again. The fullest and richest hours of my life were spent with him. I loved him tenderly, dearly and completely, and to him I meant everything."

"When I realized that he was gone I didn't want to live. My life was over. To learn that I, his wife, was actually suspected of murdering him stunned and horrified me, but it didn't matter. The fact that he was dead caused nothing to matter until I knew positively that I was to have a child. With that knowledge, with that gleam of happiness, I had something to live for, something to fight for. And now I want to go through with the trial. I want no strings left, no doubts left in people's minds as to my innocence. I mind only want acquittal, I want a complete apology."

JAP AVIATORS ON WAY HERE

vain to establish a contact. Weather reports were unacknowledged. The station and the St. Paul station in the Austrian Islands asked all ships in the North Pacific to be on the lookout.

Anxiety was increased by a report from the American freighter Northland of a violent storm in the Bering Sea.

Tokyo, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Three Japanese aviators were speeding along over the Northern Pacific today, headed for Nome, Alaska, and San Francisco on a good-will flight from Japan to the United States.

The flight, sponsored by the Tokyo newspaper Hochi Shimbun, which sponsored two earlier flights that came to grief last year, began at 5:35 a. m. today from Samushiro. At 2:35 p. m. the radio station at Ochiishi picked up a message from the plane's radio which said the plane had passed over the mountains on Paramushiro Island, northernmost of the Kuriles. The island is just south of Kamchatka and about half way between Tokyo and Nome, Alaska, the plane's first destination.

The three aviators are Eiichiro Baba, pilot; Kiyoshi Honma, navigator; and Tomoyoshi Ishita, radio operator.

The schedule calls for stops at Nome and Fairbanks, Alaska, and San Francisco, but emergency supplies have been laid down at White Horse and Hazelton, Canada, and Seattle.

The plane carried fuel for forty hours flying and the fliers hoped to cover the 2,670 miles from Samushiro to Nome in a little more than thirty hours. That should bring them to Nome about 5 p. m. today, Nome time, or 10 p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

Quiet reigned throughout the middlewest in the strike against selling non-perishable produce, such as livestock and grain.

Atlanta, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Georgia milk producers who are taking a holiday in an effort to boost the price of their product say consumers here who get their milk daily on their front door steps will feel effect of the strike today.

Leaders of the other camp composed of distributors against whom the strike was directed had nothing to say about effect of the strike on their customers.

ation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

"But since they have heaped a debt of billions of dollars a year on us, we, the taxpayers, have a right to know what they propose to reconstruct," he continued. "That is where the people of this nation differ with the Republican leadership."

Reynolds charged the Republicans "apparently want to reconstruct the magic days of 1928 and 1919, when we were raising more wheat than anybody could eat, more cotton than anybody could wear, more tobacco than anybody could smoke, and building more houses than anybody could rent, and buying more on the installment plan than anybody could pay for."

"If the Republican leadership desires to return to those days, I say in the language of one of my distinguished running mates that the people themselves are at last sick of the 'apathy of Mr. Coolidge,' and the apocasty of Mr. Hoover."

The candidate declared that "if these three Republican administrations epitomize the good old days which Mr. Hoover desires to reconstruct we cannot blame the voters of this nation for rebelling at the suggestion."

"We are sick of the deadly normalcy of Mr. Harding, disgusted with the bull market and suering of Hoover."

Reynolds concluded by saying "the Democratic party offers a constructive leadership out of the wilderness of depression."
